Three Brought to Court on Non-support Charges Saturday

Two husbands were found guilty of non-support in the Tuscola Circuit Court on Saturday and one pleaded not guilty to a similar charge.

Lewis Baldwin of Vassar violated the provisions of his probationary regulations imposed by Judge George DesJardins on June 16. When Baldwin was brought into court Saturday, the judge revoked the probation sentence and in its stead released him for a physical examination for entrance into the Army. If he passes the test, he will be released to join his wife and five children until he is called into the service. If he fails to pass the test, he is to report to the court for further orders.

Roland Fletcher of Millington pleaded guilty to non-support of his family of four children. He was placed on probation for one year, was assessed $25 costs, and was ordered to send one-half of his pay check and never less than $20 for the support of his family.

Lewis Gamet of Millington pleaded not guilty to the charge of non-support. His trial was set for a September date and he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff until he could furnish a $500 bond.

In the divorce case of Jas. A. Petty vs. Edwina Petty, a decree was granted.

Except for the timely assistance of neighbors and Cass City townspeople, the fire started by a seven-year-old Mexican child might have caused serious loss on the farm of Henry H. Turner, one and a half miles north of town, on Monday. The child ignited a strawstack which stood in close proximity to the large barn. Had the wind been from another direction, farm buildings could not have been saved, said Mr. Turner.

He Who Thumbs Last
Anti-aircraft gunners aboard a U. S. destroyer were having a hot time with diving Jap planes coming in mast high to strafe the deck. One plane came so close that the gunners aboard the destroyer were able to see the Nip rear gunner with a smirk on his face and a thumb to his nose as the plane zoomed by. If the U. S. gunners had any available time they would have thumbed back at the Jap hitch-hiker for the destroyer's marksmen had already killed the pilot of the Jap plane and the craft was flying on its own. A few seconds later the plane crashed into the sea with the rear gunner still thumbing his nose—"It was the last ride that Jap 'thumbed'."

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL

GOD GIVES LAWS FOR HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 23:1-9; Galatians 3:23-25; 5:13-14. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.—Luke 10:27.

Our God is a God of order. To have order we must have law, hence God gave His people not only the fundamental law of humanity's moral sense of right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments which are the basis of all codes of law, but also those detailed regulations needed for the law's interpretation.

The law of God was not intended to establish a legalistic system of salvation by work, but, as revealed in the New Testament, it was to guide and bring us to Christ in whom it finds its true fulfillment. These are matters of fundamental importance and suggest the need of a careful study of our three Scripture portions.

I. The Law Established (Exod. 23:1-9)

At Sinai the Israelites were brought into the presence of God in a dramatic and solemn assembly to hear the words of God from the mountain. These were later written as the Ten Commandments on the tables of stone. Here they learned in a new way of the majesty, the righteousness, and the love of God.

The Ten Commandments are recognized as the foundation on which all legal codes, ancient and modern, are built. They cover man's relation to God and his relation to his fellow man. They are unsurpassed as a comprehensive and compact statement of the moral law.

The passage in Exodus 23 gives us some of the rules and regulations for daily life which are in a sense an interpretation of the law. This portion gives us an idea of the type of laws provided by God for His people and reveals "the moral flavor of the whole divine legislation."

The thing which impresses us as we read of the divine requirements of justice toward all, of love for one's enemies, of refraining from false witness, of refusing all bribery, is that God's standards are very high.

God's law is good, it is right, of divine quality and perfect purity. It has, however, an even higher purpose than providing direction for life. We learn of that as we hear II. The Law Described (Gal. 3:23-25).

What was the purpose of the law? It was and is a servant of God to lead the needy sinner to Christ. The word "tutor" in verse 24 does not refer to one who teaches, but the servant who saw to it that the school boy, possibly a bit reluctant, arrived at his destination.

The law convicts of sin and makes it evident to the repentant one that he needs divine help if he is ever to meet its demands. The law really puts a man in prison (kept in ward, v. 23), and makes him look to Christ to set him free.

When one trusts Christ he comes into the place of a son. He enters upon a spiritual maturity which makes it no longer necessary to have a tutor directing and disciplining him. He has entered into a new relationship by faith, and is a child of God.

Does this mean that the law has been set aside or abrogated? Not at all. Jesus Himself said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law... I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill" (Matt. 5:17). This is our third point.

III. The Law Fulfilled (Gal. 5:13, 14)

Paul had warned against the folly of legalism. In Christ men are free from a slavish bondage to the law. But men, desiring to substitute license for liberty, were using the grace of God as an excuse for self-indulgence and sin.

Christ has set aside all the ceremonial requirements of the law, for He became the perfect, once-for-all sacrifice for sin, which was infinitely superior to all the offerings of the Old Testament law. He thus fulfilled the type of the offerings.

The moral requirements of the law were gathered up in Him, and in Him we have only one law to fulfill, the law of love. Obedience to that law meets all the moral requirements of the Old Testament law.

Liberty to the Christian is not a freedom to do as he pleases, not "an occasion to the flesh" that it may live in selfishness and sin. We are free only to be bound by the blessed law of love.

The tablets of stone were (and still are) important. Their laws have never been set aside or withdrawn. But in Christ God has done what He spoke of through Jeremiah the prophet. He has put His law in the Christian's inner being, and has written it in his heart. (Jer. 31:33).

Alfalfa Requires Phosphorus

The alfalfa plant develops abnormally in phosphorus-deficient soils. Short fine stems with small pointed grayish-green leaves are typical symptoms. The color of deficient alfalfa is only slightly different from good healthy alfalfa but a little experience will enable the grower to recognize the phosphorus deficiency. A plant or an animal will struggle against its surroundings in the attempt to survive. It does not show its needs until they are severe.

ELECTRICITY is a war material, too—

use it carefully!

If you have ever seen a big Detroit Edison power plant, you have probably noticed the large piles of coal heaped outside. Thousands of tons of fuel are required every day to produce the electricity sent out over a network of transmission lines to factories and stores and offices and homes. That is one reason why electricity is a war material. When you save electricity you save coal, and transportation, and manpower needed for war production.

There is no shortage of electricity in this area, and electricity is not rationed. But remember what electricity is made of: Use it carefully as you would any other vital war material. Prudent, economical use of electricity is a patriotic obligation today. Use what electricity you need—but don't waste it. The Detroit Edison Company.

Bandits Seize Box But Get Only Eggs
LOS ANGELES, CALIF.—Bandits seized at pistol point a box, presumably containing the day's cash receipts, which Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beel were carrying home from their florist shop for the evening. But the box contained only eggs which, with a ceiling price on them, could hardly have had much value.

Priest Labors in Bleak Wilderness Follows Traps to Hold Services for Indians.

VICTORIA, B. C.—You'd call the region around Lower Post on the Laird river in British Columbia the most God-forsaken wilderness on earth until you found it was not forsaken—that a slender, pallid young priest is devoting his life to ministering to some 115 dirty, Athabaskan Indians who trap and trade there. The Alaska military road now runs within hailing distance of the place. But it was not there when Father Pierre Poullet of Lille, France, came to the Laird river country five years ago. Now, the road has increased his labors for he goes as far afield as possible to hold services for American soldiers. The mission was established this way: In 1925 an old Indian of a family named Lutz died. He had a "moccasin boy," or body servant, about 13 years old. In some ancient, tribal ritual the boy was bound hand and foot and exposed on the ice to die. Somehow the news got out to civilization, and brought Lower Post to the attention of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, a Catholic organization. An elder, Father Elphege Allard, made a hazardous trip to the place and founded a mission. Later he drowned when his canoe hit a log jam. By their own labor, Poullet and his predecessor built a two-story house which, before Uncle Sam moved into this country, was the most imposing structure in many thousand square miles. "I have below a kitchen, an office, and a living room which is connected by curtains with a small chapel," the priest explained. "There are two bedrooms above. There is little money to work with, and I must go out and cut my own wood. "No, I am not sorry I came. I am satisfied. But I wish I could hear from my two brothers. They are both prisoners of war in Germany."

Mother Feels a Mental 'Snap,' Drowns 2 Girls
PITTSBURGH.—Feeling something "snap" in her head, a 27-year-old mother drowned her two daughters, two and four years old, in the bathtub and then tried to take her own life by inhaling gas, the police reported. After drowning the children, the police said, Mrs. Raymond Gump dressed them in nightgowns and tucked them in their cribs, where they were found by their father when he returned home. Gump, a gas company serviceman, found his wife on the living-room floor. He said he smelled gas when he entered, but that a gas stove in the room was not turned on. Mrs. Gump was not affected by the fumes. Detectives said Mrs. Gump admitted taking the children into the bathroom and holding them under the water. They said she had been under treatment for a mental condition since the birth of one girl.

Hero Sergeant Tosses Live Bomb From Plane
SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA.—The Air Medal has been awarded to a sergeant who flung a live bomb out of an airplane in time to save the plane and its crew. Master Sergeant John Cody Hadow of Pueblo, Colo., was the hero of the incident, which occurred during a test of night photography July 25, 1942. His bomber crew, experimenting with a photo-flash bomb designed to illuminate the ground, released four bombs. A fifth, which had a time fuse, failed to leave the bomb bay. Hadow found the bomb hanging from the arm of the plane. He picked it up hurriedly and threw it down the bomb bay door. It exploded in mid-air just after leaving the plane.

Charles Surely Couldn't Take Wife's 'Dirty Look'
CHICAGO.—Charles Talesky told a coroner's jury he fired the shot which killed a young mother "just to make a noise." He testified his wife gave him a "dirty look" because he was intoxicated at a christening party. He related that he went home, angrily upset the furniture, picked up a rifle, stepped into the street and discharged it twice "just to make a noise." One bullet zinged into a nearby tavern and killed Mrs. Analia Naus, 26, mother of two small children. The jurors recommended that Talesky, 29, a laborer, be held on a manslaughter charge.

AMERICAN HEROES
BY LEFF

Two hours after the ill-fated destroyer Hammann was sunk, her skipper, Comdr. Arnold Ellsworth True, was rescued from the water and found to be supporting two enlisted men. He himself was so exhausted that he did not realize both men were dead. Comdr. True, who was awarded the Navy Cross and the Distinguished Service Medal for heroism, typifies the spirit of our men in arms. They give to the limit of their endurance. Do YOUR part! Michigan Mirror
Non-Partisan News Letter

The sage who said, "It's an ill wind that blows no good," must have been thinking about today's war and tomorrow's Michigan. Maybe it's the inherited spirit of our grandfather who rode a rural church circuit in his younger days with abounding optimism and confidence of this nation's greatness. We confess optimism. When you get down in the dumps, as the saying goes, remember the motto of Michigan: "If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you." Michigan is a great state, and its greatness includes both its size and its productiveness. Nature endowed it with abundant natural resources—iron, copper, salt, oil, forests, fish, vegetables and fruits—and man has created from these a mighty empire of teeming industries. All of which is a prelude to this statement: Air power, developed as a weapon of war, may open a new era of peace-time transportation for the Michigan of tomorrow, putting our northland blue waters and forests and streams within a few hours access of millions of Americans in the Middle West.

Lowell Thomas in a broadcast from a helicopter at Bridgeport, Connecticut, the workshop of Igor Sikorsky, predicted last May 23 that helicopter transportation will make a complete change in the living habits of the American people. In an address at the Ludington Hotel (Duncan Hines) in Escanaba Governor Harry F. Kelly predicted a billion dollar income for the Michigan tourist business after the war, predicated on development of safe air transportation and wider recognition by Michigan citizens of their own natural attractions. This tourist development will be made possible, the governor said, largely because "air transportation for the masses" will eliminate the time gap between north Michigan and the industrial centers of the Middle West. Here is the governor's prediction: "My prediction is, that with air transportation, the tourist business which has netted Michigan 400 million dollars in peace time will, after the war, be a billion dollar business in Michigan."

How the helicopter will fit into tomorrow's transportation system is a matter for speculation today. It is apparently safe to say, however, that the helicopter rotor with its whirling propeller located above the airplane cabin is beyond the experimental stage and that it offers the closest proximity to a fool-proof, safe airplane as inventive genius has yet created. Here is truly a product of World War II. The helicopter was first flown successfully in 1941, and is now being used by the United States Army and Navy. Large airports are not needed for this new craft which takes off and lands vertically and which requires no more than a flat roof on a building for convenience of passengers and parcels. The helicopter is envisioned as bringing to small towns and farms a new mode of fast transportation. The city worker can take off for a week-end outing in Michigan's expansive northland and do so with the ease of driving a fliiver. Two or three hours' experience is required. This craft is safe to the degree that it does not side-slip or tailspin and it can be brought safely to ground even if the motor stops cold.

C. W. Lucas, assistant to Manfred Burrell, president of the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines, told newspaper editors at Escanaba that helicopter service would be made available after the war to 40 cities in Michigan as soon as equipment can be obtained. The Greyhound corporation has applied to the federal government for a permit to operate a national system of helicopter transportation. A hearing is to be held in October. As the Greyhound officials envision the role of the helicopter, more people will live in the country while working in the city; airline travel will be vastly facilitated by helicopter service connecting

It's Great to be in MICHIGAN

Roughing it in Michigan's forest wilderness, catching more fish than you've ever caught before—living like a king in a modern resort hotel—or loafing in a family cabin on a tree-fringed lakeshore—Michigan is everyone's grand vacationland. Thousands of lakes gleam like jewels in the sun. Dancing streams beckon the adventurer. Bracing summer climate adds to your pleasures. large metropolitan airports and downtown districts; inaccessible areas in vacation country will be opened up for air travel for the first time without the necessity of huge expenditures for airports. In brief, "the helicopter will cut in half the travel time between the north part of Michigan and the population centers to the south." Mr. Lucas also predicted that the new ease and speed of travel will extend the Michigan tourist season from two to six months, "since more and more people will travel north for business and for fishing in the spring, hunting in the fall, and winter sports." If this new war-time creation, the helicopter, can achieve these gains for Michigan, we will be doubly blessed. Perhaps here is one of the unforeseen benefits of war which science makes possible when driven by necessity of national self-preservation. It may revolutionize the Michigan of tomorrow, bringing new enjoyments of living to our people.

Cork Grown Here in 1847
Cork has been growing in the United States for almost 100 years. An old cork oak in Virginia is said to have been planted in 1847. The largest cork oak in this country is in Napa county, California, at Napa state hospital. This tree measures 58 inches in diameter, 75 feet tall and evidently is close to 100 years old. Records of other cork trees indicate that they have been growing for at least 85 years and probably longer. Enjoys Sunshine
New Mexico as a whole enjoys 74 per cent of possible sunshine the year around, although some portions of the state have as high as 84 per cent. The average number of clear days for the state is 181 a year.

Q. Why should oil be changed every 2 months or at 1000 miles?
A. Your car produces nearly 1 gallon of water per gallon of gas burned. Short-run driving fails to expel all this water. Some gets into the crankcase and causes contamination of any oil.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS Services

On Sunday morning as you sit in church and see the vacant places in the choir and wonder where the war has taken the young people from your community you may feel certain that they are attending divine services if circumstance permits.

Chaplains and choral leaders are found on the larger ships and even abroad in the Army centers. Millions of hymnals have been distributed to the men and women of all services and you may rest assured that a portion of the savings you are placing into War Bonds is used for their spiritual welfare. U. S. Treasury Department

Upkeep of Mower. Inexpensive. Fortunately most parts of a mowing machine that wear or need repairing are replaceable and relatively inexpensive, which means that a mower can be kept in good condition at comparatively low cost.

Our Merchant Marine
Pepper and Spice
Salem Mass. so dominated the Pepper and Spice Trade that the Dutch East Indies became known as the "Salem East Indies".
Salem ships combing the East Indies and South Sea Islands for sea snails, birds' nests, pearls, shell and sandalwood, for the China trade, found wealth in pepper, whose source was then a native secret.
Captain Jonathan Carnes of Salem, in 1796, accidentally discovered pepper's source in Sumatra. America soon cornered the Pepper trade. In 1805 alone, Salem reshipped to Europe, 7,559,244 pounds.
American merchant ships, managed by private companies, are now carrying tanks and planes for use in driving the Japs out of those same East Indies which played so important a part in our national economy.

Why Be Cash Out, When You Can Cash In with Want Ads

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

CLEANING RUGS

Soiled carpets, rugs and upholstery can be cleaned by shampooing with soap jelly. Ordinary soiling will come out easily, but obstinate and unusual stains should have professional care. Also, shampooing can be used only on fast colors. Put four cups of pure, mild soap chips or flakes in a bowl or wide-mouthed jar, and add one cup of water. Soap jelly will form within an hour. Put a portion in a mixing bowl and beat with an egg beater until you raise very stiff suds.

Using a soft brush, work the jelly on the fabric in a space about 12 inches or so across. After time for loosening the dirt, wipe with a clean, damp cloth. Then, using a stiffer brush, brush the nap in the right direction. Continue in this way on the next space to be cleaned. The suds are so dry that upholstery fabric will not be soaked as would be the case with soapsuds as usually used.

After cleaning, the fabric should be dried quickly. A rug should be supported on boxes and old chairs, so that air can get at the back, as well as the front.

Dry Wells

Question: In putting in dry wells for gutters and downspouts, how far should they be from the house? How big should they be? How much below the cellar floor level?

Answer: They should be at least 15 feet away from the house, so that water soaking into the ground from them will not work back into the cellar. If the ground is loose and sandy, the dry well should measure inside three feet, in diameter and four or more deep; exact size will depend on the roof areas that are drained. In firmly packed soil, the holes must be bigger. If the water cannot return from the dry well to the cellar, depth relating to the cellar floor would make no difference.

Storing Books

Question: I wish to pack and store part of my library. Should the books be wrapped individually? How can I protect them from insects?

Answer: Store them in wood boxes lined with waterproof paper. Individual wrapping is not necessary. Include in each box a double handful of moth crystals (paradi). Keep the boxes in a dry place and away from dampness. Avoid storage in a basement, however dry it may appear.

Mohair Furniture

Question: Can furniture upholstered with mohair be safely stored? Answer: Yes, furniture can be satisfactorily stored in a reliable storage warehouse. Make inquiries of the names of the best established firms in the business in your city. Furniture covered with mohair or other wool type fabrics should be mothproofed. Some warehousemen have such a service, or they can advise you of firms who do this type of work.

Unheated House

Question: We own an unheated house near the seashore which is difficult to rent. We would like to put in some kind of an inexpensive heating plant. What do you suggest? Answer: A coal-fired, hot air heating system will be the least expensive to install. If the house is a small one, bungalow-type, a pipeless hot air furnace may be satisfactory. Your local heating contractor can give you information and costs of installation.

Loose Chair Legs

Question: The glue that holds together the sides of the legs of a mahogany chair has loosened. How can this chair be tightened? Answer: Take out the loose chair legs and rungs, clean off all glue, then spread a generous amount of casein glue on the parts to be glued. Bind all parts until the glue has dried. Another method is to use metal slips for tightening loose chair legs. At hardware and dime stores.

Steel Windows

Question: Where can we get storm windows and screens for steel casements? Answer: Your best chance is to get them from the manufacturers of the windows. You will probably find the name and address somewhere on them, or can get this from the builder of the house.

Salt-Spotted Silver

Question: How can I clean black salt spots from my silver salt shakers? Answer: This is almost impossible to do at home. Take them to a silversmith.

Definite Foreign Policy Essential to America

The Issue: Shall Nation Adopt Policy of Participation in World Affairs or Shall We Aim at Nationalistic Goal?

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

Today America faces its first real problem as a world power.

Italy lies before us. General Eisenhower, as commander of the Allied forces of invasion, suddenly becomes a statesman. He is a soldier. He can win battles. Now, he is the man ultimately responsible for directing American world policy. What is American world policy?

Eisenhower is firm in his decisions, certain in his own procedure, because he is responsible only to his Commander-in-Chief.

But who is his Commander-in-Chief? Roosevelt. A man who may suddenly leave the scene in the midst of battle, if the American public so decrees.

And then? Has America any firm foreign policy, unfettered by partisan political restriction, a clear-marked path that a fighting man or any other man can follow?

In a few short weeks from now, a group of busy, hard-pressed men are going to sit down on Mackinac Island and try to write what American foreign policy they think ought to be sponsored by the Republican party.

These men have to face the question of committing the Republican party to a definite foreign policy. And paradoxically, by committing their party to a definite foreign policy, they may free both political parties of all commitment on foreign policy. For if the Democrats frame similar resolutions, they can save America from a vicious split—one which, if it is not avoided, will crash party lines and can destroy the two-party system, the rock of our democracy.

The issue which America faces is simple: shall we, as a nation, underwrite a policy which will implement our participation in world affairs or shall we retire unto ourselves and pursue the nationalistic policy which says in effect: let the rest of the world stew in its own juice?

Until we took the Philippines, America was able to leave the great and vital problems which should have no political tinge, outside partisan politics. We have had other problems which have remained essentially non-partisan.

The Problems

Take labor. A vital question. But has labor ever voted solidly for one ticket or the other? No. The AFL will cast its traditional Republican votes in the coming election as it always has. Some of the CIO members will vote to support the administration. Others will vote as they darn please.

Slavery—really a labor question. That did nearly wreck the republic because it was made a partisan issue when it was not an issue at all! Many of the influential southerners were just as ready to free their slaves as the rabid abolitionists, heated with emotional fervor, failing to grasp the economic significance, were to force them to.

Again, unless a cold, calm discussion and understanding of the question of foreign policy takes place, we may face another split which, although it need not mean civil war, may mean a horrid dislocation of our whole political system.

When we went into World War II after Pearl Harbor, the word "isolationism" was forgotten. Today it has come back into our vocabularies and is being batted about, like other political footballs, by people who really don't understand its implications and are woefully ignorant of what discussion it may cause.

Politicians want to overlook it. They can't. This group of Republicans, headed by Deneen Watson, and a whole flying squadron of Democrats, too, are insistent that they be allowed to "let the people know." They are going to speak their pieces. And the only hope of lifting this discussion out of partisan politics is a "settlement out of court," an agreement by both parties on a single foreign policy.

Let's get back to that hot and perspiring day in Washington late last month when Deneen Watson and his colleagues from this self-appointed Republican organization, the Republican "foreign policy association," walked across quiet Lafayette park opposite the White House and presented themselves to Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee.

Results of Session

It was some time before the results of this meeting between Watson and his colleagues and Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee leaked out. Those with an anti-Republican slant, wove the words dropped into a threatened split in the Republican party, a drive to nominate Wendell Willkie for president.

To the person who tried to be objective, it was neither.

Mr. Spangler has one job—to keep the party together, to eschew any favoritism for any policy or any person. Naturally, these persistent persons who called upon him were presenting a problem. I believe it was that fact rather than what his critics said that indicated there was a leaning toward the "status quo" attitude, the desire to remain a purveyor of platitudes and follow the tide rather than to face it.

This issue—full participation in world affairs versus a return to nationalism or isolationism, if you will—is, according to our most earnest non-partisans, the most important issue which has faced the public and should not be a political football.

Briefly, what the men with their sleeves rolled up at Mackinac in September have to face is this: shall we, good Republicans, come out frankly for world-co-operation or dodge the issue?

What the Watson association demands is more than that and something the Republican national committee must face: will the party officially get behind a nation-wide campaign to "educate" the people on the international issue?

Unfortunately, personalities do get mixed up in these things and Wendell Willkie has become the symbol of the international view.

That is why it is essential, if the party is to take the issue out of partisan politics and disassociate it from any of the individuals aspiring for the Republican candidacy, that they must go on record.

The Monroe Doctrine

Walter Lippmann has written a book called "American Foreign Policy" and the point he makes is this: until 1900, politics did stop at the water's edge. We had a foreign policy (or thought we did) which was the Monroe Doctrine. According to Lippmann, we were living under a delusion. Namely, that we had under the Monroe Doctrine declared our whole policy—America for Americans (period) which implied, of course, that the rest of the world could do what it pleased so long as it kept off our grass.

We believed that we could enforce that policy ourselves. That was not correct. We were really depending on the British fleet to enforce it. It happened to be to British advantage to agree, so there was no trouble.

Then we mixed in world affairs, found we had to fight our own battles, and did it—took over Hawaii, the Philippines. But we didn't provide the means to hold them. And so, disagreeing on the various steps necessary to carry out our foreign policy, we failed to provide the means to do so—Britain was busy elsewhere, and one morning we lost the Philippines and came within an eyelash of losing Hawaii.

And so we now face the necessity of framing a new foreign policy which must include the willingness to provide security for our own shores and those other contiguous shores (South America and Canada) which might be used by an enemy against us. Or we have to take part in prophylactic measures—to stop the danger to our security in advance.

That issue once clarified by the two political parties will leave us free for a good, old-fashioned free-for-all political campaign, and if the best man wins, or the worst man wins, his policies can't affect the international welfare of the nation.

Failure of both parties to clearly set forth their views on foreign policy may well create a third party movement which could wreck the two-party system, the rock on which our Republic is founded.

Washington, D. C.

FATHER BARUCH

Gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, whose relentless prodding of the war effort has saved more lives than anyone can estimate, is worried over a lot of things besides tanks, airplanes and machine guns. Among other things he is worried over the human problem of readjusting the lives of people who have flooded the cities, who have been thrown out of joint by the war.

Sitting on his park bench in Lafayette park, where he holds "office" conferences, Bernie sees the stream of girls, thousands of them from all over the U. S. A., dumped into government offices, into crowded boarding houses, and wonders what will happen to them when the war is over.

Baruch won't tell you—but his friends will—about how he handled this problem after the last war.

He had employed several thousand clerks and stenographers in his War Industries board, and after the Armistice he began to worry about whether these girls were going back to their homes or would remain in the exciting cities.

So he sent each girl a letter thanking her for the time and loyal work she had given her country. And as a hint that she should go back to her mother he suggested: "Anyone who will apply at my office can receive a railroad ticket back home."

Baruch also attached to each letter a $10 bill.

The railroad tickets were paid for out of his own pocket, since the government does not pay for personal transportation, and it cost Baruch many thousands of dollars. He was a little fearful that some of the girls might have taken the tickets, then turned them in to the railroad. However, he hoped that he might have helped to get at least a fair proportion out of the city and back home.

The high cost of living which the coal miners have complained about recently was substantiated by an OPA survey of company stores in western Pennsylvania.

John A. Fath, who made the survey, came back with a report of "exorbitant prices and mark-ups" and insisted that company stores, which do no advertising or sales promotion, should sell their goods at lower prices than other stores, rather than higher.

He found suits selling for $39.50 which cost the store $12.50. He found a shoe box marked $9.95, but inside the box he found the shoes themselves marked with crayon, "$8.50."

Result of the survey already has been a voluntary price roll-back in the company stores. Now that the government has taken over the mines, the OPA is moving to make this company store price roll-back not voluntary, but universal. Note—Fath was once a storekeeper himself in Millville, N. J., hometown of Leon Henderson. He gave Henderson his first job.

HONORS FOR WORKMEN

The Office of War Information is arranging a de luxe program for next Labor day, hailing the contribution of American workmen in the drive for victory. "Producing for Attack" will be the theme of the program, and it will include inspirational broadcasts by President Roosevelt and other top-ranking war leaders.

However, this isn't the only labor show on the OWI schedule this year. Another special celebration for Labor, to be known as "On to Victory" day also will be observed within the next two months.

It was conceived by Maj. Paul Hines, chief of the labor branch of the Fourth Service command at Atlanta, Ga., and promoted by Hervey Allen, author of "Anthony Adverse."

All war plants will be asked to declare an "hour off" on "On to Victory" day, at which time special "War Merit" emblems will be awarded. Climaxing the "On to Victory" programs will be a nation-wide broadcast in the evening—according to OWI plans—featuring such speakers as President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Generals MacArthur, Eisenhower and Doolittle and Admirals King and Halsey. Joseph Stalin and General Chiang Kai-shek of China also may be invited to take part. All the speakers will have a special message for American labor.

The evening broadcast will conclude with the sounding of taps from the steps of the nation's Capitol, in memory of our war dead, and an answering taps by U. S. buglers in Europe and the South Pacific.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

One thing President Roosevelt talked to President Avila Camacho about while in Mexico was permitting 12,000 Polish refugees to enter Mexico from Europe. Mexico has consented.

Congressman Mike Monroney of Oklahoma is trying to rent Bill Bullitt's palatial Washington home now that the ex-ambassador will run for mayor of Philadelphia.

John Carlson's book "Under Cover" on the American fascist is really going places.

Rabbit Prepared Like Chicken
The domestic grain-fed rabbit produces a meat which is almost entirely white and can be prepared very much like chicken. Rabbit fryers of 3½ to 4 pounds, animals about three months old, are the most delicious. When properly killed, skinned and dressed, the carcass will average about 55 per cent of live weight, 82 per cent of which is edible meat.

Stand May Run Out
Even on good soil a stand of alfalfa will run out in a few years if the crop is repeatedly cut before blooming or if it is cut during the period of root storage during late September and early October.

Harvesting Corn
Farm records show that an acre of corn can be produced and harvested with nine hours of man-labor by using the latest type power machinery. Producing an acre of corn with horses and husking it by hand consumes an average of 38 man-hours of work. The figures on the hours required to produce the acre of corn are the average requirements for all farms for which records were available, so the requirements may be different on any one individual farm.

Keep Cloth Near Basin
One way to assure a neat wash bowl in the bathroom is to hang a clean soft cloth near it. Instruct every member of the family to wipe the basin with this cloth every time the bowl is used. Face cloths that have worn thin, small napkins that are threadbare, and similar pieces of fabric make suitable wiping cloths. They can be laundered and reused in the bathroom many times.

SURPRISE
A farmer took a pig to town and sold it. With the proceeds he bought a suit, a hat, a pair of shoes, and then he tucked the bundle under the seat and said:
"Giddap, Oriole, let's go home and surprise my wife."
On his way home he stopped at the river, took off all his old clothes and threw them in the water and they sank.
Then he looked under the seat for his new outfit. It was gone. So he got in the buggy, took the lines and said: "Giddap, Oriole, we'll surprise her anyway."

Save with CALF-MANNA

It takes so little CALF-MANNA to make a calf put on that extra bloom, depth and weight! You never have to feed more than a pound a day per calf.

CALF-MANNA does three things: supplies fat soluble vitamins, provides minerals in a form the calf can use, and makes other feeds used with it more digestible.

For better results at less cost, we recommend CALF-MANNA. Order a bag today.

Innocent Request By Anxious Wife Turns Up Rascal

Pastor, Naval Officer, Spy And Forger Listed in Career of Humbug.

LONDON.—An anxious wife's innocent request to a London news-paper to publish a picture of her missing husband turned him up, all right—and had the additional in-direct effect of turning him in. The husband, who turned out to have had a career fit to turn milk, is Lieut. Charles Reginald Browne, 48 years old, of the royal navy volunteer re-serve; native of Cape Town, South Africa; former student in South Africa at Rondebosch and Durban, in England at Oxford; former artillery man, former merchant sailor, French Foreign Legion deserter, former secretary of the Natal parlia-ment, ex-stationmaster in Kenya, once alleged spy in Mozambique, once Nonconformist minister at Hackney, England. When Mrs. Browne became wor-ried about the versatile Browne's disappearance from their home at Noakhill, Billericay, in Essex, where he lived with their two children, the London paper helped her out by run-ning the photograph.

Aviation Cadet Gerald Frederick Kercher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Er-win W. Kercher of Cass City, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces Pre-Flight School for Pilots at Maxwell Field, located on the outskirts of Mont-gomery, the capital of Alabama. Here the new class of cadets is receiving nine weeks of intensive military, physical and academic training preparatory to beginning their actual flight instruction at one of the many primary flying schools in the Army Air Forces Southeast Training Center.

Mrs. Orris E. Reid has received the letter below from her son, Sgt. Earl L. Reid, who recently arrived in England. He writes in part under date of August 5:

"Well, here we are in England now. I wrote three days ago but the censor turned the letter back because I wrote on both sides of the paper. I don't know why they do that; maybe they think we are all millionaires or something, and they don't even get us any ration cards yet so we can get to the P. X. to buy anything. We have to have a ration card here for nearly ev-erything, I guess by what they say. We can get only seven packs of cigarettes a week here and they cost only six cents and are Ameri-can brands. All of my letters have been written on both sides, but they let some go through and re-turn some so I don't know what to do. I don't see why they don't just cut what they have to and send what's left. If there is any-thing I hate to do worse than re-write a letter, it's K. P. Every time they return it, it stows up mail service two or three days at least.

"We had to exchange our money for English money when we got here before we could buy anything, even at the P. X.

"The climate here is almost like Michigan except that it gets colder at night and damper. I haven't been to town yet or even off the base and I don't think I will be going very often.

"They feed us a lot better here than in the States, I think. Every-thing is done on bicycle or by walking here."

A family gathering was enjoyed at the fairgrounds at Caro Sunday, Aug. 15, honoring Donald Claude Putnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude K. Putnam, of Flat Rock, who left on the 17th for Fort Cas-ter. The party besides those al-ready named included four grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Putnam of Ellington, and the fol-lowing aunts, uncles and cousins of the honor guest: Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bradley and children, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Bradley and children, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Max Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Cloris Robinson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Robin-son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Putnam and family and Lloyd Putnam of Ellington. A bountiful potluck dinner was served which included chicken, ice cream and cakes. Donald Putnam received several gifts and a purse of money. Grandfather Putnam was also surprised with a birthday cake made by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold Putnam, and several gifts, and Grandmother Bradley was also the recipient of an anni-versary cake made by her daugh-ter, Mrs. Cloris Robinson, and several gifts from others. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson also celebrated their birthdays which fell on Aug. 1. Donald Putnam should have no trouble in securing a marksman's medal in the Army if one may judge from his hunting exploit back in the autumn of 1939 when he was 14 years of age. With one shot from his gun, he killed three cock pheasants while out hunting with his grandfather, Samuel Put-nam. When they went together to the back end of his grandfather's farm, Donald saw one cock pheas-ant in a fence corner and fired. There were three birds so close together that the one shot killed all three.

Policeman Nabs Him. A policeman — Detective Ralph Roots—saw the picture, and noticed that it corresponded with the description of a man wanted at Salis-bury for check frauds. Within a few hours Roots saw Browne in the street at Lyndhurst and arrested him. Bank officials said Browne had walked into their managers' parlors in officers' uniform, produced his naval identity card, stated that he banked with the Falmouth branch, and asked to be obliged with $20. Browne denied in evidence that he had any intent to defraud when he was brought to trial at the Win-chester quarter sessions. Speaking with the academic de-tachment of a university professor, he stated blandly that he "knew" he had a banking account at Fal-mouth, and that, by reason of the bad time he had had since being tor-pedoed, he only had the haziest re-collection of cashing the checks in question.

Wife Testifies. Answering Prosecutor G. R. F. Morris, Mrs. Miriam Agnes Browne said she was married four years ago at Waltham Abbey, and had two children. She declared that when she vis-ited him for the first time in Winches-ter prison Browne did not recognize her. Defense Attorney G. W. Willett submitted that Browne had no ac-tive intention of defrauding the banks. Detective Roots then produced a record of several convictions for various criminal offenses. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty and he was sentenced to 20 months' imprisonment.

"You're obviously a person of ability," said Judge Chute, "but we can only look on you as a thoroughly fraudulent creature. You acted as a minister of religion. You are a con-summate humbug."

Irish Know All Drinking Terms, Attorney Admits

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—An Irish-man, Thomas Russell, 56-year-old former policeman, was charged in court with operating a tippeling house.

"What is tippeling?" asked Judge Earl Lyons.

"It's taking small drinks often. It comes from the Norwegian word 'tippel,'" replied Assistant District Attorney Leo McHale. The judge couldn't understand how an Irish-man could be so familiar with a Norwegian drinking term.

"An Irishman, your honor, is ac-quainted with all drinking terms," explained McHale.

Lovemaking of Soldier Is Strictly on Record

SALINA, KAN.—Romance has the staff of radio station KSAL in sus-pense. A soldier begged a record upon which he wanted to propose to the girl he left behind him in California. The manager gave him the blank record, placed him in front of the recording machine and left him to toss his woo alone.

But what KSAL wants to know is how did he come out with the gal? They feel as bad as the lady whose husband threw away the last instal-ment of the love serial before she had read it.

Heavy Machine Shops Make Ready for Women

CLEVELAND.—The last strong-holds against women in industry—forge shops, steel mills and found-ries—are finding resistance crum-bling. A special molding machine has been designed especially for women, to bring them into the shops.

The old type molding machines used by men in making airplane engine cylinder heads required a 75-pound pull to roll over the machine table with the pattern and a half flask of sand on it.

The new model requires only a slight manual operation.

ors; the report of Reese Van Vran-ken, Kalamazoo County, on his recent trips to Washington and Chicago as representative of Michi-gan meat producing agencies; and reports from Michigan and out-of-state livestock commission firms on the feeder cattle situation. Members of the department of animal husbandry at M. S. C. will assist in the discussion of the exist-ing meat production problem. Commenting on the general situ-ation, Benton remarked that cattle

"investments which go into the feedlot and come out again several months later can easily shrink rather than grow, if feeder cattle cannot be purchased at a price to warrant the risks of controlled market prices and feed shortages."

How River Got Its Name Feather river in California was so named by its discoverers be-cause of the quantities of wild duck feathers they found floating on its surface.

Rat-Proof Storage A rat-proof feed storage can be made by enclosing a room in hard-ware cloth, and piling all sacks at least four inches from the hardware cloth walls.

Cattle producers Hold Meet Sept. 6
Members of the Michigan asso-ciation of cattle producers will meet in room 206 of the Horticul-ture building at Michigan State College on Monday, September 6, at 7:30 p. m., E. L. Benton, ex-tension assistant professor of ani-mal husbandry at M. S. C., an-nounced today. The producers will convene after seeing the judging and sales of 4-H Club fat and breeding stock during the Labor Day farm shows. Important items on the program, Benton said, are the reports on local feed situations and the pros-pects for feeding cattle during the coming winter which President Arthur Ingold, Lenawee County, has requested from county direct-
