Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

IN THE UPPER ROOM

LESSON TEXT—John 13:12-20: 14:1-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father, but by me.—John 14:6.

Calvary and crucifixion were just ahead. Jesus gathered His disciples for a time of communion and instruction as they spent their last evening together. On the morrow would come betrayal, but now they and their Lord were together in the upper room.

But even here strife and dissension had apparently come in. There was probably some difference of opinion as to who should have the place of honor. To teach them the virtue of humility Jesus gave them an example, after which He continued with the precious counsel and prayer which are found in John 14 to 17.

Our lesson presents three things which our Lord gave to His disciples and to us (see John 17:20).

I. His Example—"Do as I Have Done" (13:12-20).

The act of Jesus in washing the disciples' feet placed Him, their Lord and Teacher, on the level of the most menial servant. It was an astonishing thing that He did, lowering Himself below their level to serve them.

His application of the object lesson was equally startling. "Ye call me Teacher and Lord, and ye say well," said He. Then as learners and servants He required of them the humility which would make them eager to do lowly service in His name.

There are more than enough folk who are willing to do the nice, pleasant things in the church, where they will be given recognition and praise. All too scarce are those Christlike folk who will serve in the hidden places where darkness, suffering, disease and sin make the natural man recoil in distress or fear.

II. His Assurance—"If I Go I Will Come Again" (14:1-3).

Following His resurrection Jesus was to go to the Father. He wanted them to be prepared for that time by making known to them the fact of His coming again. In that day His own shall be received unto Himself to abide with Him forever.

The second coming of Christ is not a strange doctrine held by little groups of people who are riding a theological hobby. It is one of the most blessed truths of Scripture. The hope of the Christian—yes, the only real hope of this disordered world—is the coming of Christ to reign. The New Testament is full of plain and helpful teaching on this subject.

While we await His coming, then, is there any encouragement for us as the burdens bear down and the way seems long? Yes, He says: "Let not your heart be troubled" (v. 1). There is little question that this passage has comforted more people than any other word in Scripture.

Countless bewildered and broken souls in all lands and times have here found the steady assurance of the one who has the power to give them rest and comfort.

There is good foundation for their composure of heart in a troubled world. They believe in God, and in Christ, who is one with the Father. Here is real security—infinite superior to aught the world can give.

Then at the end of the road are the eternal dwelling places. What they are like is sufficiently revealed in the fact that they are in the Father's house. How shall we reach them? That is our last point. We have

III. His Guidance—"I Am the Way" (vv. 4-6).

To Christ's declaration that they knew the way, Thomas responded with a request for a definite statement. He wanted to be sure, and Christ responded by reminding him that He, their Lord, is the "way, the truth, and the life." Surely there could be no more complete provision for the guidance of the heavenly pilgrim.

Christ is "the way." If one takes the right road he will reach the right destination though he "cannot at first see it clearly. Perhaps this is the commonest mistake of the Christian. He frets too much about what lies ahead . . . and not enough about taking the right road" (Lesson Commentary).

He is "the truth." He is the final and complete revelation of God, and is therefore the One who will lead all those who walk the way by faith into the fullness of the truth. To know Christ is to know God.

He is "the life." He is life, and He alone can give eternal life to man. There is none other to whom man may turn for life, but in Christ it is found, and from Him it may be received by faith.

We have only touched the briefest beginning of what took place on that remarkable evening in the upper room. It was a time of richest spiritual significance, of dark betrayal, but also of closest communion. We continue next Sunday.

A SHARP KNIFE cuts through a hind quarter of beef. On one side are the "fancy" rib roasts and tenderloin steaks, on the other the short ribs and flank steaks.

There is no difference in nutrient values on either side of the cut. On both sides of the knife, the meat is rich in proteins, minerals, vitamins—iron, phosphorus, thiamine, niacin. You don't have to buy expensive cuts of meat to secure these needed food values. These cheaper cuts actually pay you dividends: They are just as healthful, but they cost much less and you save money on your meat bill.

And remember: If you have an electric range or electric cooker in your kitchen, electric cooking makes even cheaper cuts of meat tender. Some of these cheaper cuts may not always be available. But, when you can buy them, they make appetizing and patriotic dishes: BEEF: Round Bone Chuck Roast—for pot roast with vegetables. Flank—bake and stuff, or use for Swiss Steak. Ox Joints—braise with vegetables. VEAL: Breast—bone and roll, or pocket and stuff for baking, or use for stew. LAMB: Shoulder—roast or pot roast. Breast—stuffed and baked, or use in stew. PORK: Spareribs, with sauerkraut. Pork Feet—cooked in water, baked or served with vegetables. Hocks—cooked in water with cabbage.

Poultry, fish and seafood (scallops, clams, oysters, shrimp, crab) are excellent for adding variety to your menus. Consult your cook book for dozens of ways of using them. The Detroit Edison Company.

PLANNING A St. Patrick's Day Party?

Don't Fail to Use a Bit of Blarney in Your Invitations. A Little Ingenuity Will Mean a Lot of Fun.

Come the seventeenth of March, how about inviting your friends for an Irish evening? With a little ingenuity you can weave a spell of music and fun that will rival the magic of the leprechauns. Invitations, decorations and refreshments should give you little trouble. Don't forget to put blarney in the invitations, shamrocks in the decorations, and potatoes in the menu (a salad is a good idea here). Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly? As each guest arrives pin on his or her back an Irish name, such as Kelly, O'Reilly, O'Connell, Moore, etc., and then give him a sheet of paper on which to get the autographs of other guests as they arrive. The autograph must include the first name of the guest and his adopted Irish name. The first one to get every autograph wins.

A Trip to Limerick. As his passport to this famous Irish city, each guest must present a limerick stanza. Ask each one to choose a name from his list of autographs and write the poetry about that name. Let guests vote for the best one.

Irish Stew. Pass a large bowl of uncooked vegetables down the line of guests, giving each one a short time to study the contents. Then have them write from memory the names of the vegetables in the "stew." The guest with the longest list wins. This game may also be played by blindfolding the guests and letting them handle the vegetables—one by one.

Erin Go Bragh. Many of the cities, lakes, and historical scenes in Ireland are famed in song and story. Check your guests' knowledge of Irish geography by giving them a list of familiar places and asking them to write a phrase or song title containing the word. Thus: Blarney—The . . . Stone Kilkenny—The cats of . . . Tara—The hall of . . . Tralee—The rose of . . . Shannon—Where the River . . . Flows Kildare—The round tower of . . . Dublin—The rocky road to . . . Killarney—The lakes of . . . Erin—Come back to . . . Tipperary—It's a long, long way to . . .

Irish Music. Give the guests a list of familiar phrases from well-known Irish songs, such as "The sweetest flower that grows" from "My Wild Irish Rose." After the game is over, you won't have to urge the guests to start singing!

Vegetables Cook vegetables for as short a time as is needed to make them tender but not mushy, and they will look good and taste good.

the chief of police if the establishment is within the municipality, or the sheriff if it is outside the town? The fact that 85 per cent of all license fees are returned to home communities for enforcement of liquor control laws is another proof that the legislature intended local governments to police local conditions.

As we size up the situation, this legislative placing of responsibility upon home government does not make the State of Michigan immune from criticism if the public believes that "conditions are bad." It is the over-all responsibility of the State government to meet the general problem, and, if the home governments are not performing their duty, then it should act itself in a positive manner.

Such was the theme of a report made by a study commission appointed by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner to make recommendations on possible improvements in our liquor control system. The report was signed by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard and Harry Rickel and Myron A. Keys. The views are regarded chiefly as those of Judge Picard. This column will deal with some of the recommendations.

The first recommendation of the study commission would be to give the state commission a discretionary power to retain not more than 20 per cent of license fee money due any municipality if the home government failed to enforce the state law in its own jurisdiction. The state commission would use this money to maintain its own law enforcement agency. The weakness of this suggestion obviously is this: Lack of enforcement is more prevalent in unincorporated areas—that is, townships. And if you want the law enforced in a township, to whom do you go for action? Many townships do not have police officers despite the fact that they do get 85 per cent of the licensing fees. Yes, the records show such to be the fact.

Then who should enforce the law in townships? The county sheriff could be held strictly accountable, if he received some of the license fees and thus could hire men to assist him in policing township conditions. However, the more outspoken sheriffs admit privately that just as they seldom issue traffic violations because to do so would be "politically suicidal", so they might not be too zealous in enforcing liquor laws. Public opinion is the deciding factor; counties with liberal feelings toward the use of liquor are not going to elect (or re-elect) crusading reformers to the office of county sheriff.

Some philosopher at the cracker barrel once remarked that the people get usually what they deserve. If you have "bad" government, then it's probably more your fault than someone at Lansing or Washington.

The state liquor control commission has completed a survey of two-thirds of the counties in Michigan, studying this matter of law enforcement and complaints of violations. Invariably, where local officials are on their toes, the state gets no complaints. For instance, Lapeer, Hillsdale, Barry and other dry counties just don't stand for bad conditions. There is little for the state to do.

However, a leading city in the Thumb offers an example in reverse. City police have instructions from the city commission to stay out of licensed places. Result: tavern conditions there are the worst in Michigan! State inspectors can only revoke license when they can obtain evidence. The city council or commission could revoke any license merely by adopting a resolution. The state must revoke a license when the home government requests such action.

France's N. African Naval Base Bizerte has been rated France's leading naval base in North Africa. Its population, before the war, was estimated at between 20 and 25 thousand, including a settlement of 6,000 naval workers and their families, and a military garrison.

Tea When tea joins coffee on the list of scarcities, Americans may brew themselves a tasty cup from per-simmon leaves, a concoction which nutritionists describe as being high in vitamin C.

Sentence Sparkles We'd rather have a big word used when a little one expresses the same meaning, if a big word makes the sentence sparkle. Those who berate all the big words are wrong.

NO INDICATION An Irishman, driving a donkey cart in the middle of a narrow road, heard continuous hooting behind him. He looked round and saw a powerful car following in his wake. He continued on his way, and the car behind continued to hoot after a mile or so the road widened sufficiently for the big car to draw level.

"Why didn't you make room for me to pass?" asked the infuriated driver. "How should I know you wanted to pass? You weren't going any faster than I was," was the reply.

AIN'T HE MARBLEOUS? Jean—What kind of rock would you say this is? John—I don't know. I just take it for granite.

Relief Shallow men believe in luck.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Cold Wave Wife—How nice it would be if all things in this world would work in harmony. Hubby—Wouldn't it though? For instance, if coal would go up and down with the thermometer.

Right? Her Dad—How do you expect to support my daughter on your salary? Nervy Youth—Hadh't thought of that. I'm one of those people who believes a woman should be thoroughly independent.

Hard Up "Here comes the parade! Where's Aunt?" "She's upstairs waving her hair." "Goodness! Can't we afford a flag?"

Not Amused "I had to shoot my dog." "Was he mad?" "Well, you'd hardly expect him to be pleased about it."

Leonora

Leonora straightened the objects on her desk with great care. She had put her desk at the end of her room facing the door so that when her mother came in she would have to cross the whole room under Leonora's stern executive eye to get to her. From movies and pictures in the newspapers Leonora had gotten a good idea of how the desk of a busy woman of affairs should look. With an important scowl, Leonora picked up a sheet of paper. Now she was two people—herself, the busy woman, and her own stenographer. "Miss Simpkins, take a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, will you?" she murmured under her breath. "Yes, immediately," she murmured back at herself. Leonora cleared her throat and looked at the ceiling for inspiration. Miss Simpkins bent over the sheet of paper hanging on the words about to fall. "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," — "Got that?" — "Yes, madam." "I am—ahem—thirteen years old and anxious to be of all possible service to the country at this time, ahem!" "I earn a weekly income of from $1.37 to $2.12 by helping with the housework and by shovelling snow. I am at present in possession of one War Savings Bond and am buying stamps weekly. I want to become a member of the 10 percent Club. I feel it to be—ahem—not only my duty, but my privilege." "How do you spell privilege?" asked Miss Simpkins. "Don't bother me with these details," said Leonora—my privilege as an American to invest at least ten percent of my income in War Bonds. "Yours truly," "Get that off at once, Miss Simpkins," said Leonora. "Yes, Ma'am! You certainly are an important woman, ma'am," said Miss Simpkins. ## Red Cross Field Directors Solve Soldiers' Problems

Thousands of U. S. fighting men last year accepted the invitation to discuss their personal problems with Red Cross field directors who accompany troops to all parts of the world. This picture, taken in London, shows everyone happy after the field men had satisfactorily solved the problems of the two soldiers at the desk. Contributions to the Red Cross 1943 War Fund, now in progress, make this service possible.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The soldier stormed into the Red Cross office at a southern Army camp. His mouth was set in a hard, straight line; his eyes were cold, determined. His wife trailed him as he strode across the reception room; her face was red and swollen from crying. They were not over 22.

"I need help," the soldier told the Red Cross field director at the desk. "And I need it fast."

The Red Cross field director smiled, but the soldier did not return it. "All right, soldier, let's see what's the trouble."

"If I don't get help I'm going over the hill," he blurted. "I'm on alert now—due to move out almost any minute. But I'm not going—and leave my wife with no place to stay."

Further conversation developed that the young bride was an expectant mother. She was unable to go home because of her stepfather. Her husband had no relatives with whom she could stay. And the allotment he had made to his wife had not yet come through.

Two hours later—after much conversation and planning—the soldier was shaking the hand of the Red Cross field director.

The Red Cross man had arranged that the soldier's wife spend the night at the Army camp guest house. Preparations had been completed with a nearby Red Cross chapter for her transportation back home. The Red Cross chapter in the girl's home town had agreed to see that she had proper care until the baby was born. By that time the allotment would be coming through.

In every United States military establishment, at home and abroad, the American Red Cross maintains a field director and staff to help Uncle Sam's fighting men work out their personal problems. More than 1,000,000 servicemen passed through the offices of the Red Cross field directors last year. Their problems covered all phases of life—families

LOOKS LIKE IT

As the crowded bus came to a standstill a stout, middle-aged man descended the stairs carrying a small girl.

Tenderly placing his burden on the curb, he ascended the stairs again and soon returned with a tiny dog. Placing the dog beside the child, he returned upstairs and descended with a second child, which he stood beside the first. Once more he ascended the stairs and again returned, carrying a third youngster.

These evolutions were eagerly observed by a passenger seated inside the bus, who, as the father proceeded to dismount with his third offspring, exclaimed: "For Pete's sake, he must have a nest up there."

The American, newly arrived in London, sat down at his hotel table and briskly began to give his order. "I'd like a thick porterhouse steak smothered in mushrooms, some buttered toast—"

"Excuse me, sir," interrupted the waiter gently, "are you trying to give an order, or just reminiscing about old times?"

Time to Move

Said Mr. Duck to Mr. Quack "I'm getting stout, It's really quite an effort for me To waddle about."

"As turkey's high at Christmas, it will be my luck To grace a table, I'm afraid, I guess I'll duck."

Sum Total

Lieutenant (to prospective mess sergeant)—All right, sergeant, you're supposed to be good at figures. Suppose there were three times eight, square the total, add ten and divide by four—and I killed one, how many would be left?

Sergeant—One, sir—the dead one.

We cannot make the world better by better laws, but by better men and women.—Rev. Lewis S. Mudge, D.D.

FUN FOR YOUR FAMILY

By MISS ABBIE CONDIT
 National Recreation Association.

Can you find the Big Dipper in the summer sky or spot the Great Dragon as he rears his head at Hercules? Are you on seeing acquaintance with the Little Dipper and the Pole Star? Have you always had a secret desire to know more about the Milky Way? Then summer is the ideal time to wish on the stars and learn more about them.

Star gazing is one of the oldest and most fascinating hobbies. The only requirements are a bright, moonless night, a simple star chart, and a boundless curiosity. And this sky lore is as useful as it is romantic. Even today, the hikes in the woods or the pilot flying through the night sky must often rely on the North Star to guide him home.

Many constellation names date from early days when men first wove legends around the stars. Long years ago Indian tribes gathered around their council fires to hear the tale of the Big and Little Bear constellations, which we call the Dippers. They believed that the Great Spirit had put the bears in the sky to warn the earth bears of the coming winter. When the Big and Little Bears swung beneath the North Star (their den) it was wintertime, and when the constellations were above the Star in the sky, it was summer.

Meanwhile away on the other side of the earth the ancient Chaldeans had wondered and written about the same stars. And now if you go out on a clear, dark night you will see these ancient constellations—the seven bright stars of the Big Dipper, with its two outer bowl stars pointing straight at the North Star and the Little Dipper.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Senate Group Votes Farm Deferment; Rout of Jap Armada Near New Guinea Shows Rising U. S. Power in Pacific; RAF Europe Drive Forecasts Invasion

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

MaJ. Gen. Lloyd Fredenhall, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in southern Tunisia, is pictured in a map discussion with French officers. Clockwise around the table are: Capt. Charles Claret, French operations officer (light cap); Brig. Gen. Raye Forter (standing); General Fredenhall; Gen. Eduard Welvert; Lieut. Henri Thewes, interpreter to General Welvert.

JAPS PERSISTENT: In South Pacific

The South Pacific had returned dramatically to the fore when the news was disclosed that the Japanese had marshaled great forces in their island bases north of Australia.

The approach of a powerful Japanese convoy of 14 vessels toward New Guinea under the protection of foggy weather, had lent weight to a previous warning by Gen. Douglas MacArthur that the enemy had been concentrating huge quantities of planes, shipping and men in their far-flung island strongholds ringing Australia on the north.

Allied warplanes were on the alert and in the decisive action that followed, they sank or damaged four of the enemy ships and scattered the rest of the convoy over a wide area. Among the Jap casualties were one 10,000 ton transport left sinking, another transport split asunder, two other vessels damaged and escorting warships hit.

This latest Jap offensive bid was apparently aimed to reinforce enemy forces in the Lae area of New Guinea.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO PLAN: Would Withhold 20%

The new pay-as-you-go tax program was not the Ruml plan nor the proposal advanced by the treasury department. Somewhere between both, the new congressional plan would withhold 20 per cent of taxable income from the pay envelopes of the nation's 31,000,000 wage and salary earners beginning July 1.

Sponsored by Chairman Cooper of the house ways and means committee's subcommittee on pay-as-you-go taxation, the plan would provide for weekly, semi-monthly or monthly deductions from income which would be accumulated and applied to actual taxes computed at the year's end.

The proposed withholding levy would not change any person's tax obligations for 1942, 1943 or any year. It merely sets up a system for deductions from wages and salaries for accumulation against actual taxes to be computed at the end of the year. Taxpayers who paid their first installments March 15 would be expected to pay their second installment as usual June 15. Then in July, the withholding provision would be undertaken.

MANPOWER: Services Need 12,000,000

Upwards of 12,000,000 Americans may have to don uniforms before the war is over in order to maintain an armed force of 11,000,000, congress was told by Col. Lewis Sanders, chief of the re-employment division of the selective service.

The 1,000,000 loss in manpower, he said, could be charged up to normal attrition, exclusive of battle casualties. In explaining his paradoxical set-up, Colonel Sanders said: "You would put into one picture an armed force of 11,000,000 and then 1,000,000 men to replace the attrition of that armed force. In other words, it looks as if you have 12,000,000 men in service, but you don't. You always have 11,000,000."

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

WASHINGTON: Lieut. Com. Leroy C. Simpler of Milton, Del., whose navy fighter squadron is known to have shot down 77 planes and is said to have accounted for 16 more in operations in the Solomon Islands, will receive a third decoration, the navy reported. Already the recipient of the Navy Cross and Distinguished Flying Cross, he has been voted a Gold Star.

FARM WORKERS: Senators Vote Deferment

Forecasting deferment of farm workers from military service for the remainder of this year, the senate military affairs committee had voted approval of a measure exempting such workers from the draft.

Viewed as a stop-gap to relieve the current farm labor and food shortages, the committee's action took the form of a proposed amendment to the Selective Service act.

The amendment provides that "every registrant engaged in an agricultural occupation . . . shall be deferred from training and service" under the Selective Service act, and that "no such registrant shall leave such occupation" without special permission from his local board.

INVASION PRELUDE: RAF Softens Naziland

As Allied bombers had continued their unprecedented aerial attack against western Europe and had wrought destruction in Berlin outdistancing even the havoc of 1940 Nazi assaults on London, this offensive appeared to be taking a major place in the overall Allied war plan.

Night after night the bombers had droned in an ever-rising crescendo over Berlin. In a single attack more than 900 tons of bombs—twice the weight of anything ever dropped by the Nazis on London—plummeted down on Hitler's capital. Returning fliers reported mountainous conflagrations in Berlin.

At the peak of the bombing attacks, Capt. Harold Balfour, British undersecretary of state for air, said the Anglo-American air offensive was "preparing the day for our united forces to invade Europe."

RUSSIAN FRONT: 'Follow the Weather'

Although the thaws of spring had slowed down their offensive in the south, the doughty Russians were still on the march in the northwest. Into the headlines once more came Marshal Timoshenko, ace Russian commander, for his armies on the move between Moscow and Leningrad had recaptured 302 towns and settlements, freed 1,000 square miles of territory and had menaced German positions by the seizure of key points near Staraya Russa. The Reds had killed or captured 11,000 Nazis.

The timing of this newest offensive—the eighth launched by the Russians since last November—indicated the persistent character of the Russian strategy. Summed up it meant this: Shift the center of operations to follow the weather. If it thaws in the south, then attack in the north. But do not permit the Nazis a breathing-spell anywhere.

In the Donets basin the Nazi forces had retained the initiative in their counteroffensive. Moscow had admitted some local German successes, but had not confirmed a Nazi claim of the recapture of Barvenkova, 82 miles southeast of Kharkov on the Kiev railway.

TUNISIA: Axis Tries Diversion

As American pressure was intensified on Marshal Rommel's retreat from the Kasserine Pass region, other Axis forces had headed an attack toward Beja, 40 miles west of Tunis, in an effort to create a diversion and remove Allied attention from Rommel. The British, against whom this drive was launched, had successfully held the Germans off and the Axis attacks lost their momentum.

Meanwhile, the Allied forces' advance in central Tunisia continued with the capture of Sbeitla, 18 miles from the town of Kasserine. In the far south, too, war bulletins said, the British eighth army under Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery had attacked objectives on the Mareth line.

As the Allied air strength in North Africa had continued to grow, bombing raids against enemy positions gained in momentum. Widespread activity included raids on Palermo, Sicily, western terminus of the Axis supply route shuttling men and munitions to North Africa. The air assaults likewise concentrated on the docks at the Axis naval base of Bizerte and on railroad bridges between Sfax and Sousse.

ANTI-JAP OFFENSIVE: 'Prospects Are Bright'

From both sides of the Pacific came indications that more effective American offensive action against the Japs was drawing nearer.

In China Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault declared that the prospects "are definitely brighter" for carrying the war to Japan, adding that the Allies can defeat the Nipponese in a comparatively short time when they turn their whole effort into the Pacific, and "there is an outside chance the job can be finished this year."

Emphasizing the possibility of eliminating Japan this year, the blunt-spoken Chennault added: "I think there are some men in high position who already realize this."

In Washington, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, said the navy was ready to start a drive toward the industrial heart of Japan.

OIL FOR SPAIN: No U. S. Deprivation

Diplomacy is the business of Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles and he showed he was well equipped for his job by the manner in which he smoothed over the controversial subject of shipments of American oil products to pro-Axis Spain.

Loud had been the outcry in the oil-scarce eastern states when the news of the shipments to Spain were made public. Quick to mollify the complainers was Mr. Welles who declared that such shipments were in line with the interests of the United States and "have had no effect whatever on the quantity of petroleum available to any consumers in the United States."

... oil, on troubled waters.

RATIONING PICTURE: Regulations Expanding

As Mrs. Average Housewife got used to buying her canned goods on a point rationing basis, a survey of the rationing picture as a whole revealed the following regulations in force:

Coffee — one pound every six weeks; sugar—five pounds every 11 weeks; shoes—one pair between now and June 17, obtainable with Stamp No. 17 in War Ration Book No. 1; Tires—still closely rationed, but repairs obtainable; gasoline—all pleasure driving banned in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia. A, B and C coupons worth three gallons weekly in the eastern area, four gallons in the rest of the nation; fuel oil—Period 4 coupons valid until about April 12.

Imminent on the ration schedule were meat and butter. Restrictions on clothing expected by many authorities before summer.

GANDHI: Success and Failure

Weaker in physical strength but not in spirit, Mohandas K. Gandhi had successfully completed his 21-day protest fast.

While the fast had failed in its mission of forcing the Indian government to release Gandhi from custody, it did however, refocus the world's attention on the Indian struggle for independence and cause the British authorities some moments of anguished embarrassment.

Better Management

There will be little chance to increase the acreage planted to crops in 1943. Any increased production will have to come from better management of land already under cultivation.

Supplementary Sweetening

Sugar tapping may start some amateurs to collecting sap for boiling down to maple syrup this spring, and farmers with well kept sugar bushes, sap buckets, collecting kettles and boiling pans are preparing to make the most of the available supply. They are encouraged by the high wartime ceiling price, but obtaining suitable containers is a problem. Novices are advised not to expect too high returns. Ordinarily it takes 40 gallons of sap to make a gallon of syrup, even more boiling to make sugar.

Income Tax.

Losses of Farmers.
Losses incurred in the operation of farms as business enterprises are deductible from gross income. If farm products are held for favorable markets, no deduction on account of shrinkage in weight or physical value, or by reason of deterioration in storage, is allowed, except as such shrinkage may be reflected in an inventory if used in determining profits.

The destruction by frost, storm, flood or fire of a prospective crop is not a deductible loss in computing income since it represents the loss of anticipated profits which have never been reported as income. Likewise, a farmer engaged in raising and selling livestock, such as cattle, sheep, and hogs, is not entitled to claim as a loss the value of animals that perish from among those animals that were raised on the farm, except as such loss is reflected in an inventory, if used. If livestock has been purchased for any purpose, and afterward dies from disease, exposure, or injury, or is killed by order of the authorities of a State or the United States, the actual purchase price of such livestock, less any depreciation allowable as a deduction in respect of such perished livestock, may be deducted as a loss if the loss is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. The actual cost of other property (with proper adjustments for depreciation) which is destroyed by order of State or Federal authorities may likewise be claimed as a loss. If reimbursement is made by a State or the United States in whole or in part on account of stock killed or other property destroyed in respect of which a loss was claimed in a prior year, the amount received is required to be reported as income for the year in which reimbursement is made. The cost of any feed, pasture, or care which has been deducted as an expense of operation must not be included as part of the cost of the stock for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of a deductible loss.

If gross income is ascertained by the use of inventories, no deduction can be taken separately for livestock or products lost during the year, whether purchased for resale or produced on the farm, as such losses will be reflected in the inventory by reducing the amount of livestock or products on hand at the close of the year, which has the effect of reducing gross income from business by the amount of the loss.

If an individual owns and operates a farm in addition to being engaged in another trade or business or calling, and sustains a loss from the farming operations, such loss may be deducted from gross income received from all sources in determining the taxpayer's net income, provided such farm is not operated for recreation or pleasure.

If a farm is operated for recreation or pleasure and not a commercial basis, and if the expenses incurred in connection therewith are in excess of the receipts therefrom, the entire receipts from the sale of products may be ignored in rendering a return of income, and the expenses incurred, being regarded as personal expenses, will not constitute allowable deductions for Federal income tax purposes.

BARNYARD

A concrete paved barnyard is a big aid to dairymen producing high quality milk. Fall, winter, spring and summer it helps keep cows out of mud, dust, filth—cuts down work of cleaning cows before milking. A big factor now that farm help is short and every effort is being made to increase milk production.

When cows wade through mud they waste energy needed for producing milk. Owners say a paved barnyard soon pays for itself by helping produce more and better quality milk.
