Help Needed by Board to Handle Gas A Book Renewals

As anticipated, the Gasoline A Book renewals are coming in fast this week and have begun to pile up at an alarming rate. Every possible volunteer worker is needed. Inconvenience to car owners must necessarily occur. Our object should be to keep this inconvenience at a minimum, as due to the car owners' failure to get applications in to the ration board early, we cannot hope to have the new Gasoline A Books in the hands of car owners before the expiration date, which is July 21.

Each volunteer helps to reduce the pile of applications ahead. We are grateful to the many volunteers who have given their services. Some have come from Cass City, Fairgrove, Akron and Vassar, and the response from the Caro people has been exceptionally good. However, many more volunteers are needed. If you can spare a few hours, we urge you to come to the supervisors' room on the second floor of the courthouse. The work is not difficult and the need for workers is great.

The hours are:
9:30 to 12:00, morning,
1:30 to 5:00, afternoon,
7:30 to 10:00, evening (except on Saturday).

(Mrs.) MILDRED E. ROWE, Secretary of Tuscola Co., Civilian Defense Volunteer Office.

WM KILBOURN GROWS 80-INCH CORN IN GARDEN

Wm. Kilbourn thinks that prosperous Victory gardens in Cass City should be given more publicity. The truth of the matter is that he is exceptionally proud of the corn growing in his own garden. It measured eighty inches tall on Wednesday and was tassel—probably one of the best specimens of corn in town, and Mr. Kilbourn can be justly proud of its progress.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON ST. JOSEPH'S ORATORY

An informative address on the founding of St. Joseph's Oratory at Montreal, Quebec, where so many miraculous cures of the lame and sick have been recorded, was given to Rotarians by Rev. Fr. Mr. Bozek dwelt chiefly on the life of the founder of the oratory, an unlettered member of a Catholic order, who was known as Brother Andre.

Fred Pinney was song leader and Miss Betty Hower served as piano accompanist. Howard Doying, who attended the Cass City school 55 years ago, was a guest.

Vassar Girl, 4, Fatally Injured When Hit by Car

Mrs. Cora Axtel, 87, Injured in Another Accident at Vassar.

Alice May Pritzer, four years of age, was hit by an automobile driven by a Saginaw man and was fatally injured. The accident happened on M-15, three miles south of Vassar, and near the home of the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pritzer, Monday. It is reported that the child was on the running board of a standing car and stepped from that position into the path of the car that hit her. She was taken to a Saginaw hospital where she passed away Tuesday morning. Besides her parents, she leaves two sisters. Funeral services will be held this (Friday) afternoon at the Atkins' Funeral parlors at Vassar.

Mrs. Cora Axtel, 87, received a broken leg and suffered from shock when the automobile in which she was a passenger was hit by a Michigan Central freight train a mile north of Vassar Tuesday morning. She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw. Mrs. Axtel was riding with her son, Arnold Axtel, R. R. 1, Vassar, when the accident happened. They were accompanied by a neighbor, Joe Radick. The men escaped with slight injuries.

Two Dairy Herd Improvement Groups in Sanilac County

The month of June was the first complete month for the newly organized Dairy Herd Improvement Association in Sanilac County. At present there are two associations operating. The East Sanilac group is being tested by Joseph Atherton and there were 25 herds tested for the month. Three new herds have been added so a full 26 herd report will show for July.

The West Sanilac group is being tested by Floyd Esch and there were 22 herds for the month. Three new herds have been added so that the July report will show a full report of 26 days. One large herd in this group requires two days to complete the records.

The East Association group averaged 28.7 lbs. of butterfat per cow and the West group averaged 26.27. Considerable interest has been shown by other dairymen throughout the county. High priced milk and scarce grain rations should encourage careful selection of the best dairy cows.

Vacation School at St. Pancratius Catholic Church

Sunday, July 18, at 9:00 a. m., 23 pupils of the 72 enrolled in the vacation school at the local Catholic church, Rev. John J. Bozek, pastor, will receive the first Holy Communion before altars decorated with flowers. Other pupils of the school are preparing for confirmation and on Sunday morning the children will be dressed in white with the girls wearing white veils. The students will form a professional and sing hymns.

The school opened on July 5 with Sister Mary Edwina O. P., sister of Rev. Fr. Bozek, and Sister Vincent Marie O. P. as teachers. Miss Caroline Garey and Miss Betty Chapdelaine assisted with the work. Each day opened with the Holy Sacrifice of Mass which the children attended in a body. Teaching continued until 3:00 p. m. with periods of recreation. The sisters are being entertained at the home of Mrs. Sarah McDonald.

The basement has been remodeled and made comfortable for classes. Landscaping included new walks and curb. An attractive entrance has also been added to the building.

Fuel Oil Users Asked to File Applications Now

Present Coupons Call for New Point Values in Gallons for This Product.

Fuel oil users are urged to file their applications for this product now while volunteer help is available. If applications are not filed promptly, says a ration board representative, it may mean that fuel oil users may be without fuel to fill tanks when cold weather comes. New coupon values call for the following points:

One unit—10 gallons.
Five units—50 gallons.
Twenty-five units—250 gallons.
Emergency coupons to provide gasoline for car owners to visit the sick and to attend funerals are not easily obtainable. Heretofore, they were issued quite freely, but the OPA has ruled that those days are past.

If Detroit's chickens are just coming home to roost, they sure took their sweet time.

Just 110 years ago, this very month, a company of federal troops was dispatched from Fort Gratiot (Port Huron) to Detroit for the express purpose of suppressing an insurrection of Negroes.

Good citizens of Detroit, like those of San Francisco after the "big fire" were inclined to minimize the disturbance by calling it "The Negro Riot." But it was a rip-roaring, lusty affair in which the Negroes stormed the jail, paraded the streets, shot the sheriff and otherwise had the white people in a dither of panic.

And like the 1943 rumors that whites had killed three Negroes on Belle Isle, the exaggerated reports in 1838 grew until "business was at a standstill. Women dared not venture out of doors. Merchants put up their shutters, shoved the bolts into place, and stood, gun in hand, in their darkened shops, guarding their goods."

Who said history doesn't repeat itself? It did in Detroit! In those pre-civilized days, Detroit was the capital of the Territory of Michigan. The frontier peninsula had not yet attained the stature of statehood which came in 1837.

When Congress enacted the Ordinance of 1787, creating the Northwest Territory out of the region between the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the Great Lakes, the federal law-makers inserted this significant provision: "There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."

General Lewis Cass was appointed governor of the Territory of Michigan following the War of 1812, and when the Negro insurrection took place, he had been elevated to secretary of war at Washington.

Lewis Cass knew his Michigan and his Detroit, and so when Mayor Chapin of the French community

State Aid for Cass City Village Library

The Cass City village library received a check for $96.63 from the Michigan State Board for Libraries, Mrs. E. W. Douglas, chairman of the local library board, announces.

This amount represents the library's 1943 grant from the State Aid to Libraries Fund.

Coming with practically no strings attached, once a library has qualified, the state aid grants may be used for books, salaries, supplies and equipment, or to keep the library open more hours.

The grants, in fact, represent a bonus given to the library because the local tax support is being maintained. If the local tax support drops, the library will not qualify for a future grant from this fund. These grants also assist the library in meeting the standards set by the State Board for Libraries.

"In the second year of total war, these added state funds are a boon," declares Mrs. Douglas. "Yankee flair for making the most of what you have in lean times means that libraries must keep at hand a variety of timely and practical aids."

People want the best help they can get on all angles of family living and recreation, she points out. Women are coming to the libraries for books on fabrics, dress design, and the wearing qualities of substitute materials. Housewives are asking for help in feeding their families on a ration book. With pressure cookers scarce, Victory gardeners want to know how to dry vegetables and fruits so as to store up all the vitamins.

Calls for information about America's fighting forces vie with those for details about world geography. Now that sons and daughters are stationed throughout the world, the globe has taken on friendly proportions. How to join the WAC or the WAVES and the best place to get nurses' training, along with a thousand details about the United Nations, are among questions being raised frequently in wartime Michigan libraries.

The Boy Scouts will leave Sunday, July 18, for Camp Hale near Mio where they will camp until July 25.

Vendors' Signs Amuse American Troops in Egypt

Native Ads Prey on Gullible Public; Use 'High' Pressure Tactics.

CAIRO.—One of the first things that delight an American soldier on arrival in Egypt are the signs displayed by shops and restaurants. They are fitting introduction to the wonders of the East, says the Associated Press.

A refectory at the Cairo Bazaar, for example, bears the inscription: "Mohammed Aly. A dealer in Oriental Odours."

A restaurant announces in big black letters: "Eat Here And You Will Not Regret It. English Cooking by Your Greek Allies."

One sign reads: "Joe's Investigation Service. Member of Society of Detectives, Inquiries, Pursuits, Investigations, Burglary, Fires, Accidents. Give us a trial."

And a tobacco shop bears this placard: "Twin X cigarettes. When half smoked they explode. Very amusing."

A barber advertises: "Gentlemen and Ladies hair cut and ironed." One barber, incidentally, will make you a false beard from the hair he cuts off your head, at a small extra charge.

Subscription Haircuts.

Cairo barbers also sell subscriptions, payable in advance. They range from the ordinary eight-piastre-a-month subscription, which entitles the bearer to two haircuts monthly, all the way to the 150-piastre de luxe special, which gives the customer the right to unlimited haircuts, shaves, manicures, singes, massages and anything else either he or the barber can think of.

Several of Cairo's innumerable native guides have produced guide books in English—an achievement more ambitious than grammatical. One starts:

"Here is this ancient Egypt land of the Nile and Pyramids as well as spinkes and temples is so many things to see. The first rule is to take no other guide but only me as other guides are dangerous. If I am busy that day I will get you good guide."

"I will not only show you all the interesting things to see, but also tell you all the mysteries, the mysteries that nobody else knows. I will show you where Moses was found in bullrushes. I know the very spot. I also drive automobiles, having license, and if preferred can rent you camel. I charm snakes. I am archeologist. I also have remedies for all disises and can sell you scarabs from ancient tombs of the kings at prices which are the lowest."

One curio shop advertises in letters several feet high: "Coronation robes for royalty."

Application for a Job.

The Associated Press in Cairo received the following application: "Dear Sirs: I am applying to employment with your distinguished company as stenodactyl. I have been diplomaed three times. I am Syrian by originality, a Christian by fate and very skilful in counting numbers and writing books. As you see, my English is perfect. I also speak and write perfect French, Arabic and Italian and have some notions of Greek."

A cafe bears the sign: "Excellent intoxicating beverages special for His Britannic Majesty's Forces at regulated prices." Another, with amazing candor, described one of its drinks as "an artificial stimulant made of synthetic alcohol and imitation flavor."

A brand of American-type cigarettes manufactured in Egypt bears a notice on each package that "these cigarettes are guaranteed free from ingredients."

"Families washed at special rates," is the pledge of a laundry. In Egypt a Sand Witch is not a vision seen in the desert but rather a piece of meat between two pieces of bread.

It's all very funny, but in fairness to the authors of the signs it must be said that if the soldiers were to attempt to write in Arabic the result would be just as funny to the Egyptians.

See Plenty of 'Durable' Wartime Shoes This Year

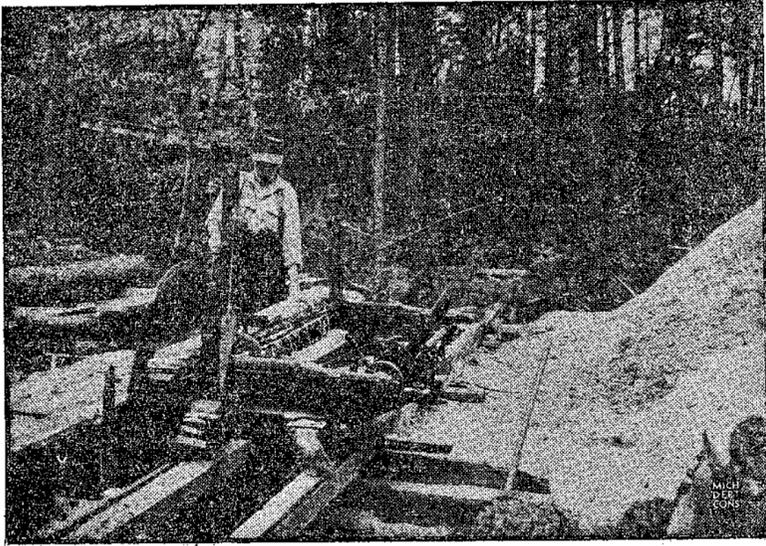

WASHINGTON.—About 15 million more pairs of "durable" wartime shoes for civilians will be produced this year than last, although production of shoes of all kinds will be nearly 100 million pairs less than the 1942 record production, the War Production board said recently.

"Plenty of essential shoes for men, women and children on the home front—little material or manpower for frivolous footwear," is the slogan on which WPB has based its shoe orders.

Homing Pigeons Carry Mail; Beat Gas Shortage

CARLSBAD, N. M.—Despite gas rationing and other wartime transportation problems, Elmer Helper is keeping in touch with his Dog Canyon ranch, 7 miles from Carlsbad in the rugged Guadalupe mountains. He has acquired four homing pigeons, two to be kept at the ranch and two at his Carlsbad residence. The birds carry important messages to and from the ranch.

Michigan Wood for War Industries

Portable saw mills, like the one shown above in the Higgins Lake State Forest, are making the valuable timber products of Michigan's great State Forests available to the country's war industries. Because the choicest timber now occurs in concentrated patches in limited areas, these portable mills, which saw the logs on the spot and eliminate the wasted time and expense of transportation to a distant mill, are preparing Michigan wood for war industries at the high-speed rate that war-time production demands.

Illiteracy Weakens Army

On May 29, 1942, it was announced from the White House that the physically fit men in the draft who are disqualified for military service because their education was less than that of a fourth grade school child would have composed 15 army divisions. Since that date, rejections for "functional illiteracy" have continued at a rate fluctuating little from month to month. The estimate of 750,000 men lost to service for this reason, based upon official figures and the percentage of men who have already been rejected, is an attempt to measure the extent to which lack of education has weakened the nation's armed strength.

Blackout Defined
A teacher in a country school was trying to impress on the minds of the children the importance of civilian defense. She asked the children to give their ideas of a perfect blackout, for which a prize would be given.

Next day the answers were brought and the prize was awarded for this:

"A blind black man, dressed in a black suit, in a coal cellar with the doors shut, on a foggy night, and without a light, groping among the coals for a blind black cat."

NEEDS A HAND

"Here comes the parade. Where's aunty?"
"She's upstairs waving her hair."
"Goodness, can't we afford a flag?"

Well 'Rewarded'

With much thought and licking of pencil, Private Jones was writing home to his mother. His letter began:

"Dear Mother—I am doing fine. Last week I was on sentry and stopped the colonel because he'd forgotten the password. Next morning he complimented me on parade."
"Since then I have been put on every dirty fatigue going."

Bar Interlude

After a young lawyer had talked for 3 1/2 hours to the jury, which felt like convicting him instead of the defendant, his opponent, a veteran of the bar, arose, looked sweetly at the judge, and said:

"Your honor, I will follow the example of my young friend, who has just finished, and submit the case without argument."

Without Reason

Walking along a lane in England one bright, sunny morning, the vicar met a local farmer driving some cows.

"Spring in the air, Mr. Giles," he hailed the man cheerily.

"Whatever for, sir?" replied the farmer in amazement.

Circumstantial

"I'm afraid that new cashier you sent me is dishonest."
"Oh, come now! You shouldn't judge by appearances."
"I didn't; it's disappearances in this case."

GOD ENCOURAGES MOSES

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 3:12-16; 4:10-17. GOLDEN TEXT—Certainly I will be with thee.—Exodus 3:12.

Encouragement is something much needed, and not too often given. The word means to put some new thing into the heart of another, that is, to hearten and assure him, especially in the bearing of a heavy responsibility.

Moses, in all probability the world's greatest military and national leader, was about to lead his people out from under the mighty hand of Pharaoh. His final preparation for that epochal deed and all the years to follow was a personal meeting with God.

Possibly it was the mistake Moses had made and which caused him to be sent into the back of the desert, that now caused him to move with—

I. Understandable Caution (Exod. 3:13).

There is something remarkably fine about real humility. It commends itself to our thinking as the proper attitude of a mortal being, particularly in the face of spiritual responsibility.

Neither God nor man dares entrust a high and difficult commission to foolish man who brusquely "rushes in where angels fear to tread." The fact that one feels fully and unhesitatingly qualified to take over such a responsibility is almost a certain indication that he is not the man to assume it.

Moses' request for God's backing must have been acceptable to Him, for He gave Moses—

II. Unlimited Authority (3:14-16).

Moses went as God's messenger. He was authorized to put all the majesty and power of the Infinite One behind his words and acts.

The ambassador must have credentials. God's representative has them. When "they shall say"—what an important and difficult situation that creates. The one who speaks for God must expect not only the scornful bitterness of God's enemies, but also the unbelieving questions of those whom he seeks to serve.

But Moses seems to have been unable to see beyond his own human infirmity even in the light of such a glorious revelation, supplemented as it was by miraculous powers, and we find him showing an—

III. Unjustified Humility (4:10-13).

Perhaps we should not call this humility at all, for in one so divinely called and encouraged it was an act of unbelief and almost impotence.

When God calls a man He knows his limitations. Why then should one plead them as an excuse for not serving? The excuse of Moses that he was not a fluent speaker has been the standby of unwilling workers all through the ages. When asked to lead a prayer meeting, teach a Sunday school class, conduct a young people's meeting, thousands upon thousands have lamely thus excused themselves and missed a blessing.

The perfect answer of God (v. 11) merits attention. God made your mouth and mine. He gives us the power of speech. He asks not the eloquence of polished rhetorical phrases, or the flights of man's imagination. He wants but the incomparable eloquence of His own words on our lips.

No man should think too highly of himself, but let him beware lest he think too lowly about God. We are not sufficient for the opportunity. But God is more than sufficient.

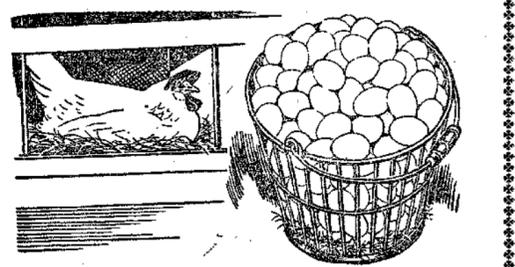

Having called Moses, God saw to it that Moses went on with His work, even though now He had to call in Moses' older brother to help him. It was, in fact, an—

IV. Unnecessary Substitution (4:14-17).

Loving and patient is our God, but, mark it well, there is a boundary line to that patience. Moses went too far in his needless humility, and really reflected on the ability of God. God promptly substituted Aaron as the spokesman.

Gracious was He in thus providing a helper for Moses. But one wonders what Moses missed of blessing and power because of his slowness of heart. To decline the labor and the responsibility of service for God means loss far greater than we may ever know.

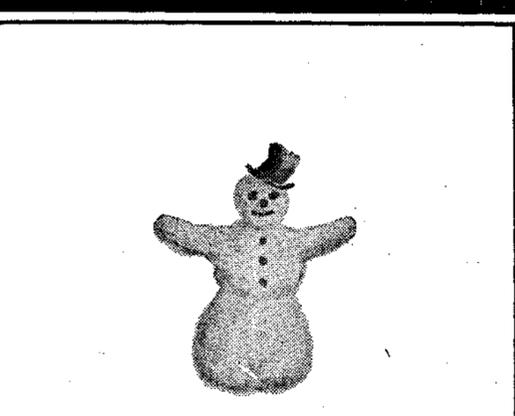

God's dealings with Moses speak eloquently to us of His willingness to enable and use a man who lacked some of the gifts for leadership. Let none of us be like Moses and become involved in needless worry about our gifts, and forget God's purpose and enabling power. When God calls, our gifts are not the controlling factor; in fact, they are not a great factor at all. The question then becomes, Is God able? Let us trust and obey Him.

Don't keep a "snow-man" in your refrigerator—

IT COSTS YOU MONEY!

Warm weather means an added burden on your refrigerator. The hotter the weather, the harder it works to keep things cool. If you notice a "snow-man" forming inside—heavy frost on the cooling coils—it's time to get busy and defrost the refrigerator. That layer of frost is costing you money; it means that the refrigerator must work overtime to absorb heat through a blanket of frost around the cooling coils. And for economical operation, the motor should run as little as possible.

It's only human to keep "putting-off" the chore of defrosting—especially in summer, when ice cubes are in big demand and you hesitate to have your refrigerator out of commission even for a few hours. But see that it is done regularly. Do not use an ice pick or a sharp instrument to remove ice; this sometimes punctures the refrigerating coils. After defrosting, wash the whole interior (coils, shelves, trays, etc.) with lukewarm water and mild soap. Unless the motor of your refrigerator is hermetically sealed, have it oiled and inspected periodically. Remember that your refrigerator must last for the duration. Treat it accordingly! What Workers Eat
The average soldier eats about 3 1/2 pounds of food daily. This means an army of 5,000,000 men will eat 27,500,000 pounds every 24 hours. And civilian workers eat plenty, too. It takes the food from 155 acres to feed the workers who build one bomber; food from 43 acres to feed the men who build one medium tank. And workers who construct a 35,000-ton battleship need the food products of 42,000 acres.

Shelters for Turkeys On Range Easily Built

Dead Birds Mean Large Loss of Scarce Grain

Range shelters for growing turkeys protect them against the weather, marauding animals, and to some extent from thieves, says the department of agriculture. By providing protection for their birds, turkey growers can make a two-way saving—the turkeys themselves and the feed they have consumed.

Whenever a turkey dies, there is a loss of a substantial quantity of feed, including protein feed, which is now more difficult to obtain than in normal times. A 10-week-old turkey weighing four pounds usually has eaten about nine pounds of feed; a bird 18 weeks old and weighing 12 pounds represents about 33 pounds of feed; and a turkey 30 weeks old and ready for market weighs about 20 pounds and has eaten about 85 pounds of feed. All these quantities of feed are in addition to what the turkeys get by foraging.

To help conserve investments of this kind, the department's engineers have designed several shelters that are both substantial and inexpensive. Some of the structures are readily portable; other heavier ones are intended for only occasional moving. They are adapted to the needs of flocks of various sizes, and all of them have proved satisfactory in actual use.

The plans include detailed drawings for the construction of feeders and roosts and the arrangement of yards. The general design of the shelters calls for tight roofs, with wire netting or slats on one or more sides, depending upon the climate. The capacity of each shelter is readily calculated from the roosting space by allowing 10 to 18 inches per bird, depending upon their size. The shelters are described and illustrated in Circular A.H.D. No. 48, "Plans for Turkey Range Shelters," available from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Uses of Rye
"The grain of poverty" is the name given to rye because it can be produced on poor soils which would not be suitable for wheat or corn. In this country, it is considered a minor grain because only one bushel of rye is grown for every ten of wheat. But in the northern countries of Europe where wheat does not grow well, rye fills the breadbasket. No one need pity the people who live on this bread since black bread and pumpernickel is much richer in protein than that made from refined white wheat flour.
Industrially, rye grain is important in the manufacture of distilled alcoholic beverages and ethyl alcohol. Ground rye and rye bran are marketed in stock feed. Rye straw is used somewhat in strawboard and straw hats.

The north central part of the United States and Pennsylvania produces most of the rye crop. From two to four million acres are grown annually. The price has varied from 81 cents to 35 cents a bushel, so that the annual farm income from rye also varies from 12 to 34 million dollars.

Potato Sprays
Apply either dust or spray when potatoes are 3 to 5 inches high. Repeat at 7- to 10-day intervals as long as the foliage remains green. Apply so leaves and stems are thoroughly covered throughout the growing season.
For dusting: Use copper-lime dust (1 part monohydrated copper sulphate, 1 part lead or calcium arsenate, 3 parts hydrated lime).
For spraying: Use 4-4-80 bordeaux mixture with lead arsenate.

250 Bushels up 10 Feet : One Cent

Materials cost $20 to construct this mechanical hired man. Tests indicate the home-made device or one built by a community handy man will elevate as fast as three men can shovel grain into the hopper. Elevator above, 14 feet in length, on test near the MSC beef barns, carried shelled corn up 10 feet.

Grain Elevators Are Serving Farmers

Home-made or handy-man constructed farm grain elevators have proved their worth in serving Michigan farmers to such an extent that more than a hundred are at work in Shiawassee County and more than 200 in Huron County.

Increasing interest in the portable device follows a series of demonstrations scheduled recently with county agricultural agents and farmers by Richard Witz, farm engineering specialist at Michigan State College.

The elevators will handle small grains, shelled corn or beans at the rate of 200 to 300 bushels an hour. The elevating follows threshing or combining, putting grain into a bin over a feed grinder or sacker, or circulating grain from bin to bin to prevent overheating.

According to Witz, the elevators should be approximately 1 1/2 times as long as the height to which the grain is to be elevated. Materials cost approximately $20 for a 16-foot elevator and consist of a 30-foot three-inch three-ply rubberized canvas belt, two wooden pulleys 3 by 3 inches, two V belt pulleys 12 inches and three inches, one V belt 46 inches "A" size, 52 board feet of white pine lumber, 15 inches of three-fourths inch shafting and washers, nails, screws and one bolt.

Electric motors drive the elevators. Tests indicate a quarter horsepower motor serves a 12-foot elevator, a third horsepower up to 16 feet and a half horsepower up to 24 feet.

Blueprint plans for the elevator can be obtained from the Agricultural Engineering Department, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Science Charts Methods to Prevent Undesirable Flavors in Cream

Preventing off-flavors from developing in cream is the best way of getting the highest returns from it. According to federal rules, butter is judged first of all on its flavor, and the off-flavors which cut the score—and the price—are mostly those which come from the cream out of which the butter was made.

Flavor defects in cream roughly fall into two categories: fermentative flavors due to the presence of germs, and flavors due to absorption by the cream of odors from the air or food or to some derangement in the cow's normal functions. Only the former are touched on in the chart.

High-acid or rancid cream is the most common cream defect. Such cream is very sour to the taste and smell, and suggests age and putrefaction. It is caused by the use of unclean pails, dirty separator, im-

New Type Aircraft Carrier Launched

Alazon Bay Hits Water in West; Design Is Secret.

VANCOUVER, WASH.—The first aircraft carrier ever launched on the West coast slid into the Columbia river carrying with it the high hopes of President Roosevelt that the fleet of which it is the vanguard would play a vital part in the United Nations' prosecution of the war.

Although previous reports had labeled this type of carrier as designed chiefly for convoy duty, Henry J. Kaiser, the builder, described the Alazon Bay as "the first of a great fleet of floating airports which may in truth carry the battle to the enemy in his own land."

President Roosevelt's deep interest in this new type of carrier, most of the specifications are military secrets, was evidenced in Mr. Kaiser's speech. The ship-builder inferred that it was at the direction of the President that the maritime commission ordered the fleet built.

"In the very moment when this ship seems to feel the thrill of life along her keel" the materials for another will be moving up by plan and direction toward these ways. If all the channels through which flow the essential supplies are kept open, your efforts could be rewarded from three to six times every month by a similar christening and an ancient prophecy might be fulfilled, that these your children of iron and steel "will speak with the enemy at the gate."

Mr. Kaiser's promise of "three to six" carriers a month, that is, up to one every five days, was dependent, associates emphasized, upon materials and manpower. The next carrier, it was indicated, would be launched late this month.

Our Boys on Fronts Said To Be Hungry for Laughs

HOLLYWOOD.—A little fun is just about all Johnny Doughboy asks—but he gets precious little on the battle front.

He'll slog through mud knee deep, munch his field rations with good grace, stick stolidly to the grim business of annihilating Japs and consider his lot better than most if somebody will give him a laugh once in a while.

Johnny Marvin, film cowboy singer and song writer, came home recently with this story of the American soldier's hunger for entertainment. Marvin says he knows. He and Comedian Joe E. Brown spent three months touring the Pacific war theater.

"If the folks at home only realized how starved our boys are out there for songs and other entertainment they'd surely do much more about it than they are doing," Marvin declared.

Soldiers have been able to develop little of their own entertainment in camps, principally because they're too busy fighting a war, he said. Then, weather conditions are hard on the few musical instruments they have—mostly guitars and fiddles. Strings, which deteriorate rapidly, would be highly welcome contributions through the Red Cross, he said.

Horse Industry Booms In Wyoming Cow Country

SHERIDAN, WYO.—Up in the Wyoming cow country, where the horse has never quite been replaced by the automobile, a new four-footed war industry is booming.

Sheridan is the new headquarters of the Northwestern army remount area, and all over the West horses are going to war.

The remount office is searching Wyoming, Montana, Utah and Idaho for horses and mules for the armed services, and in addition is placing thoroughbred stallions with ranchers to insure the raising of more good horses.

Cow-country experts see in the war-time move a post-war industry for the area—the raising of blooded horses.

Sheridan county and the surrounding country has for many years supplied first-grade horses for army use.

Soldier Applies Training To Private Emergency

SAN JOSE, CALIF.—Intensive military training gave Corp. J. C. King the ingenuity and resourcefulness necessary to meet an unexpected emergency in his life. From a booth in the Spartan drug store he telephoned so lengthily to his best girl that, when he finally emerged, he found the store had closed for the night. With military quick thinking he telephoned the police to come and release him and they, with police-trained minds, explained to him how he could get out the back door, which had a night latch.

War Worker Credited With Perfect Record

RIVERDALE, MD.—Frank Dorman, worker in a war plant, is credited with a perfect record. His job is to file small pieces of machinery preparatory to final grinding and polishing, and in the two months he's been working not a single faulty part has been returned to him. P.S.—He's blind.

Floating Hospitals

According to the reports from Colombia, the doctors and sanitary engineers at work there plan to install one or more small hospitals and hospital dispensaries on the rivers in the rubber-producing regions. The larger floating installations will consist of a launch to tow a hospital with eight or ten beds. Among the supplies they will carry are anti-malarial drugs, which are being distributed widely in the Amazon area to protect workers against malaria.

Linseed Oil Long Used

Linseed oil is one of the oldest known ingredients used in paint. The oil was known before the Christian era, but is not known to have been used in paint before the 12th century.

Contour Plowing Old

Contour plowing was practiced by George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. In fact, a son-in-law of Jefferson invented a hillside plow for facilitating this method of plowing which many people consider as a new phase of farming.

Most Envied Man Butter 'Detective'

Expert Grader Can Judge Feed Cows Have Eaten.

It may be news to even the farm folks that the conditions under which they milk their cows and the care they give the resulting product can be told immediately by an individual when he samples a portion of butter churned from the cream produced.

Where the milk or cream has been stored and what the cows have been eating are but a few of the odd bits of information that R. E. Eldred, rated as one of the country's best butter graders, can usually detect by putting a pat of butter into his mouth.

Mr. Eldred is chief butter inspector for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company's Chicago warehouse. Actually, he doesn't sample each pound—nor does he swallow any of the butter he is inspecting. A three-ounce sample, taken by a metal trower from a fiber box or wooden tub with weights ranging from 54 to 64 pounds, is sufficient.

An inspector can, in most instances, tell by tasting and smelling a sample of butter under what conditions the cream was produced and handled. Quality of the finished product is largely determined by the perfection of the raw material and care given the processing operations.

So acute is a grader's sense of taste and aroma that he can, with fairly consistent degree of accuracy, determine by the feed flavors the territory or origin of the butter. Skunkweed in Oklahoma, sageweed in the Dakotas, peppercorn in Nebraska, onion or garlic in Missouri, and the heavy feeding of alfalfa to cattle on the West coast, each imparts its own distinctive characteristics, although they are usually too faint to anyone but an expert.

Science of Hydroponics Speeds Victory Gardens

Old Mother Nature has been streamlined this spring to help win the food war on the home front.

With a recent discovery in the science of growing vegetables in a preparation containing all the necessary nutrient elements, Victory gardeners may now shorten nature's growing season by as much as 30 days.

Known as hydroponics, this science has been perfected to a point whereby gardeners can now get a head start in growing their cabbage, lettuce, green peppers and other vegetables merely by adding water to a specially-prepared soilless plant ball containing seeds, spagnum moss, vitamins and plant food. With no muss and a minimum of care, as many as 50 vegetable slips can be grown from one ball without the necessity of using "fats."

This new development is the result of years of experiment on the part of a Barryton, Mich., organization which has in the past developed similar methods of raising flowers. Plant balls are approximately three inches in diameter, which swell to nearly six inches when moistened. They should be placed in a warm spot, preferably a window sill, watered once a day to keep moist, not saturated. The seeds contained in each transplant ball begin to grow within seven to ten days, reaching sufficient maturity to be transplanted to the garden within 30 days.

When ready for the outdoor garden, each slip should be carefully separated from the moss and transplanted to the garden, where it will grow and produce vegetables through the season.

Wood Pulp and Flour

Wood pulp is an important source of cellulose from which a vast array of products are derived, including smokeless powder, essential to every arm of the service. Wood flour enters into the manufacture of commercial explosives, now of untold value in military projects and in the mining of strategic metals needed for war.

Work for Civilians

Employees of the Fort Atkinson, Wis., public works department who might otherwise be laid off because of work curtailment are opening clogged sewers and laying drains for residents, work done formerly by private contractors. The work is done on a cost basis plus a 20-cents-an-hour charge above the regular hourly rate to pay for compensation insurance, public liability, supervision and use of small tools. A deposit is required before work is started to eliminate possibility of unpaid bills.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Strong Allied Drive in South Pacific Threatens Main Jap Base in Solomons; Nazis Make New Bid to Cripple Russia Through Attack on Orel-Belgorod Line

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

NAVY STRIKES: Jap Fleet Hit

The battle in the Southwest Pacific grew in intensity, with the Japs throwing the full weight of their air and sea power against the advancing Allied forces.

Drawn out by the U. S. navy's shelling of the Jap anchorage of Bairoko, through which supplies have been carried to the big enemy air base of Munda on New Georgia island, formations of the Japanese fleet engaged the American ships in the Kula gulf, coming off a poor second best.

According to a communique from General MacArthur's headquarters, no less than six enemy vessels probably were sunk and four damaged. We lost one cruiser, which with a destroyer sunk in the Bairoko bombardment and a transport knocked out in the earlier landings, brought our own known losses to three.

All along the 700 mile front the Japs hurled their aircraft at American positions. Enemy fighters and bombers flew over newly occupied Rendova, struck at General MacArthur's beachhead below Salamaua in New Guinea, and attacked Darwin in northwestern Australia in force. At Salamaua, Allied forces had worked their way through jungle to the northwest, so that with General MacArthur's position, that Jap base was now ringed from three sides.

JAPAN: Parcels Out Territory

In development of the "great east Asia co-prosperity sphere," Japan ceded four Malay and two Burmese states to the kingdom of Thailand. North of Malaya and east of Burma, Thailand, by its alliance with Japan at the start of the war, provided the Nipponese with a back-door into these British possessions.

The cession of the Malay states gave Thailand rich rice, tin and rubber producing territories. The population includes more than a million natives. The two Burmese states constitute 24,000 square miles.

The cession was made on occasion of Premier Hedeki Tojo's visit to the Thai capital of Bangkok. Tojo later went to Shanghai, where Chandra Bose, exiled Hindu nationalist leader, called for the organization of all rebels for the defeat of the British in India.

WAR PRODUCTION: Up and Down

Declaring that we are on the verge of one of the greatest trials of our national history, War Production Chairman Donald Nelson revealed that the nation's arms output for May had gained for aircraft and naval vessels, but fallen in other lines.

On a weight basis, airplane production jumped 10 per cent in May, Nelson said, with bomber deliveries up but fighter manufacture unsteady. A total of 204,000 tons of naval vessels were completed.

In other lines, ground ordnance, such as tanks, artillery, etc., was down 3 per cent; merchant vessels were down 4 per cent, and miscellaneous munitions were down 7 per cent.

For the first half of the year, Nelson said the estimated output fell below the goals marked out. Merchant shipping was 44 per cent of the year's objective; army ordnance and naval vessels, 40 per cent, and aircraft 35 per cent.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

CONSTRUCTION: All building materials and construction facilities have been placed under the control of the War Production board, "in order to eliminate all non-essential construction."

GRAIN: Oats sold at the highest in 23 years on the Chicago market at 73 1/2 cents a bushel, while rye reached $1.12 1/2 recently.

SUBSIDIES: Would Limit Expenditures

If President Roosevelt's subsidy program to "roll-back" the price of retail food was to become the administration's bulwark in its anti-inflationary program, congress indicated that it would retain a voice in such a policy by limiting the government's expenditure of money in its operation.

In considering a new Commodity Credit corporation bill which would allow subsidies, the senate banking and currency committee heard Sen. Robert Taft propose an appropriation of 525 million dollars to "roll-back" prices to January 1, 1944. Unless such a limitation were made, Taft said, the government could borrow any amount from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

President Roosevelt declared it was necessary to "roll-back" food prices to equalize the stabilization of wages. Subsidy opponents contend that such payments will only increase the public debt, and wages generally have risen to a level at which consumers can well afford to buy food at present prices.

RUSSIA: Nazis Gain

Big guns thundered — airplanes whined in endless swoops — huge tanks rumbled over barren plains; action had come again on the Russian front.

While the Nazis insisted the action was of a local, minor character in segments of the Ukrainian and Kursk provinces in Russian hands, the Reds claimed the Germans had launched a major offensive. Although announcing that they had stopped the advance generally along the 165 mile front, the Reds admitted the Nazis had breached their defenses in the Belgorod sector.

Red reports indicated the Nazis had massed large armored formations in the battle zone. The 1,371 tanks the Russians said they knocked out would be sufficient to outfit four Nazi panzer divisions. In two days the Reds claimed they shot 314 planes out of the sky.

For their part, the Nazis said their infantry had initiated a local attack, and then fighting had flared all along the front.

CANNED GOODS: Increase Prices

To absorb higher labor and material costs, canners of vegetables and processors of frozen berries were authorized to increase prices of the 1943 pack by the Office of Price Administration.

Prices of canned tomatoes, corn, snap beans and peas, however, will remain at the 1942 level. Seeking to stabilize the prices of these essential commodities, the government will pay subsidies to canners to make up for increased costs.

The OPA also acted to place specific increases on spinach, asparagus, mustard and turnip greens. To reflect wage boosts, canners of spinach were allowed a 4 1/2 per cent boost. Price of the No. 2 can of asparagus was raised 4 cents and mustard and turnip greens were increased 1 1/2 cents.

Increases ranging up to 3 cents a pound were allowed to processors of blueberries, cranberries, currants, dewberries, elderberries, huckleberries, Johnson berries and Olympic berries.

SUGAR: About one-third less acreage was planted in sugar beets this year than last. Leaders of the industry blame shortage of labor, and competition of other crops more favored by governmental aid.

BANKS: The Chase National Bank of New York, the world's largest, reports total assets of $4,482,606,488 in its latest statement.

DADS: O. K. Draft Delay

By a vote of 11 to 5, the senate military affairs committee voted to delay the induction of fathers until after January 1, 1944. Congressional action on the bill will not be taken until sessions are resumed in September, however, one month before the drafting of fathers is scheduled.

Introduced by Senator Burton Wheeler, the bill provides that any man married before Pearl Harbor, who has maintained bona fide family relationships since that date and has children under 18 years of age, would be exempt from induction until the first of next year.

As the Wheeler bill was being approved by the committee, the War Manpower commission announced that an additional 3,600,000 persons will have to be placed in the services and munitions industries within the next 12 months. Of the total, 2,000,000 men and women will be needed in uniform, 1,500,000 by December 31.

Materialization of the WMC plans will mean that half of the population will either be fighting or working. 11,300,000 will be in the services; 11,600,000 in war industries; 12,000,000 in agriculture, and 30,000,000 in other non-farm work.

POST-WAR WORLD: What Labor Thinks

How one great union feels about the post-war world was ably expressed by the United Automobile Workers, CIO, in a seven-point program for peace time.

Among other things, the UAW called for government ownership and operation of industries whose monopoly gives them dictation in their fields; the 30-hour week, and a vast public works program, calling for construction of schools, highways and power projects.

Of private industry, the UAW said: "Our industries can no longer be operated to serve private interests where those private interests conflict with the public need. Initiative can find its most useful outlet, greatest recognition and highest reward when exerted in the public service."

The UAW also proposed each soldier be given a $2,500 bonus upon his discharge from the service.

CABINET FEUD: Jones Answers Wallace

Fur continued to fly in the heated cabinet feud between Vice President Henry Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones over Wallace's charges that Jones had throttled activities of the Board of Economic Warfare, and failed to build up an adequate stockpile of tin, rubber, quinine, etc., before Pearl Harbor as directed by congress.

Repeating his previous statement that the Reconstruction Finance corporation which he heads has committed itself to purchase 3 1/2 billion dollars of foreign material, Jones said the BEW initiated only 10 per cent of this business. Then he declared that the RFC cannot sign blank checks for the use of any government agency, and charged Wallace with amending President Roosevelt's original order setting up the BEW to permit approval of BEW transactions without inspection.

In the matter of stockpiles, Jones said our supply of quinine was ample and BEW's program for obtaining the drug in South America failed to take account of that continent's unfamiliarity with producing the bark. BEW accused Jones of overestimating our inventory by 50 per cent, and delaying the BEW's production program.

MEDITERRANEAN: Adolf Comes to Rescue

Increasing opposition to Allied air raids on Italy and her neighboring islands by swarms of Axis planes, many of them German, indicate that the Nazi air force is being employed in strength in the critical Mediterranean area.

Despite the stiffening resistance, however, Allied planes broke through to pound Palermo to such an extent that the Italian radio admitted that Sicilian air and naval base was of no further use. Allied reconnaissance also disclosed that the Italians had destroyed shipping installations at the harbor of Trapani.

According to American fliers, the Axis met the strong Allied formations with new tactics. Approaching the rear echelons of the Allied squads, the enemy planes flew in a single line, dropping incendiaries that burst into strings of small explosives.

Official Axis circles awaited an attack on Sicily or Sardinia or Corsica. Capture of Sicily would be necessary for an attack on the Italian mainland or protecting Allied convoys bound for the Balkans, they said, while occupation of Corsica and Sardinia would be necessary for an invasion of the French coast.

POLES: Russian Status Unchanged

The tragic death of Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government-in-exile, has not altered that government's attitude toward Soviet Russia, its officials declared. Poland's attitude will continue to be one of friendliness, with insistence on Polish territorial rights, which have been contested by Russia's claim to portions of the former Polish republic.

Washington, D. C.

GOOD NEIGHBOR

Many a state department official wishes we could fix up Argentina as neatly as Comrade Stalin thinks we can.

When Willkie was in Moscow, Stalin raised a question about Argentina, describing it as the Axis source of information about ship movements. He couldn't understand why such a condition should be allowed to exist.

"If you have so much power," Stalin told Willkie, "why don't you clean up the Argentine government, or take over the country—do something to turn the Axis out of there?"

Willkie found it somewhat difficult to explain that the Good Neighbor policy would prevent such interference, in time of war as in time of peace.

NOTE: State department experts expect that, despite the new Argentine government's reactionary attitude on domestic questions, it will be driven to break relations with the Axis, in order to get lend-lease supplies from the United States. This is what Latin generals want most.

HUMANE BOMBING

Strange as it may seem, the United States air forces are planning the humane bombing of Germany. They want to avoid killing people and destroying non-military buildings. They want to bring the war to a merciful ending.

High ranking officers of the air forces are urging that we conduct our bombing operations in such a way that unnecessary destruction of enemy life and property shall be held to a minimum.

This is part of their thesis in favor of precision, or "pin-point" bombing, as contrasted with the "area" bombing of the RAF. The precision bombing, carried on in daylight, is able to pick out the precise military target, and destroy that without laying waste to an entire city, or killing helpless civilians.

These air forces officers speak of the post-war attitude of nations toward each other, emphasizing that careless bombing would intensify the hatreds of war, and make it more difficult to build a peaceful world.

Somebody will have to rebuild the broken cities of Europe. World ties are now so close that no great areas of destruction can be allowed to remain; rebuilding will have to be done, and only the victors will have the power to do the work.

Therefore, say these exponents of precision bombing, let us have no indiscriminate bombing, but only a precision job, which spares the life and property of the enemy as much as possible.

CHURCHILL THE PROPHET

Students of air power have dug up an old statement of Winston Churchill's, written in 1917, which reveals an amazing foresight in the possibilities and limitations of aerial bombing.

As everybody knows, the Nazi blitz against England, intended to terrorize the people, failed in its objective. On the other hand, the more scientific bombing of the continent by the RAF and AAF—strategic bombing—is now expected to bring Hitler to his knees.

Churchill seemed to foresee both of these developments when he said in a paper on Air Power, written in 1917, that nothing we know about warfare can lead us to believe that bombing for terror alone can cause such a morale collapse as to force a major nation to sue for peace.

Churchill emphasized that air power must single out and attack transportation, factories, and other enemy installations, upon which the enemy war-making ability depends.

England's survived of the blitz gives dramatic support to the first part of that statement, and Allied air power is now proving the second part.

INSTALLMENT BUYING

Business is usually squawking about government regulation, but here is one case where merchants want it continued after the war. They want to cherish and preserve Regulation W.

This is the regulation requiring heavy down payments on consumer purchases. For example, the down payment on a $200 refrigerator today—if you could get one—would be about $60, compared with three or four dollars before the war.

Wartime purpose of this regulation is to curb buying and thus reduce inflation. But retail merchants like it for other reasons. It saves them bookkeeping expenses, avoids the nuisance of dunning, and provides cash.

CAPITOL CHAFF

Most carefully guarded targets in all Germany are the synthetic gasoline and synthetic oil works of Biechhammer and Bruex. If they could be knocked out, Germany would be pretty well out of the war. U. S. airmen are itching to get at them.

The Japanese embassy and grounds are being carefully cared for by the neutral Spanish embassy. Manpower shortage has caused substitution of women for men at the switchboard of the FBI.

Wars Raise Prices

During the first 40 months of both wars, farm prices in the United States rose about 80 per cent. However, that does not mean that each product rose 80 per cent since the war started. Some rose more, such as hogs and potatoes, and some rose less, such as eggs and butter.

'Philosopher's Wool'

Manure Holds Nitrogen
 With the supply of chemical nitrogen in commercial fertilizers reduced to a minimum because of its use in war materials, special attention should be given to the conservation of barnyard manure which will supply a great amount of the needed nitrogen. A ton of manure contains 10 pounds of nitrogen, 5 pounds of phosphorus and 10 pounds of potash. At least half of this food value can be retained if the manure is carefully and properly handled.

Dip Chains in Oil
 To prevent damage and wear to chain drives on farm machines, dip the chains in a container of oil instead of squirting them with a few drops from an oil can.

"on the straits" (which is the origin for the French designation of "de Troit," the prefix being pronounced "day"), made an appeal on July 25 for a detachment of the United States troops, Cass acted with dispatch.

The 1833 outbreak was caused by Negro protests against the arrest of a Negro slave named Blackburn who had escaped from Kentucky with his wife and had sought refuge in Detroit while waiting a chance to slip into Canada.

Acting on legal precedence set by Judge Woodward in 1807, the sheriff at Detroit put the Kentucky slaves in jail.

When the Negroes stormed the jail, the worried sheriff decided to elude the mob and take his prisoner to a steamboat. The plan was discovered, and the Negro mob seized Blackburn and transported him jubilantly by canoe to the Canadian shore. Incidentally, the sheriff recovered from his wounds.

During the early frontier days in Michigan, the practice of slavery was fairly common, and even Stephen T. Mason, Michigan's first governor, is said to have brought Negro slaves with him from Virginia, his native state. However, the anti-slavery sentiment grew, and by 1850 the southern part of Michigan had many "stations" of an "underground railroad" by which Negro slaves were encouraged to escape through Michigan to Detroit, the border terminal. From Detroit it was easy for them to cross the river into Canada.

Michigan was settled by sturdy New Englanders. Their Puritan zeal embraced a fanatical hatred of slavery. Many July Fourth orations, a century ago, dwelt on the sentimental theme of the downtrodden Negroes, human chattels in the South.

Erastus Hussey, a Quaker leader at Battle Creek, was one of the evangelists in this crusade to free the slaves. In fact, the Negro housing project in Detroit (which was so protested by the whites a year or so ago that Governor VanWagoner sent state troops to Detroit to protect Negro families as they moved in), was named in honor of Sojourner Truth, the famous ex-slave who made her home in Battle Creek.

In the village of Marshall, a Kentucky plantation owner, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, sought to seize a family of Negroes. A Paul Revere of Marshall, riding a horse through the village, awakened the inhabitants with a bell. A force of 200 "determined men" held the Kentuckians at bay. The Negro family was spirited hurriedly to Detroit and thence into Canada, and the slave-hunters returned to Kentucky as heroes and martyrs. The Michigan people were denounced as barbarians and traitors.

And, of course, the birth of the Republican party itself at Jackson on July 6, 1854, was a part of this anti-slavery sentiment in Michigan which invited Negroes of the South to seek a haven here.

Whenever industry is confronted with a shortage of workers, the historic solution has been to import cheap labor from elsewhere. The Southern plantation owners imported the Negroes from Africa. When the first World War created a labor shortage in Michigan, industrialists encouraged a notable migration of Negroes from the south into Detroit and other factory centers. Today, the Mexicans and Jamaicans are "summering" in Michigan for the same economic reason.

Where the Negro population in Michigan was only 17,115 in 1910 and more than one-third of these were in Wayne County, it had grown by the first year of the World War to about 23,000 in Detroit alone, and by 1920 it had reached 60,000. In 1930 it was 169,000. Today the Negro population is estimated to be close to a quarter of a million and it is still mounting.

Perhaps it is a bit trite, after reviewing a century's history of how the Negroes have been encouraged to migrate to Michigan, to make a simple observation that the "chickens are coming home to roost."

The Negroes are here because, historically at least, we invited them to come. Putting the blame on mythical Axis agents or Klux-Klaners won't change this collective social responsibility of ours one iota.

It's our job, not theirs, to find the solution.

Idle Land Needs Special Handling

More than a million acres of Michigan crop land probably will lie idle or in fallow this summer. It is not unusual to have six or eight hundred thousand acres of idle or fallow land in Michigan but usually most of this is second or third class land. Some of it is fallowed to control quack grass or other perennial weeds.

This year, however, there will be several hundred thousand acres of good southern Michigan land not producing crops because a cold April, an exceptionally wet May, and a shortage of experienced farm labor made it impossible to get the land planted.

A very substantial acreage of this fallow land will undoubtedly be planted to wheat this fall. This is a desirable procedure, according to H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department, for it will distribute both labor and crop hazards. Furthermore the soft wheats grown in Michigan are special purpose wheats needed for crackers, breakfast foods, pastries, and home baking as well as for feed and export.

Another very important use for fallow land, Rather points out, is to cover it with summer seedings of alfalfa or sweet clover. Seedings of these legumes may be made with safety up to August 15, although late July dates are preferable. Alfalfa seedings made without grain are nearly always more certain than when sown with a grain crop although seedings with grain are more economical when successful.

Since no grain will be harvested from these fallow lands in 1943, the question of economy of seeding is not involved and seeding the legumes without a companion crop becomes highly appropriate.

Additional advice from Rather suggests that summer seedings of alfalfa or sweet clover should be made on clean, firm seedbeds with the seed planted at a shallow depth or sown on the surface and covered with a cultipacker. There is no more effective use for commercial fertilizer than to apply it in liberal quantities for a legume seeding. Many thousands of acres of Michigan alfalfa are now being seeded with bromegrass and the combination makes exceptionally good hay and pasture.

Sweet clover to be used for green manure will stand the winter better and be more effective in preventing erosion if 10 to 15 pounds per acre of common ryegrass is added to the standard quantity of 10 to 12 pounds of sweet clover seed per acre.

MILK CANS RATIONED.

Milk can manufacturers will distribute their 1944 production on the basis of their distribution into states and territories in 1941 and 1942, under an amendment issued by the War Food Administration. The amount of milk cans each manufacturer may distribute within Michigan will be based upon gross sales in the state in 1941 and 1942. The 1943 distribution was made on the basis of sales to individual distributors. Another change places the distribution on a quarterly rather than yearly basis, conforming to the 1944 production program which also is on a quarterly basis. As in 1943, milk cans will be rationed when sold for use.

SUNOCO OIL

is reinforced for rationed driving

Gasoline rationed! Speed limit 35 miles an hour! The result is shorter trips and longer periods of idleness!

This means with many oils there is greater tendency to form sticky deposits inside the engine and around piston rings. Stuck rings lose power, waste gasoline—in some cases as much as 10%—almost one coupon out of every page of eight in your book!

But today's Sunoco Oil is designed to help avoid harmful sludge and power-killing hard carbon... is specially fitted for today's driving conditions.

Change to Sunoco Oil... today!

Reinforced against the constant starts and stops, wear and tear of rationed driving
