

Trial Blackout Will Embrace Thumb District July 19

Elaborate Preparations Are Being Laid to Make It Entirely Successful.

A trial blackout planned to embrace all five counties of the Thumb—Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac, Lapeer and St. Clair—will darken this area between 10:30 and 10:45 p. m. Sunday, July 19.

Elaborate preparations are being laid toward making this one of the most successful of its kind for the greatest territory yet to be blacked out in the State of Michigan.

The action was made and date set at a meeting in Sandusky Mon-

Thumb in Line of Fire.

"The area comprising the Thumb of Michigan and its adjacent territory in Canada are more vulnerable to attack by enemy planes than any area on the seaboard," warned Ford M. Hutchinson, "Blackout Chief" for the State of Michigan, Monday night at Sandusky.

"Our enemies know the vital quality of the Great Lakes are carrying waterways, and their most strategic air attack would follow the route up the St. Lawrence River to the Soo Locks, then along the almost 'bottle neck' passage near Port Huron to Detroit," he said.

"Make no mistake about it, the Thumb is in line of fire and just because we haven't been hit before, that's no sign we won't be. The Army anticipates it as more than a possibility. You're in a hot spot; don't be complacent about it."

day night of all civilian defense agencies of the five counties involved. A representative from the border territory of Ontario also was present to assure Michigan authorities that neighboring Canadian lights would be darkened at the same time, as would be necessary during an actual attack.

County defense chiefs, upon being questioned as to their readiness for the trial, agreed their organizations were prepared to be at their respective posts and execute their duties during the simulated emergency.

Frank J. O'Hara, Port Huron coordinator of St. Clair County Defense, acting as chairman of the meeting, introduced Ford M. Hutchinson, Chief of Utilities for the State of Michigan, who is responsible for the state's blackout defense.

Rural Mail Carriers Sell War Bonds and Stamps

Postmaster Arthur Little announces this week that in cooperation with the War Bond campaign, for the benefit of rural patrons, the rural carriers are now instructed to act as an agency for sale of U. S. War Bonds and Stamps.

The carriers carry a supply of stamps with them each day on the route.

Patrons desiring to purchase War Bonds may do so with cash or War Savings Stamps. They will be given a receipt on form number 6378 (money order receipt), and their bonds will be delivered to them on the next trip of the carrier or in any way requested by the purchaser.

Joyce Retherford Smith Tells of Real Resident's Views of Alaska

Kodiak, Alaska, June 2, 1942.

Cass City Chronicle, Cass City, Michigan.

Mr. Lenzner: Having had so many requests for another letter, including your request, I shall try to write another. I was glad so many are interested in this place, for Alaska is enchanting. Have you all read "I Saw Alaska at War" by Maxine Davis in the May 23rd Post? It is good, but I can see the difference between a visitor's view and a real resident's view.

Because of censorship, I think I'll tell you about some experiences and someday when we all "live again" in our own free manner I will tell you something about Uncle Sam's efforts here to make the world a safe place in which to live.

Last Sunday, Mark had to work on some emergency job, so after he left I saw that we had a minute tide. The sun was shining so I decided to take a walk all alone along the shore. I put on my rub-

Miss Hunt and Mr. Wyman Marry

William Alden Wyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Wyman, of Trenton and Miss Catherine Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Harry L. Hunt, of Cass City, stole a march on their friends and were quietly married Saturday, June 20, in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, in Toledo, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Wyman spent a few days at Niagara Falls before coming to Cass City to spend Wednesday and Thursday with the bride's mother. They left Thursday on a trip through northern Michigan.

The bride is a graduate of Cass City High School, being a member of the Class of '29. She was also graduated from Michigan State College, East Lansing. For four years, she taught home economics at West Branch and the last five years has been instructor in the same subject in Trenton.

Mr. Wyman was graduated from Trenton High School and attended University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. He is employed as a welder in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyman will make their home at 2254 Third Street in Trenton.

Inter-Church Daily Bible School Will Close Today

Picnic Period and Exhibition Program Friday Complete the Sessions.

The Inter-church Daily Vacation Bible School, sponsored by the Presbyterian, Methodist and Evangelical Churches closes today (Friday), a very successful session considering that this is the first such type of school held in Cass City for some time. A total of 60 pupils were enrolled with an average daily attendance of 45. Six different classes were held among the various age groups.

The school was directed by the Rev. Dudley Moore, assisted by the pastors of the other two churches. The following helped in the teaching work and to their faithful service much of the success of the school is attributed: Miss Pauline Knight, Mrs. S. P. Kim, June Schwaderer, Joan Bigelow, Mrs. Carl Keelin, Genevieve Russell, Mrs. Ben Kirton, Mrs. A. H. Higgins, Elaine Kirton and Betty Hower. The singing periods were conducted by Mrs. D. Moore and the worship periods by the pastors in turn.

Several special features were held, among them a visit by Rev. William Mertz and a talk on types of crosses used in times past and present to represent aspects of the Christian faith. The intermediate groups visited the Catholic Church on one occasion.

Those pupils attending consistently during the ten days will be awarded certificates for their faithfulness. A picnic period Friday noon and an exhibition program at the Methodist Church Friday evening at eight o'clock will close the session for the year.

MARSHALL BURT HAS LIEUTENANT COMMISSION

Marshall Burt, son of George Burt, of this place, who has been employed at the city water softening plant at Lansing, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and has received a commission as Lieutenant J. G. He was to report Wednesday, July 1, at Cornell University, New York, for training.

Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness

GAIN the immortal phrases of the Declaration of Independence are ringing throughout the land, as fresh in meaning as the day they were penned, 166 years ago. Today they ring not alone for America but for the whole world. The bowed head in Malaya, cringing before a cruel brown master; the slave people of France, of Norway, of Greece—all may take heart! For the blue-print of world freedom which was written on the North Atlantic by the leaders of two great free peoples is in working process now.

And so, with a slave-weary world suddenly grown conscious of their eventual deliverance from bondage, this 4th of July is a dedication to the future rather than a salute to the past. It marks the re-birth of the Spirit of '76—it is a call to all free men to accept the stern responsibilities and dangers which lie in the path of victory.

The explosion of the firecracker is lost in the roar of the 8-inch gun and the demolition bomb. We lay aside for the present the noise-makers of other and happier Fourth's and settle down grimly to the task of building the fabric upon which shall rest a world that is free.

Cass City Girl Marries Utica, New York, Minister

The Evangelical Church in Cass City was the scene of the wedding Tuesday when Miss Shirley Anne Lenzner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Lenzner, of Cass City, became the bride of Mr. J. Franklin Beck of Utica, New York, son of Rev. and Mrs. John M. Beck, of Rochester, New York. The service was performed by the father of the groom, who is pastor of the First Evangelical Church in Rochester, New York, and superintendent of the Syracuse district. He was assisted by Rev. Stanley P. Kim, pastor of the local Evangelical Church. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives and a few friends.

The bride approached the altar with her father who gave her in marriage. Her gown was of white marquisette and lace over satin and her finger-tip veil of net fell from a tiara of seed pearls and orange blossoms. White rosebuds and baby breath formed the bridal bouquet.

The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Gordon L. Thomas, of Coral Gables, Florida, whose pale blue gown, floor-length, was of marquisette and lace and was complemented with a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses. Miss Maurine Beck of Rochester, New York, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Her gown and bouquet were like those of the matron of honor. The groom was attended by Pfc. Clayton Alt of Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, as best man. Stanley Kim, Jr., of Cass City seated the guests.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Beck chose a gown of flowered silk print, and Mrs. Lenzner wore light blue sheer alpaca. Both had white accessories and wore corsages of rosebuds and sweet peas.

The altar was decorated with cathedral candles in standard candelabra, palms, and baskets of summer flowers. Miss Ruth Schenck played wedding music preceding the ceremony and also the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin by Wagner.

19 Men from Tuscola Are Found Fit for Army Service

County Draft Board Receives Call for More Men for July 22 Examination.

Of the 39 men who recently left Tuscola County to take the army examination, 19 were found physically fit, six were transfers from other counties, two cases are still pending and 12 failed to meet the physical requirements.

Those who passed the examinations and will go to Fort Custer on July 8 to enter the army include the following men:

Lyle Hess, Vassar.
John Parlor, Cass City.
Frank Badish, Kingston.
Francis Gleason, Millington.
Edward Klukowski, Akron.
Charles Lester, Millington.
Clarence Kern, Reese.
Frank McComb, Cass City.
Robert Reid, Caro.
Adolph Holzwarth, Unionville.
James Blackmore, Mayville.
Glen Traubenkraut, Silverwood.
Thomas Jolly, Millington.
Frederick Hohman, Vassar.
Clifford Downing, Akron.
Walter Dickinson, Caro.
Jack Waite, Fairgrove, leader.
Aubrey Chatters, Millington, assistant leader.

Roman Rocha, transferred from Sandusky County, Ohio.

The Tuscola County Draft Board has received a call for more men to leave the county on July 22 for physical examinations, preliminary to induction into the army.

Seven hundred thirty-six young men were enrolled in the June 30 registration in Tuscola County.

The county draft board recently received a telegram from E. M. Rosecrans, director of the State Selective Service headquarters, stating that men who were married before December 8, 1941, would not be inducted into army service.

Miss Isabelle Bradshaw of Cass City has accepted a position as clerk in the office of the county draft board in Caro.

Mrs. Lester Bailey has received word of the serious illness of her nephew, Corporal John W. Thiel, in a naval hospital at Seattle, Washington. His mother, Mrs. Anna Thiel, of Gary, Indiana, flew to Washington to be with her son.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

I will be a candidate for the nomination for the office of County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the primary election in Tuscola County to be held September 15, 1942. Your support and influence in my behalf will be greatly appreciated.

Francis Ode of Mayville is also a member of this select group and the only other member Tuscola County has placed. Mr. Ode was elected to the State Service Club in 1937.

Presbyterians Vote to Accept Pastor's Resignation

Six Elders Have Been Empowered to Act as the Pulpit Committee.

At a special meeting of the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City, held Monday night, the congregation voted to accept the resignation of the pastor, the Rev. Wendling H. Hastings, and to concur with him in requesting the Presbytery of Flint to dissolve the pastoral relationship. Mr. Hastings is accepting a call from the Federated Church at Lafayette, New Jersey. While serving the Lafayette Church he will study at Princeton Theological Seminary. After the meeting, a lawn party was held in honor of the Hastings family.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated on Sunday, July 5, at 10:30 a. m. Baptism will be administered and new members will be received into the fellowship of the church. A group of new additions to the furnishings of the sanctuary of the church will be dedicated. They consist of a new communion table, high pulpit, a silk brocade frontal and hand.

Scrap Rubber Drive Extended to July 10

Disappointed with results of the scrap rubber collection drive, which has brought in only a little more than 219,000 tons, President Roosevelt Monday extended the campaign until midnight, July 10. Originally, the drive was to have ended June 30.

Campaign officials said that the public should "redouble" efforts pointing out that its contributions will be a factor in determining when and if there will be any rubber for civilian consumption. There is at present no optimism on this score in official circles.

William R. Boyd, Jr., in active charge of the national campaign, revealed the total tonnage collected. In reporting collection figures by states he said that Michigan had garnered 8,500 tons of 3.23 pounds per capita, against the national average of 3.27.

Total collection of salvage rubber in this community reached 52,894 pounds on July 1. A week earlier the amount was 36,351. It is difficult to determine the per capita contribution in this community. Assuming that two-thirds of the 52,894 pounds were collected from the 2,239 residents of Elkland Township (including Cass City village) the average would be 15.6 pounds. If it is estimated that Elkland Township residents sent in one-half and surrounding townships the other half of the amount to local collection depots, the average would be 11.7 pounds.

"As Scared as I've Ever Been" Says Survivor of the Lexington Sinking

The following article regarding that way because she had been so lucky until then. I suppose I should have realized her time would come.

"I didn't see the Lexington go down. That last time I saw her she was still afloat. I had been picked up by a destroyer and sent to a ship you somehow thought would never go down, you feel entitled to blow a full month's pay on movies and dances, and a good time in general, as soon as you reach shore."

Robert Lee Gardner, electrician's mate, third class, on the aircraft carrier Lexington, did just that when he arrived in San Diego, so when he got a furlough last week he had to hitch-hike to his home here.

Re-creating the scenes during the last hours of the Lexington, Bob remembers most vividly the minutes when he clung to a life raft and squinted back at the old ship, still unable to believe that the crew had been forced to abandon her.

"She was so big, so enormous, that it just didn't seem possible that she was doomed. Maybe I felt

Cass City Retailers Enter Campaign to Sell War Stamps

Quota Assigned to Michigan Retailers by Treasury Dept. Is $48,000,000.

In conjunction with thousands of merchants and business firms throughout the United States, Cass City retailers now have war savings stamps for sale in July and succeeding months. The U. S. Treasury Department has asked retailers of Michigan to sell $48,000,000 in War Savings Stamps and Bonds by May 1, 1943.

C. L. Bougher of Caro, chairman of the Tuscola County War Bond sales, and Willis Campbell, local chairman, met with a group of Cass City business men at the Council Rooms here Monday afternoon and outlined the plans of the sale of stamps and bonds by local retailers. Mr. Bougher declared that the government is bound to finance a part of the cost of this war through the sale of bonds, and if that measure fails, the alternative is taxation.

Of the quota of $48,000,000 of stamps and bonds assigned to be sold by Michigan retailers by May 1, 1943, there has been apportioned $163,000 to Tuscola County business houses. Mr. Bougher said that this quota was based on returns from the collection of sales tax and represents approximately two per cent of gross sales. The July quota here and elsewhere in the nation is double the normal monthly figure or four per cent of gross sales.

Retailers were requested to instruct sales persons to give customers an opportunity to take part of his or her change in War Savings Stamps. Kits of material and advertising matter to aid in the sale of stamps through stores were available at the meeting here Monday. The kits were prepared by the Michigan Retailers War Savings Committee.

"While July is the big month, it is not the only month," states C. L. Bougher, retail chairman for Tuscola County. "We retailers are

Tuscola Assessed Valuation Is Set at $25,010,863

Tuscola County's assessed valuation was set at $25,010,863 at the June session of supervisors which in an increase of approximately $126,000 over the 1941 figure. The board voted a six-mill tax spread for county purposes, which included an 1/8-mill for the jail sinking fund and an amount to meet the county drain at large tax.

Supervisors Neil H. Burns, Howard Slafter, and Henry Stoeckmeyer were named to represent the board at a joint state meeting of welfare boards and the association of supervisors at Alpena July 14-16.

County Treasurer Arthur Willis, County Clerk Geo. F. Childs, Register of Deeds Truman Ackerman, and Sheriff Homer Hillaker were authorized to attend the state conventions of these respective offices with their expenses paid from the county treasury.

The salary of Mrs. Iola Reichart, an assistant in County Clerk Geo. F. Childs' office, was increased from $18 to $20 a week.

The resolution passed by the supervisors at an earlier session authorizing $90 per month for expenses of the office of the County Civilian Defense Board was re-

JULY 4TH AMERICA and the Four Freedoms

Today—166 years after the signing of the Declaration of Independence —America is warring against tyrants who would rule the world's free people by force and oppression. American soldiers are fighting to bring the four freedoms to peace-loving nations in all parts of the globe.
They are fighting for freedom of speech, freedom of worship, freedom from want and freedom from fear.

Somewhere in the Icelandic outpost of freedom, two soldiers of the AEF are donning their arctic uniforms, getting ready for guard duty.

The scene changes to a land thousands of miles to the south. Here, in Puerto Rico, a coast artillery rifleman takes his position in one of the old Spanish sentry posts.

Eternal vigilance is the price of victory—and a part of every American soldier's training. Even as a great convoy headed into an Austrian port, these American doughboys stayed next to their anti-aircraft guns until the voyage ended.

This U. S. trooper, a seasoned jungle fighter, stands at his post in the dense foliage of a Dutch Guiana jungle. With millions of other Americans, he is more than willing to help spread the four freedoms to the four corners of the globe.

Miss Downing Speaks Vows—

In a service read at 9:00 a. m.
Saturday at St. Agatha's Church,
Miss Genevieve Downing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Downing, became the bride of Alger Freiburger of Ferndale, son of Mrs.
Guy McGary, of Detroit, with Rev.
Fr. McCullough officiating at the high mass.

Miss Downing, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white chiffon with lace inserts and a sweetheart neckline, with a lace yoke in back and capping the sleeves which were tightly fitted to the wrist with a point extending over the hand. The full skirt edged with lace ended in a long train. Her finger-tip veil edged with lace fell from a halo of sewed pearls. She wore a strand of pearls and carried a shower bou-quet of Johanna Hill roses and pink and white larkspur.

Miss Janice Downing of Detroit, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of blue chiffon with lace insertion and carried a bouquet of carnations, larkspur and Miss Eileen Frei-man, as bridesmaid, wore a pin chiffon similar to the maid of honor's and carried similar flowers.
They were matching veiled toques.

The groom was attended by the bride's two brothers, Thomas and James Downing. William Downing and James Coffron were ushers.
After the ceremony, breakfast was served to 31 guests at the Gagetown Hotel. The table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake and low bowls of garden flowers and American Beauty roses.
Mrs. Downing, for her daughter's wedding, wore a navy blue tailored costume with white accessories and corsage. Mrs. McGary, mother of the groom, was gownned in a blue and white crepe dress with white accessories and corsage.

A reception was held in the evening at the Oriole Gardens.
After a wedding trip through northern Michigan and Wisconsin, Mr. and Mrs. Freiberger will live in Ferndale where they are building a new home.

Mrs. Freiberger was graduated from the Gagetown High School with the Class of 1939 and for the past two years has taught in the district schools. Mr. Freiberger is GREENLEAF.

Mrs. Kuzmich and son, Larry, of Detroit are staying at the Nowicki home for two weeks. Mrs.
Kuzmich is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nowicki.

Jimmie Croft is in Detroit where he has employment.

Mrs. Burtis, who has been in the community for the last two weeks, returned to Owosso this week. Mrs.
Norman McLeod accompanied her to remain for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gracey and family of Detroit called at the James Walker home last week.
They were on their way north to spend their vacation at their summer home at Grand Lake in Presque Isle County.

Charles Vogel, who has been quite ill at his home, was taken to Alger this week for treatment.

Mrs. Hoadley is quite ill at her home on Hadley Road.

INSOLUBLE

A farmer, visiting his son's college and wandering into the chemistry class, saw some students experimenting.

"What are you trying to do?"
he asked.

"We're endeavoring," replied one of the students, "to discover or invent a universal solvent."

"What's that?"
"A liquid that will dissolve anything."

"That's a great idea," agreed the farmer. "When you find it, what are you going to keep it in?"

Special Plea

Lawyers, like many other important people, often spring from very humble beginnings, and there is very little doubt as to the probable future career of the small boy who went up to a policeman in the street the other day and addressed him as follows: "Please sir, I don't suppose you don't know nobody what don't want nobody to do nothing for them, don't you, sir?"

Completely dazed, the policeman held on to his head until it stopped spinning, then he replied abruptly:
"Yes, I don't."

The shuffleboard and tennis courts are once again becoming popular. Both courts were kept "hot" over the week-end. This was really the first good week-end we have had all spring, free from rain or disagreeable weather and as a result a good crowd was in evidence.

New concrete approaches to the bathing beach causeways are being installed this week and will be a much needed improvement for those interested in bathing.

Mr. and Mrs. Shatwell of Lansing were visitors at the Wilson cottage over the week-end. Mr.
Shatwell is general manager of the J. W. Knapp Company.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Wurm expect to leave about July 5 for a week's trip on the S. S. South American to the Soo, Isle Royale and other Lake Superior points. Bon voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Walton of Vassar had as Sunday guests at their cottage here Mr. and Mrs.
Glenn Montague of Caro.

The Ewald family of Detroit are occupying the Soper cottage this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Briggs and family of St. Johns and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Green of Bad Axe were at the Sandham cottage on Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. A. A. Hitchcock and Miss Margaret McKenzie of Muskegon have arrived at the Hitchcock cottage for the summer.

Miss Pearl Spinks and Mrs. Mil-holland, both instructors in the Detroit schools, have opened their cottages for the balance of the summer. Miss Myrtle Holmes, another instructor, will also arrive this week.

Mrs. Charles Ballard and son, Freddie, of Flint are here for an indefinite stay. Mr. Ballard will arrive Saturday for a two weeks' vacation.

Rev. and Mrs. Wendling H.
Hastings, Mrs. Charles Hastings and Mrs. J. D. Brooker of Cass City were luncheon guests Monday at the Burke cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knapp were here Tuesday for the day. They expect to spend the week-end of July 11 and 12 with their son,
Clark, in Chicago. Clark is stationed at Camp Grant.

Annual meeting has been definitely set for Saturday, July 11.
We hope all members will be in attendance. Also let us remind all members who contemplate renting cottages to friends or relatives to please notify secretary or president of the board in advance. By-laws require this.

The above map of Michigan shows the War
Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of July, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the state is $39,466,000. With the National quota total placed at a billion dollars, the nation goes into high gear in its support of the War financing and to give our fighting forces adequate implements of war which will bring ultimate Victory. American Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen are on every front.
They are giving 100 percent for their country.
What are we doing here on the home front? Are we lending at least ten percent of income to help them? It's very little. But to fight this war suc-

Bonds every month from us—the People.

Rainy Day Jobs Ease Labor Loads

Blackboards or note pads, especially in these days of wartime farm production and labor shortages can save time and energy and keep track of necessary rainy day jobs.

Some of the suggestions for keeping track of essential farm figures come from D. E. Wiant, agricultural engineer at Michigan State College.

Trips for repairs can be combined with shopping for staple articles if a blackboard or note pad is used to indicate needed parts and parts numbers. Chalk up the loads of hay, says Wiant, and keep track of breeding dates for livestock.

Wiant says the blackboard habit is good training for the more complete job of keeping books.

The use of notes also can eliminate "forgetting the next necessary farm job." Hired men can report work they have finished and the boss can list jobs still to be done. A record can be kept of the completion of repair jobs or indicate what still is necessary to put a machine in working order.

Good planning and efficient operation of a farm should involve, according to Wiant, a work guide, a definite repair schedule to keep machines ready to go, and a system of dates and figures that take some of the guesswork out of the progress of farm work.

JOYCE RETHERFORD TELLS OF VIEWS OF ALASKA

not know. There were many ferns and violets and on top of the rock were spruce. They are in blossom now. The flowers look just like strawberries and are just as red. Of course, here and there little streams tumbled down the rocks too.

A dull gray government boat went past me, so close that I exchanged a friendly "good morning." A plane also went over, so close I felt I should duck and how glad I was to know that the boys are on the watch all over. I went on out past Mission Bay to a lovely spot where a doctor is building a huge log home. By this time the wind was blowing and it was cloudy, but I could look out across the bay and the sun was still shining on the Devil's Prong Mountains. They are green up to the snow line now and are lovely. It isn't hard to understand why the psalmist said: "I will lift up mine eyes to the hills," etc. The tide was coming in by now and the waves looked as if they were tumbling over each other in an effort to get there first.

I had lingered so long I couldn't go to church but I did have a grand walk and a good time. Speaking of church, there is a good article about the Kodiak Church in the April Baptist Mission magazine. Miss Myers, whose picture appears on page 252, is a good friend of ours. She is one of the Baptist Mission women. This mission was established about 50 years ago to care for homeless native children. Most of the children are Aleut, Russian or Scandinavian. One little boy is part Japanese. There are 25 children in the home here and about 12 at Ouzinski, which is on Spruce Island, nearby. These fine people are doing a fine work and it's not an easy job.

Later in my day, one of Howard's teachers called with Civilian Defense instructions. Surely, there's no harm in telling you that we all have trenches or bomb shelters. It seems silly to prepare, but I suppose we are in a danger zone. It's hard to imagine a need for that in so calm and lovely a spot.

When Mark came home and another friend came in we had a huge fish supper. A fellow had given Howard three large Blue trout and they were very good. They plan to start the salmon fishing this week.

Suppose the ladies would like to know about our tent-house. Housing was a real problem. So Mark had me bring a 14x16 tent from Seattle. He had a floor and side-wall ready so we had a home in jig-time. He made bunks and a table and chairs. I cook on a Coleman gasoline stove and we use fuel oil for heat. My cupboards are wooden boxes. We have lived in this tent-house since last October 4 and have been very comfortable. This all goes with my adventure. This home wouldn't rate in Cass City, I know, but it's O. K. here. It seems no handicap for many others have the same as we. We entertain and have good times. When the neighbors come in for lunch, it's understood that they are to bring their own boxes to sit on and probably their plates. In our little community, no two of us plan to wash, bake or iron at the same time for the equipment for those jobs goes the rounds. It's all fun, and don't think we haven't educated friends here. In this little community are at least twenty college people.

Our food is the same brand as is on your shelves. All meat is frozen. Prices are high, but no one seems to go hungry. Bread is 25c for a one-pound loaf and milk is 50c per quart; not the goose that laid the golden egg but the cow that gave the 50c per quart milk! Not all food is so far out of reason. I bake our bread and we use dry milk. Fresh vegetables are what we all yearn for. Every boat brings some, but they are quite old and tasteless when they arrive. Some gardens are being planted but they are just patches. You see all that volcanic ash has to be taken off before you can grow a garden. We are near Mt. Katmai and this island was covered with ash when it blew up.

The oldest store in Alaska is here and is owned by the Erskines. I was invited to Mrs. Erskine's home one afternoon. They live in the old Count Shelikof house. It was famous in the days of the Russian fur trading. Here the Count lived and entertained so lavishly.

Many fortunes were won and lost over their glasses of vodka. This was the center of the fabulous sea otter trade and later the whaling industry. The house is log but has been sided to preserve it. It is on a high hill close to the sea.

The view from the long veranda is magnificent. Ocean going boats dock about 100 feet from the door. Inside, one might imagine he was stepping into some old world charm. The furniture was simple. The walls were lined with shelves of rare and costly, old and modern books. All pictures were hand paintings and on the floor was a huge Kodiak bear rug. They have many rare brass ornaments like candle sticks, pans, semivars and a tall icon, also a large incense pot like the Russian priest uses here. They are not Russian but they are very interested in all the folk-lore and history of the place. They told us many interesting things about the early history of Alaska. I had bought the book, Alaska Holiday, by Barrett Willoughby. In it she tells much about these lovely people, so I asked Mrs. Erskine to autograph my book. She served us tea, sandwiches and cake. It was so dainty but I was more interested in the finest china I ever used. She told us that their children were fourth generation Alaskan whites and she doubted if there were any others, so now I know I've been entertained by real Alaskan aristocracy.

I've taken the Red Cross courses in First Aid and Nurse's Aid. We sew and work for the Red Cross. Since we are in a danger zone, many things have been sent here all prepared for us. I helped unpack the grandest sweaters, boys' shirts, dresses, blankets, etc. One group of sweaters came from Eaton County, Michigan!

One day very recently a Kodiak mother bear and her cub came over the mountain back of town. She looked the town over, giving many quite a thrill and then decided to return. The soldiers tell the story that they are training a group of Kodiak bears to greet the Japs. It would be quite a welcome, judging by the length of their claws.

Kodiak, founded by the Russians in 1793, is the oldest town on the Pacific Coast. It was a very quiet little fishing village until the fortifications were begun. Now it has had a sudden boom and is destined to become a commercial center. It was incorporated about a year ago and has a tax valuation of $1,240,000. The bank, established about 18 months ago, has deposits of over two million dollars. The annual payroll is about ten million.

Commercial fishing is the principal industry. A hundred fishing boats base in Kodiak Harbor. There are 12 salmon canneries and four herring reduction plants, also one whaling station on our island. They catch salmon, cod, herring, halibut and King crab.

The annual precipitation is about 60 inches with very little snow. Although the sun shines now, it did rain today, which is the 23rd consecutive day of rain, sometime during the day. We are approaching our longest day. There's not over three hours of darkness now. It seems so strange to go to bed in daylight.

Howard and I had planned to be home by June 12. Our trunks are still packed but sailings were suddenly delayed.

There are so many things of interest here and of course the world watches the defense program. I am constantly amazed at the boats. They range from row boats to Uncle Sam's choice masterpieces. They are all such a dull gray color but someday they will be their own gay selves again—even as you and I.

I can't tell you about Mark's work, although it would do no harm. It is rather thrilling to be a part of so vital a job. Howard, being just 13 years old, gets the real thrill out of his associations with the service men. He knows the planes and the army equipment just by the sound.

We are missing Harry Heilman and the Tigers, but get a report nearly every day of their standings. Radio reception is not very good. However, I expect you have all heard the glorious news of Midway. Greetings again from the metropolis of the North Pacific—so remote, with mountains so wild and rugged, such flowery vales, great blue arms and recesses of the sea, such vast solitude stretching to the horizon in every direction, such a hodge podge of peoples—enchanting Kodiak.

Yours,
JOYCE RETHERFORD SMITH, Kodiak, Alaska.

"bucket brigade" was formed to dump fuel overboard that was coming through a leak in the fuel tank. Another squad fought fires along the hangar deck.

"Late in the afternoon the fires on the hangar deck got out of control and forced us back into the ship. I finally had to abandon my station, and helped move injured men to the after deck. We managed to get all the wounded men off the hangar deck before it became a raging inferno.

"When we got up to the flight deck we heard that the order had been given to abandon ship. There didn't seem to be any rush to get off. They brought up a lot of ice cream from the ship's service, and everybody just dug in with whatever they had."

Despite the fact that during the battle Bob had been "as scared as I've ever been in my life," he stayed aboard long enough to have three cups of ice cream.

"I was thirsty. There wasn't any drinking water, and that ice cream tasted very good. Well, anyway, after I had my ice cream I went over to one of the galleys on the starboard side, kicked off my shoes and stockings and threw away my flashlight and keys.

"I wanted to get rid of everything that was metal, so I wouldn't be weighed down in the water. I reached in my pocket and felt the cigarette lighter my folks had given me for Christmas. I just patted it and left it there—I wanted to keep that."

He lowered himself down the ropes into the water and swam to a nearby life raft.

"The men were quite calm in the water. There was excitement, but no panic. Most of us just couldn't realize we had actually abandoned ship."

He was in the water about 30 or 35 minutes before the destroyer came alongside, a rope was flung to him, and he scrambled up.

Bob didn't see Rear Admiral (then Captain) Fred C. Sherman, formerly of Port Huron, but he spoke of him in the way a fighting man does about a commanding officer who has his full respect.

Bob's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gardner, 707 Clairmont St. He has two brothers, Fred, 18, a fireman, third class, in the Navy, stationed in Chicago, and Harold, 15. He has one sister, Miss Florence Gardner.

He will report back to San Diego Friday night.

Buckwheat Crop Due for Increase

Buckwheat cakes and maple syrup or sorghum molasses may come back to their own next winter in Michigan. The year 1942 looks like a buckwheat year because the excessive rains of May and June have drowned out thousands of acres of corn, soybeans and sugar beets or so delayed plantings that farmers are forced to turn to quick growing emergency crops.

Buckwheat is the most satisfactory of these as a cash crop, though it has never been unusually profitable, reports H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department. The long-time average yield in Michigan is 13 bushels an acre but yields of 20 to 25 bushels are not uncommon. The average 1931-1940 price in Michigan was 53 cents a bushel but more recently the farm price has been above 75 cents.

Buckwheat is not sensitive as to soil requirements. It can use relatively less available forms of phosphorus and potassium better than any

Right Height

His height of exactly five feet made Private Frank Turso a busy man at the Mojave desert firing range, where his battery was digging safety pits beside anti-aircraft gun emplacements.

Regulations prescribe a five-foot depth for holes, so the officers kept Turso running from pit to pit and jumping into them.

If the shovel handle didn't bump Turso on the head when it was placed across the pit, the diggers knew it was deep enough.

If the handle struck him, Turso rubbed his head while the diggers put their shovels back to work.

100 Attended the Hartsell Reunion

The annual reunion of the Hartsell family was held at the Martin Hartsell home, 9 1/4 miles north of Cass City, on Saturday, June 27, with a large attendance of 100. A bountiful potluck dinner was served on the lawn at noon. Many spent the afternoon playing ball while others spent the time visiting. Everyone missed William Hartsell of Pontiac, who has long been a familiar figure at the reunions. Mr. Hartsell, known to many as Uncle William, was unable to attend at the age of 103 years.

The oldest person present was Mrs. Mary Jane McGaw of Bad Axe, great aunt of Mrs. Martin Hartsell. Mrs. McGaw is 105 years old.

Those who came from a distance to help make the reunion a success were: Mr. and Mrs. Amanuel Rohrbach and family of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ashmore and family and Mrs. Alice Ellet of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones and Jimmie Hartsell of Highland Park, Mrs. Arthur Crouch and family, Mrs. Mary Jane McGaw and William Parker of Bad Axe, Mrs. Stella Martin and family of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parrish and children of Kinde, Mrs. Ila McClish of Owosso, Mrs. James Hartsell of Pontiac, Vern and Clarence Hartsell of Lapeer and Mrs. Alice Longenecker of Mt. Morris.

The reunion will be held at the same place next year. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartsell, parents of Martin Hartsell, are unable to leave their home to attend the reunion so the reunion will be taken to them. Henry Hartsell will soon celebrate his 82nd birthday.

In the War Stamp and Bond business for the duration. The Treasury Department asked retailers to take on this job because they are the logical ones to reach a great percentage of America's income earners. About fifty million Americans earn some kind of income, and about half of those are participating to some extent on the payroll deduction plan. The other half cannot be feasibly reached on the payroll deduction basis, and therefore must be contacted in some other manner. Those people come to our stores every day to buy food, clothing, furniture and merchandise and services of all kinds. Farmers, professional people, and many others are included in this classification. We retailers, by suggesting that they accept part of their change in War Savings Stamps, can turn over to Uncle Sam millions of dimes and quarters and half dollars for providing more ships, planes, tanks, guns, and bullets for our boys who are fighting at the front.

"People should always remember that War Savings Stamps and Bonds are an investment. We are not asking anyone to give anything. In fact, they will get back every dime, with interest, at a time when they will undoubtedly be more in need of that money than they are now. I feel that we should thank Uncle Sam for giving us the opportunity to put some of our excess money into this gilt-edged investment, and save it for a rainy day. That is the thought we want to get across to the people of Tuscola County. I am sure that we are going to meet with the wholehearted cooperation of the public, and that this community can be counted upon to be well over its quota when the last shot has been fired."

The following retail business houses have assured A. C. Atwell, chairman of stamp sales of retailers, that they will participate in this sales campaign: S. T. & H. Oil Co., Mac & Scotty Drug Store, Doerr's Restaurant, Cass City Oil and Gas Co., Kenney Creamery, L. I. Wood & Co., N. Bigelow & Sons, Sommers' Bakery, I. Parsch, Tate & Leeson, Joe Diaz, Frutchey Bean Co., Leo Leishman.

GEORGE BURT'S 78TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED ON THURSDAY EVENING

He grew to manhood there and after his marriage lived within a few miles of his old home. In 1910 they moved to Cass City to the home on West Street where his daughter, Mrs. C. U. Brown, now lives and where he lived until he built the home where he now resides.

Mr. Burt gave up active farming when he came to Cass City to make his home, although for some time he drove back and forth to help with the farm work. When he gave up the farm work, it did not mean he gave up work for he was kept very busy drilling wells, "buzzing" wood, filling silos, shredding corn, etc.

For the last four years Mr. Burt has been in quite poor health and although he does odd jobs about the place and works in his garden he does not pretend to do much of a day's work.

Like many others, he has a hobby which is cabinet making and his family have many choice pieces of furniture which he has made. He has two daughters and two sons, Mrs. M. J. Laidlaw of Brown City, Mrs. C. U. Brown and Clarence Burt of Cass City and Marshall Burt, who has just enlisted in the U. S. Navy and is in training at Cornell University, New York.

NECROLOGY

John W. Wilkerson.

After an illness of a year, John W. Wilkerson, 92, passed away at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday, June 30, in his home on Fourth Street. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Karr Funeral home at Kingston. The Rev. Herbert Clough, pastor of the Kingston Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Kingston Cemetery.

John W. Wilkerson was born in Welland County, Ontario, March 10, 1850, and was united in marriage with Sarah C. Lambert on October 11, 1872, at Niagara Falls, New York, and for some time they made their home in Ontario. Sixty-six years ago they came to Kingston where Mr. Wilkerson worked at whatever he could find to do until some years later when he homesteaded eighty acres, three miles east and two miles north of Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson made their home on this farm for over forty years, or as long as their health permitted them to do the work there. After leaving the farm they made their home in Saginaw for four years and five years ago came to live with their daughter, Mrs. Rose Van Horn, where they have resided since.

Besides his widow, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Van Horn of Cass City and Mrs. Lillie Rossman of Kingston, and one son, Robert G. Wilkerson of Flint.

Mrs. T. M. Perrin.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday for Mrs. Mae Perrin, 59, who died on Thursday, June 25, in East Side General Hospital, Detroit, after a short illness, while visiting at the home of her son, Archie Lorentzen. Services were held in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hope Quinlin, near Carsonville and at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, Latter Day Saints Church. Elder Willard Parkes of Sandusky officiated. Burial was in Elkland Cemetery here.

Mae Flynn was born June 20, 1883, in Argyle Township. On March 31, 1903, she was married to Henry Lorentzen. He passed away October 11, 1929. In June, 1940, she married T. M. Perrin and they made their home in Deckerlyville.

She is survived by her husband, a son, Archie Lorentzen, Detroit, and two daughters, Mrs. Quinlin of Carsonville and Mrs. Marvel Noble of Yale.

Mrs. Adelbert Ealy.

Mrs. Andrew A. Schmidt received word last week of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Adelbert Ealy, who died Thursday, June 11, in her home near Wolverine after a long illness. Funeral services were held in the Wolverine Methodist church with the pastor, Rev. H. A. Cole, officiating. Interment was in Silver Lake Cemetery.

Frances Boughner was born in Tilsonburg, Ontario, in 1876 and came to Michigan when she was six years old. She made her home with her sister here, the late Mrs. Philip Usher, for some years.

She was united in marriage with Adelbert Ealy of Kingston, May 9, 1896, and they went to make their home at Wolverine.

Mrs. Ealy is survived by her husband, four children and four sisters.

John Wilson Dobson.

John Wilson Dobson, 10, passed away in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Saturday afternoon, June 27, after an illness of several weeks. The last week was spent in Ann Arbor.

John Dobson was born June 9, 1932, and attended Holbrook School.

The body was brought to the Munro Funeral Home Saturday afternoon and was then taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Robt. Dobson, at Holbrook.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in Holbrook Church, the Rev. Wager officiating. Burial was in Elkland Cemetery.

Besides his mother he is survived by five sisters and brothers, Mrs. Leonard Balentine and Mrs. Peter Frederick, both of Cass City; Robert, Vera and Wendall at home. He also leaves his grandmother, Mrs. Mary McHugh and his grandfather, James Dobson, of Cass City.

Merle Charles Beardsley, Jr.

Merle Charles Beardsley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Charles Beardsley, Sr., of this place, born Monday, June 29, in Morris Hospital, died that same evening in the hospital.

Funeral services were held at ten o'clock Wednesday morning in the MacPhail-Keelm Funeral Home with the Rev. E. Ray Wilson, D. D., pastor of Caro Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in Elmwood cemetery.

He is survived by his parents; one sister, Rose; his grandparents, uncles, and aunts.

Husband-Wife Feud

Ben S. Dickerson Jr. coaches the high school girls' basketball team at Jersey, Ga., and Mrs. Dickerson coaches the girls of Palmer Stone at Oxford. The teams met three times last season. Mrs. Dickerson won the first game; Mr. Dickerson won the second game and Mrs. Dickerson clinched the series by winning the third game.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

INJECTION TREATMENTS

During the last war, the only way a recruit with hernia or rupture was accepted for any form of service was to be willing to undergo surgical operation.

What about the injection treatment for hernia, and why was it not used in suitable cases?

At that time surgeons would not use this method because the solutions that were injected were not always stable or reliable and the results were disappointing.

Today with proper solutions to inject and the injections done by surgeons, it has been found that about one in every three cases of hernia is suitable for the injection treatment which means little or no loss of time from work, no anesthesia, and no hospital fees.

Another advance during the past few years is in the treatment of severe pain by the use of injections into the nerves and roots of nerves supplying the painful part. Formerly the solutions injected were unsuitable or not effective. Thus in the pain of tic doloureux (trifacial neuralgia) while there are cases still requiring surgery, most cases can now be relieved by these injections.

Alcohol Injections Successful.
Drs. E. A. Rovenstine and H. M. Wertheim, New York, in the Journal of the American Medical Association report their success at the New York university college of medicine in the treatment of intractable or unbearable pain by injections of procaine and alcohol. Among the various neuralgias these physicians mention tic doloureux, intractable pain of tuberculosis, severe pain in shoulder, severe pain in back of neck, pain between ribs, severe pain in lower back and leg (sciatica).

Another distressing pain is that caused by cancer which has made it necessary for physicians to prescribe opium and other pain killing drugs. This means that the patient is in a stupor most of the time. Even in cancer, where the nerve supplying part can be readily reached "the results are gratifying to many patients. Thus the pain from cancer about the face, neck and lungs can usually be controlled, whereas pain due to cancer of the abdominal organs may require pain killing drugs or surgery to give relief.

Conditions other than pain, such as excessive perspiration, plebeitis (inflammation of veins) were also reported successfully treated by these nerve blocking injections.

For Eye Strain See Your Doctor

Some months ago I attended a symposium (a number of short speeches) on headache.

As eye strain has always been considered a very frequent cause of headache, I was surprised when the four speakers and the eye specialists in the assembly said little or nothing about headache due to eye-strain.

Fortunately eye strain as a cause of headache came up amid the questions and answers and the chairman and others admitted that while there seemed to be a headache due to eye strain about an inch above the eyes, and at the back of the head, nevertheless it was not a constant symptom and could be due to other conditions besides eye strain or other disturbances of the eye.

This means, then, that in looking for the cause of headache, disturbances of the eye or eye strain is not as common a cause as was thought. What, then, are the signs and symptoms of eye strain or eye defects?

Persistent pain in the eyes themselves, persistent flow of tears, dimness or blurring of vision, inflammation of the eyes and lids, itching or swelling of the lids, are the usual symptoms. "Persistent scowl" or a tendency to hold a book too close or too far from the eyes are common signs of eye disturbance."

In most cases where eye symptoms are present, there is a tendency to first visit an oculist or optometrist. In a great many cases the oculist or optometrist will refer the patient to the family physician as the symptoms are not due to any eye condition or eye strain but to a disturbance elsewhere in the body. It would be wise, therefore, when eye symptoms occur to visit your family physician, who in turn may advise you to see your dentist before consulting an eye specialist or optometrist.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What causes my fingers to appear shriveled and to perspire excessively?

A.—Condition may be due to foods eaten or substances handled.

Q.—A crust forms on my scalp about two days after I shampoo my hair. What causes this?

A.—Condition of scalp you outline may be due to a simple ailment—eczema or impetigo—or to serious ailments such as tuberculosis or even syphilis. See a skin specialist.

Keep fit for war work by healthful vacation in Michigan!

This theme of the four tourist and resort associations has been sanctioned in spirit by the Office of Defense Transportation for the nation's war-time requirements.

It may rescue Michigan's $300,000,000 recreational industry, highly concentrated in north Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, from the economic doghouse this summer.

Two months ago the uncertainties of war made the summer outlook dismal indeed. Then reservations for cottages began to arrive. And folks are staying for the summer, too. Now, the first week in July, things are on the "up and up" in north Michigan, from all reports. As is often the case, facts are better than fears.

Transportation is the key to the 1942 vacation season. Anticipated gasoline rationing, a means of conserving rubber tires for the war duration, has been postponed. The contradictory statements of federal and state officials have confused the situation. Resort owners are frankly worried, but the silver lining to date is this: It is not unpatriotic to fish and swim and otherwise keep physically fit.

From the White House down to governors' executive offices, leaders recommend the desirability of recreation for needed morale.

What are the favorable factors? Turn to page 6, please.

ner as the processional and the "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn as the recessional. Mrs. Manrice Joos sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love."

A reception in the Lenzner home followed the marriage rites. Light refreshments were served by Miss Marjory Schwegler and Miss Alice Bucherly, friends of the bride. Mrs. Harry Jacobs of Wayne, Michigan, cut the bride's cake.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beck are graduates of North Central College, Naperville, Illinois, where they received B. A. degrees. Mr. Beck received his B. D. degree from the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Naperville this spring and in May was appointed pastor of the First Evangelical Church of Utica, New York. His bride taught in the Roosevelt Junior High School in Wayne, Michigan, during the past year. They will make their home at 906 Sunset Avenue, Utica, New York.

Those from a distance in attendance at the wedding Tuesday besides the groom's family were Mrs. Grey Lenzner of Bad Axe and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jacobs and daughter, Jacqueline, of Wayne.

Concluded from page one.
Hutchinson outlined briefly the difficulties which might arise during the projected trial. Chief among these was darkening city and village street lights.

Inasmuch as many municipalities are not equipped with street light switches, it was arranged with the Detroit Edison Company that street lights would not be turned on until after the blackout period was completed. For all other lights air raid wardens will be held strictly responsible, he said.

Since traffic entering the blackout area would seriously handicap the wardens' duties, all vehicles bearing lights will be halted at the area's boundaries or re-routed through adjacent counties.

Citing instances of refusal of citizens to obey orders to extinguish their lights, Hutchinson read a portion of the State's laws governing such infractions. He pointed out that local authorities might prosecute offenders with fine or imprisonment with the State's full collaboration.

Excluded from blackout orders will be airplane beacons and radio tower lights. In an actual raid these would be regulated by the Federal Communications System. Waterway lights are the responsibility of the Navy.

Hutchinson pointed out that because of its strategic positions in actual defense matters, the Army would issue orders for attack blackouts to defense headquarters in Lansing which would in turn notify all areas in danger. However, insofar as actual air raid precaution goes, the Army's responsibility ends with the notification. The machinery and supervision of blackout practice is solely in the hands of local defense agencies, he stressed.

All efforts will be made in the intervening period before July 19 to publicize the emergency tryout so that complete cooperation may prove that citizens of this section are conscious of the serious nature of the action and willing to bear responsibility for its success. Counties embraced in the designated blackout

First, Michigan is convenient to the national center of population. Long trips to the West or New England are impractical this summer. Michigan is within a day's access of millions of people, many of whom are working long hours in war plants, earning high wages, and probably will continue to do so for many months to come.

Second, a short war lessens the need of a civilian furlough, but a lengthened strain upon our manpower will increase its importance. Recent over-optimism has been checked by military reverses in the past few weeks. Victory in 1942 no longer seems possible, even by a remote stretch of the imagination. The long haul is ahead.

Third, railroad and bus facilities are good to Michigan's vacationland. If vacations are started mid-week, instead at week-end periods, these facilities should be adequate to meet the additional travel demands.

Fourth, Michigan comprises not only one peninsula, but two peninsulas. Our coastline is greater than any other state, even including Florida. Consequently, water transportation is possible to such isolated points as Mackinac Island—an attraction that many vacation states do not possess.

Newspaper editors of north Michigan met for a "war clinic" recently at Gaylord.

And here is a typical report of summer prospects:

"Things are a lot better than we thought they would be. In fact, there are signs that we may have a better season than usual, as some families prefer to travel short distances from the cities rather than make long motor trips."

Upper Peninsula towns in mining and lumbering areas are humming with industrial activity, but the resort owners are still apprehensive. Many resorts in the U. P. lack good transportation facilities except by automobile. Distances are great.

A bright spot appears to be Sault Ste. Marie where thousands of United States soldiers are stationed at Fort Brady and surrounding cantonments and a ship look and airport are under construction.

"A colorful drama of war defense is presented 24 hours a day at this great transportation artery which in peace-time is visited by tourists and sightseers from all over the world," writes John R. Merrifield, secretary of the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce.

"Just now barrage balloons float over the locks and the city all day long, and many a powerful searchlight stabs the sky at night."

"Soldiers of the United States Coast Artillery man the anti-aircraft batteries that are installed everywhere. The guns are of many sizes and their crews are trained to a high pitch of efficiency."

"St. Mary's majestic river whose scenic charm has been celebrated for centuries is now patrolled for miles north and south of the city. A strategic shore road is being constructed from end to end of the mighty stream."

"Building of the new lock will keep 600 men busy for two years or more. Widening of the west ship canal has been started by the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock Company."

Frank Davis of the Eastern Michigan Tourist Association reports philosophically, "people are going to take a vacation somehow. The biggest headache is local transportation to and from resort areas."

"Many of our tourists will be without cars and will demand jitney service, or some other means of transportation, into towns. Guests are not going to seek amusement by riding around the country-side in an automobile, but will stay at resorts. Shuffleboard, camera hikes, horseback pack trips, ping pong, tennis, bicycle riding, softball games—those are some of the possibilities for stay-at-camp vacationers."

Davis gives this advice, too, to resort owners: "Don't talk war, or be a 'worry wart' about national affairs. Your patrons are at your resort to escape from the strain of war work, and are seeking relaxation to build their morale."

That is the spirit of the 1942 vacation industry in Michigan.

The Northland country, scenic in lakes and streams and forests, offers an ideal haven for war workers who want to keep fit.

Nearby to Michigan industrial centers are shore beaches and parks and small lakes—something which Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Illinois, for example, cannot provide for their metropolitan populations.

Michigan is more than an arsenal of assembly-line production. It is an arsenal of outdoor recreation, important to war-time morale.

SAVE YOUR TIRES
—YOUR CAR
—YOUR LIFE

DRIVE SLOWLY FOURTH OF JULY

ADD NEW DRIVING PLEASURE TO YOUR FOURTH OF JULY OUTING.

By Fred W. Braun, The Safety Man.

You drivers who are in the habit of driving 60 to 70 miles an hour, listen to this: You are asked to reduce your driving speed to 40 miles an hour in order to conserve tires, gasoline and your car. In order to do this you will have to sacrifice a little time—and little is the word—so little that you'll hardly notice it. Here are the figures. If you make a 30-mile trip, it takes only 10 minutes longer at 40. If your trip is 60 miles—just 20 minutes longer—100 miles just 28 minutes longer. Time yourself on your Fourth of July trip and see. Then, too, you will arrive at your destination calm and rested—not a nervous wreck.

Forty miles an hour means safety, too. There's not much driving danger at that speed. You have time to think and to act in an emergency and only the very careless driver can get into trouble. And it's surprising how much of the country you will see and enjoy—no matter how familiar you are with the road.

Your government expects you to drive slowly. You may be a valuable worker on some war project and your injury would mean a decided loss to your country. And your family, they will appreciate the safety which reduced speed means for them. Stick to 40 or under and hear them say it was the most enjoyable trip they ever had.

The usual automobile accident toll of Fourth of July must not be repeated this year and it need never be repeated once drivers realize how enjoyably safe a little slower speed can be.

At a meeting of the Cass City Chautauqua held Friday evening, I. A. Fritz was chosen president; C. R. Townsend, secretary; A. A. Ricker, treasurer.

The first meeting of the Red Cross Sewing Society was held in the Council Rooms on June 26. The spirit of the good work to be done was certainly manifested by the large number of women in attendance—about 100.

Seventeen hundred dollars was subscribed for the Red Cross in less than an hour by citizens of the Cass City community at a public meeting at the opera house Thursday evening. The following day a few solicitors were busy and the local subscriptions have been increased to over $2,800.00.

Mrs. Reuben A. Mosher, one of the first settlers of Novesta Township, passed away at Caro on June 21 at the age of 74 years. Friday, Aug. 24, has been selected as the date for the unveiling of the monument honoring Horatio S. ("Goods Roads") Earle, a mile east of Cass City.

L. H. Wood was in Ann Arbor Thursday to attend the graduation exercises at the state university. His son, Maurice, was graduated from the dental department.

R. J. Knight sold six fleeces of wool to the Farm Produce Co. last week for which he received $51.36.

Song Tells Sex

The only certain way to decide the sex of rollers while young is by their song. The cock bird is the only one that sings. When mature and in perfect condition, you can tell the difference between the sexes. Unsexed rollers is a term used by dealers, as every young roller cock, even if he were only hatched out in July or August, will possess some form of song by fall.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Fresh Nazi Offensive Forces Red Army To Yield Key Post Back of Kharkov; Rommel Drive Perils All Middle East; U. S. Names Leader for European Zone

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

The strategic importance of the Aleutian Islands, off Southwest Alaska, is indicated by the above map. From Kiska, near the western end of the chain, to Tokyo the distance is less than 2,000 miles. Dutch Harbor lies 2,400 miles northwest of San Francisco. Jap landings in the fog-blanketed Aleutians have focused America's attention on that area.

RUSSIAN WAR: Nazis Pay Dearly

Marshal Timoshenko's Red army had sustained blow after blow on the Kharkov front as General von Bock's Nazi hordes tried a breakthrough to swing around Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields. Suborned resisting German forces numerically and mechanically superior to them, the Russians had been compelled to fall back to new lines. Here they had withstood heavy attacks of tanks, infantry and planes.

A Russian communique acknowledged the loss of the railway junction city of Kopyansk, 60 miles south-east of Kharkov.

The Reds were following a strategy that had served them well in last year's bloody campaigns—of fighting fiercely until forced to fall back, then withdrawing slowly to strongly prepared positions. Meanwhile they were taking an enormous toll in Nazi dead and slowing down Hitler's timetable.

Meanwhile, Britain brought additional grief to the Nazis with a world record raid on the German port city of Bremen. More than 1,000 planes raided Bremen, leaving it in flames. A British communique reported the loss of 52 planes.

TAX BILL: Biggest on Record

The average income taxpayer faced the prospect of paying about twice as much as he is now paying when the new federal revenue bill becomes operative.

As approved by the house ways and means committee, the new bill would provide a gross revenue estimated at $5,924,000,000—the largest tax ever collected in United States history. At that, it was a billion and a half short of the treasury department's original request for new levies to help finance war outlays.

Surprising to many fiscal experts was the house committee's action in striking out a provision making it mandatory for husbands and wives to file joint income tax returns.

The average wage-earner would be affected three ways under the new tax measure. The bill provides a normal income rate increase of from 4 to 6 per cent; exemptions for single men would be reduced from $750 to $500 and for married men from $1,500 to $1,200; surtaxes would be increased from 6 to 12 per cent on the first $1,000 of net taxable income.

U. S. INCOME: To Hit 117 Billion

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board told the nation that a new all-time record of 117 billion dollars for the annual national income would be reached during the war years.

Mr. Eccles warned Americans that this tremendous spending power will be far in excess of the consumer goods available to the buying public. Strict curtailment of all but necessary purchases, greater personal savings and steady buying of government war bonds, he said, will stop inflation.

The 1942 national income will be about 110 billion dollars, he said in a radio address. This will be about 30 billion more than it was in 1939.

EUROPEAN FRONT: U. S. Takes Steps

A further step in the program to make the fighting efforts of the United States and Britain more effective and to pave the way for the second front was taken when the war department announced the establishment of a "European theater of operations for United States forces."

Director of this European theater was Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, recently assistant chief of staff of the war department general staff, who had already arrived in London when the announcement of his appointment was made.

Laconic was the statement issued by the new commanding general in which he said that "formal establishment of a European theater is a logical step in co-ordinating the efforts of Great Britain and the United States."

EGYPT: Tank Steeplechase

Sidi Barrani had fallen and Salum had been abandoned as the British strove by fierce rearguard actions to slow down the rush of Marshal Rommel's victory-rushed tank armies in engagements on which the fate of Egypt and Suez depended.

The serious plight of the British had been apparent following the surprise surrender of Tobruk in nearby Libya. Foxy General Rommel lost no time in following up his advantage by slicing into Egypt.

General Ritchie's battered forces had not made a stand at the Egyptian border because of the danger of encirclement, but had withdrawn to Mersa Matruh, 157 miles east of the Libyan frontier.

The British had been in possession of Sidi Barrani since December 11, 1940, when they drove out Italian troops which had occupied the town less than three months before and then launched a drive which swept 400 miles across the Libyan desert.

FAMILY MEN: Deferred by Draft

The departure of many a married draft inductee for training camp was halted when President Roosevelt signed legislation authorizing deferment of family men until the supply of single men is exhausted. This marked the first time in American military history that the policy of so preserving established families had been fixed by law.

Draft headquarters announced that married men with children would be the last to be called into service, but emphasized that they could count on no permanent deferment. The deferment clause applied only to men married before December 3, 1941.

Financial assistance to dependents of service men was provided in the measure, with the government furnishing the bulk of the monthly allowance check and the service men the balance. The allotments would go to army men up to and including the grade of line sergeants and navy men including third class petty officers.

Allowances include $50 a month for a childless wife of a service man, $62 for a wife with one child and $72 for a wife with two children.

SUBMARINE WAR: Caribbean Casualties

While President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill labored over the problem of finding ships with which to open and support a supreme front against the Axis, disquieting news of the increasing menace of enemy submarines in American waters was made public.

Soon after the navy had announced that a convoy system was protecting shipping along the Atlantic coast, came a communique disclosing that Axis subs had sunk 13 ships in the Caribbean in a 12-day period. The shift in Axis U-boat tactics from our immediate shores to the Caribbean sea lanes presented new problems to an already over-worked navy.

That these problems would receive prompt attention was intimated when it was announced that the navy had purchased two big airports in Miami, Fla. Establishment of air bases here would provide the navy with effective operating points from which to strike at submarines in southern waters.

CONSUMER SERVICE: OPA Takes Hand

Prices for shoe-shines and half-soles, for funerals, pants-pressing and permanent waving reverted to the level existing on March 1, when the Office of Price Administration established fixed ceilings for consumer services.

The new order affecting a million establishments doing a five billion dollar a year business, stabilized costs of important personal service items for every American citizen. It was a further step in the OPA's campaign to prevent inflation and runaway prices.

For example, the laundry that charged 12 cents for a shirt in March and raised the rate to 15 cents in April or June, had to cut its figure back to 12 cents on July 1.

Among the most common family budget items covered by the regulations were shoe repairing and shining; pressing, altering and repair of clothing; hat cleaning; laundry; electrical repairing; food locker service and rental; cleaning and dyeing; film developing and printing; watch and clock repairing; and undertaker's services.

ARGENTINA: 'Neutrality's' End?

While Argentina's policy of "prudent neutrality" had foundered with the sinking by a Nazi submarine of the freighter Rio Tercero, President Roberto M. Ortiz, supporter of President Roosevelt's policies, formally submitted his resignation. Inactive for nearly two years because of near-blindness, Ortiz placed full responsibility for his country's administration upon Acting President Ramon S. Castillo, father of the "prudent neutrality" policy in dealing with the Axis.

The sinking of the Rio Tercero fanned a flame of popular resentment against Germany, for this was the third Argentine ship attacked and the second sunk in recent months. This resentment failed to calm down even when the government announced it had dispatched an "energetic" note of protest to Berlin. Sterner measures were demanded not only by the public but by the chamber of deputies.

AUSTRALIA: 100 New Airdromes

Steady progress in the task of strengthening Australia's defenses against Japanese invasion and providing offensive springboards for an eventual United Nations assault on Nippon was reported by Brig. Gen. Hugh Casey of the U. S. engineers corps.

At least 100 airdromes have been completed in the last few months, he said. In addition, war construction work embracing 1,500 major and minor projects is "well in hand" despite a scarcity of labor, plants and machinery.

General Casey reported that one airdrome costing $9,000,000 had been completed in 71 days.

ARMY BUDGET: 43 Billion for War

With grave news from the fighting fronts in Russia and the Middle East disturbing the nation, the house of representatives approved a bill appropriating nearly 43 billion dollars for the army for the next fiscal year.

This new army bill exceeds by more than a billion dollars the entire cost of World War I. It brings to more than 129 billion dollars the total provided for the army and navy since Pearl Harbor.

Family Relates War Activities

An illustration of how a typical Michigan farm family operates in wartime was revealed recently in Oakland County in a meeting reported by Karl D. Bailey, county agricultural agent. Mrs. Donald Hickmott of Oxford presented a report of 12 activities she and her husband are conducting. Here are the 12:

1. Donald helped by spending a day in getting pledges for war bonds and stamps from our neighbors. From 18 farm families he got pledges amounting to $2,000.

2. We made our own war bond pledge which we sincerely hope to be able to carry out. Part of a small savings I had had in the bank since before I was married was converted into a bond. I wonder just how many other farm women have little nest eggs tucked away for a rainy day? That rainy day is here. Let's buy bonds.

3. We have donated to the U. S. O., the Red Cross and several relief organizations.

4. I have a brother in the armed forces whom I have found deeply appreciates frequent letters and packages.

5. I try to camouflage that lack of fancy dessert by serving two cooked vegetables instead of one.

6. We have an extra large victory garden. This will save buying vegetables in tin cans.

7. Donald and I have tried to make our garden serve as a large part of our recreation. Spending an hour or so in the garden discussing the day's happenings and problems can really be fun. It saves tires, gasoline and money which a great many other forms of recreation require.

8. We try to make only one trip to town a week. Anyone can do this by planning carefully to do all business at one time.

9. In planning our crops we have tried to raise more of the crops that are vitally needed for defense and are not planning on as much wheat—only what we will use on the farm. We are raising more pigs and chickens and trying to boost our milk production by keeping only our best cows and feeding them well.

10. Donald has tried to save time, labor and machine shortage by trading work with the neighbors and lending and borrowing machinery. He is preserving the life of that machinery by using the oil can and grease gun more often and keeping tools not being used under cover. I also am trying to conserve things about the house, such as by not overloading the washer, defrosting the refrigerator at the proper intervals and emptying the vacuum cleaner each time I use it.

12. Donald and I have gathered up our scrap iron and rubber, picking up old bolts, washers and small pieces of broken machinery. We also have made up our minds to accept in good faith and cheerfully whatever our government feels we should do or do without.

Edgar Jackson and Mrs. Floyd Shubel and children visited Sunday at the Clinton Mitchell home.

Graydon Stuart returned to his home from a Bad Axe hospital where he has been receiving treatment.

Dolores Spencer has accepted a position as a government stenographer. She reported for work on Monday in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jackson entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Stepka and daughter, Anna May.

We are glad to welcome Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wager back for another year.

Mrs. Pete Rienstra and son, Melbourne, of Cass City spent Tuesday at the Loren Trathen home.

The community was saddened Sunday by the death of little Jackie Dobson in an Ann Arbor hospital. Jackie was the son of Mrs. Elta Dobson of Holbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trathen and Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Cass City were entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rienstra on Sunday. The occasion was the 14th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Trathen. A beautiful wedding cake was the centerpiece for the table.

'Rain Rattles'

"Rain rattles," although simple in shape, are designed so that an infant, in grasping them, develops the muscles of its forearms as well as those of its palms and fingers. Moreover the rain-like noise made by the rattles is supposed to help the youngster develop its in-born sense of rhythm.

I will appreciate your continued support and vote.

OSCAR F. BUSCHLEN.

In view of the fine support given me in the past and the encouragement from a great many of my friends throughout Sanilac County, I will be a candidate for County Clerk on the Republican ticket.

Due to the present war conditions, such as the conservation of gasoline and tires, my campaign will be limited, however, I will enjoy meeting old friends and making new ones whenever possible.

In the last campaign two years ago, as you will remember, I was a runner-up in a field of three candidates. Because of ill health, it has been said that Mr. Joseph Dawe will not be a candidate this year.

How Red Army Pools Its Ideas

Embassy in U. S. Gives Out Cable Describing a War Conference at Front.

WASHINGTON.—Writers with a knowledge of the English language have been assigned by the Russian army to cable to America first-hand stories of events at the front in the Russo-German war, it was disclosed when the press division of the Soviet embassy made public one such account. It was entitled "Conference at the Front." It follows:

Never before have there been conferences like these. Picture yourself in a birch grove or clump of pine trees weighted down with snow, with the sky lit up by the shining disc of the moon, and in that auditorium of nature's making many men, some leaning against tree trunks, others sitting on tree stumps, ammunition crates or ammunition carriages. They are armored against the bitter frost by sheepskin jackets, fur caps with earflaps and felt boots. The speakers often have to talk at the top of their voices to make themselves heard through the roar of artillery.

This is a Red army conference, one of many now going on in regiments immediately behind the front lines. The speakers are unit commanders, the rank and file and the regimental commanders themselves. They are weighing recent experiences gained on the battlefield and summing up what has been learned.

Tell Their Stories. Months of fierce battles have taught the Russian soldier much. He has gone through the grim university of war and is now taking an extension course, so to speak. At these meetings representatives of all arms—infantry men, artillery men, fliers, tank fighters, cavalry men, signallers, sappers—tell their stories. Many delegates have colorful tales to tell. Take Junior Sergeant Gal-yuskin, a sniper, for instance:

"During my first three days in this sector," he relates, "I bagged three Hitlerites. Then came a blizzard that nearly carried me under snowdrifts. But I stuck it out patiently, knowing that after the storm the Germans would begin clearing their trenches and leveling off their parapets. I got four more Germans after that."

Often the rank and file display a deep understanding of the tactical tasks of their company or battalion. One Vyazmin, who serves a trench mortar crew, says: "The fire of our trench mortar units is accurate, but in order to inflict heavier losses on the enemy observation unit it must be improved."

Take "Em Alive. Sergeant Smirnov, an experienced scout, tells of a unique method he employed to capture an enemy soldier alive. Tying a bunch of fir branches to the end of a long cord, the sergeant took cover at the roadside, holding the other end of the rope. As a German motorcyclist approached, the sergeant began pulling the bunch of branches across the highway. This threw the Fascist into confusion and he jammed on his brakes. The sergeant soon was taking his captive cyclist and vehicle to his commander.

Tank destroyers have acquired a splendid store of experience. "At dawn we heard the roar of tank motors," says one of them. "Several Fascist tanks were approaching our trenches. Our gunfire sent some of the enemy tanks scurrying away, but two of them came right at my trench, one behind the other."

"The frozen earth was hard enough to prevent the trench from caving in. I decided to get at them from the rear. In an instant the treads of one were clattering right overhead. When the tank had gone a couple of meters beyond me, I got up and threw a bottle of combustible fuel. Bright flames enveloped the tank, and when it stopped something exploded inside the machine. The second Fascist tank swerved to one side and turned tail."

Australian Fuel Scarcity

Spurs Harvest of Wood MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA.—A leading fuel merchant said that Melbourne and its suburbs faced the winter with only 2,000 of the 378,000 tons of fuel necessary for household needs. A mass meeting of fuel merchants in the state of Victoria was held to discuss the situation.

The merchants are determined to do everything possible to get wood from the forest to the stations before winter rains make mountain roads impassable. The shortage has forced some concerns established more than 50 years to go out of business. The scarcity has been caused by the diversion of transport to military purposes.

Plenty of Chores to Do

For Rancher-Candidate SANTA ROSA, N. M.—It's not that Tom McGrath, Republican candidate for corporation commissioner in 1940, isn't sociable. He's just got chores to do.

In town for his first visit in months, he explained that shortage of sheep herders forced him to tend his own flocks. In his spare time he's been irrigating 100 acres of farmland himself.

His visit was brief.

Mid-Calf Length Is Newest for Evening

Ballerina Skirt Remains Top Favorite.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A new and fascinating chapter is being written into the story of evening fashions. It has to do with enchanting ballerina-type dresses, and they are perfect little charmers. One of the many arguments in their favor is that they are so out-and-out flattering.

To slip out of your uniform or your utilitarian slacks outfit, after a day strenuously spent in defense service, into these delectable, care-free looking new short dance frocks is like taking a beauty treatment or a rest cure for tired nerves.

For the most part these dainty frocks, with their mid-calf length skirts so flaringly full at the hemline, play up the beauty of filmy black touched off with exquisitely fine black lace.

One of the most winsome models in the new ballerina class is done in street-length black sheer with inches added by a wide transparent border of black lace which brings the hemline down to mid-calf depth. Attached at the neckline is a draped lace scarf which can be brought up over the head in the new and very smart mantilla manner or dropped about the shoulders in collar-like fashion.

For dancing you'll adore the short little apron-front dresses fashioned of black sheer with a detachable pleated apron that is bordered all around so that the lace shows off intriguingly at every step.

If you prefer navy to black, a veritable little charmer is the short dress of sheerest blue lace, the skirt of which is finely knife-pleated all around. The bodice is the long-torso type.

While, of course, your mainstay will inevitably be a wardrobe replete with utilitarian, functional slacks outfits, suits and uniforms, yet, what with the patriotic benefit parties and entertainments going on, you will have actual need for at least one pretty dress-up frock, and the new shorter length type is fashion's favorite this season.

With Tie Belt

These are active days when busy women want a coat that's practical and good looking—a coat that will go over slacks, or uniforms, or dresses. In the above picture, a "modern deb" styles just such a coat, and it's destined to be your constant standby. Made of cavalry twill or gabardine, it boasts deep, comfortable armholes. Those cute "churchill" pockets are smart as can be, and so are the deep side pockets. The belt, inserted in the back for good fit, ties in front so you can put it on in a jiffy.

Fads and Fancies

Some of the newest handbags are made of wood, which may serve as a good durable substitute for leather. These new bags are eye-appealing and distinctive because of their unusualness. Very cleverly fashioned of inch-wide stripes of papyrus-thin wood in two tones, they are lined with heavy unbleached cottons and have ingenious fastenings.

Whoever would dream that the little utilitarian white clothline would step forth into the fashion picture? But it has actually done just that! A very charming outfit for the woman who is planning to garden for defense was shown at a recent style show. Pockets, sleeves, neckline and hemline of the gay print dress were trimmed in rows of white cotton clothline. Best of all, this novel fashion shows the quality of inventiveness which American designers are bringing to the restrictions of wartime economy.

DEFORD

Enlists—

Donald Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hicks, has enlisted in the Naval Reserve for flight training and will be called for training in the near future.

Myers Reunion—

The reunion was entertained at the Kenneth Kelley home on Sunday. About 50 were in attendance to enjoy together a fine dinner, social intercourse, and a ball game, the latter played at the school ground. Those who attended from a distance were Mrs. Edith Myers and Miss Lucile Yakes, Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. William Retzloff and daughter, Flint; Howard Myers, Fort Wayne, Indiana; Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Wilder, Byron, Kelley, Miss Gail Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. Clara Kelley and family, all of Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Kelley and family, Bad Axe; Hugh Kelley, Detroit; Mrs. George Hall, Mayville; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. James Daley and family, Veradale, Mrs. Mary Daley, William Daley, all of East Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelley, Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelley, Edgar, Kelley, Miss Virginia Kelley, Miss Aldine Kelley, Miss Mary Molnar and Miss Alice Little, all of Deford.

Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Carless and daughter, Grace, of Lennon came on Wednesday to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Malcolm.

Mrs. Edna Sadler entertained on Saturday night and Sunday her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur VanBlaricom, of Pontiac, and her brother, Foster VanBlaricom, of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rayl and family attended services on Sunday morning at the Bethel Church near Akron and spent the afternoon at the Tom White home, east of Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. William Collier of Owosso spent Sunday and Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hegler were in attendance at a party given for their daughter and family of Cass City, Mr. and Mrs. Don MacLachlan, who have gone to Bay City where Mr. MacLachlan is employed in defense work.

Honoring the 13th birthday anniversary of Robert Sherman of Pinconning, his grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Sherman, entertained in her home here, Mrs. Walter Thompson and daughter, Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln VanAllen and family of Cass City and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fields of Caro.

Deford has a pretty fast playing softball team this year again. In a game with Decker boys at the Deford school diamond Deford won and at a game with Cass City boys, played at Cass City Friday evening, they also won.

The Epworth League young people held their devotional and social hour on Monday evening on the lawn at the Archie Hicks home.

Mrs. L. M. Retherford was very pleasantly surprised on Sunday morning when she answered a telephone call to hear her daughter, Evelyn, say "Hello mother." Evelyn called from Freeport, Texas, where she is employed in the office of the Dow Chemical Company, who have a government contract there.

Mr. and Mrs. William Zemke have for this week guests from Bristol, Wisconsin, Nancy Maleski, Janice Wacks and Alfred Hartwig. Miss Onnelle Sherwood, with Mr. and Mrs. Gail Parrott of Pontiac, spent Friday to Sunday on an auto trip to Pointe au Gres.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Tirrell, whose pastorate has been at New Haven, have been assigned to the Kingston-Deford work. Mr. Tirrell occupied the pulpit on Sunday morning. Rev. H. C. Elford was assigned to Chesaning.

Sarah Bernhardt
Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, was born a Jewess, but was converted to the Catholic faith.

Road to Swimming Pool Is Becoming a Popular Trail

The road to the village park is again becoming a popular trail, especially among the younger folk of the community, as the municipal swimming pool begins its fifth consecutive season. The pool was opened to swimmers Saturday, June 20, but a week of cool weather kept the number of early visitors rather low. The return of more seasonable weather has increased the attendance to more normal figures. Thus the first two days of this week found more than 125 free swimmers and over 50 paid admissions on each day.

Changes have been made both in the hours of operation and the prices charged at the pool. It is no longer open during the morning, but the two to six and seven to ten periods remain as before. The Sunday opening has been discontinued. School children are still admitted free between two and four o'clock, while at other times they pay eight cents if below twelve years of age and fifteen cents if twelve or above. Adults pay the fifteen cents fee at all times. This is a reduction in admission both for the younger children and for adults. Season tickets are lower in price too, selling for three dollars plus federal tax. It is hoped that this season will see an even greater use of the pool, especially by the adult persons in the community, than ever before.

Arthur Holmberg is again serving as manager of the pool, with Daniel Kroll as his assistant.

It's the War—No Farmers' Day

There's to be no customary Farmers' Day the last Friday in July this year on the Michigan State College campus. It's the war, the college announces, which forces the agricultural division to call off the usual open house invitation to farmers.

Instead there are plans to demonstrate new scientific practices to campus visitors who may come to the proposed 4-H Club fair to be staged the fore part of September in the place of the State Fair events usually held at Detroit.

Visitors who do come in the meantime to the campus will be welcome, says E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture. They will find the college staff involved as usual in the promotion of efficient agricultural production in Michigan.
