S. security, as a savings plan, as a means of helping arm and equip our fighting men, and as a method of avoiding inflation.

The program was a good-will evening of entertainment, sponsored by the United States Government. Persons attending the evening concert were asked to buy defense stamps and bonds of these amounts to $135. 18,750 Hours Spent in Making 750 Mattresses

Project Was Carried on at Five Different Centers in Tuscola County.

Five hundred families put in a total of 18,750 hours of labor to complete 750 mattresses within the past year in Tuscola County. This work was done in a cooperative project in improving home furnishings for needy farm families in the county and was sponsored by the County AAA office and the county agricultural agent's office. Fifteen hundred people benefitted, it is estimated.

Forty thousand five hundred pounds of surplus cotton, 7,500 yards of cotton ticking and 7,500 yards of percale for comforters were used. All were furnished by the Surplus Marketing Corporation.

These mattresses were made in five different centers of the county by the people who received them. Each center was under the supervision of one or two local leaders who taught each person the steps in making a mattress. These leaders were trained by home economics extension specialists from Michigan State College.

A list of the centers, number of mattresses made and the names of the local leaders are as follows:

Dayton Town Hall, 200 mattresses, Mrs. William Hood, Silverwood, Wells Town Hall, 150 mattresses, Mrs. Tilden Tait, Caro; Mrs. Mary Rickwalt, Caro.

Deford Town Hall, 160 mattresses, Mrs. Lloyd Reagh, Cass City. Gifford Town Hall, 200 mattresses, Mrs. Amos Webb, Fairgrove; Mrs. Henry Spiekerman, Fairgrove.

Tuscola Center, 50 mattresses, Mrs. Melvin Lewis, Tuscola. The cost to the party making each mattress was $1.03 which was for twine, thread, sewing machine rent, hall rent, fuel and trucking and labor. About 50% of this $1.03 cost per mattress was left to pay the local leaders who were in charge of the work.

Endless Chain Letters to Solicit Stamps a Fraud

The mail in all parts of the country is being flooded with letters relating to so-called endless chain schemes soliciting defense saving stamps.

"Patrons of post offices depositing in the mail matter relating to schemes of this nature should be warned that the sending of such matter through the mails is a violation of the postal fraud and lottery statutes," the Post Office Department says. "Notices are served upon persons participating in such schemes whose names come to the attention of the department requiring them to show cause why fraud orders should not be issued against them. Such orders forbid the delivery of any mail to the persons named therein."

Lansing—Can it be true that the people of Michigan are endangered by war?

The state legislature this week is holding another emergency special session.

Approximately 500,000 Michigan men registered this week for possible military duty.

And yet newspaper headlines continue to record events which seemingly contradict evidence that we are at war and must make great sacrifices.

First, consider the definition of "endangered." We assume when Michigan lives are lost, when Michigan young men are put in jeopardy of death, sufficient proof exists this is a serious affair: Our two-ocean war of 1942. It is true Michigan cities have not been bombed. No enemy air fleet has attacked Sault Ste. Marie, our Michigan Panama Canal, for vital iron ore. But Michigan young men are dying just the same. What are they fighting to defend?

Does a feeling of complacency exist among Michigan citizens about the outcome of the war?

Here is a question that cannot be answered categorically. We can only surmise an answer.

It can be observed truthfully, we believe, that we Americans take for granted that we are going to win the war ultimately. Our vaunted superiority in industrial arms, plus our tremendous manpower, surely should be sufficient to insure victory. We Americans have never lost a war. To lose a war is almost an impossibility as any one who remembers his history books can tell you. It just can't happen—or can it?

Is Michigan lagging in civilian defense preparations?

Here again is a question extremely difficult to answer in one word. It depends upon each citizen's definition of "lagging" in preparation.

BEEKEEPERS TO MEET.

Amendments to Intangible Tax Law Affect 20,000 More Persons in the State

E. Benjamin Foss, intangible tax supervisor, has made arrangements to come to Cass City on Tuesday, February 24, to consult with taxpayers relative to their intangible tax liabilities. He may be seen at the Pinney State Bank by anyone who is interested.

Mr. Foss calls attention to the following provisions of the intangible tax law:

Amendments to the intangible tax law will affect an estimated 20,000 more people this year than last. Deadline for filing 1941 returns is March 31.

Some 40,000 returns were filed in 1941, the first year's operation of the statute; total collections were slightly over $3,000,000. Two-thirds of net collections are returned to cities, villages and townships on a population basis; one-third to the state's general fund.

While the number of returns will increase, total revenue isn't likely to, for 1941 legislative amendments will cut individual tax bills. This potential loss of revenue

now brings you a dozen electrical services!

Back in 1921, one could call an electric bill a "light bill" with some degree of accuracy. Most homes in those days used electricity chiefly for lighting. But today a "light bill" covers a multitude of home appliances!

Today your "light bill" might represent the services of dozens of electrical household aids: electric refrigeration, washing, ironing, vacuum cleaning, radio, toaster, percolator, food mixer, clocks, electric shaver. In many homes it also includes electric cooking, dishwashing, furnace fan or oil burner, attic fan, kitchen fan, heating pad, sewing machine, teakettle, waffle iron, sunlamp, bathroom heater, etc.—as many as fifty electrical servants.

Tomorrow's uses of electricity are bounded only by the limits of man's ingenuity. Meanwhile we are devoting all our efforts to furnishing better electric service at lower cost. The average price per kilowatt-hour paid by our average residence customer today is 46 per cent less than in 1921.

Thousands of improvements, big and little, developed over a period of years, have made it possible to reduce our residence rate voluntarily five times in the last 20 years. By thinking up new and better ways of doing things at lower cost, and passing these savings on to the customer, we have benefited both the customer and ourselves. This is the way of progress. The Detroit Edison Company.

Wooden Crates Replace Burlap

Saws and hammers in the hands of Michigan's farmers can solve some of the problems resulting from a sharp reduction in available burlap for bagging up the prospective 1942 crop of potatoes.

Right now potato growers can make crates that will serve during the war years. Details are offered by W. Ira Ball, extension forester at Michigan State College. Proof that the crates are adequate for the job and can be made to give years of service has been found right on the college experiment station at Lake City.

Oak crates made for potato picking and hauling are still in service after 13 hard years of service.

Any species of wood is suitable for box and crate stock, according to members of college forestry staff. In tests made in the U. S. Forest Products laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin, the poorest species when properly constructed and nailed proved superior to the best species put together with improper nailing.

One caution is suggested. If aspen or pine is used for crate stock, the cleats should be of some harder species such as oak, hard maple or birch. When thin box nails are clinched, the container gains added strength.

A standard of one bushel crate should have a capacity of 2,160 cubic inches to satisfy potato crate specifications for rail shipments. Inside dimensions are 12 by 12 by 15 inches, to hold approximately 52 pounds.

Nailing directions and suggestions for cutting stock for bottoms, sides and end panels can be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the forestry extension service at Michigan State College.

Facts About the Federal Income Tax

No. 7.

In the event of failure to make and file an income tax return as required by law within the prescribed time, a certain per cent of the amount of the tax is required to be added to the tax unless failure to file the return within the prescribed time is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to be due to reasonable cause and not to wilful neglect.

The amount to be added to the tax is 5 per cent if the failure is for more than thirty days, with an additional 5 per cent for each additional thirty days or fraction thereof during which failure to file a return continues, not to exceed 25 per cent in the aggregate.

A taxpayer who files a tardy return and wishes to avoid the addition to the tax for delinquency must make an affirmative showing of all facts, alleged as a reasonable cause for failure to file the return on time, in the form of an affidavit which should be attached to the return. Alleged ignorance of the law does not constitute reasonable cause for delinquency.

Taxpayers should make every effort to file their returns within the time prescribed by law and thus avoid the possibility of the additions to the tax for delinquency in filing returns.

Do not forget that single persons or married persons not living with husband or wife, who earn as much as $14.43 a week for the 52 weeks of the year, and married persons living together who have aggregate earnings of as much as $28.85 a week for the year, are required to file returns.

CHALLENGE TO HOME-TOWN MERCHANTS.

The greatest shortage in the American economic system is rubber. As a result drastic changes in the American mode of living will probably be necessary. Most of Europe has gone back to the "horse and buggy days," except there are few horses and no buggies. The automobile for civilian use is almost non-existent.

In America the automobile greatly changed our living. It helped make cities bigger and small towns smaller, because people thought nothing of going 50 to 100 miles to shop. As automobile use is restricted, the small towns will become more important.

What does this mean to you, Mr. Small Town or Rural Business Man?

Doesn't it suggest that the small town is about to have a rebirth as a trading center, and in this change isn't there opportunity with a capital "O"? For these people "who have thought nothing of going 50 to 100 miles to shop" are going to think more about the wear and tear on their automobile tires. They are going to begin to think more about their shopping nearer home.

But do not think, Mr. Merchant, that people are going to be forced to trade with you because you are located where you are. It is not going to be as easy as that to get back the trade that has been going away.

The merchants in the cities aren't going to surrender that trade without a fight. They are going to bring their advertising message into your community and they are going to use every method they can—including perhaps the development of mail order business—to hold on to that trade.

So you, Mr. Home Merchant, had better be stirring yourself right now before they get the jump on you.

Preaching the doctrine of "trade at home" isn't enough. Urging people to support "home enterprise" isn't enough. You have got to show them why trading at home means money in their pockets. That they can buy as good quality at home as elsewhere.

This car and tire crisis offers an opportunity for showing them. What are you going to do about it? And when?

The Chronicle which covers the community here can help you reach the people, no matter where your store is located in this section. You will always find us willing and ready to work for you as your salesman.

WRITING TO THE SOLDIERS.

The people are told to write often to their soldier friends. The fellows at the camps are likely to have lonely hours, when they miss the home scenes and the fellows they meet at the corner store, and the girls with whom they dance and ride. A letter or two coming in every day will help.

The letters should tell them how they are missed, and give them all the news and jokes and fun of the life at home.

It is well to remember the soldier boy's pay does not go far, and he should be expected to pay very little when he comes home on the cost of good times. It would be nice if he could be informed that the friends at home would pay all the bills when they step out, as their tribute of thanks and appreciation.

Many women, it is complained, take a long time in deciding about their purchases. They usually seem to know right off what they want for a husband.

Pop says he has gone as far on the home vegetable question as to decide what he won't plant.

Vigorous exercise is said to prevent people from getting fat. Fact that the girls will dance to run off superfluous weight, does not prove you can get them out in the garden for equally useful exercise.

According to the girls, the most alarming shortage is not the lack of tires, but the scarcity of dates.

"The conductor cannot speak English," remarked a lady in the audience at the WPA symphony orchestra concert Tuesday evening just following an announcement which had been made by a member of the musical group other than the conductor. The way that the orchestra performed, however, proved that music is a universal language understood by all artists and lovers of the art. This brings to mind the remark of a Sunday School organist here 40 years ago, more or less. When asked to serve as accompanist for a song in a foreign tongue, she replied "I can only play in English."

Repair of Farm Machinery Is Vital

The repair of farm machinery becomes more vital each day as the spring season approaches.

This spring farmers will go into the fields to start one of the most important jobs in our whole war effort—the production of "Food for Freedom" and victory. The coming farming season is the most crucial in the history of American agriculture, according to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, because the 1942 production goals call for the greatest production in history and for putting every acre of land, every hour of labor, and every bit of farm machinery, fertilizer, and other supplies to the use which will best serve the Nation's wartime needs.

California Oil
California produced more than 200,000,000 barrels of crude oil in 1940.

Ancient Jumbo Found
Skulls of two shovel-headed mastodons, million-year-old elephants have been found in Texas.

'Affectionately Martha'
In Chicago, absent-minded Mrs. Roland K. Smith paid for a pleasant day of swimming and letter writing at a private club with a check signed "Affectionately, Martha."

Air-Crust Pie
Because Fifteenth century English epicures insisted that their pies have high, rounded contours, a cook on completing a pie would make a small hole in the crust and blow into it, "pumping" it up.

Slept in Car, Justified
The girls have the law on their side even if their husbands do not follow them to the street. An officer in Long Island city, returning to his radio car after time out for coffee, found a woman making herself at home. He demanded that she get out, and when she refused he declared her under arrest and drove her to the station house. Her story was that she had carnailed with her husband, walked out on him, and since it was 4 a. m., had taken shelter where she found it. The magistrate said that any woman so circumstanced was justified in taking possession of a squad car.

Walt Mann's Team Lengthens Lead

By Dr. B. H. Starmann, Secretary of the Bowling League.

The sixth week of the current series finds Mann's boys the only five capable of winning all three of their games. They did this at the expense of the Parsch team. As a result we have the team captained by Walt three full games in the lead at this writing.

Auten decided it was about time to break into print again and in order to do so he picked, this time, on the high individual game department and came up with a 248 total. This is the highest game bowled by an individual this year. Mann's outfit also came up with a very creditable game total of 2,487 good for third place in that department.

There were no 600 scores this week but several came awfully close to that mark. The "500 club" this week is as follows: Auten, 597; Reid, 596; Kirlon, 573; C. Wallace, 559; Alex Tyo, 553; B. Benkelman, 551; Novak, 550; Diaz, 543; Schwegler, 542; Haven, 535; R. RED CROSS NEEDS MORE BLOOD DONORS is allowed to stand or is sent through a mechanical separator. The plasma contains the nourishment but not the red cells, and it is these cells that are involved in 'typing.'

"The donor reclines on a table and the blood is quietly removed through a tube. There is a perceptible throbbing, that is all. After the donation has been made, the donor should rest for a little while, then go about his or her business. The physiological mechanism will be busy all this time replenishing his supply of blood. There is no inconvenience excepting for the time required to have the fluid removed.

"Before a blood bank was established at the University of Michigan, a number of students helped to defray their college expenses by regularly serving as blood donors and were never obliged to take time out from the educational activities as a consequence. The service of the Red Cross differs from that of most well organized hospitals in just two particulars. First, it is organized on a nation-wide scale and second it provides a means for many, who are denied more active participation in the war effort, to contribute to the defense of our country."

So please act quickly and sign up at once is the request of the committee in charge.

To Conquer or to Die!

By GEORGE WASHINGTON

Welcome to the day returning,
Dearest still as ages flow,
While the torch of Faith is burning,
Long as Freedom's altars glow!

—Oliver Wendell Holmes

Editor's Note—One hundred and sixty-six years ago, George Washington addressed a few remarks to his soldiers before the battle of Long Island. Spoken in August, 1776, his first few sentences might well have been addressed to the American people and their armed forces today. The battle against tyranny and for liberty is still on. Washington's introductory remarks on that historic occasion follow:

THE time is now near at hand which must probably determine whether Americans are to be free men or slaves; whether they are to have any property they can call their own; whether their houses and farms are to be pillaged and destroyed, and themselves consigned to a state of wretchedness from which no human effort will deliver them. The fate of unborn millions will now depend, under God, on the courage and conduct of this army. Our cruel and unrelenting enemy leaves us only the choice of a brave resistance, or the most abject submission. We have therefore to resolve to conquer or to die.

AMENDMENTS TO INTANGIBLE TAX LAW

The remaining 22 associations ranges from two per cent to 35 per cent.

Building and loan and savings and loan associations are now classified, for purposes of intangible tax computation, with general business corporations, the stock of which is taxable to the extent that its property is located outside of Michigan.

From the total of bank deposits plus taxable deposits in building and loan and savings and loan associations, a $3,000 exemption may be taken, on a proportionate basis.

Building and loan and savings and loan associations benefited doubly from 1941 amendments. Last year, the $3,000 exemption applied only to deposits in banks. This exemption cannot, however, be deducted from cash on hand, whether in a safety deposit box or elsewhere. Nor from postal savings accounts. Both such deposits are taxable without exemption, the latter by a 1941 clarifying amendment.

Mortgages, land contracts, accounts receivable and many other kinds of intangible property are also taxable. Where there is income from intangible property, the rate is 6 per cent of that income, but not less than $1 a $1,000 nor more than $3 a $1,000 of the face, par or contributed value. Where there is no income, the tax is a flat $1 a $1,000 of face, par or contributed value.

Bank stock is taxable by a percentage which varies with each bank.

The taxable portion of the stock of some 2,000 corporations, together with the par, or contributed value of such stock, is listed in a book now available at banks, trust companies, intangible tax branch offices, and many other places in Michigan.

Annually a date is set for the preceding year, which may be used by business firms to obtain average values of intangibles, such as bank accounts, the value of which changes during the year. For 1941, the "average" date is October 31.

Cyclotron Treatment for Sarcoma
Radio-active elements developed in the University of California at Berkeley are being used in experimental treatment of a giant-celled sarcoma on the leg of a patient. Substances made radio-active by bombardment with "deutrons," or "atomic bullets," are introduced into the blood stream. Here they focus on infected tissues with much the same effect of X-rays, but, because their effectiveness is limited to a short time, without the possible danger.

Complicated Exchange Control
Iran has one of the world's most complicated systems of foreign exchange control.

Washington, 66, Ready for War Against France

Little Remembered Incident Stirred Up Modern Turn of Events.

If in the present World war, American relations with France appeared strained at times, history was only repeating itself. For in July, 1776, George Washington, who had then been in retirement at Mount Vernon and had but another year to live, accepted appointment from President John Adams, commander in chief of the American army in a threatened war with France. He was 66 years old and he stipulated exemption from active service save in the case of actual hostilities. Alexander Hamilton was named second in command for immediate purposes.

Until the past year, little has been written about this chapter in French-United States relations. But war there was between the two nations. It was an undeclared war, and the fighting was confined to naval engagements. It was at this period, in fact, that the American navy was born. The department of the navy was created with Benjamin Stoddard as the first secretary of the navy, on June 13, 1778. The American seamen proved their mettle, effectively drove French raiders from American sea lanes, and when Napoleon came in as head of the Directory a peace was effected.

The trouble started when the Jay treaty was negotiated between Great Britain and the United States in 1796. France claimed a permanent alliance with the United States and regarded the Jay treaty as an unfriendly act. It was probably this attitude by France which led Washington in his Farewell Address to warn the American people: "It is our true policy to steer clear of PERMANENT alliances with any portion of the foreign world." But Washington was at pains at the very same time to add: "Taking care always to keep ourselves by suitable establishments on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to TEMPORARY alliances for EXTRAORDINARY emergencies."

Washington had led his countrymen in a successful revolution against Britain. LaFayette, the great French democrat, aided him in no small way. LaFayette's help was sincere. But Washington knew that the aid given by Louis XVI, who was later beheaded for undemocratic rule, was merely for expediency. Washington therefore was neither a Franco-phil nor an Anglo-phobe. The Jay treaty was concluded under his direction and it smoothed many points commercially and otherwise between England and this country. France had passed its terroristic years of the Revolution and was now governed by a Directorate. Soon French ships began fearful raiding of American vessels, confiscating them, and imprisoning sea men. It was at this point that an American commission, seeking a diplomatic understanding, was asked to pay a secret "loan" of some millions to the Directorate. It was nothing more than a bribe proposal. The "appeasement" was flatly rejected and one of the commissioners, C. C. Pinckney, is credited with saying: "Millions for defense, not one cent for tribute." John Marshall, later chief justice of the U. S. Supreme court, was another of the commissioners, and their report of the "X. Y. Z." affair, as the incident was called, stirred up the nation to a high pitch of excitement.

Like Cincinnatus of old, Washington was ready to leave the peace and quiet he had sought after 45 years of public service. Fortunately the "war" blew over. But once again Washington proved that he was "first in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Hay for Sows Aids Pig Crop

Pigs for pork assume some of the importance that "pigs" for steel rate in the struggle for dominance in the present war emergency. Which leads to a recommendation that Michigan farmers feed some of their brightest and highest quality alfalfa hay to prospective sow mothers.

Home-grown alfalfa hay of excellent quality makes an ideal supplement to grain for sows between breeding and farrowing time, says V. A. Freeman of the animal husbandry staff at Michigan State College.

Experiments at the college indicate that from one-fourth to one-third of the sow's ration can be alfalfa. With corn or corn and oats the hay lowers the cost of wintering sows and permits the use of home-grown feed.

Normally the sows will pick out enough hay from a rack where fresh supplies are placed every two or three days. But if hay is high priced it may pay to grind the hay.

For gilts about to produce their first litter of pigs, the hay grinding is considered essential. As much as one-third of the ration can be hay but this must be fed in a way that will include enough grain ration to keep the gilts growing well and in good condition. The trick is to mix the ground hay with the grain.

Sows with six or more pigs can hardly be overfed, says Freeman. But hay still can be a part of the feed, giving as much as five to eight per cent hay to provide vitamins until pasture is available.

The time to economize and use maximum hay is before farrowing time, after that the sow must eat more grain to provide plenty of milk for her litter, according to Professor Freeman.

Leaf-Eating Worms

From time to time, worms or other insects attack roses, eating holes in the leaf or consuming the entire leaf in some cases. The effect of these pests is readily seen. Spray or dust the leaves with a mixture containing lead arsenate. The next meal is the last for these bugs, if they are the leaf-eating type.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

portion to the general objectives of what is needed to be done.

Lieut. Colonel D. E. Squier, who has been assigned by General Cummings of the Sixth Corps Area to the sixth civilian defense region with offices in Chicago, made this statement last Wednesday (February 11) to the Michigan Council of Defense:

"We in the regional office at Chicago consider the work being done in Michigan the leading work in this region. You here in this state are far ahead of most of the states of the Middle-West. When I saw what was being done here and when I saw the earnestness with which fire chiefs were taking up their work at a school this morning and when I saw the preparation which had been made for instructing them, I was proud to say that I was a Michigander."

When is enough enough? Must our degree of preparedness depend upon future Pearl Harbors?

Who is making the sacrifices, anyway?

Newspaper headlines record the news that Singapore, Allied Nations' "Gibraltar of the East"—the great naval fortress which military experts told us was impregnable against enemy assault—has fallen to the Japanese.

We are told the loss of Singapore may be likened to the loss of England from the American viewpoint. Washington officials say it may add a YEAR to the war. A year of what?

"C. I. O. Demands Wage Increase" is another headline. Let us read on. The C. I. O. demands the following from General Motors:

1. The closed shop with extended authority in plant management.
2. A wage increase of $1 per day with "readjustment" every three months.
3. A $100 defense bond in lieu of vacations.
4. Stricter seniority provisions.
5. More power for the "impartial umpire" to interpret contract provisions.

General Motors wages in cents per hour are 42 per cent ABOVE the national average.

A year of what?

"Two-Man Dispute Closes Ford Department." Here is another headline.

What were the workers making in the Ford department? Just tools and dies. How were the tools and dies to be used? Just to make bomber planes. And why are the bomber planes? To fight a war that we're going to win anyway—or will we?

"University Head Sees Near Defeat." Just another headline, this time quoting an address by the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University, who said: "I don't believe that 20 per cent of our people realize we are at war. They will not apparently until the first casualties are made known and the first bombs start to fall. . . It is not defeatism to talk of defeat; it is prudence."

Is this "war-mongering?"

Captain Donald Leonard, civilian defense coordinator for Michigan, has repeatedly declared in community talks: "It is a pity that a few of the bombs that dropped on Pearl Harbor couldn't have fallen on—say Kansas City! Maybe that would have awakened the Middle West to the seriousness of this war!"

Is this statement needless hysterics to arouse the public?

"Henderson Fears Wage Inflation." Another headline.

The federal government economist, now price administrator at Washington, warned the war labor board that general wage increases—such as those sought by the Michigan C. I. O.—would add only to the ruinous spiral of inflation.

Who is paying these war wages anyway? Is it the General Motors Corporation and the Ford Motor Company or is it the American taxpayer who must foot the war bill, now or ultimately?

Michigan industry and business—all employers who have eight or more persons employed—have paid approximately $140,000,000 in unemployment compensation taxes.

This money was paid by management and was deposited at Washington to the account of the state unemployment compensation commission for the purpose of paying insurance allowances to jobless as a "crutch" to help them along while they looked for work or until their jobs were resumed.

Is it not an employer-financed savings account?

Should this money be used as a dole?

minimum payments from $16 to $20 a week, a 25% raise. C. I. O. leaders had asked for $24 a week for 28 weeks. They oppose the experience rating, provided for by Michigan laws, whereby employers who keep workers on the job can earn a reduction in taxes from 3 per cent to a possible 1 per cent—a possible saving of many millions. Should employers be given an incentive for keeping men at work?

Roy Newberry, editor, Coldwater Daily Reporter, said editorially on January 7: "Americans need discipline. They need a self-imposed discipline that springs from an intense devotion to their country and its interests, a discipline so strong that personal comforts become unimportant. In short they need to build morale."

In this editor's judgment we are unprepared spiritually as well as militarily.

But must it be necessary that we Americans "won't buckle down to the really hard work of winning the war," as Newberry put it, until three things happen: "They have got to be mad, they have got to be scared, they have got to be hurt?"

Mark P. Haines, editor, Sturgis Daily Journal, observed editorially Feb. 7: "The quicker we get serious about this thing, the sooner it is over. Every sacrifice, every extra bit of production accomplished now will save three sacrifices, make unnecessary three savings, render unnecessary three measures of production next year. Every step that can be taken in conservation now puts off the day of rationing. Every speed-up in preparation that can be made today will save American blood and American lives tomorrow. Every drop of sweat we shed today may save a drop of blood or a tear tomorrow."

Are we really serious about it TODAY?

Read the headlines of your hometown newspaper and you may think through the answers to some of the questions we have raised.

Every citizen is entitled to his own opinions.

As one citizen among millions, we offer these conclusions:

1. The average Michigan citizen DOES realize the seriousness of the war. He is going about his duties quietly. He is not vocal about his grim determination to win the victory and his willingness to sacrifice for it. He is not grumbling.

2. A small minority, highly vocal, is seizing upon the war as an opportunity for selfish profit.

As the Sturgis newspaper editor phrased it: "Every drop of sweat we shed today may save a drop of blood or a tear tomorrow."

The sacrifices we make tomorrow will not shorten the war tomorrow. They must be made today—NOW.

Weed Problem

To get rid of sorrel in the front yard spray the weedy areas with one pound of iron sulphate mixed with one gallon of water. Mix in a porcelain, wooden or glass container. If the mixture comes in direct contact with the grass it may cause it to appear injured, but it seldom permanently harms a lawn. Spray the weedy areas with water in the evening and then first thing in the morning apply the iron sulphate.

Sleeping Before Midnight

It is a good thing to get sleep before midnight, but not because it is deeper or influenced in some way by the moon or stars. When people go to bed before midnight they usually get more hours of sleep than if they retired later, and the benefit comes from getting more sleep, not necessarily better sleep. The first two hours of sleep are of about the same quality, or depth, whether one goes to bed at 10, midnight or later.

Ship's Size

Ship's size is not necessarily deciding factor in ship's speed, though large ones are usually faster than small ones. But a motor launch can run circles around a big sailing ship and a mosquito torpedo boat around a huge ocean liner. A steamship averaging 20 knots might accomplish 3,200 mile voyage from Rio de Janeiro to Cape Town, South Africa, in about six days, while 10-knot ship would take nearly two weeks.

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

RAID: On Japs

After two weeks of censorship the Pacific fleet command allowed news men to disclose the amount of damage inflicted by the U. S. navy in their spectacular attack on the Japanese Marshall and Gilbert islands.

These reports indicated that with the loss of only 11 U. S. aircraft, plus a minor bomb hit on one cruiser, and with a small loss of life units of the American fleet accomplished the following:

- Destroyed four military air bases.
- Destroyed two military villages.
- Destroyed four radio stations.
- Sank at least 16 Jap ships, including a modern cruiser, two submarines and a 17,000-ton liner.
- Damaged at least eight other Jap ships.

In addition to an undetermined number destroyed on the ground, the Japs lost 36 aircraft, including fighters and bombers.

Described as almost perfect timing and executed with speed and daring the raid was the first big answer to the often asked question, "Where is the fleet?"

CONSUMERS: Face Living Costs

It was apparent that the price control bill, which had prevented inflation of certain farm prices, was going to be subject to changes that might bring a big rise in the cost of some items.

The senate agriculture committee had unanimously approved a bill

The amendment had been tacked onto a bill passed which provided $100,000,000 for the purchase of gas masks, auxiliary fire-fighting equipment and other protective goods to be used in the protection of the population against air raids.

The senate had been expected to go along with the house in its effort to weed the "frills and furbelows" out of the program.

Senator Byrd, Virginia, keynoted this move by demanding that the OCD send his committee a list of all OCD employees getting over $3,000 a year, and outlining their specific duties.

LUZON: 163 Planes

Continued efforts by the Japanese to land on Batan had been turned back by General MacArthur's highly mobile artillery forces in the general's "last ditch" fight to keep the American flag flying over the Philippines.

The anti-aircraft fire of MacArthur's men had continued good, the bag of seven planes in one day comparing favorably with other fronts where the United Nations had many more serviceable aircraft than did the defenders of Luzon.

Captured prisoners and other methods of gaining information revealed that five Japanese divisions had been identified as taking part in the battle, which would bring the estimated strength of the Japs actually on the front battle-line at close to 100,000 men.

Other divisions were on the island, keeping communications open, and it had been reported that reinforcements for the Japs were constantly arriving, thus steadily increasing the pressure on the American-Filipino army.

NORMANDIE: $80,000,000 Job

Whether carelessness, sabotage or Fate was responsible, the $8,000-ton Normandie, former luxury liner and now the naval auxiliary Lafayette, lay on her enormous beam-ends in 40 feet of water and 12 feet of mud at her dock in New York, an $80,000,000 salvage job for the U. S. navy.

Twenty-two hundred men were at work inside of her, changing her over from peacetime to wartime uses when a welder's torch started a fire. Within minutes it was out of control.

SINGAPORE: Water-Pincers

A new tactic in warfare, the "water-pincers" movement, utilized by the Japanese in Malaya, had brought Singapore to her knees, spreading gloom in Britain, and making the defense of the East Indies a nearly superhuman job.

General Yamashita, commander of the Jap forces in Malaya, had won the Order of the Golden Kite and the Order of the Rising Sun for his success in driving the defenders out of Malaya, for smashing into the island of Singapore, first time in history that the historic port had been tested in battle.

The long, narrow peninsula of Malaya, difficult terrain, had apparently presented enormous invasion problems. The Japs had solved these by using small boats, many of them commandeered or captured, and sending small, well-armed and highly mobile detachments, first down the east coast, then down the west, making landings by night, and infiltrating behind the defenders.

Each time the British were able to make a swift withdrawal, and to salvage their main forces, but each time they lost ground, until they were finally driven back across the Johore causeway onto the Singapore island.

Literally scores of "bites" had been taken out of each coastline by this Japanese technique during their advance southward. At the same time the Japs had sent another large force to drive westward from the top of the peninsula in an effort to cut off the Burma road, but, more important, to protect their own rear.

SPY RAIDS: On West Coast

TWO BUDDHIST PRIESTS TAKEN

Weren't always praying

More and more Japanese continued to be caught in the nets spread along the West coast by the FBI.

The spy raids were being carried out almost daily by the G-men, who in one raid got 20 alleged spies and saboteurs and a truckload of ammunition and weapons.

Chief concentration of the raids was in Pacific coast counties where there were large military establishments.

At Salinas, Calif., following the questioning of several Japs taken into custody at a large lettuce farm, one of them turned out to be a former chief of police in Tokyo. Another was formerly a high official in the same police force.

A raid on a Buddhist temple in Monterey county yielded three priests. All of them had been in this country only a few months.

In a sporting goods store, about to purchase firearms, a former Japanese bootlegger with a police record was taken into custody.

It was here that a whole truckload of ammunition, rifles, shotguns, etc., was seized, together with the proprietor, a Japanese.

In 45 places searched, the yield was, among other things, 60,845 rounds of ammunition.

TEA: Panic Buying

A new U. S. agency had been formed to handle the tea situation which developed after grocers were apalled to find customers ordering tea in five-pound lots.

The panic in buying followed similar lines to that in sugar, and which had resulted in the setting up of a sugar rationing plan.

As more or less a natural outcome of the news from the tea-growing areas, WPB began to get reports of "five-pound tea buying" from all sections of the country, and it was regarded as essential that rationing be adopted if the buying panic had not been stopped voluntarily.

In the sugar situation, cases of prosecution began to pop up, one chain store manager, trying to make a sales record for himself, having disposed of 31,000 pounds of sugar, allegedly to illicit still operators. He was fined $500.

DUTCH: Under Pressure

Complaints from the Netherlands East Indies command that too much of the naval force of the United Nations was engaged in "non-combatant work" came as the Dutch faced a pincers movement against Surabaya and the fear of a frontal attack on Java generally.

It was evident, said the Dutch leaders, that a giant pincers move was being directed at Java when the Japs landed in force on Celebes island, which formed the tip of the right flank of the Javanese defense line.

At the same time Axis sources had reported that the Japanese were demanding the surrender by the Dutch of all the East Indies, together with their oil supplies, in return for which the islands would be technically left as Dutch possessions.

Dutch sources said, however, that no Japanese proposal would be entertained, and they continued their "scorched earth" policy of destroying all oil installations before abandoning any property to the Japs.

Despite the costly losses inflicted on the enemy in Macassar strait last month, the Japs evidently had been able to make successful landings there.

Chief hope at present of the Dutch in captured territory was the report of successful guerrilla action which had really been the answer to the loss by Japan of any real victory in the war with China. One Dutch authority had said:

"Nowhere do the Japs feel safe. Our men behind their lines are picking them off, two today, ten tomorrow, and the toll is mounting and steady. This guerrilla war is being fought in an incessant downpour of rain."

CLOSER:

Draw Lines of War

Though there was little evidence of a slackening of the general Japanese advance through the island empire of the Southwest Pacific, it seemed that as the days wore on, the main battle lines were drawing closer together.

Arrival in New Zealand of the first units of Admiral Leary's naval forces heralded, according to news-men who accompanied the fleet, the establishment of a supply line for the United States.

Washington: All silk processors were ordered within 48 hours to sell their entire stocks of silk to the government, on penalty of having them commandeered.

Washington: Congress was frankly told that the reason for the short American supply of scrap metal could be traced to extremely heavy shipments to Japan before the declaration of war.
