

Main Street Is Seeing Several Changes This June

Buildings, New and Remodeled, and New Tenants on Program

Main street properties are subject to many changes this June. Some are being remodeled, new ones are on the way, others have new tenants and street frontage has changed hands.

M. B. Auten, who has owned the 66 feet of frontage east of the Dupuis grocery for some 20 years, sold it last week to George and Lee Rabideau, who have returned to Cass City after several months in California. Mr. Auten was never troubled much with prospective buyers until last week when three different parties evidenced a desire to purchase. The Rabideaus, having been the first ready to deal, bought the property.

On West Main street, the Shaw Construction Co. are excavating a basement and digging trenches for the foundations of a lumber warehouse. The land was formerly owned by the Star Oil Co. and the Elkland Oil Co. and the three lots were purchased by Geo. Dillman and Arthur Kettlewell. They plan to do a retail lumber business under the name of the Cass City Lumber Yard.

This spring, Copeland & Munro, who purchased the G. A. Striffler implement business, made several improvements in the exterior and interior of the buildings used in that business. They are now erecting a 40 by 40 ft. shop building. Constructed of cement blocks and with a cement floor, it will be a fireproof one-story building connected with the present building at the north end. The east side of the original building will have a cement floor and will be used mainly to display heavy machinery. Part of the wall separating this display room from the parts room will be removed and the two rooms will be thrown into one. When material is available, the firm plans to install a new front on the south side of the building which faces Main street.

M. C. McLellan has made various changes in the building formerly occupied by the Chevrolet garage, making it ready for the Ripley Manufacturing Co. of Crosswell, who will establish a branch manufacturing plant in Cass City. Workmen are now engaged in installing manufacturing equipment.

Mrs. F. A. Bigelow has discontinued her music studio in the building west of the Bigelow Hardware and that place has been leased to Eicher's Cleaners of Pigeon, who will open up a cash and carry cleaning depot about July 1. Mrs. Bigelow has moved her household goods to Bay City where she will make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Heath. The Herb Ludlow family have rented the lower floor of the Bigelow residence on East Main street just vacated by Mrs. Bigelow.

Local Library Has Received $247

The Cass City village library received a $247.84 check recently from the State Board of Libraries, reports Mrs. Earl Douglas, president of the local library board. This is the first payment on a grant from the General Library fund for which the library has qualified. The library receives this grant because the local tax support is being maintained. Should the local tax support drop, the library would not be eligible for this additional assistance.

The local library board decides how the money is to be used so that it can be spent in the manner most helpful to the library. Only capital expenditures are prohibited.

Another payment the Cass City library has received is for $202.68 from the State Board of Libraries. The library receives this grant because it is in an area where the assessed valuation is less than 2/3 of that of the state and because the library also meets the required certification qualifications for the year 1944-45.

NEW RULING ON PAPERS TO NAVY MEN

Instructions received from the postmaster general will sharply affect subscriptions for the Chronicle, as well as all other publications, for members of the armed forces overseas.

Effective July 1, 1945, it will no longer be possible to renew subscriptions for personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, at fleet post offices at New York City or San Francisco, without a written request from the person addressed. Relatives and friends may still pay for subscriptions, if requests are received.

The postmaster general said the order was issued to save shipping space.

This does not affect Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel in this country.

A new ruling on addresses of Army men overseas provides that complete unit addresses, as well as APO numbers, must be included in all addresses. Thousands of publications are not delivered without complete addresses, the postmaster general said.

Paragraphs About Folks in the Service

R. J. ("Mickey") Wallace, fire controlman, second class, son of Alfred J. Wallace, of Cass City, fought at Okinawa aboard a U. S. battle ship, which, through 33 action-packed years, has never been hit by enemy shells. The Okinawa action was her fifth major engagement of World War II and one of the most dramatic in her long career. For more than a month her main and secondary batteries blasted at pin-point targets on the island. It was not a one-sided battle. At one time she won a duel with a shore battery that was hurling shells precariously close. At another an enemy bomber made a run on the ship, going down with a terrific explosion as the Navy guns found their mark. The ship saw action in Europe and also took part in the Iwo Jima bombardment.

T/Sgt. Julius Novak, writing under date of May 30, says:

"I will break into your column again for a second time in the last few weeks to inform you and my friends in and around Cass City and Deford of the fact that I am now stationed somewhere in the Philippine Islands and we, like Gen. McArthur, have returned. Our trip up here was enjoyed by all because of one reason—we were leaving the New Guinea jungle behind and moving into a civilized country. A person appreciates it after being in the jungle so long. Best wishes and regards to all."

T/Sgt. Carmen W. Root, radio operator on a B-17, who during six months overseas made 35 missions over Germany, is visiting his father, Clare Root, in Novesta. He was with the Eighth Air Force in England and was in a crash landing in Belgium. He will report to Santa Ana, California, after his 30-day furlough. T/Sgt. Root came home in time to view a pile of lumber containing 1,450 feet which were sawed from a cottonwood tree cut by father and son last winter with a six-ft. saw. The first butt 12 ft. long made 720 feet of lumber. There were three 12 ft. logs and an 8 ft. log all out of the trunk of the tree.

Tuesday, June 12, was the fourth anniversary of T-S Horace Pinney's entrance into the Army. He recently was awarded a bronze star. His citation reads: "For meritorious service in support of combat operation against the enemy in France, Belgium and Germany from July 4, 1944, to April 24, 1945."

Capt. Howard Taylor and his wife, First Lieut. Mary Taylor, who are stationed at Gardiner General hospital in Chicago, left Wednesday for Chicago after spending a 10-day furlough with Capt. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Taylor, here, spending some time at Cassville, and visiting relatives at Holly and Dearborn.

After a silence of eight weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wise had letters Monday from their son, Pfc. Harry Wise, who is now in the Philippines. Although not now at Manila, he wrote of having been there and of the destruction and of the homeless people and children who have no parents.

On Tuesday Arnie Deneen received word from her uncle, Pfc. Milton Phillips, that he was leaving Camp Russell Hucksstep, Egypt, for home immediately and expects to arrive about July 4. He has been overseas about 26 months. He is the brother of Mrs. E. E. Binder and Mrs. Clayton Root.

Pfc. Ray Strickland has arrived back in the States and is at Camp Miles, Massachusetts. He will be transferred to a general hospital for medical attention.

First Lieut. Chaplain Dudley Mosure Writes From Germany of His Impressions of V-E Day

First Lieutenant Chaplain Dudley C. Mosure, former minister of the Cass City Methodist church, writing the Chronicle under date of May 30 from Alzey, Germany, describes his work in the following paragraphs:

Now that V-E Day in the European Theater of Operations has come and gone, and inasmuch as I am now over here in Germany I thought you would like to hear what V-E Day meant to me.

The afternoon of May 7 was brilliantly sunny, and I was riding along in my jeep toward the old and historical university city of Heidelberg. As I came to the Rhine river an M. P. (Military Police) said to me: "Chaplain, I hear the war is over." Of course, we all had been expecting it for several days, but over here things go on just as usual. That afternoon in Heidelberg the soldier's greeting as I crossed the Rhine was confirmed. Several officers told me that they had heard an announcement of the end of the war from the B. B. C. Outside of an occasional word of gratitude, dropped from the lips of men here and there, one would scarcely know

Pfc. Wm. Harrison Tells Experiences In Prisoners' Camp

Poor Food and Bad Sanitary Conditions Made Life Miserable

Watery soup with an occasional meal of unsavory sugar beet soup were anything but conducive to adding to a man's weight, Pfc. Wm. N. Harrison, recently released from the Mooseburg prison camp in Germany, told Rotarians here Tuesday. He was a prisoner of war for seven months and during that time lost between 40 and 50 pounds in weight.

Prison life in Germany was as bad as pictured, he said, especially under the cruel S. S. guards. During the last two months spent in the camp, regular German army guards replaced the S. S. and they showed more consideration for prisoners.

In a camp about the size of an 80-acre farm, there were confined around 30,000 prisoners of all nationalities, 1,500 of whom were Americans. Prisoners were put to work every day cleaning up the rubble and debris in cities and maintaining and repairing railroad lines. Americans were treated better than the Russians, according to Pfc. Harrison, and political prisoners received the worst treatment of all.

Luncheon guests Tuesday included B. R. Storey of Lansing, Rev. Elmer Braden of Caro and Ensign Bruce Stine, Ensign Clare Rawson, Pvt. Neville Mann and Pfc. Harrison. All four service men gave brief talks.

Willis Campbell was program chairman and Frank Reid and Herman Doery were song leaders, with Mrs. Gordon L. Thomas as pianist. Cass City Rotarians plan to attend an inter-city meeting at Bad Axe on Monday evening, June 25.

Youth Labor to Be Used Again on the Farms This Year

High school boys and girls will have to be used again this year to replace the agricultural workers who have been taken from the farms of Tuscola county to serve in the armed forces of our country. Last year 231 youth enrolled with the Emergency Farm Labor department of the county agricultural agent's office, and were placed on farms of the county. D. A. Crawford, E. F. L. assistant, is making plans for enrolling even a greater number of the youth to have available when the rush season of hoeing and harvesting arrives.

Several high school boys of 14 to 17 years of age have already been placed on farms to help out during the summer months. These boys are not only performing a patriotic duty but they are earning money which will pay their expenses through another year of school. Wages are ranging from $40 to $70 a month in addition to their board and room. In addition to the local high school youth of the county, plans are being made to bring in youth from the urban areas since the demand for these youth is greater than the local area can supply.

Landing of Jap Balloon in State Brings Warning

Disclosure that at least one Japanese bomb-carrying balloon has been found in Michigan has brought warning from Capt. Donald S. Leonard, state director of Civilian Defense, that persons discovering a suspicious or strange object should definitely not touch it, but report their find to the nearest Civilian Defense official or police.

"Recently six persons were killed in the west when one of them apparently disturbed a balloon-bomb which had failed to explode when it fell at a picnic spot," Capt. Leonard said. "It should also be remembered that not always will the bomb be found with the balloon, therefore do not touch any detached object that could in any possible way be a bomb."

Leonard pointed out that the Army has set up special boards to investigate balloon-bomb incidents. "Pending the arrival of such a board, a guard should be established and permit no unauthorized persons to have access to the site of the recovery of a balloon-bomb," Leonard stated. "This is especially important as such access would not only be hazardous, but might result in important information or evidence being lost or destroyed."

"If a balloon-bomb is discovered it should be reported immediately to the nearest Civilian Defense official or the police. They will take prompt action, give instructions, and notify the proper Army authorities. Under no circumstances should the individual meddle with the contraption, as he will do so at his own peril."

For military security reasons, Leonard said, it is not possible to reveal where the balloon was found in Michigan. Military censorship permitted only release of information that one had been recovered in the State, when the news accidentally leaked out in New York. There was no indication as to whether there may have been more than one.

ACCURATE PRESSURE NEEDED FOR CANNING

Automatic pressure saucepans are not designed for canning, and should not be used for that purpose, declares Miss Mildred M. Omlor, home demonstration agent. Several homemakers have tried pressure saucepans for this purpose, but have had little success.

For one thing, it is not possible to know the exact pressure, so timing is inaccurate. Another objection is the size which permits only a small amount to be canned at one time.

Some women have attempted to make pressure canners out of very tightly covered water bath canners. The pressure thus obtained cannot be gauged correctly. It is never higher than a few pounds at the most and will only succeed in bursting the vessel or popping the cover off. Such an experiment is hazardous.

Even in the water bath the water pressure must be kept even or liquid will be drawn out of the jars. If the jars are always covered with at least two inches of water the pressure will be even. It is sometimes necessary to devise a lower rack or use pint jars, the shortest quart jars. A thin rack for a round water bath canner can be made from an old pie or cake tin hammered flat and pierced with a spike.

Oak Bluff Breezes

Grief and sorrow have again come to Oak Bluff this week, this time in the sudden and unexpected death of Dr. J. E. Wurm, one of our best known and respected members. This is the second such loss we have had during the past year, Dr. M. M. Wickware having passed away late last fall. Both men were self educated and self made, having reached their places of responsibility and respect through their own efforts and abilities, and their passing has dealt the association a serious blow, from which it will not soon recover. Both men will be greatly missed.

Dr. Wurm was a former director and secretary of the Cass City Summer Home club for several years, having been a member of the club since 1935. This past season he remodeled his cottage into a permanent home and with Mrs. Wurm spent the entire winter here. It was his desire and plan to retire from business and spend more time here but war and national problems had prevented this and he was active and vigorous up almost to the time of his death last Thursday.

Dr. Wurm was born and reared on a farm near Uby, spent several winters of his early manhood in the lumbering business in northern Michigan, and about the turn of the century decided to enter the University of Toronto. He graduated from the university in 1902 in Veterinary Medicine and Surgery and practiced his profession in Elkton and Pigeon until 1924. In that year he entered the automobile business in Pigeon, later selling his Ford franchise and taking over the General Motors agency in Sebawaing and Unionville. Both of these ventures were very successful financially and in 1936 he disposed of the automobile business to become manager of the Sebawaing Brewing Co., a position which he did not seek and which was thrust upon him. Like all his efforts, he lifted this concern from a bad financial condition to a prosperous and going business. About three years ago he was elected a director of the Farmers' and Merchants' State Bank of Sebawaing and later was chosen its president. He has always been active in all civic affairs in whatever town he has been located, was an active member of Rotary and past president of the Sebawaing chapter, a member of the Masonic order, and a former director of the Michigan Tourists association. He was widely and favorably known throughout the state, especially the Upper Thumb section and he will be greatly missed by a host of friends, particularly those here at Oak Bluff who knew him best.

Now that the disagreeable weather of the entire spring season has apparently passed, several more cottages were opened over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ketchum and son, Thad, and Mrs. Grace Ketchum drove up from Birmingham Saturday, opened their cottage and returned Sunday. They no doubt will return later to spend most of their vacations here.

Mrs. Thos. Foster and son, Bob, "cycled" up from Detroit Saturday, opened their cottage and remained until Tuesday. They with Mrs. Robt. Foster will return for most of the summer as soon as Bob is finished with his school work.

Mrs. A. J. Knapp and Mrs. A. A. Hitchcock of Cass City were here last Tuesday, opening the Knapp cottage for the season. Hurry up, Al, and get here, the fish are biting.

Mrs. Gladys Merion of Detroit was here two or three days last week and has her cottage open for the season.

The J. A. Sandham cottage is undergoing some repairs and also new linoleum is being placed on the floors.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McClelland of Saginaw were at the Dr. Wurm funeral Saturday and were also callers of the Burkes Saturday evening. Mr. McClelland is an expert gardener and a national authority on the culture of the peony and lilac.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fry returned Saturday from their second trip of the season and had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Faust of Detroit. They returned Sunday evening with a nice string of perch.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stormzand of Mt. Clemens and children, Dale and Janet, were at their cottage over the week end. They have recently purchased the Dr. Thomas cottage. Mrs. Stormzand will be remembered by Cass City people as the former Naomi Fritz, whose family operated a drug store in Cass City about 40 years ago.

way. The German people must be taught anew; the old ideologies must be purged, and new conceptions of decency instituted in their place. In short, civilization here must be reconstructed.

As I have passed cities all but leveled, one will see the shell and steeple of a church reaching skyward, as if symbolic of the timelessness of religion. The thought has come to me again and again, will the church accept the challenge of this hour in such a way as to let the people know that her mission is born of divine love and compassion? If so the church will provide the motivating force which shall reclothe, and build homes anew for a starving and decimated people. Then and only then will the people of the rubble strewn lanes feel that the church is eternal.

I am sure that back in America we all have so much in comparison to the people of Europe that it is difficult to understand their position unless we are here to see their plight. I have noticed with gratitude in my heart that many of you have been gathering clothing for distribution overseas. That is most commendable, and when you realize that inasmuch as you do it for the least of these, you do it unto Christ, your joy is the greater.

At present we are carrying on our hospital work in permanent buildings. I have for my chapel a modern church building which was used as a Lutheran church. The men are very faithful about attending services, and we have some great times together. I have two men who play the pipe organ well, so with the help of the nurses we have organized a good choir to help in our Sunday worship services.

Two evenings a week men who are interested, and there are always a good number, meet with me for discussions. We always center our thoughts around scripture, and let them go out to life situations. These evening discussions are proving very helpful, not only to the men, but to the chaplain as well.

However, my greatest work is with the men who are in the hospital as patients. I visit them daily, and often am able to do personal things for them such as writing their families, accepting confidences, and numerous other personal benefits which they do not care to call upon others to render. Frequently a man will desire me to go with him into surgery and stand by him. That I always do.

As one goes about the country side many sobering yet interesting sights meet the eye. Along the road one will see long lines of displaced persons, former slave laborers; family groups torn from their homes and carried into modern captivity are now released. It is a pitiful sight to see them, as in their push carts, and in their wagons, some drawn by hand, others pulled by horses or oxen, they trudge along, making their journey homeward; some to France, others to Italy or Poland. One cannot help but be moved with compassion as he sees such sights. It is not an uncommon sight to see women barefoot, pushing or pulling their carts loaded with all their worldly belongings. One cannot help but wonder what is in their minds as they make their way back to homes which perchance do not now exist.

In bombed out cities one can see many a building gutted and torn away, yet in those shells people still live. It is unconceivable how they do so, but in many cases there they still are. In most instances there are no windows left, the sewerage and water systems have been disrupted, and with the heat of summer coming on, it is obvious what lack of sanitation will prevail. I have seen water wagons making their way through the rubble, and as it comes by people will emerge from their honeycomb like dwellings with a pitcher or some other receptacle to receive their daily ration of water.

There is a more pleasant picture here if one has eyes to see it. The farming country is beautiful. Springtime comes earlier than in Michigan, and with it the flowers grow in great profusion. As I write this, one will see fields carpeted in a beautiful red, for the poppy is in full bloom. People take great pride in their gardens and flowers. Some of the most beautiful roses I have ever seen are blooming on the other side of every garden gate.

In this locality the farmers do not live out on the land with their farm house and barns as we do in America. Rather they all live in little villages, having their stables and dwellings together there. They drive their oxen and horses to their individual plots of grounds and there work till nightfall. Along the Rhine, the chief crop is the grape, and there are vineyards everywhere. About the only grain I have seen is rye from which they make their black bread. One misses the fields of corn so characteristic of our North Central and Midwestern States. Another interesting characteristic is the fact that there are no fences. Each peasant has his own bit of land, and his neighbor's joins him, but there are no fences to denote the fact.

Such are the impressions that have come to me as I have gone about among our men and the German people since V-E Day.
