In 1900, Dr. Wickware accepted an appointment to the position of house physician in the Saratoga Springs (New York) Sanitarium, where he spent two years in special work. Later he returned to Cass City to practice his profession and acquired the Pleasant Home hospital which he conducted here.

Install New Unit To Heat Church And Parsonage

Methodist folks are looking forward to a warm church building for their congregational meetings and a comfortable home in their parsonage for the minister's family this winter.

A new unit is in process of completion which heats both church edifice and parsonage by steam. The boiler which heats both buildings burns coal fed by a stoker. Thirteen radiators carry steam heat to all portions of the parsonage. Eight radiators and six unit heaters with two-speed fans are in the equipment which furnish warmth to the auditorium, annex and basement of the church building. The heat volume is controlled by thermostatic equipment in both parsonage and church.

Christmas Is Not A Holiday for the Check Forger

Check thieves and check forgers will do their Christmas shopping with stolen and forged checks if merchants and housewives aren't particularly careful, according to Frank J. Wilson, chief of the U. S. Secret Service, Treasury department. "The government mails out nearly one million checks every day," says Chief Wilson, "and about eight million go each month to dependents of men in the armed forces. Check thieves steal as many as they can from hall and porch mail boxes. Then they forge the endorsements and victimize retailers who are so anxious to make sales that they fail to consider the losses they may suffer through carelessness.

The Secret Service offers some simple precautions to help fight the forgery racket. If you receive checks by mail, be home or have a member of your family at home to receive the check when they are due. Then they can't be stolen from your mail box.

If you are a retailer or cashier, don't cash checks for strangers without proper identification. Know your endorsers! Before cashing any check, ask yourself this question: "If this check is returned as a forgery, can I locate the forger and recover my loss?"

"Christmas is not a holiday for the check forger," Chief Wilson said. "He's on the job every minute, always looking for merchants he can fool. The only way to beat him is to beat him to the punch. Know your endorsers, require identification."

Hugh Munro Is New President of Community Club

Wm. E. Matthews Spoke on "The American Mind" at Club Dinner Tuesday

Members of the board of directors of the Cass City Community club who were chosen in November held a meeting Tuesday evening at the high school building and elected Hugh Munro president of the club; Rev. Lorne Lee, vice president; Lester Battel, secretary; and Arlington Hoffman, treasurer. The officers start their terms with the new year.

President Frank Reid presided at the last meeting of the club for 1944 on Tuesday evening, following the dinner prepared by the Evangelical Ladies' Aid society.

Rev. S. P. Kim read the annual report of Club Treasurer Albert Gallagher. It showed the balance at the beginning of the year and the year's receipts to be $1,407.17, expenditures of $1,123.88, leaving the balance on Dec. 1 at $283.29. The balance in the War Chest fund is $1,451.25.

Herb Ludlow, program chairman, presented Wm. E. Matthews, special advisor for the Detroit Edison Co., as the speaker of the evening, who chose for his subject, "The American Mind." In the major documents of American democracy, he declared, there seem to run two strands of gold—faith in freedom under law and faith in God. These major documents include the Mayflower compact, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, Washington's farewell address, and the writings of Woodrow Wilson. These expressions of faith are also found in the national anthem, Mr. Matthews said.

Samples of the 300 toys made by members of the Gavel club decorated the tables and stage. Dr. Starman announced the auction of toys which will be held this (Friday) evening at the school gym.

Bay Port Boy Is a National Winner

Harlan Dietzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Dietzel, of Bay Port, was one of six winners of national 4-H rural electrical awards at the national 4-H Club congress held in Chicago last week.

He was selected among 37 state winners because, with production of food of vital importance this year and help hard to get, he had turned to the job of making electricity do a lot of work on the family farm. To speed up war production the 20-year-old youth made an electric motor portable so it can be used at various places, retired a chick brooder, made electrical heaters to keep the chicken water fountains from freezing, rearranged the lights in the barn for more convenience, and did all kinds of electrical repair work.

Harlan has been so successful that he has founded and is leading a new 4-H club with all members working on rural electrification projects.

The national award brought Harlan a $200 college scholarship from the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co.

48c Want Ad Sells Eight Cows for $1,000

The ink was scarcely dry on the want ad columns of the Chronicle last week before Stephen Dodge had sold eight Holstein cows at his Novesta township farm to Dr. H. T. Donahue of Cass City for $1,000. Mr. Dodge had advertised the cows were to be sold in one group and was quite surprised and gratified to make a sale so quickly. He is convinced that Chronicle liners pay and he is satisfied that 48 cents is a small advertising cost to sell $1,000 worth of livestock.

"There is nothing that I can send you from here, but I'll try to send something anyway, even if it's more Jap money.

"So far I have come out without a scratch so I am having hopes of being home by next Christmas."

David Knight writes his sister, Mrs. Keith McConkey, an interesting letter shortly after Dave's arrival in France. The letter was written from Paris under date of Dec. 3. It read in part:

County Bond Sales Reported As $451,500.50

Dec. 7 Figures Show That $728,499.00 More Are Needed to Reach Quota

Including reports received by C. L. Bougher, county sales manager, as of Tuesday, Dec. 12, sales results of 6th War Loan bonds in Tuscola county are as follows:

Dist.	Sales	Quota
Akron	$38,918.75	$94,400
Caro	68,531.00	259,600
Cass City	88,976.00	118,000
Fairgrove and Gilford	20,731.25	94,400
Gageton	31,906.25	47,200
Kingston	8,651.50	47,200
Mayville	76,767.50	118,000
Millington	26,061.50	59,000
Reese	20,181.00	94,400
Unionville	13,130.25	70,800
Vassar	67,645.50	177,000

Total sales are $451,500.50, and the county's quota is $1,180,000, a difference of $728,499.50. The differences by districts are: Akron, $60,481.25; Caro, $196,069.00; Cass City, $29,024.00; Fairgrove and Gilford, $73,668.75; Gageton, $15,238.75; Kingston, $38,548.50; Mayville, $41,232.50; Millington, $32,938.50; Reese, $74,219.00; Unionville, $57,669.75; Vassar, $109,364.50.

"The above report covers sales virtually from Nov. 1 to and including Dec. 7, and the quotas are what are termed overall quotas," said Mr. Bougher. "These quotas include anticipated sales to corporations, however, the amounts shown as sales do not include those expected from corporations. In next week's report, we expect to have all corporation sales qualified at which time we can include them."

The quota set that individuals of Tuscola county were to purchase was $739,000 of the overall quota of $1,180,000. Below is a tabulation of sales to individuals as compared to the quota:

Dist.	Indiv. Sales	Quota
Akron	$59,120	$93,918.75
Caro	162,580	58,531.00
Cass City	73,900	88,976.00
Fairgrove and Gilford	59,120	20,731.25
Gageton	29,560	31,906.25
Kingston	29,560	8,651.50
Mayville	78,900	76,767.50
Millington	86,950	26,061.50
Reese	69,120	20,181.00
Unionville	44,840	13,130.25
Vassar	110,850	67,645.50

The above shows that Cass City has oversold its individual quota by $15,076.00; Mayville by $2,867.50 and Gageton by $2,346.25. It also shows that other districts must sell the following amounts to reach their quotas: Akron, $25,201.25; Caro, $104,049.00; Fairgrove and Gilford, $10,611.25.

news, and a labor strike is news. But did you ever think that these same Michigan labor strikes represented only a small fraction of the total army of Michigan people who work in war plants? And did you know that several hundred thousand folk from other states have come to Michigan since Pearl Harbor—men and women who do not own property in Michigan? They are interested in their paychecks, and when the war is over, they expect to go home.
 It's our observation, Joe, that the great rank and file of Michigan residents are working faithfully and buying war bonds and otherwise doing their part pretty much as the experts at Washington have asked them to do. Why shouldn't they? These same people have sons in the service, too.

Yes, Joe, as the Christmas season returns once more, we hope you will be patient with us on the Michigan home front. We're trying to help win the war, but you must remember that the war is still a long way off for us. Maybe you'd rather have it that way—to return to a home that has not been demolished or scarred by artillery shells or robot bombs.
 The war is coming home to us, however, in the long casualty lists. Many stars on the service flag have already turned to gold. At Ironwood the residents of that mining community dedicated an honor roll on the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor. On it were 43 gold stars. The names of those men sound like an American melting pot—English, Finnish, Polish, Irish, Swedish as well as other nationalities. They were all Americans—remember that.
 In our hearts we all honor you. So keep up the good fight, Joe. America won't let you down.

ing—without heat and without any of the conveniences we have back here in Michigan.

You know, Joe, it's not easy for us to picture all this. The war isn't being fought in the United States. Sometimes we wonder if that isn't the reason why we sometimes act as we do—we just cannot comprehend the reality of modern war because the war is so far away. It gives us a feeling of frustration.

No, the enemy airplanes never arrived. But again we had nothing to say about that. The Office of Civilian Defense got a lot of us in Michigan to prepare for possible air attacks. Thousands of people in north Michigan and Canada volunteered to scan the skies in details 24 hours around the clock, summer and winter. Fire wardens organized to combat incendiary bombs.

In those days after Pearl Harbor, our military experts at Washington were genuinely concerned over this menace. But the Nazi airplanes never arrived. No bombs were dropped on our homes.

Why? Well, it just didn't work out that way, it seems. The Germans were too busy fighting the Russians, and then there was the British navy guarding the Atlantic ocean while we recovered from the loss at Pearl Harbor.

Try as we do, we still cannot picture what a bombing raid must be like.

Last summer after you and your buddies landed on the beachheads of Normandy and the Allied breakthrough resulted in the great German withdrawal to the Siegfried line, Washington officials were pretty optimistic about a quick victory.

You know, Joe, the newspapers still print the news as Washington gives it out. Officials at Washington possess vital war information. Much of it is censored and not disclosed to newspapers at all.

For example, don't blame us back home for any failure to send over enough shells. If the military experts couldn't foresee the tremendous consumption of shells by McArthur's men at Leyte or forecast the amount of munitions to be consumed in the big push into Germany, how could we back here in Michigan be expected to produce it?

Quoting from the United Press: "The present shell shortage is explained partly by the fact that while Gen. Dwight Eisenhower has asked for two-thirds of the present mortar shell output, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has used more mortar shells on Leyte than in all his previous action. In addition, there are the demands of other Pacific and Mediterranean fronts."

We understand fully why you're sore at the war workers who quit their jobs because of some grievance—higher wages, for example. It is true that Michigan has had a lot of unauthorized strikes. They were unauthorized because the leaders, in many cases, could not keep the workers on the job. Unions have pledged not to strike. Still the workers, now and then, get mad and quit.

OUTDOOR CHRISTMAS LIGHTING. For the third successive year, the Government is asking everyone NOT to use decorative OUTDOOR lighting in observing Christmas. Electricity requires coal for its manufacture—and the fuel situation is critical in most areas of the United States. Be patriotic—save electricity to save coal. Limit your use of decorative holiday lighting to an indoor Christmas tree.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Rambblings and Ruminations: Central park trees looking rather tired and discouraged—they did have a hard, hot summer and unlike so many other New Yorkers, they had to stay right where they were. . . . A bus hurrying through the 65th street transverse, its cargo, homeward bound school children who are doing a lot of shouting and squealing. . . . A black clad, pale, but very pretty young woman, sitting on a secluded bench, reading a letter with tears streaming down her face—possibly a manifestation of another war tragedy. . . . A hansom cab driver telling his passengers, a middle-aged couple, about the old times in Central park when the first snow brought a cutter race with a manum of champagne going to the winner. . . . A gray squirrel, sitting on its haunches, observing a boy and girl who are so interested in one another they are unaware of the rest of the world.

A two-chin dowager barging into a swank shop with all the pomp and circumstance of an ocean liner entering its slip. . . . and a deferential doorman seeing that my lady gets inside with a modicum of discomfort. . . . A gentleman with a stiff hat and old fashioned handlebar mustache, calmly consuming a banana as he walks along the avenue. . . . One sunburned serviceman, at Fifth avenue and 46th street, remarking to another sunburned serviceman, "There ain't nothin' to do in New York. Now if we were just down in Dallas!" and the other replying, "You said it, buddy." . . . A gray-head, whose hands look as if she might be a scrub woman, inspecting a window display of mink coats that are "bargains" at a mere $3,000 each—with the notation, "plus 20 per cent government tax". . . . A derelict pouncing on a discarded half-smoked cigar and going on his way puffing jauntily.

Noisy flocks of blackbirds seeking resting places in the ornamental front of Grand Central Terminal. . . . Maybe they figure that if they arrive early, they'll get the choicest lodgings. . . . Baggage-laden travelers emerging from taxicabs and hurrying into the station as if every second meant much. . . . But if they haven't got their tickets already, they'll spend a lot of time waiting in line. . . . A diminutive red cap with a big suitcase under each arm and another, equally large, in each hand, speeding along as if he were carrying no weight at all. . . . Cameramen waiting the signal that will cause them to dash down to the tracks to meet some motion picture queen arriving from the West coast. . . . and in the background a flock of press agents ready to spring into action.

At a Times square subway station entrance, a graying woman pleading for a "nickel carfare to get to Brooklyn" and, though she receives a dozen or so donations, remaining right in the same place. . . . A very tall serviceman, accompanied by a pint-sized blonde, inquiring as to how long it will take to get to "Coney Island" . . . and on being told, "one hour," shaking his head and turning away. . . . Evidently his leave is running out fast. . . . Two very blonde chorines passing one another with elevated noses—possibly some backstage feud. . . . A very correct British major informing a policeman that he requires assistance because he is absolutely unable to find the hotel at which he registered during the morning. . . . and the officer replying that if he turns his head slightly to the left, he'll see the sign.

The tower of the Empire State building disappearing into the mists. . . . Little side street restaurants emitting breaths of stale grease. . . . A messenger boy with four telegrams stuck under his cap and a hot dog in each hand. . . . Women shoppers, most of them carrying parcels, milling about in Herald square. . . . Jersey residents hurrying into the Hudson tubes on their way home before the rush hour. . . . A flock of sparrows battling over a dirty bread crust. . . . A woman, whose excess flesh causes a middle bulge, colliding with a fat man because her attention is entirely taken by a window display of millinery. . . . and the fat man apologizing despite the fact that the blame isn't his and in addition, he lost his cigar.

Lieut. Jack Raymond after 2½ years in the army, got his medical discharge at 12 the other night and one minute after midnight, went right back to work for his old boss, Praise Agent Ivan Black. . . . Three V-Mail letters from France reached Josh Levin, manager of Cafe Society Downtown, asking for reservations for New Year's Eve 1945.

Farm Families Are Closely Knit by War, Survey Shows

Wartime stresses and work have developed greater cooperation among members of farm families in rural Michigan, a survey recently completed by Chas. E. Hoffer, of the department of sociology at Michigan State college, reveals.

Of 275 families contacted, 165 reported that members of their families have worked together better since the war started. In most cases farm jobs have been distributed and the entire family has worked harder. Farm women have done more chores, gardening and sometimes field work, while nearly all children 14 to 18 years old have increased amounts of work in the field.

On the other hand, a few conflicts have developed in some farm families as a result of the war, but the percentage was smaller than similar reports dealing with urban families. Of the rural families surveyed, only 15 reported serious conflicts. These developed over such questions as a son enlisting in the armed services, marriages brought about by the war, and use of the family automobile.

Cooperation in the war effort has been a major program on most farms, the survey indicated. Of the total, 95 per cent have collected scrap materials and fats for war purposes; three-fourths have used smaller amounts of both rationed and unrationed goods, and 45 per cent of the families have spent at least one-tenth of their income for war bonds. Others have made less-er purchases of bonds and stamps and only a few have made none.

Not Too Happy Over Nazi Loot

'Cabbage Kids' Find Wiping Up After Retreat of Germans Tedious.

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE.—Everybody in the American army is pleased with the supplies taken in captured German dumps except the "Cabbage Kids."

That is the name one detail gave themselves after being assigned to remove a couple of tons of cabbage left behind by the precipitate Nazi retreat from the Paris area.

It was a warm, sunny afternoon and the strong overripe cabbage made its presence widely known as the soldiers shoveled it into a truck.

The driver of the "Red Ball Cabbage Special" was Corp. Hal F. Crouse of Maiden, N. C., who said he had already carted away one truckload and was bemoaning the fact that it was not a load of Luger pistols so he could have stocked up on souvenirs.

Not For Mailing. "But you can't mail your friends a boxful of German cabbage," he said, leaning against a tire and holding his nose.

"The next time the Jerries move out I hope they take their cabbage with them—or make sauerkraut out of it," said Pvt. Meyer Matlock of the Bronx, N. Y.

Pvt. Solon Gray of Flint, Mich., just shoveled away in silence as two "cabbage removal" squad sergeants—Sgt. H. M. Woodall of Gladys, Va., and Sgt. James F. Beale of Terre Haute, Ind.—looked on from a safe distance.

Another unusual job for soldiers was performed by army engineers who built three ferries and operated a passenger service for troops and vehicles across the Loire.

All Bridges Knocked Out. All bridges had been knocked out by Allied planes or blown up by French Maquis to trap German forces in southern France.

Ferry vehicles were made by putting pieces of treadway bridging across six assault boats lashed together. They were powered by small outboard motors, whose efficiency amazed the French farmers. They couldn't see how such a little putt-putt gadget could work so well.

The ferries were promptly named "42nd Street," "Brooklyn," and "Hoboken."

"We can take a ton and one half ambulance across," said Corp. Michael Suprock of St. Clair, Pa.

Their most "distinguished" passenger was Nazi Maj. Gen. Erich Elser, who surrendered the last 20,000 enemy troops south of the Loire. But his 20,000 troops walked across a bridge which was repaired and put into service soon after.

4,000 Autos a Day Are Headed for Scrap Heap

WASHINGTON.—More than 4,000 autos are being scrapped daily and approximately 1,500,000 will leave the highways permanently this year.

The OWI estimated that the supply of new cars subject to rationing had dwindled to 20,000 and that 650,000 used cars are in dealers' hands.

By the end of this year the number of privately owned passenger cars in operation is expected to be about 23,750,000. The ODT regards 20,000,000 privately owned cars run by essential drivers as the minimum number necessary to keep the civilian economy in operation.

Find Louvain Library Partly Wrecked Shell

LOUVAIN, BELGIUM.—The famous Louvain library is partly in ruins, another victim of German ruthlessness. The library was destroyed by the Germans in World War I and rebuilt by public subscriptions in the United States. The building was again partly destroyed by the Germans when they entered Louvain four years ago, and hasn't been touched by Allied aerial bombardment. The front walls and roofs still stand, but the rear is an empty shell, framed by bare walls and empty windows.

Robots Will Displace Other Planes, Forecast

BALTIMORE, MD.—Peyton M. Magruder, airplane designer recently returned from the European battle front, predicted that the German robot plane would revolutionize air warfare and eventually replace piloted bombers.

"Two hundred years from now Hitler will be remembered as the man responsible for the first piloted plane," Magruder said.

Magruder is chief of new design at the Glenn L. Martin airplane manufacturing plant. He originated the Martin Marauder bomber.

Date Dress Helps War Bonds Sales

A brown crepe dress, trimmed with light blue satin, is the date dress favored by Junior members of the American Women's Volunteer Services. The deep-U neckline is accented by a soft bow, the perky front pleatum repeats the rounded line. The girls are planning their winter program, and sewing for themselves is an important part of it. They realize how necessary it is to save dollars for extra War Bonds—and this is an easy way to do it. Patterns similar to this may be obtained in your local store.

STRAIGHT TALK ABOUT THE

SIXTH WAR LOAN DRIVE

AS WE MOVE closer to victory, it wouldn't be surprising if you were saying to yourself—"What's the big idea of asking for all this additional money now? Isn't the war almost over?"

No sir, it is not! Not by a long shot. Of course, for many months now you've heard mostly about the war with Germany, where our greatest effort is concentrated. That's why many people have the idea that the war's practically over.

But make no mistake about it—nothing could be farther from the truth! The Japanese war is a tremendous undertaking, and victory will come high. We'll have to fight every inch of the way.

Everything Costs More—in the Pacific War

The European war is expensive, but almost everything in the Pacific war will cost more. Take transport costs, for instance: Because of the longer distances, the same amount of freight costs 25 per cent more when shipped to the South Pacific than to Europe. And it takes twice as many cargo ships in the Pacific to support a task force of a given size because turn-around time is twice as great!

More Planes . . . Tanks . . . Ships . . . Oil

In addition, we shall need more of everything. More B-29 Superfortresses that cost $600,000 each. More P-47 Thunderbolts that cost $50,000 each. More M-4 Tanks, with bulldozer blades, that cost $67,417 each. More amphibious tanks—more aircraft carriers—more supply ships—more gasoline and oil than it took for the invasion of Europe!

Care for the Sick and Wounded

And lest anyone forget, we shall need more battalion aid stations—more clearing stations—more evacuation hospitals—more convalescent hospitals—more hospital ships.

For many, many years the sick, wounded, and otherwise disabled veterans will require medical attention and care. That's the least Uncle Sam can do in appreciation of what they've done for us.

Maintenance for Millions

Did you ever stop to think how much money it costs to maintain the 11 to 12 million men and women in our army and navy? Whether the men are actually fighting or not, they must be fed, housed, transported from one training center or battle area to another, cared for in a hundred and one different ways. That all costs money and will continue until the last man demobilized is back in civilian clothes.

In addition, millions of dollars will be required for mustering out pay, for various benefits and services voted by Congress to help the boys get started in civilian life.

These are reasons enough why patriotic Americans will want to buy heavily during the Sixth War Loan. But here are still more—

Winning the Peace—for Your Country

If we're to win the peace as well as the war, the cost of living must be kept down and the purchasing power of money preserved. A reckless inflation that would necessarily be followed by the catastrophe of deflation—with its unemployment, bankruptcies, misery and heartache—must be prevented at all cost.

Let's make no mistake—a dangerous period lies ahead. The American people have nothing to fear, however, if they show in the future the same common sense they have shown in the past, and continue to put every penny over rock-bottom expenses into the purchase of more and more War Bonds.

Winning the Peace—for Yourself

Want another important reason? Yourself! There isn't a better or safer investment in the world today than War Bonds. In helping your country, you are also helping yourself! Never in our entire history has it been so necessary to save as right now. We'll need money, individually, for education, repairs, replacements, retirement—and we'll need a lot of it.

As you can see there are many reasons, important reasons, why our Government must have the financial support of everyone, and have it for many months to come.

Let all Americans do their part—for their own sake, for their country's.

In the Elkland-Novesta District there are 304 buyers of 6th War Loan bonds to date. In the 5th War Loan Campaign, the total number reached 531 purchasers. Two hundred twenty-seven more buyers are needed to equal the number of persons that bought in the previous campaign.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

CHINESE CABINET CHANGE WILL AID WAR

WASHINGTON. — All the news from China has been bad lately, excepting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's thorough shaking out of his cabinet.

From the inside, it appears that the generalissimo, having been instrumental in ousting our General Stilwell and thus having saved face with his own people for the military failures, is now getting ready to cooperate more closely with the other United Nations. At least this is what might be termed the inner official view here.

The motives behind the Stilwell withdrawal, unexplained at the time, thus now become more fully evident. The whole panoply of mystifying news from that front thus becomes apparent. Chiang has always been suspicious of the Chinese Communists.

While they are fighting on his side with their armies far off in the north, he actually has had soldiers detached from his own war effort on the Japanese front to watch them. True, the Communists have not been much of a deterrent to the Japs. While some published estimates of their strength run as high as 300,000, numbers are worthless in gauging any Chinese fighting forces.

No one knows exactly how many troops the Commies have, except that these have been sufficient to repel a few Jap attacks. Many whom they count as soldiers are actually farmers who run to action in an emergency. Others are untrained civilians, and the term "bandit" has been applied to a few in the past.

Now by kicking from his cabinet the strongest anti-Communist elements, Chiang is falling in line with the ideas of officialdom here for more coherent action on that front.

However, the change can be interpreted as more political than military so far.

Improved Leadership. Those who know the new war minister say they expect his leadership to bring some "improvement" in Chinese fighting, but very few people in this country appreciate the difficulties he is facing.

Frankly, it must now be said that no satisfactory Chinese military effort has developed anywhere lately. The action on the Salween river front may be an exception, but there we trained the officers and men. It is time to admit also that China is mostly in Jap hands. All of the industry and much of the agriculture went long ago. The seacoast is closed. Most of the internal railroads are controlled by the Japs.

We are today flying in from India through the only contact the Chinese have with the outside world more materials of war than were carried on the Burma road before the Japs cut it.

But our planes flying in a load of gasoline for instance probably consume as much as they can carry as a load. The limitations upon our assistance are therefore evident, and likely to continue indefinitely, although we have greatly increased our supplies in the last five months.

Then again we must recognize that her armies are sometimes led by what we used to call "provincial war lords," many of whom are politicians not strictly supporting the Chungking government.

The Chinese internal economic distribution system has not improved much since before the war, when news of vast starvation was a world sensation almost annually. Inflation is unbelievable, and indeed most authorities suspect China cannot survive financially even if peace comes soon. Certainly the central government is none too sure of itself.

But as these internal inefficiencies, dissensions and weaknesses are native to the Chinese, so also has been their cold, valorous spirit of resistance against the conqueror. While the difficulties practically amount now to internal demoralization, they are not likely to lead to a collapse of the fight on that front.

The Jap drive in China luckily is limited. All advice here prove rather conclusively that the Jap strategy is directed only toward cutting central China off from Burma—if it can be done. But even if this mission is accomplished, they will then have long lines of communications running back to the coast.

Such extensions are really invitations for the special type of fighting the Chinese do best. Chiang is not sufficiently equipped for battle, indeed could not protect five or six of our most important cities which have

Kathleen Norris Says: The Debt We Owe to Christmas

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"If this could be brought home to our children, this incalculable debt that they owe to Jesus Christ, whose birthday we celebrate on Christmas, it might solve some of the great problems that we mothers face."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHRISTMAS seems to me this year quite different from all the other Christmases I ever have known.

It has always meant holly and the tree, presents and roaring open fires, and all the family gathered for the feast. It has always meant special music and special services at church, and—of later years especially, much serious wondering thought of the little baby whose life was to be the most important ever lived by man.

I have marvelled anew every year over the facts of His life; the poverty and obscurity, the complete unimportance of all His associates, even of His persecutors, the strange teaching that was received by a few poor peasants, and the death of a common criminal that they made Him die.

Strange teachings indeed. It contradicted everything that men had ever believed. It discounted force and hate. It loved the incredible doctrine that love was the only power, and that love fulfilled all the laws of heaven and earth. They didn't believe Him, and they killed Him, and His forlorn obscure followers faced the great warring world of that day, and of the new worlds and the expanded days to come, with just a few quoted precepts as their heritage.

And that heritage grew and spread and thundered down the ages and reached unknown countries and unborn peoples—oh, yes, polluted and twisted and misinterpreted and betrayed sometimes, it is true, but still the doctrine of forgiveness and brotherhood. Human weakness delayed it, but nothing could kill it, because it is the truth. So much we all know, so much we all feel, at Christmas time.

Sudden New Light.

But—like a window opening to sudden new light, it has come to me in these terrible years of war that we owe Christianity a tremendous debt over and above the spiritual value it gives us. That Christianity, and the passionate love it awakened in men's hearts, is the actual ark of civilization, and that it ought to be fostered as a sacred possession by everyone who hopes for a new world, believer or non-believer.

The great Hebrew religion, from which the life of Christ was derived, did more than build temples. It built libraries, hospices, colleges; it laid down a public and a domestic law. What other element ever did? These things do not exist in oriental countries, where the great masses of the people even today live and die in obscure superstitions as to evil eyes, caste, black magic.

They do not build cities, railways, bridges, roads. The orient is almost without these things, as it is without modern conveniences, sewers, telephones, paving, schools, hospitals, libraries. I have seen swarming dark communities, hundreds of them, in India and China, into which no one of these things ever had been introduced; where the compounds are icy puddles for eight months a year, and even such simple luxuries as a gas stove or bureau, a change of shoes or a potato had actually never been seen.

Extraordinary as it would be to state that the miraculous life of Jesus Christ had anything to do with Europe's scientific and material progress, and the unbelievable growth of our own world, yet the fact remains that the believing nations, the Europe of yesterday and the western hemisphere of today,

THE FOUNDATION

European civilization was erected upon the ethical foundation of Christianity. All the great accomplishments of the Middle Ages were achieved by men who believed in the religion of Christ. Even today, practically all those splendid and noble institutions that distinguish our civilization from that of the ancient eastern cultures have come down to us from centuries that were activated by a lively Christian faith. Hospitals, schools, homes for the aged, codes of law protecting individual rights, freedom of speech, equality of women... all these and much more have been the outgrowth of the great religion founded over 1,900 years ago.

It seems ironic, when most of the Christian nations of the world are engaged in the greatest war in history, to say that Christianity has inspired all that is great and good on this earth. Yet, in a sense, the very fact that there is a war being waged, that there are so many millions of people willing to fight and suffer and die for the principals of justice and freedom that are the very essence of the religion of Christ, is the best testimonial to ever-living power of that great faith.

are the nations that cling to Him, profess fidelity to Him, no matter how far they fall away from the humility and charity that He preached.

Inspired Medieval Marvels.

It began, of course, with the brotherhood of the early church, with the sharing of bread and wine. It went on to those early documents, to that wealth of priceless paintings, to the great cathedrals that simple men built for love of Him. Even today our painters do not rival those early expressions of love and devotion to the Madonna and her baby; even today our architects marvel at the beauty of Chartres Cathedral and Canterbury and Rheims. Faith built all these; faith inspired the great musical compositions, and the chorals and requiems, and afterward the secular world took hold of these patterns and gave us all we know of modern art and music.

It may be that, after the war we shall have to begin all over again in a stable with a baby; begin with forgiveness and brotherhood, begin to realize that not only do His churches carry His name down the ages to us today, but that every other good and wise thing we have—our hospitals and libraries, our Red Cross and our schools, our laws, our talk at dinner tables, our plans for a better future, all stem from that one life.

If this could be brought home to our children, this incalculable debt that they owe to Jesus Christ, whose birthday we celebrate on Christmas, it might solve some of the great problems we mothers face. Civilization will increase only when we get back as close as we can to the law that tells us that by this shall we be known as Christ's followers, that we love one another. That love fulfills the law. That His burden is easy. That He is the way and the truth and the light. That we have only to seek to find Him.

Women Take Over Santa's Job on Street Corners

The manpower shortage has hit one of America's most cherished institutions—the Santa Claus business. Although the age range for professional Santas runs from 45 to 75, there aren't enough men around to play the fat old saint. As a result, women are inching into the act.

The squeeze started last Christmas. Actors Equity was so short of idle men they talked one of New York's largest stores into substituting a 70-year-old actress.

There's another group of familiar Santas—the street corner figures who ring bells for charity's sake. Red-caped women are filling in here, too.

The women Santas go to a "Santa Claus school"—a simplified, show-how class. Prospective St. Nicks are given their lines. They're told how to draw attention to themselves without being boisterous—told what to say and what not to say to parents and their eager offspring.

"Well, Jake, I'm liking the suit okay, but I'll not pay you $50 for it, nor $40 either. No, not even $30. I'm paying you $25 for this suit, Jake, and you should take it or leave it."

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Dear Michigan GI Joe:

Paraphrasing Lincoln's immortal words at Gettysburg, the world may little note nor long remember what we folks in Michigan do this December, 1944.

The nation, however, cannot forget what you and a half million other gallant sons of Michigan—and your buddies, too, from other states—are doing on the fighting fronts around the world in staunch defense of America's future.

Funny how we have so much in common—you on the fighting front and we in Michigan on the home front? Just because we are separated from you by an ocean and half or more of a continent, don't think for one minute that we're not a member of your team. For we are! We're all on the same team together, Joe. That makes it so difficult for both of us.

As we read your home-town newspaper and note what you have been doing, we are moved by several kinds of emotions. Of course, we are proud of you. News from your letters is being printed every week or so, telling your friends of what you are doing—that is, what the censors will permit you to write.

Then we try to imagine what it must be like, over in France or Germany, or Italy, this December, 1944. The mud is ankle-deep. It is cold. We remember that well from our teen-age experience in France back during the first World War, and that war was a picnic compared to yours today.

We try to picture in our mind what it must be to live in a trench or fox hole—maybe a tent, if you are lucky, or perhaps an old build-

BOWLING

Only one more week of bowling and the first schedule of games will be completed. As previously predicted, the "Chuck" Auten five appear to be the super team and can win top honors by taking one more game in their final series which brings together the two great Auten teams. This series will be rolled on Monday, Dec. 18, at 7:00 p. m. and will be closely watched by the Landon, Starmann and Deering groups, who are in runner-up position and who have a possible chance to tie the leaders if the elder Auten aggregation don't throw a game to the junior squad.

Good bowling has been as scarce as hen's teeth for the last couple of weeks and very few high totals have been recorded. Pinney's team grabbed the three game over average prize with a mere 45 pins, while Willy's group took the one game over average by a 64 pin total. Downing of Gagetown came right back for the second time to take one of the individual prizes with his 541 pin count, and Bennie Kirton won the single game with a 204 pin spill.

The alley manager was the only bowler to register on the honorable mention list and his 569 did the trick. Here are the chaps who hit for 200 or better: Reid 219, Landon 216, Wooley 205, Kirton 204, M. Auten 204, Parsch 202, Downing 202, Juhasz 200. Barney Hoffman's 222 game was high in the open bowling for the week. New teams will be chosen to start the last schedule of the season which will commence after the new year, and a few new captains will replace some of the present captains because of their increased averages attained through the first schedule.

Team standings after 14th week of bowling:

	W	L
C. Auten	27	15
Landon	24	18
Starmann	24	18
Deering	24	18
Knoblet	23	19

Ten high average bowlers—Landon 186, McCullough 175, Ludlow 175, Knoblet 174, Gross 172, M. Auten 171, Parsch 170, Wallace 169, F. Fritz 169, Willy 168.
