Smoking and Good Citizenship

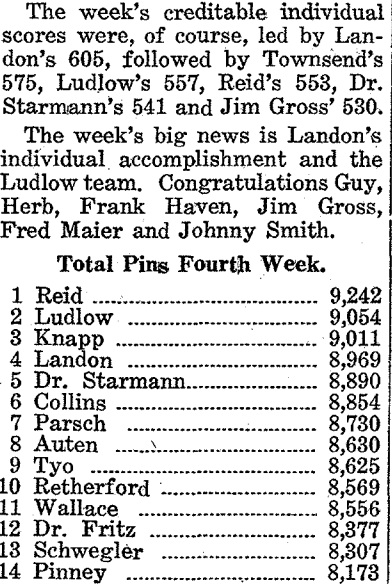

A wise man said, "Tell me what you eat and I will tell you what you are." He might also have said, "Tell me what you do with your cigarette stubs and I will tell you what kind of a citizen you are."
When driving your car, do you throw your stub out of the window? If so, you aren't a good citizen. Your stub may land in some leaves or rubbish by the roadside and start a fire. The place for such stubs is the ash tray provided in your car.
When you are smoking in the house and you leave your stub in an ash tray, do you make sure it is actually out before you leave it? Women are said to be among the worst offenders in this respect. Cigarette stubs smoulder on the edge of an ash tray, and sometimes drop off. That is how many house fires begin.
When you drop your stub in any public place, do you step on it, hard? You should. It might set fire to the clothing of some passer-by. The best plan is never to drop your stub on any floor at any time, but use the receptacles provided for smokers.
Good citizenship is simply intelligent consideration for your fellow men. According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, one test of a good citizen is whether he puts cigarette stubs only in a safe receptacle, and, even then, makes sure they are completely extinguished.—Ex.

Landon Commands Bowling League

By Dr. B. H. Starmann, Secretary of Bowling League.

Our "bowler of the week" is Guy Landon. In his own words, he became tired of others receiving all the publicity and glory and made up his mind to do something about it. And when Guy becomes determined something usually happens. On Monday night, he pounded out games of 233, 173 and 199 for a total of 605. This is the first six hundred series of the year and leaves Mann and Reid far behind in second place with their 587 totals amassed in previous weeks. This 605 score also raised Guy's average to 184 which tops every one else by a comfortable margin.
Next of note is the determined and successful attempt of Herb Ludlow's team to do a few things for themselves. On Thursday night, they met the Dr. Starmann team, who, up until then, had lost only one game. Herb and his teammates put on such pressure that the Starmann five never had a chance and dropped all three games. In this one series the Ludlow's established a high three-game team total of 2,454. Their second game of 881 landed them in third place in that department. Incidentally they were also the only team to win three games for the week. Yes, "my hearties," Herb and his boys bear mighty close watching from here on.
This defeat of the Dr. Starmann team dropped them from a first place tie with the Reid's, who won two games from Pinney. This leaves Frank and his boys two full games in front followed by Ludlow, Parsch, Collins and Dr. Starmann, all tied for the second spot.
The captaincy of the Larkin team was taken over this week by Alex Tyo, Larkin having resigned because of business necessity. The team henceforth will be known as the Tyo's.
The week's creditable individual scores were, of course, led by Landon's 605, followed by Townsend's 575, Ludlow's 557, Reid's 553, Dr. Starmann's 541 and Jim Gross' 530.
The week's big news is Landon's individual accomplishment and the Ludlow team. Congratulations Guy, Herb, Frank Haven, Jim Gross, Fred Maier and Johnny Smith.

Buy Winter Coal Now

"Buy winter coal now," U. S. government agencies are advising, "to avoid a very grave danger of a shortage of coal next winter." Buying and storage of coal is advocated as a direct and substantial aid to national defense, because it will lighten the load that defense production is placing increasingly on the transport system. Follow the government's expert advice by putting your winter fuel needs into the bin now.

Founded by Sailor

Removing Oil Stains

To remove oil stains from concrete, such as a garage floor, etc., mix one-half pound of oxalic acid (poison) in 1 1/2 gallons of water and add enough wheat flour to make a paste; apply with a brush, leave on for two days, then remove it with a scrubbing brush and clean water.

Torpedoes by Mouth

On some German destroyers, torpedoes are fired with the mouth, asserts Collier's. With his eyes at the range finder and his hands on the tube-aiming controls, the gunner merely has to blow into a "peashooter" to actuate the trigger.

Oxalic Acid

Oxalic acid has been known to science since 1776.

Carbine Ousts Pistol in Army

New Weapon Is a Defense Against Parachute and Low-Flying Planes.

WASHINGTON. — The 45-caliber automatic pistol of the army will be displaced by a new weapon, a semi-automatic carbine, in what Secretary Stimson called "one of the most significant changes of weapons for the army that has ever taken place."

The carbine, a "little brother" of the Garand rifle, is described as filling a long-felt need, inasmuch as the pistol is a defensive weapon while the new gun may be used offensively or defensively.

Weights Five Pounds.

Only five pounds in weight and three feet long, the carbine is designed not only for the infantry, but will find, Colonel Stimson said, an important place in the cavalry, artillery, engineers, armored corps, parachute troops and other branches. All infantry officers below the rank of major, all non-commissioned officers and most of the enlisted men, now armed with the pistol, will carry the carbine.

Primarily intended for men whose duties make it impracticable to carry the regular service rifle, the carbine will increase the number of rifles in an infantry regiment by almost 50 per cent. It will also be a significant factor in defending rear areas against sudden attack by parachute and other air-landing troops and low-flying airplanes.

Two models out of seven submitted will be tested, one made by the army ordnance department, the other by a commercial concern.

Long Firing Range.

The carbine will be of 30 caliber with a bullet similar to a 38 caliber but with much more striking power. Its weight of five pounds contrasts with the Garand and Springfield, of about nine pounds each, while its firing range is effective up to 300 yards as compared with the pistol range of 50 yards.

In the infantry, nearly 175,000 men will receive the carbine. More than 600 of the 944 light rifles which will be added to an infantry regiment will go into "the forward area," increasing the fighting strength of the units there.

Six out of eight men in a machine gun squad will carry the carbine. The gunner and the assistant gunner, who carry the gun and tripod, will have pistols. With the carbines, the squad may keep on fighting even if the machine gun is wrecked.

Stone Village in New England Rated Ancient

NORTH SALEM, N. H.—There are indications that Irish monks lived here as early as 800 A. D.

Several archeologists believe that a "stone village," recently excavated, was built more than 1,000 years ago by Culdee monks who came from Ireland to escape the persecution of Norsemen.

Archeologist William B. Goodwin of Hartford, Conn., is convinced of the Irish origin of the ruins. They consist of a cluster of stone houses, altars and walls built around a central plaza.

Bands of Culdees first appeared in Ireland in 795. They built their stone houses on Papey island, where ruins similar to those of this community still stand.

According to historians, the migration from Ireland to New England shores via Iceland and Greenland is logical since both Irish and Welsh have legends of the discovery of a continent far to the westward.

So far no human skeletons, tools or weapons have been found. There is no clue as to what became of the builders if they were Culdee monks. They may have been wiped out by Indians or sailed back to their native land. Meanwhile, the stone village attracts school classes and archeology students.

California Cities Show

Planning Rules of 1573

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—Several California cities even today bear the stamp of city planning regulations laid down by the king of Spain in a royal edict of 1573, the state planning board revealed.

The ancient decree set forth standard regulations to be followed in establishing towns in the New world. Business was ordered to front on a central plaza, streets were oriented with relation to prevailing winds and objectionable features such as slaughter houses were restricted to a single isolated district. Los Angeles, Santa Cruz, San Jose and Sonoma are among those communities showing the influence of the early Spanish layout.

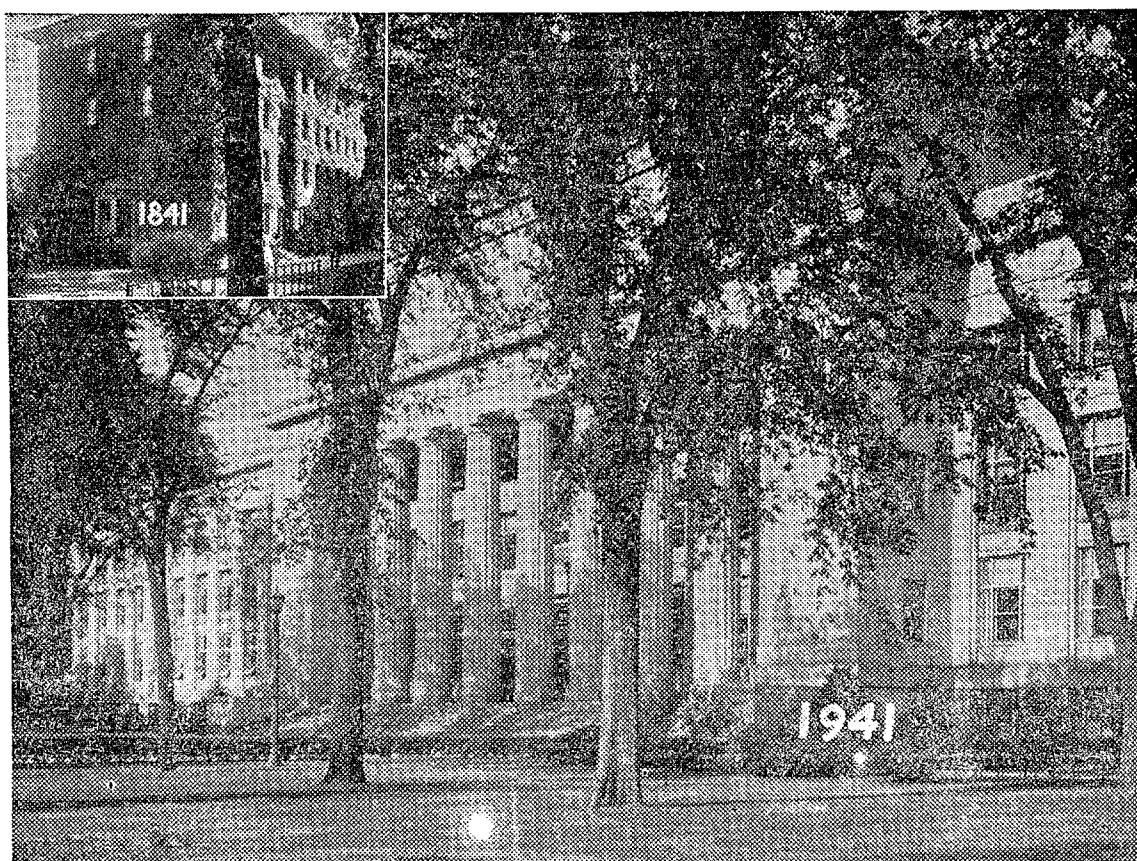

Many Retired Persons

Are Going Back to Work

WASHINGTON. — Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the social security board said that defense employment has caused a drop in retirements because of age and that many persons who had retired and were receiving pensions have returned to work.

He said that 27,000 persons 65 or older have returned to gainful employment, giving up their present pensions.

U. of M. College Is 100 Years Old

Home of the University of Michigan's College of Literature, Science and the Arts, which celebrates its 100th anniversary on October 15, is James B. Angell Hall, pictured above. The stately, white stone building with its columned facade houses the administrative offices and many of the classrooms of the College as well as the office of University President Alexander G. Ruthven. Mason Hall (insert), named for Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason, was the first home of the College of Literature, Science and the Arts, Michigan's oldest and largest teaching unit. One hundred years ago this fall, the University's first seven students lived and studied in Mason Hall for the first time. The old building is still in use.

LEFT HAND TURNS CONTRIBUTE TO THREE CAR CRASHES

The front end of the car was badly damaged.

Cars driven by Horace Bulen of Cass City and Harold Trisch of Caro were both travelling north on M-81, a mile north of Caro, early Sunday morning, when Trisch went to make a left hand turn without signaling that he was going to do so. The Bulen auto struck the Trisch car on the left side, damaging the front of the Bulen automobile and the left side of the Trisch car. Mr. Trisch suffered a bruised shoulder.

On the Howard Road near Wilmet, John Michael Galan of Hamtramck and Warren Hawley of Deford were involved in a left hand turn accident Sunday forenoon as they were both travelling in a westerly direction. The Hawley car, according to a report in the sheriff's office, drove to the north side of the road off the tarvia and then made a left hand turn in front of the Galan automobile. No signal was made that the Hawley car was going to turn. Both cars were damaged.

Fred Bannick of Saginaw was given a ticket by officers for reckless driving when his car, going southwest on M-81, hit the car of Ferris W. Fessler of Wahjamega in the rear, damaging the bumper and trunk of the Fessler car and springing the body. The accident happened in front of the Caro bowling alley early Sunday evening. Bannick paid a $25 fine and $5.55 costs in justice court.

Spare Bean Crop, Hunters Urged

Greater opportunity than usual looms up this fall for small game hunters to preserve the good will or farmers on whose lands they hunt after October 15.

Unusual weather delayed the harvest of thousands of acres of crops this fall. Pheasants, for instance, may be attracted to soybean and navy bean fields before the beans are pulled and threshed or combined.

These crops may be trampled underfoot by unthinking hunters, warns R. G. Hill, Michigan State College extension specialist in farm game. He suggests the hunters cooperate with farmers, use caution in traversing fields.

Two dividends can result from the caution, Hill says. The crops have value this year above that of other years because of favorable prices. In fact, the crops are needed in the national defense goals.

The hunters themselves can profit by exercising caution. Farmers will be more willing to give access to fields in succeeding hunting seasons if the hunters give the cooperation and reduce, thoughtless trespass.

Describe Goals for 1942 Crops

Farm to farm the canvas starts as Michigan farmers are asked about their 1942 operations. Each producer will be asked to state what portion he plans to produce towards the goal set for production next year to better feed the United States and Great Britain.

In a recent conference in Lansing, staff members from Michigan State College contributed their version of the effect that price and patriotic demand will have on Michigan's agriculture in 1942. Here are some of the highlights:

Dairying—an extra quart or roughly two pounds of milk more each day from each cow will add enough volume to make a total of 5,560,000,000 pounds of milk in 1942 from 940,000 cows. Butterfat prices evidently are high enough to pay for extra feeding.

Poultry—an extra egg each month from each hen. That ought to add 11 million dozen eggs to the year's production, or 6 per cent more than in 1941. Ten per cent more turkeys are suggested.

Crops—Some increase in the acreage of oats is considered economically wise, 26 per cent more soybeans and about 33 per cent more flax, 3,000 more acres of truck crops for fresh use and 1,500 more acres of truck crops for processing are suggested. The same acreage, 770,000 of white pea or navy beans, is thought sufficient if weather brings a normal crop, 29,000 more acres of potatoes and 40,000 more farm gardens. Wheat covered 754,000 acres in 1941, only needed on 661,000 in 1942 and but 601,000 acres in 1943.

Livestock—Ten per cent more hogs are suggested for 1942, with about the same amount of beef and veal, 371,343,000 pounds, and the same volume of lamb and mutton, 64,500,000 pounds, as has been produced in Michigan in 1941 and previous years.

No diversion of land into unwise production or "mining" of the soil is being demanded. Specialists in agriculture at the college point out that goals are consistent with good economics and good land use.

Don't Be Matchmaker

Don't try to make every piece in the room match. A modern coffee table of light mahogany is perfectly safe in an Eighteenth century living room with mahogany furniture of traditional finish. In fact, one or two light pieces of furniture give new life to a dark living room ensemble.

Need a Vacation? So Does a Cow

When a cow gives milk twice a day for 305 days, she deserves a two months' vacation before the next calf is born and the cow returns to producing milk.

In fact, Michigan's 923,000 milk cows would give a greater volume if they all had this two months' vacation, explains A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. The process is called conditioning the dry cow.

Some cows exhibit so much dairy temperament that they must be forced to quit producing milk. The process is simple. By withholding grain and concentrates and not milking, the udder first swells and then recedes and milk production or lactation ceases until the next calf is born.

Dry roughage such as clean, bright alfalfa hay is sufficient for the cow during the brief "drying up" period of perhaps four or five days. Then the cow can go back to a grain ration, storing up energy and other reserves for the next lactation period.

Feed for a dry cow can be 8 to 10 pounds of grain daily, consisting of two pounds of corn, two pounds of barley, two pounds of oats and two pounds of concentrate, according to Baltzer, in addition to good quality roughage. The animal should gain in weight.

"If the cow eats eight pounds of grain for 50 days," Baltzer explains, "the cost will be about 1.6 cents a pound or $6.40. This same cow will then yield an extra 1,000 to 5,000 pounds of milk worth $20 to $30 extra in the next 305 days. This is an ideal way to make a cow give more than the Michigan average of 5,000 pounds of milk and 200 pounds of butterfat a year."

Newspapers' Poll

The Gallup Poll is financed by newspapers of the nation, knows no politics, and has never chalked up an error of more than 4 per cent since its founding.

Spider Changes Color

The crab spider assumes the color of the flower on which it lives and hides in the heart of the blossom awaiting its prey.

The nearest star to the earth, with the exception of the sun, is Proxima Centauri, whose distance is 4.2 light years.

A familiar scene throughout Michigan through October is the picking, grading and packing of Michigan apples. Better quality apples than ever before are reaching the markets, due to increased quality standards now being enforced.

What an Atom Is

All matter is believed to be made up of extremely small particles, too small to be seen under the strongest microscope. These are called atoms. Each atom is believed to possess a center or nucleus, and a shell. The nucleus of the atom is a dense mass of protons which are positive electric charges and around these, holding them together, are approximately half as many electrons, which are negative electric charges.

Advertising Cost

While the cost of advertising in the United States ranges from a fraction of 1 per cent of the price of the finished product to a maximum of over 18 per cent, the total expenditure for advertising amounts to less than 3 per cent of the sum paid for finished goods.

TO YOUR Good Health

by DR. NATHAN S. DAVIS, III

BE CAREFUL OF BAD 'POLIO' YEAR

Take warning, parents, when your boy or girl suddenly develops a running nose, or a headache, drowsiness or loss of appetite during the late summer months.

Don't carelessly overlook these "summer colds," especially if your child is sicker than usual with the ordinary common cold. Of course, your child may just have the "sniffles" but don't take a chance, for these are some of the signs of the dreaded infantile paralysis.

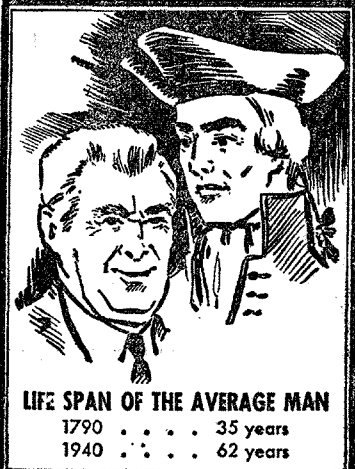

Infantile paralysis, known medically as "anterior poliomyelitis" from which it gets its nickname of "Polio," is a contagious disease caused by a filtrable virus. While it is true that in every year during the late summer months particularly there are numerous cases of Polio, it develops that certain years like 1941 are worse.

One of the oddities of the disease is that it is found more often in small towns and rural areas than in the big cities.

There are other signs or symptoms to watch for besides those already mentioned. For instance, if your child loses interest in his ordinary activities and gets irritable, restless and cross. Watch for twitching muscles and trembling hands, vomiting, a stiff neck, and tenderness over the spine.

The disease is most "catching" at this stage and it is during this "sleeper" period that the terrible damage to the nervous tissue, which finally results in paralysis, is being done. It is at this time, too, before paralysis sets in that it is probably most infective. At this stage convalescent serum can do the most good. This is why parents must be watchful so that the serum can be given at the very first sign.

Not knowing just how it gets into the system, we are not able to prevent the poison spreading to others from infected persons. Because of this, it is of great importance that the sick person be quarantined completely and all clothing, eating utensils, etc., be sterilized. Also, every care must be taken to keep out flies and mosquitoes from the sick person's room.

LIFE SPAN OF THE AVERAGE MAN
1790 35 years
1940 62 years

We can't emphasize too much the importance of early recognizing the signs. No drug will cure infantile paralysis, but the convalescent serum will usually lessen disability and paralysis.

Doctors know that after paralysis sets in many of the nerve cells have already been permanently destroyed. Most other tissue cells in the human body can be regenerated but not the nerve cells in the spinal cord and brain.

However, even after partial paralysis in the muscles, proper treatment has been found to lessen deformity.

One of the great discoveries in this respect is the "Iron Lung." When the muscles of the chest and of the diaphragm are more or less paralyzed, the "Iron Lung" keeps the sick person breathing until the other muscles not infected become strong enough to take over the additional work. Various devices are in use for other parts of the body.

In this country infantile paralysis is recognized as the most dangerous of the diseases of the summer season, which is otherwise the healthiest part of the year. The reason is that other diseases which were formerly prevalent during the summer months have been largely eliminated.

A man does not live a hundred years, yet he worries enough for a thousand.

QUESTION BOX

Send questions to Dr. Nathan S. Davis, III, Winnetka, Ill. (Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

Q.—My little boy broke his leg last April, and he had it in a cast for six weeks. It healed fine but he walks badly . . . limping and toeing out with that leg. He can walk straight if we hold him, but when no one is looking he walks like a cripple. What can we do for him? Mrs. B.

A.—The muscles supporting his arches became weak while he was in a cast. Proper exercises will correct this condition.

Wit and Humor

SLIGHT MISTAKE

They boarded the Fifth avenue bus, a charming young lady and a handsome escort. Tenderly he assisted her as they passed through the doorway. The vehicle was jammed with other passengers and the escort looked anxious. Leaning forward he whispered to the young lady:

"Can we squeeze in here, darling?"

Every face in the bus was turned toward the pretty young lady and they noticed her blush, as she answered faintly:

"No, dear, wait until we get home."

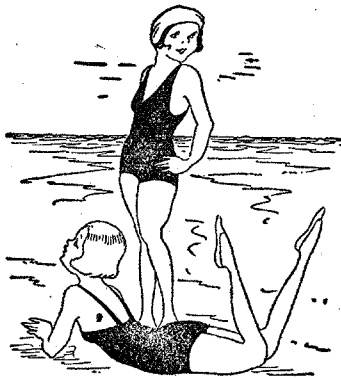

No Delay

"Henry," said his brand new father-in-law, "I put a check for fifty thousand dollars among your wedding presents last night."

Henry nodded with appreciation. "Of course," continued the old gentleman, "you understand that was only for effect."

"Oh, yes sir!" bubbled the bridegroom. "And let me say, sir, the effect was very satisfactory. The bank cashed it without question at 9:01 this morning."

CONJECTURE

"Do you like a man that quotes poetry?"

"Well, he is usually better than one who relies on original conversation."

Just Looking

The dinner guest's nose was exceptionally large, and father had noticed Willie staring at it. Expecting the boy to make some frank and outspoken comment, he gave him a disapproving glance.

"That's all right, dad," came the reassuring response, "I'm not going to say anything. I'm just looking at it!"

Acquainted Too Late

Mother was telling stories of the time she was a little girl. Little Harold listened thoughtfully as she told of riding a pony, sliding down the haystack, and wading in the brook on the farm.

Finally he said with a sigh, "I wish I had met you earlier, mother."

Don't Blame Them

Silly—in the Eskimo country they live on candles and blubber.

Willie—Well, if you had to live on candles I guess you would too.

Too True

"What's a necessity?"

"A necessity is something you go without in order to make a down payment on a luxury."

Follows Instructions

Carpenter—Didn't I tell you to notice when the glue boiled over?

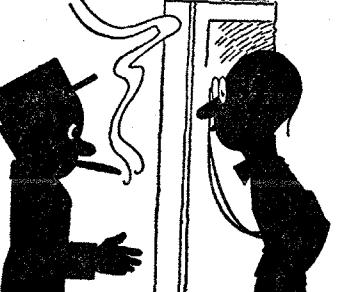

Assistant—I did. It was a quarter past ten.

Much Better

Farmer—Come on, I'll show you how to milk a cow.

Jasper—Perhaps I should start on a calf.

NOT TOO FAR DOWN

"I came to seek a position in your firm, sir."

"I suppose you wish to start in as president and work down."

This and That

THE CHRONICLE with other Thumb of Michigan print shops has sold large quantities of "no hunting" and "no trespassing" signs to owners of farm lands the past week. Farmers as a rule are not naturally hard boiled and would permit hunting on their premises if all hunters were sportsmen. About 10 per cent of them have abused any privileges accorded them, and have cut fences, shot and frightened livestock, and destroyed property, and because of this, "no hunting" signs are posted.

ONE OF the most unsportsmanlike incidents of the season was reported to Sheriff Homer Hillaker's office Wednesday, the opening day of the pheasant season. Two men called at the home of a Polish farmer, two miles west of the Wells Town Hall, and asked permission to hunt on his land. The housewife refused their request. The two men walked up the railroad track and in a nearby field, shot a Shetland pony in the head, killing it instantly. The pony, however, belonged to a neighboring farmer, Jack Hergenrider. The men left the neighborhood in their car rather hurriedly after the shooting.

Rev. A. P. Hafner of Pigeon, spiritual director, called the roll of parishes and gave a spiritual address. Rev. Charles Burkhardt of Crosswell, conducted a memorial service for the deceased members. Addresses of welcome were given by Norman Wigley, president of the Vassar Rotary Club, and Rev. James E. Frawley, pastor of Vassar Catholic Church. Joseph Zinger of Ruth responded.

Mrs. Rock, who died almost immediately, had a broken neck and a broken left leg at the knee. Bernard Freiburger, driving a car owned by M. E. Mr. Rock was accompanied by his wife and little son. Sheriff Homer Hillaker and Deputy Sheriff John Zinnecker investigated the accident and report that the driver of the Kenney car did not see the Rock car until it was about to hit the Kenney auto. The Kenney car was sent about 75 feet across a ditch by the impact and landed on all four wheels, a complete wreck. The Rock car went about 50 feet into a ditch on the north side of the highway. The front end of the car was damaged.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rock were held at the home of her parents in Caro on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was made in the Caro Cemetery.

Sidewalk Trespassing

As the ownership of property on a street extends to the middle of the roadway, both sidewalk and the street are intended only as rights of way for the public, says Collier's. Thus the New York supreme court has held that a man who stops on the sidewalk in front of another's house and shouts abusive and insulting language at him is a trespasser.

Buttons From Casein

Farmers in far off Idaho are shipping the rennet casein, a by-product of manufacturing butter, clear across the United States to button factories in New England, where the casein undergoes pressure and other treatment and is made into every conceivable kind of button and ornamental objects used by dress-makers. The whey, which remains after butter making, is fed to flocks of chickens with excellent results.
