Advices All to Conserve Auto Tires

Maurice Ransford, a member of the rationing board of Tuscola County, told about the duties of that body at the Tuesday luncheon of the Rotary Club at Hotel Gordon and said that the board's membership would be increased soon from six to nine. He emphasized the seriousness of the rubber situation and spoke of the necessity of all to conserve their tires. Applications to the board for permits to purchase tires for trucks and passenger cars greatly exceed the monthly quotas. Walter Mann is program chairman for Rotarians in October.

House-to-House Scrap Pickup Campaign Now On

Tuscola Has Been Assigned a 3,000-ton Quota by January 1.

Walter Laur, a full time representative of machinery dealers, will assist the Tuscola County Salvage Committee in raising the October 1,000-ton quota of scrap metal assigned to the county. This is a part of the 3,000 tons which Tuscola County is expected to collect by January 1. In September, 1,200 tons were sold to junk dealers in the county.

The county salvage committee has named Friday and Saturday, Oct. 9 to 10, as special house-to-house pickup of scrap metal days, and in every village in the county except Fostoria and Cass City, local salvage committees have arranged to pick up scrap placed at the curb of each home. Citizens are urged to participate and all the scrap thus collected will be donated to the local organization in charge and proceeds from the sale of these salvage materials should be used for promoting the war effort, the county committee recommends.

In Cass City, the curb pickup was observed earlier this autumn and now students are busy in a scrap salvage campaign here.

Hunters are asked to save shotgun shells and place them in containers in the hardware stores of the county this month.

Merchants and Students Assist in Beet Harvest

Exodus of Many Mexicans Causes Great Shortage of Farm Labor.

E. A. Corpron, Stanley Asher and Russell Leeson are members of a committee who are recruiting the services of Cass City business men to go into farmers' fields and work on Thursday afternoons. The response of business men has been most gratifying, members of the committee state. The first contingent of merchants assembled at the council rooms and were assigned to their work in harvesting crops yesterday noon. Farmers interested in securing help on Thursday afternoons may call a member of this committee for more information.

Seventy-five students of the Cass City Schools, both boys and girls, leave the school each morning as soon as the school buses arrive, to work in sugar beet fields in this community to assist in the harvest. Students are returned to school in time to board school buses for their homes in the afternoon. This program will continue for two weeks. Students are paid by the ton for their work by the Michigan Sugar Co. and warm meals are furnished at noon by farmers. Students must have the consent of parents to participate in this work program.

Labor is needed for 750 acres of crops to be harvested within a radius of six miles of Cass City. Seventy-five per cent of the Mexican families who came this spring to work in beet fields left for the South before the beet harvest, causing a great shortage of labor.

Cass City Defeated Sandusky Friday

Showing marked improvement in all departments of play, the local gridiron forces turned back Sandusky Friday by the score of 28-13.

Cass City scored twice in the first quarter on runs of 20 and 30 yards by McConnell. In the third quarter, Kettlewell, playing his first game at end, took a pass from McCoy and raced 50 yards for a touchdown. The last Cass City score was made by McConnell after Auten had recovered a Sandusky fumble. Sandusky managed to push over two touchdowns in the fourth quarter making the final score: Cass City 28, Sandusky 13.

In addition to those who figured in the scoring, Kloc and Sweeney also turned in fine games for the locals.

Tonight, Cass City will attempt to upset the dope bucket when they meet the strong Caro eleven at Caro.

Letters from Two Men in the Service

The following excerpts were taken from a letter under date of Aug. 28, written by Sgt. Kelvin E. Vaden, from "Somewhere in Australia," to his mother, Mrs. Clara Vaden of Snover:

"The climate here is just the opposite from that in the States as it will soon be turning cooler there and here winter is over, and it's just starting to get warm and I guess it really does get warm here, too.

One of the common characters of Australia is the Aboriginal. They are the same as negroes only have straight hair and are supposed to be the purest blooded people in the world. In some places, I guess they are quite primitive yet, you know, with bark canoes, spears and the native weapon of theirs is the boomerang. They have the kangaroo and a bird I believe is called the cuckoo-burro and it laughs—almost human; also wombats like little bears.

"All the museums have wonderful specimens of coral and sea life galore. Barrier Reef near Australia's coast has more specimens of sea life in every form and is considered the best habitat of fish in the world. Of course, there are the snakes but I haven't seen any yet and I'm not curious either.

"The people here are very friendly towards the U. S. soldier, but in my estimation the country in general is about 25 years behind our country in regard to movies, customs, etc."

Why doesn't the government do something about it?

There is an answer.

Take it from Schuyler L. Marshall, weekly publisher at St. Johns, a community in Clinton County that has never been over enthusiastic in recent years about the way Washington does things. Clinton County regularly votes Republican, but there is no politics to this story.

Spare a minute or two if you have a question about the scrap metal drive. Listen to this country editor as he "talks" in his editorial column to his readers:

A tall, tired-looking man stood at the end of a hotel room. There were about 20 newspaper publishers there. The tall man, his face lined, turned his tired eyes toward a sharp-tongued critic. "Why don't you move the scrap we have piled up for you?" the critic demanded. "We've done our part. The people have done their part. You government fellows are the ones who are falling down. No wonder the people are fed up . . . etc., etc."

The newspaper man quit talking and glared.

Patiently, as if he had told it a thousand times, the government man started speaking quietly.

"You are right . . . and you are wrong. Listen. You have done your job. The people have done their job. I want you to believe that we are doing our job, just as fast and as well as we can. But there are a lot of things you don't know. I'll tell you about them if you will be patient and listen.

"You have done a good job, but you are going to do a better job. We need more scrap metal. We need it right now, before snow flies. If we don't get it now, we will not get it this winter. We are 5,000,000 tons short of our needs, and that's counting what you have already piled up. If we fail to get that 5,000,000 tons, we may lose this war . . . and I'm not trying to fool you or scare you.

"Stop and think a minute. Thousands of tons of scrap is piled up all in a week or two in a thousand or more widely separated points. The woven wire fencing coming from farms must be baled before it can be shipped or used. The old auto bodies have to be cut before they can be shipped or used. We are short of shears—cutting equipment. We cannot do that all at once in a thousand different spots in 83 counties in Michigan."

The tired looking government man went on.

"Scrap metal does not walk to the steel mills. It has to be shipped. That takes freight cars and trucks. It takes manpower. You know, without me telling you, that the railroads are being rushed. You know about trucks and their tires. You know about men . . . how many of them are already in service.

"Be patient, mister, I have been working about 20 hours a day . . . hard work without much sleep, and eating when and where I can. Have

Community Club Board Advances Dinner Ticket Price

At its meeting last week, the executive board of the Community Club voted to increase the price of the club dinner tickets from 50 to 65 cents. Such an advance was felt necessary to offset partially the increase in food costs to the church groups serving the meals. The club opens its winter season next Tuesday night when a large attendance is expected to hear Captain S. N. Dancy of Chicago, national president of the Citizenship Foundation. The lecture itself is open to the general public and should begin about eight-thirty.

Argyle Merchant Killed in Auto Crash on Monday

Accident Occurred at the a Highway Intersection North of Shabbona.

William Langenburg, 61, of Argyle, was killed instantly about two o'clock Monday afternoon at a highway intersection two miles north of Shabbona, when cars driven by Mr. Langenburg and Roy Lutzenhiser, 54, of Decker, collided. The Langenburg car was traveling west while the Lutzenhiser car was going north. It is thought that a field of corn prevented the drivers from seeing the other car approaching the corner.

Funeral services for Wm. Langenburg were held at 9:30 Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Argyle. The Rev. Fr. Joseph Dudek, pastor, officiated. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Wm. Langenburg was born in Argyle Township Sept. 21, 1881, and has always lived in or near Argyle. On Jan. 24, 1912, he was married to Miss Jennie Nickel, and shortly after they moved to Argyle where he operated a grocery store and bought and sold eggs and cream.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two brothers, John Langenburg of Argyle and George Langenburg of Bay City, and three sisters, Mrs. W. J. Herdell of Argyle, Mrs. Wilfred Cregger of Gagetown and Miss Catherine Langenburg of Lansing. He also leaves several nieces and nephews and a host of friends.

Wedding of Interest to Cass City Friends in Lapeer Monday

A wedding of interest to many in this vicinity was that which took place Monday evening, Oct. 5, at seven o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parks, 523 Madison St., Lapeer, when their daughter, Virginia Belle, became the bride of Apprentice Seaman Jack Howard Renberg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hemingway in the presence of the immediate families and a few friends.

Just preceding the speaking of the vows, Mrs. Earl W. Douglas of Cass City sang "I Love You Truly." To the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin and by candlelight the bride party took their places before an evergreen arch, centered with white wedding bells and flanked by tall candelabra bearing red, white and blue candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The attendants were Betty Jean Moore of Highland Park, Phyllis Brown of Lapeer and Douglas and Howard Parks, brothers of the bride.

The bride wore a beige wool dress with navy blue accessories and her corsage was of pink rosebuds. The bridesmaids wore navy and powder blue, respectively, and their corsages were of red roses. Both the mother of the bride and of the groom chose navy blue dresses and wore corsages of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper was prepared and served by Mrs. Roland Bruce and Mrs. Edna Walker. The bride's table was centered with a beautiful wedding cake and red, white and blue candles.

Later in the evening, friends gathered to extend congratulations and wedding cake and ice cream were served.

Mrs. Renberg is employed in Detroit while the groom is temporarily stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Cass City Man Married at Kinde

A lovely wedding took place in St. Edward's Catholic Church at Kinde Tuesday morning when Mrs. Amelia Chapdelaine of Kinde, daughter of Louis N. Mosseau of Kinde, and Samuel E. Meagher of Cass City, son of Mrs. Gertrude Meagher, of Kinde were united in marriage. Rev. John Nagle, pastor, read the service.

The bride, who wore a wine velvet gown trimmed with gold sequins and gold colored accessories and an orchid as a corsage, was attended by her daughter, Miss Betty Chapdelaine. She wore beige wool with brown accessories and her corsage was of yellow rosebuds. Pvt. Edward A. Meagher of Fort Custer assisted his cousin as best man.

Following the wedding, a breakfast was served the immediate families in the Clancy Hotel at Port Austin.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Meagher will make their home in Cass City where Mr. Meagher owns and operates Sam's Tavern.

The Presbyterian Guild will meet Monday evening, Oct. 12, in the home of Mrs. M. B. Auten with Mrs. J. Ivan Niergarth, Mrs. B. H. Starmann and Mrs. James McMahon as assistant hostesses. Mrs. Ethel McCoy will have charge of the program, "Modern Music."

Schools Hope for Extra Gas for the Athletic Programs

Seventeen Schools Send Representatives to Discuss Their Problems.

Seventeen schools of the Upper Thumb were represented by superintendents, principals and athletic directors at a meeting held in Cass City Wednesday evening. Various matters relating to school problems were discussed.

Interscholastic athletics will be continued after gasoline rationing becomes effective if extra gas is allowed for school buses to make trips to transport teams for games. Football schedules will be completed but basketball will be discontinued if extra gas cannot be secured.

Senior career days and round table meetings of school instructors of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties will be discontinued for the duration, it was decided on Wednesday evening.

The winter daily war time schedules for opening schools in the morning will vary from 30 to 60 minutes later than at present, starting Nov. 2. Most schools are sending out students to assist in harvesting crops.

Supt. J. Meacham discussed the physical fitness program for pupils of the upper six grades installed in the Millington schools last April. Other schools have decided not to install this program unless their interscholastic programs are discontinued. A federal appropriation of $45,000,000 was recently authorized for the physical fitness program in the nation's schools.

George Martin of Caro was elected president and Geo. Robinson of Caro, secretary-treasurer of the Thumb Round Table. Both succeeded themselves in these positions and will serve for the duration.

The Upper Thumb Athletic Association elected Russell LeCromier of Bad Axe, president; Chas. Bush of Sebawaing, vice president; and Robt. Edgerton of Bad Axe, secretary-treasurer.

BEANS SAVE LIVES OF DUCKS

Jack Livingston, an engineer of the State Highway Department, had a Saturday off duty for the first time in some months, so he headed for the shore intending to hunt ducks. He stopped at the home of Samuel Vyse in Elkland Township and found several loads of beans ready to be drawn in. Postponing the duck hunt, he helped get the beans into the barn and returned to his home in Flint tired, but feeling much happier as he had helped harvest a small portion of the nation's crop.

DANGLING PHRASES

This week's Slip o' the Tongue: "Having finished high school, I sent my son to college." No, it is not clear who finished high school, the son or the father. Better say: When my son finished high school, I sent him to college. Improved: I sent my son to college when he finished high school.

Wrong: "After failing the test, my teacher refused to promote me." Who failed—the teacher? Better say: When I failed to pass the test, my teacher refused to promote me.

Wrong: "When but a boy, my grandmother passed away." Love-ly! But altogether impossible. Better say: When I was but a boy, my grandmother passed away.

Wrong: "The rain fell just as we started our trip from dark, overhanging clouds." Paratroops, perhaps? Better say: Just as we started our trip, the rain fell from dark, overhanging clouds.

Wrong: "When thoroughly oiled, you will find it easy to operate your car." One who is "thoroughly oiled" had better go home in a taxi. Right: You will find it easy to operate your car if it is lubricated thoroughly.

Many readers, and especially enlisted men of World War I, who used to struggle at every reveille to encase their shanks in regulation spiral PUTTEES, will find it hard to believe that the pronunciation "put-TEE" has no sanction. The accent, say the dictionaries, should be placed on the first syllable, not the second.

Puttee is the Anglicized form of the Hindu word puti, meaning "bandage." Puttee should be pronounced exactly like the word putty. Say:

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Aid for Small Business Urged by WPB; Allied Land-Air Offensive Relieves Jap Pressure on Critical New Guinea Front; FDR Envisions Higher War Production

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

British raids on the German lines in Libya have yielded considerable success in damage to enemy communications and supplies as well as in prisoners captured for questioning. Above photo shows some of the 97 German prisoners taken on a recent foray.

SMALL BUSINESS: To Get Lifeline

With the nation's inevitable progress toward total war economy, many a small business man faced the prospect of becoming a postwar casualty unless a lifeline were thrown to him.

Help appeared likely, however, when War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson urged on congress the immediate creation of a war liabilities administration charged with the job of seeing to it that the little business man survived.

Four essentials for saving little business were recommended by Nelson in testimony before the special senate committee studying wartime problems of little business.

No. 1 is to help little business enterprises take care of overhanging liabilities they would have been able to discharge under normal circumstances. No. 2 is to provide a means for financing small business after the war. Third is to furnish technical and other assistance for small business after the war; and fourth, is to provide a mechanism giving small business enterprises a priority in the acquisition of machinery and equipment when the war is over.

ROOSEVELT: High Goals Ahead

Expressing the opinion that war production was proceeding at an extremely satisfactory rate and that the rest of the nation was far ahead of Washington in war spirit, President Roosevelt returned to the White House after an unprecedented secret inspection of war activities from coast to coast. Mr. Roosevelt said that even higher production goals would be set in months to come.

Although every detail of the historic journey remained a military secret during its progress, the publicity which followed it reverberated across the nation once the censorship curtain was lifted. In a dramatic press conference that paralleled in drama his famous "horse and buggy" attack on the Supreme court seven years ago, the President hit out at certain elements in congress, in the press and radio and in parts of his own administration that were either deliberately or misguidedly hampering America's war effort.

The President had warm praise for the nation as a whole. The people in general, he said, have the finest kind of morale.

PACIFIC AREA: Yanks Infiltrate

In the New Guinea area of the Southwest Pacific, Allied mountain troops gave the Japs a taste of their own medicine by taking the offensive, sifting through jungles and over mountains to recapture Nauro in the Owen Stanley range, well beyond Ioribaiva, the high water mark of the Nipponese advance on Port Moresby.

A communique from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia revealed that American and Australian pilots attacked Japanese supply lines for 78 miles back to Buna, the main Japanese coastal base in New Guinea. Using native porters as pack trains the Allied troops covered difficult ground as rapidly as had the Jap invaders.

In the Solomon islands the marines continued to consolidate their positions and to strengthen the defense of the vital Guadalcanal air base against expected enemy assaults. MacArthur's airmen made repeated raids on the Jap-held northern Solomons.

Meanwhile in Washington the navy department reported the loss of two American transports in the original battle of the Solomon islands. These were the 8,378-ton naval transport George F. Elliott and the transport Gregory, a small auxiliary.

RUSSIA: Race With Winter

As autumn brought blustery cold days presaging the advent of a Russian winter, the historic struggle for possession of the Volga area continued with the Germans hurling in new infantry forces, tank divisions and air units and the hard-pressed Reds stubbornly contesting every foot of territory.

In the ebb and flow of continuous battle, one Russian counterattack threatened the Nazis' right flank, while another against the Germans' left flank had pressed slowly down between the Don and Volga rivers. Meanwhile guns of the Volga fleet continued to pour death into the ranks of the Nazi invaders.

Despite local Russian successes, the gravity of the situation remained. The Germans retained mastery of the air. Their tank and mechanized forces were superior to those of the Red defenders. The German high command was spending blood and lives recklessly.

To the south of Stalingrad in the Caucasus, the news was more encouraging, for Soviet armies had continued to delay the advance of the Axis forces into the priceless oil fields.

SECOND FRONT: Churchill Enigmatic

Somber was the report Prime Minister Winston Churchill gave on the Dieppe Commando raid when he revealed that Allied losses were "very nearly half of the troops involved."

The prime minister said that British tanks were held up by the "altogether unexpected strength" of defense blocks placed at the ends of Dieppe's streets by the Nazi defenders.

These statements together with a later admonition to Parliament about the undesirability of public statements or speculations regarding the opening of a second front had the experts puzzled.

Was Churchill emphasizing the Dieppe losses to lull his Nazi enemies? Was he hush-hushing the second front for the same purpose, or to quiet home demands?

The between-the-lines implication of his statements, according to seasoned observers was this: "Let's keep Hitler guessing. Of course we have definite plans, but let's not expose our hands."

ISOLATIONISTS: Urged to Recant

Pre-Pearl Harbor isolationists were urged by Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter to contribute to "the spiritual unity which the peril of the hour demands" by publicly repudiating their former views. In an address at the inauguration of Dr. Harry Noble Wright as president of the College of the City of New York, Justice Frankfurter said:

"... candid recantation."

"Nothing would so make for a strengthening of the morale resources of the nation than a candid recantation of their foreshortened views by all prewar isolationists."

Justice Frankfurter cited as a distinguished example, the case of the Very Reverend Robert I. Gannon, president of Fordham university, who publicly admitted that he had been "completely wrong" in his prewar opinions.

LABOR: Gets Blunt Advice

American labor leaders were bluntly told by Rear Admiral Ben Morrell that the people could live without labor unions and "they will damn well live without them, if all of us don't get in there and pitch."

Speaking before the building and construction trades department of the American Federation of Labor in Toronto, the chief of the navy's bureau of yards and docks said he was not implying that labor has any exclusive responsibility for the country's failure to produce the maximum of war implements, but that he felt working people had the biggest stake in the war.

U. S. BIRTH RATE:

J. C. Capt, director of the census bureau, revealed that the population of the continental United States, including members of the armed forces abroad, was about 133,965,000 last January 1, as compared with an estimated 132,638,000 on January 1, 1941. This represented a gain of 2,296,000 over the 1940 census figures.

'White Ants'
Termites, which commonly, but erroneously, are called "white ants," are about one-quarter inch long with soft, grayish-white, oval bodies. They make flights in the spring and the fall, but their wings are weakly attached to the body and are easily cast off.
They feed on dead cellulose tissues, burrowing underground, and hollow out wooden beams and foundations.

LOW BACK PAINS

Most sufferers from low back pain naturally reach for help to relieve pain rather than search for the cause. They will take painkilling drugs, use heat and electricity, hot baths, massage, and other methods of treatment. In cases where pain is due to strain or injury the use of heat to muscles that are stretching the spine away from the point of injury is good treatment but getting the strained or sprained parts back into their proper position would get the patient well in much less time.

In speaking of low back pain I have usually pointed out that most cases are really due to infection—tonsils, teeth, gall bladder, intestine—and the remainder to injury—strain and sprain of certain joints, injury to the disk or cushion between the bones of the spinal column. Sometimes the strain or sprain is due to poor posture.

Dr. P. M. Girard, Dallas, Texas, in Archives of Physical Therapy, points out that while low back pain is present in the spot where the infection or injury occurs, that pain also occurs in places distant from the point of infection or injury. This is known as a "referred" pain and because it occurs at a distance from the infected or injured spot, the cause may be overlooked.

On the other hand, pain may occur in lower back and down back of thighs and be due not to injury or infection at point of pain but to growths in spinal cord, rupture, appendicitis, turns or bends of uterus, growths in ovary, and stone in bladder.

A slight injury due to swinging a golf club or making a misstep may tear a muscle, rupture a ligament, or injure the joint holding one spinal bone to the next one.

The more the subject of low backache is investigated the more physicians are coming to believe that poor posture—letting the body slump or sag—is a more frequent cause than was formerly thought. This is the reason that when injury is the cause (as shown by relief from pain when at rest) and both patient and physician are unable to find any history of injury, they forget about poor posture as a cause.

Overweight and Gland Troubles

There was a time when the only method of reducing weight was to eat less food, take more exercise, or both. This is still the best method and the only one used in about nine of every ten cases.

However, now that it is known that if certain glands do not manufacture enough juice, an accumulation of fat will occur, physicians are able to inject or give by mouth enough animal gland extract to overcome this lack and so the fat is removed.

Generally speaking, where there is lack of thyroid extract or juice, the excess fat accumulates in all parts of the body. This occurs six times as often in women as in men. If lack of pituitary extract, excess fat accumulates across abdomen, shoulders, chest, upper arms, upper legs and hips. It usually starts in the teens and the youngster wants large quantities of sweets. Lack of sex gland extract results in excess fat across abdomen and more particularly across hips and buttocks. This is common following menopause in women. There are cases where the excess fat is due to lack of extract in more than one of the glands.

When the lack of gland extract has been definitely shown, the use of gland extracts under the supervision of the physician will give results particularly when there is reduction in the food intake also. However, for an overweight who "thinks" his excess fat is due to lack of gland extract, trying to treat himself is dangerous as severe illness, collapse, and death have followed self treatment.

Remember, gland extracts wholly are needed in less than 5 per cent of overweight cases and, in part, in less than 10 per cent.

Then there are the "cures" for overweight that so many try because they want a short and easy road to normal weight. Some of these "cures" where the drug used is known to the physician and its reaction, even if dangerous, can be controlled, have been used in "extreme" cases where the individual was 100 to 250 pounds overweight.

'Sick Man of Europe'

The Ottoman Empire was a name for the former Turkish Empire. Osman (Ottoman) I was the traditional founder of the dynasty to which his name was given. The empire which was organized in the 13th century expanded until at its height in the 16th century it reached Vienna. After the 16th century parts of it were dismembered, following every war until before the World War the nation itself came to be known as the "Sick Man of Europe."

LETTERS FROM TWO

MEN IN THE SERVICE

you all and let you know that everything's all right with me. I really have been very busy since I was home in February. So busy I really don't know which way to turn next. These Japs are plenty tough, but we are taking care of them slowly but surely. I want you to know that I am right in there fighting all the time. This is one fellow that has not been lying around doing nothing for his country. I have seen all that I want to see, but there is more to come. The Marines are really doing their part in this war. There is a lot more I could tell you, but you will have to wait till later. You all would like to know where I am at, but really I don't stay in one place long enough to tell you. That really doesn't matter now, just as long as I am fighting for my country.

I don't know when I will ever be able to see you all again, but I am planning on it some of these days. We stand long hours on watches and when we get off of watch we try and catch up on our sleep. The Duke of Kent, youngest brother of King George, was killed in a plane crash on an isolated Scottish moor. He died with 15 others while enroute to Iceland in a giant Sunderland flying boat. His death came just a year after he visited President Roosevelt in the White House. It was just a year ago I stood guard over him when he visited the Norfolk Naval Yard at Portsmouth, Va. He was the one that delayed me four days on my first leave.

Now if anyone would care to write to me, I will try and answer all letters. Would be more than glad to receive letters from home. Your friend,
RUSSELL DEWEY.

Old Games Still Popular

Displays at the American Toy fair held recently in Chicago showed that the modern family still plays at ring toss and checkers, anagrams and tiddlywinks, all popular indoor sports of the early eighties.

Success for Dinner—Savory Stuffed Peppers
(See Recipes Below.)

Flavor's the Thing

Ever notice how ever-so-good foods run in combinations of three flavors? There's the steak, french fried potatoes and pie combination. Or, you can have fried chicken, gravy and biscuits as a threesome.

At one time or another you've all tried lamb chop, peas and mint jelly combination, or a melted cheese, toasted bread and grilled tomatoes plate luncheon. Now other foods are joining the victory parade and new dishes are joining hands at the table to blitz their way to food fame. The nutrition rule which is rapidly gaining popularity is the one which says that if you miss one food combination at one meal, you must pick it up at another meal so you'll get all the energy units you need these busy days.

That's why today I'm offering you combinations of food which contain nutrients easy to miss if you're not careful. Take iron, for instance. Iron is a mineral that has a big job to do for your system. It sees to it that your energies don't lag and guards against anemia and general digestive disturbances.

Biggest job of all that iron does is to see that your body gets all the oxygen it needs by making enough red blood cells to go through that 7,000-mile long circulatory system that will replenish with oxygen and carry off the poisonous carbon dioxide which is another word for the oxygen after you finished using it. Now the thing about iron is that it's difficult to find it in a great many foods. You can see how important it is because you need it every day. You'll find iron in eggs, whole wheat cereals and oatmeal, for instance. Suppose you skip these things at breakfast. That means you've got to pick up iron in one of the other two meals, for instance, by having some iron-rich food like liver, heart, oysters, greens, dried fruits. Do you follow?

That's why today I'm including several iron-rich foods so you will be sure not to miss a day without having something with iron.

Browned Oysters.

(Serves 6)

1 quart oysters
4 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
Juice of 1 lemon
Salt, pepper
Worcestershire sauce
Remove oysters from juice and drain. Dredge in flour and brown in 2 tablespoons butter. Remove from pan and set aside. Make a brown sauce by blending remaining butter with flour. Add juice from cooked oysters, lemon juice and sauce. Pour over oysters and serve.

Lynn Says:
Survey Notes: A nutritional survey by a large firm reveals the following interesting bits of information: that we are the best fed country in the world, but as a whole do not know enough about eating as wisely as we should.

Of the 11,582 interviews made, it is found that about 27.7 per cent of the families are eating more protective foods than two years ago. Marked increases were made in the consumption of citrus fruits.

Most women like to cook, it goes on to tell, three out of four in the first thousand and like to cook, 11.6 per cent like to cook occasionally, and about 10.8 per cent "not at all."

Families are fed—at least 66 per cent of those interviewed—what women think are good for them. Then 58.5 per cent are fed what the family likes. Cost of food affects 42.19 per cent, and variety influences 28.2 per cent.

Lesson for October 11

LOYALTY TO CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:14-17; John 6:66-69; Philippians 3:7-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—What things were gained to me, those I counted loss for Christ.—Philippians 3:7.

Loyalty is undoubtedly one of the finest traits of mankind. Because of its strength, its fidelity to duty, etc., shrewd men have learned to play upon man's loyalty, making it serve evil and ignoble ends. Unworthy causes, having thus gained the interest of man by fair means or foul, have demanded blind loyalty. Even in the carrying out of crime there has been the suggestion that there is some kind of a code of honor, a loyalty among thieves. All this does not change the fact that there is a high and holy impulse in man to stand true to the right, and in the Christian, to be found ever loyal to the Christ, whose we are and whom we serve. Faith in Christ (our lesson of last week) is rightly followed by loyalty to Him. It manifests itself in three ways.

I. Following Christ (Mark 2:14-17).
Without obedience there is no use talking about loyalty. When Jesus said: "Follow me," Matthew (Levi) arose and followed. He was a sinner (v. 17), a man of the despised calling of tax-gatherer (v. 14), but he was ready for the call of Jesus. Notice also that following Christ carries with it the privilege and obligation (it is both) of making Him known to our friends. Matthew did not wait until he had made a new circle of friends and then invite them to a feast. He celebrated his entrance upon the new life of faith by a friendly and effective testimony before his friends who were publicans and sinners.

Notice the words of Jesus in verse 17. It is not good people, satisfied in their own self-righteousness, who get to heaven. It is sinners, saved by grace, who will there magnify the Saviour's name.

II. Faithfulness to Christ (John 6:66-69).
It is one thing to begin, but quite another to persevere in well doing. Jesus had been doing many miracles and a host of followers had flocked to Him. He had not only done great deeds, but had spoken beautiful words about the Fatherhood of God, the power of the Holy Spirit, etc. He had fed the five thousand, and they liked that too.

But now He had talked about a broken body, about partaking of His flesh and His blood, and they did not like it. This reached too deeply into the necessity for a personal spiritual experience, and one that spoke of sacrifice, and many of the disciples "walked no more with him" (v. 66).

How perfect a picture of the "religious experience" of multitudes of men and women in our day. The true disciple, however, stands truest in just such an hour. "We believe," said Peter, and he spoke better than ever before in his life. "We don't understand everything (that's the thought back of "To whom shall we go?"), but we believe, and we will stand fast." Blessed word of loyalty!

Observe that Peter and his brethren recognized Christ as the "Holy One of God," that is, God's Son in a unique and intimate sense. One close to and participating in the holiness of God. Loyalty will not hold on any lesser concept of Christ. There is no incentive to real service and sacrifice in the watered-out religious faith of the modernistic liberal!

III. Forsaking All for Christ (Phil. 3:7-11).

There were a number of things in the life of Paul as a natural man of which he was justifiably proud, but which in the light of his relationship to Christ paled into insignificance. The best this world can offer looks like rubbish (v. 8)—which it really is—when one catches a glimpse of Jesus Christ.

Turn your eyes upon Jesus.
Look full in His wonderful face,
And the things of earth will grow strangely dim.

In the light of His glory and grace. However, that experience of Paul's was only the beginning of a life of devotion to the Lord, which is expressed in words the depth of which we cannot fully plumb. What does it mean to know "the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made comfortable unto his death"? We do not fully know, but certain we are that it speaks of a fellowship with Christ that is very deep and intimate; a life of power, because He lives in and works through the believer; a sharing with Him of the hatred and bitterness of the world, yes, of death, if need be, for Him, in the assurance of resurrection.

This is an "all out" Christian experience, nothing held back, nothing thought to be too difficult or trying—everything gladly given in unstinted love and devotion to Christ. Now the Christian church is languishing for the want of those who will forsake all to follow Him in complete faithfulness.

V-Mail for Yanks

A new space-saving device known as V-Mail is now in operation between U. S. army units in England, Northern Ireland and the United States. Under this service, letters are first dispatched to a central station where they are censored and then photographed on small rolls of microfilm. Arriving at their destination, the microfilm rolls are developed, and photostatic copies are sent by regular mail service to the addressee. Details are now being worked out for transmission of V-Mail to and from U. S. armed forces in other parts of the world.

Still With Us

There is scarcely a single joy or sorrow, within the experience of our fellow-creatures, which we have not tasted; yet the belief in the good and beautiful has never forsaken us. It has been medicine in sickness, richness in poverty, and the best part of all that ever delighted us in health and success.—(Leigh Hunt).

Girl Soldier
Women soldiers are not new to this continent; in Quebec province in 1692, Madeleine de Vercheres, a French-Canadian girl of 14, defended the Fort of Vercheres against the Iroquois for eight days, aided only by two young boys and two aged veteran soldiers.

Grand View
Crossing hills and mountains, the highway along the north shore of the lower St. Lawrence river in Quebec province offers a view of the surrounding countryside often from a vantage of some 2,500 feet.

for the duration...

give your electric washer this
PREFERRED TREATMENT

To HELP YOUR WASHER stand up under the big load it faces for the duration, keep in mind these few simple rules:

- (1) Drain washer and rinse tub thoroughly after each washing. Remove agitator or suction cups and rinse.
- (2) Wipe dry with a soft cloth to remove any soap curd or lint that may remain. If your washer has a spinner dryer, this too should be cleaned, rinsed and wiped dry.
- (3) Don't try to force thick, bulky articles through your wringer—and especially don't run through belt buckles or other hard objects that might cut the rolls. They are rubber, and precious!
- (4) Release the pressure on wringer when not in use. This saves the spring and the rubber, and prevents the rolls from becoming flat on one side.
- (5) Don't overload your washer. Cramming in too big a wash simply puts a strain on the motor, and results in a less satisfactory job.
- (6) When you finish washing, dry the wringer thoroughly, also dry the connecting cord and wind it up carefully. Leave cover off washer to prevent it from becoming musty. The Detroit Edison Company.

DON'T BE FOOLED
BY A FULL JUNK YARD!

Don't listen to people who say—"They can't need scrap very badly. Look at that junk yard, or the auto graveyards—they've got plenty of scrap. And remember the last time we had a drive the stuff sat around for weeks." Tell such people these true facts . . .

Of course the junk yards are full. They are "factories" that turn out finished scrap—sorted, broken up, and bundled . . . ready for the mills of America. The scrap has to go through these yards, and it keeps going through fast!

The auto graveyards, too, are busy. They specialize in used car parts, but produce plenty of scrap as well. In June alone, these yards moved 450,000 tons—for they are required to junk within 60 days as many cars as they buy.

As for Salvage Depots—communities all over the country are staging drives. All this scrap can't be taken away at once. The junkies can't handle it and the mills can't store it. But every pound is needed and will be used. We've got to pile it up ready for instant use at any time.

The day when all junk yards are empty, when the auto graveyards are cleaned out, when all the local scrap stockpiles are gone—that is the day to dread. It is a day to avoid at all costs.

So remember—steel is needed to fight the war, and millions of lives depend on it. This steel is made of 50 per cent scrap—and the mills have not enough scrap to last even 30 days longer. Don't fail to do your part in this emergency.

Get your scrap ready.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Gas masks which came into use in warfare for the first time when the Germans used poison and mustard gas in World War I, are much improved today over those used then. The Chemical Warfare Branch of the War Department issues these gas masks to every man in the service. We are taking no chances.

The type pictured here is the "can" and "elephant nose" mask and costs about $9.25 each. The headgear is transparent, made of material resembling cellophane and does not cloud with the breath. You can buy two of these gas masks with the purchase of an $18.75 War Bond. We need thousands of them. Don't fail to give at least ten percent of your income every pay day for War Bonds. Buy them at your bank or postoffice, regularly.

Farmers Should Fill Own Nitrogen Needs

Increase of Legume Crops Stops Depletion of Soil

By growing legume crops that produce nitrogen naturally in the soil, American farmers are making it possible for Uncle Sam to use a very large amount of the commercial nitrogen supply for turning out bombs, shells and submarine depth charges with which to beat the Axis, according to a statement made public by the Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

"How essential nitrogen is in the war effort," says the statement, "may be understood from the fact that there is enough of this element in a ton of nitrate of soda to make three aerial bombs or three submarine depth charges.

"As the war progresses, more and more nitrogen will have to be diverted to the armed forces. This means that farmers will have to produce more of their own nitrogen supply through a greatly increased acreage of legumes this fall and next spring.

"Science has revealed that the air is about four-fifths nitrogen. Legumes such as alfalfa or clover have the ability to fix atmospheric nitrogen in nodules on their roots. Under proper plant food and bacterial conditions in the soil, a good crop of legumes will add over 100 pounds of available nitrogen to an acre of land, plus a goodly supply of organic matter.

"Fortunately for agriculture, the commercial supply of phosphorus and potash is sufficient to meet the needs of farmers everywhere for fertilizer. This is especially important in view of the fact that legume crops require a bountiful supply of phosphorus and potash to insure good stands and promote the fixation of nitrogen."

Cranberries

Good news for cranberry growers is the discovery of "ursolic acid" which is derived from skins discarded in the making of cranberry sauce. The acid is an emulsifying agent which helps make oil and water mix, and is so rare that it is valued at $80 an ounce.

From the oil of cranberry seeds is obtained vitamin A which can be added to other foods lacking in this vital element. Until this discovery, cranberry seeds were discarded in canning. It may be some time before either of these new products will be manufactured commercially.

Meanwhile the canning of cranberries and bottling of cranberry juice are growing industries. Experiments are under way to find a use for the wax-like coating of the cranberry.

The best land for the cultivated berry are the bogs and marshes of Massachusetts, Wisconsin and New Jersey where the bush once grew wild. The land is flooded to prevent drought, to protect the bushes from frost, and destroy insects. It is drained for the ripening and picking season.

Cranberries got their name from the trailing branches and stems curved like the neck of a crane, and the tiny flowers, shaped like a crane's bill. The original name, craneberry, was shortened to cranberry.

Home Pork Consumption

There should be a 225-pound hog slaughtered on every farm annually for each two members of the family, says Ellis V. Vestal, extension swine specialist of North Carolina State college. The average person on the farm requires about 72 pounds of pork and 15 pounds of lard each year.

The extension swine specialist recommends the selection of feeder pigs which are of a medium-weight type, and have good-sized bones.

Nation's Trust

In view of the shortage of new pressure cookers and the absolute necessity of canning all food possible, pressure cookers—both old and new—should be looked upon as a trust from the nation. Patriotic plans should be made, therefore, so that each pressure cooker available will serve several families. Not only will you be patriotic to lend your pressure cooker but help your neighbor or friend use it if she does not know how.

you been doing that much? I'm asking you and all the people everywhere, in every county and every neighborhood, to take our word for it when we say we need more scrap metal. We want it now—before snow flies—or we won't get it this winter.

"Yes, I know. There have been mistakes. I've made them. Maybe you've made 'em. I know you are wrong when you think no effort is being made to move this scrap. It is moving right now, but we can't move it all at once. We will move it, all of it, in the next three or four months. It is now being dumped in huge quantities at the mills. We want enough to keep those mills going full blast—100 per cent capacity—all winter.

"Yes, I'm tired. I've been damned uphill and down. I don't blame people who do not understand. That's why I'm here talking to you fellows today. I want you newspaper men to help them understand. I want you to help me. I want you to help your own boy in service. I want you to help lick Hitler and the Japs.

"If you don't..." The tall, tired-looking government man's voice trailed away and he just stood looking into the eyes of about 20 newspapermen who had become very quiet.

They believed him.

Don't you?
