

6th War Loan Drive Will Begin November 20

Tuscola County Has 11 Districts with a Total Quota of $1,180,000.00

The sixth War Loan drive will begin Nov. 20 and will continue to December 16. The national quota is 14 billion dollars. For the state of Michigan it is 472 million dollars and for Tuscola county $1,180,000.00. The quota of the several districts in the county are:

Akron	$ 94,400.00
Caro	259,600.00
Cass City	118,000.00
Fairgrove and Gilford	94,400.00
Gagetown	47,200.00
Kingston	47,200.00
Mayville	118,000.00
Millington	59,000.00
Reese	94,400.00
Unionville	70,800.00
Vassar	177,000.00
Total	$1,180,000.00

For the year ending June 30, 1945 (fiscal year 1945) government expenditures will be 99 billion dollars. About 45 billion dollars will be raised by taxes. The remainder, about 54 billion dollars, must be borrowed. The cost of the war is running about 250 million dollars per day, about 175 thousand dollars per minute.

There are five basic reasons for buying war bonds, according to C. L. Bougher, chairman of the U. S. Treasury War Finance Committee of Tuscola county:

1. War bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world. The U. S. Treasury has never repudiated a debt. War bonds are a direct obligation of the U. S. Government backed by the full faith and credit of the United States of America for payment of both principal and interest.

2. War bonds (Series E) return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years. They are never worth less than the money you have invested in them. They are more desirable than cash. They bring you a good rate of interest. They are registered in your name and hence if mutilated or destroyed may be replaced.

3. War bonds help keep prices down.

4. War bonds will help win the peace by making available to the Government funds needed for the period of reconversion, by increasing purchasing power after the war, and by insuring a strong and stable America.

5. War bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Bond dollars are used as follows (OWI release): 13c for aircraft, 12c for ordnance and signal equipment, 10c for Navy and Army vessels, 4c for merchant ships, 11c for miscellaneous munitions, 14c for war construction, 25c for non-munitions war items (pay, subsistence, travel, export commodities, etc.), 5c for nonwar uses.

Pfc. John Zawilinski Wounded in France

Mrs. Mary P. Zawilinski of Tyre has received information from the adjutant general at Washington, D. C., that her husband, Pfc. John Zawilinski, had been slightly wounded in action in France on Oct. 21.

Pfc. Zawilinski, in a letter to his mother, received recently, writes as follows:

"I'm still in a hospital and I guess it will be a little while before I get out of bed. I have already had two operations on my knee and I may get one more. My knee doesn't hurt so much during the day, but when it comes dark, boy, that's when I really do feel the pain!"

"What hit me was a machine gun and I'm lucky he got me only in the leg. One of the men in my squad killed that German and that made me feel a lot better. On the day before I got hit, I and two other fellows captured seven Germans. You should have seen how scared they were. They just begged us not to shoot them. I hope this war will end soon so we can come back to the States."

95 Registered as W.C.T.U. Delegates At Convention Here

Mrs. Genie Martin Is Chosen Seventh District President for 12th Time

When parents bring their children to theaters and leave them there with the parental instruction to stay until the last show is concluded and when children are left in apartments alone the greater part of the night while parents spend the hours in beer gardens, one realizes the part alcohol plays in neglected child life, said Mrs. Dora B. Whitney, Benton Harbor attorney and state president of the W. C. T. U., at the 64th annual convention of the seventh district Woman's Christian Temperance Union held in the Presbyterian church at Cass City. Mrs. Whitney was the speaker at the evening session last Thursday.

Social workers, she declared, say present day neglect of home life is not the lack of money, but too much money and not knowing how to spend it.

The speaker contrasted the liquor situation in the first World War when alcoholic beverages were not sold to men in uniform to the present time when its sale frequently is without limit. The government is preparing to care for alcoholics among service men in six hospitals in as many states where the best scientific treatment will be administered under the direction of trained psychiatrists.

Tires for farm purposes are frequently denied and often difficult to secure, but beer trucks are apparently well supplied with rubber. The lack of tires does not concern them.

Santa Claus in Touch With Helpers

North Pole, November 13, 1944.

Gavel Club, Cass City, Michigan:

Hi-Ho, my hearties! I have just received a full report of your progress in getting toys built for the girls and boys at Christmas. You are sure doing a swell job and I know the girls and boys of Cass City and the surrounding territory are going to be mighty glad.

That idea of a mixed dance, I think, is fine. Gives the old time square dancers a lot of fun, too. Hope they all get there. If their children are all grown up and too old for toys, why shucks! they have some grandchildren who might need some. Or maybe there might be a poor girl or boy around somewhere, they could buy one for.

And the cause for which you are putting it on; couldn't possibly be a better one in the world. If those same children for whom they buy toys should ever get sick (and I sure hope they don't) but if they do, what could possibly be finer than a modern, beautifully furnished and finely equipped new hospital. You people who buy toys may need it before the children.

And that auctioneer, my good friend, Arnold Copeland, will give everyone a fair chance and will do his best to make the affair a success.

I will sure be looking in from somewhere on the night of Dec. 15. I hope that Cass City high school gymnasium will be crowded to the doors with people. I know they will all have a swell time, and at the same time do a swell cause a lot of good.

So, you Gavel club members, keep the hammers, saws, lathes and paint brushes going strong until then. Get hundreds of those toys made if you can. I sure wish I had a lot more helpers like you, because my job this year is sure tough.

And you girls and boys, keep hammering that date into mother's and dad's minds—December 15. See that they get there!

Now, my hearties, I must get back to work as Christmas will soon be here. My best wishes to you of the Gavel club. Keep building those toys.

As ever,
SANTA CLAUS.

Community Club Elects Board of Directors for '45

Good Character Best Moulded in Small Community Says Speaker

Members of the Community club, at the November meeting Tuesday evening, chose the following as directors of the society: Hugh Munro, representing the Presbyterian church; Arlington Hoffman, Cass City Methodist; Delbert Profit, Bethel Methodist; Clare Turner, Baptist; Lester Battel, Evangelical; Wm. Following the dinner prepared by ladies of the Baptist church, Bernard Ross spoke in behalf of the War Chest fund, and Frederick Pinney asked for volunteers to register as blood donors for the Tuscola county blood donor unit.

Dr. F. A. Schenck, program chairman, introduced Clark W. McKenzie, of Kalamazoo, the speaker of the evening, as a graduate of the Cass City high school a half century ago.

In leaving thoughts in connection with community life, Mr. McKenzie reminisced a bit, covering a period of nearly 38 years. The following are excerpts taken from his fine address:

"There is perhaps no occasion when a man's heart beats quicker, when his soul is more at peace with himself than when, after years of absence or wanderings he returns again, if only for a few fleeting moments, to the home of his earlier years, the scene of his younger days, and to the people, the memory of whom has remained fresh in his heart and mind. The recollection of the many happy years I spent in this community come back to me in full force as I stand before you tonight. This should be

Couple Speak Vows At Rochester

Marriage vows of Fern White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross White, of Birmingham, and Sheridan McArthur of Rochester, formerly of Wilmet, were spoken Thursday afternoon, Nov. 2, at the bride's and groom's new home on Huron Drive, Rochester. The Rev. L. Sheffield officiated at the ceremony before an archway of evergreens and flowers.

The bride was lovely in a pink floor-length taffeta dress with finger tip veil. She carried white chrysanthemums and pink carnations. Following the ceremony, refreshments were served to the newlyweds, their families, and a few close friends.

"The one-man grand jury system, as authorized by the Michigan legislature in 1916, constitutes a powerful and effective weapon for prevention of corruption in government. If the grand jury is not hampered by restrictions as to adequate funds, sufficient time and utmost secrecy, it will achieve results where other methods fail."

Senator Homer Ferguson, who spoke these words in a personal interview, ought to know.

As Detroit's famed racket buster who obtained the indictment and conviction of approximately 150 persons a few years ago, including such public officials as a mayor, police superintendent, prosecuting attorney and sheriff—the law enforcement machinery itself—he has had considerable first-hand experience in the operation of a one-man grand jury.

Join us at the breakfast table, as Senator Ferguson discusses the subject.

"It took three years' time to get all the evidence necessary to bring the grafters to trial in Wayne county," said the senator. The interview took place at the Detroit Golf club, off Palmer road. It was Saturday morning, about 9 o'clock, when we sat down for eggs and coffee.

"The public must be patient," he continued. "A successful investigation takes time."

"In the first place, you must have adequate funds at your disposal, and you must be trusted to use the money properly pending final accounting when the task is finished. My disbursements in Detroit were countersigned by Chester P. O'Hara, chief attorney."

"Second, you must get the best. Turn to page seven."

Young Lady Becomes Bride on Parents' Anniversary

Miss Anna Fletcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Fletcher, of Cass City, and Mr. Leon L. Childs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Childs, of Unionville, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Robert and Agnes Cowan, of Caro, with whom she has lived for several years, at four o'clock Friday afternoon, Nov. 10. The house was decorated with baskets and bouquets of beautiful pink and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Leola Childs, sister of the groom, sang "I Love You Truly." The bride and her attendant descended the open stairway to the strains of the "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" played by Mrs. Ruth McConnell. Rev. Mr. Ziarko of Akron officiated at the ceremony before a gathering of sixty relatives.

The bride wore a long, white brocaded organza gown with sweetheart neckline and full skirt, with fingertip veil held in place by a white tiara. She carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums and tea roses and wore two strands of pearls.

The maid of honor, Miss Lillian Concluded on page 5.

Luxury Look, Shorter Lengths, Big Sleeves Is Fur Coat News

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

ITS style appeal with the new luxury look that sells the fur coat this season. It is said that women who can afford it are asking for the new this-year shorter fashions buying for "style" regardless of whether they already own a long fur coat.

Mink, natural gray types (gray has gone tops on the fashion program), Russian broadtail, Persian lamb, stone marten, beaver and nutria, also mouton, racoon and the spotted types are cited in the high-fashion list this year. The accent in the styling of these furs is on an unprecedented lavish scale. The featuring of shorter lengths (34 to 36-inch also three-quarter to seven-eighths), together with voluminous sleeves and handsomely cuffed, with the hemline inclined to flare subtly or definitely as the case may be, has brought about a decided change in the silhouette.

The coats illustrated are representative of the new trends. The model to the left is really a conversation piece in that it is made of blond chignon wild mink, a fur that is causing no end excitement this season because of its unusualness and its natural blond beauty, something so very different from the accustomed brown mink. This handsome fur introduced by Esther Dorothy in her famous mink collection is designed with exquisite detail to give a luxurious aspect. Deftly collarless it accommodates the low collar, has the new shoulderline, together with smartly cuffed voluminous sleeves.

If you have not as yet seen the extravagantly lovely new blond wild mink you're missing something. This youthful looking blond fur is ever so flattering and it's worth looking up for it's the talk o'town this fall. It is not only being made into coats but it is stunningly styled into the new capes. Shown also are four-skin scarfs that provide ornamental shoulder accent to collarless coats and suits.

Another brand new fashion in the shorter-length class is the brief mandarin top as pictured to the right. Black Russian broadtail is used for this swank top. This lightweight coat is just the type women appreciate for immediate wear. It looks every inch high-fashion worn over the now-so-modish all black cloth suit and it achieves striking contrast with the new color-bright wool dresses and suits. You'll love it worn with a fuchsia frock, or with a new royal blue dress and it is grand and glorious with a costume in American Beauty. Russian broadtail is a first choice with best-dressed women of discriminating taste.

A current favorite also is the three-quarter length smoothly styled mandarin coat of black Russian broadtail also of Persian lamb. With deep turnback cuffs and gracefully flared body a coat of this type conforms to the season's style "musts."

And now for more startling news—it's the return of fur capes, short or long to the fall-winter style picture. Anyone fortunate enough to have stored away a full-length mink cape has recaptured a small fortune, for very likely it can be worn this season without much alteration. As to the shorter cape many a furrier will be called upon to fashion a last season's coat into this season's cape. There is beauty of line and the sweep of distinction in the full length cape while the shorter types are styled with intriguing details.

Velveteen Skirt

The ambition of the girl who knows her fashions is to come into possession of a color bright velveteen skirt. Having had much joy in wearing the gay print peasant-type skirts the summer through, fancy now turns to autumn and winter styles which say that there's nothing smarter to wear with your blouses and your waistcoats and your dressy sweaters than a skirt of as gaily colorful velveteen as you can find in the new season's collections of high-style cottons. The skirt pictured is of emerald green velveteen. It looks just right with this brown and white checked cotton poplin tailored shirt. For dressiest moments try wearing this color-bright, style-right velveteen skirt with a sequined jersey blouse.

Revival of Stoles

Bespeaks Elegance

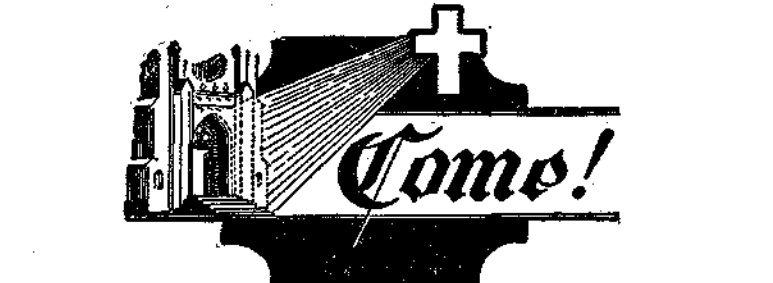

In the early Victorian days stoles of fur, of ostrich and rare fabrics were worn in grand lady fashion. This season sees the revival of this gracious vogue. The perfect stole to wear with one's suits and tailored wool street costumes is the one made of a luxury fur. Stone marten is liked and if you have ascribed to the new craze for gray you'll be wanting a gray fox stole and for evening your choice will be a scarf-like ermine stole. For great formality women will again wear the spectacular ostrich long stole for a lavishment of ostrich is seen both in hats and in neckpieces. The newer evening gowns are on the slim, tall statuette order. With these it's the fashion to wear a three-yard-long chignon scarf bordered out with sequins. You fling this filmy cloud of loveliness about one shoulder as you would wear your fur stole for a picture of perfect grace.

Rich Dinner Suits

Much ado is being made over the new dinner suits which are entirely different from the usual suit fashions, because they are made of elegant brocades and jacquard weaves not usually associated with the tailored suit. These new stunning suits are tailored to a nicety, their only decor being handsome jewel buttons. Sometimes a richly ornamented belt is worn with the skirt and blouse, its gleam sparkling out from between the jacket fronts. Watch this fashion develop; it is destined to be outstanding.

White With Plaid

A new style hobby is going the rounds that is of college, school and career girl interest. This chic style gesture stresses the fact of a white blazer being worn with a gay plaid skirt. The color scheme is carried into the blazer via a binding in bright coloring that finishes off at its edges.

DETROIT EDISON LINES

... Timely items of interest and value ... helpful suggestions about cooking, lighting and appliances.

KEEP 'EM ROLLING ... The rolling mills in the plant of one of our large customers ground to a halt recently when a 2,000-kilowatt motor generator set broke down. Thousands of man-hours and much vital war material would be lost, for necessary repairs would take seven weeks! But luckily Detroit Edison could help. We located a large motor generator which had been dismantled and removed from one of our sub-stations—and Edison employees from many different departments worked continuously to reassemble the machine and install it in the customer's plant. The mill was back in operation and sheet steel was again being produced within seven days. A month and a half of war production had been saved.

You save coal, transportation and manpower when you save electricity

OUR PART ... The Detroit Edison Company has converted 26 oil-burning units in Company buildings to solid fuel, thereby saving 118,000 gallons of fuel oil for war uses.

SUGAR-SAVER ... Our Home Service Department highly recommends this:

Victory Spice Cake

1/2 cup shortening 3/4 cup dark corn syrup
3/4 tsp. salt 2 eggs, unbeaten
1 tsp. cinnamon 1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. cloves 1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. allspice 2 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. nutmeg 1/2 cup thick sour milk
1/2 cup sugar

Blend shortening, salt and spices. Add sugar gradually and cream well. Add corn syrup gradually, mixing well. Add eggs singly, beating well after each addition. Sift baking powder and soda with flour three times. Add flour alternately with sour milk, mixing until smooth. Bake in a 14x9x2-inch pan (greased) in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 35 to 45 minutes.

YOUR PART ... Battles are never won cheaply. Victories are purchased at the cost of blood—the blood of our fighting men. Current triumphs mean an unprecedented demand for blood plasma. Are you helping to make up this drain on the plasma supply? If you have not made a blood donation during the last ten weeks, call your local Red Cross today.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

POSTWAR AGREEMENTS STILL UP IN AIR

WASHINGTON — Put together what has been made public in Moscow, London and Washington recently upon the postwar program, and you will have an understanding of the situation which repudiates most of the oratory on the subject, now filling the American ether with such a din as to exclude any solid fact.

Mr. Churchill returned from Moscow announcing to commons no agreement had been reached on the Balkans or Poland with Stalin, but a working arrangement had been perfected for Moscow-London cooperation during the remainder of the war.

His words indicated, and indeed all official pronouncements confirm, that Russia maintains the upper hand in Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and perhaps Hungary while the British have kept it in Greece.

Churchill said agreement would be impossible until he could get Roosevelt together with Stalin, and they have met only once, at Teheran, almost exactly a year ago, where the results were about the same—namely a military agreement for war and a complete delay of political agreements.

RUSSIA NOT AGREED

Since then Russia declined to agree on the new league of nations formula at Dumbarton Oaks, maintaining it wanted unanimity required of the Big Four powers to act against any future aggressor, or she (or us) could veto any war moves against aggressors involving her or us even though all the other nations wished to act.

At that time Churchill hoped a new agreement at the undersecretary level would be made immediately, but it has not been forthcoming.

Now Moscow announces through her newspapers she will not send delegates to the international civilian aviation conference at Chicago, because the "fascist nations" of Spain, Portugal and Switzerland have been invited.

We have all tried to assume that the objections continuously advanced by Moscow only relate to "details," but the only actual postwar agreement reached of any importance has been the Bretton Woods financial arrangement, which may be only partly confirmed (the exchange arrangement will be ratified if the rate of the dollar is properly fixed but the Morgenthau bank will have tough congressional sledding.)

If Russia does not enter a civilian aviation arrangement for the new air world, she will remain an isolationist nation which no one is permitted to fly over without special arrangements, the same as before the war, when her isolationism enabled her to conceal from Hitler and us the size of her military establishment.

Without considering the right or wrong of Russia's positions so far developed, does not our own oratory sound fully silly?

STALIN HAS RESISTED

Stalin would have answered all negatively. Indeed he already has by his actions. He has resisted agreement before the end of the war, is obviously against acceptance of the league without the reservation his associates demanded at Dumbarton, and is clearly not letting any agent get the power of sending his army anywhere in postwar.

Now no one wants to let these disagreements get beyond redemption, although Moscow is plainly less skittish than we about the possibilities of any disagreements helping the Germans because they announce theirs to the press. However, as Churchill puts it, the Nazis' "most important hope is that division will arise among the three great powers."

In truth, the Nazis are only liquidating both themselves and their country by continuing to resist in such a stupid hope, because political disagreements are everywhere considered secondary to the necessity of Nazi destruction. At the same time there is no need that we be fools.

Obviously a great number of our people are thinking and talking in the past. They still think this is 1919 and all this country must do is to want a league in accordance with their theory.

The possibility of secret armament should be eliminated. An uncontrollable international committee should have the right to inspect not only ours, but Russia's, and should make constant public reports.

They should have access to plants, being prohibited only from exposing business secrets and purely non-military processes. Then all would know the realities of peace and war prospects.

If we could get Russia to open up and consent to this one step Germany and Japan could be well managed under the same open rules.

Paper Board Rockets

Cardboard meat boxes carrying supplies from the United States to Great Britain are converted into rockets by the British. The great strength of these boxes makes them eminently suitable for this purpose. While the pulp shortage has made it necessary to reduce the strength of British boxes, the American variety is so strong that it is possible to jump on the boxes without the danger of breaking them.

Wash Before Eating
All fruits and vegetables that are to be eaten raw should be thoroughly washed, for even though they look clean, dangerous bacteria may cling to skins or leaves. As a rule, uncooked meats of any kind should not be eaten. Smoking meat does not kill parasites.

Climbing Roses
Climbing roses are commonly pruned in summer, and hedges may require several trimmings to keep them tidy. Two common vines, wisteria and Boston ivy, must be restrained, with new growth cut back to within a few inches of year-old wood.

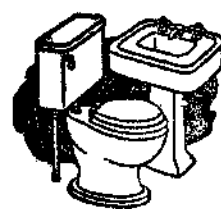

Thanksgiving 1944

THIS season, usually dedicated to happy appreciation of bounties received... holds greater reason for observance this year in its growing promise of Total Peace.

Our triumphs over tyranny, might and hate give us all reason to be thankful for the brightening hope of a better world. Many of our boys and girls in the service will want to call their loved ones on Thanksgiving Day—so please consider them on that day.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazis Fear New Allied Drive; Yanks Pocket Enemy on Leyte; Demand Taxes Cigarette Supply

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Dutch civilians seek shelter in British entrenchment during heavy fighting in Holland.

FDR SWEEP: Dems Gain

Showing almost the same strength as in 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt won his bid for a fourth term hands down, while Democratic strength was increased in both the house and senate.

With FDR polling a tremendous vote in the nation's large metropolitan areas, he overcame Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's edge in the rural districts, where the latter did not run entirely up to form.

Conceding defeat early in the morning of November 8, Governor Dewey declared the Republican party emerged from the election revitalized, then asked for divine guidance of the President in the difficult years to come.

EUROPE: Bloody Fairland

Pine and fir woodlands glistened brilliantly on the eastern edge of Hürtgen forest below Aachen after all-night rains, but death stalked this fairland.

Guarding the gateway to the vital Rhineland center of Cologne, the area was bitterly defended by the Germans, who brought up additional forces to hold down the doughboys' relentless advance.

As the enemy grouped toward the east, U. S. artillery pumped smoke shells into German positions to direct dive-bombers, who then came arching in to drop their explosives and strafe enemy columns.

As is the case of all wars, little places made big news, with such obscure towns as Vossenack and Schmidt gaining attention as pivot points in the fighting. Neither side asked quarter thereabouts, as infantry crept forward under heavy artillery and air bombardment, only to meet stubborn machine gun and mortar fire.

In Holland, Allied troops completed occupation of the southwestern portion of the country after the German withdrawal. With the enemy knocked off of both banks of the Scheldt river leading to the big port of Antwerp, Allied minesweepers cleaned the vital waterway for a resumption of traffic.

Although describing fighting on the western front as local in character, the Germans did not view it without apprehension, claiming that Allied objectives were to gain springboards for a general grand offensive and that they were using not more than 25 per cent of their troops.

As a result of recent fighting, the British 2nd army in Holland improved its position for a drive around the northern Siegfried anchor of Kleve down into the Ruhr; the U. S. 1st army was poised for a thrust at Cologne; the U. S. 3rd maneuvered for an advance on the coal-laden Saar basin, and the U. S. 7th fought to the threshold of the Vosges mountain passes into southern Germany.

At Austrian Gateway

On the eastern front, fighting centered around the once happy Hungarian capital of Budapest, gateway to Austria. With the Russians battering at the city, the Nazis called upon reinforcements to check their drive.

As the Reds threw shells into the capital, and their war planes bombarded it, thousands of panicky residents streamed westward from the metropolis. A leftist revolt to take over and rout Ferenc Szalasi's puppet government failed, and Hungarian generals whose loyalty was doubted were executed.

FARM WAGES: Rates Vary

That larger or more productive farms within an area tend to pay higher wage rates than do the smaller ones is strongly suggested by the findings of a recent study of various aspects of farm wages, the department of agriculture reported. Farms with the larger or more profitable operations can better afford to employ higher-grade workers and can outbid for the services of workers of equal capacity.

PACIFIC: Fanatical Foes

Even as swarms of aircraft fought overhead in the Philippines, equally bitter fighting raged on the ground, with U. S. forces striving to clear the northwestern part of Leyte island.

Having cleared the northeastern portion, doughboys moved on the other half after rounding the end of the mountain range below Carigara Bay, and pressing down the Ormoc valley, where the enemy was well established in hill positions.

valley, where the enemy was well established in hill positions.

In pressing down the Ormoc valley, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command called upon heavy concentrations of artillery to smash Jap entrenchments and rake their supply lines from the little port of Ormoc, where they had previously landed troop reinforcements.

Other doughboys seeking to reach Ormoc through the mountains from the southeast met fanatical Japanese banzai attacks, with sword-waving enemy officers leading chanting, shrieking, yelling troops in charges upon U. S. positions. One impassioned Nip clambered atop a U. S. tank and tried to saw off the big gun muzzle with his saber before being picked off by fire. Still another Jap climbing onto a tank seized communication apparatus and sought to direct the driver into enemy lines before he was discovered and shot.

Presaging continued dogged Jap resistance, was the appointment as commander in chief of enemy forces in the Philippines of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, who spurred the early conquests of those islands. Besides lashing at shipping, U. S. carrier planes also attacked oil storage depots, shops and hangars at enemy airfields on the Philippines, meeting varying resistance.

Remarking on the job, Jap propagandists said that a kamikaze fighter (one who dives his plane into a target) and a sub had sunk two U. S. aircraft carriers, and another U-boat had torpedoed "several oil tankers and transports off the American coast."

CIGARETTES: Short Supply

With more people smoking cigarettes, service demands greater than last year, and manpower and machinery problems besetting manufacturers, the industry has not been able to keep in step with the tremendous market, spokesmen said.

Success in selling smoking to women greatly contributed to the increase in per capita cigarette consumption from 790 in 1926 to 1,877 in 1943, it was said. From 88,400,000,000 cigarettes marketed in 1926, the figure jumped to 257,700,000,000 last year.

Although cigarette production in 1944 is expected to exceed that of 1943, almost twice the number of smokers will go to servicemen, it was said, thus limiting civilian stocks. Though wartime difficulties prohibit further increases in output, a rise in leaf tobacco production will bolster manufacturers' supplies for future use.

The colors of wild animals represent all hues of the rainbow; red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, violet, white, gray, black and white, and black.

According to recent surveys, 33-450,000 families will have flower gardens. Of these, 95 per cent in turn will at least keep their present size and 40 per cent enlarge plantings.

XMAS SHOPPING: Toys

Although selections will be limited, supplies of toys should be ample to meet demands, with more wood and fewer paperboard items available than last year.

The trend in toys has shifted from military to construction and farm types, merchandisers said, with housekeeping and educational and pre-school toys also receiving a heavy play. Serious shortages in dolls are expected, however.

Metal toys will continue to remain scarce, but some will appear on the market as a result of the government's permission to manufacturers to use materials frozen at the start of the war. Most paperboard will be used in toys normally made of it.

Gifts

Although shortages will develop in some goods, there will be plentiful supplies of men's and women's wear on retail counters for Christmas shoppers, surveys showed.

For the little women, rayon hose, negligee, housecoats and lingerie will be available in quantity, it was revealed, while for men, neckties, scarves, robes and sweaters will be in good supply.

Although merchandisers said that there is a trend toward the purchase of utility items, such articles as decorative glassware and pottery are expected to sell heavily. On the other hand, decreases in buying of so-called victory items was predicted.

Because of limitations in some lines, buyers were again counseled to do their shopping early.

WORK INJURIES: Cut Output

With the manpower situation tight enough, workmen's injuries caused a loss of 56,800,000 days in 1943, with accidents generally traced to unsafe working conditions and individual carelessness.

Although 6 of 10 important war industries incurred smaller losses, 1 out of 25 workers in industry as a whole suffered disabling injuries, which are those keeping a person off a job for at least one day.

Accident rates varied widely, from almost 1 out of 5 workmen for logging to about 1 out of 50 in tank construction. A little more than 1 out of every 10 workmen in the miscellaneous lumbering products industry suffered disabling injuries, while the rate for heavy ammunition was about 1 out of every 25.

With half the decrease occurring in 1942, U. S. farm population declined 4,748,000 to 25,521,000 persons in the last four years, the department of agriculture reported. Actually, the decrease was greater, with 1,650,000 farm people entering the services and 4,660,000 moving to other centers, but this loss was balanced by 1,562,000 farm births in excess of deaths.

Entrance into higher paying industrial jobs accounted for much of the loss in farm population, it was said.

WAR LOAN: Seek 'Easy Money'

Seeking to absorb some of the easy money now outstanding and reflected in so-called luxury spending, treasury officials have set a quota of 5 billion dollars for individuals in the Sixth War Loan drive of 14 billion dollars getting underway next week.

With the public being reminded to salt away available cash now for rainy days, the treasury will aim at some of the money being spent on travel, amusements and other diversions.

As an indication of the extent of so-called easy money, New Yorkers wagered some 300 million dollars at racetracks in six months, with gamblers pointing out that at least three times that amount is usually bet on the outside.

The 14-billion-dollar goal of the Sixth drive compares with 20 1/2 billion actually raised in the Fifth; over 1 1/2 billion in the Fourth; almost 1 1/2 billion in the Third; 1 1/2 billion in the Second, and nearly 13 billion in the First, for a grand total of about 88 billion, treasury figures revealed.

ROBOTS: Quick Job

Guided only by army field reports and later by parts of the German mechanism, Ford engineers rushed through the construction of a jet propulsion engine for a robot bomb.

To be tested by the army, the engine was built in the strictest secrecy, with only trusted production men in widely scattered sections of Ford's Detroit, Mich., plant turning out the scores of precision parts needed.

Drawings of the jet propulsion engine were completed upon a close study of badly damaged parts and metal of the German mechanism, flown over from Britain.

SUGAR: Supplies Tight

In a review of the sugar situation, the U. S. department of agriculture reported that the commodity will continue to be in relatively short supply so long as the Japanese control the Philippines and Java, sugar beet crops in the U. S. remain smaller than in pre-war years, Europe's imported needs are abnormally large and demand in this country is maintained at the present high level.

BOWLING

Parsch's team, minus its captain, rolled a nice three-game series during the week and missed by only 26 pins their chance to share in the league lead. They dropped their final game and are now only one game back of the Starmann and C. Auten teams, who jointly hold the top spot.

Landon's group chalked up the highest pin totals for the week and were the only team to sweep their series. They won the prize for highest total pins over their average in three games while the Knoblet five easily earned the one-game prize with a 927 pin count in their second game. Russell Martin cashed in on the individual three-game prize and Johnnie Czerwicz captured the one-game prize when he rolled a 233 game. His three-game totals of 591 were also the largest individual count of the week. Landon registered 587 pins, Knoblet 564, Francis Fritz 553.

The bowlers getting games of 200 or over were J. Czerwicz 233, Benkelman 226, Gross 222, Landon 214, Ellis 204, Knoblet 203-201, Atwell 201, Jankech 201, Martin 200.

The weekly open bowling prize went to Sgt. Jerome Root, Jr., who is home on furlough after many months overseas. Junior, before going into the service, was one of the most promising young bowlers of the city and after rolling his 240 game the other night, we could see he has still retained his accuracy on the head pin and his bowling form is next to perfect. At this writing his 210 game stands high for this week. Sgt. Root, when the war is over and you return home to civilian life, you could easily be the bowler to dethrone a certain old bowler who has things very much his own way among the city's best for quite some time. Hurry back, Junior!

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

One of the problems of the New York theater is late-comers. The usual curtain time is 8:40. It seldom goes up at the time advertised. The delay ranges from 5 to 15 minutes. Yet no matter how long it is held, there are always those who come in after the first act is well along. That is true with hit shows as well as those not in that class. The assumption would be that those who pay $3.60 or even $4.80 for a seat would want to occupy it as long as possible. The reverse seems to be true—the higher priced seats are not filled nearly as quickly as those that cost less. Attempts have been made to cure tardiness by not seating late arrivals until the end of a scene. That merely means a rush period for the ushers. It also means a lot of confusion in the back of the theater to the consequent discomfort of those in the rear seats.

It may be only imagination on the part of one who likes to be in his seat long enough before the curtain rises so he can read the cast and the scenes, but it seems as though the late comers always have seats well down in front and in the middle of a row. Thus a lot of people have to arise—and have their toes trampled—which of course discomforts them and in turn discomforts those behind because their view is shut off. By the time the tardy ones have settled down and the actors can again be seen and heard, the illusion is completely dispelled. The worst of it is that those who cause the trouble do not seem to care at all. In too many instances, instead of sneaking in quietly, they enter with a clatter of conversation which does not always die out after they have been seated.

Late pests are bad enough on ordinary nights. They are still worse on opening nights. A lot of New Yorkers, it seems, attend theater first nights not to see but to be seen. One of the surest ways to attract attention is to barge down the aisle after the lights have been dimmed and the opening lines spoken. Naturally heads turn in the direction of the intruders and naturally there is a question as to their identity. If they happen to be celebrities, or even some erstwhile movie stars, names are lifted about the theater and the people on the stage are thus forced to carry on against unfair competition. As for those who have come because they are interested in the play, they don't seem to count at all. Members of "Cafe society" add to the general delight by greeting friends on their way to their seats or by arising and calling to them after they have been seated.

Another grievance against late comers is that as they grope their way along the row, they knock hats from the racks under the seats or cause the owner to do the same thing. There is no difference in results in either case—the owner has to paw around until he finds his headgear and all too often, it has been kicked about until it has to go to the cleaners. That's an item in itself. Hat cleaners have imposed a 30 per cent tax on their patrons. That is, while it used to cost 50 cents to have a hat cleaned, the charge is now 65 cents. I'm still in favor of a collapsible hat that can be thrust into the coat pocket when not being worn. Not only would it escape damage in the theater but there is also the matter of checking and in New York, the cost of checking one's lid night after night runs into real money.

Other than sheer exhibitionism, one of the reasons for late theater arrivals is New York's dining habits. New Yorkers who frequent the smart spots like to linger over their cocktails. That of course means that they start their dinners late. Some hotels and restaurants have a special theater service, the diner telling the name of the play which he is to see and the dinner being speeded up in accordance with the curtain time. But New Yorkers like to linger over their food just as they do over their drinks. And it doesn't seem to make any difference at all if they do miss most of a first act, no matter what they may have paid for their tickets—or how much discomfort they cause others.

Traffic conditions are another cause of theater lateness. With war time restrictions on the gasoline supply, private cars are not used for theater going. Those who can afford high-priced seats as a rule do not want to go to them in the subway. And there just simply aren't enough taxis in good weather to say nothing of rainy nights. So what with one thing and another I guess there isn't any hope for those who like to see a play without being disturbed.

Day's End Finds First Aid Room Is Busiest

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The first aid room at national OPA headquarters stays open until 5:40 every afternoon, although the rest of the offices close at 5:30. A pretty nurse explained: "We have to stay on a few minutes longer to patch up the ones who get knocked down the stairs trying to get out of here at 5:30."

talent available. I hired 15 young attorneys, each man anxious to make a name for himself, for $1 a year. O'Hara did a brilliant job. All members of my staff worked without stint and they deserve highest praise. I tried to get Purvis as my chief investigator, and offered him $20,000 a year to come to Detroit. I went to New York to consult with Thos. Dewey, then a successful prosecutor of graft cases.

"You can't reveal who you are hiring as investigators, for all testimony must be received in utmost secrecy. Your personal convictions don't mean a thing until you get the actual proof itself. And that takes time.

"You must have new quarters. For if witnesses are seen, others will know how close you may be to a solution. I have taken testimony in taxi cabs, in private homes, hotel rooms and almost any place except my own offices.

"The one man jury is just that. Fox example, there was the Herman Gardens housing case. We worked five or six months without even cracking the case. Suddenly a casual remark by one suspect led to the first definite evidence of wrongdoing. The pay-off man, the connecting link in the conspiracy, received immunity after I had taken him to Chicago to obtain evidence. Three city councilmen were indicted and convicted. But it took half a year to solve this case—don't forget that."

Senator Ferguson spoke with firmness. He fairly snapped the words out, giving them added emphasis. Mops of his white hair tumbled over his forehead in attractive disarray. The affect, a bit picturesque, reminded us of the late Wendell L. Willkie.

"Now this matter of granting immunity to a key witness is important. Immunity is essential to success of the one-man grand jury. The law says that a man does not have to testify against himself. It is his constitutional right to refuse to answer any questions that may tend to incriminate himself.

"In bribery cases all parties are equally involved as to guilt. Because of the individual's constitutional protection, the state is helpless to get testimony in such cases. This situation is remedied when the judge issues a written order commanding the witness to answer questions and granting him legal immunity from prosecution. Then if the witness refuses to answer questions, he can be held guilty of contempt of court.

"Now you can't give immunity to everybody. The witness must be an important link in the crime. Usually he is one of the biggest rogues. In granting immunity the judge must decide whether to grant it to a public official or a private citizen. I always felt that the official was the worst criminal of the two, for he had violated his sacred oath of office. I would rather grant immunity to a private citizen.

"This weapon of immunity is the only way to solve conspiracies which involve many persons. It is society's best protection against potential corruption in government. For the question before public officials is always this: Which one of us may get immunity? Not knowing who may squeal, each official is likely to remain honest.

"It is my personal conviction that were it not for the device of immunity for key witnesses, we would have continual corruption in government.

"Immunity polices your government. It allows conscience to assert itself, and conscience is a mighty force for justice. I have seen men get down on their knees and pray that they may be permitted to tell the truth. The light of conscience burns most brightly in hours of darkness. The best testimony comes at night."

Senator Ferguson recalled how he had to wait until 12:01 a. m. one Monday to receive testimony, as the law prohibits the taking of evidence on Sunday. He merely engaged the witness in conversation until the clock indicated at midnight the arrival of Monday.

"Again I want to emphasize it is important for the grand jury to have enough funds to do the job. If you don't do the job well, you had better not try it at all."

As an illustration of the value of the one-man grand jury to good government, Senator Ferguson cited the Michigan State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. "These agencies not only solve crimes, they prevent crimes," he pointed out. "Thus they are well worth their annual cost."

"The one man grand jury is a 24-hours-a-day crusade in which life itself may be at stake. My own life itself is at stake. My own crooks are cowards at heart, and I knew it."

As for the one-man grand jury investigation at Lansing, Senator Ferguson indicated he had been following its progress through the press. "These remarks of mine were prompted by my own personal experience as a one-man grand jury. I feel definitely that the system itself is sound. It is cheap insurance for good government."

The Fifth Army calls them "Country Cousins"

"Country Cousins!" That's highest G.I. praise for the crack communications Wacs who have been "up country" with the Fighting Fifth.

Healthy, sun-bronzed—these women of the WAC are helping to cut hours off the length of war with their superb skill, their cool-headed competence and unflinching courage.

Keeping front-line switchboards crackling with orders for action, teletypes racing with urgent HQ commands. Keeping up with General Clark—on his long march from Casablanca to Sicily to Naples to "somewhere in Italy."

And as the battle lines lengthen—our gallant hard-fighting armies need more and more "country cousins" on the job...

If you're trained in communications, the Army is the place to put your training to use now.

MICHIGAN'S ONE-MAN GRAND JURY

An interview with Senator Homer Ferguson on Michigan's one-man grand jury system is the subject of the "Michigan Mirror" this week, published on page 1. Oil Heater Buyers Must Be Eligible To Secure Fuel Oil Prospective buyers of used oil heating equipment should ascertain their eligibility for fuel rations before spending their money, Chairman G. M. Booth of the Sanilac County War Price and Rationing Board, warned today in an effort to avoid disappointment on the part of new applicants.

Mr. Booth said the Saginaw district Office of Price Administration has been flooded with appeals from persons who bought the used equipment ration-free but who subsequently found they were ineligible for fuel oil rations for one reason or another.

Among the more common reasons for ineligibility is the fact that the applicant already has wood or coal burning heating equipment.

and is an occasion when looking back on the good old days we spent together for me to express my gratitude for the principles of right living I learned while here.

"First of all, I cherish the memory of my father, who though living in most moderate circumstances inculcated into my consciousness the principles of honesty and fairness in all my dealings with my fellow men. Next to my father, I owe the deepest debt of gratitude to the memory of Mr. Auten, who took me, as a lad of 15, into his bank, taught me those fine business principles that have meant so much to me during all these years.

"What in sum and substance I have particularly learned since I left these, my earliest surroundings, is that the size of the community in which a man finds himself has little to do with the making of his success. If anything the smaller the community the greater the opportunity he has to develop his real abilities.

"It is in the smaller communities that he learns the real values of life. He may leave the smaller community and cast his lot with great concourses of people, but he can never become bigger than he was in the small towns, even though he may rise to great heights in economic or professional endeavors. I am not speaking of how much money he may or may not have made, or how much fame as a genius. I am speaking of what he is as a man of good character and good citizenship. These I insist are best moulded in the small community. There is too much distraction in the larger depths of the populated cities to give more time to develop his best inner self.

"We, as a people, are becoming increasingly too much attracted to the visible manifestations of greatness, to numbers and sciences that we can or cannot comprehend. Less and less are we willing to admit or accept the fact that true greatness exists within the man himself, and the things he does that are not seen by his fellow men, and yet it is from these inner qualities, the character-good in man, that our so-called Christian civilization has been guided.

"It is living together that makes people great. It is living together of many kinds and races and nationalities of people that has made America great. It is out of this living that we find the things we call Democracy, love of people, love of country. When we have become a people long enough we will become a race. What that race will be will depend more upon the small community, the community which raised the strongest character in man rather than upon our great cities and centers of population.

"There is need in America today for cultivating homely and vital contacts. We are fast slipping away from the strong moorings to which our American life has been anchored. There is wide speculation now as to how much better the government can live our lives for us. There is now more thought revolving around how much our country owes us than there is about how much we owe our country. For more than a decade we have been more concerned with government than we have been concerned with ourselves. We say we are free but more and more uncomfortable as we become, bound by restrictions, by debt and by prescriptions as to how we must live. This is not good. It is not good for the individual, nor for individual enterprise. The government cannot make us. We must do that ourselves. The government can and often has unmade a nation and its people. Let us continue to be our own masters, the captains of our own economic and political destinies."

Herb Ludlow is program chairman for the club's December meeting.

Elector's Vote

Legally the elector may vote as he chooses but he is morally bound to vote for the candidate of his party. In the Adams-Jefferson presidential contest, back in 1796, Pennsylvania's popular vote went largely to Adams, but 14 of the state's 15 electors voted for Jefferson. The electors were chosen by popular vote without pledges as to how they would cast their ballots. From that time on, electoral tickets were made up of men pledged to vote for their party candidates.
