The Antiques vs. the Upstarts

The Gavel Club was recently entertained at dinner by the Rotarians. After being very gracious hosts for most of the evening, some of the ancient members challenged the Gavel Club to a bowling tournament. Feeling that what is lacking in experience will be more than production of steel mills through made up in energy and enthusiasm, the challenge was accepted.

The following is a list of the teams, the first night's contest starting at 7:00 tonight (Friday). Gavel Club.

Michigan's Rural Scrap Quota for Six Months Is 200 Lbs. to Farm.

Michigan Salvage Committees, faced with waning scrap inventories, are launching a state-wide Victory Scrap campaign between Oct, 1 and November 15 to comb again all farms, homes and stores for steel and iron scrap. During these six weeks we need to build a huge Victory Scrap Bank in every community as an insurance against any mill's scrap will be gathered, but it is especially important that much of it be of the heavier type, such as is found on the farm. #### Travelers Describe Ravage Of Hearts of German Industrial Centers.

STOCKHOLM. - Railway traffic through the industrial metropolis of Dortmund was paralyzed for at least three days after the last great RAF raid, according to persons who have traveled through bomb-blasted western Germany.

Movement through Dortmund's main station was impossible and traffic had to be rerouted around the city, causing a bottleneck in the transportation of war freight and passengers from the Ruhr eastward to points such as Berlin and Hamburg. Police closed the area and officials told travelers that an RAF blockbuster dud was lying in the station, but English reconnaissance pictures since show the station is badly damaged.

Remove Rubbish

Rubbish in attics, basements and closets has caused the destruction by fire of thousands of homes. Keep your home clear of things that burn easily-old paper, rags, boxes, etc. Keep oily or paint-covered cloths and waste in tightly covered metal cans, or, still better, burn them. Such rags cause many home fires because they can ignite by themEarly Convoys

Convoying in the old manner flowered in the days of England's King Henry IV, when "Because certain pirates were lurking at the Thames mouth, Thomas Lord Camois with certain ships of war was appointed to watch over the king." In 1580, warships were assigned to guard England's fishing fleet. Wine and wool fleets were similarly protected, as was Spain's treasure fleet.

How Kimsul Insulation Keeps You Warmer

with less fuel, in winter

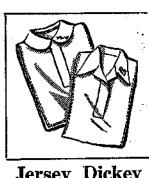

Here's a home improvement that really does pay for itself—in luxurious winter weather comfort and in actual dollars and cents clipped off your fuel bill! The thermal conductivity of KIMSUL is only .27 Btu per square foot. (Peebles.) That means that Double Thick KIMSUL, installed in your attic, is capable of holding in up to 80% of the heat which would otherwise escape there. You get more real value out of scarce, expensive fuel.

The needs of our country in wartime will undoubtedly require ever stricter rationing of fuel. It's important, therefore, to plan on insulating your home now with KIMSUL. Many home owners have found that reduced consumption of fuel has paid for their KIMSUL installation in a relatively short time; they enjoy the extra comfort practically as a gift.

Lightning Rods When lightning strikes a lightning

rod there is a noise which is the sound of an electrical discharge. The purpose of a lightning rod is to offer an easy path for the lightning to get to the ground, or to discharge the cloud which has collected charges of electricity. Usually a rod has several sharp points, and if there is a concentrated charge in the form of electricity in the vicinity the rod these points tend to discharge the cloud slowly, thereby preventing a violent discharge which we call "lightning."

The American Citizens of the 1950's Are in the Schools Today

By Fred W. Braun, the Safety Man

The future man and womanpower of America will be found in the schools of America today. Upon these youngsters depends the future of our countryyoungsters sorely needed to replace those heroic Americans who are giving their lives in the war dom. Let us all recognize the great responsibility of these children and do all in our power to preserve their lives.

The government has regulated the saving of your tires and of the gasoline you use but it is up to you to help save the lives of these little children who are now attending school. Reduced speed and super-cautious driving, especially near schools, will do it.

Many of these children are going to school for the first time and are not familiar with the hazards of traffic. It is for these little tots that you must keep a sharp lookout. Many are apt to dart out into the street between parked cars. Be ready to stop instantly if this happens. The careful driver slows down auto-

Opponents of the dads' draft insist that all eligible men from this group should be taken by the services before fathers are called. A bill drawn by Sen. Robert Taft would first draft all dads under 30 years of age.

Workers Needed

Declaring that in 1943 the civilian employment has remained below the level reached last year by 1,300,-000, the army's industrial personnel director, James P. Mitchell, said the nation was faced with increasing the efficiency of the present labor force, or of drafting workers from mon-essential to essential occupa-

Manpower is poorly distributed, Mitchell said, so that while there is adequate labor throughout the country, there are acute shortages in some areas and surpluses in others.

Mitchell urged that more consideration be given to the employment of women, stating that they compose the chief source of manpower remaining in the nation.

Clinging stubbornly to the mountainous terrain. German small artillery and machine gunners slowed the progress of Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's advancing Fifth army in the Naples area.

The whole German line facing the Fifth army, however, was in danger of encirclement, following the British Eighth army's capture of Foggia, 80 miles to the northeast. With the British threatening their rear, the Nazis could continue to hold out only so long as it would take Montgomery's men to cross the mountains and get behind their backs. Thus, a slow and bloody German withdrawal up the Italian mainland loomed.

Possession of Foggia gave the Allies a network of airfields from which they could blast southern Germany and the Balkans. From Foggia. Munich is 500 miles. Vienna with its airplane factories 465 miles, and the Ploesti oil fields of Rumania 580 miles.

ported recognition of King Victor Emmanuel's government as a partner by the Allies, Italy apparently has stuck a foot in both amps. Although the U.

and Britain have refused to accept King Victor Emmanuel's government as an ally, they would welcome its assistance in helping throw the Germans from Italy, and thus give it rank as a military rather than a political partner. King Victor Emmanuel's government has been anxious to enter the Allied camp as a military partner, hoping that its co-operation would promote hetter peace terms for it.

Meanwhile, Benito Mussolini has peen active in reforming his fallen Fascist regime in the north with German support. The Duce expects to raise an army to fight alongside of the Nazis again, and he has promised to abolish the monarchy and establish a republican government in which the people, rather than the king, would have the final voice.

MR. MERCHANT: Please

As a wartime measure to save coal, transportation, manpower, and critical materials, the War Production Board has requested a nationwide conservation of electricity in these categories: LIGHTED SIGNS, SHOW WINDOWS, DECORA-TIVE AND ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING, SHOWCASES, BUILDING ENTRANCES, INTERIOR ILLUMINATION, AIR CONDITIONING.

This program is voluntary. But its importance cannot be emphasized too strongly. Thousands of tons of coal each day are required to manufacture electricity, and when you save electricity you save coal and other war materials. Desired savings in light and power can be obtained by turning off lights and equipment which are not necessary.

In our Company there is no shortage of generating plant or distribution facilities. But saving electricity today is a patriotic obligation. This nationwide voluntary program includes ALL public utilities—gas, telephone, water, transportation—as well as electricity. Your help and the help of all our customers will make the Government's conservation program a success. The Detroit Edison Company.

Women have learned the optics of style. Vertical lines and patterns tend to slenderize; horizontal lines tend to flatten out the human figure. INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Concluded from page sale or gift of alcoholic beverages to Indians. As early as 1795 the territory sought to prevent sale of such beverages to minors by imposing heavy penalties on innkeepers and retailers. The license system was inaugurated in 1792.

By 1850 the state legislature concluded that the license plan was a failure, and it turned to state-14 Chester White pig's, 2 mos. old wide prohibition which was written into the state constitution that year as follows: "The legislature Model International truck shall not pass any act authorizing the grant of license for sale of ardent spirits or other intoxicating The people ratified this liquors." amendment, 36,169 to 9,433.

Twenty-six years later the pendulum of public opinion had swung from bonedry prohibition back to control-chiefly because the law had become a dead-letter and was wind. Its voters rejected countyopenly and widely ignored. In 1876 wide prohibition in 1934, but they the state vote against prohibition may think differently in 1943. was 60,629 to 52,569. Then came the first county option law in 1887

During the early months of World War I. Congress prohibited the sale of liquor to soldiers and sailors and empowered the president to prohibit the use of grains and fruits in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages. Then on Nov. 21, 1918-10 days after the Armistice was declared in France-wartime prohibition was approved as a peace-time measure by Congress, and the 18th amendment was submitted to the states for ratification or rejection. Ratification by threefourths of the states became a reality on Jan. 16, 1919, and the amendment went into effect legally one year later. The Volstead act, an enforcement statute, adopted by Congress Oct. 28, 1919. At Washington today is a House Bill 2082 whose objectives are given by sponsors in the following language: "To reduce absenteeism. conserve manpower, and speed production of materials necessary for the winning of the war." Or, in other words, national prohibition.

In 1917-18 the sale of beer to soldiers and sailors was prohibited. Today it is permitted. In fact, it can be served to soldiers in their own mess dining halls, if they choose to use their own "company funds" for this purpose. The OWI's national report as to sobriety of soldiers and sailors in World War II is a matter of record—and also considerable controversy, as might be expected. In 1917-18 approximately 100,000

Michigan men were in the armed services. Today, it is estimated that the total is at least 200,000. How many Barry County soldiers and sailors will vote in the November election is a question. The government's own newspaper for AEF soldiers, the Stars and Stripes, raised the question last May 20 as follows: "We can remember the days of prohibition, when moonshine whiskey made quick fortunes for bootleggers. crooked politicians and dishonest police officials. As a result we claim we know what we want in the way of liquor legislation and feel those at home should wait until we return before initiating further legislation on liquor control.

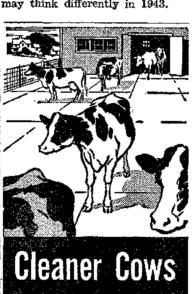

The drys counter with excellent arguments too-the rise of juvenile delinquency, excessive drinking by oung people, serving of beer to minors, the Monday morning absenteeism at war plants, rationing of tires and food to civilians vs. use of tires and grain by breweries. (All distilleries have been converted to war needs.)

A student of history will note that the earliest Mosaic lawgivers, more than 2,000 B. C., attempted to repress drunkenness. King Hammurabi of Babylon ordained that wine-sellers who permitted riotous persons to assemble on their premises should be put to death. The British Parliament has wrestled with the problem for more than 400 years, and liquor legislation has existed in China for thousands of years. One ancient Chinese ordinance forbid more than three persons to meet and drink together.

Michigan has tried bone-dry prohibition twice. It has employed all methods of control-village, city, township, county and state. Its present liquor control system has resulted in widespread complaints due, in part, to lack of liquor—a situation which should encourage moderation automatically. The state commission is appointed by the governor and hence is "political." It has had four chairmen in two years.

A problem of this kind defies a solution which is satisfactory to everyone. Thus the pendulum of public opinion has swung from one extreme to another, each generation seeking its own answer.

Barry County's special election in November may be straws in the

PAVED

A concrete paved barnyard is a big aid to dairymen producing high quality milk. Fall, winter, spring and summer it helps keep cows out of mud, dust, filth—cuts down work of cleaning cows before milking. A big factor now that farm help is short and every effort is being made to increase milk production.

When cows wade through mud they waste energy needed for producing milk. Owners say a paved barnyard soon pays for itself by helping produce more and better quality milk.

Victory Scrap Metal Drive Oct. 1 to Nov. 15

Folks in this community are requested to comb again all farms, homes and stores for steel and iron scrap. During the coming weeks, each community needs to build a Victory Scrap Bank as an insurance against any mill's having to shut down for lack of material.

Michigan's rural scrap quota for the last six months of the year is based on an average of 200 pounds to the farm.

Strangest 'Beat' Of London Police Is River Patrol

Miles of Thames Covered By Day and Night by Motor Craft.

LONDON.-All day and all night long, in war as in peacetime, the swift motor craft of the Thames police division—floating branch of the Metropolitan police-patrol the entire length of the river within the limits of the port of London. Theirs is one of the busiest and strangest "beats" in the world, says the Port of London Authority Monthly.

When dusk falls the patrol boats leave the center of the stream and weave a course among the ships and barges lying dark and still in the eerie shadows of the wharves. Flash lamps play in dark corners, and ears are strained for unfamiliar voices and footsteps. The occupants of the boat know in a moment if any dirty work is afoot, and the culprit will have small chance of escape.

Vigilance Increased. In these war times they must keep closer watch than ever on the endless docks, wharves, creeks and warehouses which extend for so many miles along both sides of the Thames. Were they not always on the alert and ready for instant action, Black Market thieves might get away with rich hauls of vital foodstuffs and merchandise. Even fifth columnists might attempt landings in the lonely regions around the Thames estuary. For a fairly long period, just when the hunt for fifth columnists and smuggled aliens was at its height, the patrol vessels had to be driven at night without any navigational lights. Yet such is the policemen's knowledge of the river-they know every yard of it intimately-that the usual dusk to dawn patrols were maintained without a single accident or any loss of efficiency.

All through the big London air raids, when the docks were specially singled out by the enemy, the Thames police played a part of conspicuous bravery by helping the firefighters, rescue squads, salvage officials and demolition workers.

Time and time again, when the blitz was most savage, these calm and courageous officers risked injury and death to help quell the spreading flames and speed up the salvage work in riverside wharves and warehouses. Cargoes and stores worth many millions of pounds sterling were saved through prompt ac-

Half Force Went to War.

Before the war there were 200 officers serving with the Thames police division, all of them trained specially for the job. Many could speak fluently in several foreign languages so they could deal with the cosmopolitan crowd of seamen congregated on the waterfront. About half the force joined the Royal navy soon after the outbreak of hostilities.

To make up for this serious depletion of numbers, new men have been transferred from the regular land force. Some have been drafted straight into the job without the pre liminary training in the Metropolitan police, as is the usual practice in ordinary times. Nevertheless. every recruit must have some knowledge of the Thames and Dockland, and is also obliged to pass a vis, war food administrator, said that despite floods and an unfavorable spring the present outlook indicates greater farm production this year than at any time in history except last year.

In a radio address, the administrator said farmers broke all-time records in 1939, again in 1940, 1941 and 1942.

"But our civilian consumers alone ate up 85 per cent of that enormous production of last year," Davis said. "Only 15 per cent of it went to our armed forces and lend-lease. The last two years have been a great feast for our civilian consumers.'

American Armed Forces Buying Heavy Insurance

NEW YORK .-- Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, told the annual meeting of the International College of Surgeons at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria that the National Service Life Insurance for members of our armed forces had received 10,000,000 applications for insurance totaling $70,000,000,000.

"You will realize the magnitude of this vast sum," General Hines said, when I remind you that it is equal to one-half of all the commercial life insurance now outstanding in the whole United States."

Columbus, History's Man of Mystery, Remains Puzzle to World's Scholars

ALTHOUGH 451 years have ing interesting reading but unreli-passed since an intrepid navi- able history. gator named Christopher Columbus sailed westward to unknown horizons, the world still knows almost nothing of that sailor whose discovery has been termed the most important event since the birth of Christ.

Less is known about Columbus than almost any other great figure of history. Who was he? Where and when was he born? What was his early life? What did he look like? Was he educated or illiterate? Where, when and how did he die? Where is he buried? These and many other questions cannot be answered by today's historians with any degree of accuracy. As to his identity, some scholars would have us believe that he was Spanish. Others say he was Portuguese, others Jewish. This point likely will never be cleared up.

Columbus' Birthplace.

There are at least 15 cities in Italy where the tourist of more peaceful times can see the "birthplace" of Columbus. Outside of Italy, Columbus was "born" in a dozen places in Spain, Portugal and France. Oth-"birthplaces" are being discovered every few years.

The date of his birth is controversial. The best authorities believe he saw the light of day between 1446 and 1451. His early life remains as historically abscure. It has never been proved that he attended a university, or that he ran away to sea, or that his father was a wool-comber, as is often alleged. Legend, myth and fiction crowd each other in the early pages of his life, mak-

Sooner or later trouble will be sure to come from the rotting of the wood through dampness or from attack by termites or other insects. Some kinds of wood such as cypress and redwood are resistant to trouble from rotting, but in time, even these are not entirely immune, In anything but a shack, the parts in contact with the earth should be of masonry, with well made poured concrete the first choice. When alterations to an old building or regrading around it may bring the wooden parts into contact with soil, it is best to replace the woodwork with concrete.
