Prospect of Hot Fire Is Averted

Flames from a burning electric motor shooting up around tanks of the Associated Oil Co.'s station here, with gasoline pouring into the tanks, presented a serious appearance for a real hot fire Thursday morning. Fortunately this was averted by the fire department. Robt. Warner, station manager, has been incapacitated with a broken wrist and had not arrived at the station shortly before eight o'clock, when the fire started. A new driver, unaccustomed to the tank valves, was filling the tanks at the time. A "short" in wiring is blamed for the trouble.

Moons Observe Their 50th Anniversary

(From Oxford Leader.)

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Moon, 1425 Lapeer Road, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the home of the latter's brother, L. G. Huff, and wife, who reside on the old homestead where the wedding dinner was served 50 years ago on March 14, 1894.

Mr. Moon was born in Flint on January 1, 1867. Mrs. Moon, the former Clara Huff, was born in Ortonville Nov. 20, 1871. They are the parents of two sons, Earl, who resides on their farm near Cass City, and George, of Detroit, who celebrated his 25th anniversary Mar. 6 with the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. "A" Gas Coupons Are Still Good for Three Gallons

Series of Coupons Must Last Three Months Instead of Two.

While "A" gasoline ration of motorists have been cut to two gallons a week, this does not mean that coupon values themselves have been cut, the Saginaw district Office of Price Administration warns in an effort to clear up what appears a general misunderstanding.

"A" ration coupons will continue at a valuation of three gallons each. However, coupons of a series will have to last for three months instead of two. The "A-1" which became valid Mar. 21, for example, will have to last for three months instead of two as originally scheduled.

Farmers who will need gasoline rations for spring plowing with tractors should make immediate application to avoid delays in issuance.

Rotary Club Renews Boy Scout Sponsorship

Club Members to Serve as "Big Brothers" of Service Men's Children.

Children whose fathers are called into the Service may have "big brothers" in the person of Rotarians. It was decided at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday at the Baptist church. Suggested by W. L. Mann, the proposal was heartily endorsed by members and President Keith McConkey was asked to name a committee to supervise such a project. Mr. McConkey will announce the committee at the club meeting next Tuesday and also the names of the club's nominating committee whose duty it will be to suggest the names of club officials for the year starting July 1.

Frederick Pinney, a member of the Boy Scout committee, called attention to the fact that Rotarians sponsored the Scout organization here five years ago and suggested a renewal of the sponsorship this year. The club acted favorably on Mr. Pinney's suggestion. He stated that the troop is complete with four patrols of eight members each and troop reports are the best possible. Scouts, Mr. Pinney stated, are receiving fine support from Gavel club members.

Program Chairman L. I. Wood introduced R. M. Riley, one of the promoters of a food locker plant at Cass City, as the luncheon speaker. Mr. Riley told of the three stages of refrigeration—the cutting and wrapping of meat and placing it in the chill room, the sharp freezing at 20 degrees below zero which preserves the moisture in the meat, and the placing of the food into the individual lockers at the plant. Mr. Riley answered various questions of club members regarding refrigeration and food lockers.

Schwegler Five Still Hold No. 1 Position in Bowling League

Two teams, Schwegler's and M. Auten's, continue to hold the No. 1 and 2 spots at the head of the league, with Schwegler's team getting a real break in their three game series against "Chuck" Auten's pinsters and winning all three games, which keeps them out in front.

Only one member, Leonard Damm, of the C. Auten group, put in an appearance on Thursday evening to uphold the laurels of his team against the ever alert Schweglerites, while the balance of his team forgot their bowling for the moment in the busy whirl of the recent basketball tournament, yet much credit is due the Schwegler team as they continued to pound out a neat three game total of 2426 pins which is over average and makes them now real contenders for top honors with but six games left to be bowled.

M. Auten's second place team were somewhat disappointed in

Kathleen Norris Says:

Is It Love or Restlessness?
Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

He gave abstracted, sympathetic attention to Helen and the needs of his forlorn brood.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE Millers have one son, Quentin, aged 22. When Quentin was drafted into the army the Millers' hearts broke; they wept, they told their agonized fears to everyone; they might have been the only parents of the only boy who ever was drawn into a war.

Quentin was sent to Maine; presently had two weeks leave. The Millers went to Boston from California at a cost of about a thousand dollars and Quentin came down there and they had ten days together. They saw shows and movies and went to restaurant dinners; Quentin was bored, of course, for he knew no girls of his own age and had no friends in Boston. The Miller parents were bored, too; they couldn't talk camp all the time, prices staggered them, they missed the comfortableness of home and the nearness of friends.

On the train coming home they had a section in a packed car. The chairs in the lounge and club car were rented to weary soldiers. The dressing rooms were cluttered with women filling nursing bottles and setting their hair and even sleeping on the floor. Two meals a day were served, but not to the Millers, for they couldn't get near the dining room. Once they bought some sandwiches and once a box of crackers. At Omaha they managed to get some coffee.

Traveling with them were many soldiers and many women. The soldiers had some reason to be there; the women none. No, the women had neither reason nor right to be there, any more than the Millers had.

Crowds of Sentimental Travelers.
Most of these women were bound on sentimental journeys, as the Millers were. Spurred by the unanswerable thought; "I may not see him again," they were trailing their warriors to the camps, air fields, docks, railway centers. They were making of their emotional crises an excuse to clutter up the travel resources of the entire nation; prevent service men from making necessary journeys; complicate everything for every official along the whole way.

One of these traveling wives landed in a western town a few days ago; I talked to her. She was a weak, pretty creature of about 30; she had come from a town in Iowa, "to see Harry. He's going overseas, I haven't seen him since June and this is September, and of course the children and I may not ever see him again," she said. The children were small, pale boys of five and three, and a baby girl of seven months. All three were dirty, bewildered, hungry, hot, uncomfortable beyond any dream of child torture. They had sat up nights, they had gone without food, they hadn't had baths or quiet beds for a week. They had seen their mother crying and frightened and lost more than once. They had no place to go; anything like provision for her visit, or arrangements, or reservations hadn't ever entered Helen's head. She didn't know how they were to get back to Iowa; she was running out of money.

Well, Harry did come up from San Diego, and she saw him for 24 hours. He was absorbed in his great adventure; interested in nothing but his fellow soldiers, his orders, his regiment, his trip. But he gave abstracted, sympathetic attention to Helen and the needs of his forlorn little brood. Charity was called in;

VISITING SOLDIERS AT BUSY CAMPS

Wives who travel via crowded trains to busy army camps to visit their soldier husbands are not displaying true devotion, according to Kathleen Norris. It is not fair to children to carry them on stuffy, overloaded trains that are needed for military men. Meals will not be regular, sleep is lost, and after a long dusty trip, only the dingiest of lodging facilities are usually available. Also, visiting wives and children complicate matters for a busy soldier. He probably would appreciate a long letter much more.

Helen, dirty, tired, all but penniless, smiled appealingly at charity's agent. "I had to see Harry," she said simply. "He mightn't come home."

Trouble for Busy Soldier.

Harry was embarrassed and apologetic. After all, he wasn't in the begging class, and here were four human beings, belonging to him, asking for food, beds, baths, shelter. Crowded temporary quarters were found somehow for the children, although soldiers at that time were sleeping on the marble floors of hotels and Helen sat up all night in an armchair. Harry called the next day; anxious, ashamed, and annoyed. Yes, annoyed. He knew that women and babies have no right to be on trains in wartime, and his last impression of his family was that of an exhausted wife, who had barely enough money to get home, even if all train and bus connections were made promptly, and of three crying, dragged, miserable children.

Now, the railways make other regulations to which we all have to bow. Why don't they make one more? Why don't they prohibit the conveyance of small children for the duration, except of course in cases where families are moving to other jobs or making permanent changes? Thousands of wives, bored by the lonesomeness and dullness of wartime living, get the sudden notion to take the boys and go to Bill's camp and just see him. It isn't devotion, for it gives Bill only an anxious, self-conscious and uncomfortable sort of pleasure at best, if indeed it gives him pleasure at all. Visiting wives and parents complicate matters terribly; there's a war on. Bill is involved in it, and the things of home seem very far away. Nine times out of ten Bill would much more appreciate a long, cheerful letter, accompanied by cigarettes, books, snap-shots or candy.

Family at Camp a Problem.

"Hello, darling, Buster and I had to come to see our Daddy!" says Mabel, all freshened up in a comfort station, suddenly appearing in all the excitement of camp. She is fascinated by everything, but Bill, shouldering Buster, doesn't see it all in the same glamorous light.
"Where are you staying, dear?"
"Well, we don't know. We thought we'd have lunch in the cafeteria, and then find some nice quiet place for Buster's nap. He's fretful because the train was so hot."

Bill reflects that the major's wife, after a three weeks' hunt, has just found four rooms over a garage and is thankfully paying two hundred a month for them.

"Don't you think you've got a smart little wife to come 17 hundred miles in this heat to see you?" Mabel asks happily, walking along beside him.
And what can Bill say but "yes"?

GALL BLADDER

If an individual does considerable belching, has occasional sharp pains in upper right hand side of abdomen, and at times his skin shows a yellow tinge, his, or more often her, physician suspects liver and gall bladder disturbance. He may have tests made of the ability of the liver to filter out poisons or harmful substances from the blood, and an X-ray of the gall bladder to show its shape, presence of stones, and ability to empty its bile into the small intestine.

The liver is the largest organ in the body and can lose many of its cells and be damaged to a considerable extent without endangering the life of the individual.

The gall bladder which holds about two ounces of concentrated bile can be distended so that it holds almost a pint of bile diluted with a saline or salt solution.

Generally speaking, as practically two of every three middle-aged or elderly individuals have some disturbance of liver and gall bladder, the need for operation of any kind does not include a large percentage of this number. It is severe pain in the region of the gall bladder, or the intense pain of gall stone colic, caused by a gall stone trying to pass through a small tube or duct, that calls for consideration as to the need for operation.

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. L. C. McCabe, Windsor, Ontario, states:

"While I would urge most emphatically the importance of operating early in the course of chronic gall bladder disease, I should like to sound a warning against operating for 'indefinite' symptoms. The individual who has flatulent dyspepsia (indigestion with much gas formation) but gives no history of gall stone colic, or of any attack of pain that might be an acutely obstructed gall bladder, and gives no history of jaundice, is better carried along by medical treatment, not surgery. Even if his gall bladder does not empty or fill completely as shown by X-rays, I would let him go on belching and perform no operation. The belching will rarely be changed by removal of gall bladder because this belching is usually due to over-eating, over-drinking, or to emotional disturbances."

The thought then is that belching and pain in the region of the gall bladder should be investigated.

Emotional Factor in Rheumatic Children

Rheumatism receives intensive study in Great Britain because such a large percentage of the population is afflicted. Although the damp climate has much to do with causing and aggravating the symptoms of rheumatism, British physicians give perhaps more thought to the "nervous" or emotional factor in rheumatism than we do here. Of course, all physicians are aware of this factor and of the relation of that nervous ailment chorea (St. Vitus' Dance) to rheumatism.

In the British Medical Journal, Dr. D. Hubble states that there are two parts to the rheumatic state in childhood—nervousness and infection. Both are present in differing amounts so that it may be impossible in one child to distinguish any nervous instability (or lack of nervous balance) or in another to detect any evidence of infection. In one the emotional factor is most pronounced and infection apparently not present or occurs after the emotional factor is apparently entirely absent.

As to "growing pains," Dr. Hubble points out that these pains result not from growth of the body but because of some difficulty attending the growth of the personality of the individual, and it is easier to find evidence of nervous instability than of infection in these cases.

Although many physicians believe that infection is present first and causes the rheumatism with emotional instability following, Dr. Hubble states that there is more evidence to prove that the emotional or nervous excitability occurs before infection and "probably even prepares the ground for the infection."

How can these symptoms be treated? This is done by removing the stresses of the child's home and school life, and by adjusting him to the surroundings best suited to his personality.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Is surgery commonly resorted to in correction of defective eye muscles?
A.—Surgery is commonly resorted to if other methods—exercise, prisms—fail, as they often do.

Q.—Can I get into any branch of the service with a perforated ear drum?
A.—The perforated ear drum would likely prevent you joining an overseas unit, but home service would be all right.

Vent Radiators
Don't neglect to vent radiators of hot water heating plants occasionally. Remember that if the radiator is full of air, it can't be full of hot water or steam, and you won't get the heat which the combustion of fuel is putting into the water.

Basis for Gelatine Salads
Canned grapefruit juice is a good basis for gelatine salads and desserts. It can go into sauces for steamed and baked puddings and can be used in fruit whips or made into a fruit ice that is equally delicious as an accompaniment to the meat or dessert course.

Obsolete Valves

Don't neglect to have worn out or obsolete air valves replaced on radiators of steam heating plants. Poor air valves are one of the most common causes of complaints about poor heating. It is a complaint that can be avoided if air valves are checked by a heating contractor once a year.

It Takes a Week to Get In but Only Half Hour to Leave University

It takes a busy week for a new student to get into the University of Michigan, but it takes just half an hour to get out. Speed is especially necessary if the boy is leaving to join the army or navy. Such was the case of William DeYoung of Bay City, who received word to report in Detroit for the Navy. Like DeYoung, more than 1,000 young men have appeared at the Office of Assistant Dean A. E. Walter with their induction orders.

DeYoung, '45, and Dean Walter

Before the last goodbyes, Dean Walter gives each man a small yellow card, showing he has been enrolled in the University and has withdrawn to enter the armed services.

On the back of the card is a short farewell from President Ruthven which says: "The President and Faculty of the University of Michigan express to you, as one who has left his studies to join our armed forces, their honest pride in what you are doing, and their best wishes for your success and well-being. They earnestly hope that when the victory is won you may return to the University to complete the work you had planned to accomplish."

"The last thing I always do," said the Dean, "is to shake hands with the boy and wish him luck. True, it's a formality, but I really mean it," he said.

Indians Give Grave Diggers Grave Headache

Indians and their burying habits are most annoying.

Dr. James B. Griffin, Associate Curator of Anthropology at the University of Michigan, has just published a book, "The Fort Ancient Aspect." In it he describes the archeological research he has been conducting in the Mississippi Valley.

Dr. Griffin discovered that the Indians who occupied the area shortly before the coming of the white man had an annoying habit. Instead of digging usual graves for their dead, they dug holes in the side of already existing mounds and shoved the bodies in.

There the complications began. The mounds were the work of a much older Indian people who placed their dead in rows and piled small hills of dirt over them.

The archeologists' headaches begin when they try to figure out which burials were the shovels and which the laid out variety.

Three Generals, One Admiral in One Class

The Class of 1916 at the University of Michigan boasts of three brigadier generals and one rear admiral.

Brigadier General Theron D. (Ted) Weaver, Brigadier General Benjamin Caffey, and Brigadier General John York, all were graduated from the University in 1916.

In the Navy is Rear Admiral Carl Cotter of the Navy Engineering Corps. He has charge of naval construction on the west coast including Hawaii and the South Pacific.

"BETTER CARE—LESS REPAIR"

because repairmen and materials HAVE GONE TO WAR!

What are your electric appliances made of? Copper, steel, brass, zinc, aluminum, nickel, rubber . . . materials vital to war production, needed to make weapons for our fighting men. These materials have gone to war. That is why repair parts for many home appliances are not now available.

The man who used to fix your washer or refrigerator may now be repairing tanks on the battlefield. The man who serviced your radio may be repairing a "walkie-talkie" under fire. Your neighborhood "handyman" may be working on airplane engines in Britain or the South Seas.

So take good care of your household electric appliances. They must last until Victory. You may not be able to get them repaired. Today your ELECTRIC servants are often the only kind available. Treat them considerably!

Tuscola 4-H Club to Have Spring Hog Show Next Tuesday

Between 50 and 60 finished fat hogs will be shown and sold by Tuscola County 4-H club members and boys of the Vassar F. F. A. chapter at their spring hog show and auction sale to be held at the Caro Auction yards Tuesday, Mar. 28. Vern Freeman, swine specialist from Michigan State college, and state 4-H club leader, will judge the hogs beginning at ten o'clock. A showmanship contest will follow the judging, giving the members an opportunity to display their knowledge and ability in driving hogs and showing them to their best advantage. Special ribbons will be awarded the two best showmen. An auction sale of all project animals will be held promptly at two o'clock just preceding the regular livestock auction at the yards.

Members enrolled in the project this past winter include: Loren Brady, Unionville; Ralph Cramer, Fairgrove; Ed Karr, Don Karr, Marjorie Karr, Ed Golding, Beatrice McIntosh, Don Silson, Gerald Silson, Jack Ryland, Cass City; Jerry Davis, Max Eskelson, Lynn Allen, Marvin Gohsman, Reid Hall, Neil Hess, Bob Gunnell, Laurel Davis, Vassar; Don Keinath, Reese.

"We are proud of our young people in the way they have carried through this feeding project," said Ben Westrate, district club agent. This pig feeding project is primarily a concentrated food production effort and this show and sale will be the third time in less than one year that club members have pooled their production efforts and sent them to market in this way. These members alone have increased the nation's supply of pork by approximately 42,000 pounds in less than one year. Last fall when little feeder pigs were a drug on the market and almost worthless, because feed was scarce and high priced, and the price of hogs down to the government support price, prospects for pig feeding were not too encouraging. Club members and the Vassar F. F. A. boys talked things over with their leaders and decided that through careful management and efficient care and feeding they could still carry the pig feeding project as a worthwhile venture. The results of their efforts will be on display next Tuesday and promises to be the largest fat hog show of this kind they have had. There also may be a few hogs shown and sold by the 4-H club members from Lapeer county.

Replace Valves
When an air valve fails it should be replaced not only because the radiator heats slowly or remains cold, regardless of boiler pressure, but also because the defective valve may permit the escape of live steam into a room. In either case, there is a hazard to health and comfort as well as a waste of fuel.

With the Boys in the Service

Pvt. Clifton Witkovsky of Caro, the husband of Mrs. Julie Witkovsky, has been transferred to a camp in Pennsylvania for waiting orders.

Lt. Harry J. Keenoy of Ahilene, Texas, spent from Sunday until Tuesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keenoy. Lt. Keenoy is an instructor in the 60th Batt. Medical corps. Mrs. Harry Keenoy came with him as far as Detroit where she visited her parents.

In a telephone call to his parents Saturday evening Chester Muntz who was inducted into the army Monday, March 13, told his parents that the group with whom he went to Fort Sheridan, Ill., had left for other camps. He was still at Fort Sheridan and assisting in the postal department there.

Seaman Second Class John Paul Guc arrived Saturday from Great Lakes Naval Station, Chicago, Ill. He has a 14-day leave and is spending it with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, here and with his brother, Stephen Guc, of Ypsilanti and sister, Mrs. Julie Witkovsky, of Trenton, N. J.

Mrs. John E. Gruber had word from her brother, S-Sgt. W. H. Gunther, that he moved from Paris, Island, South Carolina, to California. His new address is S-Sgt. W. H. Gunther, E. Co., 2nd Bn., 27th Marine, Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, California. He writes he likes it very much out there.

A-S Stanley P. Kirm, Jr., who returned last week to the Naval Training station at Great Lakes, Ill., telephoned his parents Sunday from Naperville, Ill. He was on 35 hours' leave and visited friends in Naperville. Wednesday of this week, Stanley was to begin training as an electrician at Fort Morehead, Kentucky.

One of the leaders of a class recently graduated from the Naval College for Primary Flight Instructors at New Orleans, La., was Ensign Edward J. Vaden of Snover. The ensign was commended highly for his fine record by Commander Paul E. Gillespie, commanding officer at that station, who presented him with his certificate as a primary flight instructor. The Naval aviator, son of Mr. Clara Vaden of Snover, will instruct primary flight students at the Naval Air station at Minneapolis, Minn.

Staff Sgt. Warren E. Moore, of Charlotte, nephew of Simeon Moore of Novesta township, who has often visited his uncle, here, was cited for air raid bravery recently.

The following article regarding the honor is taken from the State Journal at Lansing:

"A citation from the headquarters of the Eighth air force, by command of Maj. Gen. James Doolittle, has been received, revealing award of the silver star to Staff Sgt. Warren E. Moore of Charlotte, for gallantry in action while serving as a waist gunner on a B-24 bomber on a bombing mission over Germany Nov. 13, 1943.

"Just after the bombing run, according to the citation, Sgt. Moore was seriously wounded when his aircraft was attacked by a large number of enemy fighters. Though unable to use his left arm and suffering severe pain, Sergeant Moore remained at his gun position, fighting off persistent, savage attacks. The gallantry, skill and utter disregard for his own safety displayed by him materially aided in the safe return of the aircraft and reflected highest credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States the citation states.

"Sergeant Moore is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moore, 428 Hall street, Charlotte."

In a letter to his aunt, dated Feb. 3, Orville Mallory, who is located somewhere in Persia, says:

"I am writing you this letter today for only one reason. I am hoping you will see that it is printed in some magazine or paper where a few more people can read it and find out what I and a few more million service men think about the bill they are trying to pass so they can draft the women of our nation.

"It seems they are trying to draft the women at the age of 20 to 30 without dependents. What gets me is that most of these women are married and when we fellows came into the army, navy and other branches of the service these women were classed as our dependents. What has happened to change that? It seems to me they would be just as dependent on us as they ever were if not a little more so!

"It used to be that men were the protectors of the home. What is the matter? Have we done such a poor job of it that it is now up to the women?"

"The thing that worries us most is the fact that none of us care to see our wife, sweetheart or sister in uniform. Another thing is that when we come home we want them to be the same as when we left and if we put them in the service they won't be.

"If the people of our nation allow this thing to happen they sure aren't backing the soldier at the front very well, because if this is allowed to happen, his morale will be at an all-time low."

Orville is with the Persian Gulf Command at Iran. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mallory of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hiller of Greenleaf township, received a V-mail letter a few days ago from their son, Pfc. Floyd Hiller, who is now stationed in Africa. It is the first message received from him by his parents since he left for overseas, except a notice of his safe arrival. He said in part:

"My letters are far between now, even forgot when I wrote last. I haven't had mail for a month and won't get any for awhile yet but maybe you'll get this one.

"Been on the rails again and saw a bit of Africa, some of which is very interesting. A lot of it would compare to what you had 40 years ago but a few of the buildings do look modern.

"The weather has turned rather damp here so it isn't quite as nice as at first but still not cold. I suppose the frost will be all gone by the time you get this. Hit good conditions for a change—electric lights, a barracks and good cots to sleep on. There's not much variety for 'chow' but well cooked and lots of it. I'm getting fat now with traveling and no exercise, but it won't hurt me.

"Things at the P. X. are rationed here but we get enough of most everything. Milk and things like that are out of the question so I may get weaned at last. The mess hall gets canned or powdered milk but not a lot. V-mail is also rationed at this place but not other mail."

The following paragraphs are taken from a letter received by the Hillers from their son written previous to the above letter but received later. It is also sent from North Africa.

"From what little I've seen of this place, it isn't much. The climate is similar to Florida and the land compares to Grayling, Mich., with no (at least very few) trees or bushes. The rock is close to the surface which may be the reason for poor farms.

"The weather has been wonderful during all the trip and so far here. Had one shower on the trip but no bad storm. No sign of frost or snow here."

Milkweed Prospects
The potential uses of milkweed reach into the scores. The fiber from the stems contains quantities of cellulose which can be used in paper making, in the manufacture of wall-board, rayon and even in explosives. The seeds which accumulate at the rate of two pounds for every pound of floss, contain a relatively high percentage of oil which can be used as a drying agent in paints and varnishes.

Tree Growth
After trees have been growing three or four years, attention should be directed to pruning and encouraging the desired form of growth. They should not be pruned, however, until after the third growing season because of the danger of producing tall spindly trees that are easily bent and broken by strong winds.

Buried in Japan
Private Williams, U. S. M. C., was the first American military man buried in Japanese soil. Private Williams served with Commodore Perry and died in 1854.

How a home-town friend of Governor Murray D. VanWagoner happened to become the press secretary for Governor Harry F. Kelly is one of those stories that indicate the changed attitude of Michigan state officials at Lansing.

Maybe the civil service amendment to the state constitution had something to do with this newly arrived recognition of merit.

Or perhaps it merely reflected the thinking of Governor Kelly who, as everyone knows, is no starry-eyed dreamer in the world of politics. Did not Kelly appoint Dr. William DeKleine to be commissioner of the state department of health without knowledge of the doctor's personal political beliefs? So insists the governor's office which ought to know.

Michigan state government has traveled far. Such non-political appointments would have been the height of heresy 20 years ago. As we view the capital parade, the modern trend is all to the good.

Ted Hayhow was the best city editor the Pontiac Daily Press ever had.

He was a quiet chap who had a way of getting things done with a minimum of noise and fuss. He never waved his arms, shouted instructions to reporters, or lost his temper. His mind, always cool and collected, handled the day's "grind" with ease and efficiency.

Late in the afternoon he would slide into his car, drive out to an 80-acre farm near Davisburg where

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1943
Regular October Session of Tuscola County Board of Supervisors continued and held at the Court House in the Village of Caro on Wednesday, the 27th day of October, 1943.
Meeting called to order by Chairman Ross.
Clark called the roll, all Supervisors responding except Supervisor Schott.
Minutes of Tuesday's Session accepted as read.
Supervisor Mueller reported for Committee on Roads and Bridges as follows: Mr. Chairman, Hon. Board of Supervisors, Gentlemen: Your Committee on Roads and Bridges to whom was referred the matter of supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in Tuscola County, has the honor to submit the following report and recommendation:
A short time ago the Hon. Charles M. Ziegler, State Highway Commissioner of Michigan, inspected State Trunkline Highways, also County and Township Roads in Tuscola County, with the Tuscola County Road Commission.
After the inspection trip, Mr. Ziegler attended a meeting of the Tuscola County Road Commission at which road matters, especially supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in Tuscola County and Michigan was the main issue.
Mr. Ziegler stated that forty-three (43) county road commissions throughout the State have entered into contract with the State Highway Department for supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in their respective counties.
Mr. Ziegler also made a proposition to the Tuscola County Road Commission whereby the County Road Commission would assume supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in Tuscola County. He stated that the State Highway Department would meet the approval of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors.
He further stated that the State Highway Department will sell all or any part of road equipment now in the possession of the State Highway Department in Tuscola County, to the Tuscola County Road Commission at very reasonable prices and liberal terms.
This matter was brought to your attention in report to your Honorable Board by the Tuscola County Road Commission, for your consideration, approval or rejection. After a lengthy discussion on Roads and Bridges for investigation and recommendation.
We fully appreciate that supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in Tuscola County by the State Highway Department in recent years was managed in an efficient and capable manner, to the general satisfaction of the people of Tuscola County.
We believe that the Tuscola County Road Commission can and will give the people of Tuscola County capable, efficient and satisfactory, possibly improved service, if authorized by your Board to enter into contract with the State Highway Department for supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in Tuscola County, in connection with county and township roads.
We believe that supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways by the Tuscola County Road Commission will be advantageous from a financial standpoint, and to the best interests of the people of Tuscola County.
Therefore, we recommend that the Tuscola County Road Commission be authorized, and are hereby authorized to enter into a contract with the State Highway Department for the supervision and maintenance of State Trunkline Highways in Tuscola County.
All of which is respectfully submitted,

Bituminous Firing
Slots in the firing door should be left open following a firing of bituminous coal to provide air to insure burning of the combustible gases. Later, when the fuel is coked and the gases are all driven off, these slots can be nearly closed so that excessive cold air is not drawn into the furnace. A good rule is to leave the door slots open whenever smoke can be seen in the furnace and nearly closed at all other times.
Larger Cows
The present tendency is to keep larger cows. Production records of large numbers of cows indicate that the larger cows return the greater profit. It may be desirable to have the length of the stall platform greater at one end of the stable than at the other, to comfortably accommodate cows of different sizes.
Big Fish
The paichee fish, reaching a length of from 12 to 15 feet, and weighing up to 500 pounds, was once so plentiful that fishermen from one small village could count a 2 weeks' catch by the thousand. Unrestricted fishing has almost depleted the rivers.
Coconut Casualty
As Pvt. Ernest M. Scofield of Denver, Colo., huddled in a foxhole in the Solomons, a stray bullet dislodged a coconut from a tree. The coconut landed kerplunk on Private Scofield, breaking his left leg.

When the War Is Over. That much yearned for, almost legendary, day will mark a new era for transportation, as it will for everything else. And our railroads will be ready. We have plans for that day—plans that are realistic, forward looking, surprisingly progressive. Michigan's railroads will join in the great change ahead. They are picturing a future of improved plants, changed equipment, faster schedules, more efficient operation of both freight and passenger services. The railroads have learned many things during this war period. America will benefit from this new "know how" in the days to come. "When the war is over" America will move at an increased tempo. But no matter how much faster life will be, or how much greater will be the demands upon transportation, the railroads will be in the forefront, carrying the bulk of America's increased and accelerated passenger and freight traffic, and doing it with smoothness and efficiency. Aviation Advances
A striking illustration of the development of aviation since 1903, when the Wright brothers made their first successful flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., may be seen in the fact that the distance covered in this first hop was shorter than the wingspread of the Douglas B-19, currently the world's largest bomber.
Pink Bollworm
The United States is the only big cotton country not generally affected by the pink bollworm, an insect capable of doing as much damage, if not more, than the boll weevil.
Biggest Amazon Species
The paichee, or pirarucu, one of the largest fresh water fishes in the world, and the largest Amazon species, is now being raised commercially on a Peruvian fish farm.

he resided with his wife and two children, and take care of the chickens, pigs, cow or two, together with other general farm chores. And, now and then, he would find time to do some concentrating fishing for bass in his 12-acre private lake.

We met Ted for the first time, a number of years ago, when C. W. Lucas, press secretary for Highway Commissioner Van Wagoner, organized a bus safari to Houghton for an Upper Peninsula highway conference. Lucas, a Harbor Springs boy, was an alumnus of the Pontiac Daily Press; previously to that he had reported for Elmer Hannah's Harbor Springs Graphic. Ted was invited to join the group, a friendly gesture from "Luke" to a newspaperman whom he liked. "Luke" had a way of remembering his friends; today he is top-flight public relations executive, assistant to Manfred Burleigh, president of the Great Lakes Greyhound lines.

But to return to Governor Kelly's press secretary.

One spring day, after serving 15 years as a city editor, Hayhow glanced up at the blue sky and decided it was time to quit. His youngsters were growing up. He wanted more time to enjoy his home, his farm—and also that bass-stocked lake.

Harold Fitzgerald, publisher, and Conrad Church, managing editor, received the unexpected decision like a thunderbolt on a cloudless day. No, Ted wasn't dissatisfied. He just wanted to be his own boss—free of any newspaper desk with its exacting responsibilities—yes, that was it.

Life on the farm led to another venture—running an old-fashioned country store at Davisburg. His miniature Wanamaker emporium contained everything to automobile hub caps, with a coal business and lumber yard thrown in for good measure. The gross one year was close to $30,000.

Somewhere in the rush of doing unimportant things at Lansing, we lost track of Ted until we read the news, late in 1942, that he had been named assistant secretary of the state safety commission. We read between the lines—"Luke", the governor's press secretary, was still remembering his friends. It turned out that Hayhow had injured a foot while cutting hay; thought a desk job would be fine if he didn't have to "play" politics.

When the genial Van Wagoner turned over the executive offices to Harry Kelly, the newsmen at the press room wondered what "Luke" was going to do. He had been accepted as being both an efficient newspaperman and a loyal Democrat. Governor Kelly gave no inkling of any disposition to replace him, and finally Lucas resigned on his own free will and rejoined the highway staff. His new title, as we remember it, was "Director of War Activities", but everyone knew the duties were the same—getting information to the public.

When the governor's office finally got around to settling on the vacancy, after Pete Miller of Plymouth had done some pinch-hitting, the announcement was made that Ted Hayhow was to get the assignment, a $500-per-month position with increasing compensation under civil service tenure. It was a long jump from country farmer and proprietor of the Davisburg general store!

Ted took over, cool as ever, never batting an eye.

Following the rush of the 1944 special session, Governor Kelly took Ted with him to the Upper Peninsula. At the office of an Ironwood newspaper, Ted confided: "I am working for the hardest working governor the state has ever had. Although I live in the same town as a former governor, my boss has never asked me whether I am a Democrat or a Republican. He works so hard that at the end of the day I am all worn out trying to follow him."

The governor's day is a task in itself. He arrives usually at the office about 9:30 a. m. Press conference is at 10. Engagements and business make the lunch hour very indefinite, the governor going to lunch anytime from 1 to 2:30 p. m.—no two days being the same. The entire executive staff—John ("Pat") Aarons, executive secretary; Elmer Hannah, administrative assistant who owns a country newspaper at Harbor Springs; Arlon Ley, office manager, and the others—make it a practice to wait for the governor before going to lunch.

The governor's afternoon is filled with conferences, usually lasting to 6:30. A recent session dealt with Michigan's potato surplus and how consumers might be encouraged to purchase more Michigan potatoes.

Agricultural Commissioner Charles Figy and potato growers wanted the governor to help. Of course, he would be glad to do what he could. Then, several nights a week, the governor and some members of his staff will return at approximately 7:30 o'clock; the "day" is over at midnight or later.

Currently, we might confide, the office staff is conspiring to induce the governor to slow down a bit, for his pace is severe and, if maintained, would undermine inevitably even a strong man's physical vitality and rugged health.

Why did Governor Kelly appoint Ted to be his press secretary?

Well, figure it out for yourself. Not because Ted was a Republican or a Democrat. The governor has never asked Ted about it, and Conrad Church, Ted's boss at the Pontiac Daily Press, doesn't know either. As a matter of fact, as Church puts it, "I never thought to ask him." Which probably goes, too, for Governor Kelly.

JUNIOR CLASS TO PRESENT COMEDY HERE NEXT MONTH

making money—the scooter. Nobody agrees with her, but that does not stop Pat, who has the makings of a field general. She organizes her family, friends, and finally most of the inhabitants of the county in trying to prove her point. Buffalo-traps, trick mail-boxes, amazingly different straightjackets—all the offspring of Mr. Beaumont's inventive brain—are unearthed and scattered along the path that leads to the all-important objective, the first scooter. Ralph, a cherubic cynic of 18, who is unfortunate enough to live next door, and who is interested in Pat but not in scooters, finds himself risking life, limb and reputation in Pat's campaign.

Mildred Beaumont, a conservative older sister, is made to do some extremely unconservative things. Brother Bill and his girl friend, Rosemary, find the delicate bloom of their young love very indelicately used as a tool by Pat. The fact that Rosemary's father, Mr. Preston, is head of a toy manufacturing company which Pat is set upon exposing lends a Capulet-Montague twist to the play's ever-growing complications. Preston's stenographer—Miss Scott—and a suave man of mystery—Mr. Gerald—are added to the mesh of plot and counter-plot. Finally a newspaper ad promising a reward for the return of the original scooter model brings results out of all proportion to expectations. Among other things it brings The Law. When the situation has reached a point at which off-stage screams are coolly ignored as part of the daily grind at the Beaumonts', help arrives in an unexpected way; and Pat is made to realize that though she was wrong, she was right too. No, the audience will not see a street car on the stage of this extremely active and amusing farce. There is one—sure—but, as the title says, it's up in the attic; and, fortunately, the entire action of the play takes place in the Beaumont living room.

There's a chance you will buy a week's supply of fresh milk at the grocery store one of these days in a package of milk cubes. Now being experimented with, the cubes are dry, wrapped, and can be kept several weeks in a refrigerator. You'll simply drop a cube in a glass of water and have fresh, whole milk with no "condensed" taste.

their match against the Quick tail-enders and were able to win but two out of their three games. Capt. Auten's overconfidence in his team's ability probably cost them their opening game, which the Quick group won by 33 pins. The last two games saw M. B. hitting his old stride and he chalked up a couple of 200 games to his credit to give him a 588 pin count for the evening.

Parsch's team with a little more luck should have won all three of their games from Ludlow's, which would have tied them for second place, but in their final game two bowlers on the team, through accident, guttered their first ball on a spare, which lost the game for them by two pins. Watch out for Parsch's as there are still six games left to be rolled.

The six bowlers making the honor list are: M. Auten 588, Knoblet 574, Landon 559, Wallace 557, Townsend 553, Parsch 550. Games, 200 or over: Maier 218, Schwegler 217, Wallace 215, M. Caution Is Voiced to Youngsters Flying Kites

"Fly kites only in open fields," is the springtime caution voiced to youngsters today by teachers, Boy Scout leaders, and utility people. They explain that overhead wires carrying high voltage electric currents constitute a danger to children whose kites or kites strings may touch the wires. Flying kites away from electric lines will eliminate this hazard.

In addition, the following rules were offered for kite safety:

String containing metal (such as Christmas tinsel cord) should never be used. It forms a perfect conductor to the hand from any electric wire it might touch. Likewise, wet string or thread acts like wire, conducting electricity, and must be avoided. For this reason, no one should fly kites in the rain. String that is soaked from lying in puddles or wet grass should be dried out thoroughly before using.

The use of metal for kite frames may cause a great deal of trouble. Since kite-flying takes the children outdoors and into the fields, they may encounter broken kites strings hanging from electric lines, or see dangling wires. Warn the children of the possible danger of touching any hanging wire.

Even apparently harmless wires may become charged by touching a line carrying current at some point you cannot see. You cannot always recognize a live wire—it seldom sparks, flashes or smokes. So it is better to leave all wires alone. Report "live wires" to The Detroit Edison Company at once, and leave to experienced linemen the job of handling them.

Cottage Cheese
Cottage cheese is generally made from skim milk. It may be made from whole milk but considerable fat is then lost in the whey.

Steel Tongue
The almost boneless pachee fish of Brazil contributes more than its "meat." The "toothed" tongue is dried and serves as a substitute for steel files, and it is also used as a grater in preparing farina from the cassava root.

REDHAWKS ARE RUNNERS-UP IN STATE CHAMP GAMES

Games at Lansing were played at the Boys' Vocational school field house where a temporary floor had been laid.

The basketball group headed for Lansing Thursday night at 11:45 because they were not able to find room in Pontiac. The Olds Hotel had reserved rooms for them.

Dale Kettlerell, the Redhawks' captain, was presented with the Class C runner-up trophy and all the members of the squad were given medals at Lansing Saturday.

After the Saturday night game, the basketball boys and party ate steaks as the guests of "Chick" Schwaderer.

Most of the party went to Jackson prison Sunday morning for a look at the institution. They had lunch in the prison. The menu consisted of ham, mashed potatoes and gravy, bagas, bread, coffee and dessert. At 12:00, they watched the 4,100 prisoners get their lunch. They were served in cafeteria style in about an hour. Places of interest visited were the cell blocks, the school, the machine shops, theatre, etc.

During Johnson's high school playing days at Cass City, Kelly was athletic director here. Arthur Hill took the Class A title Saturday.

Back in 1935, Cass City was defeated for the state championship by a 49-18 score. The Chronicle printed a halftone of the basketball squad on Mar. 22, 1935, with the following men in the picture:

This and That

Of course, it would have been just fine to have our boys win the state championship Saturday night, but home folks experienced a real thrill in having the Cass City group end their season's playing as state runner-up in Class C schools. When the home team comes out next to the top of the 268 schools that started the basketball season this winter, that's a record of which home folks are proud. Hearty congratulations to Coach Jack Landon and his talented basketballers!

Over in Sanilac county, Sheriff Roland L. Meredith is rendering citizens a real service in sending a representative of his office to several villages in the county to write auto drivers' applications for licenses, thereby saving Sanilac county folks thousands of miles of travel. On the first Tuesday of the month, the sheriff's representative visits Crosswell, the second Tuesday he is at Marietta, and the third Tuesday of the month at Deckerville. The number of licenses issued in 1943 in Sanilac county was 3,841. Of this total, 265 were issued at the city of Crosswell, saving folks of that community 11,476 miles; 170 at Marietta effected a 6,460-mile saving; and 96 at Deckerville eliminated another 2,310 miles. This makes a total of 19,940 miles saved citizens of the county. The balance of 3,904 license applications were handled at the county seat and miscellaneous county centers, including Minden City and Brown City. These two towns were not regular centers and dates were set for them when Sheriff Meredith felt there were enough there to warrant sending a man there to conduct the examinations for drivers' licenses.

suance of rations, the Saginaw office warned.

If farmers wait until the last minute before making the application, the AAA may not be able to certify the applications and subsequently the boards may not issue the rations.

Farmers should allow at least 10 days from the time their requests are submitted to the AAA for certification before the actual ration issuance is made by the local War Price and Rationing board.

Applications, after proper certification, will receive 70 per cent of their annual rations from the board. When they run out of gasoline, they will be given more upon request to the board up to the remaining 30 per cent of the full year's ration.
