

Service Honor Roll Dedicated Here Tuesday

Board Is Presented by Gavel Club to Village in Fitting Program.

The dedication of the Service Honor Roll board at Cass City was an auspicious occasion on Memorial Day and attracted a large and attentive audience of citizens.

The high school band opened the program with several selections. Harold Oatley was master of ceremonies and introduced Rev. Fr. John Bozek of St. Pancratius church, who offered prayer, and Dr. B. H. Starmann, president of the Gavel club, who briefly reviewed the work of planning and erecting the service board and publicly thanked the citizens who generously contributed money, materials and time and assisted the club in the project. The board is entirely a local product as every nail driven and every drop of paint applied was the work of citizens of this community. "As we pass this board there is called to mind that the men and women whose names are inscribed are giving everything," said Dr. Starmann, "and each of us should ask himself 'what am I doing to hurry their return home and bring the war to a speedy end?'"

Dr. Starmann formally presented the service board to the village and John A. Sandham, village president pro tem, in his response, said the village accepted the board in the same spirit in which it was presented and thanked the Gavel club for the gift.

The color guard of the Boy Scout troop raised the flag on the staff and Scout James Mark led the audience in the pledge of allegiance. This was followed by the words of dedication in which Rev. Fr. Bozek said in part:

"Of all the blessings that can befall a community, there is none greater than a choice of it by good men for their home, for the example of such men sets a standard of conduct, and their influence tends to lift those who come within its circle to their own level. In the quiet annals of this town the incident of chief importance to its inhabitants was its selection by the men whose names appear on this Honor Roll as their home town."

"The Gavel club of Cass City is to be congratulated to be complimented on this wonderful project, in setting up such a beautiful and artistic Honor Roll, to commemorate the residence of these boys in this community, where their presence has been so familiar, and where their voices have been so often heard. It is well that this town should accept this Honor Roll as a permanent record of great services rendered not only to the country at large, but to this very community as such, by these men."

Cass City High Won Double Header From Caro Tuesday

Local Team Suffered Its First Defeat This Season at Harbor Beach Friday.

Cass City's strong baseball team very handily defeated Caro in a double header at the home field on Decoration day. Lee McConnell again proved his pitching ability by working and winning both games.

In the first contest, the Redhaws pounded Bolton of Caro for six hits and two earned runs. Four of the six hits were for extra bases. McConnell gave up but two singles. He walked two batters and struck out seven.

In the second ball game, the Caro batters had difficulty with McConnell's pitching because for six innings not a man reached first base. In the last inning, Caro's first batter dropped a bunt down the third base line which at first rolled foul, but by a freakish spin hopped inside the line just as the ball stopped for a fair hit; thus robbing Lee of a no-hit game. Strike-outs were 10 for McConnell in this game.

The Redhaws on the other hand had a field day at the plate picking up seven hits and driving in eight runs. Strickland hit a three-bagger between the outfielders for the longest blow of the day. Cass City made but one error to Caro's five in both games.

First game score—

Seniors Advised to Cultivate a Good Character

No Place in Society for Introvert, Said Rev. Geo. D. Bugbee, in Address.

The processional, "Priests' March," played by Jeanne Profit, opened the baccalaureate service at the school auditorium Sunday evening in which local churches participated. Leonard Park, president of the junior class, ushered the senior class to reserved seats. They passed through pretty floral arches held in place in the aisles by 14 junior girl escorts.

The call to worship and the Scripture reading were given by Rev. S. P. Kirm, Rev. Ralph W. Herber gave the invocation and Rev. Fr. John Bozek offered prayer. Musical selections by the senior mixed chorus were "Holy, Holy, Holy" and "Now the Day is Over." The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Dibley.

Hebrews 11:1, "Faith the substance of things hoped for," was the text used for the address, "The Genius of Achievement," delivered by Rev. George D. Bugbee, pastor of the Nazarene church. Mr. Bugbee stressed the fact that one must have faith in God and faith in his fellow man, before peace can be restored to the world, as a lack of confidence and a distrust is the root evil of our time.

A high goal to be attained in life is character. A good character is necessary to succeed in any venture. A good character is not made in haste, but is molded through a process of time by our companionship, our choices of entertainment and habits cultivated.

Memorial Day Address Delivered By Rev. S. P. Kirm

Many Gather in Elkland Cemetery to Pay Respects to Soldier Dead.

Directly after the dedication of the Service Honor Roll board on Tuesday afternoon, the high school band led the procession to Elkland cemetery where the regular Memorial day program was presented. Following the band were members of the Girl and Boy Scout troops in uniform. The parade was an attractive one and aroused the admiration of local citizens and holiday visitors.

The program opened with the selection, "Military Escort," by the band under the direction of its director, Vernon Wait. At the suggestion of Frederick Pinney, program chairman, the audience stood for a minute of silent prayer for the American young men and women in the Service at farflung stations in this global war.

The memorial address was given by the Rev. S. P. Kirm, pastor of the Evangelical church, who used as his subject "When the Bells Toll" taken from the writing of John Donne and brought to fame in the book by Ernest Hemingway, "For Whom the Bells Toll." The quotation is the answer of a preacher to an enquirer who asked for whom he was tolling the bell. "No man is an island entire of itself; every man is a piece of a continent, a part of the main; if a clod be washed away by the sea, Europe is the less; any man's death diminishes me, because I am involved in mankind. And therefore, never send to know for whom the bells toll; it tolls for thee."

The speaker emphasized how each man's passing is every man's loss and the annual memorial service is eloquent testimony to the fact that we are bound to the lives of those who have gone into the Great Beyond. Out of the labor of the pioneers whose bodies were first laid to rest in Elkland cemetery have come the fine community we love. The wilderness and

Tuscola county's quota in the Fifth War loan is $1,346,000. "Yes, a million three hundred forty-six thousand dollars is a lot of money," says Willis Campbell, chairman of the Cass City district, "but when you analyze the matter that amount of money is really insignificant. You read with much delight of the successful bombing raids which are being made over enemy territory. Use the following figures as a comparison of costs of losses with that of our quota: One heavy bomber plane costs $250,000. One fighter plane costs $150,000. Suppose the news stated that one bomber and eight fighter planes were lost. The total monetary loss would figure a total of $1,450,000, not counting the lives of the men and their individual equipments, nor the cost of ammunition. Therefore in making Tuscola's quota we are paying for a few minutes of combat in the air. Surely, we want to, at least, assume that proportion of costs.

"The War Savings bonds you purchase not only help to pay our proportion of costs but also pays you in interest and principle. The cost of the bombers and fighter planes lost is gone, but your investment is secured by your government. Buy more than your share of War Savings bonds."

5 Million Men Overseas in '44

Is Plan of War Department; Many Stations and Camps to Close.

WASHINGTON.—The army expects to have about 5,000,000 men, or two-thirds of its forces, overseas by the end of this year and as a result will shut down many of its camps and stations in the continental United States.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson disclosed this prospect at a news conference at which he also warned against overoptimism over the successful new Allied landings in Italy. He said it is much too early to predict disastrous defeat for the Nazis in Italy; the most which should be said is that the Allied position is favorable.

Oldsters to Be Retired.

The contemplated total of forces overseas by the year's end compares with about 2,500,000 at present and a total of 2,086,000 in the American Expeditionary force of World War I. In connection with the expansion of overseas forces, the army will comb over its personnel in the United States, picking out the youngest and physically best qualified for service overseas, and retiring to inactive service a number of older officers.

Stimson explained that the war department has ordered physically qualified men in all branches of the army who have had more than a year's service at fixed stations or other activities in the United States reassigned to combat units "or mobile activities ultimately destined for overseas service."

First to be reassigned will be enlisted men under 30 in accordance with the length of their service in the United States. Next will come those over 30, with the youngest to be reassigned first. Passed over will be men who already have served overseas since Pearl Harbor and men who have highly specialized skills which cannot be used overseas.

Order of Replacements.

"Replacements for reassigned enlisted men," Stimson announced, "when necessary, will be made first from civilians, next by Women's Army corps personnel, then, in order, by men permanently disqualified for overseas service, men who have served overseas, recently inducted men with physical handicaps, enlisted men with less than 12 months' service in fixed installations in the United States."

The officers to be placed on the inactive list will come from those over 38 and particularly those commissioned directly from civilian life or in the national guard or reserve.

Caramels, Water Are New Ration for Shipwrecked

WASHINGTON.—The lives of hundreds of shipwrecked castaways may be saved by the use of a new daily ration consisting of 10 butter-scotch caramels and a pint of water, developed by five conscientious objectors "guinea pigs" living on a life raft in the waters off Cape Cod.

This simple ration weighs one-third as much as the former emergency packet of dry biscuits, malted milk tablets and tinned meat. It has been recommended by doctors of the Massachusetts General hospital who conducted the experiments.

In addition to taking up less room than the former ration and thus leaving more space for precious water, the caramel candy reduces the loss of bodily water caused by somewhat salted tinned meat, present in some emergency rations. A man can live without food for 30 days but only about 6 to 10 days without water.

The five conscientious objectors, who had been drafted, volunteered for the experiments because, although opposed to aiding the war, they felt this would be a service to humanity.

Russian Wounded Given Eggnog Through a Tube

BALTIMORE.—Feeding wounded Russian soldiers eggnog on a field hospital operating table has resulted in more rapid recovery and a probable reduction of the death rate, Dr. Henry E. Sigerist, professor of history of medicine, Johns Hopkins university, said.

Basing his observations on reports from Russia to the American-Soviet Medical society, whose journal he edits, he said that the technique of feeding through a tube in the intestine while a patient was being operated on for an abdominal wound was perfected by the Russians to counteract the general debility of a wounded man.

He believes the Russian army is the only one using the technique.

Births in Bermuda Hit All-Time High of 955

HAMILTON, BERMUDA.—The increasing pressure of Bermuda's population on an area shrunk by United States bases is emphasized by figures revealing 955 births last year among an estimated 35,000 permanent residents within 1,900 square miles. This 955 represents an all-time high and is made more complicated by the fact that about 21 per cent of the births are illegitimate.

DEPOSIT IN KETTLE

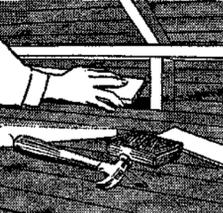

Question: Can you tell me how I can get rid of the lime that has settled on the inside of my cast aluminum kettle?

Answer: There are several ways of removing that hard water deposit. Fill the kettle with water mixed with cider vinegar in the proportion of a cupful to a quart. Bring to a boil and allow to stand overnight. Another way is to mash three or four raw potatoes in the kettle with a little water. After standing for several hours, more water is added, and the whole is brought to a boil. To prevent scale from forming, keep an oyster shell or flat stone in the kettle.

In hard water sections of the country, a teakettle with a spout is not so practical as an ordinary saucepan. (Have you thought of installing a water softening unit after the war?) The following item was sent in by one of our readers: "My mother advised me to empty my kettles of remaining hot water and set them away with fresh cold water in them. I followed her advice for eight years now, and have no scale in either my copper water pan or enameled teakettle."

STUD SPACES

Question: In my house the spaces between the studs are open to the cellar, and run all the way to the attic. The house is 15 years old, and the builder tells me that those spaces should be closed. What advantage would there be in closing them?

Answer: With those spaces open to the cellar and attic there is a continual draft through them. In winter this draft tends to chill the house, and, at all times, it would suck a cellar fire into the walls. There is every advantage in closing those spaces.

Drier Basket Stuck Fast

Question: We bought a second-hand washing machine. The directions said to remove the agitator and drier basket to clean the tub after each washing is done. The drier basket evidently is so caked with soap that it will not budge. The manufacturer's suggestion was to force it out with rope, but still the basket won't budge. What can you suggest?

Answer: Try soaking with a hot solution of washing soda, about two pounds to the gallon of water. Allow to soak for 24 hours or so, then try to remove the basket. It may be that the basket is jammed on the shaft. A machine-shop mechanic or your plumber may be able to remove it for you.

Wavy Shingles

Question: What makes a new asbestos shingle roof full of waves, instead of lying flat? Is there any remedy?

Answer: Asbestos shingles are rigid. You probably have asphalt shingles on your roof. These, when put on over wood shingles without filling in the hollow spaces at the butts of the old shingles, will follow the contour of the roofing under it when the heat of the sun softens the asphalt. Bevel or "feather-edge" wood strips should have been used to make a level surface for new shingles. Nothing can be done to eliminate the waviness except to re-lay the shingles.

Insulating a House

Question: What is the best time of year to have insulation blown into a dwelling? When openings are made in winter, is not the cold, damp air trapped inside the walls?

Answer: Insulation can be blown in at any time of year, provided the weather is clear. Cold weather will not affect the efficiency of the material used.

Mixing Paint

Question: Can you give me information on mixing paint or tell me where I can get a chart for mixing paint to get different colors?

Answer: Write to the Lead Industries Association, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City, for the information that you require.

Cedar Lining

Question: The cedar wood lining in our clothes closet has dried out and not much scent remains. What can I do to bring back the cedar scent?

Answer: You might be able to restore the cedar odor by scraping or planing off some of the surface of the boards. If this fails, you can coat it with a liquid containing a cedar odor. For the name of this product, write to the Architects Samples Exhibit, 101 Park Avenue, New York.

WHOOPING IT UP

A man recently married had in his bachelor days a reputation for drinking too much. One day he said that he had to be at a meeting to elect a new director.

His young wife was distressed, and made him promise he would not touch a drop of anything all the evening.

The voting at the meeting resulted in the election of a man named Hoops. All the evening the young husband had determinedly steered clear of proffered drinks and at 11 o'clock—completely sober and filled with righteous pride—it occurred to him to phone his wife.

"Hullo, dear," he said. "It's Jim."

"Oh," replied his wife. "How did everything go? Whom did you elect?"

"Hoops, my dear," responded the husband.

"Oh, Jim," said the wife, her voice breaking, "how could you? After all you promised!"

Spies! They're Everywhere—The German Who Became a British Censor

He was suspected only once, by a camera shopkeeper.

"JOHNNY JONES a spy? Nonsense! Why, I've known him all my life, almost. We went to high school together. Played on the same football team. Why, say, only five years ago he got the Carnegie medal for heroism! Why, he even works for the government. You're crazy!" But here's what happened during the first World War: Jules C. Silber had lived in British South Africa so long that he spoke English like a native, and the few who knew he had been born in Germany had either forgotten or discounted that fact. He fought for England against the Boers, and his record was enviable. But Jules Silber was a German. When in 1914, the first World War began, his only thought was how he could best serve the land of his birth. With Silber, thought and action went hand in hand, so next we find him in England, armed with his flawless English, and documents testifying to his deeds for England against the Boers. That German was his native tongue never occurred to the English, and his command of German, plus his record, placed him on the spot he most desired—the censor's office. For Silber, the post was perfection itself. Giving him access to vast amounts of confidential information, it also immunized him to the three greatest risks facing all spies. These are: Accounting for the spy's presence in the country where he works, accounting for his income, and the sending and receiving of messages. Silber's presence in England was legitimate. He worked in the censor's office. His income from the censor's office was sufficient to keep him. As he sent Berlin only such information as came to his hand as censor, he had to receive no orders from his German chiefs. And, as censor, he could pass his own spy messages under his own official seal. He was suspected only once. Silber purchased considerable photographic equipment to photograph documents he spirited out overnight from the censor's office. The shopkeeper who sold him these supplies suspected him and reported him. That worthy tradesman earned, instead of praise, a stinging official rebuke. Ironically, toward the close of the war, Silber's efficiency ended his career. The English promoted him to a post so high he was no longer able to handle mail. He had become too valuable for that. So, Silber calmly disappeared, and made his way to Germany, and there his role as a spy was later revealed. Most successful spies are long residents of the country where they work. Many pass for native born citizens.

Oak Bluff Breezes

Each year at this time it has been rather interesting to notice the movement of the carp variety of fish, as they come into the shallow water along the shore for spawning. Literally thousands are visible in the shore vegetation, ranging in size from a foot to two or three feet in length and from two or three pounds to 20 or 25 pounds in weight. On quiet evenings, they seem to enjoy jumping out of water full length and apparently they would like to take to the air as the flying fishes of the oceans. This week for the first time the local commercial fishermen have set their nets in close to shore and within a stone's throw of the cottages, and have been getting very profitable lifts, one day having taken over 5,000 pounds which are shipped to the New York market. At present prices this nets a very tidy sum. Only fish over four pounds are taken, the smaller ones being returned to the water. Several cottages were open over the long holiday for the first time but most of them will not be permanently occupied until after the close of school or during the warm weather of June, July and August. Dr. and Mrs. Wickware, Mrs. T. J. Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Foster of Detroit were here over Sunday and will return about July 15 for at least a six weeks' stay. Dr. and Mrs. McIntyre and son, Donnie, of Detroit were here from Sunday until Tuesday and will also be here at intervals during the summer. The Maxwell cottage was open over Sunday and they had as guests the Watterworths of Elkton. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ballard and family of Flint were at their cottage and had several successful fishing trips out on the bay. The Hunts of Cass City, our neighbors to the south, had their cottage open and had several Cass City friends as guests. We noticed considerable activity with Curt's boat. Curt has erected a new boat house and no doubt plans many boating and fishing trips on the bay during the summer. Work on the Wurm cottage is progressing and should be ready for occupancy in a few more days. Dr. and Mrs. Wurm are occupying the Wilson cottage temporarily. Miss Myrtle Holmes was in Vassar and Cass City Sunday and Monday. Myrtle just arrived here a few days ago to remain until late this fall. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Walton of Vassar opened their cottage Saturday evening for the season and had as Sunday guests Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Potter of Flint, Mrs. E. Mercill of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis of Watrousville, Mr. and Mrs. John Walton of Chicago and Misses Emily and Janet Bainbridge of Charlestown, Ill. On Decoration Day, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Montague and Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Wellemeier of Caro were also visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Smith of Shabbona entertained at dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jackson, honoring Mr. Jackson's birthday. Mrs. Smith is his aunt. A three-tier birthday cake graced the table.

The W. S. C. S. will meet at the home of Mrs. Elta Dobson, Thursday, June 8. Quilting will be the work for the day. Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trathen visited Sunday at the Edwin Trathen home at Ubyly. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Halliday and family of Detroit spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Halliday's mother, Mrs. Mary Walker. Sunday, they visited at the home of their brother, Jack Walker, of Caro. Other members of the family present were Mr. and Mrs. Hal Konkey of Caseville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee McIntyre and family of Harbor Beach. Gerald Willis underwent an operation Sunday morning at the Bad Axe General hospital for ruptured appendix.

Winter Care Before putting oil into machinery when storing for the winter, be sure to drain out all water pockets. Some users prefer a dormant spray oil for protection during storage.

Scout Notes

At the meeting on May 24, John Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Douglas, was invested with Tenderfoot rank as a member of the Wolf patrol. He was conducted by Patrol Leader James Wallace and received his badge from Frank Weatherhead of the high school faculty. Thirty-four members of Troop 94 were active in some way in the community celebration of Memorial Day. The largest group marched in the parade in uniform. Many scouts have been very busy the last few weeks completing requirements for a new rank, in the hope of being promoted at the Camporee court of honor. There have been many hikes and small practice groups.

Gals Do Man-Sized Job on Man-Shy University Campus

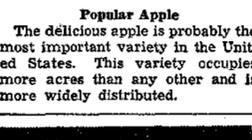

Women have invaded the campus at Ann Arbor and are doing real war jobs! War has changed the complexion of the campus. Although it is predominantly khaki and blue with the Army and Navy contingents, the number of women overtops the civilian man for the first time in history. This change has given the women new opportunities and are they taking advantage of it? Offered for the first time are a legion of courses fitting them to take duration jobs. Subjects novel to women are petroleum geology, map-making, surveying, public administration and post-war reconstruction problems. Undergraduate women substitute for men as assistants in the laboratories in elementary chemistry, botany and zoology. Traditional class projects have been forgotten. Now projects are centered around entertainment for servicemen, and the volunteer hospital dressing station at the Women's League. There are such varying activities as blood bank donations and nursery school. Co-eds have helped convert Harris Hall, old Episcopal student center, into a campus USO. The girls have been willing to tackle anything from bus boy jobs and working in the laundry, to unaccustomed chores of the labor-short building and ground crew. Girls from the four classes have already given more than 11,000 hours at St. Joseph and University Hospitals carrying trays, arranging flowers, registering patients, writing letters and other uncatalogued duties which release nurses for more important work. Girls also are learning nurse's aide work, ration-time nutrition, first aid and home nursing fundamentals through the American Red Cross. Real enthusiasts are preparing to become jeep and ambulance drivers by working on the greasy motors provided in the Red Cross motor mechanics course. Through an active and well publicized program, many tons of metal scrap and 360 pounds of silk stockings, the equivalent of covering for 2,880 co-ed legs, have been salvaged. Fraternity and sorority houses have sacrificed grandeur by contributing metal porch railings, irons, safes, jellopies and tin cans. Yes, the girls at the University of Michigan are doing their bit in the war.

Henderson home on Tuesday were Mrs. Henry Sweet of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Smith of Detroit and Mrs. Ida Cunningham and daughters, the Misses Leota and Pearl Cunningham, of Saginaw. Mrs. C. B. Ferguson suffered a stroke on Tuesday evening, May 30. Straight Skinny The "straight skinny" isn't an elongated person, but is the "correct dope," in marine jargon. The expression cropped up for the first time during the heat of battle on Bougainville. Some unidentified marine (gyrene in "slanguage") asked a mate in a foxhole, "Is that the straight skinny?" and it sounded so natural that it took on. It is now part of the marine vocabulary which includes words dating back to the Revolutionary war. Costly Loss It is estimated that the cost to industry for the loss of one eye is approximately $12,000, and that the cost for the loss of both eyes runs as high as $40,000.

Change Foods Enzymes or ferments are chemical agents normally present in fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and other foods. They are also produced by growing micro-organisms. These enzymes cause or stimulate chemical changes in foods. Because of the action of enzymes, freshly slaughtered beef and lamb become more tender when ripened or aged properly. On the other hand, enzymes are also partially responsible for old flavors in stored foods and for the rancidity that may develop in frozen pork fat. Popular Apple The delicious apple is probably the most important variety in the United States. This variety occupies more acres than any other and is more widely distributed.

Advertisement for the Detroit Edison Company featuring a large illustration of a postcard bill. The bill includes the company name, address (3000 Second Avenue, Detroit 26, Mich.), account number (1234567), and meter number (107). It also shows a postage stamp and a return postage guarantee. The text below the bill reads: "Your Next Detroit Edison Bill - will look like this. Your Edison bill will soon begin to come to you in post card form. It will be simpler - easier to read - a convenient size - and more practical in several ways. It will be small enough to slip into your pocket. With all its advantages, it will also help the war effort. For one thing, the new bill will save paper. Envelopes are eliminated, and this saves 25,544 pounds of paper a year. In addition, the new post card bill will save manpower and transportation. This is a wartime emergency measure. But we are sure you will like the new bill for its own good features—even without the paper and manpower saving it makes possible. It is a good method that has been tested and proved. People like it. We believe you will, too. THE EDISON COMPANY DETROIT MICHIGAN" community lie with the honored dead in battlefields of the far Pacific and in many an unknown grave on land or sea. He urged a loyalty, not only in the winning of the war, but in the purging from our souls and minds of all hate, that we shall be able to help the oppressed of the enemy nations find those freedoms and liberties for which we wage this war against their oppressors. For if the bells toll again for any one else, friend or foe, it tolls for us all.

The address was closed with a Memorial Day prayer by Percy R. Hayward, a prayer that all nations might come through this conflict, purged of sin and rising, in the greatness of their past, to take their place in a world brotherhood that shall endure.

The program closed with "America" played by the band and the sounding of taps.

Pad Shoulders

Narrow stopping shoulders may be padded to create the illusion of broad shoulders. Lines that slant diagonally to the shoulders also help this illusion. Shoulders that are too square may be made less so by eliminating padding at the shoulders, by wearing sleeves set on a raglan line or a type of dress that does not clearly define the armhole.

Order $2,400 Pay Lid on Farm Work

State Boards to Be Set Up To Hold Hearings.

WASHINGTON.—In a move unprecedented in all American farm history, a wage control program for agricultural workers, with maximum ceilings of $2,400 a year, has been ordered by Marvin Jones, war food administrator.

Aids of the administrator, who disclosed the plan, said War Food administration labor offices have been directed to set up state farm wage boards to hold hearings and establish maximum wages.

These groups would function much in the manner of the War Labor board in determining the ceilings for industrial workers. Shortly after the 1942 wage stabilization act was passed, Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes put farm wages under the supervision of the WFA but officials did not consider it necessary to take any immediate general action toward control.

Now however, farm wages have reached the highest point in 20 years. Many workers have gone into war plants. Those who have remained on the farms have received what amounts to a blanket deferment from selective service. There are few restrictions on their transfer from one farm to another. Thus they are in a position to bargain.

This, it was disclosed, has played a big part in leading the WFA into the unprecedented wage-control program.

The farm wage boards will be instructed to set ceilings only for specific types of work or farm operations for certain designated areas. Wages considered standard will not be affected. However, ceilings below the $2,400 level may be set if boards consider it necessary.

Service Deaths From Wounds Less Than 3 Pct.

WASHINGTON.—Fewer than 3 per cent of men wounded in battle die after being admitted to a hospital now.

Reporting this, Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, the army's surgeon general, noted it was less than half the fatality rate of 7.4 per cent in the first World war.

Much of the credit, he said, is due to the fact that the army has taken surgery to the front lines. Auxiliary surgical groups, each composed of more than 60 teams and, like firemen, ready for instant duty at any required spot, are in the battle area.

A general team may consist of a general surgeon, an assistant surgeon, an anesthetist, a nurse and two surgical technicians. They take their own equipment with them—instruments, tents, sterilizers, auxiliary power units. In addition to the general teams, there are other specialist groups such as those to do orthopedic, nerve or brain surgery.

Kirk also attributes the low hospital death rate to the use of blood plasma together with whole blood when needed, sulfa drugs, good nursing care and rapid transportation to base hospitals.

Admiral on Bike Returns Gobs' Salute in Bermuda

HAMILTON, BERMUDA.—Rear Admiral Ingram C. Sowell, commandant of the United States naval operating base here, was pumping along on a bicycle, just like any job off on liberty, posing a problem for the men at the base.

They did not know whether to salute, but decided to stick to regulations, and got back a snappy salute from the admiral as he pedaled ahead of his big limousine, in which his epauletted aides were seated.

Admiral Sowell, who is athletic, uses Bermuda's main means of travel in going from his office to his quarters for lunch, combining exercise and pleasure along the mile-and-a-quarter route. He is the first commandant seen a wheel at the base.

Cuffs, Pleats, Pockets To Be Cricket in Britain

LONDON.—British men who can afford the price got good news recently.

The wartime or "austerity" restrictions on men's suits were lifted on February 1. After that date men were able to buy clothes that have trouser cuffs, double-breasted coats, four pockets in the vest and buttons on the cuffs of their sleeves.

Hitherto, a tailor who was willing to blink at the rules would make trouser legs too long and all that the customer had to do was to take them back after the suit had been made and have the trouser legs shortened by the making of cuffs.

Crowds Eye His Tie; It Really Is a Bear

KNOXVILLE, TENN.—Rufus Wells attracts a lot of attention when he goes downtown.

Ravenous Birds
Lewis and Clark, and other early explorers of the Northwest, complained of the difficulty they encountered in hiding their large game from condors, which could devour in an hour enough meat to feed a man for a month. It is only natural that under these circumstances the hunter's gun was frequently aimed at the condor, while a further incentive to its destruction was added during the gold-rush, by prospectors, who found the large hollow wing-quills convenient for carrying gold dust, lessening the fear of detection and theft when sewn into their clothes.

Flowing Desirable

Soils on which erosion cannot be controlled should not be plowed or at least should not be left without protection for long. Where erosion can be controlled, however, soils should not be plowed more frequently than necessary, although on heavy, poorly aerated soils, more frequent plowing may be desirable. Air is needed in these soils so that chemically active oxygen may make available nitrogen stored there.

Grown From Crowns

Both the black and purple raspberries grow from central crowns and are usually kept in hills. Last summer the canes should have been tipped at 18 to 24 inches, to grow side shoots. This spring dead canes and weak growth should be cut out. The lateral branches on black raspberries may be shortened to 5 to 8 inches; laterals on purple raspberries should be left 10 to 14 inches long.

You'll Be a Mighty Proud American!

You'll be proud, if you double up your acreage of Michigan Navy Beans this spring. Proud, because Uncle Sam desperately needs a 40% increase in Navy Bean acreage. Proud, because Michigan Navy Beans are playing a prominent part in supplying vitally needed food and energy to our fighting men overseas, our workers at home, and our friends in liberated areas. Here's the whole story:

Needed: 28,000,000 Bags of Beans

The War Food Administration and Army and Navy's 1944 program calls for 28,000,000 bags of beans. Half will be needed for the home folks, half for our soldiers, sailors and allies. Yet the supply of Beans now on hand is low. If this fall's crop is the same as last year's the supply will be way short of our needs. The only solution is for patriotic American Farmers—like you—to increase your acreage now.

Navy Beans Have No Substitute

There's no food to take the place of Navy Beans. Already dehydrated by nature, they're packed with energy and vitamin B. They have more food value than other foods of equal bulk. They're easy to cook, pack and ship. In many cases the beans you grow will be in the mess kits of our fighting men a few weeks after you have harvested them. One acre of Navy Beans will serve a meal of beans to twelve thousand American soldiers. As now packed for overseas shipment, dry Navy Beans stay dry—even though loaded and unloaded in rain, sleet or snow.

You'll Be Proud--To Do Your Part

The urgently needed, additional Navy Bean supply must come almost entirely from Michigan—for Michigan's favorable climate and soil produce the best flavored, best yield beans in the world.

It is up to us—up to you—to do your part for America's food supply by stepping up your bean acreage this spring.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

Johnny was not at the dinner table when his father came home, for the reason his mother had sent him upstairs to bed for swearing. "Swearing!" bellowed the father. "I'll teach him to swear!" He dashed up the stairs and midway, stubbed his toe, stumbled and crashed his chin on the step. When the atmosphere cleared a little, Johnny's mother said sweetly, "No more now, dear. You've given him enough for one lesson."

OPA Is Old Stuff; Cromwell Had It!

Colonies Had Something of Kind in Their Day.

CHICAGO.—Oliver Cromwell had an OPA in his day and the American colonists had one in 1776, according to Alex Elson, acting regional OPA director. He has an original of "An Act for Limiting and Settling the Prices of Wines" of 1657 and a copy of the law of Colonial days.

The first OPA on this continent was enacted by the general assembly of Rhode Island and Providence plantations "to prevent monopolies and unreasonable prices for many of the necessities and conveniences of life and for the better supply of our troops in the army with such necessities as may be wanted."

Parliament passed the Wines act at Westminster on September 17, 1656, to go into effect for one year beginning August 15, 1657. This act prescribed ceilings of 18 pence a quart for all Spanish wines, seven pence a quart for all French wines, and 12 pence a quart for Rhenish wines.

Pence was equivalent to about two cents and shillings were worth about 25 cents.

Wine retailers "exceeding the rates, proportions and prices hereby respectively limited and appointed" were subject to a forfeiture penalty of "the sum of five pounds" for any quantity sold above the ceiling.

Not only food and liquor, but labor and service and restaurant prices were covered in the act passed at Providence, R. I., at the behest of a New England committee set up for the purpose of "regulating an army, for supporting the currency, and affixing the prices of labour, goods, wares, merchandise, etc."

The ceiling on "grass-fed beef of the best quality" was fixed at three pence per pound in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, and 24 shillings per 100 pounds in Connecticut.

U. S. Army Buys Lot of Northern Ireland Land

BELFAST.—The U. S. army, which pays Irish landowners $400 an acre for their farms, has taken over so much territory in northern Ireland that it has become one of the country's biggest landlords.

Although the land being acquired for air fields, army camps and plane assembly plants is rented in some instances, many of the acres are purchased lock, stock and barrel for the duration.

When this is done, the United States pays 100 pounds an acre—fixed as a fair purchase price which the farmers are delighted to accept. At that price they can replace their lost acres by purchasing farms in other sectors.

Scores of cottages, cabins and derelict farm houses have been flattened for air fields and camps, but there is one farm sideline which the U. S. troops are finding useful. In many cases they have taken over turf (peat) stores and in dozens of masses U. S. soldiers are getting warmth from real old Irish turf fires.

Much of the land purchased by the United States is expected to be sold back to the original owners at greatly reduced prices after the war.

Airplane Plants Need More Women Urgently

SAN FRANCISCO.—Women are still being hired in larger numbers than men in West Coast aircraft plants, in spite of reports that the demand is easing off, and officials said that the need would increase as 1944 wore on and more men left the assembly lines for military service.

Figures collected from the Boeing plant in Seattle and the Consolidated, Vultee, Douglas, Northrop, North American, Ryan, Lockheed and Vega companies in California showed that women now made up nearly 44 per cent of the total labor forces of these members of the West coast aircraft war production council.

Construction Awards in 1943 Decline 60 Per Cent

NEW YORK.—Construction contract awards in 1943 aggregated $3,273,990,000 in 37 states east of the Rocky mountains, a drop of 60 per cent from record volume of $8,255,061,000 in 1942, F. W. Dodge corporation reported.

"The decline from 1942 reflected the passing of the peak in construction for war purposes and the continuance of restrictions on civilian construction ruled nonessential," the research agency said.

Construction of public buildings registered the largest decline at 76 per cent below the 1942 figure. Lowest was in hospital and institution buildings with a drop of 40 per cent.

Dog Saves Three in Fire; Loses Own Life

CHICAGO.—Tuffy, the dog credited with arousing and saving the lives of his mistress, Mrs. Cora Ballard, 78 years old, and of her two granddaughters, Laurel and Jean Nelson, when an explosion set fire to their home, 152 Whipple street, Batavia, did not manage to save his own life, firemen reported.

The country newspaper editor was in a retrospective mood. "Some of today's trends disturb me," he began.

It was a warm spring afternoon and we were traveling in an automobile together on a short business trip.

"Maybe I'm just old-fashioned, or perhaps it's because I am getting older and my hair is turning gray. But I do observe that changes are taking place in the lives of the people of my town and county. And I wonder what will be the outcome of these changes, tomorrow, after the war."

"Take the farmer, for example. I attended a meeting of the county AAA committee the other day. There was a time when all government control and regulation were highly repugnant to the grower. He shied away from the government's efforts to regiment his affairs."

"Now some of our best farmers are members of the county committee. They talk enthusiastically about the very things they once condemned. What about this thing called free enterprise? As I see it, we're losing something that made America great—freedom of the individual to think and to act for himself. Now, he expects the government to do it for him."

"And the merchant in town! Well, you know the story! Several things must have happened to him. First, the fast-motored automobile and the modern concrete highway have given the consumer a choice between my town and the nearby large city. Progressive merchants who study the needs of the public and who tell the public about their merchandise through effective advertising are meeting this new trend pretty well. But some of the merchants are not."

"And then there is the growing concentration of industry and business into the hands of corporations and their stockholders—offering more and better things often at lower prices. The merchant who ran the average business in my town used to own the business himself. Now, the chances are increasing that he now works for corporate owners."

"Community leadership is going to suffer unless such merchants take a personal active interest in the welfare of the town and county. These men should participate in affairs of our village, such as the Community Chest, Parent-Teacher association, Chamber of Commerce, and the churches. We need their leadership. They should assume responsibility for helping to make a better world, right here at home. The place to begin is in our own home town—our own back yard."

"More and more, our people are inclined to look to someone else for a solution of their problems."

"We want Washington or Lansing to authorize an appropriation and build a post office or increase teachers' salaries, or do this and that—things which our fathers wouldn't have asked for unless they were willing to pay the cost themselves."

"Cities refuse to increase school taxes and yet they demand that the State of Michigan return one-third of the state sales tax to local governments—counties, municipalities and schools. Plans are now under way, you know, to initiate by petition a constitutional amendment in Michigan to do just this very thing."

"Well—whose money is it anyway? It surely isn't state money or 'federal' money. We pay it in taxes. During the state's fiscal year ending last June 30, the State of Michigan distributed a little more than $134,000,000 back to local governments. That's a lot of money. And it was 55 per cent of all state revenues."

"Centralized distribution of public funds is breaking down our local tax responsibility. It invites a mad scramble to get yours while the getting is good—and all the time adding to the cost of our government."

"Maybe I'm an old fogey. But as one newspaper editor who is trying to keep up with developments, I'm frankly puzzled."

"I know we've abandoned isolationism. Sure, it's as dead as the dodo bird. The other day didn't an army airplane span the continent, California to New York, in a little more than six hours? Bombers fly across the Atlantic like Michigan pheasants wing over a pond. Only a few months ago airplane watchers by the thousands were scanning the skies in northern Michigan for enemy airplanes that, thank God, never arrived."

"This global war is costing the American taxpayer a fabulous sum, and we've got to buy more war bonds if we are to defeat Hitler and Tojo. Can free enterprise—the right of the individual—survive such an ordeal? Well, obviously we've got to fight fire with fire, and lick fascism with strong eco-

SERVICE HONOR ROLL DEDICATED HERE TUESDAY

Concluded from page 1. whose names appear on it. It is well that we, the townspeople, should meet to dedicate this Honor Roll as an outward manifestation of our lasting and grateful affection for the good men whose names it bears.

"I am sure that most of us were surprised to see so many names on this Honor Roll. Many more names are to be added. Some of you young men standing in this audience this afternoon, will find your name among these before long. Some of these boys have already made the supreme sacrifice. I am afraid that before this awful conflict comes to an end, many more names will be added to their number, many tears will be shed, and much sorrow will be visited upon this community. Such is the price, such are the horrors of war.

"Our gathering here this afternoon would be in vain, just a waste of so much of our time, energy and money, my good friends, if we should leave this scene of dedication without learning the real significance, the real meaning of this ceremony."

"We have come here today, to honor the memory of the boys of this community, our boys, your own sons, your own brothers, husbands or sweethearts, who have answered the call of duty, and have consecrated and dedicated their lives to the service of their country—your country and mine. These men, some of them mere boys, have left mother and dad, brothers and sisters, wives, even their families to wage war against our common enemy, to safeguard these principles of life, liberty and equality, so dear to the heart and soul of every true American. To accomplish these things, they have been called upon to make tremendous sacrifices. They made them willingly and freely, because they have made them for you and for me. What are we doing for them? The least we can do for them is to give them our moral and spiritual support, to give them that assurance that we are back of them 100 per cent, fighting this war as bravely, as courageously, on the home front, as they are waging it on the war front. We can give them that assurance, my good friends, by doing our duty as loyal citizens and loyal Americans, by keeping at our jobs, by buying War bonds, by producing as much as possible on our farms, working at it, day in and day out, until victory is ours.

"And last, but not least, let us give them this one assurance, that we shall not fail them, in storming heaven with our prayers in asking Almighty God to watch over the souls of those who are exposed to the horrors of war, and to the spiritual dangers peculiar to a soldier's and a sailor's life. It is our sincere prayer that God may give them such strong faith, that no human respect may ever lead them to deny it, or to fear to practice it, and may God by His grace fortify them against the contagion of bad example, that being preserved from vice, and serving God faithfully, they may be ready to meet death whenever it may arrive.

"May I also add, my good friends, that whenever you stop to admire this beautiful Honor Roll, or to read their names, that you will also stop long enough to say a little prayer for the boys whose names appear on this Honor Roll. They will appreciate it and I am sure God will bless you for it."

The program closed with the band playing the national anthem.

SENIORS ADVISED TO CULTIVATE A GOOD CHARACTER. Concluded from page 1. as good character is necessary to establish one's self and credit. Another goal to be obtained for a successful life is marriage. He pointed out the fact one must marry well, based purely on a love proposition to make it a success, to institute the family altar, go to church and support it as a fundamental part of our democracy. America must get back to her knees or be destroyed by forces and ravages of war and chaos. The last goal of which Mr. Eugebee spoke was doing good. We must do an unremunerative service to mankind in alleviating some of the distresses of life. People are dying and are hungry for kindness. It should be our goal in life to do good and contribute something to society that will live after we are gone. Jesus came to minister unto and not to be ministered to. There is no place in society for an introvert. The address was concluded with the thought that we should live so when our life has been spent, we can feel the neighborhood in which we lived was better because we had resided there; our business associates, our church and all are better because of our being a part of it. A motto the speaker gave the graduates to live by was the verse, "Count that day lost whose low descending sun, finds at thy hands no worthy action done."

Killed in Plane Crash

Concluded from page 1. tion with him as a partner in flying, all through final squadron. I knew him well and his friends were many and true. He was liked by all who knew him as a man and as a flier. Ed is like many of us in this war; we all miss most things we have been fighting for. None of us like our work too well, but feel that it is a job Uncle Sam has picked for us and we must do. I'll close now and say that his going need not grieve you too much as I am sure that his day of calling was only a call for a more important job. I loved Ed just as I do my own brother and thought as much of him. My sympathies are true in meaning and felt that I must let his mother know that he was not just another flier to all in the Navy. I, too, am an instructor and know the dangers that accompany the art of teaching. His other pal is here and feels the same as I do.

Make God bless you and help you make this tragedy pass by easier. "Yours truly, "ENSIGN BRIAN E. BOYLE."
