Seven Cass City Boys Sell 26 Pigs at District Show for $1,601.86

Cass City boys won both grand and reserve grand champion pen awards at the district 4-H and F. F. A. pig show and sale held at Caro on Tuesday. Donald Buehrly, with his pen of three Duroc Jersey pigs, won grand champion pen honors of the show and Donald Stilson, with his pen of three Hampshire pigs, won reserve grand champion pen honors. The former pen later sold for 30 cents a pound.

Fifteen Tuscola county boys and girls exhibited 54 pigs, weighing 13,880 pounds, averaging $24.02 a hundredweight, for a total of $3,322.01. Seven boys from Cass City exhibited 26 pigs, weighing 6,885 pounds, averaging $23.26 a hundredweight, for a total of $1,601.86.

The grand champion individual of the show exhibited by Ray O'Brien of Mayville, weighed 305 pounds and sold for 43 cents a pound, and the second place individual exhibited by Jerry Davis of Vassar, weighing 220 pounds, sold for 33 cents a pound.

Entire Nation Mourns Death Of Franklin D. Roosevelt; Vast Tasks Face Truman

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

JANUARY 30, 1882—APRIL 12, 1945.

AS THE guns of America's fighting forces sounded ever closer the doom of Nazi Germany and Imperial Japan, Franklin Delano Roosevelt died in Warm Springs, Georgia, where he had been resting for 10 days.

Death resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage at 4:35 p. m. on April 12. Mr. Roosevelt was 63. He had been President for 12 years, one month and nine days. The White House was announced as the site of the funeral, with interment at the family estate at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Less than four months had elapsed since he had taken his historic oath of office for a fourth term. Only a few weeks before he had returned from the Yalta conference where in company with Marshal Stalin of Russia and Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain he had labored to build an enduring peace.

Fate denied Franklin Roosevelt the chance to enjoy the fruits of victory over the Axis. Yet history seemed destined to enshrine him as one of the immortal American Presidents. And every citizen who mourned the untimely passing of the Commander-in-Chief felt that he was a casualty of the war just as surely as every G. I., Marine and Sailor who had fallen in battle.

Fall of Abutment Instantly Killed Paul F. Auslander

Sanilac Road Commission Foreman Was Victim of Accident Monday

Paul F. Auslander, 63, born and reared in Evergreen township, was instantly killed while at work Monday about 11 a. m. Mr. Auslander has been employed with the Sanilac County Road Commission as foreman for the past four months. The fatal accident happened when he was crushed between abutments of the bridge over the Daunte drain on Germania road, 2½ miles northwest of Snover. The bridge over the drain had settled and workmen had removed the floor. Mr. Auslander stepped into the drain and an instant later the north abutment collapsed pinning him between them.

Coroner Henry Hacker of Sandusky was called and removed the body to the Munro funeral home here.

Mr. Auslander, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Auslander, was born Sept. 22, 1881. He was united in marriage with Miss Sable Hyatt, who survives. Also surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Iris Butts of Lansing, Mrs. Zelda Hem and Miss Jean Auslander of Flint, Mrs. Mabel Itchue, Mrs. Marie Osonoske and Miss June Auslander of Detroit; two sons, Clark of Sebawaing and Clair of Decker; eight grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Jos. What Can You Spare That They Can Wear?

The people of America are asked to contribute 150,000,000 pounds of good, used clothing to the United States National Clothing Collection, or about five pounds per capita. The quota in Cass City is approximately 6,500 pounds.

The Rev. M. R. Vender, local chairman, has received a special communication from national headquarters which will be of special interest to Cass City merchants, dealing in clothing. If any merchant has any shop-worn goods or out-of-date clothing stored away, he may consult Mr. Vender in person or phone 178R11 for particulars. Mr. Vender intimates "It may affect your income tax."

Clothing may continue to be brought to the collection centers previously publicized—the post office, churches and school—during the month of April. The council room has been selected as the central receiving station.

Anyone having clothing for the drive who finds it impossible or inconvenient to deliver to any of the centers may call Bernard Ross, chairman of the collection committee, or any Boy Scout or 4-H boy in the vicinity.

"The school is cooperating in a very helpful manner," says Miss Gertrude Striffler, chairman of publicity, "by way of education as to what is needed and organization for stimulating and aiding the collection."

The sorting and packing committee in charge of Mrs. John Sandham, chairman, started their work on Wednesday.

Arlington Hoffman is the latest appointee to the committee, Mr. Vender reports. He represents the Masonic order and has been assigned to the packing and shipping sub committee.

Cass City High School Is Host to Future Students

Fifty Eighth Graders Attend Orientation Day Here on Wednesday

Eighth grade students representing 20 district schools within a radius of 10 or more miles of Cass City were guests of the local high school all day Wednesday.

After meeting in the school library, where they were welcomed by Supt. Willis Campbell and Principal Arthur Holmberg, the students were escorted by student guides to the same home rooms they will attend when they enroll here next fall. During a half hour program in the home rooms, student speakers explained matters of courses of study, enrollment procedures, school activities and rules, and other information of value to entering students. The remainder of the morning was spent in a conducted tour of the various departments and classes where the visitors had a first hand glimpse of the sort of things they would be doing as future students in the high school. During the noon hour, the boys and girls were guests at the cafeteria and had some time for free recreation. After lunch, a group picture was taken in front of the high school. Two afternoon classes were visited briefly and then the visitors and regular students alike enjoyed an assembly program in the auditorium featuring music by the high school band, selections by the glee club, and brief talks by student and faculty representatives. A one hour movie show brought the day's activities to an end.

It is sincerely hoped by students and teachers alike that each of the visitors was well impressed by a day's visit in our school and will plan to return to become permanent members of the school family next September.

DDT Proves to Be Medical Ace

Say New Insecticide May Revolutionize Living in World of Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON. — "DDT," the war-developed insecticide which may revolutionize living in the world of tomorrow by controlling certain diseases, is now a medical big shot and is being sprayed from trucks and airplanes to protect our soldiers but it first proved its worth on a mass scale beneath the dirty, flowing robes of louse-ridden Arabs and under the drab garb of inmates of French prisons in Africa.

North Africa with "its sweating millions and unsanitary conditions" was chosen, the army says, as the initial tough proving ground for "DDT," the chemical which in laboratory and small scale human tests had shown sensational promise as a killer of malaria bearing mosquitoes and typhus fever bearing body lice.

"DDT" — or dichloro-diphenyl-trichloroethane — was developed as an insecticide in this country early last year, says the Chicago Tribune.

Midway in 1943, after louse powders and mosquito and fly sprays had been developed, Col. William S. Stone, chief of the army's preventive medicine section in North Africa, obtained supplies of both and undertook the venture of trying them on a broad scale.

His little office on the steaming Algerian waterfront, the army says, was "pervaded by the ascending smell of sweating Arabs and decaying fish." There the American scientist mapped his strategy.

He knew that American soldiers had partial protection against typhus because all of them were vaccinated, but there still was the problem of the unvaccinated natives in the African theater — and he knew that most of them were crawling with lice.

To get at the lice which carry typhus, Stone knew he had to get down to the dusky hides of the natives. His plan was to send typhus control teams or "louse killers" among the natives with the offer of dusting them with louse powders, free of charge.

Stone had improvised dust guns that could be inserted up a man's sleeve — or down a woman's back — so that the dusting could be done without the removal of clothing, an important point in a land where the natives keep their clothes on for months at a time.

French colonial officials shrugged incredulously when they heard of Stone's plan.

Plan to Dust Sheikhs.

"You'll get nowhere with the Arabs," one said.

But Stone was convinced that the sheikhs and their followers would like to stop scratching. So he and his typhus teams started making the rounds of a few villages. Many natives fled to the hills, but word soon got around that at long last an itch-less night's sleep was to be had in old Arab — through the courtesy of the Yankees and their magic white dust.

Native dock workers were next. And it was found that if the men were dusted only once a month, the lice could be kept at a "safe level" even though the men were exposed to lice in their own homes.

That was all the proof the natives needed generally. Stone and his GI buddies did a rushing business. Natives flocked to the dusting stations as to a county fair.

All this time, American soldiers were dusting their own undies with pocket-size cans of "DDT." At the end of 1943 only 14 mild cases of typhus fever, with no deaths, had occurred among all the American troops there that year.

Paris Has No Perfume; It's Hard on Yanks Now

PARIS. — "No more perfume today."

With such signs frequently hung up in Schiaparelli's, Guerlain's and other famous perfumers — the Yank in Paris finds one of the few reasonably inexpensive pleasures that had been left him in this war-deprived city is also gone.

Not only that, when he can find perfume — which is about the only one of the "luxury" products remaining anywhere within reach of his $72-a-month salary — he finds, to his utter dismay, that the price has suddenly gone up 50 per cent.

One of these Yanks who have been driven from gay night clubs to cheap cafes by champagne costing $12 a bottle, and forbidden to eat in restaurants, Pvt. George Andrews of Waltham, Mass., commented: "This is the last straw."

Save Lives of Wounded Foe Against Their Will

LONDON, ENGLAND. — Seriously wounded German prisoners, unwilling to accept non-German blood, have been kept alive against their will by transfusions, Norman Bower, conservative member of commons said recently. He served notice that he would ask the war minister "if he will take steps to see that the lives of fanatical Nazi soldiers are no longer saved against their will."

It is this art of cutting and polishing the jewels, of course, that gives them their incomparable fire.

Sprinkle Clothes

When sprinkling clothes use a bottle sprinkler, a sprayer or clean whisk broom. Dampen most things evenly but lightly; too much moisture means longer ironing but lines must be quite damp for a lovely finish. Knit cottons and heavy play clothes should not be dampened. Sprinkle things with warm water if you want to begin your ironing soon, but if you possibly can arrange to do so, roll pieces up tightly and leave them overnight.

Muffin Pans

When filling muffin pans, leave one of the small sections empty and fill with water; the muffins will not scorch.

Made to Stick

One of the handicaps in the use of synthetic rubber is its lack of tack, or stickiness, which makes it more difficult to cause pieces of the synthetic product to stick together or to cement it to other materials, in the unvulcanized state. This difficulty has been overcome by adding to the butadiene-type of synthetic rubber a class of materials known as alkyl phenols.

Remain Moist

Cookies made with honey will remain moist a longer time than will those made with sugar. Special cookie recipes, however, specifying the use of honey should be used.

Ink Stains

Any fresh ink stain, unless the ink is of the "permanent" variety, will respond to the "water bowl" treatment. Never, never use milk as an ink remover! Milk kills the luster on fabrics and runs the colors. If water does not remove all traces of ink from white or fast-colored cottons or linens, use a bleach, as directed. For silks and woolsens, apply a few drops of peroxide to stain while cloth is stretched over bowl. Repeat treatment in stubborn cases. Rinse with luke-warm water.

Jam Purses

Zipper frequently jam on purses. The right way to open a zipper is to press down on the tab gently with the forefinger, then pull back. Don't yank if the fastener stalls. Just back up gently, clear the way and proceed as before.

FARMERS OF MICHIGAN!

You Wouldn't Quit Raising Lambs

BECAUSE OF ONE BLACK SHEEP!

—THEN WHY QUIT RAISING BEANS

BECAUSE OF 1944'S DROUGHT?

You cannot condemn an entire flock for the shortcomings of one sheep. And you cannot turn thumbs down on bean raising simply because one year's crop was not up to expectations.

Admittedly, 1944 was a bad year for many bean growers. Drought spoiled the crop in some areas, just as it can ruin the prospects of a bountiful harvest of any crop.

But instead of considering only the one bad year, let's look at the many years prior to 1944 when the bean crop was plentiful, when beans yielded a good return for the money and labor invested. Let's look at the steady succession of seasons when beans, given a fair chance by man and Nature, poured from the fields to the elevators in an almost unending stream.

And let's look to the future. Beans, now an important food, are becoming more and more vital in the manufacture of synthetic foods and materials. The booming market for beans will grow more demanding as laboratories find more uses for them. There's no indication that 1945 won't bring us bumper crops, as has most other years.

Beans are an important War Food. They are an economical crop to grow. Put your land—as much of it as you can—to work on a product with a future.

Kitchen Parsley

To grow a crop of parsley in the kitchen, buy a small sponge, cut it in half and place the halves in a bright-colored dish. Sprinkle over them a few parsley seeds and keep moist. The growing parsley will provide a nice bit of green for the kitchen window and in addition it will furnish fresh parsley to use for a garnish at the table.

Among the most enjoyable luncheon programs of the Rotary club are those in which local talent is featured. Tuesday was such an occasion when the High School Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Mrs. William Miller, sang "Let My People Go," "When Day Is Done," "I Am an American" and "Solomon Levi." Miss Jeanne Profit added to the pleasure of the luncheon hour by contributing two saxophone solos. Chester O. Egner of Saginaw, an OPA representative, spoke briefly on "Meat Rationing."

Achievement Day at Fairgrove April 24

Over 400 women of Tuscola county who have completed the 1944-45 projects of Home Economics Extension Work will participate in their annual achievement day on Tuesday, Apr. 24. This year's meeting will be held at the high school at Fairgrove with the morning program starting at ten o'clock. Twenty-three groups have completed the four regular projects for the year and will set up exhibits on achievement day to show the main points learned from the lessons. Three groups have had special interest lessons and will make exhibits to illustrate these lessons. In addition many groups have had lessons in connection with community groups, studying "Our South American Neighbors." The four main lessons studied by all groups this year were:

"Streamlining the Kitchen for War."

"Planning Meals from Abundant Foods."

"Homemade and Remodelled Furniture."

"Time Savers in Home Sewing." Nineteen groups studied an extra lesson on "Daily Care of the Patient." All members attending the meeting will participate in a potluck dinner at noon, after which the afternoon program will be presented. The Fairgrove group will be hostesses for the day, with Mrs. Will Bell, general chairman, assisted by members of her group. Mrs. Louis Hodwach of the Southeast Fairgrove group is chairman of exhibits, with other members of her group assisting. Announcement of results of county election of members for the executive committee will be announced at achievement day, as well as announcement of new county chairman to succeed Mrs. Henry Spiekerman of Gilford, retiring chairman.

Mrs. Skelly Marries New York Man

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McGregory near Shabbona was the scene of a wedding last Thursday, April 12, when Mrs. Mary Skelly of Cass City and John Hevory of New York state were united in marriage. Rev. Lorne Lee of the Church of the Nazarene performed the ring ceremony in the presence of a few guests at 5:30 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McGregory were the attendants.

The bride's dress was of light blue and Mrs. McGregory wore a printed jersey. Following the ceremony, a dinner was served the wedding party and guests, numbering 14. Those who attended from a distance were from Fairgrove and South Haven.

In the evening 25 friends from town went to the McGregory home and after the newlyweds were charivari, a social evening was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Mrs. A. Turner Funeral Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the Shabbona Methodist church for Mrs. Alma A. Turner, 73, widow of the late William Turner of Ellington. She died Sunday morning at her home in Shabbona after a ten days' illness.

Dr. E. Ray Willson of Caro officiated at the services Tuesday. The remains were taken from the Turner home to the church Tuesday noon to lie in state until the funeral hour. They were buried in the Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Turner was born Mar. 8, 1867. She leaves six brothers and one sister, Philander, Carl and Clifford Phillips of Minnesota, Charles Phillips of Detroit, Leslie Phillips of Snover and Floyd Phillips and Mrs. Delia Smith of Decker.

Jos. P. Wolf Died Sunday Morning

Joseph P. Wolf, 63, passed away early Sunday at the Morris hospital after an illness of a few days. He had lived at his farmhouse six miles west and one mile north of Cass City.

Mr. Wolf was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolf and was born April 28, 1881, in Clinton county. He came to Tuscola county when he was a small child.

At 9:00 a. m., Tuesday, funeral services were held in St. Agatha's Catholic church, Gagetown, where he was a member. Rev. Fr. John McCullough conducted the rites and the remains were buried in St. Agatha's cemetery.

Surviving are two brothers, Michael of Flint and Frank of Chicago, and two sisters, Mrs. Tena Wixson of Detroit and Mrs. Janie Lond of Windsor, Ont.

Clip Rug Sprouts If a rug sprouts loose ends of yarn, as the best may do, clip the sprouts even with the surface, using sharp scissors. That's much better than pulling them up like weeds.

Heavy Scrap Needed, Inventories Low

At the request of the War Production Board, Civilian Defense, county salvage chairmen are being called upon to place special emphasis on the collection of heavy melting scrap and cast iron because of present low inventories.

"Iron and steel scrap inventories have declined almost to the level in 1942, when furnaces were forced to shut down due to a lack of this material," said Edwin J. Anderson, chairman of the State Salvage Committee of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense.

"It is felt that Michigan farms can still be a prolific source of heavy scrap, such as useless and discarded plows, broken down tractors, gears, hay rakes, cultivators, and other discarded tools and machinery," Anderson stated. "There has been no intensive coverage of the farms since the autumn of 1943, and since then accumulations may well have developed in many locations."

Because of the early spring and the fact that farmers are already engaged in planting operations, there will be no all-out, all-county farm scrap drive at this time. However, every county chairman is being asked to do what he can to start any farm accumulations moving, after first making certain a buyer is available. Some scrap dealers, it is pointed out, may be unable to purchase farm salvage because of lack of manpower and trucks.

ROMAN BANQUET.

By Virginia Greenleaf.

The members of the Latin class of the Cass City high school held a Roman banquet Thursday evening, April 12, in the school library.

The students did all the work of planning and preparing the dinner, making programs and setting up and arranging the tables. They pushed library tables together and padded them for couches, using tables from the home economics class room to hold the food.

Using pictures in Latin textbooks as patterns, the pupils fashioned togas from sheets. Some of them were comical. (The writer thought hers comfortable).

The "Romans" reclined on the padded tables after the fashion of the Romans. The food was served by the boys of the class, "slaves" for the evening.

After the banquet, the entertainment began. Elaine Shagena sang "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean" in Latin. Velma Muntz and Florence Hillman gave readings, "Echo and Narcissus" and "Pyramus and Thisbe," respectively. The readings were acted out by Carol Lounsbury and Victoria Kloc. The program concluded with the group singing songs in Latin.

GERARDMER, FRANCE. — The Germans burned and blasted 30 miles of the once beautiful Meurthe river countryside of eastern France in an orgy of destruction planned as methodically as a military campaign, the mayor of this ruined town said.

Special engineers crated pyres of gasoline and straw, weighted down with furniture, in most homes and farm buildings. Large houses were destroyed with aerial bombs. Special squads went through factories and broke up all machines with sledgehammers.

BOWLING

Going into the last week of scheduled bowling for the season, we find the Starmann, Parsch and Reid teams the likely contenders for first place while Reid's five are one game back of the two leading teams. They may still make their bids for the top spot if they eliminate the Kolb Five, their last opponents. Either Starmann's or Parsch's teams should win two out of three games and one of them should clinch the top place and be eligible for the roll off against the Chuck Auten team that were winners in the first schedule of games. This match will be rolled Monday night, Apr. 23, at eight o'clock.

Only Knoblet's team came through the week with a clean sweep of their three game series, yet they are not contenders for the league lead but they can make it hot for the Parsch team as these two teams meet on the final night of bowling and the Parsch team must be at their best to keep in the running.

Individually, Reid's 594 count, along with Pinney's 557 totals were the only two bowlers to hit the maples and reach the honor list. Several bowlers did register games of 200 or over and they were Reid 226, McCullough 220, Kolb 218, Starmann 210, Steinman 208, Hartwick 207, Gross 207, Pinney 203, F. Fritz 202, Schenck 200.

Among the list of 10 high average bowlers, Reid, Ludlow and McCullough are fighting it out for runner-up position. The top bowler has had no opposition since the first few weeks of bowling opened. Willy's 207 game won the alley's weekly prize for open bowling.

In the Merchants' league the race was really close. Schwaderer's team romped away with a three game win on closing night to end the season in a tie with the Sam's Tavern Five. Sam's encountered plenty of trouble against the fast moving Banker squad and were lucky to win their last game by 11 pins to share the top with Schwaderer's Construction. The tie was to be decided on April 18 in a three game series as these two teams clash for the championship. Hartwick in this league shot a three game series total of 636 pins, while Landon rolled a 250 game.

There were 681 actual interceptions of insects and plant diseases.

Date Data

Production of American-grown dates has increased from 1,000,000 pounds in 1926 to 20,000,000 in 1943. Weather has always handicapped growing of this fruit, which requires a very hot, dry temperature during the summer and fall ripening period. One shower can ruin the crop.

SUGAR BEETS are in reality two crops in one—the roots and the tops. Each 100 pounds of roots produces on the average 15 pounds of extractable sugar, 4 pounds of molasses, and about 5 pounds of dried beet-pulp.

The average crop of properly-tended beets produces from one acre of land approximately 2,800 pounds of sugar; pulp and molasses equal in feed value to a 20-bushel corn-crop or a 25-bushel barley-crop; and tops and crowns equal in feed value to good-quality mixed-hay, acre for acre.

The beet pulp is dried and sold largely in the eastern United States for dairy feed. It is equal to corn in feed value, pound for pound.

Beet pulp is a conditioner for live-stock and nearly all show cattle get it in their ration to keep them healthy and glossy-looking.

Molasses is sold to alcohol distillers, and to yeast and citric-acid manufacturers for industrial, food, and medicinal production. In war, the demand exceeds the supply several times over. In peace, the market is stable.

When available in peacetime, local farmers find molasses an excellent live-stock feed, and also use it to mix with silage.

Over the years—in war or peace, prosperity or depression—the experience of thousands of farmers proves that Sugar Beets put more money in their pocketbooks than any other crop.

Marvin A. Jones, War Food Administrator, has promised every possible assistance in supplying labor for the Sugar Beet crop and we share his confidence that all beets planted can be worked and harvested. This labor will also be available for use on other crops. So the best way to assure an adequate supply of field labor in Michigan is to plant Sugar Beets.

The "little red schoolhouse," traditional recipient of rural affection and a target of modern educators, is rapidly becoming one of the Michigan casualties of World War II.

The reason is economic. Teachers are being lured to other occupations where compensation is more attractive.

"The shortage of teachers in Michigan this year is estimated to be 3,500," said Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction. "Next year it will increase, we estimate, to around 5,000. The average salary of a teacher in Michigan is $1,641 a year. This means that many teachers receive less than the medium sum."

"Approximately 100 communities in Michigan are now reorganizing their school districts. Parents are demanding better programs for their children, and only the larger schools can afford such courses as music, art, domestic science, and manual training, and can pay salaries adequate for skilled teachers."

The house of representatives has approved a bill which would permit school districts to create a study commission to investigate the advisability of school consoli-dations. The bill, if enacted by the legislature would legalize a voluntary procedure and would not compel a school consolidation where taxpayers did not want it.

Dr. Elliott said the bill was patterned closely after a measure enacted by Washington state where school districts have been widely reorganized.

"We do not advocate the closing of all one-room schools in Michigan," he added. "Consolidation is not practical in all cases, and it should be effected only where benefits can be realized by the taxpayers in behalf of their children.
It is our hope that the one-room school, even if abandoned, may continue to serve as a rural community center to meet the social needs of the rural community."

Modern transport whereby a bus has replaced the horse and buggy in rural school districts is one of the economic changes which has favored consolidation of school districts.

The state public education commission submitted recommendations two years ago for reorganization of Michigan 6,000-plus school districts. Summary: That no elementary school child shall walk more than one and one-half miles; that no secondary school student shall walk more than two miles; that districts if reorganized, shall permit bus transportation whereby an elementary school child would not be on a bus more than 30 minutes and a secondary school student more than 45 minutes.

The commission recommended that each consolidated district should have at least $3 millions in equalized state property valuation "except in those cases where the population density is relatively low and the percentage of first class land for general agriculture is less than 20 per cent."

Cleaning Blinds

Use a blind brush or clean cloth to brush off venetian blinds. Then take one pan of warm water with mild white soap and cloth to get off the spots and film. Have cloth just damp, not wet, as water ought not to run or get on the tapes. Have another pan at same time, with clear warm water, for rinsing. Another cloth to dry thoroughly. Then, as a final step, dip a small cloth into a good quality liquid wax and wax each slat. That makes four steps in all for each slat, really, clean. Do this twice a year and brush when needed at other times.
The final wax coating restores the gloss to the slats and helps to keep them cleaner. You will have to change your water frequently as it probably will get quite dirty.

Marine Uniform

Back in flintlock days, members of the U. S. marine corps wore green coats, white waistcoats and buff-colored trousers that disappeared into leggings above the knees.

Pot Holders

Round pot holders can easily be cut by using a saucer for a pattern.
They are especially handy when taking pies or puddings from the oven, as there are no corners to drop into the food and get sticky.

President's Life Was Characterized By Vigorous Action

Unlike the "log-cabin" presidents, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was not born into poverty. When Franklin arrived at Hyde Park, N. Y., on January 30, 1882, he came into a family that had possessed wealth for many generations. The Roosevelts had been thrifty land-owners in the Hudson valley since the first of the family came over from Holland. On his mother's side also there was a substantial fortune.
Among his ancestors were many men who had served the state in various capacities.

Young Franklin attended the very fashionable Groton school, where he prepared for Harvard university.
After completing the liberal arts course he entered Columbia U. law school, from which he was graduated in 1907. Two years earlier, however, he married his distant cousin, Anna Eleanor Roosevelt.
Eleanor was a niece of Theodore Roosevelt, at that time in the White house.

After two years of legal practice, Franklin entered politics, running on the Democratic ticket for the New York state senate. He unexpectedly defeated a strong Republican candidate. From the beginning of his career he identified himself with reform movements, opposing the powerful Tammany organization in the statehouse. He was re-elected in 1912, by which time he had become a leader of the anti-Tammany faction.

Woodrow Wilson appointed Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy. When World War I broke out Roosevelt proved himself an efficient administrator, handling billions of dollars' worth of contracts for ships and supplies. He served in this post throughout the war.

Ran for Vice President.
In 1920 the Democratic national convention chose him as running mate for James Cox. While campaigning for the vice presidency Roosevelt made many acquaintances valuable in later political life. Cox being defeated, F.D.R. returned to legal practice.

The following year the great tragedy of his life struck him—infantile paralysis. The big, strong young man became a bedridden invalid. For months he lay without ambition, almost without hope. Slowly his powerful will took command, however, and by persistence he partially regained the use of his muscles. It was during his convalescence at Warm Springs, Ga., that he determined to do what he could to eradicate the scourge that had almost ruined him. The "March of Dimes" campaign was the result.

At the Democratic conventions of 1924 and 1928, he aligned himself with the group supporting Alfred E. Smith, New York's governor.
When Smith was nominated in 1928, Roosevelt ran for governor of his state and was elected. At the end of his two-year term he was again elected, this time by the greatest majority ever given to a New York governor.

As governor he continued the reform and improvement policies of his predecessor Smith. His achievements attracted nationwide attention. As the depression that began late in 1929 deepened, his efforts to control the mounting business failures, unemployment and distress in his state revealed his abilities as a vigorous leader in grave times.

Swept in as President.
When the national convention met in Chicago in 1932 Roosevelt was quickly chosen. He was swept into office by a plurality of seven million votes, carrying 42 states.
Both houses went Democratic.

Before he could take office a wave of bank failures threatened the whole economic structure. The famous "bank moratorium" order, one of Roosevelt's first official acts, closed all banks until they could be reorganized on a sounder basis, thus preventing disastrous runs.
In the spring of 1932 came the repeal of the 18th, or prohibition amendment. Then came the National Industrial Recovery Act, or "NRA," under which extensive emergency powers were granted to the President. A series of public works, were authorized to combat unemployment, together with huge appropriations for direct relief.

The numerous executive and legislative acts of this first term were approved in general as necessary in the face of widespread suffering. A phrase from one of the President's speeches, "a new deal," developed into a title for the whole Roosevelt program.

In 1936 the convention in Philadelphia nominated Roosevelt by acclamation on the first ballot. He carried 46 states in the elections. This second term majority was so overwhelming that many New Dealers began to call it a "mandate from the people." During this second term a great number of measures were passed to increase the economic security of the individual, particularly the workers, farmers and small businessmen.

HOLBROOK

The Holbrook Recreation club held its meeting on Friday evening, April 13, at the Holbrook Community hall. For such an unlucky date, the gathering had a fair attendance. New guests were Earl Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hewitt, and Robt. Hall. Members hope they will be permanent and active members. Marjorie Simkins and Richard entertained with several numbers on the piano and Leslie Hewitt and Muril Shagena favored the club with some music for dancing during the evening. Cards were played also. At the next meeting planned for April 27, Earl Hewitt and Charles Simkins will be hosts when the club will meet again at the Holbrook Community hall.

Sponge Useful

A sponge is useful for ironing or pressing materials that need to be dampened. Just rub the sponge over the dry section. There will be no trail of lint left.

Bake Old Fowls

For older birds that are less tender, baking is recommended. If desired, the fowl may be steamed until partially cooked, then placed on a rack in a covered pan with a small amount of broth added, and baked until tender.

Picks Up Dirt

There's a sound reason for sweeping every day with a soft brush or hand carpet sweeper. That way, you pick up loose dirt, lint, and threads.
Dirt left alone works down to roots of the pile, where it takes harder cleaning to reach it. Gritty dirt, especially, cuts the tufts—that's why door mats save rugs.

Penicillin Mold

Penicillin is produced by a mold that lives on a diet composed almost completely of agricultural products and gets its name from that mold: "penicillium notatum." This particular mold is just an ordinary green-colored micro-organism resembling the mold sometimes seen on bread, cheese, and other household products. The mold grows easily but does not yield worthwhile quantities of penicillin unless maintained under ideal conditions and fed on the proper diet. Producing penicillin is certainly not a household task. It's a laboratory job that must be done by trained scientists under carefully controlled conditions.

Mulching Perennials

Caution should be observed in mulching perennials and biennials which hold their green leaves above ground all winter. These plants can be severely damaged or even killed by covering them with a layer of straw or similar material. Such plants as Canterbury bells, fox gloves, Oriental poppies, violas, pansies, English daisies and forget-me-nots have leaves that should stay green during the winter months. These will benefit from a winter mulch, but it should be placed on the ground under the green leaves instead of covering the entire plant, thus allowing for light and circulation of air around the plants.

Needs Brushing

Upholstery needs brushing each week and a sharp-eyed hunt for pests. Remove cushions and clean the crevices. Clean off stains. If the pile is matted, you can steam it, this way: Spread a damp cotton cloth on the crushed pile and hold an iron—hot enough to make steam —close to the cloth, but not touching.

Brown Mascara

If hair is light brown, blond or red, use brown mascara.

Entire Nation Mourns the Death Of President Franklin D. Roosevelt

Concluded from page 1.

Never before had an American President died in wartime. Abraham Lincoln fell under Assassin Booth's bullet just five days after the surrender of General Lee's army at Appomattox in 1865. Woodrow Wilson lived to see victory over Germany in World War I, but he fought a losing battle for the League of Nations and died early in 1924, a defeated leader. Many historians believe Lincoln's greatness might have been dimmed in the conflicts over reconstruction that followed the War Between the States, just as Wilson's prestige was lost in the conflict over the league that followed World War I.
Thus Franklin Roosevelt, dying at the height of his career just as victory was to be achieved over Germany, seemed likely to live in history as a great man.

As the American people from Main Street to Riverside Drive mourned the death of Franklin Roosevelt, their prayers went up for his successor, Harry S. Truman.
For on the shoulders of this slight, gray, 60-year-old Missourian had been laid a responsibility such as no American President had ever borne.

What the consequences of the President's death would be to the United States and to the world, time alone would tell.
But as Americans recovered from their first shock at the news, they quickly determined two things. The war must be prosecuted to as speedy and victorious a finish as possible.
Lasting peace must be established.

And so, regardless of party or of past political differences, the people have rallied behind Mr. Truman.

The new President faces the immediate task of directing American participation in the United Nations' blueprints for a permanent world organization. He likewise faces the responsibility of establishing working relations with other members of the Big Three, so that the personal cooperation which existed between Franklin D. Roosevelt, Josef Stalin and Winston Churchill in leading the Allies toward victory

PRECEDENTS OUT:

Throughout his career as President, Franklin D. Roosevelt was known as the "precedent breaker." That title was first conferred in 1932 when he flew out to Chicago from Albany, N. Y., to address the Democratic convention that had nominated him. It continued after his election as a result of his informal methods of transacting business.
But it reached a climax in his decision to seek a third term in 1940 and a fourth term in 1944.

HARRY S. TRUMAN
33rd PRESIDENT OF U. S.

may be maintained in helping win the peace. He faces the long-range job of guiding the nation to postwar economic prosperity once Nazi Germany and Japan are finally defeated.

Known as a plain, modest man who has not dramatized himself personally, President Truman nevertheless has demonstrated on many occasions that he can be a leader of force and determination. His work as chairman of the Truman committee in the U. S. senate investigating the conduct of the war is cited as an example of this. And his conduct of the Vice Presidency has shown that he can work successfully with political leaders of both parties in getting needed measures passed and in reconciling opposing points of view.

The 33rd President was born in Lamar, Mo., May 8, 1884, although the home of the family for four generations had been on a farm near Independence, Mo.

Served in World War I.
When World War I broke out, Truman became captain of Battery D in the field artillery of the 33rd Division and saw action at St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Back in Independence, Truman and a war buddy opened a haberdashery business. He married his boyhood sweetheart, Bess Wallace, and they have one daughter, Mary Margaret.

Truman later turned to politics for a career, which started with his election as County Judge of Jackson county, Mo. In 1926 he became the presiding judge of Jackson county, with the endorsement of Tom Pendergast, political boss of Kansas City. He studied law at night and supervised the construction of a great highway system.

Your 1945 Garden Gardeners Urged To Purchase Needs Without Delay

WITH certain exceptions, the outlook for Victory garden supplies this year is good, according to a recent survey.

With the bumper crop last year, seeds will be especially plentiful, but due to manpower shortages, gardeners are advised to get their seed orders in immediately. The help shortage will make it impossible to fill orders on time if all wait until just before planting time to place orders for seed.

As a matter of fact, most gardeners buy their seed supply from their local stores, so this warning will apply only to those who send in the various seed houses for their seed needs. It is advisable, however, for all gardeners to lay in their seed supplies early. This can be done immediately after the garden has been mapped out and planned, or just as soon as local stores receive their spring shipments of seeds. In many sections of the country these supplies are already on display.

Farm gardeners and experienced growers in the smaller towns know pretty well their needs in the way of garden tools. But for the small backyard or vacant lot garden very few tools are actually necessary. It is better to buy a few simple, high-grade, substantial tools that will serve well for many years, than equipment which is poorly designed or made of cheap or low-grade materials that will not last. In most instances a good spade or spading fork, a steel bow rake, a 7-inch common hoe, a strong cord for laying off rows and enough garden hose to reach all parts of the garden with water are all that is essential. A trowel is useful in transplanting, but is not essential. If the soil is properly prepared, plants can be set more easily with the hands than with a trowel.

The fertilizer situation generally is not as good, due to nitrogen shortage, as it was a year ago, but Victory gardeners are not expected to have much trouble in obtaining sufficient to supply their needs.

The same Victory garden grades used in 1944 will be in effect this year. This means that for the Atlantic seaboard, the formula will be 5-10-5; for the central part of the country, including the corn belt, it will be 4-12-4; and for the western states it will be 6-10-4.

Implements are important. These are the essential ones.

The Victory gardener who wisely supplied himself with a compost pile last fall or who was able to obtain manure, is not wholly dependent upon commercial fertilizers, but for the most part Victory gardeners will rely upon commercial fertilizers to provide the necessary soil chemicals for a successful crop.

Buy Early to Secure the Best

The latest word on insecticides is that supplies will be about the same as last year. Rotenone, one of the most popular garden insecticide ingredients, will be available in approximately the same quantities as last year. Rotenone may be purchased separately, in powder form, or as part of a prepared insecticide suitable for the particular vegetable or insect with which the gardener must deal.

The ingenuity of the American people generally, is manifest in some of the homemade practices which Victory gardeners have developed. For instance, when there was a shortage in insecticide dusts, a homely but effective method was developed by using a common cloth bag for dusting plants. Other equally effective devices have been used although there does not appear to be any apparent shortage this year in the commercial small dusts and sprayers.

Extreme care should be used in handling poisons so that they will not be mistaken for flour, or for food for livestock, or left where children or pets can be injured by coming in contact with them.

When using materials which are known to be lethal to bees, livestock or other property, one should exercise every precaution to protect all property from damage and, as a means thereto, use only such methods of application and under such climatic conditions as to prevent damage to bees, animals or other property.
