

PLANS BEING MADE FOR SCRAP HARVEST ON NOVEMBER 9

will go with the trucks to show them the routes. The routes will be established by the county headquarters.

Anyone having scrap is being asked to donate it on this drive, although anyone who wishes to sell his own scrap may do so. Trucks will not pick up any but donated scrap, however.

Legionnaires are to be charged with the duty of selling the scrap to county dealers, so that the material will move immediately into war production.

Money received from the sale of scrap will go first for necessary entertainment of the army men who come into the county for the pickup—for their food and lodging. Any money remaining from sale of scrap will be used for entertainment of the soldiers detachment now in the county to guard the war prisoners who are taking out sugar beets. If any money remains from the sale after these things have been paid for, it will be donated to the USO.

The scrap need is vital now, and will become increasingly so as winter weather makes further collections impossible. The scrap collected in this drive will go into stockpiles of the steel mills, so that they will be assured of a sufficient amount for the winter's operation, and so that production of war materials will not slacken.

Farmers, householders and business places should search their property now, collect their scrap and take it to their district school-houses in advance of November 9, or if they have a sizeable amount of scrap, they should notify their district chairman that they have it and ask to have it picked up at the place where the scrap now is.

Organization of the campaign is vital, and those with scrap can help mightily if they will follow the above simple rules.

Pods Beneath Soil
The peanut actually belongs to the leguminosae or pea family differing only in that it possesses the maturing fruits or pods beneath the surface of the soil. Small yellow flowers are born at the joints where the leaves are attached to the stems. As soon as pollination occurs, the flowers fade and the "pegs," as they are commonly known, elongate and go into the soil, where the pods containing the nuts develop.

Alpha to Omega
With the recent eruption of the Paricutin volcano in Mexico scientists have, for the first time, an opportunity to study an active volcano from its beginning to its end. As Paricutin is the only volcano to be born in the last 200 years it provides one of the finest testing laboratories in vulcanology that modern science could hope for.

Good Layer
A hen which is laying well in the summer will have an abdomen soft and full, the "lay bones," or "pin bones" far apart. A cull, on the contrary, will have a shriveled, yellow vent and a shriveled, hard abdomen.

SOMETHING FOR THE BOYS

At the largest U. S. heavy bomber base in North Africa, fliers and ground crew members of the Army Air Forces are entertained by Martha Raye, screen and radio singer, one of the leading figures in the show world sent wherever American Boys are stationed, by USO-Camp Shows, a member agency of the National War Fund.

WILMOT.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Barrons entertained visitors from Flat Rock over the week end.

Mrs. Eula Herold of Pontiac spent Sunday with her father, Wm. Barrons, and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Parker.

Art Dailey of Pontiac was a caller in the vicinity Saturday.

Perry Ferguson and son, Marvin, of Detroit spent Friday at the Chas. Ferguson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Polworth are spending a few days at their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Lee Evans and children of Pontiac spent the week end here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ascroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller of Detroit were Sunday callers at the homes of Chas. Ferguson and Walter Kupea.
Cliff Roberts and son, Harold, and Joe Wagner of Detroit were hunters in this vicinity Friday and Saturday.

Kenneth Atfield moved the household goods of Mrs. Lucy Wilson to Royal Oak last Wednesday.

Frozen Meter
Exposure meters have gone to war, and can "take it." It is reported that an exposure meter which had been frozen in a solid cake of ice after the truck it was on had fallen from a bridge on the Alcan highway in Alaska operated perfectly when recovered and thawed out.

Visited China in 1844
U. S. marines visited China nearly a hundred years ago when a detachment of Leathernecks from the American vessel Brandywine guarded the American legation at Macao, near Hong Kong.

Hydrox a Sensible Animal
The hydrox, a small fur-bearing animal found in West Africa, is called sensible by the natives, because "it has so much sense the leopard can't catch it."

Grade of Mohair
Type and age of goats are the major factors determining the quality of mohair.

Two Vicious Killers, Cholera and Typhoid Stealthily cholera stalks your flock. Lashing out viciously death is left in its wake. Typhoid, more insidious, is as devastating as it is subtle. Beware! But be wise too. Vaccinate with Dr. SALS-BURY'S AVISEPTICUS-GALLINARUM BACTERIN (Cholera-Typhoid).

U. S. Stepping Stone to Tokyo; That's Amchitka, a Navy Base

Victory Parade

Navy forces on their way to Tokyo have landed forces on the Aleutian island of Amchitka, about 70 miles from the Japanese-held island of Kiska. Jap Zero planes vainly sought to dislodge our forces. During one foray U. S. navy gunners knocked all attacking Jap planes out of the sky. All attempts to bomb or strafe the navy landing party ceased shortly afterward, and since completion of a landing strip for U. S. fighter planes, Jap aircraft are rarely seen.

A machine gun crewman is silhouetted against the sun as he watches for Zeros. Note tents in background at right, which were set up on arrival.

The silent messenger pictured above enabled U. S. forces to slip in quietly. This blinker was the communication between ship and shore. Here a message is being read to the operator who blinks it in code to a ship in the harbor. Left: Although they were deep in mud at Amchitka, these enlisted men found baseball equipment in the first load of freight delivered there, but the mud-clear airfield was being used to strike out Japs.

Below: More gunners constantly watch for Zeros as laborer at right continues working.

Nurses Happy In Africa Army

This Is What We Wanted, They Say, and Quickly Adapt Themselves.

WITH THE FIFTH U. S. ARMY IN NORTH AFRICA.—The hot African sun poured down on the canvas roof and walls of the olive-green tent and on Lieut. Orpha Warner, who was washing some flimsy pink underthings in a pail of soapy water. She wiped the suds from her hands and brushed the damp black curls from her forehead. A drop of perspiration trickled down one cheek and there was a smudge on her nose. She grinned.

"It's not exactly like Wichita, Kan., is it?" she chuckled.

There wasn't much around to remind anyone of Wichita except, perhaps, the young American faces and the clothesline.

A few days ago this spot was just a wheatfield in French Morocco. Now there is a tent city housing the newest army evacuation hospital to move into North Africa—a bustling, busy place of doctors, nurses and enlisted men from all parts of the United States.

Glad to Get to Work.

Everyone was glad to get back to work after weeks of traveling across the Atlantic by boat and North Africa in motor convoy. The receiving tent was filled with soldiers waiting diagnosis of their ills. The doctors checked their equipment and supplies while the nurses prepared the wards and got their patients settled into beds.

Officers and nurses strode through the streets, shuffling up little clouds of dust with each step. They were far from the quiet, white hospital rooms with the familiar cloying odors of antiseptics and anesthetics but their jobs were the same.

"We like it here," Orpha Warner said simply. "This is what we all wanted—to get across and work with the army in the field. The experience has been wonderful and I never had such fun. Of course it all hasn't been peaches and cream, but none of us expected a soft job."

"That's true," agreed Marjorie Royal of Bloomington, Neb., "and the farther forward we get the better we like it."

Adapt Selves Quickly.

Sally Norcutt of Wendell, N. C., sat on a box hugging her knees. She nodded her dark head.

"You might not believe me," she said, "but we really enjoy living this way. We feel we are accomplishing something. This life isn't as hard as it appears to be here. Any of the girls at home would trade places with us."

The American nurses seem able to adapt themselves quickly to this pioneer existence. They receive no special dispensation because of their sex, nor do they ask for any.

Most of the nurses were together at Camp Crowder and formed close friendships before entering the foreign service. They live five in a tent, and mosquito-netted cots occupy almost all the space. The center tentpole resembles some strange tree sprouting garments of all kinds.

"The hardest part of this work," Lieutenant Warner said, "is doing our laundry in a two-bit bucket and trying to keep your hair decent looking. You don't have time to worry about clothes."

She looked down at her coveralls. "Still," she smiled, ruefully, "it would be wonderful to get into pretty clothes once in a while. I wonder how it will feel when we get home to get into a dinner dress again?"

Self Service Is Now Rule in London Hotels

LONDON.—Imagine walking into a residential hotel in London and being told that you couldn't have a room unless you made your own bed, dusted round the room a bit, or even helped out with the dishes. This happens now. It's all because of the servant shortage. Large portions of hotel service staffs now have essential jobs—serving in the armed forces or in factories on the home front. Hotel owners are solving the problem by getting their patrons to pitch in and do some of the work.

280 Hollanders Die in Penal Camps, Report Says

LONDON.—Dutch underground newspapers reaching here reported that 280 Dutch prisoners had died in German-operated penal camps in the last five months and said Netherlands judges threatened to stop sentencing criminals unless camp conditions improved.

Aneta, Dutch news agency, said the judges had demanded that the Ommen camp be closed or transferred from German to Dutch supervision.

813,000 War Homes Have Been Built Since 1940

WASHINGTON.—John B. Blendford Jr., national housing administrator, said that 813,000 housing units for war workers were built between July 1, 1940, and May, 1943, in a recent report.

At the end of April, he said, an additional 309,400 units were in varying states of construction. Of the units already completed, approximately 454,000 were privately financed.

HOLBROOK.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jackson spent Monday at the Clinton Mitchell home at Shabbona.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bouron and Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Bouron of Detroit spent the week end at the Ira Robinson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shubel, Orrin Codling and Chas. Barnish of Detroit spent the week end at the Edgar Jackson home.

Lee C. McManus, Dick LaBlance of Detroit, W. I. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rienstra of Cass City ate dinner Friday at the Loren Trathen home. The day was spent in hunting pheasants.

Melbourne Rienstra is spending the week with his grandmother, Mrs. Loren Trathen.

The W. S. C. S. of the M. E. Church are having a chicken supper Nov. 4 at the Holbrook Community Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jackson entertained over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whiteford and Clifford Gracey and family of Detroit.

Rabbit Meat Nutritious

Rabbits produce a fine-grained, nutritious meat quickly and economically. They require only 90 days to reach eating size and only 4 1/2 pounds of feed are needed during this period to produce one pound of live weight. Older and heavier rabbits (those beyond fryer age) are excellent for a fricassee or roast.

GREENLEAF.

Miss Hilda Angerer of Flint was a week-end guest of Mrs. Henry McLellan.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Sinclair were Sunday visitors at the R. Thorpe home.

Nearly all of the homes had hunting guests the first two or three days of the bird season.

Oswald See, Lorraine See and Mr. Gilpin of Pontiac were at the C. Robin home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Neimstedt and Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Reynolds of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wagner and son of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. George Wagner of Harbor Beach spent the week end at the W. J. Ballagh home.

Rally Day was observed in the Fraser Presbyterian Church of Greenleaf last Sunday. A program of recitations and music was presented by the pupils of the Sunday School. Musical numbers were also rendered by young ladies from the Uby Presbyterian Church. A large congregation attended the exercises which were held at 11:30 a. m.

Church Supper.

The Ladies' Aid of the Fraser Presbyterian Church at Old Greenleaf will have a supper for the benefit of the church, in the church basement on Tuesday, Oct. 26. Supper will be served from 5:30 until all are served. Everybody come. Prices, 75c and 30c.—Advertisement.
