

69 Members of Class of '42 Are Awarded Diplomas

Program of Speeches and Music Preceded the Presentation Tuesday Night.

The sixty-nine members of the Class of 1942 received their high school diplomas Tuesday night from Superintendent of Schools J. Ivan Niergarth before a large audience of parents and friends. A program of speeches and music by members of the class preceded the presentation.

Lewis Profit was master of ceremonies and in an informal manner introduced the various numbers on the program. Members of the class, in their blue caps and gowns, were seated on the stage which was decorated with baskets of flowers, the large composite picture of the class, and large class numerals.

In a humorous vein Bud Sickler began the salutatory address and then called on his co-salutatorian, Isabelle Sturton, to finish the speech. She welcomed the parents and friends and invited them to participate in the enjoyment of the commencement festivities.

In a brief address, Gerald Kercher spoke of the obligation of youth to the world which today is vastly different from that which many other graduating classes have faced.

Carl Beau told the audience that he had been appointed "official snoper" and was ready to report upon the details of the senior class boat trip which was completed on Sunday evening. He brought with him his "dear diary" and read paragraphs from that book which, together with his comments upon certain incidents, stimulated much laughter from the audience and members of the class.

The program touched a more serious note in the valedictory address by Elaine Brown. She stressed the value of education in helping people to make decisions and ended with an expression of appreciation to those who have made a high school education possible for the Class of 1942.

Members of the audience who wondered exactly who "A. Rawson" was discovered that that name on the program represented William and Clara Rawson, who cooperated in presenting each member of the class with some amusing gift. When they had finished their part of the program, June Ross presented them with gifts.

Every Citizen of Tuscola County Is Asked to Register

Civilian Defense Volunteer Office Sets Wednesday, June 17, as the Day.

Wednesday, June 17, has been set as the date on which Tuscola County people generally will register for all types of civilian defense work. The registration will be under the sponsorship and control of the Tuscola County Civilian Defense Volunteer Office, recently established under the Tuscola County Defense Council.

Registration offices have been set up in all villages of the county, and blanks have been furnished to which to register the willingness of the applicant to serve in civilian capacities. A long list of activities for which volunteers are desired is on the application form.

The volunteer office especially wants it known that any and all who are willing to enroll for civilian war duties should register, regardless of the fact that they may already have taken training in some of the civilian activities, such as Red Cross or air raid warden work.

While some test registrations have been held in the county, resulting in numerous registrations, this one coming on the seventeenth is designed to be all-inclusive, and those willing to serve should register again. The resulting information will be filed in the volunteer office at the courthouse in Caro, and will be available to the proper authorities in case services of the volunteers are needed here, or elsewhere in this section of Michigan.

The blank to be filled out calls for the following information: Name of the enrolling office; the date, home and business address; phone numbers; marital status; name of husband or wife; number of children under six years; number in grade and high school; age, weight, height of applicant; citizenship status; time available for work.

Miss Gruber Bride of Robert Riley

At a pretty but quiet wedding, which took place at 1:00 p. m. Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church at Caro, Miss Mary Rhea Gruber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gruber, of Cass City, became the bride of Robert Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shalan, of Caro. Dr. Leslie French, pastor, read the service.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a street-length gown of yellow and green flowered silk crepe with yellow linen jacket and white hat with veil. She was attended by Miss Wilma Proulx of Caro, who wore pale green with white trimming, and both wore corsages of rosebuds and sweetpeas.

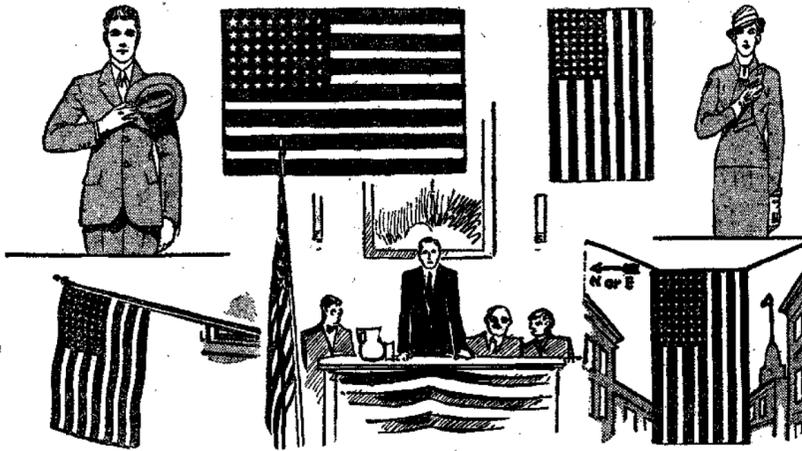

Mr. Riley was assisted by Raymond Gruber, brother of the bride, of Cass City as best man. Only immediate families were present at the wedding and at the reception held immediately after the wedding in the home of the bride's parents, on West Main Street. Twenty-four were present at the dinner, the table being very pretty with a wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Bouquets of flowers decorated both church and home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Port Huron and Mr. and Mrs. Estavilla of Ann Arbor were among the guests.

The bride's brother, Mark Gruber, stationed at Roosevelt Field, Minola, Long Island, New York, wired congratulations to them and also told them he expected to be home on a furlough about July 4.

Old Glory: 165th Anniversary

Here are some rules for the proper display of the American flag as suggested by William T. Kerr, founder and national president of the American Flag Day association:

- 1. When a large flag is borne horizontally by a number of people, the blue field is forward and to the right.
- 2. In a procession the flag's place is on the marching right.
- 3. On a staff the flag's place is in the center and highest point in a grouping with other banners.
- 4. In the channel of a church the flag staff should be at the speaker's right, other banners should be at his left. In the body of a church the flag's place is at the congregation's right.

- 5. Do not use the flag as drapery. Use bunting.
- 6. Give the banner briskly to the breeze in raising it. But lower it slowly and ceremoniously.
- 7. When the flag is used on a motor car, the flag should fly from a staff.
- 8. Never permit a fold of the flag to touch the ground—the skies are its place!

Seniors Advised to Face Future with Worthy Ideals

Rev. S. P. Kirm Tells the Class to Face Uncertain Future with Confidence.

A large audience waited 45 minutes after the hour set for the professional, "Pomp and Circumstance," which opened the program of the baccalaureate service at the Cass City school auditorium Sunday evening. The delay was caused by the late arrival of a group of seniors from their lake trip. The boat on which they sailed last Thursday was two hours late in docking at the conclusion of their voyage at Detroit Sunday afternoon.

As Joan Barbara Muntz and Marjorie Elaine Kirton played the professional as a piano duet, the seniors were ushered to reserved seats by James McCoy, junior class president. They passed through pretty floral arches held in place in the aisles by 14 junior girl escorts.

Rev. Dudley Moore of the Cass City Methodist Church, gave the call to worship, the congregation sang "Gloria Patri" and Rev. Cedric Harger of the Grant and Elkton Methodist Churches, gave the invocation. The Scripture was read by Rev. Frank B. Smith of the Cass City Baptist Church, the prayer was given by Rev. Paul Aberry of the Gagetown Methodist Church and the benediction by Rev. E. M. Gibson, pastor of the Mizpah and Riverside Mennonite Brethren in Christ Churches. The High School Chorus, under the direction of Charles Keen, sang two numbers, "Holy, Holy, Holy" and "Sing Loud, Hallelujah."

Rev. Stanley P. Kirm, minister of the Salem Evangelical Church of Cass City, gave the baccalaureate address on the subject, "Stars and Candles." Introducing his theme, "Stars and Candles,"

Preschool clinics were held in Deckerville, Carsonville and Sandusky during the past week, with a total of 98 infants and preschool children in attendance. Fifty-three children were vaccinated for smallpox and 85 children were immunized against diphtheria.

Local Oil Stations Will Be Depots for Scrap Rubber

Proceeds Will Be Turned into the Treasury of the American Red Cross.

Oil service stations in Cass City will cooperate in the rubber salvage collection campaign in Elkland Township. Old rubber may be left at any station and the proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross. Oil companies have also agreed to pick up rubber which may be on routes travelled by their oil delivery trucks.

This local campaign in the collection of scrap rubber fits in with the suggestions made by President Roosevelt Tuesday when he put the question of nationwide gasoline rationing up to the motorists of the country.

He told reporters he was planning a nationwide campaign to collect all the scrap rubber in the country. If motorists and others respond to the campaign there may be no extension of gasoline rationing.

But, the President warned, motorists should resolve also to cut their annual mileage in half—or more, if that is practical. For 15 minutes the President discussed the rubber situation and

Navy Mobile Recruiting Unit Here Next Week

Will Visit Cass City on June 19 and 20 to Enlist Men Between 17 and 50.

A 45-foot U. S. Navy mobile recruiting unit will be in Cass City on June 19 and 20 to enable men between 17 and 50 of this area to find out what the Navy can offer them.

The truck and trailer unit is being used on a 1,000-mile trip throughout Michigan to enable men who want to enlist to file applications and those who merely want information to learn for which of the Navy's many branches they are best qualified.

The unit will be stationed near the post office with four recruiting officers, including a medical examiner, in charge. Men who apply for enlistment must furnish birth or baptismal certificates, a record of grade school credits or other credentials showing the date and place of birth.

In an announcement to citizens of this community and vicinity, Lieutenant Byron E. Flechtner, officer in charge of Navy recruiting for Michigan, urged men between 17 and 50 to visit the trailer and find out what the Navy offers.

He pointed out that the Navy offers men two-fold inducement: First, it will give highly-paid petty officer ratings to men with certain qualifications immediately on their enlistment; second, its earn-while-you-learn program gives men without experience a chance to learn their choice of over 50 trades and 100 specialties and thus to fit themselves for good positions later in life.

Two Men Are Sentenced to State Prison Terms

One for Driving Away an Automobile, Other for Cutting Telephone Lines.

Alfredo Mendez of Saginaw pleaded guilty in Tuscola County Circuit Court to the charge of unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle belonging to Harold Rogner of Reese. Circuit Judge George DesJardins sentenced Mendez to spend from nine months to five years in the Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson with the recommendation of the shorter period of time.

The cases of Mamero Mendez and Mariana Mendez, who were arrested at the same time as Alfredo Mendez, were nolle prossed on motion of Prosecuting Attorney T. C. Quinn. Mr. Quinn stated in court that it satisfactorily appeared there was good reason for not proceeding further with the prosecution of the two men.

William Montague of Caro, convicted a few weeks ago of cutting the phone lines of the Moore Telephone System, was sentenced to spend one year in the State Prison of Southern Michigan.

Frank King of Caro entered a plea of guilty to the charge of shooting his brother-in-law, Luis Parish, with a shotgun during a quarrel on Memorial Day. King was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Homer Hillaker to await sentence.

Oak Bluff Breezes.

Caseville in the early eighties (80's) and nineties (90's) was quite a thriving community, having sawmills, salt refineries, iron smelters and various other enterprises which have long since disappeared with the passing of the lumber industry.

Last fall we described at some length and space the building of the new Schneibley home across the bay from Oak Bluff on North Shore, or on Sand Point Road. This past week Mr. Schneibley had a thrilling and perhaps not too happy an experience on Lake Huron near Harbor Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ballard of Ann Arbor are spending a week at the Ballard cottage. James is completing his course in medicine at the University and he expects this will be his last vacation before he takes up his active practice in the army upon his graduation from the University of Michigan.

Miss Maybelle Grant of Detroit was here over Sunday and had as guests the Willett family of Bay City. Miss Grant has just added a new porch to her cottage.

Miss Spinks and Miss Holmes were also here over the week-end. Miss Holmes has just outfitted herself with a new bicycle and all the equipment that goes with it.

The Don Sturm cottage has just received a coat of new white paint and looks very attractive. We expect the Sturms will soon be moving up from Pigeon.

We regret that Mrs. Hitchcock has been laid up with a complication of disorders, but hope she will soon be able to open her cottage again and spend the summer with us.

"Mining" rubber tires in Michigan!

Thanks to ingenuity of Dow Chemical Company scientists at Midland, this accomplishment may be a partial solution to today's war transportation problem.

An "unofficial" news story, published by the Midland Daily News from sources said to be very reliable, resulted in a hurried visit to Midland by Akron rubber company officials. Willard Dow, president of the big chemical works, was called to Washington. The exclusive news break held promise of being one of the big newspaper stories of 1942, for public interest has been at fever pitch over the prospect of nation-wide rationing and a gradual withdrawal of millions of motor vehicles from roads as rubber tires wore out.

A combination of petroleum, sulphur and salt brine—all obtained from the ground—is employed by the Midland chemists to make a synthetic rubber product known to the trade as "Thiokol."

Using a patented process developed by the Thiokol Corporation, the Michigan chemists collaborated in experiments for application of "thiokol" rubber for tire retreading purpose. Tires were retreaded with the new synthetic rubber, and after 5,000 miles of highway travel they showed little evidence of wear. Furthermore, the new rubber can be applied in a simplified method that reduces cost and time.

Petroleum and salt brine are both produced in Michigan. Sulphur comes chiefly from the Southwest.

By utilizing the industrial equipment already available, together with additional facilities, the Dow company believes it would be possible to produce enough of the synthetic rubber by the end of 1942 to retread 1,000,000 automobile tires each month.

It sounds almost too good to be true.

Farm chemistry, the science of utilizing farm products in industry, has had a national exponent in Dr. William Hale, Dow scientist at Midland.

Dr. Hale has foreseen the day when over-production of the farm will be a historical reference to the pre-World War II era. A few weeks ago Vice President Wallace made a speech in which he spoke of "the people's revolution" in this reversal of traditional thinking.

Alcohol, distilled from grain, can be utilized for production of butadiene. Petroleum can also be used to make butadiene. And butadiene is the important base for the manufacture of the synthetic rubber known as Buns S and Buna N.

Converting grain or petroleum into rubber tires is verily a "revolution" in an economic sense.

Impressed with the possibilities, the RFC has expanded the official production program of synthetic rubber to an even 1,000,000 tons. But here is the "catch" to what would be otherwise a very rosy and optimistic tale. First, it will take 18 months to put the program into operation. Second, all of the 1,000,000 tons of artificial rubber are needed for military and lend-lease requirements, leaving NONE for civilian use such as buses, trucks and automobiles.

That is why the Dow retreading process may help to keep defense workers' automobiles on the roads and otherwise assist in averting serious transportation paralysis by 1943 and 1944.

The senate committee investigating the national defense program, headed by Senator Truman, Democrat of Missouri, recently filed a lengthy report at Washington about the national rubber shortage.

While we strew over the proposed inconvenience of greatly reduced rations for gasoline and fret about what may happen to our 1942 tourist business in Michigan, we read the following from the Truman committee report with no great satisfaction:

"The fact that today—two years after the fall of France—not one of those (synthetic rubber) plants is in operation is inescapable evidence not only of the admittedly difficult technical problems but also of the failure of the part of the officials in government to provide in time for one of the most fundamental needs of this country."

If private industry, such as the

Dow company, comes to the rescue of the American people in a situation where government itself has failed miserably to get results, another bright page will be recorded in the war history of the Michigan home front.

General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and Hudson are other Michigan concerns which are performing the "impossible" in production of bombers, tanks, guns and shells.

It is evidence that Yankee ingenuity still exists . . . of the will of the American people to defeat the Axis at whatever cost.

125 Prizes in Farm War Bond Contest

The power of the farm dollar in putting weapons of victory into the capable hands of American soldiers is spotlighted in a "Win-the-War Bond Contest" sponsored by Allis-Chalmers in cooperation with the United States Treasury Department. Seeking reasons from farmers themselves on "Why Farmers Should Buy War Bonds," the contest offers 125 prizes for winning letters of 100 words or less on that subject.

First prize is a $1,000 War Bond, plus a tour with all expenses paid, for the winner and one other member of the family, to the Allis-Chalmers factory at Milwaukee to see weapons of victory in the making. The tour will include a trip to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, and, under conditions permitting, a cruise on a U. S. Navy boat. Second prize is a $1,000 War Bond, third is $500 in War Stamps and 122 other prizes range from $400 down to $10 in bonds and stamps.

Anyone living on a farm can enter by listing with his letter the serial number of a War Bond registered in his name. Each bond denomination of $25 permits one entry. Complete rules and entry blanks may be obtained from Allis-Chalmers dealers or by writing to the factory. Entry blanks, however, are not required to win. All letters should be submitted to Allis-Chalmers, Tractor Division, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, before midnight, September 15, 1942.

Even giant turbines need "low gear"

TO "KEEP 'EM ROLLING" at top speed

The speeding wheels of large turbines like the one above are playing a vital part in Detroit's war industries—generating electric power for hundreds of factories, for stores and offices and homes. Yet strangely enough, these high-speed machines have a "low gear" so slow as to barely "turn over" . . . a most important piece of equipment!

These small "turning gears"—developed more than a dozen years ago—have played an important part in preventing costly damage to the huge turbo-generators in Detroit Edison power plants. A big turbo-generator weighs many tons, but it is very delicately fitted—with clearances of fifteen one-thousandths of an inch. When a turbine is taken off the line or is temporarily not in use, the stored heat in the turbine gradually raises the temperature at the top of the casing, causing the shaft to distort and "bow" upward. If a turbine were started in this condition, the shaft might be permanently bent—resulting in damage that would cripple the turbine for months, and a repair bill of some $30,000. Even with a high priority, repair or replacement might take months.

Turbines are too costly to be treated like this—and too hard to replace. So the small "turning gear" does an important job. It keeps the large shaft rotating slowly and continuously during shut-down periods, and prevents warping or bowing. It also permits bringing the turbine up to speed again in half the time formerly required. And because clearances can be set to a few thousandths of an inch, steam is used at a slightly increased efficiency—thereby saving a small part of the coal required to produce electricity. The Detroit Edison Company.

Nation Honors Flag, Symbol of Our Freedom

Old Glory Is Visible Sign Of America's Past and Present History.

On June 14, the flag of the United States will be 165 years old. Since that memorable day in 1777, when the Continental Congress passed the resolution which gave birth to the flag, it has stood as the symbol for all Americans' rights to liberty, justice and freedom.

The last changes in the flag were made in 1912, when Arizona and New Mexico were admitted to the Union. One star was added for each state, making a total of 48 on the blue field of Old Glory.

Now, in 1942, the people of this nation are more conscious of what their flag stands for than ever before. Today, while American soldiers—sons, sweethearts and husbands—are fighting the battle for freedom in all corners of the globe, their loved ones join with them in that spirit of determination best manifested on Flag day.

It was another war-time President, Woodrow Wilson, who—bowed down with the weight of World War I—wrote, "The things that the flag stands for were created by the experiences of a great people. Everything that it stands for was written by their lives. The flag is the embodiment, not of sentiment, but of history. It represents the experiences made by men and women, the experiences of those who do and live under that flag."

In times of peace—and America has been more fortunate than other nations in this respect—Old Glory's day was taken as a matter of fact. Sometimes the matter-of-factness was viciously near indifference. But look you today at even those who consider themselves hardened and unemotional. No longer is their flag just a representation—nothing else—of something intangible, yet vital. Now it is to them the unfurled spirit of democracy whipping in the good air of freedom.

To those millions of others who have always responded emotionally and vocally, the flag has for them—whether they are battling the foe, plowing the land, knitting sweaters, or producing tanks and bombers by the thousands—the same powerful impact and appeal that Julia Ward Howe put in the line, "As He died to make men holy, let us die to make men free."

Your flag is the symbol of all that is good and American. Give it an American reception, display and honor on June 14.

Each spring for several years the Camp Publishing Company has selected the boy and girl from the graduating class who are most attractive in appearance and personality. The choice is made on the basis of photographs alone. This year Lewis Profit and Ruth White were the graduates honored in this way. They were given large framed photographs of themselves by Betty McCallum who made the announcement of the choice in a speech entitled "Our Charming People."

In an appropriate and impressive manner Louis Caister called attention to the service flag which contains stars representing 70 alumni of the Cass City High School who are now serving in some branch of the armed forces. This service flag is a gift of the Class of 1942 and will be flown immediately below the American flag.

Fourteen students of the class had maintained a 2.00 point or "B" average throughout their high school career. Principal Willis Campbell, who is also class sponsor, presented scholarship medals to these honor students.

After the graduates had received their diplomas, Ruth White pronounced the benediction and the members of the class received the congratulations of their friends.

Musical interludes were furnished by Robert Keating, who played "At Dawning" on his trombone; Gerald Hicks, who played "White Cliffs of Dover" on his accordion; and a boys' quartet, composed of Gerald Hicks, Lowell Sicker, Lewis Profit and Clare Rawson, and billed as the "Senior Four-some," who sang "Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree" and "I Am an American."

Members of the class are: June S. Aulander, Barbara Jean Bardwell, Harold J. Brown, Lucille Elaine Brown, Louis E. Caister, Esther M. Chapman, Kenneth D. Clement, Otis Wilmer Dorland, Madeline Marie DeLong, Carl R. Esau, Evelyn Field, Stephen J. Guc, Marjorie J. Hall, Florence Elizabeth Harrison, Elaine R. Hartwick, James J. Hewitt, Verna G. SENIORS ADVISED TO FACE THE FUTURE WITH WORTHY IDEALS

Concluded from first page. and Candles," with a suggestion of the uncertainty and confusion youth face in these war days, as doors of normal activity close and the fact of war affects each one's future, the speaker reminded them of Columbus, of whom it was said, that he sailed across the ocean, not knowing just where he was going, and when he arrived he was not sure where he was, and when he returned he could not fully explain where he had been. Yet a New World was discovered and a new era in human life opened. So, guided by a vision and by worthy ideals, we may face the uncertain future with confidence.

A quotation by Charles Beard, "When the night is dark enough, the stars begin to shine" and a Chinese proverb, "It is better to light a candle in the darkness than to stand about and curse the darkness," were used as a theme by Mr. Kim who illustrated these ideas with a blackout in the auditorium, broken by the light of a star from above and a candle from the rostrum. Other quotations of Stars and Candles were used to show how God watches and rules yet over human affairs, and how the struggles of mankind, often in the darkness but reveal a purpose in history and the ultimate triumph of God's Kingdom. This gives us cause for hope and courage, if we can face life with a confidence in God, and keep our eyes fixed on the stars that shine above the blackouts of men holding on to our highest ideals. From this the speaker passed to the suggestion that the star which the Magi followed 1900 years ago led them to the Christ, who said "I am the light of the world, he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life." Life will be eminently successful and achieving, when we follow the Christ and like the Chinese coolies we may sing "Fools there may be on the Road, but Stars there are in the Sky."

The second part of Mr. Kim's theme was illustrated by the word of an aged man who said the secret of his life was: "I do not try to sweep away the darkness with a broom; I light a candle," and the Bible verse, "The spirit of man is the candle of the Lord."

The speaker pled with the graduates to keep alive within themselves the spirit of highest idealism, of enthusiasm and of the best possibilities of which they under God are capable. Guided by the word of Christ who said, "I am the Light of the world," and who also said, "Ye are the Light of the world," they may light the candle of faith, in themselves, and keep faith with parents, teachers, country and God; the candle of service; and the candle of love that is not lost in bitterness or hatred. Thus it is better to light a candle in the darkness we face, than merely to curse the darkness or be lost within it.

Adapting a suggestion of George Bernard Shaw, that life is more than a candle, it is rather a torch, to be kept burning and to be passed on more brightly, Mr. Kim closed with a verse: "Hold high the torch, you did not light its glow, 'Twas given you by other hands you know. I think it started down its path-way bright, The day the Maker said 'Let there be light' And He once said, who hung on Calvary's Tree, 'Ye are the light, go shine for me.'"

Aesop a Hunchback?—Aesop, the Greek slave to whom are attributed the famous "fables," is supposed to have been a hunchback.

Paint for Room—The bureau of standards says that white paint will give the lightest room and light tints will give more light than dark tints or solid colors.

Violins With Guts—Violin strings of gut are being wound with a nylon filament to protect them from moisture and wear.

Spots on Clothing—Spots on clothing to be cleaned should be outlined with white thread before putting into gasoline.

DEFORD NEWS

Death of Peter Daugherty—Peter Sylvester Daugherty passed away on June 5 at the Caro Hospital, within a few hours after being taken there. He had been ill and confined to the house for about four weeks and in his advanced years, his strength was insufficient to bring a recovery. His passing not only has taken one of the older residents, but also one of the earlier residents, he having lived here nearly 60 years. In his earlier years, he was a strong, active man, a lover of the hunt, and in the capacity of hotel keeper, his place was a rendezvous for city hunters who came each season for many years for the autumn bird shooting.

He was born September 18, 1858, at Caledonia, Ontario, and came from Oakland County to Tuscola in 1881. In 1879, he was united in marriage to Katherine Hickey, who passed away several years ago. One daughter, Mabel, was born to them, who became Mrs. Frank Roberts, and who died in early womanhood leaving the present Mrs. William Zomke, where the deceased Mr. Daugherty has made his home; also Ward Roberts and (Marian) Mrs. Dan Stephens, both of Pontiac.

Mr. Daugherty was the last of his immediate family, and we well remember his mother when she celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary.

Funeral services for the deceased were held June 8, in the MacPhail & Keesh Funeral Home in Cass City, conducted by A. B. Jarman. R. E. Johnson, William Gage, Clarence Stockwell, Henry Cookin, William Hicks and Louis Sherwood carried him to his last resting place in Novesta Cemetery.

Relatives and friends attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roberts, Mrs. Pauline Hutchings and Frank Crawford and family, all of Pontiac, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Garner of White Lake, Michigan.

Death of J. M. Curtis—Joshua Mott Curtis died at his home, one mile east of Deford, about four o'clock on Tuesday morning. Mr. Curtis was ill about one and one-half years and died as a result of cancer. The disease followed an injury to his left hand which failed to heal, a cancer developing. The hand was amputated above the wrist in an effort to stop its ravages, but failed in its purpose.

Mr. Curtis was born at Lapeer on January 10, 1879, and came to this community two years later. Joshua Mott, and an elder brother, George, the latter dying while still a boy, were adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Curtis, and since that time at two years of age, he has lived continuously on the farm where he died. His occupation has always been farming and he was always an enthusiastic handler of horses, owning some very fine ones.

February 20, 1898, he was married to Miss Mary Whale, to whom were born—Iris, Mrs. McLean of Wingham, Ontario; Basil, of Unionville; Miss Theresa Curtis, of Deford; and Earl Curtis, a selectee, located at Camp Forest, Tennessee. Mrs. Curtis died of scarlet fever leaving the four children still quite young. January 12, 1912, he was united in marriage to Miss Lena Rehner, who became the mother of Sylvester Curtis of Rochester, Lucie, Mrs. Basil Hartwick of Rochester, Clifford Curtis of Marlette, Thelma, Mrs. Eddie New of Rochester, Mahlon and Morris Curtis, at home.

He leaves also one brother, Clifford Mott, in Ellington Township; two sisters, Mrs. Phebe Brown, at Lapeer, and Mrs. Etta Kinsey, at Detroit; sixteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday, June 13, at two o'clock in the Deford church, conducted by A. B. Jarman.

During the present crisis, many women have asked how they can help in war time. There are many ways in which women can assist in winning this war.

If you are a housewife and your husband is engaged in work that is essential to war production, it is important that he remain on the job to help the cause along. An accident can not only ruin this production, but also ruin your happiness. Women can be extremely helpful in spreading the good word of safety along the entire family table so that everyone will be conscious of his part in this large program.

The efficiency of our soldiers and sailors and airmen depends upon the efficiency of our workers behind the lines—and they in turn depend upon safety and health to keep working.

So housewives—you can help—keep safety uppermost in your home, and keep the men on the job.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Jap Air Thrust at Alaska and Midway Seen as Reprisal for Doolittle Raid; U. S. Declares War on Balkan Nations; RAF Smashes Reich War Industries

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

The harbor and town of Dutch Harbor, Alaska, U. S. naval base raided by Japanese bombers, is shown above. The air and naval base which threatens Japan's northern flank and forms a "springboard" for eventual offensives against Nippon is around the point to the left.

ALASKA FRONT:

Japan Strikes

As had been expected ever since General Doolittle's spectacular air raid on Japan last April, Japanese warplanes struck at the American base at Dutch Harbor, Alaska. The first two attacks occurred within six hours of each other.

The fact that fighter planes accompanied the bombers on their raids indicated that the Japs came from aircraft carriers, since the nearest enemy island is 1,400 miles away—far beyond the range of fighter craft.

Significance of the Jap attack on the most formidable American bastion in the Aleutian islands is that Alaska and the Aleutian archipelago lie across Japan's exposed northern flank. They offer an effective "spring-board" for eventual offensives against Nippon.

By neutralizing Alaska and knocking out American air bases, Japan would protect its flank, delay indefinitely the possibility of American invasion via this route and shut off communications and supply lines to Russia in the event of a Japanese attack on Siberia.

Midway Island

When Jap task forces undertook an attack on Midway island, nearest American base to Japan, 24 hours after the Dutch Harbor assault, the growing power of American air and naval strength manifested itself.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, announced that his forces had damaged a battleship and an aircraft carrier and exacted a heavy toll of attacking planes.

BALKAN FOES:

U. S. Acts

President Roosevelt asked for and obtained a declaration of war by congress on the three Nazi-stooge governments of Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania.

On the home front this newest war move meant a general round-up of enemy aliens of these nations and a freezing of their funds.

On the European front it was calculated to produce a two-fold effect. It would underline closer American collaboration with Russia which long has desired such an action and contribute hearteningly to the Soviet's morale. It would serve notice on Hitler's three Balkan allies that they could not escape the consequences of their association with him. Few, however, expected America's war effort against the three new enemies to go beyond speeding up shipments of essential materials to Russia.

WAR WEAPONS:

Army Has Plenty

Expanding power of Uncle Sam's army was disclosed in a report of Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, who revealed that the army has all the weapons it can send abroad under present shipping conditions and enough to arm every soldier in the United States.

Mr. Patterson said the army today requires twice as many light arms per 1,000 men as it did before the extensive use of parachute troops.

SALVAGE PROGRAM:

Patch and Pray

Greater civilian co-operation with the salvage program to speed up the flow of scrap metals and rubber loomed as William L. Batt, chairman of the requirement committee of the War Production board, warned that industry must get ready to "patch and pray."

Mr. Batt disclosed that many essential war materials are now short and declared that "our civilian economy is fast going on a minimum subsistence standard."

RAIDS ON REICH:

RAF Sows Havoc

As air raid after air raid by the RAF wrought destruction in the heart of German war producing areas, the pattern of this newest offensive became increasingly clear; smash the industrial plants that produce materials for Hitler's armies; dislocate the railways that carry these products to his forces in Russia; shake the Nazi civilian morale.

How well these objectives were succeeding was indicated by British communiques. A damaging raid on Cologne was followed by two crippling blows at Essen in the Ruhr valley, concentration point for half of Germany's heavy war industries. Bremen, the Reich's second largest port, was next on the schedule.

In the first Essen raid, 1,036 British planes converged over the Krupp munitions works, showering down 3,000 tons of explosives and incendiaries. The second installment, in the nature of a mop-up was designed to slow down Nazi repair efforts.

While German propaganda continued to minimize the extent of the raids, the outlook was undeniably gloomy.

But the Reich itself was not the only target of the British planes. In one 12-hour daylight period, the RAF hurled more than 1,000 planes in relays over northern France, fanning the flames of revolt among French patriots.

WAR BONDS:

More Sales Needed

"Do I really need what I am going to buy? Can't I do without it? Won't it wait until after the war?" Americans were urged by Secretary of the Treasury Henry L. Morgenthau to ask themselves these questions before making any purchases. The point of the secretary's plea was that the buying of war bonds transcends any other purchase.

"Any man or woman who chooses this time to go on a buying spree is committing an act of sabotage against our war effort," Mr. Morgenthau said in a nationwide radio address.

Unnecessary spending, he added, drains money from the defense program, creates greater price pressure and encourages inflation. More and more purchases of war bonds, he said, are the antidote.

NAVY BILL:

Billions for Ships

Two facts of prime significance to the future conduct of the war stood out in the provisions included in the new $10,452,000,000 naval expansion program over which congress deliberated as a means of giving the United States the largest navy in the world.

These facts were: 1. The emphasis on the construction of aircraft carriers; and 2. The absence of battleships from the proposed naval building program.

The program clearly emphasized the United Nations high command's belief that aircraft and fast, lighter ships equipped to fight submarines will be a determining factor in winning the war.

The naval building program, introduced by Chairman Carl Vinson of the house naval committee, would provide $8,800,000,000 for more than 500 new fighting ships over and above the current two-ocean navy plan. It would include many aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and convoy escort ships specially equipped to fight submarines.

Representative Vinson reported that 100 new warships will join the fleet during the remaining seven months of this year. He predicted that the two-ocean navy program would be completed in 24 months.

WHEAT STORAGE:

Wickard Gets Bins

The answer to a question that has troubled Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard for weeks past came from the War Production board in the form of a "Yes."

The "Yes" was that he can have a large supply of lumber and wire nails to build bins on thousands of farms for storage of 200 million bushels of excess wheat.

With grain elevators already pressed for storage space and transportation facilities straining under a war-time peak, the problem of what to do with surplus wheat was becoming serious. With an estimated new crop of 811 million bushels added to a 630 million bushel carryover, the United States would have 1,441,000,000 bushels this summer.

Domestic consumption and immediate shipments abroad would take 721 million bushels. Of the 718 million bushels remaining, storage space would be available for 500 million bushels. The remaining 218 million bushels would have to be stored in farm bins built with lumber and nails.

GASOLINE:

Permanent Rations

From Washington came the announcement that a permanent gasoline rationing system had been devised by the Office of Price Administration for the East coast that would entitle motorists to an average of 2,880 miles of travel annually, or about 55 miles weekly.

It was indicated that the system would become effective on July 15. Observers were of the opinion that the new plan might serve as a model for nation-wide gasoline rationing when that measure is deemed essential to conserve rubber tires.

LABOR FRONT:

Lewis Denounced

Accusing his former close friend and associate John L. Lewis, head of the mine workers of being "Hell bent on creating national confusion and national disunity," Phillip Murray, CIO president, sponsored a resolution declaring that Lewis is "attempting to sabotage the defense program and spread the spirit of defeatism."

Murray charged that Lewis proposed to him that he go before the CIO convention, in Detroit last fall and fight President Roosevelt's foreign policies. He said he rejected the proposal as "treasonable." The CIO blast followed by only a few hours a pledge from Mr. Lewis of his full support of the war effort and flat rejection of criticism that his policies are inimical to victory.

'HANGMAN'S' END:

Czechs Pay Price

REINHARD HEYDRICH "Butcher of Moravia"

Reprisal measures which followed the wounding of Reinhard ("The Hangman") Heydrich in Prague, by a Czech patriot, increased in swiftness and severity when the news of the death of this sadistic executioner became public. The shooting of hundreds of Czechs suspected by the Nazis of complicity in the plot to rid the world of Heydrich was reported.

Ironically enough, the "butcher of Moravia" died in much the same manner as hundreds of unfortunate hostages he had ordered shot in France, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Poland and other countries during his hated career.

Hard-bitten Heydrich earned the sobriquet of "Der Henker" or hangman of the Nazi regime by reason of his ruthless application of repressive measures—usually the firing squad or the gallows—against those who dared challenge Hitler's rule.

The successful attack on this Nazi leader emphasized again the smoldering spirit of unrest in German-occupied countries—a spirit ready to flame high when Reich reverses make possible organized uprisings.

MISCELLANY:

BERNE.—German beer drinkers will find their favorite brew less potable from now on, according to Nazi announcements. Hereafter, no beer may be manufactured from malt, the basic ingredient for food in tablet form needed by the Reich's fighting forces on the Russian front. The "no malt" order followed the announcement that dining cars would no longer be operated.

He said that the collection campaign would be voluntary—to the extent that if it were not entirely successful it would become compulsory. If there should not be a proper response, and if there should not be enough rubber brought in by the salvage campaign, then, the President solemnly proclaimed, present tires might have to be seized.

Scrap rubber to the amount of 17,726 pounds has been purchased in the past two weeks by junk dealers in Cass City. Of this amount 12,000 pounds were collected by pupils of the public school here.
