Oak Bluff Breezes.

"What is so rare as a day in June, then if ever come perfect days"—so sings the poet and this seems to be especially true this season. Nice June days so far have been very scarce but they slowly are improving. In spite of a wet and cool week-end a good many were here over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Berrian Ketchum of Birmingham opened the Ketchum cottage Saturday and have everything arranged for the summer. We regret to hear that Mrs. Grace Ketchum, who has always been a regular summer resident, has been seriously ill recently, but we hope she will soon be able to return to Oak Bluff.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hutchinson of Holly were here over the week-end. Larry has accepted an inspector's position with the Timken Axle Company of Detroit for the summer. He will return to Holly in September as athletic coach in the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballard of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. James Ballard of Ann Arbor had as guests over Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lutee of Cleveland, Ohio. The Lutees are Mrs. James Ballard's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Mrs. A. A. Hitchcock spent Sunday and Monday at Oak Bluff. Both cottages are undergoing some changes and are now in readiness for summer occupancy, which their owners state will be very soon.

Bicycling seems to be no hardship here and the ladies are enjoying their shopping and pleasure trips. They are as much interested in gadgets and service as though the "bikes" were Rolls Royces.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foster of Detroit had guests over the week-end. Mr. Foster is an instructor in the Detroit schools and now that school is about out, we expect they will soon be here for the summer.

The Kenneth Striffler family of Detroit were at the Striffler cottage Saturday and Sunday. Stanley Striffler and Mrs. Miller also accompanied them here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wilson drove up late Saturday night from Lansing. Mr. Wilson returned Monday morning but Mrs. Wilson will remain for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Burt of Cass City were Friday guests at the Burke cottage.

The Sandhams of Cass City were here Tuesday opening their cottage for the summer.

Mrs. J. D. Brooker of Cass City was a week-end visitor at the Burke cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wurm entertained Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Munroe of Elkton Sunday.

Perform Same Function

The synthetic or laboratory-made vitamins that are added to enrich bread and flour are as good as the vitamins found in nature and they perform exactly the same function in the diet, although they may come from a different source.

Cool Cucumbers

The cucumber usually has a temperature one degree lower than that of the surrounding atmosphere, hence the expression, "cool as a cucumber."

No Yellow Fever

There has not been a case of yellow fever since 1905, the Public Health service says.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Our army spells and pronounces it ponon, not "pontoon", as you do. Pontoon bridges cost all the way from $15,000 to $700,000. The smaller bridge using individual metal pontoons is pictured here. The largest pontoon bridge is 1,080 feet long and is made of rubber instead of aluminum.

One small bridge has a weight capacity of 25 tons, using about 2,000 individual metal pontoons. The smallest is used only to take troops over smaller streams. But whether our army uses the smaller or largest pontoon, our engineers need plenty of them. If you and every American invests at least 10 percent of income in War Bonds every pay day we can supply our fighting forces with these essentials to a victorious war.

Father's Day

Here's a Dad fortunate enough to be home when the family celebrates Father's day. Son—looking at his Pop's aviation insignia—is very much interested in those wings of freedom. Dad, admiring his son, seems to be saying to himself: "I might not be seeing you for a long time, little fellow, but all this fighting will be worthwhile so that you, too, can grow up in a sane, normal world."

GAGETOWN NEWS

Shower for Bride-Elect—

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Burdon entertained several guests Saturday evening at a kitchen shower honoring Mrs. Maxine Ricker Miller, whose marriage to George Clara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clara, will occur Saturday, June 20, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ricker. Cards were played during the evening and luncheon was served.

Michael J. Sovinski, station agent, returned Sunday after a two weeks' vacation spent in Fremont, Ohio, Pontiac and Detroit. With gas rationing in effect in the East and probably soon in other states, it becomes very important for you and me to get the greatest possible mileage per gallon of gas.

If we are of the unfortunates who will get but three gallons of gas a week, it will be well for us to drive at a rate of speed that gives us the maximum miles per gallon.

Tests prove that the average car gets less than 12 miles per gallon of gas at 70 miles an hour, 16 miles per gallon at 60, 18 miles per gallon at 40, and 21 miles per gallon at 30.

You can go a lot farther on three gallons of gas when you drive at a safe speed.

Fastest Runner
Whenever a new athletic record is broken, people say, "Well, I suppose they will always be pushing it up a little higher," and assumes that the present record beats all athletic accomplishments of all time. The truth is that nobody has ever beat the long-distance run of Mensen Ernst, a Norwegian, who ran from Paris to Moscow, more than a hundred years ago, in a record time of two weeks, averaging 125 miles a day over poor roads. Later he ran from Constantinople to Calcutta, India, and returned—a distance of 8,625 miles, and averaged 95 miles a day for 59 days. No modern athlete has anywhere near approached this.

Vapor Pressure
Vapor pressure in an automobile results from the tendency of a fluid to form vapor. Vapor lock is the vaporization of the liquid fuel in those passages designed to carry it, thereby restricting the flow of gasoline to the manifold, so that the motor will not function properly.

These slime-forming "bugs" attack GIANT TURBINES

...thirsty machines, like thirsty men, need

PURE WATER

Under the microscope on the slide above, you see a "slime-forming" organism magnified 400 times. This tiny growth doesn't look much like a saboteur — yet it can cut down the load-carrying capacity of giant turbines in Detroit Edison power plants. That is, it could if it were permitted to thrive. But an hourly gas attack effectively smothers it.

In manufacturing electric power for war production in factories and for use in stores and offices and homes, Detroit Edison power plants require three times as much water every day as the entire city of Detroit. The water is used to cool thousands of condenser tubes over which exhaust steam from the turbine is passed. Slime-forming organisms in the water attach themselves to the insides of the tubes and foul them. This lowers the efficiency of the condenser, turbine, and the entire plant, and wastes fuel.

An early way of remedying the trouble was to shut down the turbines and manually clean the condensers by forcing rubber plugs through the tubes. But even with the best hand-cleaning job that could be done, the maximum load-carrying capacity is reduced. And all during the time the tubes were being hand-cleaned, the turbine was out-of-service . . . a matter especially serious in these days when our generating equipment must be kept running at top efficiency. So a chlorine "gas attack" has come to the rescue. The water is dosed with chlorine every 60 to 90 minutes, killing the "bugs" that form slime. This chlorination has ended the slow "bottleneck" job of cleaning thousands of tubes individually. And it has maintained practically new equipment performance of the condensers — doubly important in our wartime operation. The Detroit Edison Company.

LOOSE KNEE CARTILAGE

One of the injuries football, basketball, baseball players and other athletes sustain is a loose cartilage in the knee. This cartilage serves as a cushion between the two bones forming the knee joint and as the knee joint supports the whole weight of the body, anything that disturbs that cushion means not only a painful knee but a knee that will not support the weight of the body.

The athlete is temporarily unable to play. At times this cushion or cartilage gets torn and so gets "misplaced" in the joint. My own treatment in "fresh" injuries was to strap the knee up with adhesive tape, replacing the tape every few days for two or three weeks. In more severe cases, the knee was placed in a plaster cast for three to five weeks.

The question naturally asked is why did not these loose cartilage cases undergo operation? To be quite frank, it was not until recent years that the physician or surgeon has felt free to recommend operation because so many operations resulted in a "stiff" knee.

These knee injuries are just as common today as ever, but if adhesive or plaster cast treatment fails to give results, most physicians feel free to recommend operation owing to the satisfactory results which are now obtained. These satisfactory results have been obtained because the patient now receives a thorough examination and any infection—teeth, tonsils, sinuses—is removed before operation.

Results of 50 Cases.
In recording his results in operation of 50 of these cases, Dr. Harold R. Bohman, Johns Hopkins university in the Journal of the American Medical Association, outlines his method of preparation, recommends the use of a local instead of a general anesthetic, the complete removal of blood from the joint, and injection of air, with gentle movement of the joint within a few days after operation.

The hospital stay is from three to seven days instead of the two or three weeks of former years.

I am passing this information on because "loose cartilage" occurs so often, not only among athletes but in various occupations. To know that they can safely undergo operation and be free from this disabling condition should be good news to patients with a loose cartilage.

Home Surroundings Give Doctors Clue

During my student days I accompanied a "demonstrator" to a home in a lane of a large city. How that expectant mother was to be properly looked after amid such poor surroundings was more than I could understand. However, by the help of a "visiting" nurse, much can be done these days, but much more must be done.

Connected with most hospitals now are trained social workers who visit the homes of mothers and fathers sick in hospitals and try to help the family in various ways. They report to the patient just how things are going along at home so that many a sick patient has not the worry about home to further reduce her strength. These social workers are trained in the handling of a home, managing or helping to direct the family budget.

More and more physicians are learning that while hospitals and specialists mean much in the saving of life, they cannot take the place of the family physician who not only knows the individual members of the home itself with all the circumstances in and about it. It is very gratifying therefore to learn that Johns Hopkins medical school is sending its senior students into the homes of its dispensary patients in Baltimore and treatment is given in the home instead of in the dispensary.

"It has been found that 65 per cent (two in every three) of these patients have adverse social conditions as a background of their illness, and that 35 per cent have emotional conditions mainly responsible for their disease."

In commenting upon the above Dr. M. A. Austin, Anderson, Ind., in Clinical Medicine and Surgery states that scientific treatment can be of little avail without a full knowledge of the patient and his surroundings.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What would cause a 60-year-old woman to get sores about two or three times a year?

A.—May be due to some food you eat at times.

Q.—What causes the veins of my arms and legs to look as though they would burst?

A.—If veins are varicose as they are in the legs, they can be removed or injected. Perhaps you have not much fat under skin and so veins stand out.

Sanilac County Rationing Board Appeals to State Board for More Canning Sugar

An appeal to the State Office of Price Administration by Clayton Smith, Sanilac County rationing administrator, enables Sanilac residents to obtain additional sugar for canning purposes.

Under the sugar regulations, Smith explained, nine pounds was recommended as the maximum amount per person for the canning sugar allowance and the Sanilac board followed the suggestion to the letter.

Some boards in other counties, Smith said, liberalized the interpretation and granted more than that amount. An appeal to the state OPA officials authorized a liberal interpretation, Smith stated, particularly for the rural areas where housewives were likely to have more fruits for canning purposes.

The following telegram from the state director was received by Mr.

Smith in reply to his appeal: "Clarification of letter SR-20 about the amount of sugar allowable for home canning has been requested by some county administrators. The instructions suggest nine pounds as a limit in rural areas. In this connection, County Boards understand their own county conditions and where they know their people put up more fruit, the amount of sugar allowable for home canning is up to the decision of the boards."

The people of Sanilac now will receive one pound of sugar for every four quarts of fruit regardless of the number in the family. Additional purchase certificates will be mailed as soon as possible. Those having excess sugar, and not having certificates will be given their allowance when they come in the office.

Resolved, That Tyler Lodge, No. 317, F. & A. M., of Cass City, Mich., in testimony of her loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that we tender to the family of our deceased brother our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

Tuscola County Fair Will Be Held as Usual, Says Mantey

The cancellation of the Michigan State Fair this fall will bring state fair exhibits to the county fairs of the state. Awards will be made by judges at the county fairs, but the money for these prizes comes direct to the exhibitors from the state fair board. Contrary to press releases sent to newspapers of the state, county fairs will not receive additional funds from the state this year, according to a statement made by Carl F. Mantey, secretary of the Tuscola County Fair.

"A meeting of the board of directors of the Tuscola County Fair was held Saturday night," said Mr. Mantey, "and subject to any restrictions that may be placed on us, we are going on as planned. We feel this is a patriotic decision as well as one owed the fair-going public in our area which has supported us so generously through the years. We are going to provide the usual high standard program that the public have been accustomed to seeing at the Caro Fair. The night Musical Revue will again be featured, together with many of the usual high class circus acts that have been seen at the fair."

"Fairs cannot help the defense program by discontinuing," says Fair Secretary Mantey. "On the contrary discontinuation will add to the chaos of communities and inject unnecessary fears, plus affecting the prestige and the importance of fairs."

"Contrary to previous stories stating that certain breeds of sheep from the State Fair will be allocated to Caro, the board unanimously agreed to accept the allocation of the Hereford cattle. These exhibits at the State Fair included such exhibitors as Leslie Smith of Cass City, the Wakefield Farms of Kinde, the Hi-Point Farms owned by Fisher Bros. of Detroit and Romeo, and the Crapo Farms of Swartz Creek. This in itself should add much to the now famous livestock parade, held annually on Thursday of fair week."

"Seventeen horses now in training at the local track, together with the 26 now staked in various stake races, offered, assures us of a good race meet this year."

Party of Gifford Chapter at Gagetown

The Misses Marjorie Roth, Helen Profit and Maxine Miller were honor guests of Gifford Chapter, O. E. S., at Gagetown on Monday evening, June 8. The three brides-elect, with their mothers, and Mrs. Bert Clara, mother of George Clara, were seated at the banquet table as honor guests and others were seated at small tables. Each honor guest was presented with a flowered table cloth. Ice cream, cake, wafers and tea were served.

Bouquets of red roses decorated the Gifford Chapter room and the banquet table was covered with a hand-made linen cloth centered with a large cut glass bowl filled with white rosebuds and flanked by high tapers. The group played 50-50.

Proctor Honored on 83rd Birthday

In honor of the 83rd birthday of R. S. Proctor which was Tuesday, June 16, a family dinner was held Sunday in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Audrey H. Kinnaird, when 30 relatives were present. Mr. Proctor's two sons, John Proctor of Detroit and James Proctor of Flint, and their families and Miss Mae Beckman of Bad Axe attended the dinner.

The table was beautiful with lighted green and white tapers and a three-story cake centered the table. The honor guest was presented with purse of money and other gifts. Mr. Proctor has been in very poor health for some time.

Bean Planting Still War Aid

Torrential rains have delayed the planting of Michigan's bean crop, one of wartime's most essential foods. As a general rule beans yield best in this state if planted before June 15. However, many good crops have been secured from plantings made during the last half of June, provided autumn conditions proved favorable.

Many farmers are looking for earlier varieties because of the enforced delay in planting. The farm crops department of Michigan State College reports the so-called early varieties are not enough earlier than the Michelite bean, Michigan's most desirable white pea bean, to have a significant advantage. The difference in maturity in most seasons is only a matter of three or four days. The earlier varieties, in Michigan State College trials, have generally yielded only 75 per cent of the yield of the Michelite bean when grown under comparable conditions.

The farm crops department recommends the use of the Michelite variety as long as there is still time to plant any white pea beans. The rate of seeding for this variety is 30 to 40 pounds of seed to the acre. All bean growers should be prepared to field stack their beans this fall as a means of insurance against weather damage. The beans need not be 100 per cent mature if piled in good stacks for curing. Stacking is likely to be doubly essential for beans planted after June 15.

Buy Wisely in Order To Look Your Best

Too Few Clothes as Bad as Too Many.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

"Let's plan carefully. Let's spend proportionately to what we spent last year insofar as taxes and our defense bond investments will allow. Let's buy only quality with a view to having our clothes give dependable service with an eye to the future, and let's not be grim about it. Let's carry on in high endeavor, keeping in mind when we buy our clothes that it's patriotic to look pretty so that we will be an inspiration while we carry on."

"Be not like the woman who says she is going to buy one little black dress for the duration, nor like the woman who says she is going to buy everything she can possibly buy, for there's no telling when she will be able to buy anything else. Do not anticipate priorities. As long as the merchants carry stock which they will continue to do tuned intelligently and thoughtfully to the best interests of all concerned, purchase what you need and when you need it."

"Keep your waistline slim and your chin up. It's patriotic to look pretty. You are helping to win the war when your appearance is an inspiration and an uplift to the spirits of men called to the front. So be sure you are dressed to look your prettiest for that soldier, sailor or marine on leave. Be she mother, sweetheart or wife, every man in uniform wants to see her looking her best."

The above paragraphs are excerpts from a very interesting and inspirational talk given by Mrs. Lois Barnes, regional director of the Chicago Fashion group at their annual spring luncheon and style show. We are sure this most timely advice will be welcomed by women everywhere who are somewhat perplexed these days as to how to carry on wisely and consistently well.

Speaking of priorities which outline curtailment of this and that in civilian apparel, rather than proving disheartening they are already wholesomely reacting as a challenge to the resourcefulness of American designers and manufacturers who have ever been noted for that quality of inventiveness which is ready to meet any emergency. Now, more than ever is this true.

Paging Color

All through the fashion program for spring the accent is daringly, flaring in color. The sports suit shown below in the above picture is made of scarlet gabardine. Note its chic in finely tailored detail. The pillbox worn with this suit rests jauntily on the back of a short brushed-curl coiffure. It is accented with gaily colored feathers in front. "Babushkas" are so easy to match you can own several at little cost. A good material to use is rayon crepe or use "serge-a-hed," that magic fabric that looks like French serge and launders so beautifully. A yard will do it. Hem the edges and finish it off all around with hand-tied yarn fringe as illustrated at the top in the above picture.

Style Notes

Lisle hose are correct and swank.
Shoulder-strap bags are the newest.
Emphasis this spring is on the "pretty" hat.
Gray is receiving widespread color promotion.
Sterling silver lapel gadgets have the "new" look.
The "newsboy" visor cap is a smart millinery theme.
Fashion highlights dresses with the "side-saddle" drape.
Bolero and eton types foretell a trend to shorter jackets.
The spring fashion program stresses simple, efficient clothes in bright colors.

New World's Champion Milk Producer

CARNATION ORMSBY MADCAP FAYNE.

Seattle, Washington—With production averaging about 55 quarts a day, Carnation Ormsby Madcap Fayne, a Holstein-Friesian on the Carnation Milk Farm near here, broke the official all-time world's record for milk production for cows of any breed. She produced 41,943.4 pounds, nearly 21 tons, of milk in one year, establishing a margin of 3,337 pounds over the previous record made in 1936 by her half-sister.

The biggest problem today on the Michigan home front, according to a high ranking army official in an "off the record" talk at Detroit last week, is a widespread over-optimism by the public that the war will be over in six months.

"Two out of five persons we interviewed recently are convinced that victory is in sight," he explained.

"Yet, the truth is this: In six months' time we have taken the worst beating in our nation's history. We're not ready yet to do any major fighting. Our war plants will not be in full production for many months to come."

"The public is being deluded if it expects anything but a long, long war with great sacrifices. We should face the facts: The situation is very serious."

Nor is this over-optimism restricted in Michigan, we might add. A newspaperman who recently visited relatives in Ohio encountered the same attitude of mind: "Victory is in sight."

CBS Correspondent Cecil Brown reports: "Out here in Indiana, the war in the Pacific seems not 8,000 miles away but 80,000. Incredible as it may sound, they are betting 9 to 2 that the war will be over by Christmas, 1942."

Army recruits at Mid-West camps are saying, "The war will be over in six months" and quote Wall Street betting odds for authority.

A soldier in Times Square, New York City, is heard telling to his girl, "See you at Christmas time when the war will be over."

An intelligence officer at a New York dinner party confides to his friends the enemy can't hold out for six months—he has just come from Washington!

Wishful thinking of this kind has been encouraged, unfortunately, by circumstances under which war news is released by the government for publication.

It is also traceable, according to authorities at Washington, to planted stories by Axis agents who are under instruction to pave the way for a peace offensive. A warning of such an Axis move was sounded in May by Archibald MacLeish, director of the Office of Facts and Figures, Washington, D. C.

As it has been explained to us, here lies the reasoning for the peace offensive. Recent speeches by Hitler, Goering and Tojo have emphasized the idea of a hard struggle ahead. Yet stories of shortages of manpower, shortages of food, were permitted to get out, although such news could have been suppressed.

Field Marshal Goering, in a speech on May 23, 1942, made this astonishing admission: "I know that despair is easy when, after having planted in the fall season, you now find in spring that the greater part of the seed has not come up. We must plow and sow again, and in spite of all, we must harvest."

Goering closed with an admonition: "I should only like to beg a hardening to a greater extent of each individual at home that he will say to himself, 'We must hold out in this war irrespective of how long it may last.'"

For many weeks we have read in our favorite newspaper, and probably heard on radio broadcasts, long series of favorable news events.

For the first time, United Nations air forces are strong enough to strike in four-figure plane raids over Cologne and the Ruhr district, seat of great munitions factories.

The Russian news has been generally favorable. The American raid on Tokyo was a spectacular exploit, popularized by the dramatically planned scene whereby President Roosevelt awarded the Congressional medal to General Jimmy Doolittle at the White House.

We had favorable news from the Coral Sea battle, while our losses were suppressed temporarily in order not to aid the enemy. Naval news from Midway and Dutch Harbor have been likewise optimistic, and our losses are being similarly withheld from the Axis—but also from the American public.

This false one-sidedness of the war news parallels the grim reality that the Japanese, whom one radio commentator said on December 7 we could defeat any "Wednesday afternoon," have conquered the Philippines, Dutch East Indies, Singapore, and Burma, and now stand at the gates of India and Australia—all of this being accomplished in six months' time!

Although Russia has maintained a reasonably effective offensive, she has not yet succeeded in seizing the major key bases on which Germany's defense depends.

And Germany, although engaged in heavy fighting on the Russian front and therefore pressed for manpower, nevertheless mustered enough strength to start her own "second front," the offensive under General Rommel in Libya.

While there are many signs of unrest in the occupied countries, no signs can be found that German troops in the occupied countries have lost control.

And in spite of the bombings and the superiority of the Allied air forces in the West, a second front by invasion is still a long way off. American troops in northern Ireland, while armed to the teeth with the best of armored equipment, number only a few divisions compared with German strength in France as estimated by foreign correspondents.

A most difficult situation confronts us in the matter of ocean-going transport, with ships being sunk faster than we can build them. As of June 2, according to published reports, the toll taken by Axis submarines in American waters since Pearl Harbor had mounted to 234 ships. Assemble these vessels together and you would have a sizeable fleet—a disastrous loss! And yet, like automobile accidents, the sinking of boats off the Atlantic Coast have been so commonplace they seldom occupy page one position in the day's news.

According to all facts which can be assembled, we can reasonably anticipate that the war will continue for 18 to 24 months. Even if Germany collapses by 1943, a minimum of a year would be expected to transport troops and supplies to the Orient for a decisive showdown with the Japanese.

An American army of 7,000,000 men is now in the making. Congress has just authorized another tremendous increase in our naval strength.

Instead of repeating whispered rumors about "victory in 1942" whether inspired by favorable news together with suppression of our military losses or by a "peace offensive" by Axis agents, the Michigan home front must maintain 24-hour production in its arm plants, must shun temptations to minimize sacrifice, and must continue its "all-out" spirit of determination to win—as Goering himself declared—"irrespective of how long it (the war) may last."

How the United States can help Greece, now starving and prostrate under Nazi rule was among things discussed when King George II of Greece conferred with President Roosevelt during the Greek monarch's flying visit to Washington. Above, the President is shown with King George on the White House lawn.

U. S.-RUSS PACT: 'Second Front'

In triphammer succession came three moves by the United States, Russia and Great Britain that promised momentous consequences for the prosecution of the war and the safeguarding of the peace afterwards.

First, President Roosevelt announced that the United States and Russia had reached a "full understanding with regard to the urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942." Second, British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden announced that Britain and Russia had signed a 20-year military and political alliance pledging peace and renouncing territorial greed. Third, the United States and Russia signed a mutual assistance agreement for prosecution of the war against the Axis, pledging increased lend-lease aid and post-war economic co-operation.

Central figure in negotiating the three-way understanding was Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov. The Russian statesman flew first to London and then hopped the Atlantic to Washington, where under the incognito of "Mr. Brown" he was a White House guest for a week. Not until Molotov was safely back in Moscow was the curtain of secrecy about his visit lifted.

Significance of this latest diplomatic coup for the United Nations is that war activities will be greatly speeded and the framework for a durable peace based on economic fair play provided.

OIL FOR EAST:

New Pipeline

Acting to avert a threatened fuel oil famine in the East, the War Production board authorized immediate construction of a 24-inch pipe line from Longview, Texas, to the Salem, Ill., area.

The new pipeline will cut in half the distance Texas oil has to travel at present by rail and inland waterway to reach the Atlantic seaboard.

While it will have a capacity of 250,000 barrels a day, the pipeline will not supply enough oil to lift gasoline rationing restrictions in the East, WPA officials declared. They pointed out that shipments of oil and oil products to the East have not been meeting essential demands, despite rigid rationing and that stocks have fallen dangerously below safety levels.

RUSSIAN WAR:

Nazis Speed Drive

Stepping up the tempo of their Russian offensive, Nazi armies and air forces pressed attacks on three major fronts. These included a push from Kharkov in the Ukraine, a drive against besieged Sevastopol in the Crimea and an air attack on Murmansk north of the Finnish sector.

With completion expected by December 1, the 550-mile pipeline will require 125,000 tons of finished steel.

The size of the force directed at Sevastopol suggested that the Nazis were at last getting their summer campaign under way. More than ten German divisions numbering 150,000 men were reported striking at the strategic Black sea city. The importance of this city is that it opens a gateway to the rich Caucasus oil fields.

From Moscow came a cheering communique announcing that "despite the intensity and stubbornness of the attacks, the enemy failed to break the resistance of the Sevastopol defenders."

YANK WARSHIPS: Join British Fleet

As land and air warfare in Europe and Africa approached a critical stage, the Atlantic ocean battle theater crowded into the forefront with the announcement that a powerful task force of U. S. warships had joined the British home fleet.

Commanded by Rear Admiral Robert C. Giffen, the American naval force will help the British blockade German-controlled Europe, guard Allied convoys and hunt Axis submarines.

News that the Yank sea reinforcement had joined the British became public in connection with a three-day visit to an English port by King George VI, who boarded a U. S. battleship and saw other warships of the task force.

With British seapower scattered in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and Pacific oceans, the arrival of substantial help from the American navy in the Atlantic area had significant implications. Important among these was that the stronger United Nations naval squadron now would be able to keep closer watch on the powerful Nazi warships lurking in Norwegian waters.

NAZI TERROR:

In Czechoslovakia

In a reign of terror following the death of Reinhard ("The Hangman") Heydrich at the hands of Czech patriots, Nazi Gestapo executioners slaughtered the entire male population of the Czech village of Liditz, banished its women and children to concentration camps and burned it to the ground.

The Axis-controlled Prague radio charged that the village had harbored Heydrich's killers. The town's population was estimated at 493, indicating that upward of 150 men were shot. Liditz was located a few miles west of Prague and not far from where "The Hangman" was fatally wounded by patriots while driving along a winding road.

ALEUTIAN ISLANDS:

Jap Footholds?

While the navy department denied Axis claims that Japanese navy and army units had established footholds on the inhabited areas of the Aleutian island chain stretching 1,500 miles across the north Pacific from Alaska, further reports of the extent of the American air and naval victory at Midway island came from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

Admiral Nimitz intimated that of a Jap invasion fleet of more than 30 vessels engaged in the battle, probably half were casualties. Besides heavy loss in warships and transports, the enemy's toll of manpower ran into thousands.

That the Tokyo government was preparing the Nipponese public for news of the sea reverse was indicated by reports that an official spokesman had warned a radio audience not to expect that "all battle news could always be favorable."

FOOD VS. ARMS: Anglo-U. S. Pool

The announcement by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of the establishment of two combined boards to integrate Anglo-American arms production and plan the most effective use of food resources of the United Nations had a two-fold significance:

1. It meant that the United Nations' war effort would be speeded up tremendously by quicker production of essential materials and a more efficient use of shipping facilities.

2. It meant that careful plans for the post-war world were being laid, for the organization of the vast resources of the United States carried into peace-time operations could help solve international problems of distribution, eliminate cut-throat competition and raise living standards.

That both the arms production board and the food board would have the benefit of the best Anglo-American planning brains was evident from their personnel. Donald M. Nelson, war production chief, and Oliver Lyttleton, British minister of production, comprised the production board. Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, was named American representative on the food board, working with the Hon. R. H. Brand, head of the British Food mission.

Reduction of American food surpluses might become necessary, President Roosevelt warned, as a means of alleviating hardships abroad. One of the objectives of the food board, he said, is to distribute foodstuffs on a fair basis among all United Nations.

BUMPER CROPS:

For U. S. Farms

Progress in the battle for all-out food production was reported by the department of agriculture which predicted that all previous records of United States farm production may be "considerably exceeded" if weather conditions remain favorable.

The department said most crops were in better condition than at the corresponding time last year when the nation had one of the most bountiful harvests in its history.

A winter wheat production of 946,931,000 bushels was forecast. The department, likewise, predicted a spring wheat crop of 221,128,000 bushels. If harvested, a crop of this size once more would far exceed domestic requirements of about 700,000,000 bushels of wheat a year and add substantially to the nation's food stockpile for war purposes and peace-time planning.

WAR PRODUCTION:

Ahead of Schedule

Donald M. Nelson told the world that America is "doing the impossible" with war production exceeding all estimates.

The chairman of the War Production board in an address before the graduating class of the University of Missouri confidently declared:

"This year we shall make 60,000 airplanes and by the end of the year we shall be picking up speed for an even greater production. We have found our total production of war goods is higher than we had any reason to suppose it could be when blue prints were first prepared for war plants."

But it was of the post-war period of opportunity as well as the conflict itself that the round-faced production boss spoke.

"If this war is costing us a fearful price," he said, "it is also developing for us new technique and new abilities. It is placing at our disposal an industrial plant—a set of developed resources—that will be beyond price."

"Poverty is not inevitable any more. The sum total of the world's greatest possible output of goods, divided by the sum total of the world's inhabitants, no longer means a little less than enough for everybody."

VICHY FRANCE:

Keep Ties

To most Americans the Vichy government of France is anathema. But to Ambassador William D. Leahy, in the United States since the return to power of pro-Axis Pierre Laval, the Petain regime has merit enough to warrant Uncle Sam in maintaining diplomatic relations.

In the eyes of most Americans, Petain is far less a Nazi tool than Laval, who is looked upon as a traitorous puppet.

Scarcity of Critical Materials Makes Building Difficult

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McNamee were much pleased in receiving a letter from Mr. McNamee's son, Harold G. McNamee, of Lombard, Illinois, to hear of the very successful record made by their granddaughter, Aurelia McNamee, in her junior year at Glenbard High. She made the honor roll for each semester during the year and did so with five subjects. This spring she wrote a newspaper article for the school paper, which her instructor selected as an entry in the state contest and won first prize for which she was awarded a certificate issued by Quill and Scroll. She was given the honor of being elected to Masque and Gavel, a national honorary high school society for speech. Miss McNamee is also the new associate editor of The Glenbard, the school paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McNamee have another daughter, Marilyn, who enters the sixth grade next year.

Harold G. McNamee, a civil engineer, living at Lombard, Illinois, with offices at Chicago, says that the work of constructing telephone repeater buildings at this time is becoming very difficult, considering the scramble going on for critical metals. He says that he is handicapped by not having priority numbers issued by the OPM soon enough to do much good. He has three contractors in three states now handling a total of 21 buildings and can locate material readily available for only about five of them. He must get seven more going by fall and is at a loss to know where the materials are coming from. He says that when one competes with the construction of a bomber plant, a shell loading plant and an army barracks, next door to the seat of his work (in western Iowa) you practically have to see F. D. R. to get material.

R. A. McNamee has another son, Robert L. McNamee, whose home is in Ann Arbor, who wrote his father last week when enroute from Washington to Norfolk, Va., by way of Richmond, Va. He had just contracted to do about $10,000,000 project cost work of consultation with the U. S. Navy throughout the area from Baltimore, south to the Carolinas. He says that area is certainly busy as far as military and naval operations are concerned.

When you bring your scrap rubber to your Standard Oil Dealer, or to any other service station, the rubber will be weighed and you'll get your money at that time. No oil company will receive one penny profit. The difference between the amount we pay and the amount Uncle Sam pays us goes to the USO, Navy Relief, Army Relief and the American Red Cross.

In Suits or Satin, Wartime Brides Are Lovely as Ever

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THERE'S big news in the realm of fashions for brides. We used to speak of "the season for brides." Well, there is no special season now, for the entry of an increasing number of wartime brides into the picture has changed all that. Weddings are apt to happen any time, anywhere, these days.

If you are wondering about the fate of the bride in gleaming satin and masses of billowy tulle who has always been the pride and joy of the fashion world, you may rest assured she will grace the springtime picture as radiantly lovely and picturesque as ever. From style centers everywhere comes the news that, while there will be a continuous program of informal weddings because of rush orders to soldier grooms to return to their posts of duty, yet there is definitely a continued trend to big weddings.

For the formal bride who is fortunate enough to have a pretentious wedding in the time-honored way, the exquisite gown pictured in the foreground of the above illustration is a masterpiece of all that goes to make up a "picture." There is infinite charm in this stately wedding gown of gleaming ivory white satin, enhanced with a yoke of Alençon-type lace. The snug-fitting bodice is prettily sleeved with short puffs of the satin which add to the youthful technique employed all through the costume design. The Victorian bouquet complements the quaint charm of the gown and the short bridal veil. This bridal bouquet is of white roses and pom-pom chrysanthemums, with a deep red rose as a touch of romantic modernism. The bride's flowers are traditionally the groom's responsibility, but it is the bride's privilege to specify her preferences, and it is readily to be seen that the bride pictured here made a most excellent choice.

The bride who is real news this spring is the bride who is going to be married in a simple little suit in a hurry-up wedding because of army regulations and the uncertainties of the soldier-groom's recall to headquarters. Thus a new expression, "suit wedding," has been coined, and to meet its requirements designers are giving of their best to create costumes that will make the simple wartime bride as lovely and charming as the stately bride who is privileged to enjoy all the pomp and glory of a more formal wedding.

Ingenious designing resulted in the suit dress pictured to the right in the above illustration. It is a triumph of soft tailoring and is beguilingly feminine and definitely fashion-right. It boasts two lives, for it serves both as a suit and as a charming dress when the jacket is removed. This New York creation is of navy wool with attached blouse top of red crepe, gaily printed in vivid blues and greens, which matches the jacket lining. A jaunty hat of white fabric trimmed with red and white fringe completes the ensemble. The gloves and footwear are perfect selections.

For a young girl who is planning a quiet wedding the simple crepe frock with its cunning jacket effect, as shown centered in the above picture, is ideal. Of either navy or black (black with lots of white is very smart), it will look girlish and "sweet" relieved by deep white lace half sleeves. The lace is removable. However, the high note of charm is the matching lace hat which gives the "pretty bride" look as convincingly as any arrangement of orange-blossoms and tulle that might be devised.

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Bright Squares

The new prints are superb in color and technique, and they have the look of uniqueness about them which every woman covets. Here, illustrated above, is a print that qualifies on every count as a winner. This New York creation of black crepe, simply fashioned, is scattered with large red and white squares. The skirt is marked by softly gathered front fullness. The bodice is graceful and easy fitting. The wide belt, with its huge buckle, is of black patent leather. Of especial interest is the hat, for it is characteristic of an important style trend. Its flatterer fan-pleated brim is bordered on the upper side with navy grosgrain ribbon. The white linen-weave straw is very smart.

Short of Materials? Designers Say 'No'

To those engaged in apparel industries has come an unprecedented challenge to make the adjustments necessary to carry on a program of conservation of materials in accordance with wartime priority rulings. The reaction to this challenge is most heartening. There apparently will be no lack of fashion interest but really a gain in new ideas and new ways of making the most of materials at hand.

Silk or no silk, nylon or no nylon, we are going to have flattering and wearable hosiery of the sheerest of sheer lisle or fine gauge rayon. As to "pure silk" silks, what is being achieved with rayon and other synthetics is a revelation.

Achieve Maximum Style With Minimum Yardage

The restriction on materials has spurred designers to create fashions that require minimum yardage. So look for slim silhouettes and shorter jackets styled so intriguingly you will be converted to the idea at first glance.

The new side-saddle drapes are so amazingly slenderizing they are destined to enjoy definite style prestige.

Gray and White

Watch the fashion parade and note the preponderance of gray suits, dresses and coats. Gray has become such a hobby with fashion we will be seeing more of it than we have seen for many a season. Gray hats with white accents are outstanding, as is the all-white hat with a gray suit.

Frankly Feminine

Hat styles tend to be frankly feminine. Even the huge brims are supple and becomingly manipulated. Some of the newer little hats are mostly a labyrinth of bandeaux with which to anchor tiny forward-pitching flower pieces to the head.

We are prepared to serve day and night, and to meet any possible emergencies.
