Five-Mile Paving on M-81 to Be Done Next Spring

The Project Is Listed on the Program for the Present Fiscal Year.

Plans for paving approximately five and a half miles of M-81 between Caro and Cass City are nearing completion.

"This project is listed on our program for the present fiscal year, ending June 30, 1942," G. Donald Kennedy, state highway commissioner, writes the Chronicle, "and we hope to be able to advertise for bids in the near future.

Because of the volume of work required, it is unlikely that the project can be completed during the present season, but it should be opened to traffic in plenty of time for the 1942 tourist season.

"I must point out," said Mr. Kennedy, "that the part the State Highway Department is playing in the national defense program has caused us to change our plans from time to time and there is a remote possibility that improvement of M-81 might be affected by future developments, but we hope not."

The old waters of the Cass River will see a sight Monday that they haven't seen since the boom-days of the lumbering industry, an exhibition of log-rolling! That will be the feature attraction of the annual community picnic at Frankenmuth on Labor Day. The burler will be Chief White Water of the Chippewas, "The Last of the Chiefs," who has been the Michigan state champion for the past seven consecutive years. His family will Elisabeth Coons, mathematics accompany him and will stage various demonstrations of their woods Marjorie Wallingford, English skill. The picnic will be held this year at Hubinger's Riverside Grove and will offer a natural setting not only for the Chief's burling but also for bait and fly-casting and other sportsmen's events that will be conducted along the banks of the Cass. Meanwhile the shady grove and spacious meadows will provide sites for games and contests for all age groups.

77% of Licenses Suspended Due to Drunken Driving

Seventy-seven per cent of all last spring need not report until Michigan motorists whose drivers' licenses were suspended or revoked in the two weeks ending August 8, were found guilty of drunken driving, according to Charles R. Jones, executive vice president of the American Business Men's Research Foundation. Mr. Jones declared today that a check of the license suspensions show 240 motorists in the state losing their driving privileges for having mixed alcohol and gasoline. Only 185 drivers were deprived of their driving privileges for all other causes, Mr. Jones

Champion Cow at State Fair

Detroit, Mich. In the largest showing of dairy cattle ever entered in a Michigan State Fair, Carnation Ormsby Fayne Madcap, from the well-known Carnation Milk Farm, Scattle, Wash., will be a prominent feature of this year's show at Detroit, August 27—Sept. 7. In a handsome throne stall of velvet and stainless steel in the main cattle pavilion, this dairy queen will be seen while undergoing her milk production test which closes Jan. 26, 1942. A half sister of Carnation Ormsby Butter King, holder of both the world's milk and butter records since 1936, she has already tested close to 30,000 pounds of milk and 1500 pounds of butter in a previous official 365-day test period. In addition to Carnation Ormsby Fayne Madcap, the Carnation Milk Farm is showing a herd of seven bulls and eighteen females of all ages.

Empty Houses Scarce

As any Michigan country editor will tell you, empty houses are pretty scarce in small towns.

We'll let Don Cochrane, editor of the Hartford Day Springs in Van Buren County, tell his observations about a southeastern Michigan town of 1,694 population.

"This community has more than held its own in the 'battle of small towns.' Each census since 1900 (and before, for that matter) shows that Hartford recorded growth. During the last census period, 1930 to 1940, that growth was substantial, not only in population gain and new enterprises. Today there ness or residential, in the town.

"True, Hartford at one time had two bakeries, both small compared back when' one restaurant instead been reduced 600. of four catered to the public's ap-

But new enterprises, created by changing oldsters than ever before-more Potato Champ times and affording employment to demand for hearing devices, optimore people, have taken their cal lenses, golf clubs, books and Hides No Secrets

"The future of the smaller towns lose! is by no means dark. Indeed, with the persistent trend away from the congested metropolitan areas, which is due in part to transportation facilities, the future of the less populous communities—where life is worth living—is brighter as compared to the cities than at any time in history."

The Hartford editor quotes William H. Berkey, editor at Cassopolis, as saying that the "business readjustment which followed in the wake of the automobile and good roads has robbed the small town of some of its enterprises," but Cochrane makes the point that "it has brought it other and newer enterprises and is continuing to bring it newer forms of activity, new resi dents, new assets. Life in the small town is less drab, less circumscribed than before that 'business readjustment.'"

Decentralization

"Problems of Small Business," a monograph prepared for the Temporary National Economic Committee at Washington, hails the development of rural sections as an industrial boom

American industry is becoming more diffused and diversified. Chicago, for example, has declined as a meat packing center from 35.6 per cent of the national total in 1899 to 18.8 per cent in 1940. Philadelphia's rug and carpet manufacture has slumped from 45.6 per cent to 27.8 per cent, although doubling the number of employees.

The advantages of such industrial diversification-branches being located in various sections of the country—are four-fold, according to the TNEC report: "Saving in freight hauling, less delay in shipping, less dependence of areas upon single types of manufacture, and less violent depressions and less excited prosperities."

Michigan Meat Leads 34 States

An educational meat exhibit designed to call attention to the standing of Michigan as a livestock and meat producing state, became one of the featured attractions when the Michigan State Fair opend its gates at Detroit on August 27.

Colorful, interesting displays portray the importance of meat as a food, show the part that meat in the diet plays in the national health defense program, and call attention to the culinary importance of lard, according to Professor George A. Brown, head of the Michigan State College animal husbandry depart-The exhibit was installed jointly by the Michigan State Colege and the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

"The importance of meat production in Michigan is shown by statistics showing that Michigan leads 34 other states of the Union in the production of meat," states Professor Brown. "Conservative estimates indicate that something ike 417 million pounds of beef, veal, pork and lamb were produced in the state last year. #### Drouth Disrupts Finishing Lambs

Lambs in many sections of Michigan failed to thrive in the recent hot dry weather prevaiding in July and August. Lambs that would have been ready for market on grass are much too thin at present to be sold profitably.

Properly, these lambs should get some better pasture and some grain before going to market, comments C. L. Cole of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

Pointers he offers include weanng the lambs and turning them into a comparatively mature second growth legume or legume and grass mixture for fattening. Then be-fore the final period of "flush" feeding the lambs should be treated for internal parasites.

The lambs can be hurried along to top grade by feeding a grain mixture of equal parts corn and oats with the pasture feeding.

Cole advises a slow start on the grain, but after 10 days to two weeks the lambs can be allowed to self-feed although limiting the grain will induce greater pasture grazing with more economical

Gains easily can range from a third to a half a pound daily on a lamb with these practices, accordng to Cole. Breed and quality determine to some degree the rate of gain. But the lambs should be ready for pasture before the pasture season ends so that no barn feeding at extra cost and extra abor will be necesşary.

ELECTRIC MILK COOLING IS A GOOD INVESTMENT

Here you see William Manska, about to place a can of milk in the 4-can electric milk cooler on his farm near Armada.

Until recently Mr. Manska used well-water to cool the milk. But that required considerable time, not only in the cooling operation but in changing the well water, keeping the concrete tank sanitary, etc.

"When I first thought about installing an electric milk cooler," says Mr. Manska, "it seemed like too big an investment. Now that I've been using it I have found that the money was well invested. It saves me at least a halfhour both morning and night. And it cools the milk to a low temperature quickly. I wouldn't try to get along again without electric milk cooling."

Sewing Increases

Personal Handwork Adds Right Touch.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Perhaps it is the economy urge such as always accompanies a wartime period, perhaps it is the increasing number of graduates turned out from sewing schools each year, anxious to apply their skill and genius in a "make your own" demonstration. Or perhaps home sewing is receiving encouragement from clubs and organizations forming sewing units among members for patriotic service. Maybe it is because there is such endless inspiration in the lovely fabrics available at such amazingly reasonable prices. Put this together with the fact that you can buy patterns for everything in threads to match and talk about modern sewing machines with this gadget and that to work sewing miracles. Now is it any wonder that tucking, embroidering, fagoting, hemstitching and a thousand and one other nice performances can be enjoyed by almost the mere pressing of a button. Yes indeed, there's every "reason why" statistics show a renewed interest in home sewing. There is also an upswing recording in the interest women are showing in dainty handwork touches. It is said there will be a considerable use of bead embroidery and decorative sequin trims, which offers pleasant pastime to women who like to "make pretty things" at home.

One of the new trends gaining importance for fall is the manner in which monograms are being worked so conspicuously and designfully on suits, blouses, dresses. Your tweed suit will look smarter if your jacket bears a dramatic hand-embroidered monogram in bold colors.

Another charming note that calls for the hand-embroidered touch is the way in which simple wool frocks are adorned with a single big flower worked on the bodice, with a corresponding floral somewhere on the skirt, possibly just below the hipline to the right. This idea is being carried out very successfully in black and white because of the vogue of black and white. It is also rich with possibilities for fall in multicolor effects.

Dresses and ensembles will be detailed with hand crochet for fall.

Gay Blouse Tops

Gay and striking blouse tops is big news not only for the immediate present but fashions herald a forthcoming event: Flamboyant fabrics will be employed for novel jackets and bodice tops. The two midseason modes may be accepted as fore-

Style Notes

Big plaid season is indicated

Midseason brings out more big brims than ever.

Tri-fabric ensembles are scheduled for autumn days.

Black teamed with black continues as smart costume formula. Swathed drapes with surplice closing is new bodice trend. Quills and fancy feathers will dorn the new autumn felts.

Print frocks for fall stress longorso lines sans belts.

Dark seersucker, gingham, linen and shantung suits are ideal for midseason wear. Milliners are selling hats with detachable interchangeable trimmings.

America at Work

I hear America singing, the varied carols I hear, Those of mechanics, each one singing as it should be blithe and

The carpenter singing his as he measures his plank or beam, The mason singing his as he makes ready for work or leaves off work. The boatman singing what belongs to him in his boat, the deckhand singing on the steamboat deck,

The shoemaker singing as he sits on his bench, the hatter singing as he stands. The wood-cutter's song, the ploughboy on his way in the morning, or at noon intermission or at sundown,

The delicious singing of the mother, or of the young wife at work, or of the girl sewing or washing.....

SO SANG WALT WHITMAN. He sang of America and of a tradition of honest toil that is as American as The Star Spangled Banner. He called his song "I Hear America Singing," because in this country the workers are in every walk of life, even among the richest. No idle rich can win American respect. It is to the industrious, in whatever position, that America pays traditional honor.

No caste system hinders American youth from the pursuit of burning ambition to fight his way to the top; no aristocracy clutters the pages of American history; no dictator's iron heel drags labor to the level of slavery.

To Americans, labor is all-important, all-inclusive. All income groups take pride in the knowledge that their work, their job of earning a living is what makes democracy clickis the solid backbone of a great republic.

As the nation once more pays tribute to this great force which is labor, the words of Walt Whitman's poem, written over eighty years ago, sound what could well be a theme-song of "the American way"—1941 style.

Oak Bluff Breezes.

This week-end will probably find nost of the cottages filled to overlowing, it being the Labor Day oliday and will also mark the end of a good many vacations, although many will return for week-ends during September and October which to many is the most pleasant time of the whole year at Oak Bluff.

Our school instructors will nearly all be located in the Detroit area. Miss Spinks, Miss Grant and Mrs. Milholand will be located in the Detroit schools; Miss Holmes at Ferndale: Miss Maxwell at Grand Ledge; Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson in Dearborn; and Robt. Foster in Detroit Northern. Quite an acalemic delegation. Mr. and Mrs. Dorian Russell of Frand Rapids arrived at the Knapp ottage Sunday and are spending everal days here. On Monday the Knapps and Russells drove around he "tip of the Thumb" to Harbor Beach and at night were guests with the Graybeils at the Allen nome at Crescent Beach. Miss Allen and Mr. Graybeil entertained with several musical selections.

Gordon McKenzie of Kalamazoo and Miss Arnett of Battle Creek were guests from Friday until Sunday at the Hitchcock cottage and we understand Gordon gave his uncle in Cass City a golf lesson on Saturday afternoon at Caro.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hutchinson and Mrs. Hitchcock have been in Detroit on business for the past two or three days.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zander of Sagnaw were callers Sunday evening at the Burke cottage. Colored picture slides furnished most of the entertainment, Mr. Zander being an expert on photography. Wilsons and their guests, the Stoughs, of Lansing were also spectators at the showing of the views. Mrs. Wilson has recently become interested in photography and has a new camera and that means more competition for the others here.

At a dessert bridge party at the Burke cottage last Friday, Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Mrs. Ruth Stough vere prize winners.

Mrs. Knapp entertained at tea and dinner Tuesday afternoon and evening in honor of the Russells. Mrs. Russell gave a very interesting talk on a recent trip which they took to the West Indies.

Criminals Outgrow Tendencies

Yes, criminals outgrow tendencies. One thousand delinquent children have been followed through the years by Dr. Eleanor Glueck of Harvard, and she finds that as they came to "emotional grownupness," about 40 per cent lost all desire for criminal acts and became ordinary citizens. Even those who continued to commit crimes tended to commit far less serious ones. The improvement does not seem to have been due to any special treatment spent the week-end here with his but merely to becoming a social and emotional grownup person.

BIRDS EYE FROSTED

Local Meat Market

They are "as modern as television" . . . and as scientific! "Miracle Foods!" That's what Birds Eye Foods are being called. They are more than that. They're good foods, quality foods . . . foods for everyday meals.

There are over 60 kinds of fruits, vegetables and seafoods in the Birds Eye line. Plants are set up wherever the raw materials are best, so that they may be quick-frozen immediately after harvest. Let magic do the hard kitchen work. Try a box of Vegetables, Fruit, or Sea Food fresh, all washed, cleaned, trimmed, ready to cook.
