New Blank Will Give Details Regarding Occupational Qualifications.

Those who registered in the third draft will be sent two questionnaires.

The first blank will be sent out between April 20 and 25 and will request information regarding occupation and experience, years of education, duties of present job, name of employer, job for which registrant is best suited and citizenship.

The regular questionnaires, similar to those used in the first two draft registrations, will be sent out later.

If registrant is an alien, he shall be required to complete an alien personal history and statement, which will be submitted to the armed forces for their determination as to whether or not he will be acceptable for induction into the armed forces.

Three men left Tuscola County for Fort Custer Monday: Carl Jackson of Caro, James Seney of assar and Ornell Enos of Fairgrove. Floyd Fiske of Cass City was transferred to Ann Arbor and Demont Roller of Unionville was deferred.

Six thousand men have been registered in Tuscola County in the three drafts.

Neighbors Petition Rawson to Run for State Senator

At a meeting of a group of Elkland Township voters last week, it was unanimously decided to circulate petitions requesting State Representative Audley Rawson to become a candidate for State Senator from the 20th district of Michigan, which comprises the counties of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola.

When there was a vacancy in the office of State Representative in Tuscola County eight years ago, a meeting was held in Elkland Township to persuade Rawson to enter the race for the nomination at the primary. That Rawson was popular with his neighbors was proven when they turned out en masse to roll up more votes for him in Elkland Township than one of his opponents received in all Tuscola County and within 15 votes of the number cast in the 23 townships for the other man in the race. Mr. Rawson was nominated by a plurality vote of nearly two to one in the county.

Mr. Rawson has been returned each term without opposition within his party. He has been a member of the ways and means committee four years, majority leader of the House for a similar period, and is a member of the "little legislature" which considers emergency appropriations when the state legislature is not in session. He was appointed a member of the reapportionment committee of the House at the last session and was recently named by Governor Van Wagoner as a member of the state constitutional convention committee.

Born on a farm near Marlette in 1893, Rawson attended high school. Turn to page 8, please.

Inside Passage Trip to Alaska Is Most Beautiful Says Joyce Retherford Smith

Kodiak, Alaska, March 13, 1942. Cass City Chronicle, Cass City, Michigan. Mr. Lenzner,

Thinking perhaps you might enjoy a Kodiak, Alaska, paper, I am sending you one. Do I need an introduction? I am Joyce Retherford Smith and I'm enjoying an adventure in Alaska. Mr. Smith is employed at the Naval Air Station here. Howard, our 13-year-old son, and I joined him here last October.

We left Michigan last September and drove through to Seattle. We had a very delightful trip, but so many have taken that trip that I will pass over that, although it is a trip worthy of anyone's time and consideration. The Bad Lands, Black Hills, Yellowstone, Bitterroot Mountains and Mt. Rainier are all a trip, each in itself.

We left Seattle September 28 on the good ship Yukon. We soon made many friends and were soon enjoying the grandest trip that I think is possible to take. This trip, up the inside passage to Alaska, is most beautiful all the way. There's no ocean trip like it anywhere. Great high mountains are on either side of you and in many places it is

Easter Seal Sale Here Went Beyond Quota Assigned

"Over Quota" Check Was Presented to the County Chairman on Tuesday.

In presenting Clarence Bougher, chairman of the Tuscola County Chapter of the Michigan Crippled Children's Society, with a check of $125.00 at the Rotary Club luncheon at Hotel Gordon Tuesday, Willis Campbell, local chairman, announced that this "over quota" check was made possible by the generosity of citizens of this community in purchasing Easter Seals.

Six young people who have benefited from the activities of the society were guests at the luncheon. They included Lillian Welch, Deloris Willerton, Lucille Delong, Marshall Sowden, Wayne Spencer and Ed Brigham. Two others who have enjoyed advantages made possible by Easter Seal sales bring the number to eight. Each one was given a defense stamp book with one dollar's worth of stamps.

Mr. Bougher, following the presentation, spoke on the "Symbols of Easter."

Charles Kercher, 10-year-old flute soloist, gave two solos with Charles Keen at the piano.

Dr. I. D. McCoy of Bad Axe, former surgeon of Cass City, was appointed a member of the Michigan Crippled Children's Commission by Governor Murray D. VanWagoner. He has resigned from the post stating that "I feel that I do not have the time at present to follow through on the governor's program."

May-Rinerd Wedding Saturday

A lovely wedding took place Saturday afternoon in the Ellington Nazarene Church when Miss Lucy May of Ellington was united in marriage with Raymond Rinerd of Flint. The Rev. Albert E. Raloff, pastor, read the service.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. George D. Bugbee sang "O Promise Me" and a trio composed of Mrs. Bugbee, Lena May Cross and Viola Bemis sang "I Love You Truly." At the appointed hour, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Bugbee, the bride and groom were escorted to the altar.

The bride, who wore a floor-length gown of white silk with fingertip veil and a corsage of roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Ida May, who wore a floor-length dress of pink and corsage of sweet peas, and Miss Gloria Carter, who was dressed in blue with a corsage of sweet peas.

Christian Flag Dedicated at Service at Evangelical Church

An impressive service was held in the Evangelical Church Sunday morning when a Christian flag presented to the congregation by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ricker was dedicated. Following a procession when choir and minister passed to their places, the flag was dedicated in a ritualistic service in which the pastor, Rev. Stanley P. Kim, and the congregation participated. At the close, the group pledged allegiance to the American flag and to the Christian flag.

The flag was given in memory of the late James S. Ricker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ricker, on the 20th anniversary of his reception into the membership of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ricker have spent the winter months at Bradenton, Florida, and will probably be coming to Cass City soon as they usually travel homeward shortly after Easter.

Four Injured in Two Auto Accidents

The car in which Clark Seeley, Clara Seeley and Lyle Gunther, all of Detroit, were traveling north on M-53, was struck by a hit and run driver at 6:15 p. m. Saturday, a mile south of Marlette. The Seeley car crossed a ditch, broke an electric light pole, turned over a couple of times and landed in a field upside down. The three occupants were removed from the automobile through a rear window. They suffered from head and body injuries and shock. After treatment at a Marlette hospital, they were brought to their parental homes at Cass City.

Shortly after noon, Monday, Jimmie Frost, 6, was hit by an automobile driven by George E. Gawne at a street intersection in Vassar as the boy was running across the street. The lad was knocked down by a glancing blow and suffered head, body and arm bruises. Witnesses said the driver turned his wheel quickly or he would have run over the boy's body.

Frank Hall Started Apr. 1 on 33rd Year Carrying Mail on R. R. No. 2

"Whoa, Dolly" and "Get Going, Prince" may have been familiar expressions directed to the horses that hauled the rural mail carrier's buggy back in 1910, but they went out-of-date seven years later when Frank Hall purchased his first automobile to deliver mail on Rural Route No. 2 out of Cass City.

Wednesday, April 1, Mr. Hall started on his 33rd year as a regular carrier and outside of having his picture snapped by B. A. Elliott, another mail carrier here, the day did not differ much in routine from any other. Of course, there was a difference in the condition of roads, length of route and time spent on the job, but he found his patrons similar to those who made up the fine upstanding farming community when he commenced his duties as a regular carrier on April 1, 1910, succeeding Eugene Maxwell, who had resigned from that position. Mr. Hall had served the previous year as substitute carrier under Warner Kelley on Route 8.

The horse and buggy, or cutter in the winter time, were given a brief vacation during the summer months when motorcycles were introduced and didn't the boys make time on those new traveling contraptions! But summer was always followed by autumn and then the clay and poor gravel roads brought back the horse and buggy days and those twenty-six miles of travel were often tedious ones. "Sometimes I didn't see Frank from seven o'clock in the morning until five in the afternoon when the roads were bad," said Mrs. Hall Wednesday. In the early days, he never returned home in time for the noon meal and for years he ate his dinners at the James Allen farm home.

As roads were improved the route was lengthened and now it measures 58 miles. "I think I deliver more mail in one day than I did in a week back in 1910," Mr. Hall says. "There was no parcel post delivery in those early days, not many farmers received daily papers and the number of farm papers, magazines and other publications delivered in late years has increased many times."

There are six heads of families in the household. Turn to page 8, please.

Fairgrove Man Killed in Auto Crash Saturday

Funeral of Joseph C. Bliss Was Held in Ellington Twp. Tuesday.

Joseph C. Bliss, 35, of Fairgrove was killed and Charles Aherns of Akron was seriously injured when the driver of Aherns' automobile lost control of the car when it crossed the railroad tracks in Fairgrove Saturday night, March 28, at eleven o'clock. The car traveled about 150 feet from the tracks when it hit a 16-inch electric light pole, breaking the pole ten feet above the ground and then crashed into a tree.

The car was going south on M-83, and according to reports of the officers investigating the accident, the tracks on the highway indicated the car was traveling on the left side of the road.

Joseph Bliss suffered a broken neck and a crushed chest and was dead when he was removed from the car. Charles Aherns was taken to the Caro Community Hospital with a brain concussion and other injuries. Because of his condition, officers were unable to learn from him which of the two men was driving or other particulars regarding the accident.

Mr. Bliss is survived by his wife, two children and his parents. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Bliss, of Ellington Township by Rev. S. D. Kinde. Interment was made in Fairgrove Cemetery.

TRIP, UP THE INSIDE OF ALASKA, IS MOST BEAUTIFUL

On our fourth day out we enjoyed extra scenery. It seemed as though nature saved the trip, through the icy straits as a grand finale, for in these straits we saw many icebergs, glaciers, whale, seal, porpoises, and always those gorgeous mountains. Most of them were snowcapped and the epitome of all scenery in my estimation is the sun shining on wooded mountains, snowcapped and also on a glacier. Now and then a rushing stream flowed down the mountain side and we sailed so calmly, peacefully by with nothing to do but look. Nothing to do is what amazed me! For once in my life, I lived like a queen. Our food was grand and so graciously served. We had an orchestra to play fine music—not swing, our rooms were so clean and comfortable and everything was done for our comfort. A boat trip up the Inside Passage is what all tired, nerve-taut people need. This just couldn't last. When we came to the Gulf of Alaska a storm broke. Howard and I went to bed and stayed there. Four big Fruehauff trucks aboard were as badly smashed as though they had been in a head-on collision. In one day we made just fifty miles. However, after one week of travel we came to Kodiak. Here dad met us in a downpour and as I sat on my suitcases waiting for our trunks to come up from the hold, I felt very much as I imagine many have felt when they came to Ellis Island for the first time.
Now, Kodiak is a large island smuggled closely in the arm pit of Alaska. It has long been considered a vital spot, for near our home are the ruins of an old fort, built by the Russians during the Crimean War. From this fort, a battleship was sunk right near where we live.
This is indeed a frontier town. There are thirteen places to buy liquor and four places to buy bread.
The real natives are Aleutians but there are many Russians, Norwegians and Swedes. There are many half breeds. There is a very famous Baptist Mission and I've become quite well acquainted with the matrons. There is one Protestant Church, the Community Baptist. This is not two years old, but the very, very famous church here is the Russian Greek Catholic Church. On January 6 and 7, Howard and I attended their Christmas services. Their calendar is eleven days later than ours. The church is very ornate. Outside and in the tower, the eight bells of different sizes, rang now and then, and then as if in a burst of glory they rang the whole eight at once, just a clang, clang with no idea of harmony. Inside we stood—the men on one side and the women on the other. How strange to be standing beside those native Aleutians and Russian women! They were as well dressed as I. Hundreds of candles burned and the church was doubly decorated for the occasion. The service was mostly a chant and in Russian, so I understood very little, but it was another grand experience. The Greek priests marry and have families, and as we stood there an old priest who is partly paralyzed came staggering in on the arm of his daughter. He was duly recognized by the devoted congregation.
The Russian priest goes about town in his black turban and long black robes carrying a long distaff. On his breast is embroidered an insignia in red and gold. He certainly commands recognition and respect. What a contrast with our peppy, young Baptist preacher in brown tweeds as he hustles from here to there! He and his lovely wife remind me of the preacher in the book, "Forty Years a Country Preacher," by George Gilbert. One of my pet peeves is a lazy preacher who is on the job one hour on Sunday. This preacher here keeps the church basement open from 12:00 noon until 10:00 at night. Anyone may go there to read, play games, have music or just visit. Scout meetings are held there, and it is an odd hour when some soldier or school child isn't there. The children flock there and many soldiers come for a little home-like atmosphere. On every Sunday evening, the pastor's wife with the help of one volunteer woman serves an evening supper to any service man who wishes to come. I've had the pleasure of helping twice. The last time I made sixty biscuits and served creamed peas and salmon for my share of the supper. It was fun and I know it is appreciated. It is indeed a pleasure to hear the children shout across the street, "Hi, Mr. Morony." These people are real troopers and may I hint to these preachers who never get their pay, these people have no salary problem.

Now I'm sure I've said too much. There seems to be no place to stop, for this place teems with fine people, strange customs, different lives, folk lore, adventure and scenery. The great blue sea with spruce covered islands scattered here and there with the magnificent snow-capped mountains in the background and the sunshine over all gives one a lift into the ecstatic realm. Suddenly a bomber goes over or a big gun bellow, all in practice, but it brings us back to the sad realization that we are at war.
We had hoped to stay and see the wild flowers and the salmon run. Perhaps we can't. Many have had to change their plans. Already we're enjoying quite long days. We have about eleven hours of daylight now, but in December we had a scant six hours. The weather is unbelievably mild. The coldest was 10 degrees above zero and we had very little snow but lots of rain. I think three weeks would cover the freezing time. The temperature ranges from 26 degrees to 46 degrees most of the time.
Ben East, who lectured in Cass City, was here. Mark saw him. Joe E. Brown has just been here.
I send you greetings from the land of romance, salmon, gold and adventure.

Eggs? Bunnies? Of Course, It's Easter

Thousands of years old, the sentimental pastime of coloring eggs for Easter still amuses young and old alike. Centuries ago in Persia, where the custom originated, eggs were chiefly painted red, by some in honor of the blood of Christ, and by others to represent joy after the 40-day fast. In grandmother's day, tea, coffee and onion-skin solutions were deemed the only "safe" methods for dyeing Easter eggs. Modern living has changed all that. Note the mother-daughter method—decorating eggs with novelty cut-outs. They should please even the most aristocratic Easter Bunny!

When placed on wet moss, or in one-eighth inch depth of water in a suitable dish, nature provides a miniature Redwood tree by sending forth shoots. Small growing burls, two to six inches in diameter, are very attractive. When the shoots grow too high, the tips may be broken off and they will branch out making a more dense growth.

To Our Coal Customers...

WE WANT TO THANK YOU for the splendid business you have given us. We appreciate it—and we have tried hard to serve you well.

WE FEEL YOU SHOULD KNOW about how the war is affecting (and will affect) the deliveries of coal by the railroads.

THERE'S PLENTY OF COAL but the job of the mines is to get it to us so that we can get it to you.

THE MOVEMENT of war supplies, troops and war equipment comes ahead of everything else. Neither of us would want it any other way.

BUT WAR NEEDS DO take a lot of coal cars and that means far fewer cars for coal. The condition is serious now and will become far more so as war production gets under way.

WE ADVISE YOU to fill your coal bin at once—not only to be sure that you have coal for next winter but also to make more railroad cars available to move war materials next fall.

THE GOVERNMENT ASKS people to store coal NOW. It's the one item you are urged to "hoard" as a patriotic duty.

APRIL PRICE ON COAL will without doubt be the lowest for 1942. We will have several cars of "Cavalier" this month and will make a special low price delivered off car.

In Cass City.... Alone

Many families were directly affected by the recent rationing order of tires and automobiles. These families are represented in Cass City's four garages and 11 service stations.

NOW....

Conservation in this automobile industry, as we see it, is to make better use of what we now have and to make it last longer. Chances are, your car needs a check-up right now. If it is kept in tip-top condition, you not only have more efficient operation, but also greater economy and a satisfaction of knowing the "ol' bus" will pull through.

Sure, We Have an Axe to Grind

Our business is in direct proportion to the business of our neighbors up and down the street, and any time an industry representing many families in Cass City is affected, Cass City Oil and Gas Co., along with the rest of the community, will suffer.

SO....

Let's keep the ball a-rolling. Let's have that car checked over and repaired NOW. That's real conservation and long-run economy! Let's do our share and keep this very important and essential business going, which will benefit all of us.

The National Safety Council tells us that 101,500 people were killed in the United States in 1941 by accidents.

Only four diseases took more lives—heart disease, cancer, cerebral hemorrhage, and nephritis.

This means that every five minutes of the day or night someone is killed accidentally in the United States. This is a frightful toll; if our war casualties amounted to this astounding figure, we would soon become greatly alarmed and would do something about it.

However, we take for granted that we shall have accidents, and will do nothing to reduce this terrific figure. Let's make 1942 a better year by conserving lives, limbs, and material so that we shall have all help available for our boys at the front.

55,000 in 4-H Promise War Aid

Even before Governor Murray D. Van Wagener's proclamation enlists their aid, the 55,000 Michigan boys and girls enrolled in 4-H Club work have pledged through their representatives that good citizenship in youth has an answer to war problems.

In communities that dot every county in Michigan the local 4-H club groups will assemble Monday evening, April 6, for simultaneous "potluck" dinners. The event is the opening of National 4-H Club mobilization week and is being duplicated in 47 other states.

World War I gave a startling impetus to 4-H club work in this state. Within a matter of months the enrollment jumped from a few thousand to more than 50,000 boys and girls involved in planting war gardens and organized into food preservation and canning clubs.

"Results depend on local leadership. Michigan can rely on more than 7,500 local voluntary adult leaders already enrolled," comments A. G. Ketunen, state 4-H club leader on the staff of Michigan State College. He credits local leaders with performing services just as valuable as other phases of war production.

Objectives in the mobilization include: To enroll former 4-H club members in productive 4-H enterprises. To enlist the support of more volunteer adult local leaders. To enroll youths who have not been 4-H club members. To assist in meeting the Michigan farm labor shortage.

To cooperate with all agencies and projects that affect the welfare of the nation and its people, agencies including the Red Cross, fire prevention campaigns, the sale of war stamps and bonds, the farm machinery repair program, the salvage program and other projects. County agricultural agents, district 4-H club agents and the thousands of local volunteer adult leaders are cooperating in arranging the dinners scheduled for Monday evening, April 6. Many of these groups will hear simultaneous radio addresses and programs in the Upper and Lower Peninsulas. On the program will be Governor Van Wagener, R. J. Baldwin, Michigan State College director of extension services, responses by Bethel Taylor, Mendon, and Warren Vincent, Homer, leaders in the college 4-H service club.

NECROLOGY

Mary Ann Smith.

Mrs. Charles J. Smith, who fell and broke her hip a few days ago, died in a Cass City hospital on Monday, Mar. 30, at 6:30 a. m. The immediate family were at the bedside at the time of death.

For the past 17 years, Mrs. Smith has lived with her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Miller, at Colwood. Previous to this, she lived on a farm one-half mile south of Colwood.

Mary Ann Dillon, daughter of the late Edward Dillon, Sr., and Bridget O'Grady, was born on Nov. 16, 1856, in West Monkton, Ont., and moved to Tuscola County 62 years ago. Two years later she was united in marriage with Chas. J. Smith, who preceded her in death Mar. 22, 1931. To this union six children were born, William, Charles and Edith preceding the mother in death. Two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Miller of Colwood, Mrs. Carroll Kirkpatrick of Caro, and a son, Thomas, who resides on the homestead; and one brother, Stephen Dillon, of Colwood, are left to mourn their loss. She also leaves thirty-three grandchildren, twenty great grandchildren, and a host of other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Smith was a member of St. Agatha's Church of Gagetown. The Rev. Fr. McCullough, pastor, conducted the funeral services from the church on Wednesday, April 1, at ten o'clock. A large number of relatives from Detroit attended the services.

Alexander Slack.

Alexander Slack, who has been in failing health for three years, died March 31 from the effects of a stroke suffered recently in his home in Novesta Township.

Funeral services were held in the Novesta Baptist Church on Thursday afternoon and were conducted by Ali B. Jarman and Rev. Leonard Bruder. Burial was in Novesta Township.

Mr. Slack was born in Novesta Township 65 years ago and was united in marriage with Maud Nye on July 22, 1900. He is survived by his widow; two children, James R. Slack and Edith Slack, at home; a brother, John Slack, of Novesta; and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Priest, of Detroit. Three children preceded their father in death.

William Hartwick.

William Hartwick, 63, former resident of this community, passed away Sunday night, March 29, in Detroit. Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Haley Funeral Home in Detroit. The Rev. Charles Bronson Allen officiated. Burial was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

William Hartwick was born May 1, 1873, on a farm in Greenleaf Township where his brother, Earl Hartwick, now lives and he spent his boyhood here. For the last 40 years, he has been employed as boiler inspector for the Grand Trunk Railway.

The past four years Mr. and Mrs. Hartwick have spent the winters at their home in Florida and were in Florida when Mr. Hartwick was taken ill. They returned to Detroit in January because of his illness and he died Sunday.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Leo Hartwick, of Detroit; and three grandchildren. He also leaves five brothers, David and Earl Hartwick, of Cass City; Ernest, Newman and Lon, of Detroit; and three sisters, Mrs. Ray Tabash and Mrs. C. D. Reaumeau, both of Flint, and Mrs. H. H. Patterson, of Caro.

Those from Cass City who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. David Hartwick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hartwick, son, Kermit, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hartwick.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

U. S. Heartened by Naval Offensive Against Jap Bases in South Pacific; Air Attacks on Port Darwin Continue As Allies Strike Back in New Guinea

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, left, Australian minister for external affairs, being greeted by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and Richard G. Casey, British minister of state in the Middle East, at the Washington airport. The selection of Casey, former Australian minister to Washington, to serve in the British cabinet, raised a controversy between Australian Prime Minister John Curtin and Winston Churchill. The Australian government disavowed Casey as Australian representative.

ATTACK: Navy Strikes Twice

A double-barreled attack by a navy task force, the same which had struck with devastating force on the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, had been delivered on Wake Island and Marcus Island, the latter only 950 miles from Tokyo.

The latter attack scared Tokyo so badly that the city ordered blackouts for several days afterward, it was announced.

The delay in announcing these attacks apparently occurred because, in the first instance, the navy force was on the way from Wake to Marcus, and didn't want to "telegraph its punch" on the latter island.

As to the second attack, the need for delay was probably one of two factors, either that the navy force was moving on elsewhere, or else it was on its way back to Pearl Harbor for refueling and resupplying, probably the latter, as the dispatches came from there.

Considerable credit for the four attacks, as the latter two must be considered part of the general onslaught which included the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, was given to the commander of the force, Vice Admiral W. F. Halsey.

In the first two the navy had lost a number of planes, but in the latter two battles, the only losses were two planes, both shot down by anti-aircraft fire.

Surprise had been an important factor in both attacks, because at Wake Island three four-motored sea planes had been found and destroyed before they got into the air, and at Marcus Island no air strength of any kind was found.

It began to explain the need for censorship—for the Japs had a nearly completed airfield on the island, and certainly would have had planes there if they'd known our forces were on the way.

Ringside View

One reporter, riding on an aircraft carrier, reported that its planes dumped 12 tons of high explosives on Marcus Island alone.

His ringside view of the significance of the battle was that it had shattered an important link in Japan's chain of island bases connecting the country with its southwest Pacific theater of war.

Marcus also had been referred to in dispatches as "Japanese Hawaii," being a base not only potentially great for planes, but for ships as well.

The Wake Island attack was not completely a surprise, as the navy surface ships encountered a Jap gunboat seven miles off the island, and before she was sunk with one broadside, she was able to flash word to the shore that the "Yanks were coming!"

The Marcus Island attack was in the darkness, but the Wake Island battle was in full daylight, the shelling starting at 7:05 a. m.

Just how little good a blackout does was shown at Marcus Island, where a fight of bombing planes was sent over the island with flares, lighting their objectives, and the first few hits started such huge fires that the other bombing flights needed no flares.

Shortly after the attack on Marcus started the radio station went off the air abruptly. It had been struck by a demolition bomb and shot into the sky.

NYA: Senators Argue

The press, plus Senators McKellar and Byrd, continued its attacks on the NYA and the CCC, though President Roosevelt said that they both had their places in the war scheme and that he favored their retention.

The senators argued that the primary reason for the creation of the two agencies was to do something for youth during the depression and unemployment years. They are not needed now, they said.

AUSSIES: See Turning Point

Whether the Japs were going to turn aside from Australia and concentrate on India had remained considerable of a mystery, but certainly their attack on Australia's outposts had been slowed to a point where the Aussies began to see the "turning point right around the corner."

Australian and American airmen were carrying out almost non-stop raids on New Guinea, the Solomons, New Britain and other objectives north of the continent, and their daily reports of planes destroyed showed that they were biting a considerable piece out of the Japanese strength in the air.

The Japs continued their bombing attacks on Port Darwin, also on Katherine, but the effectiveness was showing a downward curve. Apparently the main Japanese objective was Port Moresby, on the southern end of New Guinea, a perfect hop-off point for air attacks on north-east Australia.

By land, through a big valley on the island, they were approaching the Australians' defense positions around the Port, while through the air, from Salamaua and Lae, they had been raining bombs on the town, attempting to soften it up for attack by land.

It was at these two bases, Salamaua and Lae that the Australian and American bombers had been concentrating their attack. And the results had been favorable.

LABOR: Co-operates in War

It was felt that organized labor had made an important contribution to winning the war, also to peace in industry during the war effort, by a decision reached simultaneously by the A. F. of L. and the C.I.O. to yield their demand for extra pay for holidays.

The executive board of the C.I.O. recommended to all its unions that they forego all overtime pay for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays when such work was done within the boundaries of the 40-hour week.

William Green of the A. F. of L. at the same time issued a statement that his organization had "assured the government that it would waive the double time payment for Sunday and holiday work in all war industries for the duration of the war."

Philip Murray, however, said he wanted it clear that the unions would not relinquish their demand for overtime for work done on the sixth or seventh days of the ordinary 40-hour work week, regardless of what days they fell on.

The request, union men said, had been made by President Roosevelt and War Production Board Chief Donald M. Nelson.

VOLUNTEERS: Get 40 Planes

The initials AVG, American Volunteer group, or the "Tiger Fliers" of the United States, still held the spotlight of attention when it came to knocking out Japanese planes.

Their latest exploit had been to fly over the main Jap airdrome in Thailand, Chienmai, with such a perfectly timed offensive that they were able to shoot to pieces 40 enemy aircraft on the ground, before the Japs could get the motors warmed enough to get into the air.

The victory (like so many) had its tragic side, for the only plane lost to the Americans in this attack had brought death to the squadron leader, Jack Newkirk, of Scarsdale, N. Y.

The pilots returning to their base in Burma from the fray reported that most of the Japanese pilots of the grounded planes were killed, as instead of seeking cover, they ran to their ships and tried to get them started.

The Americans, diving low, machine gunned the planes at close range, destroying most of them.

INDIES: New Losses Reported In Battle of Java

The battle of the Indies was over, but not dead, for in the daily news came dispatches, some good, some bad, telling more about it all.

One, for instance, had raised the toll of the Battle of Java Sea for the United States by admitting the loss of two more "four-stacker" destroyers.

That they had partially escaped had been learned when the announcement said that they had last been heard from in the waters south of Java.

The Battle of Java Sea had been fought almost entirely north of Java. Favorable were the dispatches which had begun to filter through showing that Bataan was not the only point in the southwest Pacific where land resistance was continuing, for the Japs were reported being forced to retreat from some of their positions in Sumatra.

That the Aussies were cognizant of this fact had been seen in Prime Minister Curtin's message to the Dutch to hang on, that aid was coming to them in the form of an Australian and American offensive.

It was of the same tone as MacArthur's words to his men at Bataan, fighting under General Wainwright, that "I came through the Jap lines, and I'm coming back again."

CONDUCT: Strange Union Case

One of the strangest cases in the annals of war work and organized labor had occurred in Detroit, where a girl had been accused by her fellow-workers.

This young woman, Genevieve Samp, 25, had a war job in a Detroit plant, and the charge was that she had been guilty of "conduct unbecoming a union member."

Technically she had been guilty, the union said, of causing trouble by disparaging the efforts of her fellow workers.

Members of the union had said if she was absolved, those bringing the charges would face trial.

The girl said this was what occurred: She had had the job of packing in boxes certain gadgets which came down a series of chutes from automatic inspection machines.

The other girls were handing two chutes each, she and one other girl were handling three each. Miss Samp said "One girl squawked about me being a job-killer." She said she told the girl it was easy to handle three chutes. Wise-cracks went back and forth, she said, and she was suspended.

PARTS: And Profits

An aircraft parts concern, the Jack and Heintz company, makers of airplane starters, which held $58,000,000 in government contracts after being organized in 1940 with $500 capital had furnished the nation's readers a brief scandal, then a silver-lined aftermath.

Testimony before a congressional investigating committee revealed that the concern distributed $650,000 to workers last Christmas, and that Jack's secretary was paid $39,366 last year and $18,285 for the first ten weeks of this year.

Some of this Washington could understand, but they questioned payment to the company's comptroller, a young man who came to work for $3,600 and 46 days later was handed a bonus of $11,000, and a few weeks later given another $1,200 bonus and a $1,200 salary raise.

The partners came back from Washington, announced a voluntary cut of their profits to 6 per cent, and that their own salaries would be cut to $15,000 a year each.

Their employees welcomed their return from Washington with loud cheers, and the banging of their tools on their benches when the partners said the bonus system to employees for heavy production would be continued.

MISCELLANY:

Chungking: The Chinese troops and British troops, battling to hold a united front in North Burma, had been at least temporarily separated by a Jap spearhead drive near Toungpoo.

New York: By radio, a station here picked up the report from Berlin by a Japanese spokesman that "Japan may now be considered on the defensive."

FARM TOPICS

PROPER FEEDING NETS MORE EGGS

Methods and Food Quality Are Important Items.

By V. E. SCOTT (University of Nevada Extension Service.)

Successful farmer-poultrymen pay nearly as much attention to the way they feed their pullets and laying hens as they do to the kinds of feeds they provide.

For one thing, abrupt changes in the diet may cause the birds to go "off feed" and result in lower egg production and slower growth, as will the use of stale feed.

If a change in diet must be made, it is suggested that it be gradual and extended over a period of at least a week or ten days.

Important too, is sufficient hopper space, lest the more timid birds in the flock go hungry. At least 10 linear feet of hopper, with hens eating from both sides, should be provided per 100 laying hens, and a sufficient length of watering trough or number of containers to prevent crowding.

When there are enough separate pens a good idea is to separate the timid hens from their more aggressive companions, making a small pen of this group. They will soon forget their timidity.

One practice followed by many poultrymen is to provide only a little more feed each day than the birds clean up.

The left-overs, if clean and dry, can be mixed thoroughly with the fresh feed in the hoppers, and in this way, there will be no accumulation of stale feed at the bottom of the hoppers, reducing likelihood of mold.

Feed mixtures containing fish oil, as sources of vitamin A or D, should be bought or mixed in small quantities so that they can be used within 10 days or two weeks.

High Egg Production Is Government Goal

Three billion seven hundred dozen eggs are expected from American hens in 1942 to provide an adequate supply for home needs and for the British.

This increase of 11 per cent over the expected 1941 production has been called for by the government because of the vital part eggs play in the nation's diet, according to C. F. Parrish of North Carolina State college.

During the next six to eight months, there will be a special need for good feeding and care to get increased production from each hen. After that time, greatly increased numbers of pullets will come into production.

The number of layers on farms at the beginning of 1942 is expected to be 10 per cent greater than during the early part of this year.

This is one time when farmers should really use all their skill in getting more eggs from their hens. Careful feeding and management, essentials of any good poultry program at any time, should be brought into use by everyone during this emergency.

Favorable egg prices, together with the government pledge to put a floor under prices, provide a strong incentive to boost production.

Farm Work Clothes Under Price Control

The government's interest in the farm working man has extended as far as his working clothes.

Pointing out that the wholesale price of overalls has gone up 35 per cent and the wholesale price of work trousers 37 per cent in the past two years, the Office of Price Administration now is acting to keep the cost of this wearing apparel from getting further out of line.

Chambray, cotton coveralls and denims, widely used materials for working clothes, have been added to the list of cotton goods now under a definite price schedule. Forestalling of advances in price on the fabric is expected to head off the inevitable increase which comes when the work clothing crosses the retail counter.

The OPA, of which Miss Harriett Elliott, consumer consultant, is assistant administrator, acted last spring to put standard print cloth and other higher grade cotton goods under a "ceiling." Since then fabrics for work clothes have increased in price until they are out of line with the established ceiling.

Profitable Pastures

Pasture land promises to be one of the most profitable sources of farm income in the next year or two in view of the steadily increasing demands for meat and dairy products. In order to obtain the most profitable results from pasture, a program of good soil management including the application of fertilizer is essential. Such a program not only will produce grasses richer in needed vitamins and minerals, but will promote more rapid growth.

"Suppose," he said, "a lady customer were to remark, while you were trying to fit her, 'Don't you think one of my feet is bigger than the other?' what would you say?" "I should say, 'On the contrary, madam, one is smaller than the other.'" "The job is yours."

Dear Customer:

We want to thank you for the splendid business you have given us. We appreciate it—and we have tried hard to serve you well.

As a good customer of ours we feel you should know about how the war is affecting (and will affect) the deliveries of coal by the railroads.

There's plenty of coal but the job of the mines is to get it to us so that we can get it to you.

The movement of war supplies, materials, shells, guns, troops and war equipment comes ahead of everything else. Neither of us would want it any other way.

But war needs DO take a lot of coal cars and that means far fewer cars for coal. The condition is serious now and will become far more so as war production gets under way.

We advise you to fill your coal bin at once—not only to be sure that you have coal for next winter but also to make more railroad cars available to move war materials next fall.

The government asks people to store coal NOW. It's the one item you are urged to "hoard" as a patriotic duty.

Will you phone us today so that we can talk it over?

Twenty-five Years Ago.

April 6, 1917.

State reward roads are still popular with the taxpayers if one is to judge by the action taken by the voters of Elkland, Greenleaf, Grant and Novesta Townships on election day Monday. Grant voted to build 4 1/2 miles, Elkland 2 miles, Greenleaf 2 miles, and Novesta 2 miles.

Dr. M. M. Wickware received a telegram Wednesday announcing the confirmation of his appointment as supreme medical examiner of the Ancient Order of Gleaners. He succeeds the late Dr. Sherman F. Chase, who died Friday afternoon.

The resolution declaring that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany was passed in the senate April 4 by a vote of 82 to 6.

All the foundation work for the plant of the Hires Condensed Milk Co. at Cass City has been completed and a force of 30 workmen are busy in making forms and getting material ready for the cement work.

Harold Benkelman and Nido Hitchcock have completed the course in the Michigan Automobile School and are now employed in the Buick service garage in Detroit.

Recent purchasers of Ford cars are B. Douglass, Joseph Brown, Geo. Russell, Ellis Spencer, Andrew Seeger Jr., Arthur Decker, David Law, Mrs. Moore, John Sugden, Hires' Milk Condensary Co., Chas. H. Travis, Fred Maier and Frank Young.

millionaires. Workers remember this. So do farmers.

The Nye congressional committee (1934) reported that "the record of the present shipbuilding companies during the (World) War, wherever examined, was close to being disgraceful. . . . Huge bonuses were paid to officers. Profits were concealed as rentals." The American Legion also made a clamor about "taking profits out of war."

While the Cleveland case of 1941 is an exception rather than the rule, it provides labor organizers with much needed ammunition for wage negotiations. Farmers see justification in higher prices for farm commodities. The cycle of effects is long.

While Michigan workers may be better off than those elsewhere, as the cold statistics prove, yet political capital continues to be made that labor is not getting its just dues.

Governor Van Wagener spoke at a labor conference arranged by the state department of labor and industry. Listen to these criticisms of Michigan labor laws:

"Michigan ranks 26th among all states in liberality of workmen's compensation payments. For an industrial state, that is a disgrace. "We have a 90-day limit on medical care (for workmen's compensation). That is extremely unjust."

"Indefensible discrimination" is seen by the governor in the state's occupational diseases law which "now denies compensation for certain types of occupational disease."

Legislative changes are needed, Van Wagener said.

"Michigan is one of the few states in which, according to a recent opinion of our state attorney general, women can be legally worked 10 hours a day. . . . We are the only industrial state in which women can be worked 54 hours a week. . . . We failed in the last legislative session to get a wage-hour law for the state, so the women of Michigan still lack the protection that most other states give women."

Child Labor ("exploitation of minors") received this charge from the governor: "Our child-labor law is 35 years old. It is almost impossible to enforce today."

By coincidence, the governor's address was given on the identical day Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, delivered at Washington his amazing indictment of unions.

Never had a New Deal official of high rank accused organized labor of the following:

"Exploitation of farmers, undemocratic procedure to control union elections, impeding transportation, making it 'impossible' to get mass production of housing, forcing businessmen to employ useless labor, restricting 'efficient' use of men and machine."

The Jackson Citizen-Patriot observes editorially:

"The charges which Thurman Arnold makes against organized labor are basically true as every union man knows. They do not by any means apply to all unions or all union men; but the abuses which he names are not uncommon."

While Congress can require corporations to reimburse the government any excess profits paid to them, Congress cannot reclaim lost hours or war material—airplanes, tanks, etc.—that were never made.

If labor limits production of war materials, General MacArthur and thousands of Michigan soldiers and sailors will have less fighting arms with which to protect their own lives, let alone our lives.

Because a majority of Michigan workers (in industries and farms) are not members of unions, Arnold's indictments added only more fuel to an already hotly-burning fire.

The governor's charges did not lessen labor's unrest.

Nor did the revelation of war profits make the Michigan worker, blessed with higher wages and higher benefit payments than any other workers in these U. S. A., inclined to work harder and to produce more tanks, cannons, and airplanes.

Furthermore, 1942 is a campaign year, and that means inevitable bidding by politicians at Washington and at Lansing for pressure group votes.

Interpretation: It must be obvious to the man on the street, the ordinary guy who makes democracy tick, that unless Congress acts to curb abuses by both industry and labor (excess profits whether in annual salaries and bonuses or in hourly wages and restrictions on production) that today's labor unrest is going to keep fomenting.

It must also be obvious that the war should take priority over politics.

A truce on the home front is urgently needed. Weakened by internal strife, we can lose the war. And if we lose the war, we lose the highest living standards any nation in the world has ever enjoyed.

THE VICTORY GARDEN

Compiled by the Horticulture Class of Cass City High School.

HOTBEDS AND COLDFRAMES.

Hotbeds and coldframes are used extensively in Michigan for starting certain tender vegetable plants, crops which require a longer growing season than we have. These structures are employed with other crops such as early cabbage, early celery, broccoli and leaf lettuce to obtain earlier maturity than that obtained by sowing the seed directly in the field. Cauliflower and head lettuce are frequently injured by hot weather, but when they are seeded early in plant beds and the transplants set in the field early in the season the plants will usually mature their crops before the arrival of hot weather.

Location of Structures.

The best site to select for hotbeds and coldframes should be on a well drained piece of land, preferably with a southern exposure and where some protection from the prevailing winds may be utilized. A site near the dwelling is desirable because considerable attention is required for proper ventilation and watering. The frames should be near an adequate water supply and proximity to an electric outlet is desirable if electric heat is to be used. Frequently it is possible to select such a location near the farm buildings where all of these conditions can be met. Protection from north and west winds is sometimes provided by evergreens and windbreaks.

Construction of the Frame.

The main difference between a hotbed and a coldframe is that the former is provided with some means of artificial heat, such as fermenting manure or electricity, while the only source of heat for the coldframe is that provided by the sun shining through the glass cover. The details of construction of the frame and the coverings used on the two structures are essentially the same.

The frame may be of wood, brick, hollow tile or reinforced concrete. Reinforced concrete is probably the most lasting and most satisfactory material, but frames made of wood are generally more applicable to the conditions of the average vegetable garden. If properly constructed, a wooden frame will last several years and can be taken apart and stored when not in use.

Dimensions of the frames will depend on the size of the garden it will supply. If a large garden is to be planted with lots of tomatoes, more space will be necessary. Construct the coldframe so that you can use the sash that you have at home conveniently and slope it to the south. The front of a convenient hotbed is 12 inches with an 18 inch backrise to allow for a slope for your sash that light will penetrate easily. The length will depend on the size of the garden to be supplied.

The coldframe is simply enclosed and the seeds planted at a convenient time, probably somewhat later than the hotbed. The hotbed is artificially heated by placing some six inches of horse manure that has started to ferment below six inches of prepared soil. Because of the artificial extra heat from the fermenting manure, seeds can be planted earlier in the hotbed than in the coldframe.

Next week the garden site.

Attention Farmers!

Starting Tuesday, April 7, the CARO LIVESTOCK AUCTION YARDS will put on a VEAL CALF contest. The Yards is offering $5.00 for the best veal offered for sale every Tuesday through April. On top of this, one of our veal buyers will pay $1.00 per hundred pounds above the Detroit Market price of that day. This will mean about $7.00 extra for the farmer whose veal calf is chosen. The chosen calf must weigh between 175 and 225 pounds to compete in the contest. Only one calf can win each week. The decision of the judges will be final.

The reasons for this contest are very simple, we need more Choice Veal Calves, and we believe the farmers will bring in more finished veal and we will have a better grade of veal in our yards.

by Mrs. Robinson, immediately followed by the Club Collect led by Mrs. Blanche Fox. Corinne Conant and Shirley Richardson, Caro Girl Scouts, presented the American flag while the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" could be heard in the distance. Following an inspiring invocation given by Mrs. A. J. Knapp of Cass City, Mrs. Fred Richardson, chairman of the program committee, was introduced. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. A. A. Hunt and Mrs. Bertram Partlo responded.

The main event of the morning, a talk on "The Marines" by M. D. Orr was preceded by a saxophone solo, "The Enchantress," played by Chester Albin, accompanied by Onalee Adams. Mrs. Orr stressed the point that we must stop feeling sorry for ourselves and put our hands and shoulders behind the wheel to help the boys who are giving their lives for our freedom.

An individual report from a representative of each club gave the club's progress during the year, their educational, civic, literary and charitable contributions and achievements, total number of members, defense work if any, social work, trips and the outstanding program of the year.

Highlights of the state convention, held at Detroit, were given by Mrs. Alex Marshall, Kingston, Mrs. A. J. Knapp, Cass City, and Mrs. John Ritsema, Sebawaing.

Sixty-seven ladies sat down at the luncheon tables, attractively centered with rabbits and colored eggs. Mrs. Fred Cross, second vice president of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. John Ritsema, president of the Huron County Federation, were introduced at this time.

Mrs. F. C. Jahnke, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following names which were later voted into office: Mrs. R. L. Robinson, Caro, president; Mrs. Blanche Fox, Kingston, vice president; Mrs. Grant Patterson, Cass City, secretary; Mrs. Bertram Partlo, Akron, treasurer.

The afternoon session was off to a fine start with the pleasing organ selections of Miss Florence Purdy of Gagetown. Her numbers included "Chorus of Angels" by Clark; "Spring Song" by Mendelssohn; and "Dawn" by Jenkins. A humorous dramatic skit, "Preparing the 1942 Club Program," was given by Mrs. Paul Starnann, Mrs. Howard McClelland, Mrs. Bates Wills and Mrs. A. W. Atkins of the Vassar Woman's Club.

Mrs. Fred Cross and Mrs. John Ritsema were at this time presented to the convention who invited them to the Huron County Convention to be held in Port Austin on May 16.

Mrs. Edgar Grim of the Junior Woman's Club of Vassar entertained with a piano solo, "Military Polonaise in A Major" by Chopin, which was followed with the reports of the many committees.

The ladies were fortunate, indeed, in having as their main speaker Edward M. Sharpe, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court at Lansing. While his entire talk was intensely interesting, he left one or two main thoughts. "Democracy," said Mr. Sharpe, "depends upon education and activity of leadership," from which he went on to add that it doesn't matter how educated we are, unless we have an interest in our government and do our part, we can be of little service.

Because "What Can I Do to Help" has been the question before so many women today, R. O. Kern, a member of the Civilian Defense Committee, gave a most interesting talk on that subject and questionnaires were passed out so that each person might find out where she could be of the most service.

The table for the tea at which Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Liberacki and Mrs. Hunt presided, was very attractive with spring flowers in red, white and blue and tall tapers of the same colors.

To make the final moments of the day even more pleasing, the room in which the tea was served housed an unusual outstanding hobby exhibit. The Art classes of the Caro High School (Miss Lucy Brooks, teacher) placed on exhibit "Whittier's Snowbound" in pictures and many other outstanding miscellaneous art pieces; a very valuable collection of pitchers exhibited by the Cass City Woman's Club, included a gold tea service belonging to Mrs. Guy Landon; an interesting scrap book, containing the programs of their club from the time of its organization, was displayed by the Junior Woman's Club of Vassar. Other contributions were unusual displays of playing cards, teapots and salt and pepper shakers by Mrs. Alex Liberacki; old jewelry, antique glass and dishes by Mrs. George Martin; dolls representing several countries by Mrs. George Robinson; a very interesting collection of sterling silver spoons, cups and saucers, and old glass by Mrs. R. O. Kern, and a collection of art work displaying the talents of Miss Thelma Capling.

The pages, who helped very much with the success of this program, were Shirley Richardson, Frances Kreager, Helen Brinkman and Gladys Clark.

Those from Cass City who attended the meeting at Caro Friday were Mrs. A. J. Knapp, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Cecil Larkin, Mrs. C. L. Graham, Mrs. Stanley Kirm, Mrs. Fred Maier, Mrs. R. M. Taylor and Mrs. Grant Patterson.
