Kathleen Norris Says:

You Can Win a Decoration, Too

Bell Syndicate-WNU Features.

I asked the doctor what had happened, and he grinned at me and said, "Some of your friends at home, Bud, stopped talking about what they'd LIKE to do, and gave you back your life."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

ID you know that thousands of our fighting men are being saved by transfusions of the blood sent out to the battle fronts by their friends at home?

In the horror of this war could there be a more wonderful note of sympathy and comradeship than this, that the life that runs so secure and safe and warm in your veins should be shared with some great fallen giant of a boy, who lies white and unconscious in a faraway hospital, breathing quietly lower and lower toward death, until the help that YOU send him, from your quiet home town, begins to flow in his veins again?

Surely all modern science has given us no greater miracle; that those of us who cannot wear uniforms and sail away on the great ships can have our actual living part in the great struggle, through the plasma-the technical name of the fluid part of the blood-which is dried and sent to our sons.

But you haven't contributed yet? at do you mean? You have been hearing about it and reading about it, but somehow you didn't ever clearly get it into your head what it was all about, you didn't get 'round to it?

Well, then, put this paper down and go telephone Mary Brown, who is one of the higher-ups in the Red Cross. Ask her where the Blood Bank is. And go there tomorrow. Go there, by appointment, of course, four hours after you've eaten a hearty, normal meal. Drink all you want of water and fruit juice in between the meal and going to the Blood Bank, no rich drinks or milk. A Pint of Blood.

They prick your arm, at the Blood Bank, and draw off a pint of the blood that means life for some mother's son. Perhaps yours. And that initial prick is all you pay in pain for this experience, and that hour of going and coming is all you pay in time. After the blood is taken they give you a hot drink and a sandwich, and that's all you do for two or three months, when you do it all

The blood is evaporated, packed off to the far-flung hospitals of the war fronts, and-as a surgeon-doctor told me, when he came back from Australia a few weeks ago, "just the knowledge that it is there, plenty of it, means the difference between life and death to the doctors." They mix this plasma with water, and pour it into the draining veins of the heroes who are brought in white and unconscious; and the color comes back to those ashen cheeks, and the boy opens his eyes and perhaps mutters a surprised "what's cooking?"

Yet I know one eastern city in which three bundred thousand perfectly strong and healthy men and women between the ages of 18 and 60 are going about, placidly unconscious that there are such things as Blood Banks. Many of these good tolk are the ones who continually say "My dear, I'd be delighted to do something for our men. God knows, but with two boys in school doesn't seem to be one thing I can

So They Need Not Die.

Recently a cargo ship sailed with medical supplies from this same city, the invoice of what was required being fully checked except dates back to shortly after the Civil in one particular. Where the item, "so many pounds of plasma" was

PAST MASTER

You know her. She is a past master at the art of evasion. No one is more eager to do her part - sometime. If nothing interferes, she will even let you pin her down to a definite promise—to help out the next time you need her. And no one is more contrite when she fails to appear. She languishes in appealing weakness when there is blood to be given, then wastes precious energy on alibis when there is work to be done. She smiles, evades the issue, and smiles again. How lucky we are that there are so few women like her!

listed, the check against it said: 'short. Sixty-one per cent."

That meant that if that life-giving fluid was destined for the veins of one thousand magnificent boys, lying wounded and faint and bleeding in naval, marine and army hospitals, six hundred and ten would die. Would be condemned to death by you, and your neighbors, and the kids in the nearest college, and the healthy, joyous young things who are flocking to the movies tonight. Now, if you have any influence with women at all, if you belong to a club or teach in a school or if your daughter goes off every day to work in a factory or office with scores of men and women associates, appoint yourself a committee of one to get this message over to them. For this is the great modern miracle, that thousands of the men who die in base hospitals, NEED NOT DIE, and we can save them. When you have contributed your pint of blood to the cause, you get a little pin. When you have visited the Blood Bank three times you have a special decoration. And it seems to me that there is no young person in our great country who ought not be ashamed to express ignorance of and indifference to the Blood Bank, and none who will not be proud to wear that decoration.

If I were within those stipulated years I would want to be the first of my group to wear it, and if I were a soldier's wife or a young girl I would want to have that third-time decoration to show to my husband or my sweetheart when he came home from the war.

One quiet, big, heavy man in our little town, a man burdened with the support of a beloved wife, an invalided child, an old mother and a baby son—an unassuming man who goes to an office every day, faces changing times and war taxes and restrictions with a good deal of humor, never complains-has seven times given his blood to men he will never see or know, men from whom he can never receive any

Back to Life.

This is a real quotation from a real letter by a boy of 22, sent after the Wake Island fight to a mother in our town.

"When they threw me a rope I'd only been in the water about 15 minutes, but I was all mucked-up with heavy black oil and through the oil I could see the blood from my shoulder pulsing out the way a wave would, coming up through a hole in a rock and brimming over, and then sinking back again. It was the darndest thing you ever saw!

"A few days later, when I was sit ting up, I asked the doctor what had happened, and he grinned at me and said: 'Some of your friends at home, Bud, stopped talking about what they'd LIKE to do, and gave you back your life."

1. TRACE THE CAUSE. When a fuse "blows out" a faulty appliance or a frayed or defective cord may be the reason. Trace the cause and disconnect the lamp or appliance.

2. REPLACE THE FUSE. Replacing a "blown out" fuse is as simple as replacing a lamp bulb. Simply follow the directions below. Better get a supply of extra Underwriter Approved fuses and keep them handy. Be sure the faulty cord or appliance is repaired before it is put back into service.

At least one large nest is needed for every five hens to prevent excessive "traffic" per nest. If the nests are made of good clean material, such as excelsior, shavings, or straw, breakage of eggs will be reduced and clean whole eggs will not be stained by broken ones.

Gathering the eggs frequently-at least three times a day—will reduce the time of their exposure to soilage. If an egg becomes soiled, it car be cleaned by applying baking sods with a damp cloth, and allowed to

Rosebud

Rosebud is eight, and the most beautiful shade of caramel fudge. To her loving Mammy and Pappy she is known, on approximately alternate days, as "Angel" and "You devil child". It was on her devilchild days that Rosebud tied the knots in the shirts that Mammy had taken in for washing, and poured the whole of the vanilla bottle into the lamb stew, just, she said later through bitter tears, to "flavor it up

On her angel days Rosebud is equally imaginative even if a more restful occupant of the little shack down on Vinegar Hill. Once when

Mammy was out doing day work, Rosebud got a wave of cleaning fever and scoured every pot and pan in the kitchen so that they literally glistened. Anoth-er day, left alone, she tidied up Mammy's and Pappy's room to such a point of apple-pie order that it was a week before Pappy could find an

Rosebud is a great reader of the newspapers. Manny and Pappy don't take one, but there are plenty of perfectly good newspapers blowing round Vinegar Hill. It was out of one of them that Rosebud got her idea for spending the ten cents the Bunny had put under her pillow the night her tooth came out. After break-fas Rosebud disappeared down the Hill and reappeared soon after with a beautiful ten-cent War Stamp pasted firmly into a brand-new book with neat little squares for more stamps. She displayed her invest-ment to Mammy. "I declare you're an angel child," Mammy said. Rose-bud went on sitting on the kitchen floor staring with large brown eyes at the empty squares in her book. From time to time she took hold of one or another of her teeth and wiggled it, gently.

Mammy was engrossed in a particularly big washing. Rosebud was as quiet as a mouse and Mammy forgot about her until, coming in from the yard with her arms full of dry sheets, she encountered her child with a large hammer in her hand. Scenting the devil in her angel child, Mammy shouted at her, "Rosebud Come yere with that hammer! What you planning on doing?"

But what was done was done. In Rosebud's other hand was another tooth. Her mouth was stretched in a broad if slightly bloody smile. "I ain't doing nothing, Mammy," she said. "I'm just filling up my stamp

British Taxes HigherThanU.S. Paint Saving

Pay 40 Per Cent of Income, While Americans Pay 26 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON. — Britons pay about 14 per cent more of their national income in taxes than do roadside park areas and signs Americans in their effort to pay out which appear on garages or other of current income as much of the structures. costs of war as possible.

The best comparisons that can be America's total income is taken for taxes—federal, state and local.

In dollars and cents, this country is paying roughly $31,000,000,000 out of a $120,000,000,000 national income, according to the treasury.

The figures are for the present 30. The treasury estimates that it required by law. will collect $22,000,000,000 in federal taxes during this period, state governments $4,500,000,000 and local names and titles would be done governments $4,600,000,000. The estimates include new levies under the ing and painting. recently enacted tax bill. These new levies will have greater effect in the next fiscal year, but meantime national income also is expected to increase.

Britain Pays Half in Cash.

The difference in taxes explains in part how Britain is able to finance half her war costs from current income while the United States meets revenue. This means that Britain must repay in the future only half her war costs, while the United States borrows three-fourths of her

To the ordinary taxpayer, the twocountry revenue picture means that the average Briton pays about twice as much tax on his income as his American ally; about three times as much for a pack of cigarettes, a great deal more for his bottle of liquor, and proportionately higher sums for his entertainment, jewelry, toilet goods and many of his staples.

The difference between the British and American federal income taxes is particularly noticeable in the lower brackets. A married man with no dependents and $1,000 net income pays $111 taxes in Britain, whereas next year the same man will pay $25 here. The Briton would have a post-war credit of $61 and a net liability of $50, while the American would have a post-war credit of $10 and a net liability of $15. On a $500 while the American will pay $220; their respective postwar reliabilities of $188 and $378 respec-

British Rates Higher.

Some Americans also have to pay state income taxes, thus bringing their total taxes closer to those of the British. Even in the highest brackets, however, the British rates are higher. When the revenue act was passed it carried with it new excise taxes that went into effect November 1. Since then Americans have been paying a federal tax of $6 on a gallon of liquor. But in Britain the tax equals $20.08 a U.S. gallon. Beer carries a federal tax of $7 a barrel here while in Britain the levy approximates $16.95 for the same size barrel of weaker beer, the kind now available there. Most American states have liquor taxes which are added to the federal levy but in no case does the total rate come near the British tax.

Britain uses a different tax base for its amusements, too. But a 20cent movie ticket would cost the Englishman 33 cents where the American would pay a flat 10 per cent tax or a total of 22 cents. Oddly, Britain has a lower tax rate on entertainment performance by living actors, so that the Englishman who buys a 20-cent admission to a stage performance could pay a tax of only 3 cents or a total of 23 cents —just a cent more than the Amer-

Women Leaders Help Campaign for Home Salvage

County and local salvage committees of the Michigan Council only a fourth of its war bill from of Defense are cooperating in preparations for the new household salvage campaign which will be featured during the week of Jan. 22-29. In this campaign the importance of household salvage, including waste fats, tin cans and used nylon and silk hose will be stressed and in many counties women leaders in the Home Salvage Campaign have been given the responsibility of carrying through the program.

Women Home Salvage leaders have been appointed in 80 per cent of the state's counties, and the state-wide organization for this phase of the war effort is being rapidly completed.

Through this organization house-

JESUS WINNING SOULS

LESSON TEXT—John 4:27-42. GOLDEN TEXT—He that reapeth re-ceiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto Man's need is the same wherever and whoever he may be. The Christ who met the need of the distinguished religious leader Nicodemus did the same for the poor sinful woman of Samaria.

The incident at Jacob's well in Sychar took place when Jesus, leaving Jerusalem because of increasing hindrance to His work, went up to Galilee. Unlike His Jewish brethren, who detoured around the land of the hated "half-breed" Samaritans, He "must needs go through Samaria," for there was a sin-sick soul that needed Him.

Our lesson abounds with instruction regarding soul-winning, both in principle and in practice. We here find Jesus:

I. Winning a Soul-Winner (vv. 27-30).

The faithful and kindly ministry of Christ led the woman to faith in Him as the Messiah. She left her water pot and ran at once into the city to share her new-found joy with everyone she knew.

Since the first expression of spiritual life is testimony, the one who brings a sinner to Christ not only saves a soul, but also wins a worker for Christ. One fears that we often assume that winning men to Christ is enough. We should expect that the new light should shine forth into the darkness.

So we have a two-fold reason for soul-winning; saving a soul from perdition, and setting a life on fire for testimony. It's a great business. Why don't we do more of it?

II. Instructing Soul-Winners (vv. 31-38).

This work of soul-winning requires a sustaining grace which this world cannot give. Jesus by His own example showed His disciples how that strength comes from above.

He who had seated Himself at the well, tired and hungry, to await the return of the disciples with food, had been refreshed in the doing of the Father's will-in reaching this for-Iorn woman. "The greatest thing that ever occurs in the world is the transformation of a human soul, and the greatest joy anyone can ever have is to act as the divine agent in bringing about such a transformation" (Douglass).

There is another thing these soulwinners needed to learn-even as we need to learn and re-learn itthat the time to win souls is now. How prone the human being is to procrastinate. Tomorrow-next Sundav—next week, we will speak t someone about his spiritual need. Next year we will give more liberally for missions, or for the work of soul-winning in our local church. But "look on the fields." Do you not see "that they are ripe already unto harvest"?

Again, soul-winners need to remember our Lord's words in verses 36-38. Not only the reapers receive the reward, but also those who sow and those who labor in order that the harvest may come. The man who plows is just as important as the one who reaps-perhaps some would say more important. Some of us who are called to be God's plowmen should remember that and be encouraged in our labors.

Like the perfect leader that He was, Jesus did not require of His disciples what He did not do Himself. So we find Him again in the work of evangelism. He practiced what He preached.

III. Practicing Soul-Winning (vv. 39-42).

There is real danger that those of us who have a measure of leadership in the church may be quick to tell others what they ought to doand not do it ourselves. This is particularly true in this matter of soul-winning. One is apt to write, preach and teach about it, and then neglect to do it.

The disciples had been town for bread. One wonders whether they had talked to the store-keeper about Christ. Have you?

Jesus did not theorize about it-He really sought men for God. The testimony of the woman He had won sent a host of people out from the city He spoke to them the word of life and they believed.

This was evidently "group evangelism" as distinguished from the "personal evangelism" which won the woman. They are both important, and belong together. Some are saying that the days of group evangelism are gone. We doubt that, but certainly the days of personal evangelism are always here. Let us be busy about that kind of soul-winning -and God may so bless that we will have a real revival. Are you ready for it?

Good Breakfast Starts Good Day

Even an office worker and more so a growing youngster or a hustling farm or factory worker needs a substantial initial meal to start out each day.

Foods that "stand by" until noon are essentials, especially in war time, say home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College in passing along the following tips:

Patterns for breakfasts may not change much during the year, but the wintertime breakfast should whet the appetite, take away danger of gnawing hunger until noon and provide enough energy to run the human machine until the midday meal comes along.

Fruit serves as a starter, in the form of citrus or tomato juice or for animal feed purposes only. No apples and pears from the cellar listed:

Ready-prepared cereals provide energy, but the wintertime hot cooked cereal helps the appetite. Lang Feed Co. Whole wheat in milk, or rice steamed with figs or dates can be eaten with the breads that range from toast, biscuits and muffins or corn bread, waffles or pancakes.

On the farm it's still the fashion to serve up some of the day's needs for proteins. Meat, eggs or fish come into this portion of the meal. For a Sunday breakfast, when there's a little more time, the morning meal might be supplemented with kidney stew, broiled liver or brains scrambled with eggs. Those are food suggestions that do not conflict with a family's intent of not encroaching on other demands for essential meats for men in Professional gardeners have been so much harassed by the common or amateur variety of gardeners in Britain who are trying to grow their own vegetable seeds that the professionals have asked the minister of agriculture in London to send out this plea: "Please, Mr. Amateur Gardener, don't let your kale and other plants of the cabbage family grow into the flowering stage. Bees and wind may carry the pollen for distances up to a mile, seriously affecting commercial seed crops.

Mr. Amateur Gardener

Labor Shortage Threatens Loss of a million farm worker:

within the next 12 months is in prospect if present trends continue About half of these will go into the armed forces and the other half will be employed by urban industries. The resulting shortage of farm labor will curtail agricultural production, it is expected.

Doctor Says Army Might Cure Ulcer

Military Life Might Prove Haven of Peace.

KANSAS CITY .-- Among other reasons for joining the army:

Stomach-aches. For, declares Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, professor of medicine at the Mayo foundation of the University of Minnesota, army routine may

"The high-strung, intensely ambitious man who may have been driving himself to ulcers in his business," he suggests, "may find military life a haven of peace.

"Others will do the planning for him. He'll relax, forget his personal schemes, and presently find that army chow goes through his food canal without so much as a whimper, much less a growl."

Other nonmedical cures for stomach ailments, he said in an interview, might include:

Raise in pay; a vacation; a change in job; or even the difficult decision to quit trying to become a big shot.

Of course, he added, army life is no sure cure for ulcers. Many a little man, he declared,

Chute Torpedo Latest

German Peril to Ships LONDON.-Latest German method of attacking Allied convoys is to drop parachutes with a torpedo attached into the sea. Directly it touches the water the torpedo commences to circle around and around its target in circles which get smaller and smaller until it makes a hit.

This type of torpedo was used recently when German planes attacked a large American and British convoy on its way to Murmansk carrying vital armaments for Russia.

Although this is the first time the Germans have used this type of missile, tests with parachute-launched torpedoes were made by the Italian navy and air force off the Italian coast as long ago as 1932.

They were not very successful, as there were a great number of "misses," but the device was pronounced mechanically fit.

Owing to the terrific barrage set up by escorting warships, the enemy has many times been prevented from getting in to launch their ordinary torpedoes from low level.

They have thus been obliged to use the parachute torpedo which must be dropped at random in the middle of a convoy in the hope that the fast-circling torpedoes will hit one or other of the ships. It cannot be aimed at a specific target with any chance of scoring a hit.

Halder Fired in Public,

Says Smuggled Letter

NEW YORK .-- How Gen. Franz Halder was ousted as chief of the German army general staff by Hitler was revealed in a letter smuggled out of Germany, printed in the Swedish magazine Trots Allt and reported here by the Office of War nformation.

Hitler, in the presence of his entire staff, was reported to have told

"I am under the impression that your achievements do not keep up with my demands and you are unable to follow my intentions. I thank you for your work hitherto. You may go.'

The curt dismissal caused strong resentment among officers, the letter writer said.

Canada Makes War Planes At Rate of 5,000 a Year

WASHINGTON .- Canada is producing war planes at a rate of about 5,000 a year, Munitions Minister C. D. Howe told a press conference at the Canadian legation. Howe, who came to Washington for a meeting of the newly established British-American-Canadian combined production board, spoke with pride of the progress made by Canada in many fields of war production. He estimated Canada's total war production for 1942 would aggregate about 2½ billion dollars, and for 1943, about 31/2 billion dollars.
