VITAMINS

You are reading about vitamins every day, about their importance in the diet, and their effect upon the general health, yet if you were to be asked to describe a vitamin you might find it difficult to do so. I have been some what familiar with vitamins since the last war but I also would have difficulty in defining them. In this book "Vitamins," Dr. Henry of biochemistry.

Dr. Barton

California Institute of Technology, says: "The fact is that the discovery of vitamins and of the role they play in human health is the most important medical advance so far made in this century. It has taught us what the essentials are in food. It has given us new insights into the chemistry of the body. But most important, it has given us the means of greatly raising the standard of health and well-being of all of us." Everywhere we are seeing newspaper and magazine articles about the value of the vitamins in certain diseases. Thus, vitamin A is used in eye disease, B in neuritis, arthritis, lack of appetite, C in scurvy, D in rickets, and E in certain gland deficiencies. However, while this is important, not more Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Warner than a fraction of the population is suffering with these diseases and Dr. Borsook points out that even larger groups need vitamins although they have no special disease. "The really serious problem is that the general level of health is lower than it needs to be. Defective vision in dim light, most constipation and dyspensia, the small aches and pains of middle age, poor teeth, thinning bones, general fatigue and lack of tone-these are all very often caused by insufficient amounts of vitamins in our ordinary diets over a period of many years."

How can we be sure of getting enough vitamins for our daily needs?

Diet experts have worked out tables of the everyday requirements of each vitamin for children and adults but if, in addition to our regular diet of bread, potatoes and meat, we make sure every day of average servings of dairy products-milk. butter, cheese — and green vegetables - lettuce, spinach, cabbage, beet and carrot tops—we will get all the vitamins we need.

And Gall Bladder

What may be hard to understand is why fat foods must be avoided in liver and gall bladder disturbances; yet it is known that fat food helps to empty the gall bladder Mrs. Clifford Robinson and son, promptly, thus preventing gall bladier symptoms such as pain and ga

While it is true that fat foodsbutter, cream, bacon-help empty the gall bladder, it requires but a small amount of these fat foods to do this, and eating more fat foods W. J. Campbell of Detroit visit- than the liver can handle properly brings about the sluggishness of liver and gall bladder with the usual symptoms arising from this sluggishness-pain in upper right side of abdomen, gas pressure, bloating and sometimes nausea and vomiting. When man was created his body was, and still is, covered with huge masses of muscle. These muscles were not meant to simply carry him about and reach for his food. These huge muscles were meant to work, to dens, fight or run as necessity arose. man was meant to use them every day. And to keep these muscles nourished man was meant to eat all kinds of food including fat foods. What we find, however, is that man eats plenty of food but because modern life makes it unnecessary to work or carry burdens, the circulation of the blood in the liver is not stimulated to action as much as it should be and so enough bile is not manufactured to take care of the fats and sugars eaten.

An active liver manufacturing bile in large quantities gives a buoyant feeling, whereas a sluggish liver makes one discouraged or even a 'auitter.''

As man was meant to use his muscles, take deep breaths and bend his body, simple daily exerciseswalking, bending, deep breathing-will stimulate the flow of bile in liver and keep gall bladder emptying regularly.

GROWTH IN CHRIST

LESSON TEXT-Luke 2:40-52; II Peter GOLDEN TEXT-But grow in grace, nd in the knowledge of our Lord and aviour Jesus Christ.—II Peter 3:18.

Growth is a normal thing. We expect it of the child, and when it fails we know that something is wrong. Just so there is something very decidedly wrong in the life of the Christian who fails to grow in grace. If a child fails to grow we are alarmed, but if a Christian does not grow we hardly notice it, or at most only express our regret. We need a revival.

I. Normal Children Will Grow (Luke 2:40-52).

While Christ was God manifest in the flesh, He was at the same time true man, and as a boy He developed and grew in a normal way.

Unless we meet the tragedy of arrested development we need have no concern about the fact that a child will grow physically, mentally and spiritually. The Lord has placed in the babe in a mother's arms the potential qualities of the man or woman to come. Our chief responsibility is to provide the opportunity for the development of those abilities and qualities which the child has, and of guiding that growth in the right direction.

That is all a parent has to do, but it is enough to call for all the wisdom, judgment, patience and skill of the best of us. Yes, and even that Willard of East Detroit as our is not enough, we need the wisdom of God and His grace upon our lives to do this vital work as we ought.

The qualities in a boy or girl which will count gloriously for God may be dreadfully effective for Satan if we permit him to get control of our children. May God help us to be alert and skillful in rearing our boys and girls.

While it is true that we can do more for the guidance of physical and mental growth than spiritual (because that is a matter of the grace of God), we can lead the steps of the little child to the house of God; we can teach him to pray and to trust God, and we can set an example of godly living before him. That is all we can do; but again we say, it is enough to demand our best effort and more.

II. Normal Christians Will Grow (II Pet, 1:1-8).

In Christ there are "all things that pertain unto life and godliness." There is no need of some added experience, or some new and striking enducement, for all the unbelievably great possibilities of Christian grace

We have, in practice, so far de- vices. parted from the normal in Christian life that we can hardly believe that the above is true. In place of the normal Christian life according to God's standard, we have established a standard based on the average Christian life. If we equal it we are satisfied, and if perchance we surpass it we count ourselves among the "more spiritual" ones. And all the time the average standard is far below the normal Christian life which God not only expects, but is ready to enable and empower us to Peter tells us in this passage that the great and precious promises of God in Christ are not only to enable us to escape the corruption of this sinful world, but to go on to a place where we will neither 'be barren nor unfruitful" Christians. How will this come about? Verses 5-7 tell us.

Faith supplies in itself (rather than "add to," v. 5), if there is than "add to, v. o, in the Christian diligence" (that is, true Christian or only on the christia devotion), a number of other splendid qualities. First comes "virtue" of character. What a fine step for--really moral courage, or nobility ward! Then comes "knowledge," that is, a discernment which will give practical skill in effective daily living for Christ. Such spiritual discernment will naturally lead to "self-control" — something much needed by most Christians.

The self-controlled one will always have "patience," that is, the endurance to stand every hardship and trial. We need to be more patient not only with others, but also with ourselves, even in this matter of Christian growth of which we are

A life like that is a life of "godliness," which will blossom out into Dr. Gordon Phillips real "brotherly kindness." There isn't too much of that in the world today, even among Christians. Let's revive it! Then what? The one who loves his brother will love the whole world (charity, in v. 8, should read "love"). Why not? Are we not all brethren, who know Christ, regardless of race, position or creed? Let such virtues "abound" (v. 8), and no Christian life will lack in rich fruitfulness for God in Christ. If Christian people would let the new life within them grow, it would sur prise us and them what God would

FUN FOR YOUR FAMILY

By MISS ABBIE CONDIT National Recreation Association.

Sometimes even the most stimulating dinner conversation lags suddenly and family or guests show signs of restlessness. Come to the rescue with sit-down games.

"Twenty Questions" is an old favorite which is easily adapted to dining room festivities. Have one of the diners think of some person or object and let the others try to guess what he or she is thinking of. This is done by asking questions that must be answered by "yes" or "no." Everyone at the table takes turns asking the questions and the winner chooses the next object.

While everyone is still in a "thoughtful" mood, spring a food quiz on them. Divide the group into two teams and have the host read his questions aloud. The first player to call out the correct answer scores a point for his team.

If the subject of the quiz is cake, for instance, you would ask: What is the brightest cake? Sunshine; What is the holiest cake? Angel Food; What cake weighs the most? Pound: What cake weighs the least? Feather; What is the hen's cake? Layer: What cake never pays its way? Sponge; What is the fat woman's cake? Jelly roll. Sample cook books or recipes make good prizes for the winning team!

Here's one to play while waiting for dinner or between courses: Give each person

KERSMSTA a pencil and a CARLABEV fprinted or type-TEBCHESI written sheet of ULGREADV paper containing ACOANMNE the square of let-KROPSONA ters at the left. EISECANL Beginning at any CAPSASBE letter in the chart and moving (one letter at a time) in any direction, have the players spell out the names of foods, drinks, and seasonings.

squares as often as necessary, and begin a word at any point in the square. For example-the second letter down in the first column is C, to its right is an A, diagonally up to the left is a K, and right of the K is an E. This spells CAKE. Give an extra dessert to the one with the longest list!

Here are a few of the words which can be spelled from the square: lamb, beets, beans, bacon, peas, rice, cake, pork, pecans, ham, bread, grapes, cream, veal, corn, bananas, spice, and crackers. There are more than 40 words; can you find the others?

Writing poetry is good mealtime fun and won't take literary talent, either! Each person writes a single line of poetry, original or otherwise, on a piece of paper, folds the paper back a half inch to cover the writing, and then writes the last word of his line on the top of the next section. Papers are then passed to the right and the next person composes a line ending in a word which rhymes with the word that is showing. The papers are folded again and again to hide the poetry and are passed around the table. Since the poems will be in couplets, it is only necessary to rhyme the even lines with the odd lines preceding them. Thus the second line will rhyme with the first, the fourth with the third, and so on. When eight lines have been written, read the poems aloud, and be prepared for a literary treat!

Family meals need never be dull or boring if you dress them up with fun and games. If you're not in a mood for games, try telling stories or jokes. Have a little family competition to replenish your store of anecdotes and choose the best storyteller at the end of the month. You'll find that this kind of fun fare is good for the digestion, too! ### HARRY F. KELLY BROUGHT BUSINESS EFFICIENCY INTO THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE

When Harry F. Kelly first took office as Secretary of State, January 1, 1939, the department was obsolete in its methods, dilatory in its service, hog-tied with red tape! Before his first term was over, Harry F. Kelly had streamlined the entire department, upped its efficiency month after month, and brought its economy to a high point.

Today, the department, doing an annual business in excess of $80,000,000, is a model of ably directed operation. Its 9 divisions and 170 odd branches function with the precision of a fine watch. It operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, in its Registration and Title Division to benefit the police and public alike.

To Harry F. Kelly, and to him alone, goes the entire credit for this amazing transformation! You can depend on his achieving the same high degree of efficiency, in all state departments, when he is elected Governor of Michigan on November 3rd.

Keeping this slogan in mind, why not divide the family clothing into the following groups: (1) Those garments ready for use; (2) those garments needing repairs; (3) those garments that can be remodeled; and (4) those which can be used for other purposes. Not even hopeless garments should be discarded.

AMERICA IN ACTION

THE TRENCH MORTAR

CHICAGO.-Modern war of lightring-like thrusts by mobile infantry has been made possible not only by streamlined tanks and fast trooptrucks, but by the most ancient weapon of all-the humble trench mortar.

American army authorities, in fact, declare that the high, plunging speed of tanks and trucks would be all but cancelled out and limited to that of their heavy artillery support but for the mortar.

This simple, portable, high-angleof-fire weapon is used by an armored spearhead or small advanced unit of infantry to demolish tank traps and obstructions in the path of trucks, to quiet machine guns and light artillery, to destroy pillboxes and small fortifications, and even to lay down smoke screens. Without mortars, vehicles and ground troops of the spearhead would have to wait for the artillery to arrive, thus making swift, knifing thrusts through enemy positions impossible.

In addition to the fact that the mortar is light and can be easily carried, it is highly maneuverable and deadly accurate. A high explosive shell can be dropped on a blanket out of sight and more than a mile away.

The mortar, in addition, is a relatively inexpensive piece of artillery and lends itself to quantity production. For example, an arsenal of Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company here produced enough medium mortars during June to supnly seven armored American divisions over and above the plant's original rate of production.

The mortar looks like an upright section of pipe about four feet long which rests on a flat base plate and is supported by a tripod. Because the barrel is thin, the modern weapon is hardly recognizable as the same kind of gun which was used in the American Civil war and now found on many county court house monuments. The old-timers look like the fine care during my stay at huge soup kettles with iron sides 10 or 12 inches thick. The thin, light friends who sent me flowers, barrels of the modern mortar have been made possible by improve-10-16-1p ments in the quality of steel.

Vitamin Ways

Comes winter and fall when vegetables and fruits are more scarce than during summer and fall, and many a homemaker is apt to fall shy on serving her family these vital body regulating and protective foods. Yet, this is the time when the body needs them most. These foods build up the body's resistance to disease -and keep you, to pick a common example, from having a cold as soon as warm weather and sun flee.

Minerals are busy building and repairing, replenishing body tissues that get torn down and used up, daily with every movement you make. Vitamins help you use the foods you eat.

Good-to-eat foods help the family take in all these vital minerals and vitamins. Drab, uninteresting dishes will send them off to eating other foods to take the edge off their hunger-wherever they can put their hands on something. I need not point out that in this way they may really be losing out on foods necessary to the body.

Cooking vegetables well, and doing pretty things to their appearance will help their consumption rating. A bit of sauce or extra seasoning will put an ordinary vegetable over and at the same time insure your family of what it needs

Lynn Says: Vital Statistics: There are about seven inches in the Nutrition Yardstick which bear checking every day in every way so as to keep you and your family in the running:

The first inch includes milk: 1 pint per day for every adult and quart for every child. Of course you don't have to drink all this milk. Use part of it in cooking.

Second honors go to meat, fish or poultry, and this is not hard to use up. For lunch or dinner, whichever fits best for your family, one serving per person should be counted. At least one egg a day or at least four to five per week marks the third inch. Have it for breakfast or toss it in the hot bread for dinner, or custard for lunch. Cereal's important, too. Serve it in the breakfast, or a pudding or even cookies. Bread and rolls come under this category, also. Fifth inch includes the vegetables: two besides potatoes, one should be a leafy vegetablespinach, lettuce, broccoli, romaine, etc.-and the other raw.

Cabbage is perfect. Now, the fruits. Two a day isn't hard to manage. Of course you start off with breakfast, and then include one for lunch or dinner dessert. The last and seventh inch in-

"Here is a clear issue, as we see it, between good government and bad government. Must we assume that the fair-minded and intelligent people living outside of Wayne County will vote on the side of bad government simply because of prejudices fixed by county lines?

"With all due respect to your easoned judgment and wisdom in affairs pertaining to the state, we feel that the voters of the other ounties of the state will favor this amendment when understood by

"We believe that the old prejulice between the dweller in rural areas and the city dweller is a thing of the past. It has disappeared, under the influences of rapd communication, education, and other factors of progress. Counties are not just parts of a whole, but we are all one. The sons and daughters of farmers who attend our high schools and state institutions of higher learning, have the same ideals, the same outlook as do those of the big cities. Gregorian Calendar

According to the Gregorian calendar each year has 53 days of the one on which it begins and 53 of the succeeding day. Generally the year contains 53 Sundays every five or six years. In recent years this occurred in 1928, 1933, 1939. It will occur in 1944, 1950, 1956, 1961, 1967, etc. The U. S. Naval Observatory points out that any continuous series of 28 years contains five with 53 Sundays, unless the series includes a year whose number ends in two ciphers without it being a leap year, as 1700, 1800, 1900,

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

1943 Farm Goals to Be Biggest Ever; U. S. Increases Strength in Pacific As Air-Naval Forces Blast Japanese; Nazis: 'No Need to Take Stalingrad'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those o Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

A secret landing by American forces in the Andreanof group of the Aleutian islands made it possible to establish an airfield from which planes could blast Japanese positions on Kiska island. The above photo shows American troops in a "bucket brigade" passing supplies ashore from a small boat.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Yank Power Grows

The Japs learned a lesson about American air and naval strength in the Pacific when five of their ships including a heavy cruiser were damaged by a U. S. aircraft carrier task force which pierced Nipponese defenses at Shortland island in the north Solomons. In addition, an air field was blasted at Bougainville, main Jap air base, and numerous aircraft destroyed. A navy communique reported that the Japs were caught by surprise and the American operation was carried out without loss of men or

Besides the heavy cruiser, the American battle score against the Jap forces included one transport damaged by heavy bombs, one seaplane tender and two cargo ships damaged by light bombs.

In New Guinea, the advance of the tough Australian bush troops continued over the Owen Stanley mountains which the Japs had penetrated weeks before.

Although craggy trails had prevented swift movement, the Australians had cleared the enemy before them and had removed the threat of a Jap surge that once had pierced to within 32 miles of strategic Port Moresby.

A communique issued by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia disclosed that the Allies' New Guinea advance had been made "with practically no loss."

"Information from native carriers who deserted the Jap forces plus reports from our own patrols, indicates the retreating Japs were exhausted, living on short rations and badly needing supplies," the communique reported.

Much of the Australian success was said to be due to a constant air attack on Japanese supply lines.

FARM GOALS:

Boosted for 1943

A nation-wide wartime plowup mext spring, reminiscent of the days of 1918, loomed as the U.S. department of agriculture drew up tentative production goals calling for even greater acreages and output of most farm products than was requested under the record 1942 production

The goals for all farm crops but three-wheat, short staple cotton and commercial vegetables-were set higher than for 1942. Corn and other feed grains, beans, peas, peanuts, potatoes, sugar beets, hemp and vegetables for processing were given the green light. So were production goals for cattle, hogs, dairy products, poultry and eggs.

With less manpower, machinery and other facilities to operate with, farmers had their work cut out for them. Moreover, the needs of the armed forces and the Allies, particularly Russia, were said to be much greater than had been expected a few weeks before.

If 1943 farm goals are not reached, civilian consumers will have to tighten their belts. Consumer rationing was to be inaugurated January 1, but civilians had already been asked to limit meat consumption to 21/2 pounds weekly. A possibility remained that sooner or later, butter, cheese, cooking fats, vegetable oils, eggs, poultry and canned fruits and vegetables would be placed in the same category as meat.

RUSSIA:

Stalingrad Checkmate

Unnoticed at the start, Marshal Timoshenko's counteroffensive, begun far up the northern arm of the Don river in the vicinity of Kletskaya, had moved forward. Its object was to draw off German striking power from the Stalingrad area. Timoshenko had struck first, in a 50-mile area between the Don and Volga northwest of Stalingrad and had extended his forces southwest to the German flank.

That Timoshenko's strategy had worked was indicated by a significant statement on the Berlin radio which announced that the Germans would abandon frontal attacks on Stalingrad and destroy what was left of the city with heavy artillery. "It is no longer necessary to send German infantry and assault engineers into the battle," the announcement "The finishing touches will now be entrusted to heavy artillery and dive bombers.'

Observers noted that the German announcement was reminiscent of propaganda covering the Nazi withdrawal a year ago from Rostov, when the Russians gained their first victory of the war.

Southward, in the Caucasus the Nazis had succeeded in advancing in the Mozdok area, while Rumanian reinforcements were reported pushing southward from the German-held Black sea base of Novorossisk,

WAR COSTS: 210 Million Daily

Nar costs will exceed 210 million dollars a day by January 1, 1943, according to figures based on revised calculations by Budget Director Harold Smith. Mr. Smith's estimates placed total war spending at 78 billion dollars in the current fiscal year which will end June 30, 1943.

The budget director's upward estimate was about 25 billions more than President Roosevelt's figures last January and eight billions more than a previous calculation by Smith. Increased expenditures for all war purposes would make it necessary for the treasury to borrow approximately $60,300,000,000 from the public during the current fiscal year.

LABOR:

Lewis Divorces CIO

Labor leaders and politicos had long awaited the formal secession of the United Mine Workers of America from the CIO. Bushybrowed UMW Chief John L. Lewis kept his own counsel, but chose a dramatic moment for the divorce. The occasion was the miners' annual convention at Cincinnati. Brusquely warning the delegates that he would no longer remain the union's president if it remained in the CIO, Lewis obtained unanimous consent to withdraw. A committee report urging the separation charged the CIO with failure to pay a $1,650,000 debt to the UMW and denounced alleged attacks by CIO officers on Lewis.

The convention action merely gave public recognition to a situation that had existed for months. Lewis and Philip Murray, CIO president, were feuding after a friendship of years standing. Murray, a former miner and vice president of UMW, had been "read out" of the union, last spring.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

NEW YORK: Supplies of tea on hand in the United States are sufficient to meet present restricted demands for the next six or seven months, Benjamin Wood, managing director of the Tea bureau, declared. Wood said estimated stocks were 28 to 29 million pounds, enough to carry the nation well into 1943, under quota regulations restricting tea sales 50 per cent.

MELBOURNE: Australian chorus girls must be over 45 years of age. according to a recent government order. The age limit is one of the new "austerity" restrictions in force in the Australian commonwealth. Able-bodied women under 45 years of age should be in jobs "that contribute more directly to the war effort," the government feels. Hence the new theatrical restriction.

ALEUTIANS:

Japs Fold Tents

As mysteriously as they first appeared, Japanese forces disappeared from the two westernmost Aleutian islands, a navy communique revealed. The two islands abandoned were Attu and Agattu, lying close together nearly 200 miles from Heavy bombing by American aircraft which destroyed most of the Japanese buildings on the two islands was cited as a reason for the withdrawal.

The Japs still held a foothold on Kiska island, but Yankee flyers made their tenure precarious. Army heavy bombers operating from the newly acquired American bases in the Andreanof islands in the Aleutians blasted Jap-held positions on Kiska in repeated raids.

The islands of Attu and Agattu were originally seized by the Japs shortly after the Aleutian campaign opened last June.

SCANDINAVIA:

Headache for Nazis

Germany's influence in the Scandinavian countries had been weakening. This was evident when a general election in Sweden had returned a record number of Communist, anti-Nazi delegates to the national assembly. It was evident, too, in frequent peace feelers from war-plagued Finland. Thus when rioting and disorders broke out against the Axis overlords in Norway and Denmark, few observers were surprised.

Swift was the Nazi action in countering with force the Scandinavian threat. The Germans proclaimed a state of emergency in central Norway from the seaport of Trondheim to the Swedish border. Reprisal executions followed. Reports from Copenhagen said tension had mounted to fever heat because of clashes resulting from the "overbearing and provocative" attitude of the volunteer pro-Nazi "Free Corps." The Nazi radio gave official confirmation of Scandinavian unrest by announcing that the Norwegian emergency was proclaimed because of recent sabotage attempts "which if they had succeeded would have endangered Norway's supply sys-

Emphasizing that he was speaking as a private citizen, Edge said it was "unfortunate that the government seems to feel it necessary to continue recognition of the Vichy regime.

Cast by Thomas Lister

The Province bell, later known as the Liberty bell, was cast by Thomas Lister of Whitechapel, London. It arrived in Philadelphia in the latter part of August, 1752, and was hung on trusses in the yard of the State house to test its sound before hanging it in the tower. In September of 1752 the bell was cracked by the clapper during a test and was recast by Pass and Stowe, "two ingenious workmen of Philadelphia." The present bell was turned out of their moulds on March 16, 1753, and in June it was placed in the State house steeple.

300,000 Acres Hemp Needed From Farms

Increased Use of Fiber Caused by War Demands

Because of the unprecedented war-time demand for hemp, U. S. farmers are planning to produce a record crop of this fiber in 1943.

In the face of a sharp drop in imports of hard fibers, the U.S. war production program-calling for a two-ocean navy and the largest army of all time—demands a tremendous increase in the production of rough, tough fiber. In addition the average American citizen uses almost four nounds of hard fibers per year, or the equivalent of 1,850 feet of binder twine, or 13 feet of one-inch rope.

The minimum goal for U. S. farms is 240 million pounds of hemp in 1943. To obtain that much fiber, it will require, assuming an average yield of 800 pounds of total fiber per acre. roughly 300,000 acres of hemp. This, in turn, will require 350,000 bushels of seed. To produce this seed, assuming a yield of 10 bushels per acre, will require

Already Kentucky farmers have planted 36,000 of hemp as a seed crop in anticipation of next year's record-breaking acreage for fiber. Hemp is a soft fiber, but it is durable, strong and flexible. It can be produced successfully in Kentucky, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Il-

Now that many of the hard fibers used for these and other purposes are not as readily available and cannot be produced in this climate, hemp becomes an important war-time substitute for them.

Hemp fiber can be used in many ways. It can be used for small hawsers for the navy, which urgently needs these ropes; for ham strings, mattress twines, harness thread, for tying chair springs, as oakum or packing material, and as special twines requiring strength and durability.

On the farm heavy hemp rope is used as a cable to hoist tons of hay into the barn or to perform other heavy-duty work.

If you have ever watched an ocean liner dock at an American port, the chances are you received a never-to-be-forgotten thrill when the giant ship, loaded with passengers and valuable cargo, was safely tied to its mooring with a large, stout rope. Seamen call this rope a bawser.

Most ropes of this type are now made from abaca, a hard fiber which has been imported to this country from the Philippines and the East Indies.

THE SOLDIER'S HEALTH

The 1942 American soldier is healthier than the men at Valley Forge and hardier than the men at Gettysburg. He is better protected from disease than the men at San Juan, and more resistant to disease than the men in the Argonne.

Aside from the casualties of battle, he has better health and a higher life expectancy than his comrades in the same age group back

These facts are revealed in a pamphlet—"The Soldier and His Health.'' recently issued by the women's interests section of the war department's bureau of public relations.

Translating some of the statistics in the pamphlet to a few simple sentences. Private Smith's mother may make the following comparison between the health of soldiers and civilians:

In civilian life-FOUR times as many civilians die of typhoid fever.

NINE times as many die of tuberculosis. TEN times as many die of influenza. TWO and a HALF times as many die of pneumonia.

Sometimes Private Smith grumbles a bit about belonging to the healthiest army in the world. He is supposed to report for "morning sick call" whenever he is the least bit under the weather. After he has answered "sick call" a few times he learns that in the army he is either sick or well No half-way status. This is a policy designed NOT to coddle, but to cure.

The prompt and compulsory at tention that is given his minor ailments not only makes him well, but keeps him from making others sick.

This preventive policy may raise the admittance rate to the hospital: but it lowers the epidemic rate: it lowers the death rate.

Private Smith, after a trip to the hospital, learns that soldiers, like school boys, can make a miraculous recovery at holiday time. Likewise, recovery can be slow when the duty of the day is unpleasant!
