Real Class Mrs. Jones—Oh, yes, my family can trace their ancestry back before William the Conqueror. Mrs. Smith—I suppose they were in the Ark with Noah?

Mrs. Jones—Of course not. My ancestors had a boat of their own!

Cheering Thought Patient—Oh, doctor, I'm afraid I'm going to die. Doc—Nonsense! That's the last thing you'll do.

On to Victory! Jones—How can I tell vegetables from weeds in my Victory garden? Smith—That's easy. Pull them up and if they grow again, they're weeds.

GROWTH OF U.S. NAVY

EUROPE:

Zero Hour

All the world tensed in anticipation of the U. S. and British invasion of western Europe, expected to coincide with other Allied thrusts in the Mediterranean and a great Russian offensive against German lines in eastern Poland. As the enemy reported on huge concentrations of Allied shipping and naval formations in English waters, neutral sources quoted German strength at 90,000 men in Norway; 180,000 in Finland; 180,000 in the Balkans; 375,000 in Italy; 75,000 along the Mediterranean coast; 450,000 along the Atlantic wall, with 900,000 at strategic points in France, Germany and central Europe and finally 2,825,000 in Russia. As the zero hour approached for the greatest battle in history, U. S. and British bombers roared over Europe, smashing at concrete and steel defense bunkers, ripping up communication lines over which the enemy might rush troop concentrations and pouring fire on industries supplying the Nazi wehrmacht.

PACIFIC:

Trap Japs

Around 140,000 Japs stood trapped in the South Pacific with the U. S. invasion of Hollandia in north central New Guinea, about 1,400 miles distant from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's coveted goal of the Philippines. As Doughboys fought inland from Hollandia to take over the airfields which would give them command over shipping lanes supplying enemy troops to the southeast, good word also came from India, where British and native forces stood up against fierce Jap efforts to sever the Bengal-Assam railroad feeding Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's Allied units hacking out the Ledo road to China from north Burma. The 140,000 in Jap troops trapped by the Hollandia invasion stretched all the way from the newly embattled area to the Solomons, with their shipping lanes jeopardized by the superior U. S. air and naval forces, so far unable to draw out the enemy fleet lurking closer to its bases to the west.

INCOME TAX:

Plan Simplification

Of the nation's 50,000,000 taxpayers, 30,000,000 would not be required to file individual returns if congress approves the house ways and means committee's simplification bill, drawn after lusty protests over present complicated forms. Under the committee's bill, a person earning up to $5,000 would have his whole tax deducted under the withholding plan, and he would just have to file a copy of his employer's withholding receipt at the year's end. To simplify tax rates, the committee's bill calls for abolition of the victory tax and the creation of a normal tax of 3 per cent and a surtax starting at 20 per cent on all income in excess of personal exemptions and a straight 10 per cent credit.

FLOOD:

Extensive Damage

Town and country alike were inundated as flood waters surged throughout the central Mississippi river basin, approaching record peaks at many points, with early counts showing 10 dead and many homeless. Northernmost danger point was around Beardstown, Ill., where the Flood scene in Illinois.

Illinois river hovered around the 20 foot mark, flooding productive bottom-lands.

Between the mouth of the Missouri river and Cairo, Ill., where the mighty Ohio river flows into the Mississippi, high waters lapped at straining levees, and a little farther down, St. Louis reported a crest of approximately 33 feet.

Extensive damage was caused in Wichita, Kansas, where the residential district stood in water waist deep. As conditions improved in Kansas, they worsened in neighboring Missouri and Arkansas.

ARSENAL:

U. S. Aids Allies

The "arsenal of democracy"—the U. S. with its gigantic, efficient industrial machine—has supplied the Allies with weapons and munitions valued at nearly 10 billion dollars since March of 1941. Although the Allies paid for some of the deliveries, most were lend-leased, including 23,000 planes, 23,500 tanks and 550,000 motor vehicles. In all, the Allies paid for 7,000 planes, 1,500 tanks and 250,000 vehicles. During the three-year period, the U. S. also aided the Allies with the production of $1,800,000,000 of aircraft engines and parts, $2,700,000,000 of weapons, munitions, steel, aluminum and other metals, and hundreds of millions of gallons of gasoline.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

BIG LEAGUE PILOT: Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants baseball club, has been accepted by the army. He is 35 and has two children. Ott joined the Giants at 16 and remained with them for 19 years, a league record. He also holds the league home run record of 465 and for runs batted in with 1,689. He is the first big league manager to be drafted.

DRIED EGGS: Profits of the egg drying industry will be somewhat reduced by action of the War Food administration. The WFA will now allow cost of processing and approximately five cents profit per pound of egg powder. Some processors had been buying eggs at considerably below support prices, and so were obtaining an unduly large profit.

DRAFT:

Depends on Losses

Unless European or Pacific military operations impose a severe drain on manpower, selective service officials expect 1944 draft calls to be met with men under 30, it was revealed.

Induction of younger men, however, may place a heavy strain on industry and agriculture, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey declared, adding: "Older men, physically unfit for service . . . and women can and must replace these young men at the lathes and on the tractors. . . ." Of monthly requirements for 150,000 men, General Hershey said, about 60,000 can be met from men becoming 18, and the rest must be supplied from the 1,000,000 under 26 now deferred, of whom 600,000 are expected to pass their physicals.

STEEL:

Union Grows

Phillip Murray's United Steelworkers of America have grown into one of the most powerful labor organizations in the country, with membership of 936,500 and net assets of $3,313,077, including $2,174,313 in cash, according to a semi-annual report of the union.

During the year ended November 30, 1943, the USA signed up 210,875 new members and increased assets by $1,538,177, including $759,313 cash.

During the six-month period ending November 30, 1943, USA paid $227,000 to the CIO with which it is affiliated, and also raised $102,500 for the CIO's political action committee. Costs of negotiations and wage scale conferences totaled $35,376 and traveling expenses of officials and representatives were $78,161.

SUPREME COURT:

Religious Freedom

In a majority decision read by Justice Douglas, the U. S. Supreme court reaffirmed the freedom of religious worship, asserting no jury had the right to pass on the validity of any doctrine. "Freedom of thought . . . embraces the right to maintain theories of life and death and of the hereafter which are rank heresy to followers of orthodox faiths," Justice Douglas said. " . . . Men may believe what they cannot prove. They may not be put to the proof of their religious doctrines or beliefs. Religious experiences which are as real as life to some may be incomprehensible to others. . . ."

"If one could be sent to jail because a jury in a hostile environment found these teachings false, little indeed would be left of religious freedom," the justice said, adding that if the doctrines of the parties involved in the court case were subject to judgment, "then the same can be done with the religious beliefs of other 'sects.'"

ARMY:

Ask Single Command

In the interests of efficiency, unity of command, economy and elimination of duplications, two war department officers studying reorganization of the services urged the consolidation of the army and navy into a single command instead of separate arms as at present. However, the spokesmen refused to go as far as Representative Maas (Minn.), who also suggested the adoption of a single uniform for all branches and their functioning as teams. Declaring unity of command at the top would be sufficient, the spokesmen favored retaining the separate identities of the services.

Without a single command, the spokesmen said, the task of coordinating army and navy units and preparing for defense must be left to the President, without any workable machinery to aid him. Economies in securing munitions and other supplies would be effected through a single command, the spokesmen asserted.

IT'S A big wash for the duration...

give your electric washer this PREFERRED TREATMENT

To help your washer stand up under the big load it faces for the duration, keep in mind these few simple rules:

- (1) Drain washer and rinse tub thoroughly after each washing. Remove agitator or suction cups and rinse.
- (2) Wipe dry with a soft cloth to remove any soap curd or lint that may remain. If your washer has a spinner dryer, this too should be cleaned, rinsed and wiped dry.
- (3) Don't try to force thick, bulky articles through your wringer—and especially don't run through belt buckles or other hard objects that might cut the rolls. They are rubber, and precious!
- (4) Release the pressure on wringer when not in use. This saves the spring and the rubber, and prevents the rolls from becoming flat on one side.
- (5) Don't overload your washer. Cramming in too big a wash simply puts a strain on the motor, and results in a less satisfactory job.
- (6) When you finish washing, dry the wringer thoroughly, also dry the connecting cord and wind it up carefully. Leave cover off washer to prevent it from becoming musty.

Expensive Picking
Fyrethrum grows well in California, but the expense of gathering the flowers by hand has made it impossible to compete effectively with outside sources where labor is very cheap. Recent experiments with mechanical horse-drawn harvesters promises to alter this situation.

Savory Herbs
Savory herbs such as mint, watercress, parsley, chives, sweet marjoram, basil, and rose geranium can be grown indoors in flower pots or window boxes during the winter.

Good Soil
Good soil often can be found in fence corners or other places where weeds and other vegetation decaying yearly have become incorporated in the soil.

Do Farmers Stick Together?

All credit to them—they don't; unless they are organized for a purpose which is fair and just, having a program that is constructive and sound. Observation gives evidence that farmers cannot be fooled long by anyone.

FARMERS DO STICK TOGETHER!

The fact that FARM BUREAU in Michigan has been organized and effectively active for 24 years and that its membership has increased to over 26,000, furnishes the proof.

WHY IS THIS POSSIBLE?

1. Farmers feel the need of an organization. They want one that gets its program and authority and control from the farmer membership.
2. They want an organization that strives to obtain economic equality, social advancement and fair treatment for agriculture. One that is nonpartisan, nonsectarian and nonsecret in character.
3. FARM BUREAU is saying and doing what farmers want said and done about subsidies, farm manpower and other important farm questions.

Mr. Farmer, this is an organization of, for and by farmers. It is for you also—you, too, are welcome.

Ed Coler will receive your membership at his auto license office, Caro.

"More Michigan" is the slogan for May, 1944. It has been proclaimed thus by Governor Harry F. Kelly. It has the official endorsement of a state agency, the Michigan Agricultural Marketing Council, which is cooperating with the Michigan Food Council in its observance. The idea grew out of a conviction among organized food groups and state legislators that Michigan must tell its story of quality and diversified agriculture in competition with other food producing states. There is a growing belief also that such food products must be graded as to quality and then marketed according to consumer-approved methods. The fact that Michigan rates among the first ten states of the nation in vital war foods is something that is not fully known and appreciated even at home. In both acreage and in production Michigan rates high in fruits, vegetables, beans, sugar beets, dairy and poultry products and even honey. Michigan is not a typical corn-and-hog state. It does not rate high in production of wheat, for example. Yet corn and wheat are not major elements in the modern daily diet of Americans. Michigan's cool climate, tempered by winds off the Great Lakes, is a blessing. Simple Meals. Simple meals of large servings of a few good foods can be just as healthful as many course dinners.

Clinton County Farm Family of 14 Honored As State Observes More Michigan Food Month

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Thelen and their 12 children, pictured above, have been chosen as the "first family" of More Michigan Food Month, being observed during May throughout the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Thelen and their 12 children, of Clinton county, make up a self-sufficient "combat unit" of Michigan's vast Food Army of 1944. At top, right, is pictured a "general staff" meeting in the dining room of the comfortable farm home four miles south of Fowler. Standing between Mr. and Mrs. Thelen is Paul, 20, who with his brother, Leo, 19 (right), are the mainstays of the Thelen forces. Little Theresa, 4, listens in from her mother's knee. Mrs. Thelen is pictured (top, left) gathering eggs from the flock of 176 layers. "Theresa isn't too young to learn," says Mrs. Thelen, voicing the thought back of the training of each of the children. The "school battalion" (bottom, left) stands inspection just before being into the family car and being out for the Fowler Public School. Left to right, back row, are Elwyn, 17; Jerome, 15; Stanley, 13; front row, Doris, 12, and her twin brother, Donald; Marie, 9; Francis, 8, and Lauretta, 6. At right Theresa pets one of the spring lambs from the family's flock of 175 sheep. The eldest of the children, Betty, 21 (not pictured), worked in a defense plant last year until the needs for farm help brought her home. In addition to caring for the flock of chickens, the sheep and a herd of 30 dairy cows, this family last year produced 64 acres of field beans, 88 acres of wheat, 90 acres of oats and barley, 55 acres of corn, 22 acres of buckwheat and 90 acres of clover for seed. Two hundred and twenty-five fat hogs were sent to market. Increased production of beans to 80 acres, and corresponding increases in corn and wheat, in line with national wartime needs, are planned for this year. The livestock program is being shifted somewhat, too, with the emphasis being on the production of fluid milk instead of pork. Thirty steers are to be bought as feeders and the sheep flock is to be slightly increased. Mr. Thelen bought the farm home and 100 acres in 1915, and through the years has acquired the rest of the 610 acres of the family now owns. Mr. and Mrs. Thelen were married in 1921, and each of the children were born on the farm home. Mr. Thelen says he tries to "keep an open mind and learn from the experience of others." "We'll do our part in producing food," he said, speaking for the whole family. "We'll grow more this year than ever before—if the two older boys don't go into the army." The Thelen family was chosen by the Michigan Food Council to typify the attitude of Michigan's 185,000 farm families during the "More Michigan Food Month," in which the importance of the role of agriculture and the food industry generally is being emphasized.

Trouble Center

In the 1,500 years of Florence's existence, it has witnessed many occupations and repeated riots. Pisa and other nearby city states harassed Florence's inhabitants, when the Florentines themselves were not engaged in besieging their neighbors with strong, well-equipped armies. Mass deportations frequently mark its history. European princes, with greedy eyes set upon the growing wealth and industrial position of Florence, stormed its early walls. Worst of all its troubles were medieval riots and outbreaks against the nobility.

Caster Output Up

In Brazil castor seed production for 1943 has been estimated at 250,000 tons, 55 per cent greater than in 1937.

Pennywise Sandy—Now then, son, double up your fist tight like this. Mac—So you're teaching your boy how to fight? Sandy—No, I'm teaching him how to carry a report to Sunday School!

HIRED?

Employer—Have you any references? Applicant—I've got this letter from my last boss: "He worked for us two days and we are satisfied."

So to Speak First Student—They say the prof isn't as smart as he used to be. Second—Yeah, the old gray matter ain't what she used to be!

Bible Talk

Teacher—Now, Johnny, today we're going to study the epistles. Can you tell me what they were? Johnny—Wives of the apostles!

Indispensable

Wife—No, I didn't sew a button on your pants. I was too tired. Which is more important anyway—your wife or your pants? Hubby—Well, there are places I can go without my wife.

Family Trouble

Auntie—Well, Johnny, how do you like your new sister? John—Aw, she's all right, but there's lots of things we need worse.

Funs and Soup

Nit—It must be pretty hard for you to eat soup with that mustache. Wit—Yes, I find it quite a strain.

Ha! Ha! Ha!

Hoo—What's the difference between a Dutchman and a stovepipe? Mee—I give up. Hoo—A Dutchman is a silly Hollander and a stovepipe is a hollow cylinder!

In the Army

Officer—Where's your tooth brush? Private—It's this scrub brush, right here, sir. Officer—You don't mean to tell me you get that thing in your mouth? Private—No, sir. I take my teeth out.

Haunted House

Ghost One—I hear you and your wife aren't living together. Ghost Two—Well, we aren't on spooking terms anyway.

Insurance Policies
On December 31 of 1943, life insurance policies owned by some 68 million Americans, aggregated approximately $139,000,000,000, nearly 7 per cent greater than the amount outstanding at the end of 1942. This protection, in force in all United States legal reserve companies, is shared by over 100 million individuals, counting both policyholders and beneficiaries.

Shallow Cultivation
With the single exception of canary carrots on an experimental farm, none of the crops studied was benefited by cultivation deeper than one-half inch. The yields of onions, Iceberg and Boston lettuce, and bunching carrots were frequently reduced by cultivation from 2 1/2 to 3 inches deep.

Often, there is needless anxiety about the expense when one inexperienced in such matters finds it necessary to make funeral arrangements. A talk with us provides a clear understanding of why the price of a truly distinguished service need not exceed a family's wishes.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Lakes, is the major factor that has stimulated the development of the state's diversified agriculture. Drouths are virtually unknown in Michigan. Hot weather is limited, as all vacation seekers well know, in July and August when other parts of the Middle West selter in discomfort. The same air-conditioned breezes, cooled by the waters of the Great Lakes, bless both the vacation seeker and the farmer.

While the recreational resources of Michigan have been well publicized for years through the four tourist and resort associations, the state's diversified food products have been relatively unpublished and unappreciated. First, there has existed traditional disinclination among food growers to abide by cooperative self-regulations whereby they would establish standards of grading and marketing and then abide by such agreements. The food producer is an individualist, and only in recent years has he been willing to rely upon cooperation as a means of protecting his interests against the organized efforts of others in our competitive economy.

Hence, the development of strong grower groups, such as the Michigan Potato Growers' association, the Michigan Horticulture society, Michigan Livestock association, Michigan Vegetable Growers' association, Michigan Farmers' and Manufacturers' Beet Sugar association, Michigan Allied Poultry Industries, Michigan Milk Producers' association, and the Michigan Bean Shippers' association. In addition to these, the canners have their own organization, the Michigan Canners' association. The cherry growers are organized; there is a Michigan Honey Institute, and also a Michigan Dairy Industry committee.

When the growers presented their problems to the agricultural committees of the Michigan state legislature in the house and senate, legislators were quick to see the need for an all-Michigan program of advertising which would be the means of cementing together these diversified food groups in to one state program, coordinated with an intelligent and far-reaching plan for grading and marketing of Michigan food products. While big strides have been made in these fields, there still remains much to be done. One of the immediate needs is a better appreciation by consumers in Michigan of the state's superior food products of field and orchard.

"More Michigan" came into being as a war-time observance, timed for the spring growing season when the consumer is more food conscious, whereby Michigan consumers are urged to use more Michigan food; Michigan growers are requested to produce more food in 1944, and the Michigan food retailers—whose annual gross business is well over two billion dollars—are encouraged to buy and sell more Michigan food.

The overloaded transportation system of the nation is the 1944 reason why it is possible to encourage more Michigan food production and consumption without involvement in the issue of state trade barriers.

An official of the American Association of Railroads declared recently in Chicago that the railroads were short 600,000 freight cars compared with their rolling equipment during World War I. The railroad manpower also is short 100,000 men, he asserted. The Michigan Agricultural Marketing Council recognizes this fact, in behalf of the organized food groups in the state.

Hence, while invasion armies are in readiness (or likely in action) this month in Europe, Michigan is asked by its state government to increase its efforts to produce and to consume more Michigan food in 1944. May, the planting season, thus becomes the zero hour for the growers' army on our home front. It becomes a reminder to Michigan consumers to get acquainted with the quality and rich flavor of peninsula-grown foods. It is a challenge to the food retailer to do his part also.

"More Michigan" deserves a place in your thinking in this eventful May of world history.

Less Protein
Laying hens require a lower level of protein than young chicks. For average production, rations containing approximately 15 per cent protein seem to be adequate; for high production, up to 16 per cent. This level is also high enough for breeder hens.

Named Nut Pine
The name pinon was given to the nut pine of the Southwest by Cabeza de Vaca when he was exploring that region in 1536.

We Met the Challenge . . .

"We are the food army of Michigan. There are nearly 200,000 of us—each with our family, our bit of soil, our hopes, our ambitions. Ours is a never-ending battle—sometimes against drought or rain, against cold or heat, against pests and disease, against shortages or surpluses, and always against time.

"No state in the union grows a greater variety of products. Proud as you must be of Michigan's industrial contribution to ever-approaching Victory, proud, too, you should be of her agricultural greatness. For Michigan, last year, was asked to produce a record-breaking tonnage of food—food to feed our own people, food for our fighting men around the world, food for our allies, food for the starving in China, in Africa, in Italy.

"It was a challenge to the farmers of our state. And we accepted it, though there were many who said it couldn't be done.

"We won the battle of food. We won it in spite of the help we didn't have, the equipment we couldn't obtain. We won it in spite of a jesting Nature that washed out our early plantings, bogged down our tractors, destroyed precious days and weeks. We harvested nearly 500 millions of dollars' worth of vitally-needed food, an all-time record.

"We met the challenge as you have met the challenge in your work—as your food retailer and wholesaler from the smallest independent to the largest chain store operator met it without complaint. They were beset with problems, too—ration stamps, ceiling prices, countless Government reports, increased operating costs, inadequate help and often shortages of merchandise.

"They made it possible for the food we produced to provide you with the energy to do a fighting job on the home front.

"They brought you our luscious berries, cherries, melons, peaches, pears, plums and apples from our fruit areas . . . sugar from our beets, millions of gallons of health-building milk, cream and other dairy products for your children and war workers, golden honey, top-grade potatoes in abundance, poultry, eggs and meats from our farms . . . fresh vegetables in never-ending streams and much more packed in our canneries . . . peas and beans and tomatoes and body-building, vitamin-enriched root vegetables . . . carrots, turnips, beets . . . all from Michigan farms and orchards and processing plants.

"The cooperation of your food merchants made our victory possible. Michigan working together has overcome almost impossible odds. That is the bright hope of the future as we enter upon a new season . . . we who till the soil of Michigan and distribute its food."
