

Community Club to Feature Captain S. N. Dancey

Ladies Are Invited to Hear Nationally Famous Speaker.

An unusually worthwhile event is promised this vicinity the night of Tuesday, Oct. 13, when Captain S. N. Dancey, president of the Citizenship Foundation, will address the members and guests of the Community Club at their regular monthly meeting.

A veteran of the first World War in which he saw more than five years of service, both before and after the armistice, Captain Dancey has carried on for many years a program of Americanization which has taken him into all parts of the country and in which he has addressed more than 25,000 groups of all descriptions.

The Citizenship Foundation group, which Captain Dancey heads, is a nation-wide clearing house for service, civic and patriotic groups. It is non-partisan, non-profit and non-sectarian. Its sole purpose is the stimulation of good citizenship.

Most recently, Captain Dancey has been unusually successful in holding "Win-the-War-Clinics" in which after his address an open forum type of meeting, similar in nature to the old "town hall" is held. In his appearance here, Captain Dancey will present a lecture of patriotic and stimulating nature, and an opportunity will doubtlessly be given for discussion.

This speaker comes to Cass City very highly recommended both by groups in larger cities who have sponsored his appearance, as well as by smaller and nearer towns.

It's the pines of Carolina,

It's a rustic bridge at Concord,
It's a soldier laid away,
It's a country's shining glory,
It's red, white and heaven's blue,
It's an emblem and a beacon,

It's the banner of the true,
It's the prairie and the forest,
It's the hunter's lonely camp,
It's a homestead on a hilltop,
It's a housewife's evening lamp,
It's the joy of good companions,
It's a pleasant evening's end,
It's the happiness of children,
It's the handclasp of a friend,
It's the magic of the mountains,
It's the rivers and the sea,
It's tolerance and courage,

"And because of shortage of help in all lines, we believe it to the best interests of all concerned that we remain closed Thursday afternoons until conditions change."

"After nearly three months, I received the gift which you so kindly remembered me with. I do not quite know how to express my feelings. It is a mingled happiness and sorrow. Happiness that I am among the fighting forces of Uncle Sam's Army and sorrow that I could not have been to the memorial services.

"There is much I should like to say but as everything is censored we all have to be careful what we say or write. Everything is quiet here and I enjoy the country very much.

"The town here is a sight for sore eyes. I never saw so much filth in all my life. Everywhere you turn in a building or out, some one is hacking and spitting. There are several restaurants that are 'on limits' to soldiers and they serve excellent American food. A full course dinner costs somewhere in the neighborhood of $2.50 American money. I am enclosing a bill for two dishes of ice cream and one cup of coffee and it is in Chinese currency. The exchange rate on American money is 20 to 1 at

Minute Make-Ups
By GABRIELLE

The short, curled-up hair-do requires a new make-up. The contour of your head changes with your haircut. The shorter hair makes you look younger so your make-up must look younger, too! Apply your rouge a bit higher, near the eyes. Dot it on, then blend carefully. Your mouth should have a more brilliant accent and lashes must be groomed and darkened. The shorter the hair, the longer the lashes—for that wide-eyed, young look!

Ruined Land!

Fifty million acres of land in the United States which were once cultivated farms, have already been essentially ruined. This is an area larger than the whole state of Illinois. This land is no longer farmed at all, except for a little patch farming persisting here and there.
And another 50,000,000 acres is in a condition almost as serious.

The first commercial telephone, which was a cumbersome, box-like affair in which the mouthpiece was used alternately for speaking and listening, was introduced in 1877.

the size of a brain is no criterion

SEE THE CORN YOU BUY

With hybrid corn, the important thing is NOT where the seed was grown, but how it performs where you plant it. The best way to compare varieties and decide which ones suit you the best is to see them growing side by side in a soil and climate similar to yours. That's why DeKalb has more than 3300 proving grounds or demonstration fields, scattered throughout the corn-growing areas.

Another reason why you should visit your DeKalb proving ground is to keep acquainted with the newest varieties that DeKalb is continually perfecting. Be sure to visit the DeKalb proving ground in your neighborhood. Your DeKalb dealer will be glad to show you the varieties that you are interested in and what they will do for you on YOUR FARM.

Reich Has 90,000 British Captives

Of These 6,000 Are Said to Be Civilians Ranging From Children Up.

LONDON.—The first authentic account of life among British captives in Germany, showing that letters home paint a rosy picture of conditions than they really are, is contained in a pamphlet, "Prisoners of War," published on behalf of the war organization of the British Red Cross society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

These prisoners number about 90,000, of whom some 6,000 are civilian internees, ranging from a little girl of five to elderly men.

The chief worry is food, and here the Red Cross is doing a magnificent job. The ordinary diet is covered by the International Convention, giving prisoners the same scale of rations as the depot troops of the detaining country. It is a low standard for British and Dominion troops, though it will keep a man from starving.

Some Bright Spots.

The Red Cross, with its affiliated groups, tries to supply each prisoner with a parcel worth 10s. of good things—every week, plus tobacco, and these—after considerable trouble in the early days—now get through regularly, and are the bright spots in the men's lives.

But once the men have ceased to be hungry, the mental stagnation has to be coped with. It is the waste of years of their lives that gets them down. They have to rely on their own ingenuity to keep their minds active, and the Red Cross tries to provide the means to keep them from becoming despondent.

Reading, the universal resource, shows interesting trends. Substantial books—biography and the classics—are in great favor, many men finding this their first opportunity for serious reading. Detective novels are not as popular as Wild West or adventure stories. Chess and other indoor games are sent, including table tennis.

Among the British sport is always a necessity. The Red Cross sports committee sends equipment to every camp. Men in working parties (many prefer laboring to camp life, as it passes the time) do not have the time or energy for hard exercise.

Football and Cricket.

But conditions vary from camp to camp and if any sort of playing field can be arranged there are usually men eager to kick a football or play cricket (leather cricket balls are banned as are baseball bats, which might be used as clubs). International matches have been played, also games against German teams. In some camps bathing is possible.

Prisoners are entitled to, and receive, medical attention. Some German doctors have had remarkable successes in plastic surgery. As in everything else, treatment varies, and British doctors, who are nearly always among the prisoners, send to the Red Cross lists of special diets, drugs, false teeth and spectacles required. A section for the blind gets special care, with co-operation from St. Dunstan's. Braille watches, card games and textbooks go out, so that those blinded in war can fit themselves to take their place in the post-war world.

Nearly every camp gets up its theatrical shows. Among the prisoners are danceband leaders, actors and singers, many famous, and the concerts (instruments from the Red Cross) are a source of pride as well as of solace.

SGT. JOHN BAYLEY SAYS RAZOR BLADES SELL AT $9.00 EACH IN CHINA

Concluded from page one. The bank and 36 to 1 at the 'Black Market.'

"Everything is sky high here. For instance razor blades are $9 each and a pack of five is all that a person can buy at a time. I haven't had to buy any yet as I had over 100 blades when I left May 5. It is cheaper to get shaved at the barber shop than it is to shave myself. I can get a shave, hair cut and shampoo for $9.50, or about 50 cents our money.

"Our living conditions are very good. We sleep in barracks and there are four men to a room. Each barracks has its own wash room and toilet, but there is one shower room for this area of five buildings. We are sleeping on beds with rawhide springs and we have mattresses also. When we first came here the mosquitoes were very bad, but now it has cooled off they are few and far between. The food has improved considerably and can improve some yet, but otherwise we all eat and like it. There is a lot of the foodstuffs that is shipped in and there is very little candy or gum or anything like that ever gets here. When it does it is sold to possibly the first 25 men to get to the post exchange."

Your Books

To divert at any time a trouble-some fancy, run to thy books; they presently exude thee to them and drive the other out of thy thoughts. They always receive thee with the same kindness.—(Fuller).

"America's 'Secret Weapon' Is Free Press"—Governor

"America's 'secret weapon' in its all-out fight against dictatorship is its free press," declares Governor Murray D. VanWagoner in a proclamation issued Wednesday, Sept. 23, asking Michigan to observe "National Newspaper Week," Oct. 1 to 8.

"Without freedom of the press, institutions of democracy would perish. Thomas Jefferson said, 'Our liberty depends upon the freedom of the press, and that cannot be limited without being lost.' Such is the guardianship of the newspapers of the United States.

"Newspapers of Michigan constitute a vigilant army on our war-time front. In bringing to the people the facts of the war and its many current problems, they are contributing to an enlightened and determined public opinion.

"In recognition of the freedom of the press and the service of the newspapers of Michigan in helping to win the war, I, Murray D. VanWagoner, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim the period of Oct. 1 to 8 as 'National Newspaper Week' in this State."

Now Is the Time to Mail Christmas Parcels Abroad

Christmas parcels to armed forces abroad should be mailed during the period beginning Oct. 1 and ending Nov. 1, the earlier the better, according to instructions received by Postmaster Arthur Little. Patrons are encouraged to endorse each gift parcel "Christmas Parcel." Special effort will be made to effect delivery of all Christmas parcels mailed during that period in time for Christmas.

These Christmas parcels shall not exceed the present limits of 11 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length, or 42 inches in length and girth combined. The public is urged to cooperate by voluntarily restricting the size of Christmas parcels to that of an ordinary shoe box and the weight to six pounds. Not more than one Christmas parcel or package shall be accepted for mailing in any one week when sent by or on behalf of the same person or concern to or for the same addressee.

All articles should be packed in substantial boxes or containers and be covered with wrappers of sufficient strength not only to resist pressure of other mail in the same sack, but to withstand the weight of other sacks of mail which in the long transit may be piled thereon.

NEWSPAPERS OF MICHIGAN ACTIVE IN WAR WORK

Concluded from page one. per cent of their employees, weekly newspapers 20.1 per cent, to the army or navy or marines. Ninety-eight newspapers are sending free copies daily or weekly to home-town boys in the services. Two hundred fifty-five persons have left newspaper employment to enter Michigan war plants.

"Newspapers of Michigan have donated approximately a half million inches of advertising space for promotion of bonds and other war causes. In fact, many publishers informed us they had stopped counting the amount."

COMMUNITY CLUB TO FEATURE CAPTAIN S. N. DANCEY

Concluded from page one. in which he has spoken. As a morale builder and fearless crusader for the highest type of Americanism, he is said to be without an equal.

Captain Dancey will address the school group earlier the same day. In order to make his appearance here as worthwhile as possible, the program portion of the Community Club meeting will be thrown open to the general public when it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear a platform speaker of rare ability.

The ladies of the Evangelical Church will serve the club dinner. A slight adjustment in the price of dinner tickets is being considered by the board of directors of the organization and will be announced in advance of the October meeting. Such an adjustment was felt necessary in response to the general increase in all price levels.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Let Your Daughter Find Freedom

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

My mother suggests that Lee and I come to her for dinners at regular boarding rates; but that would mean marketing, and dishwashing on the old terms, except that we would be paying more than we can afford.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

HOW much claim have an old father and mother upon the time, money, youth, happiness of their children? It's an old question, never to be satisfactorily answered, for even when it's all reasoned out, human hearts will solve it as affection and weakness and filial obedience dictate, and elderly tyrants will continue to have things their own way.

Nina is 28; she has been the main support of a family of four for eight years. For six of those years she has been engaged to be married; her husband-to-be is a young doctor with no very brilliant prospects; Nina has no money saved and they are wondering whether they dare take the chance of marrying, with the possibility of obligations to his old people and hers staring them in the face.

"My father died last May, after years of invalidism," writes Nina. "My mother is a strong capable woman of 66, but she has bad eyes, cannot read, and lives in constant fear that blindness will overtake her. My little sister Bessy went to State Normal college as I did, and I expected that her salary as a teacher would help out at home, but she married very young and now has three small babies, though she is only 23.

Uncle Assists.

"My uncle pays taxes and insurance on our little cottage, amounting to about $200 a year; I pay everything else. With my father's insurance money I have turned over two front rooms into a separate apartment, with a bath and kitchen. This is already rented for $40 a month. Bessy cannot help my mother; Lee, my sweetheart, makes $1,500 a year as a resident at the hospital, and is beginning to have a few private patients; not a very good chance that I could help my mother either, in any crisis.

"I am sick with longing for my own home," the letter goes on. "It is misery for a man and woman who love each other to put off again and again the time of their happiness together, and we have grown weary and impatient, sometimes to the point of almost breaking with each other, during these long years. I have not had money for pretty things, for the holidays we might have had together; I have worn my cousins' clothes, schemed and worried to make ends meet until I feel like an old woman.

"My mother says now that she cannot possibly manage on $40 a month, that I must go on teaching until Lee's income warrants our leaving her. Lee says that a doctor's wife cannot possibly be a teacher, that it is too much of a strain on our nerves. There is no money for a trousseau, and even with the most modest little apartment, there must be good managing on our small income.

"I want so to be happy, to be loved and free and able to rest in my home as other women do! I want so to pay Lee back for these generous years of waiting! But on the other hand, there is my mother, and my aunts assure me that they would not be surprised if she were to be taken ill and die as a result of the shock of my leaving.

No Vacation in Five Years.

"It is five years since I have had any vacation except the Christmas vacation, for I teach in summer at a woman's college. My mother is

BAD COMPANY

The memories of unfulfilled ambitions and lost opportunities make the worst kind of company and are certainly not a desirable substitute for the joy of accomplishment. The woman who faces middle age with only "if" and "when" and "but" to show for the things she might have done with her youth faces also the prospect of an unhappy old age filled with regrets. That is why Kathleen Norris has written this message to young girls and their mothers who love them but will not let them go. Be sure to read her answer to this letter from a girl who has been engaged for six years.

a good cook, and she suggests that Lee and I come to her for dinners at regular boarding rates, but that would mean marketing and dishwashing for me on the old terms, except that we would be paying $60 a month—more than we could afford unless I went on teaching. I am so perplexed between them all I don't know what to do; I long to get away from everything, and wish Lee could get an offer from some far away city and I could simply walk out on the routine and drudgery, responsibility and worry that have been mine so long!

The chances are that the capable, affectionate mother is making quite a martyr of herself, just widowed and with Bessy married and now Nina deserting her! And the chances are also that she would tell you that her whole purpose in living was to make life easier for her girls and contribute, at any sacrifice, to their happiness.

Such mothers never look back and remember just how little their own mothers' plans and desires mattered to their own youth. They stepped off happily into matrimony; they took it for granted that every young woman has a right to her own life.

And so she has. If Nina's mother has to take boarders, let them be boarders other than Nina and Lee. Nina and Lee have a right to privacy, to the delights of their own home, no matter how small and plain it is. Coming every day to the same old dining-room for dinner, hearing the same old problems of leaking faucets or broken window-blinds, what freedom is Nina going to enjoy? She will wipe the same old dishes, answer the old telephone, sit down to the same two games of cribbage just as she has done for years.

Mother Owes Apology. Nina has given enough of her life to her old people. It is her mother who ought to be grieving, who ought to be apologetic that she has managed her affairs so badly that this splendid daughter isn't to have a pretty wedding, an outfit of lovely new clothes with which to go to her husband.

My advice to Nina is to get married at once, and let her helpless mother, her criticizing aunts, and her generous cousins and uncle settle all the problems that her marriage causes at home. Doctors have a way of prospering, and doctors' wives are fortunate women, because the incessant tragedies and responsibilities of the greatest profession teach a man the value of home life, serenity, affection, childhood. The years ahead will be kinder to Nina than those that have gone; hers has been the sort of girlhood that makes for a happy and grateful maturity.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Saturday in the Argyle Methodist Church. The Rev. Fred Wager, the pastor, officiated, and burial was made in the Downingtown Cemetery.

Joseph Shagena was born Feb. 17, 1871, in Waterloo, Ont., and came with his parents to Argyle Township when a small boy. On Oct. 31, 1892, he was married to Miss Mary Barr in Wheatland Township.

Surviving are his widow; five daughters, Mrs. J. D. Herdell, Argyle; Mrs. Leo Mollosso, Detroit; Mrs. Claude Brott, Mrs. Samuel Garner and Mrs. Erbe, all of Port Huron; three sons, Vern, Cecil and Fay Shagena, all of Detroit; two brothers, Barney Shagena, Wheatland Township, and Peter Shagena, Argyle; a sister, Mrs. Mary Hunter, Argyle; 16 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Although Mr. Shagena had been ill for some time, his death was unexpected as he had been about the farm that day as usual and had just entered the house from the garden when he passed away a few minutes later.

Mrs. Edgar Balch.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Curb on Civilian Meat Consumption Eases Problem for Armed Forces; Hitler's Russia Time-Table Slowed Up; 'Work or Fight' Is Edict of Draft Head

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Two Australian seamen, W. D. McBurnie (left) and F. E. Miller, are brought ashore in a lighter at an Australian seaport after being wounded in action in the Solomon Islands. They are survivors of the Australian ship Canberra which was lost in action when American marines and naval units supported by Australian forces made their historic attack on the Japanese-held Solomon Islands.

RUSSIA: 'If Winter Comes'

Chill autumn winds that swept the Russian steppes had reminded the Nazi invaders that Adolf Hitler's timetable of conquest was behind schedule. Every day the Russian lines held was that much time lost for the Germans. Every day they held was that much closer to winter.

Up the Volga river from the Caspian sea to beleaguered Stalingrad had come a Soviet naval flotilla. There, southeast of the city proper, the ships poured shellfire on the attacking Germans, answering the thunder of the big guns the Nazis were using to reduce the city. Meanwhile tank battles, air assaults and hand-to-hand encounters had raged in and around the city.

While the heroic Red forces had held their ground and even forced the Germans back in places, the situation remained grave. Defeat on the Volga would mean incalculable injury to the Russian war effort, with vital communications disrupted and the connecting Red armies of South and Central Russia split.

In the Caucasus, the Germans still had goals to reach. Still in the hands of the stout-hearted Red defenders was the south and eastern half of the peninsula.

DRAFT EDICT: Work or Fight

A "work or fight" edict to end the occupational deferment of men who stay away from their jobs or go on strike in war plants loomed as Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service made public an amendment to selective service regulations which stated:

"Whenever the director of selective service advises a local board that a deferred registrant or group of deferred registrants is not supporting or is adversely affecting the war effort or the national health, safety or interest, the local board shall immediately terminate the deferment and consider anew the classification of such registrant or registrants."

Local boards hitherto had authority to reclassify such persons and in a number of instances had done so.

ALEUTIANS:

'Japs' Wings Clipped'

Heartening news from Alaska was brought to Washington by Congressman Warren G. Magnuson on his return from an official visit to American fighting forces in the north. The navy, said Mr. Magnuson, had definitely turned Japanese occupation of the Aleutian Islands to our advantage.

"The situation is good in Alaska," he said. "The joint army and navy command is clearly now offensive-minded. The occupation of the Aleutian Islands by Japan has been turned to our advantage by the navy, giving us the opportunity to sink Japanese ships we otherwise would have been unable to get to."

"The navy has clipped Japan's offensive wings if she had any idea of using the Aleutians as a stepping stone for an attack against Alaska."

MEAT RATION: Aids Armed Forces

A voluntary meat ration of 2½ pounds per week for every American was urged by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard when he announced that civilian meat consumption during the last three months of 1942 would be restricted to approximately 70 per cent of the amount delivered by packers for civilian use during the last quarter of 1941.

After January 1, it was indicated, rationing coupons will be issued.

In his role of chairman of the War Production board's food requirements committee, Mr. Wickard disclosed that to assure sufficient meat for army, navy and lend-lease needs, deliveries of beef and veal to civilians would be 80 per cent of the amount sold during the last quarter of 1941; lamb and mutton deliveries would be 95 per cent; and pork deliveries 75 per cent.

The proposed 2½ pound weekly meat allowance, he said, was entirely adequate for good nutrition. Individual households may use any method the family prefers in effecting the rationing, he added. However, if there are invalids, aged persons, young children, or vegetarians in the home, the housewife should reduce her purchases accordingly.

Simultaneously with his announcement of a limitation in the civilian meat supply, Secretary Wickard warned of a food shortage "in the not too distant future" in urging congress to consider labor draft legislation as one means of halting the mass exodus of farm workers to war industries and the armed forces.

10-DAY MIRACLE: Performed by Kaiser

Shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser had broken many a naval construction record and been justly proud. But proudest of all was he when the 10,500-ton Liberty freighter Joseph N. Teal hit the water in Kaiser's Portland, Ore., shipyard exactly 10 days from the time its keel was laid. This amazing feat clipped 14 days from the previous speed record for shipbuilding.

Addressing shipyard workers, maritime commission representatives and shipyard officials, Kaiser said:

"Our original contract called for the delivery of ships in about 150 days. Many experts shook their heads and said we could not do it. Yet here beside us is this great craft—only 10 days from keel laying to launching. It is a miracle, no less—a miracle of God and of the genius of free American workmen."

Kaiser said in the new record a promise of future prosperity for America.

"If American brains and ingenuity do what they should do," he said, "I will have no fear for the future. We will have to rebuild what we have destroyed. Prosperity can go on and on."

Meanwhile Kaiser was recruiting an additional 50,000 workers to assist him in the construction of three mammoth aircraft carriers as the nucleus of a huge air fleet.

MADAGASCAR: Safe for Allies

Active Vichy French resistance on the island of Madagascar came to an end when British occupation forces supported by South African armored units and East African troops took over Tananarive, capital of the strategic island.

The communique that told of the British capture of Tananarive also disclosed that Antalya, 200 miles from the northern tip of Madagascar on the island's northeast coast was also occupied.

Allied control of Madagascar, lying athwart Africa's southeast coast and commanding sea lanes from Capetown to Cairo and to Australia and India meant that a strategic setback had been handed the Axis. It had been known that the Vichy authorities on the island had been friendly to Axis agents and it had even been reported that Japanese submarines had put into out-of-the-way harbors on the island for fuel and supplies for their forays against United Nations shipping in the Indian ocean.

SCRAP METAL: Need 17 Million Tons

America had stopped living on its metal "fat" and now must dip back 40 years for steel and iron junk, leading steel producers declared in assaying the nation's critical scrap metal situation.

"Many millions of tons of iron and steel scrap must be collected if the tremendous tonnage of steel needed in the nation's war effort is to be produced," said Eugene R. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation.

At least 17 million tons of scrap would be needed before January 1, when war production was scheduled to reach its peak. Monthly consumption of scrap was running about four million tons, the greatest in history, but still not enough.

"Every farmer and every householder has a heavy responsibility for the country's production of guns, tanks, ships and shells," said Ralph H. Watson, vice president of the U. S. Steel corporation. "The recovery of scrap is one of the most important war jobs facing America today."

NAVY: Gains on Subs

Evidence that the United Nations were forging ahead of the Axis in the race for control of the oceans was disclosed by Chairman Carl Vinson of the house naval affairs committee in a report compiled in co-operation with the navy department.

Allied shipping losses along the Atlantic coast had virtually ceased, the report said, while a five-fold increase was being achieved in the navy's shipbuilding program.

"At sea we have begun to turn the corner," said Congressman Vin-

REP. CARL VINSON "... began to turn the corner."

son. "Directly or indirectly the first fruits of American naval expansion are already influencing the course of the war."

Citing the American victories in the Solomon Islands as an indication of the offensive spirit among the United Nations, Mr. Vinson revealed that at the beginning of July, the United States was building 3,230 combat, auxiliary, patrol and mine vessels for its own navy. This compared with only 697 ships of the same category under construction a year earlier.

VATICAN: Post-War Plans?

No official announcements from the Vatican followed the conferences of Myron C. Taylor with Pope Pius XII. But seasoned diplomatic observers viewed the visit of President Roosevelt's personal representative to Vatican City as a step in paving the way for collaboration in post-war plans. This was given credence in the light of Mr. Taylor's subsequent conferences with the British and French envoys to the Vatican and the representatives of conquered Poland and Yugoslavia.

Immediately in the foreground as reasons for Mr. Taylor's journey to Rome were: the need to discuss American interests in protecting American Catholics in Japanese-occupied territory; relations between the United States and South American countries; and the American government's protest to Vichy against persecution of the Jews, in the hope that the Vatican formally would support the protests.

But over and above these immediate objectives appeared the possibility that the groundwork was being laid for post-war collaboration.

NEVER, NEVER DULL

The business man retired and went to live in the country. In due course a neighbor called on his wife. She said: "I hear your husband has taken up hunting. Do you approve of that?"

"I don't know about approving," said the sportsman's wife, "but it makes life more exciting. We never know which to expect home first, my husband or the horse."

Her Opinion

"I hope that's a nice book for you to read, darling," said a conscientious mother to her young daughter.

"Oh yes, mummy, it's a lovely book, but I don't think you'd like it. It's so sad at the end."

"How is it sad, dear?"

"Well, she dies, and he has to go back to his wife."

Star Boarder

"Do you think you can keep that desperado in jail?"

"I don't know," answered the sheriff. "We're doin' our best. We have fired two cooks he didn't like, given him credit at the licker dispensary and subscribed for all the magazines. But somehow we don't seem able to keep him satisfied."

THE BRUTE

Mrs. B.—You're a stony-hearted brute.

Mr. B.—Wrong. I had my heart examined today for life insurance and the doctor said my heart was O.K.

Direction

"I want to buy a present for my wife."

"How long have you been married?"

"Ten years."

"This way to the bargain basement, sir."

Tough Luck

"As we swung gently to and fro in the moonlight, she promised to marry me, old chap! Never will I forget the hammock I sat in last night."

"Same here. The one I sat in broke."

Prompted

Star—Yes, I said I wanted a home with at least ten children.

Friend—My dear, what makes you say such foolish things?

"The publicity department."

Allocated

The Orderly—Hi! Where are you taking that piece of meat? That belongs to headquarters.

The K.P.—I guess not. This chunk of lamb is tagged headquarters.

Question

Tom—That is a striking bathing costume Miss Bright is wearing!

Joe—Yes; I'm not sure whether it is a short skirt or a wide sash.

Palmist

It is a skeptical fellow indeed who does not believe the fortune that a pretty girl reads in his palm.

Remembrance

The arrows of affliction are barbed with the memory of past happiness.

FORGETFUL

"I beg your pardon. I forgot myself."

"That's all right. People are likely to forget the trivial and unimportant things of life."

Not Needed

Why have you no speedometer on your car?

I don't need one. At 30 miles an hour the headlights chatter; at 40 the windows rattle; at 50 the whole car shakes; and if I go faster than that my teeth chatter.

Passable

Wife—You're lazy, you're worthless, you're bad-tempered, you're shiftless, you're a thorough liar.

Husband—Well, my dear, no man is perfect.

FAITH IN CHRIST AS OUR PERSONAL SAVIOUR

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:13-15; Romans 5:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT—Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.—Romans 5:1.

Salvation through Christ is the way, and the only way, into the Christian life; therefore, there could be no other subject more suitable than that of our lesson to begin our brief series of "Studies in the Christian Life."

Our lesson for today tells us first how one comes into a personal saving faith, and then gives Paul's statement of the result of saving faith in the changed life of the believer.

I. The Opened Heart (Acts 16:13-15).

Paul and his companions on their important errand for the Master, bearing the news of the gospel, had first known His guidance by hindrance, by the closed door; and then by the direction of the Spirit into the open door, revealed in the vision of the man of Macedonia.

Here in Philippi they found not only an open door, but an open heart, one which the Holy Spirit had made ready for the preaching of the Word of God. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17).

Note that while Lydia was a woman of ability and culture, and a worshiper of God, yet she needed the message of redemption through faith in Christ.

Lydia evidenced the truth of her profession of faith by open testimony and by a desire for fellowship in putting forward the work of God (v. 15). Salvation is by faith apart from works, but a saving faith is always one which works.

II. The Transformed Life (Rom. 5:1-11).

This is one of the great passages of Scripture, rich in doctrinal instruction, presenting through Paul an illuminating discussion of justification by faith.

This lesson affords an opportunity for teachers to learn and present to classes much needed truth along the line of Bible doctrine. There is not enough teaching of this type. People seem to prefer a little devotional study, or the discussion of current events, possibly in the light of prophecy. These are good, but it is of first importance that Christians be informed regarding doctrine.

We find in this Scripture the glorious transformation of life which comes to the one who takes Christ as Saviour, as we note the seven results of God's justifying grace.

1. Peace (v. 1). The human heart craves spiritual peace and knows that it can be found only when sin has been dealt with and put away. For sin cannot be condoned or ignored. There must be justification, and that can come only through Jesus Christ our Lord.

2. Grace (v. 2). A peace with God brings the peace of God into our hearts. We have that peace because we have by faith come into the place of God's favor. No longer strangers or outsiders, we have come in ("have access") to His place of grace and favor.

3. Hope (vv. 2b, 5a). Our faith not only brings present peace, but causes us to see future glory. Such a hope puts us in a right attitude toward God, and the things of life, including tribulations (v. 3), are rightly valued and understood. Even our troubles become evidences of His love in which we may glory.

4. Love (vv. 5b-8). God's love which gave His Son to die for our sins becomes the "shed abroad" portion of every believer in Him. It was an immeasurably great love, and it all centers in Calvary.

5. Saved From Wrath (v. 9). The wrath of God is minimized or denied in much modern theology, but it is nonetheless a very "real and awful affection of the divine nature." But the Christ who died for sinners will surely deliver the saints from the wrath of God against sin.

6. Reconciled (v. 10). The death of Christ, which justified man has accepted by faith, brought reconciliation. Atonement had been made for sin, and the One who died is alive again, a living Saviour.

7. Joy (v. 11). And why not? Such a revelation of what our redemption includes should make every believer in Christ rejoice in God. The One who is the sinner's judge is the believer's joy! That is the glorious transformation which takes place when one believes.

Some unbeliever who has read these lines thus far must by now be eager to have these things true in his life. Well, why not? "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31). Then read again those majestic and joyful words in Romans 5:1: "Therefore being justified by faith, we have"—yes, I have "peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ."

DO RIGHT BY YOUR refrigerator ...it must "keep things cool" until Victory! YOUR REFRIGERATOR will last longer if you take reasonable care of it, and that's doubly important today when no more refrigerators are being made. Remember that the one you now have must keep cool for the duration. Treat it accordingly! (1) Defrost regularly according to manufacturer's instructions, and empty drip water immediately. Heavy frost on the coils makes your refrigerator work overtime, and increases operating cost. Never use a knife or sharp tool for defrosting. (2) After defrosting, wash the entire interior of refrigerator (coils, shelves, trays, etc.). Use lukewarm water and mild soap, followed by fresh water with a little baking soda. This banishes ice-box odor and leaves your refrigerator clean and fresh. (3) Wipe up fruit and vegetable juices as soon as they are spilled. (They harm the finish.) Wash the outside surface of your refrigerator with warm water and soap, and dry with a soft cloth. (4) Don't overcrowd your refrigerator. Place left-overs in small containers to save space. Always let hot foods cool before placing in refrigerator. (5) Unless the motor of your refrigerator is hermetically sealed, have it oiled and inspected regularly. (6) Be sure there is adequate air circulation all around your refrigerator. Move it an inch or two out from the wall if necessary. The Detroit Edison Company.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

MEXICO CITY: Reporting that higher prices for silver bullion in the United States were draining off Mexican silver money, the treasury ministry announced that it had banned the export of silver coins. The ruling would have the effect of making Mexican citizens and tourists leave their change behind when they crossed into the United States, thus conserving the supply.

MARSHFIELD: Old 102, a railroad engine that served throughout the World War on Coos county, Ore., tracks and was well-known in logging circles throughout the Pacific Northwest, has joined the army in northeastern Oregon. It was announced here. The locomotive, now an oil burner, first used coal when it went into operation 30 years ago. It is now hauling supplies.

Let's Have a Real Football Supper!
(See Recipes Below.)

Football Supper

Thoughts for fall naturally bring to mind fall's favorite game, football, and foods that go well after the game. It makes no difference whether you have been to one of the big games or whether you are going to feed the hungry crowd of youngsters who come in from playing in the nearest available field, the uppermost thought in your mind is good, hot, appetizing food.

Smart management dictates a delicious hot dish that you whisk out of the oven, a crisp salad for balance and contrast to the meal, and a smooth, light dessert. Your crowd will be thirsty, too, so don't forget coffee for the grown-ups and a hot, chocolaty drink for the children.

Do something special for the table—even a little touching-up will bring the appreciative oh's and ah's from your family and guests. Perhaps there are a few chrysanthemums still in the garden or you might try to get together a few, small novelty footballs to make up into a centerpiece. A cloth in the burnished fall colors or deep brown, bright yellow, or what-have-you will mark you as a hostess whose eye is ever on the calendar and season.

Bring on the food! And such food it will be if you serve spaghetti, done up in casserole with plenty of sauce and cheese for extra goodness:

*Spaghetti Creole.

(Serves 8)

2 pounds long spaghetti
2 onions, chopped
1 clove garlic
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup oil
2 cans tomato puree
2 1/2 cups tomatoes
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Salt, pepper
1 pound ground beef
Grated cheese

Cook onion and garlic (peeled and a toothpick run through it) in the hot oil and butter, slowly. Remove garlic. Add tomato puree, tomatoes, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Cook meat in additional fat. Add to first mixture and cook very slowly for two hours. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water. Drain and rinse in hot water. Place in buttered casserole, first spaghetti layer, then sauce, grated cheese, and so on until casserole is full. Garnish with an additional slice of bacon if desired. Bake in a slow (325-degree) oven 45 minutes.

Contrast note to the Spaghetti Creole is a green vegetable chilled to a crispness. It's also a good idea to balance a starchy food with something as full of minerals and vitamins as an armload of greens clinging together with a light, tart french dressing:

*Tossed Greens.

Wash lettuce and separate into leaves. Use several large spinach leaves, carefully washed, and shredded with the lettuce leaves, or small spinach leaves used whole among the lettuce. Shred three carrots, mince one small onion and toss among the greens. Marinate 1 cup of cooked green beans in french dressing for 20 minutes and add to salad bowl. Add more french dressing and serve.

A bit of the something different for the menu is provided if you serve this salad:

Chiffonade Salad.

Combine cooked, cubed beets with rice hard-cooked eggs and minced onion. Marinate and serve on crisp romaine or lettuce. You can turn out a chili con carne in no time and it's a wonderful dish on these evenings with a fall tang in the air. The kidney beans, tomatoes and ground meat blend in delicious flavor:

Chili Con Carne.

(Serves 6)

2 1/2 cups kidney beans
1 large onion, sliced
1 chopped green pepper
1 pound ground beef
3 tablespoons lard
3 1/4 cups tomatoes
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Paprika
3 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
1 tablespoon chili powder

Brown onion, green pepper and meat in hot lard. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Simmer two hours, adding water if necessary. Add beans and heat thoroughly.

Corn bread is a delightful variation for any kind of dinner but is especially welcome if you serve the golden wedges at your football supper. Piping hot is the order of the day:

*Corn Bread.

1 cup yellow cornmeal
1/2 cup wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter

Sift flour and mix with other dry ingredients. Combine egg with milk and add to dry ingredients. Add melted butter and pour batter into a well greased pan. Bake in a hot (425-degree) oven about 25 minutes.

Apples can be found in generous quantities now, so use them for thriftiness' sake. To save on your sugar, this recipe calls for part molasses and part sugar:

*Apple Pandowdy.

(Serves 6)

1 Recipe Pastry
4 cups sliced apples
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water

Divide pastry into two portions and roll thin. Line shallow baking dish with pastry. Mix apples, salt, spices and sugar and put in pan. Combine molasses with water and pour over fruit. Dot with butter, cover with remaining pastry, press edges together and trim. Bake in a moderately hot (425-degree) oven 15 minutes. Lower temperature to slow (325 degrees) and bake 30 minutes. Remove from oven, chop top crust into fruit, return to oven and continue baking 1 hour. Serve with butter or with plain or whipped cream.

*Football Brew.

Use 1 heaping teaspoon decaffeinated coffee, regular grind for each cup water. Pour cold water into pot or percolator. Set percolator basket with coffee in it. Cover. Let percolate 15 to 20 minutes slowly and gently.

Michigan Mirror

Concluded from first page.
ing until Saturday, Oct. 17. All newspapers, daily and weekly, are participating in the patriotic campaign.

You may logically ask, "Why is it necessary for the United States to have another scrap drive? It looks to me as if Washington has fallen down on the job."

Well, do you remember those newspaper headlines of a few months ago?

Of course you do. They were pretty unpleasant days, losing one battle after another, abandoning one fortress after another, surrendering one island after another. Many of us grumbled our teeth and muttered, "Why don't they do something about it? Why don't they send enough men and materials to win the battles?"

Some of us were pretty indignant about it. We Americans are not in the habit of losing a war.

The battle of scrap is today's battle on the home front.

It is our responsibility—not Washington's, or McArthur's, or even our son's on foreign duty throughout the world.

What are the facts, as the newspapers know them to be? The Axis prepared for war. We did not.

Germany and Japan accumulated huge reserves of vitally needed metals years and years before 1939. We did not.

And now, with war upon us in both oceans, with fighting fronts almost everywhere, we are again facing the problem of "Too little, too late."

There's one important difference, however. This time we don't have to mutter, "Why don't they do something about it?" because today it's up to us.

Michigan war plants, many of them at least, are not operating at capacity. Many workers are idle, because the steel mills can't fill the orders. They can't fill the orders because of a shortage of scrap metal.

Uncle Sam has scraped the bottom of his scrap barrel. The only remaining source of this needed metal for more tanks, and more airplanes, and more munitions of every kind is the metal which is in every urban home, on every farm, in industrial plants and office buildings and old mines and even little used railroad lines.

Thrifty home-owners and tenants appreciate the logic of filling the fuel bin in advance of winter. The filled bin is a reserve supply against winter demands.

When you turn over your scrap metal—either by donating it to some local charity or by selling to the local junk dealer—you will make possible the building of reserve scrap "banks" against which Uncle Sam can draw during the coming winter.

These scrap piles, whether in sight on the town square or in the junk yard, will be visible evidence that Uncle Sam can get the scrap if and when and where it is needed. It is entirely possible that such scrap may be held in reserve for emergency use in Michigan war plants until next February or March or April. But, such metal can't do the job if it is in your basement, or hidden under snow on your farm, or forgotten about in an old industrial plant.

Many of you may be already tired of hearing and reading about the necessity of scrap metal. Listen to these words of Linwood L. Noyes, editor of the Ironwood Daily Globe, way up north in the "iron country":

"You haven't time to get tired. You haven't heard anything yet. When this drive is completed there will be another, and another, and still another. For scrap, for rubber, for basic materials, for money, for manpower, for men, for women, for soldiers, sailors and marines. "Is it worth it? Yes. Don't get discouraged. Fight!"

"Let it not be said we had 'too little too late.'"
