Class of '43 Is Next to Largest to Be Graduated from Cass City High.

The auditorium of the Cass City High School was filled Tuesday evening with friends and relatives who came to see the 74 members of the graduating class receive their diplomas from Superintendent of Schools J. Ivan Niergarth. The awarding of the diplomas climaxed a program of speeches, presentations and music by members of the class of 1943.

The graduates, in their dark blue caps and gowns, were seated in four tiers on the stage which was decorated with large baskets of flowers. Frances Koepfgen, master of ceremonies, introduced the individual numbers on the program with cleverly rhymed verses.

Several of the speeches given by members of the class were serious in their recognition of the present world conflict and the effect which it must necessarily have upon the lives of the students leaving school now. Helen Tarloski, in her salutatory address, spoke of the call to service and of the response which the graduates are making and will make. Valedictorian Vera Lounsbury asserted that a high school education is modern youth's most valuable asset. We are not in this war because education has failed us, she said, but because we have failed education. An original and very timely adaptation of Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was presented by Frederick Auten, Class President Helen Bolla, in a very informal manner, combined humor and seriousness in her address as she voiced appreciation for privileges which youth of this land enjoy.

Other participants in Tuesday night's program included Jean Muck who, in costume, entertained the audience with a "Kentucky Monologue," and Edward Doerr and Stanley VanVliet whose gifts to members of the graduating class provoked much laughter from them and their friends.

Music on the program was provided by six senior girls, "Songbirds Six," who sang an arrangement of MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose." Frances Koepfgen, Jean Muck, Joan Muntz, Lorene Clara, Elaine Kirtson, and Betty Jo Agar were members of the sextet.

A highlight of the program was the presentation of the gift from the class of 1943 to the school. The gift, a bulletin board, was displayed at one side of the stage throughout the evening, but it was formally presented by Marion Miller. The bulletin board is divided into two sections, each enclosed in glass. One division is intended for announcements, and the other is designed for a service honor roll. The names of four Cass City boys have already been placed upon the honor roll: Russell Dewey, George McComb, and Alexander A. Ewing, who have "made the supreme sacrifice," and Grant Reagh, who has been reported.

Open House Was Well Attended

About fifty ladies called at the Kinnaird home Saturday afternoon when Mrs. A. H. Kinnaird entertained at an "open house" from two to five o'clock for Mrs. J. Ivan Niergarth, Mrs. Charles Keen and Miss Verda Zuscniitt, who are leaving Cass City soon. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. L. I. Wood, Mrs. I. A. Fritz, Mrs. Howard Wooley, Mrs. J. A. Sandham and Mrs. E. W. Douglas. Those who presided at the tea table at hourly intervals were Mrs. F. L. Morris, Mrs. John McGilvray, Mrs. G. W. Landon, Mrs. H. F. Lenzner, Mrs. Willis Campbell and Mrs. W. L. Mann. The table and house were prettily decorated with spring flowers.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Stockbridge of Gary, Indiana, mother of Mrs. Keen; Mrs. Raymond Green of Bad Axe and Miss Joanne Jones of Bellevue, niece of Miss Zuscniitt.

Mrs. Niergarth goes to St. Johns where Mr. Niergarth has been engaged as superintendent of schools. Miss Zuscniitt goes to her home in Bellevue for the summer months and in the fall will teach in St. Johns. Mrs. Keen will remain with her parents in Gary, Ind., for a short time and expects to join her husband at Camp Crost, South Carolina, later.

Council Votes to Retain Central War Time Here

The village council of Cass City expressed their intention to retain Central War Time as the official time of Cass City at a special meeting held Wednesday night. In order to get an expression of the trustees, a motion was introduced to change to "fast time" and this was decisively defeated.

Though most of the council members preferred Eastern War Time themselves, they were motivated by the expressed desire of the farming community to operate on "slow time" and for this reason they decided to retain Central War Time as official here.

Elementary Grades Active in Junior Red Cross Work

Grade Pupils Busy on Projects During Art and Handicraft Periods.

The elementary grades of the Cass City Public Schools have been active during the past year in working for the American Junior Red Cross. A contribution of $38.09 was sent from the entire school.

As projects conducted during art and handicraft periods under the supervision of Miss Ruth Schenck, the following items were made for convalescent hospitals: The kindergarten children decorated 200 paper napkins to be used by service men on Washington's birthday. First and second grades designed 70 tray covers to be used by patients in convalescent hospitals. Members of the third grade painted 50 vases to be sent to hospitals. Students of the fourth grade made 100 menu covers that were decorated with Christmas motifs and were used by the Navy during the holidays. Fifth graders made 50 crossword puzzle and solution books suitable for recreation rooms and convalescent wards. Students in the sixth grade collected cartoons, sports articles and interesting pictures and made 50 scrapbooks. Junior high students decorated 200 napkins for Easter, made 200 library envelopes and cards, and knitted a wool afghan. High school home economics I girls made 65 pairs of convalescent slippers and 5 pairs of men's pajamas. (The latter were contributed to the Senior Red Cross.)

Many students participated in the activities which were wholesome and helpful both to the persons who received aid and to those who worked.

The local Junior Red Cross chairman is Mrs. Ella H. Price.

While Miss Kathryn Price played the processional, "Avignonne," the 74 members of the Class of 1943 of the Cass City High School marched under arches of flowers into the school auditorium to hear the baccalaureate program Sunday evening. The seniors were seated by Robert Ryland, junior class president. The auditorium was filled by relatives and friends of the members of the class.

The call to worship was given by Rev. Dudley Masure, the invocation by Rev. Frank Smith, the Scripture reading by Rev. Stanley P. Kim and the prayer by Rev. E. M. Gibson. Rev. Lee N. Page gave the address, choosing for his subject, "The Way of Triumphant Living." A vested choir of high school girls sang two selections, "Lovely Appearance" and "Beautiful Savior" under the direction of Miss Eleanor McCallum. The program was concluded with a benediction by Rev. Fr. John Bozek. The Way of Triumphant Living.

Rev. Mr. Page, in his baccalaureate address, said in part: "I thank you, Class of 1943, your faculty and school board, for this opportunity to speak to you. Many of your class I know. I have high Turn to page 8, please.

Cass City, Kingston, Mayville Exceeded May Bond Quotas

Other Areas in Tuscola Did Not Reach Sales Expected of Them.

The quota set for sales of war bonds and stamps in Tuscola County during the month of May was $137,000. Reports received from all areas show that county folks decided to take a rest after the intensive drive of April, since the reported sales to date are but $94,904.50, or better than $40,000 under that which was expected.

The Cass City area led the county during the month, sales amounting to $25,287.50. This equals their sales during last December, and considering the May quota set, they exceeded it by $11,087.50. The Kingston area also exceeded their quota, having sold $13,437.75 over and above that expected of them, and Mayville reports a sale of $1,650 over the allotment given them. All other areas failed in making their quota.

The county quota set for the month of June is $129,000 and each area executive chairman has been advised of his proportion. "While it is known that we do not have the comparable influx of money each week in our rural areas as do other counties that have industries with weekly payrolls, in comparing quotas set for those areas with ours, consideration is given to this fact," says Clarence Bougher, county bond sales chairman. "If all areas in our county were as alert as Cass City, Kingston and Mayville, it appears reasonable to believe that sales of war bonds and stamps would result in a much higher average than they did during the month of May."

"As the war progresses, more and more money will be required to promote, as more and more is spent for war materials. It just means that there will be more and more need for individual savings for protection during the post-war period. So we should not let up on our purchase of war savings bonds and stamps but should purchase with every available penny that we have over and above that which is required for subsistence."

Following the wedding ceremony, a wedding dinner was served by the Misses Esther and Vivian Chapman, sisters of the bride.

After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke will reside in Detroit, where Mr. Cooke has employment in one of the industrial plants.

Visiting Soldier Gets Food Points

Soldiers, sailors, marines and flyers who come home for furlough visits need worry less about whether such a visit robs a household of needed food ration points.

Red tape and furlough time have been saved in new orders announced by the federal Office of Price Administration and transmitted in brief by the home economics extension service at Michigan State College.

Servicemen no longer need appear before a local war price and rationing board. The visitor, if his furlough is for 72 hours or longer, will be provided with a completed application form before he leaves camp. This application is given to the person named as the provider of his meals while on furlough if such meals will be in a household or other place where ration points will be necessary to acquire rationed foods.

The food provider has 15 days after the serviceman's furlough ends in which to submit the application to the local board.

Food certificates will be issued on a nine-meal or three-day unit basis for necessary ration points, according to the price administration ruling. The applications will not be used by hotels, restaurants or large eating establishments where food supplies are obtained through regular OPA allotments.

Charles M. Ziegler, Michigan's new state highway commissioner, is rolling up his sleeves, working long hours a day six days a week, and getting acquainted with his personnel and new problems which were not in the picture when he was a deputy commissioner more than a decade ago.

He is the commander of a multi-million dollar business which employs 2,500 persons in a state-wide network.

Elected to office April 5, Ziegler took over the reins on April 21 and by the first of June he had appointed only two persons to his staff: Harry Ward, Detroit engineer, as chief deputy highway commissioner, and Mrs. George Green as the commissioner's own secretary.

We mention this fact because it is significant of the way Ziegler approaches a problem. He acts slowly, deliberately and carefully, studying a situation from several points of view before arriving at a conclusion. Snap judgments are rare, if any. He is inclined to mastery of detail work, at least for the purpose of becoming familiar with the activities of the state department's many agencies and divisions.

The highway appointees of previous administrations are under civil service employment. At first they regarded the Ziegler slow approach to department decisions as a sign of distrust in them, but it is generally assumed today that his willingness to handle details is a desire to know departments before he turns over responsibilities to key executives.

The Ziegler attitude on patronage is worrying some of the Republican politicians. It is particularly interesting in view of the dire predictions made by Democrats that his election would mean the wholesale discharge of hundreds of skilled engineers and workers. As the new commissioner sees it, his first task is to build a business organization which will assure efficiency in highway performance.

The Republican commissioner, deputy to Commissioner Grove B. Dillman, appears to be taking his time. He is trying to minimize chances of blunders and mistakes. And if he has any intention of creating his own "machine"—to use a word bandied about during the spring campaign—there is no sign of it to date.

What is his program?

"Most of our construction work this year will be on access roads," said Mr. Ziegler. "These include essential access roads to important war industries. Only such access roads will be approved by the War Production Board."

"Some of our leading highway arteries are getting severe punishment from war traffic. Number 16, Muskegon to Detroit, is being pounded day and night by heavy trucks carrying vital war supplies. The maintenance problem is critical today, and we know it. As a war measure, we are insisting upon a high type of intensive maintenance which may cost three or four times the normal amount for the section of road."

"Some of these hard-hit highways will have to be torn up and rebuilt after the war. Our engineering department, cooperating with Governor Kelly's state planning commission, is now making surveys and plans for a post-war program. Right of way will be purchased where needed, and everything made ready for immediate use when peace is declared and men can be put to work again."

"Undoubtedly we will build new scenic highways, some of them extensions of present roads. The Lake Superior and Lake Michigan routes will be given consideration. It is important for Michigan to have good access roads to bring tourists north from states south of our borders."

"There is also the post-war problem of coordinating air and highway facilities for efficient transportation. I do not believe that the airplane is going to supplant the automobile, but air transport is bound to grow and our program must be fitted into both air and highway needs."

"Many of Michigan's cities should have better access roads. Our engineers are considering the needs of by-passing traffic around congested areas. Divided highways may be the answer, but our decision to build them will depend on studies of the centers of population, traffic counts and the money available to do the job."

"Our post-war building program will be to spread needed construction work throughout the state to help create employment for Michigan boys back home from the war."

"As for highway tourist parks, they are in the luxury class at present and will probably continue to be for a while. We used to get federal aid for highway beautification, but this allocation is out."

Ziegler was non-committal on the need of a new state bond issue for post-war highways. He pointed out that the last bond issue will be retired next year, freeing about $4,000,000 annually which for many years has been required for the bond sinking fund.

Prior to Ziegler's election 32 county road commissions had contracts with the state highway department for maintenance of state roads. Two more counties, Kent and Ontonagon, have complied with the department's requirements and have contracted for trunk line maintenance in their borders.

"We must have assurance of uniform standards of maintenance," said Ziegler, "before we approve contracts with the counties, and each contract carries a 30-day cancellation clause."

"One reason why I favor county contracts is the benefit of economy to the taxpayers. Two organizations doing the same type of maintenance with duplication of equipment is as absurd as having two superintendents to care for the state capital."

Second, if the county is held to a high standard of maintenance, it affects all road work done by the county department. County roads are benefited.

"But we do insist upon constant supervision of county maintenance, and thus we do not relinquish responsibility in the least. As far as we are concerned, the county contract is just another contract over which we maintain control in the same manner as construction work."

The new commissioner, known as "Charlie," is the father of four girls: Betty Lou and Rosemary, both graduates of Michigan State College, and Phyllis and Barbara Ann, students in the Lansing public schools. He enjoys trout fishing and bird hunting, is a member of Masonic, Elk and Moose orders, a registered engineer and a past president of the Michigan Engineering Society. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1913 as a civil engineer. His birthplace is Noble County, Indiana. Mrs. Ziegler is a native of Benton Harbor.

400 Billion Cost Of Hitler Lust

Commerce Department Gives Estimate of Arms Outlays, Income Losses.

WASHINGTON.—Adolf Hitler's lust for conquest has already cost the world more than $400,000,000,000, the commerce department estimates, and the cost may exceed $500,000,000,000 if he is not brought to his knees for another year.

The department calculated known and estimated military expenditures to date of Germany and her victims and the nations allied against her and the loss in national income to the Axis-conquered lands.

The department estimated in the Foreign Commerce Weekly that German military expenditures since Hitler came to power were more than $100,000,000,000, while Italy was said to have spent about $8,000,000,000 "since the date, June, 1940, of her deluded entry on the side of the Nazis."

A late entrant into the war against Nazism, the United States has already spent more than any other power fighting Germany, the article stated. Taking only expenditures already used or appropriated for military purposes in the last three years, the cost of Hitlerism to the United States so far was placed at $112,300,000,000.

Expenditures by the United Kingdom since the rise of Hitlerism were estimated at $38,200,000,000 and by Russia at $96,000,000,000.

Estimates of expenditures by other nations included:

France (since 1932), $10,100,000,000; Canada (since 1939), $4,814,000,000; Australia (since 1939), $1,760,000,000; New Zealand (since 1939), $319,000,000; South Africa (since 1939), $541,000,000; Poland (1933-39), $2,660,000,000; the Netherlands (1933-40), $889,000,000; Belgium (1933-40), $3,400,000,000; Norway (1933-40), $93,000,000; Yugoslavia (1938-40), $220,000,000; Greece (1937-41), $165,000,000; Czechoslovakia (1933-39), $1,500,000,000.

Nazi Spends 100 Billion.

The article estimated the loss in national income in Axis-conquered lands at more than $100,000,000,000.

"The national income of France stood at 250,000,000 francs in 1939," the article said. "There can be little doubt that owing to the large number of Frenchmen taken prisoners, a large number working at less than their full capacity, the national income of France has been reduced substantially since the period of the armistice of June, 1940."

"The same, proportionately, holds true of such other subjugated countries as the Netherlands, Belgium, Poland, Norway, Czechoslovakia and Greece."

With the United States planning to spend $97,000,000,000 on the war in the next fiscal year and the United Kingdom about $18,000,000,000, and not counting future military expenditures by other United Nations, the department reaches the figure of $500,000,000,000 as the cost of another year of war and comments: "This sum is nearly three times the total monetary cost of the four years of the first World war."

Postal Courtship Reaches

Its Climax in Wedding

COLUMBUS.—A two-year courtship by mail ended happily for Harry ("Pat") Frazier, 21-year-old veteran of Coral sea and Midway battles, and the former Helen Kraft.

Granted a 28-day leave after he landed in the U. S. from the Pacific, where his ship, the Vincennes, was torpedoed from under him, Frazier came to Columbus, formally proposed to the girl he had only spent two hours with, and they were married the next day.

"Pat" and Helen were introduced two years ago. Two hours later they parted, promising to write often. They did and the mail courtship progressed to discussion of marriage.

He has gone back to duty as a petty officer, third class, and hopes for assignment on another cruiser.

Nazis Call Reds Unfair

For Hiding Real Power

STOCKHOLM.—The German press is trying to explain defeats on the Soviet front by declaring the Russians tricked them, a Swedish correspondent reported.

Russia's concealment of her real military power and skill in camouflage resulted in surprises for the Germans even during the second year of the campaign, the press complained. The Russians were said to have changed the names of many places, built new towns whose existence was kept secret and laid new railways that were not shown on any maps available to the Germans.

New Trench Knife Saves

Vital Metal, Is Report

WASHINGTON.—A new trench knife that will kill as efficiently as the old one but conserve critical materials will be distributed soon to American troops.

The new knife is a sturdy, sharp-edged weapon, in appearance resembling an over-sized hunting knife. One cutting edge runs the full length of the 6 3/4-inch blade the other extends for nearly three inches from the needle-sharp point.

GOD'S EXCEEDING GREAT PROMISES

LESSON TEXT.—II Peter 1:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT.—He hath granted unto us His precious and exceeding great promises; that through these ye may become partakers of the divine nature.—II Peter 1:4, R. V.

Growth in grace and in knowledge of Christ are as normal and expected of the child of God as bodily growth of the physical child. Tragic as is the failure of one to develop physically, it is even more distressing and sad in the spiritual realm. Yet it is a common thing in our churches, where only comparatively few believers even come to full stature in Christ, where more have only a partial growth, and some are forever babes in Christ.

God has made perfect provision for us, and has in His Word given plain and explicit instructions on how to gain spiritual development.

I. All Things Provided (vv. 1-4).

In the physical world we are able to provide, at least in some degree, what is needed. We also know where to find mental food. Spiritual provision can come only from God, and we find from these verses that He has provided not just a small portion, or a limited ration, but "all things that pertain unto life and godliness," through the knowledge of Christ.

The "exceeding great and precious promises" of God are the abundant portion of the believer. They are sure promises, based in the altogether dependable Word of God.

God's provision for us in Christ has made it unnecessary to look elsewhere. Here is escape from the world's corruption, the new nature in Christ, faith, grace, peace, power—all in Him.

The opposite is also true, that without Christ men have only the weak and disappointing help of men on which to draw. Of such foolish ones the Lord said through Jeremiah the prophet that they "have committed two evils: They have forsaken me, the fountain of living waters; and have hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water" (Jer. 2:13).

II. All Diligence Required (vv. 5-7).

There is something that the Christian can do to insure his growth in grace. He is to be diligent, that is, have an earnest purpose and zeal to go ahead spiritually. This calls for application and endeavor, just as progress in any other sphere of life, and possibly more.

Faith is the foundation of all such growth and without it there is nothing on which to build. But on it, or better, "in" it, we have all these other Christian graces springing up, as we give "all diligence" to encourage their growth.

Notice the ascending scale. Faith leads to virtue, that is, courageous, resolute Christian character. Then comes knowledge—the intelligent understanding and discernment of truth. This is bound together by temperance, meaning self-control. Next is patience, that steady endurance which keeps going in spite of trial or disappointment.

The sixth note in this octave of graces is godliness, which speaks of piety, true devotion to God, and reverence for His name. Such a believer will love his brethren in all brotherly kindness; and that leads us to the high point of love (the real meaning of "charity," v. 7). Here love for God is obviously in mind, as the crowning grace of the believer.

III. All Eternity Assured (vv. 8, 11).

We should look forward to that abundant "entrance into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" spoken of in verse 11. There is such a thing as being saved "so as by fire" (I Cor. 3:15), slipping into heaven with nothing to show for our life as followers of Christ here on earth (read I Cor. 3:12-15).

God does not want for His people such an unseemly entrance upon eternity. Why should we be satisfied so to live that it may be true of us. Saved? Yes, but that is all! Are you satisfied with that prospect?

We should note, too, that this growth in grace will show itself in our daily life. It will keep us from being "barren (idle) and unfruitful" (v. 8). The Christian life must not be barren of true service for Christ, nor unfruitful of gracious harvest for Him. We are not on a sort of spiritual joy ride, sitting at ease as we speed on to the heavenly dwelling places.

Works do not save a man. We are justified before God by faith. But our faith is justified before men by our works of righteousness. Fruit grows on the living and healthy tree.

Observe that the Christian who lacks these graces (Do you?) is a nearsighted one who lacks both vision and grateful remembrance of God's loving-kindness (v. 9). How many members of our churches need their spiritual memory jogged and their spiritual eyes anointed with God's "eyesalve" (Rev. 3:18).

Skin Disease Frequent

Dermatitis is the most frequent disabling occupational disease occurring in industry. Careful investigation by the Illinois Division of Factory Inspection reveals that in the majority of cases faulty personal hygiene and the lack of proper washing and bathing facilities are responsible for a very large percentage of skin disorders.

In spite of long hours and shortage of help, you dairy farmers are doing a double duty for Uncle Sam. One—helping to keep the boys on the fighting front well-fed and physically fit. Two—feeding the millions of war workers so they can keep turning out tanks and guns and planes.

There is no more important work than yours going on anywhere, and we want you to know how much YOUR war efforts are appreciated by each one of us here at our service station.

STOMACH SYNCOPATION

The patient with stomach trouble was told by his doctor that he had been drinking too much and would have to stop. "But," said the patient, "what shall I tell my wife is wrong with me?"

"Oh," said the doctor after a little thought, "tell her you are suffering from syncopation. That should satisfy her."

The patient did. "What is syncopation?" asked his wife.

"I don't know," he replied, "but that's what the doctor told me."

When her husband had gone, she looked the word up in the dictionary. "Syncopation," it defined: "Irregular movement from bar to bar."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS
by Lynn ChambersSurprise the Family With Sandwich Loaf!
(See Recipe Below)

Meals on a Dish

We've heard a lot about hot meals in a casserole that take care of the main course of a meal. But how about cool meals served on a single attractive platter that are most of the time, at least, made up ahead of time? This is one of the very nice things about summer menu planning for foods lend themselves to this kind of serving.

Recently I saw a very attractive platter that was cool, complete and colorful—that any one of you could whip up at short notice. An individual tomato aspic filled with creamed cottage cheese served on a large green glass salad plate was banked by several tiny finger sandwiches, a slice of tongue with horseradish sauce, deviled eggs, a small mound of potato salad and a sprig of watercress. Serve this with coffee or tea and a dish of sherbet or ice cream.

Bread with filling forms an interesting base for this salad-sandwich loaf and looks very pretty enclosed in rosy aspic. The fillings, ham and cheese, classic flavor combinations, won't cut into your points heavily, nor will the tomato juice:

Tomato Aspic Surprise.
(Serves 6)
1 small loaf white bread
Ham Salad
1 5-ounce glass Old English cheese
3 1/2 cups tomato juice
2 tablespoons onion juice
1 stalk celery
3 tablespoons gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Watercress

Remove crusts from loaf of bread. Cut whole loaf into three lengthwise slices. Spread one slice with ham salad, cover with second slice spread with cheese spread. Cover with third slice of bread and wrap in wax paper.

Cook tomato juice, onion juice and celery for 5 minutes. Remove celery and add gelatin which has been softened in cold water. Stir until dissolved. Season with salt and pepper. Pour a 1/2-inch layer into a buttered loaf pan which is a little larger than the loaf of bread. Chill until firm. Place prepared sandwich loaf in this layer of aspic and pour the remaining cooled and somewhat thickened aspic around it and over the top. Chill again until the aspic is firm. Unmold on a platter, garnish with watercress and slice crosswise to serve.

You can still do entertaining even on your ration points! If your best beau or son is coming home from camp, there's no need to worry about stretching those ration points out of place when you serve this loaf serving 12 to 15 people:

Lynn Says:

A Heart of Gold: That's a dandy description of the egg which is good to eat, plus a first class protein. If you like 'em stuffed here's a grand parade of suggestions:

Cut hard-cooked eggs into halves, mash them, season according to taste and refill the whites. Garnish with paprika and a sprig of parsley.

Chopped celery with the mashed yolks is a good filling if you like crispness. Or, mix the yolk with Thousand Island dressing for variety and serve around a salad.

Yolks deluxe include mixing with 1 cup cooked peas, pureed, 2 slices bacon, chopped and fried crisp, 1 1/2 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon onion juice, 1 tablespoon minced pimento, 1/2 teaspoon salt and enough mayonnaise to moisten.

If you have a dab of leftover ham, mince it fine and add with enough mayonnaise to moisten to egg yolks mashed fine and refill whites.

*Tomato Aspic Surprise
Apricot Pie Beverage
*Recipe Given

Tulip Sandwich Loaf.
(Serves 12 to 15)

1/2 pound cold ham
1/2 pound American cheese
6 sweet pickles
Mayonnaise
3 packages cream cheese
Cream
1 small jar pimento
1 green pepper
1 loaf unsliced sandwich bread

Grind ham and grate cheese. Combine ham, cheese and chopped pickles and add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Remove crusts from loaf of bread. Cut a 1/2-inch slice of bread the length of the loaf. Remove center from remaining loaf so there is a box 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick on sides and bottom. Spread inside of loaf and one side of slice generously with butter or margarine. Put sandwich filling inside loaf and top with slice on butter side down. Soften cream cheese with a small amount of cream until it is of spreading consistency. Cover loaf with cream cheese. Cut small tulips and leaves from pimento and green pepper and decorate sides of loaf. Chill for 1 hour and when ready to serve, cut in 1-inch slices.

Cottage cheese is unrational, a good source of quality protein and calcium. You'll like it in this main dish salad—a meal in itself:

Walnut-Stuffed Tomatoes.
(Serves 4 to 6)
4 to 6 whole tomatoes
1 pound cottage cheese
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1/2 cup broken walnut kernels
Salt to taste

Wash and remove stem end from tomatoes. Cut out portion of center from tomatoes. Cut this fine and add to above ingredients, combine and fill tomatoes. Serve well-chilled, garnished with salad greens and whole walnut kernels. Serve with french dressing or salad oil and vinegar.

Lima beans, a rich source of protein, are combined with other rich-in-minerals-and-vitamins vegetables to give you a perfect luncheon or supper main dish salad:

Lima Bean Supper Salad.
(Serves 6)
2 cups lima beans, cooked
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 bud garlic, chopped
1 large onion, sliced thin
1/4 cup salad oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Sliced tomatoes
Sliced green onions

Mix with a fork, the lima beans, parsley, garlic and onion. Add salad oil gradually, then vinegar drop by drop. Season with salt and pepper, garnish with tomatoes and green onions.

Hot Tomato Cottage Cheese Sandwich (Serves 6).

1 cup cottage cheese
6 slices buttered toast
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes

Spread cottage cheese between slices of buttered toast. Cut sandwiches in half and arrange in buttered baking dish. Melt butter over low flame, blend in flour, then add tomatoes gradually, stirring constantly until thickened. Pour over sandwiches and bake for 15 to 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Western Reunion: When Harry Gilbert arrived in San Francisco via the Oakland Ferry recently, taxicabs were so scarce four passengers crowded into one. As the vehicle rattled up from the waterfront, a woman sitting next to Harry, remarked, "That ride across the bay reminds me of the old ferry between Brooklyn and New York."

Harry asked if her home was in Brooklyn. The woman replied that it was and that she had attended Erasmus high school.

"Brooklyn is my home town," declared Harry, "but I went to Eastern District high."

"Eastern District high," repeated the driver turning and facing his fares, "I went there, too."

Best Laid Plans, Etc.: A bunch of fight managers at a corner table in Jack Dempsey's the other evening were discussing how various types of Uncle Sam's fighting services have sapped the boxing game of its potential man power. Talk veered to Al Weill, one of the better managers, who, seeing the handwriting on the wall, had taken steps to keep himself solvent for the duration. Weill, having lost such well known pugs as Marty Servo and Lou Ambers to the coast guard and half a dozen other clients to the army and navy, had landed a berth as manager of the Cerney Twins, a boy and girl dance team recently headlined at Loew's State. Maybe this was "sissy stuff," sighed the manager, but it paid off. Then in walked Weill crestfallen. Charles Cerney, male member of the team, had just handed him a surprise—he was waiting to be called into the signal corps in which he had enlisted some time back.

Inspiration: Henry Weiss, formerly an executive for one of the best known taxicab concerns, is the man who invented those sliding tops for taxis—the kind that roll back and give you a slice of sky and whiff of outdoors. He peddled the innovation to the Chrysler people—and that's how he got money enough to retire. A few evenings ago at Leon and Eddie's, he disclosed for the first time how he got the idea. He was dining at that very place one summer evening. Looking up, he saw the roof above the dance floor disappearing and a star-studded sky becoming the room's ceiling. "I've often wondered," said Weiss to Eddie Davis, "who thought of your sliding ceiling. He suggested something really terrific to me and I'd like to thank him personally."

Information Please: Lorraine and Rogman, while vacationing in New York, told of a Hollywood incident which they swore was true. According to the reporters, it happened at Hollywood and Vine during a test blackout. As the warning signal was given, an air raid warden shoed a young couple out of the street and into the shelter of a darkened doorway. When the "all clear" sounded some minutes later, the fellow remarked to the girl, "If I'd known the lights would be out so long, I would have kissed you."

About Face: Some time before December, 1941, a group of manufacturers banded together and formulated a plan to wage an advertising and publicity campaign against "going withoutism." They pledged a fortune to be spent ridiculing men who didn't wear hats, girls who substituted kerchiefs for millinery, youths who scorned bathing suit tops, misses who wore their legs bare instead of stockings and so on through the list. Then came Pearl Harbor. Now most of that same group are so short of raw materials that they themselves are preaching "going withoutism" as an aid to the nation's war effort.

Here and There: One of the city's many marvelous free shows: The harbor as seen from Columbia Heights, Brooklyn. . . . A marine panorama full of eye-appeal. . . . Craft of all kinds from clumsy barges to slim, swift vessels that are playing a part in history in the making. . . . Railroad freight cars being ferried here and there—funny sight to me, cars on boats. . . . Huge ferries that transport human freight to and from Staten Island, a blur in the down-the-bay mists. . . . Black, business-like ships carrying cargoes of destruction for our enemies. . . . But with rails lined with crew members who look as nonchalant as if merely bound for Coney Island. . . . and dominating the entire scene the great Statue of Liberty.

Fleas Are Still There

NASHVILLE, TENN.—Irrked by fleas in the basement of his home, Buford Hill was advised to discharge a shotgun.

Hill rammed two high-velocity shells into an old gun and squeezed the trigger. The barrels spread at right angles. A big hole appeared in the wall. The fleas are still there.

HOLBROOK.

Mrs. Loren Trathen of Holbrook and Mrs. Peter Rienstra of Cass City spent Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in Flint where they were called because of the critical condition of Mrs. Trathen's brother, Walter Hill, of Flint. Mr. Hill was injured by a hit and run motorist early Monday morning as he stepped from a car in front of his home. Mr. Hill has compound fractures of both legs, a head injury, broken ribs, a lung puncture, and internal injuries for which he underwent an operation Monday at Hurley Hospital. Mr. Hill is the son of Mrs. W. I. Moore of Cass City.

On Saturday, May 29, Miss Betty Twort of Detroit became the bride of Junior Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Robinson of Holbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott, of Detroit, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the couple. After the ceremony, a dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents in Detroit. On Saturday evening, June 5, a reception and dance was held at the Holbrook community hall in their honor. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson received some lovely gifts. Ice cream and cake were served. They will make their home in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson and daughter, Patricia, visited Sunday at the home of Mrs. Jackson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sternberg, at Bad Axe.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Decker of Pontiac are visiting relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Archie McPhail and family of Detroit spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown.

The W. S. C. S. will meet with Mrs. Clayton Hartwick June 17 all day.

Shipping Costly

One of the reasons that lettuce is not now transported from distant points is that only an average of 25 pounds of lettuce is consumed from each 285-pound crate shipped.

X-Ray Steel

Vision through solid steel articles as though they were glass is made possible by the three-dimensional X-rays now used in examining castings made for war devices.

'... For Amber Waves of Grain'

As if joining in the observance of Flag day, these shocks of grain, country roads and wide-cut swaths form a replica of the American flag in this composite picture of a peaceful countryside. The flag symbolizes the patriotic efforts of American farmers to wage their own war against the Axis by increasing production in 1943. Their combined efforts to grow the biggest crop in the nation's history will have an overwhelming influence on the conduct of the war. Theirs is the doubly difficult task of feeding and clothing our own fighting forces and civilians and helping to care for our United Nations allies.

America Salutes Food Producers

HE ALSO SERVES

THIS IS DAIRY MONTH!

NO inspiring bands and no glamour of uniforms and decorations cheer these unsung heroes of World War II. With patriotic determination dairymen toil long hours under serious handicaps of labor and material shortages to produce food so vital to the winning of the war.

Dairy foods are of front-rank importance in keeping fighters and workers fit, says the National Dairy Council. Food production is the nation's most critical problem. Fighters on the farm are as essential to the war effort as those in munition plants or on the firing line.

Plan 'Schools of Soil' For Young Workers

Specific Farm Skills Now Being Developed

Training of non-farm high school students for wartime farm work has two objectives, according to the plan announced by the U. S. department of agriculture.

One is to familiarize these young people with rural and farm life, and the other to provide training in specific farm skills.

Classes in farm work are being given in schools throughout the country this spring, so that the farmers' valuable time will not have to be used to teach young workers their job when they are supposed to be helping him. He will be responsible only for on-the-farm training where individual requirements demand it, or special processes are involved.

Among the jobs being taught are cleaning dairy barns, brushing cows, whitewashing building interiors, milking, pitching hay, harnessing and driving horses, operating tractors, and machinery repair. Some of these may sound simple, but the department of agriculture points out that each has its little technique that makes the difference between an efficient piece of work and one that is slipshod.

Other jobs for the young will include hoeing, weeding, picking fruit and berries, harvesting sugar beets, feeding chickens, gathering eggs, and—for some of the girls—assisting "Mrs. Farmer" with the cooking, dishwashing, scrubbing, sweeping and dusting that are the "KP" of the farm army.

The training program is primarily to be the responsibility of the U. S. Office of Education and the state departments of education—in other words, the responsibility of the public schools from coast to coast. Where possible, the farming activities will be conducted on farms or in real situations.

In each community, it is planned to bring before the prospective young workers speakers such as farmers, vocational agriculture teachers, farm labor specialists of the U. S. employment service, representatives of agricultural colleges and of farm organizations, county agents, and others who can speak authoritatively on the many phases of farm work. Local facilities such as public markets, milk plants and fruit storage plants also will be utilized.

On-the-job group training will be carried on where it is found desirable. It will be given by a teacher of vocational agriculture or some other approved individual.

Agriculture in Industry

By FLORENCE C. WEED

Melons

Each year, the American public drinks about 80,000,000 gallons of canned fruit juices, excluding cider. This habit has salvaged thousands of tons of fruit which otherwise would be wasted.

If watermelon juice can be marketed as a beverage, as some enthusiasts believe, this might open a new market for food which now has no use. Tons of watermelons are grown for seed, leaving quantities of waste which is now a total loss. The rind of surplus watermelons may be used for sweet pickles, but pickling varieties with thick rinds are grown especially for this purpose. Some surplus is used for stock feed and some unharvested watermelons are plowed under as fertilizer.

Studies are being made to find out the possibilities of extracting oil from watermelon seeds. About 61,000,000 watermelons are marketed each year and another 2,000,000 are left unharvested because of adverse market conditions.

Cantaloupes and other muskmelons are raised entirely for the fresh fruit market. The only market for the surplus crop and the culls is as stock feed and fertilizer and about one-half of the entire crop is wasted.

In Colorado, alone, an average of 1,000,000 pounds of cantaloupe are harvested each year for seed and seed raisers have no way of getting rid of the melon waste. Experiments are under way to find methods for drying muskmelons for cattle feed.

Using Poison on Crops

Pests which attack practically all vegetable crops can be destroyed by toxic substances without undue danger to humans if properly applied and the vegetables and fruits are thoroughly washed and handled after harvest.

On potatoes and other root crops where the tops are not used for food they should be washed thoroughly and not be sprayed or dusted within 15 or 30 days before picking. Poison remains on plants longer when dry.

Liver Is Powdered To Ship Overseas

Chemists Reduce Bulk and Lengthen Preservation.

WASHINGTON.—Chemists of the department of agriculture, in cooperation with one of the large packers, have worked out a method of reducing liver to a fine brown powder.

Thus one of the richest sources of vitamins and minerals now joins milk and eggs in this form, which can be preserved indefinitely without refrigeration, and which takes up only about a fifth of its original space.

Hitherto, it has been possible to send liver abroad, or even to the domestic market, only by keeping it continuously frozen. Now the liver is reduced completely to a liquid by treating it with the enzyme papain, derived from the papaya fruit. This has been used extensively in the past to tenderize steaks and other meats. Essentially papain is a digestive juice and meat treated with it has been partially digested before it is cooked. In the case of liver the "digestion" is allowed to go several steps further.

Once the liquid is formed, the water, which constitutes at least 80 per cent of its substance, is taken out by means of the vacuum spray drier—the same apparatus used for powdering milk and eggs. Afterward water can be restored, or the powder can be mixed with other materials for cooking.

Liver ordinarily is rich in iron, copper, most of the vitamin B complex, and vitamin A. Its value in preserving keen eyesight at night was known both to the Egyptians and the Chinese as early as 1500 B. C. It also contains one or more principals essential in preventing and curing various forms of anemia.

Man Who Went to Alaska In Ark Now Prosperous

TACOMA, WASH. — Paul Satko, who sailed for Alaska in his home-made ark in 1940 in quest of a livelihood for his wife and ten children, is back for a visit.

Instead of being an unemployed welder, fighting against odds to stay off the relief rolls, Mr. Satko on this trip is a prosperous rancher, traveling first class and buying supplies.

Mr. Satko, who formerly lived in Richmond, Va., said his ranch, near Juneau, Alaska, won't be out from under the snow until April, and that his wife and children are living in their town house in Juneau until then.

The ark, which was sunk for six days by a storm after the Satkos reached their Alaskan home, is afloat once more awaiting the time Mr. Satko can beach it as a relic. "People still come and like to look at it," he said.

Thirteen acres of his 122-acre farm are in production, growing principally radishes, turnips, rutabagas and potatoes.

His 18-year-old son, Joe, is in the merchant marine, and his daughter, Hazel, is married to Sergt. William Brown in Juneau. The other eight children are at home.

Bloodiest Year of War Takes Two Million Toll

NEW YORK. — About 2,000,000 fighting men died last year, the bloodiest year in the history of the world, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company.

Germany's losses were at least twice as great as in 1917. Between 500,000 and 750,000 Germans fell, most of them on the Russian front. Russian dead for 1942 are estimated at between 750,000 and 900,000.

Our known dead last year numbered 8,100 but a sizable proportion of the 40,000 missing must be assumed dead. The Japanese, it is estimated, lost from 140,000 to 200,000 men. Other estimates of losses include 50,000 Rumanians, 30,000 to 40,000 Italians, and not more than 30,000 British.

New Litter Permits Easy Transfer of Wounded Men

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Medical officers at Stark General hospital, Charleston, S. C., have perfected a new type litter designed to permit easy transfer of wounded men from ambulances to Pullman cars. It moves on wheels.

One man can handle the litter and never move the patient until he reaches his berth. It can be kept on the train platform for immediate use and by saving transportation time, it gains fighting time.

Surgical officers at Stark General have given the litter enthusiastic approval. Although not yet produced commercially, it has been submitted to the surgeon general in the hope it may be used for all patients moved by train.

Fliers Named Them 'Slum Clearance Bombs'

MELBOURNE.—British fliers call them "block busters." But Australian airmen have another name for the big bombs that have wrought so much havoc.

They call them "slum-clearance bombs" because observers have found that one of these big fellows will destroy several blocks of old type buildings.

Do you remember when light bulbs looked like this?

The young lady in the costume of thirty-three years ago is holding a 100-watt light bulb, vintage of 1910. In those days it was considered a wonder and people were glad to pay $1.45 for it! Yet it gave only half as much light as your 100-watt lamp of 1943.

Yes—you get twice as much light today for the electricity you use. But that's not all! Electricity costs you only about half as much as it did the lady in the picture above.

HOW TO GET THE MOST LIGHT FOR YOUR MONEY

Here are three helpful suggestions that will help your eyes to get all the light they need—without wasting electricity:

1. Avoid glare. Glare from bare bulbs or wrongly placed lamps makes it hard to see with comfort, no matter how much light you have.

2. Avoid shadows. When you read or work in your own shadow you are using only a part of the light that is available. It is just as easy to use it all.

3. Dirt and dust collecting on light bulbs and reflectors can cut your light in half. Clean them regularly.

FORCE OF HABIT

A batch of German prisoners had just arrived in England and were being marched to the internment camp.

Round a bend on the canal nearby a barge came slowly into view. The bargee cracked his whip to warn the lockkeeper of his coming.

Immediately the prisoners broke ranks and ran in all directions.

"Hey!" roared the camp commandant.

"S'alright, sir," said a Tommy. "They've been eating so much horse-flesh lately that every time they hear the crack of a whip they break into a gallop."

Nary a Hope

Things were dull in the camp, and the lads were discussing just any subject that came up to pass the time.

Bill, who was a firm believer in reincarnation, was thrusting his views down the throat of his hated corporal.

"Yes," he insisted, "when we die we always return as something else."

"You mean, for instance," cut in the corporal, "that I might come back as a worm?"

"Not a chance, son!" grinned Bill. "You're never the same thing twice!"

IN A FLASH

"Is this village lighted by electricity?"

"Only when there's a thunder storm."

Silly Story

"My friends say it's queer that I'm so fond of pancakes," a young woman told the psychiatrist, "so they sent me to you."

"Well, that's not so odd," he replied. "I'm very fond of them myself."

"Are you?" she exclaimed happily. "Well, you must come over some day. I have seven trunks full."

Firm Rebuke

A visitor at the capitol was accompanied by his small son. The little boy watched from the gallery when the house came to order.

"Why did the minister pray for all those men, Pop?"

"He didn't. He looked them over and prayed for the country."

Second Hand

"Do you think we'll have a warm summer this year?" asked the new visitor to the resort.

"If the management has anything to do with it," replied the guest, grimly, "it'll be last summer warmed up!"

Year 3000 A. D.

"Mother, do you think father knows Harry is going to call for me in his airplane?"

"O, I think so, dear. He's been hanging around the skylight with a club all afternoon."

Cost of Feed

"Why did you go out of the business of raising chickens?"

"I thought I could make more money raising chicken feed."

SCHOOL OF LIFE

"When your son has completed his studies what will he be?"

"Oh, about 78 years of age, I should think."

What a Help!

"Baby has swallowed a bottle of ink."

"Let him swallow a blotter as a chaser."

Off His Chest

"Do you see that fellow over there yelling 'Kill the umpire. Cut his heart out in town. He comes out here every afternoon to let off steam.'"

"Of course I see him, and hear him, too."

"Well, he's one of the worst hen-pecked men in town. He comes out here every afternoon to let off steam."

Family Trait

"What makes the corn stalk so?"

"Its family is all composed of kernels."

Counterfeit Money Racket Hit Hard

Priorities Make Life Tough For Bogus Coin Boys.

DENVER.—A "depression," induced by priorities and an educational campaign by the treasury department, has hit the counterfeit money racket, Rowland K. Goddard, U. S. secret service supervisor in Denver, says.

Goddard says that both branches of the spurious money craft—coin and note—have felt the pinch caused by the war.

Coiners, who rely heavily on babbit metal (an alloy of copper, tin, antimony and other vital war materials) have been affected at the source of their supply, Goddard reports. Sale of those metals are carefully regulated by the War Production board to see that they go to war industries.

The "note men," the artists of their "profession" who must be skilled in engraving, chemistry and printing to escape detection for even a short time, also are unable to obtain the materials they need. Chemicals they once used to bleach $1 notes so the false imprint of larger denominations could be superimposed are hard to get, Goddard says. Other materials also are unavailable.

Combined with the ceaseless campaign the treasury has waged to advise the public on easy ways to spot bogus coins and paper money, priorities have made the counterfeiting racket profitless.

Two simple ways in which phony money can be detected, Goddard says, are:

1. The old "teeth and ear" test for coins. If it isn't fairly biteable and doesn't ring, it's not real.
2. Counterfeit bills usually have a "greasy" feeling, or contain noticeable flaws in materials or workmanship.

Buy Big Knife for Son To 'Finish Off' Japs

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.—The law firm of Harvey and Mulcare is wondering what President Roosevelt's reaction would be if he were asked to allow shipment of a large knife to the Solomon Islands to "finish off" the Japanese.

Nathaniel Harvey, a member of the firm, said that a naturalized citizen asked his assistance in getting the knife to his son in the Solomon Islands.

"My son is in the marines," the father related, "and he wrote me a letter that the Japanese are tough fighters and he wanted a large knife to finish them off. I went out and bought a knife and took it to a ship, and the polishers put a razor edge on both sides of the blade." But, he added, postal authorities refused to accept it, and the marine corps recruiting office would not forward it.

"That's why," Mr. Harvey quoted the man as saying, "I want you to write to the President. I want you to tell him that the postmaster and the recruiting station are no good."

Soldiers in Cold Regions Get Clippers for Beards

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—It needn't be "cold enough to freeze your whiskers off" to keep the faces of Uncle Sam's fighting forces in frigid climates clean-shaven. The army quartermaster corps is supplying them with beard clippers for use when "extremely low temperatures make shaving inconvenient and possibly dangerous," according to an announcement by the Jersey City quartermaster depot.

"It is necessary to keep the beard clipped to prevent formation of ice in the whiskers," the announcement explained.

The beard clippers for men in cold areas are an addition to a barber kit, which has been developed by the quartermaster corps and is now being supplied to army units in overseas areas where professional barber service is not available.

Story Leads Bandit To Rectify Mistake

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—A bandit held up the Seneca hotel one night and got $107, but overlooked $1,000 in the cash drawer. The newspapers reported it the next day.

The next morning a man identified as the same visitor, came back for the thousand dollars. He got away with $450.

Save Soap
Although soap is still plentiful, the patriotic housewife will include soap saving in her war conservation. Left-over bits should be saved and made into liquid or jelled soap by adding hot water. Glass sugar dispensers such as are used in restaurants are convenient holders for liquid soap made in this way. Learn by experiment just how much soap you need to make good suds and thereafter use only that amount to start with. As the suds die down or are used up, add more soap carefully to make the lather live. Do not waste soap.

hopes for all of you, and best wishes for your health, triumphant living, and happiness. I have been asked to give you an address. But you and I know that for such solemn and stirring times as these no mere address will do, but something of the wisdom of God from the Word of God.

"Such a Word the Lord gave to his disciples. Mature men they were, yet beginning a new phase of life. He addressed them as his best friends. His Word was, 'I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life' (John 14:6).

"He used the expression 'I am the Way' because he knew well our imitativeness and our need for a personal ideal. Little children imitate the commands and stone one another; young people follow after the great scientists; Boswell was drawn to Dr. Samuel Johnson and wrote one of the best biographies in the English language. We need a personal ideal, and Christ is the only best, truest, happiest, most satisfying model and hero. His was real manhood demonstrating a real and successful way of life. More than that, He is the great personal companion, the great friend. We are entering a world of many trials and deep waters, where our most powerful help will be in having that friend. The presence of Christ is sustaining help in anything that can come upon us.

"What did He mean by 'I am the Way'? First of all, Christ represents the idealistic way of living. You are going out from throwing paper wads and notes to shooting bullets and bombs. Everything that comes upon you will try to tear you down and pull you down to the level of the animal and the mechanical. Existence and daily routine will demand that you become brutish and a machine. But you are not that, and life is not that. You were made for higher things. Keep yourself above your surroundings. Keep yourself above the world. Our enemy with the bad mustache made his worst blunder when he appealed to the lowest instincts in man. He is already defeated, even at home, because man cannot live like that. You are spirits, and true living is idealistic, above the world. Keep yourselves in the idealistic way of Christ.

"Secondly, Christ's way is the realism of facing up to things. He had his Mount of Transfiguration, where He saw His glory and destiny, but He came to His glory only by facing up to Gethsemane and carrying through. Some of you will want to shut yourselves up from this ugly, practical world, and you will never give yourselves or anybody else any good. Others will be absorbed by the world and its spirit. But the only successful triumphant way of life is through Christ's way of taking all things as they come and living them through in trust, hope, faith, triumph.

"But how can this be done? Only by a practical truth that is a powerful aid for all of life. Christ is the truth about God and man that can carry us through life successfully. His gospel is not facts about materials, not academic truth, but the truth that enters into the very substance of mind and spirit, the very substance of life. His is the truth that is a firm rock and anchor in storm and calm, sunshine and darkness. He helps us endure every ill from weather to war. His truth is the strength that encourages us to goodness in temptation. He helps keep alive our hearts of sympathy and our minds of thoughtfulness in this world. Christ's truth and Christ's presence are a powerful aid for all of life.

"That is why He says, 'I am the Life.' Christianity is not a 'religion,' a weekly exercise of certain capabilities. Rather, Christianity is a way for all of life. Our own denomination this year is studying the book, 'For All of Life,' by Dr. Wm. H. Wiser. The moral of that book is obvious: a truly successful triumphant life is completely centered in Christ. So many of us are dead in part of living, not improving our minds or enlarging our sympathies. How many of us are not developing our immortal souls? Yet Christ and His Gospel are here for all of us, to develop all our faculties of mind and vision and spirit. For He avails for all men, since all are His, Protestant and Catholic, Jew and Gentile. Ours is not 'just a religion' but the great reality and abiding friend for all of life, one Lord, one faith, one baptism, Who is in all and through all. Remember that, and pray for your enemies, and the stupid and the cruel. Yours is the generation that can remodel the world. You can experiment with race relations and every other problem, working out the best solution for a better world. I hope that you will do your work in this world so well unto God and in the spirit and power of Christ that we can look down from the Eternal City a thousand years hence and say of Cass City community, 'Thank the Lord for such a lovely place; such nice people are still there.'"

DESIRE TO AID IN WAR EFFORT, SAYS JAMAICAN

Anglin expressed deep appreciation for the cordial welcome extended him and his fellow Jamaicans and expressed the hope that the Americans, with whom they come in contact, will continue to have an understanding of the Jamaicans and their motives for coming to the United States.

He said, "We ask that Americans remember that we are strangers in what to us is a strange land, far from our homes. Many American boys are also far from their homeland because of this war, just as we are. American boys have gone to foreign lands to fight our common enemy and we have come here to aid in producing food for them and our allies.

"We are just as desirous of winning this war as are the Americans and others of the United Nations. Most of us have dependents at home in Jamaica and we don't want the Axis to become masters of us and our families. We are British citizens and we want to remain British citizens. We don't want to become Axis subjects.

"Our families are just as dear to us as are the families of Americans to them. We miss our wives and children greatly but we were willing to come to the United States through submarine-infested waters when we were told that we could contribute more to the war effort in this country than we could in our home land.

"If we do some things that appear strange to you, please remember that we do things to which we are accustomed in our own land. It is not easy to change the customs of a lifetime even in a new country.

"For instance, American currency of dollars and cents is confusing to many of us as we are used to the British monetary system of pounds, shillings, and pence. So please do not be impatient with us if we are a bit slow in our trading in the stores.

"We want to do our work on the farm efficiently and to assist the farmers for whom we work in every way possible. We are certain that farmers will in turn give us every consideration they can.

"Many different faiths are represented in the Jamaicans, including Catholics, Anglicans, Seventh Day Adventists, Church of God, Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Moravians and several others. "It has been very pleasing to us to receive invitations from churches to attend their services and many of us have done so. Many of us Jamaicans are devoutly religious and welcome the opportunity to attend church.

"We have been disappointed in being unable to start our work in the sugar fields because of wet weather. We hope it soon becomes dry enough to start that work. In the meantime, we are anxious to do any farm work we can.

"Finally, I renew my hope that the most pleasant feeling will exist between the Americans and us during our stay in your country this summer."

Versatile Eyes

Many insects have eyes that can see objects behind as well as in front.
Eucalyptus as Fuel
Eucalyptus is grown for railroad fuel. A total of 21,000,000 trees supply a line in Brazil and the fiber is the base of paper experiments.

This and That

IT SEEMS but a few months ago we put auto stickers on the windshields and now Postmaster Little says he has a new supply to sell. They cost $5.00 each and "pay the shot" for a year. Wouldn't it be fine if tax time would move as slowly as it did when we were kids waiting for Christmas? The new auto stickers, by the way, are to be attached before July 1.

MAYBE YOU think it's an easy task to keep the names and addresses of service men up-to-date on the bulletin boards in the Mac & Scotty store windows. Well, you're mistaken if you do. Scotty, the younger member of the firm, puts in 15 to 20 hours a week in adding new names, changing addresses and preparing photos. The names of 347 men from this community with their addresses are posted in the store and a third board added this week will make it possible to bring the total to 447. The store has 109 photos of service men.

WHEN FRANCIS Bacon, English philosopher and statesman, at the beginning of the 17th century, made the observation that "to choose time is to save time," he may not have foreseen the confusion that exists with Central and Eastern War time in Cass City today. Nevertheless, his statement when applied to the present is still true and true if business houses would choose a uniform hour, thereby saving the time and patience of the general public in many ways.

The village council considered the time question at two meetings recently, having been petitioned to change from Central to Eastern War Time. No action was taken on the petition so trustees maintain that Central is the official village time. Two weeks ago, several merchants announced that they would operate their business places on "fast time" commencing June 1. Most of the villages in Tuscola County have adopted Eastern War Time.

The Chronicle, in a hurried survey, secured information from 45 business houses Tuesday afternoon and ascertained that 20 were operating on Central and 20 on Eastern War Time, while five admitted they used both kinds of time.

"I set my clock at CWT, open up in the morning on 'fast time' and close in the afternoon at 'slow time,'" one merchant remarked. Another said, "I'm trying to satisfy all and not satisfying anyone." Several business folks remarked it was more important that the time be made uniform than that their personal wishes in the matter be gratified. Cass City, usually united in its purpose and endeavors, is sadly at variance in this situation. It's time to settle the matter and make the time as uniform as possible.

Since the above paragraphs were placed into type, the village council held a special meeting Wednesday night when they voted to retain Central War Time as official for Cass City. It is hoped that this action on the part of the governing body of the municipality will be the means of settling the two-time problem.
