R. R. Facilities Have Been Saved Temporarily

The Grand Trunk Western Railroad, through its attorneys, on Mar. 14, 1945, filed its application before the Interstate Commerce commission for authority to abandon its present railroad line from Cass City to Casewille, claiming this line was operating at a financial loss and that the business did not warrant the continued operation of the railroad. Attorneys representing shippers opposed the petition, stating the abandonment of this line of railroad would seriously cripple the bean and grain elevators located thereon as well as many other businesses dependent solely upon this line for railroad facilities.

Negotiations between the shippers and the railroad company have resulted in an agreement whereby the railroad company has agreed to withdraw its pending petition for abandonment for one year in an endeavor to work out a solution.

"The shippers whom we represent, Wallace & Morley Co., Michigan Bean Co., and Frutchey Bean Co., state the attorneys for the shippers, 'have put up a vigorous fight to save the railroad, for you as well as for themselves, and it is now incumbent upon every individual, business and community served by this railroad to use its facilities when possible. Your railroad facilities have been saved temporarily and can be saved permanently if the railroad line proposed to be abandoned is properly patronized.'"

Detroit Edison Plans Extension of Electric Farm Lines

Detroit Edison Company has requested and expects to receive approval from the Michigan Public Service Commission of a new ruling which permits the company to build farm line extensions at its own expense with the customer paying a nominal minimum monthly bill instead of contributing part of the cost of the line. Under the new ruling there will be no construction charge for any farm line extension of reasonable length. The farmer will be asked to pay only a minimum net amount of $2.25 a month for three years after the service is connected. For this amount the company will render all its usual electric service, including the use of 54 kilowatt hours per month. Electricity will be sold to these new farm customers at the same rate which is paid by all other Edison residence and farm customers.

The commission has indicated that the petition will be granted. Practically all farm line extensions by Detroit Edison will be on the new basis as soon as the request has been formally approved by the commission.

Commenting on this action, C. L. Bougher of the Detroit Edison Co. said, "For many years the Detroit Edison Co. has been working toward the desirable goal of completing its rural distribution system so that practically every farm in our 7,600 square miles of territory will have electric service available to it. The company now serves some 34,000 farmers and its

Cass City District Is $16,700 Over Its Bond Quota

Reports Show Tuscola County Has Sold Slightly Over Half of Quota

Reports of bond sales in Tuscola show the county still a long way from realizing the quota of $1,483,000. According to reports received by Clarence Bougher, county chairman of sales, up to Tuesday, June 19, county-wide sales of all series of bonds had reached $768,981.25, which is $714,018.75 short of its 7th war loan bond quota.

Sales in the 11 districts reported to Mr. Bougher are as follows:

	Sold	Quota
Akron-Wisner	$50325.00	$118640
Caro	172214.50	296600
Cass City	137813.25	148300
Fairgrove	23362.50	118640
Gagetown	43644.00	59320
Kingston	23181.25	59320
Mayville	99649.25	148300
Millington	28967.75	74150
Reese	67768.75	148300
Unionville	22390.00	88980
Vassar	98665.00	252110

The above figures were for sales, in most instances, made up to last week end. The past few days may have increased the sales totals materially.

The Cass City district is well over its quota of $148300. Sales to residents of Elkland and Novesta, plus an $8,900 credit to the district from corporations, will bring the sales of the Cass City district slightly over $165,000.

distribution lines pass 1,700 additional farms whose tenants can have electricity whenever they choose to take it. There remain about 2,100 farms or only five per cent, still to be reached in order to make service available to all of them.

"Until recently, wartime restrictions have curtailed the company's program of farm line building but the War Production Board has just given us permission to go ahead. It may be quite a problem to get the necessary men and materials as quickly as we wish. However, we are anxious to complete the job which will require the construction of about 800 miles of line and may take several years to accomplish completely. Some of these new lines are needed to reinforce our rural electrification system by closing long dead ends into loops and helping to maintain better voltage on many of the present farm circuits. We are delighted that the commission has approved this order and most farm line applications hereafter will be taken on the new basis."

Sound Envelope
"Sound in an envelope" describes a recent development in plastics and electronics which is expected to find considerable postwar use wherever a permanent record of sound is called for. The device is a voice recording - reproducing apparatus, made especially compact and portable. Sound is recorded with high fidelity on a wafer-thin plastic record which is only seven inches in diameter and on each side of which 15 minutes' dictation can be recorded. A disk is so light that it can be mailed in an envelope, bent, rolled, dropped, and written on with a pencil without harming the sound track.

Plant Peas Early
Plant peas as early as possible, as soon as the ground can be worked in spring. They thrive best in cool weather and will not yield well during hot weather. The best way to get a succession of peas is to plant three or four varieties requiring different lengths of time to mature. Plant all at the same time and as early as possible. Suggested varieties: World Record, earliest; Laxton's Progress, midseason; Alderman or Dark Podded Telephone, late variety.

Manufacturing Matches
According to one tradition, the dry-cleaning industry originated when a servant spilled some turpentine on a table cover while filling a lamp and discovered that a large area of the cloth had been thoroughly cleaned.

FIRE!

When you burn waste paper, you're destroying vital war material.

The shortage of waste paper is acute! Our soldiers need paper desperately!

They use over 700,000 war items which paper makes or wraps: cartridge cases, gun covers, instrument panels, bomb parts, blood plasma containers...

Don't destroy waste paper! Don't burn it! Save it... collect it in bundles... turn it in... now and from now on!

We Are Bakers....Not Magicians

You cannot make cake without sugar or shortening . . . and neither can we, because we use the same ingredients in our cakes that you do. When we have used up our ration point allotments, we cannot get sugar or shortening any more than you can when your ration stamps have been used up.

On April 1st our allotment of sugar was cut. On May 13th our shortening allotment was cut 20%. We've tried to get along as best we could. Maybe you have noticed that we haven't had some of the baked goods we formerly made, or that we were sold out earlier; but you haven't complained, and we appreciate that.

On July 1st our sugar allotment is going to be cut to 60% of the amount we used in 1941, maybe less. That means that we will have at least 20% less sugar than we have received since April 1st. So we're faced with the necessity of cutting our production of baked goods at least 20%. We know that this will be tough on you; but because we are not magicians, because we need other ingredients besides flour and milk to make the palatable baked goods you desire, there is nothing for us to do but decrease our production.

We make this explanation to you so that you may understand why we aren't making as much as we formerly did, and so that you will be prepared to adjust your menus accordingly. So we are closing shop for a few days to allow our allotment of scarce ingredients to catch up with our production, and to adjust our production to the materials available. Yes, we're taking a short vacation.

Recently in walking through the nearby woods which surrounds this colony, we came across three very interesting and not too uncommon wild flowers—the pink lady's slipper (Cypripedium Pubescens), the yellow Clintonia and the Indian turnip or jack-in-the-pulpit. Of the three mentioned the jack-in-the-pulpit is probably the most interesting. Since pioneer days he has been called the Indian turnip for when famine stalked the wilderness the Red Man dug the compact, brown-skinned corm or bulb, sheared off the roots and stalk and used it for food. It is found from the Lakes to the Gulf and east to the Atlantic. Jack is one of the most interesting of woodland flowers, being a near relative of the lovely calla but has some individual traits that sets him apart. After a spring rain the pulpit is likely to be half filled with water and the pulpit is so arranged that small insects are attracted and trapped and usually drowned and later absorbed by the plant. There is rich beauty in Jack, the inside of his hood is a deep reddish brown with streaks of greenish tans and yellows, the outside a deep glistening green. After the pulpit falls away, the round globular berries stand erectly in a clustered mass and in August or September turn a brilliant scarlet. Yes, Jack is an outstanding woodland spring flower.

Report Broken Street Lights

IN COOPERATION WITH the national conservation program to save as much electricity as possible, we have discontinued for the present the testing of street lights in daytime. This means that lamps burned out or broken will not be discovered, perhaps, until all street lights go on at dusk.

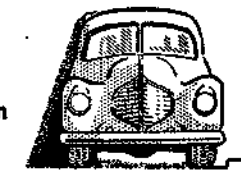

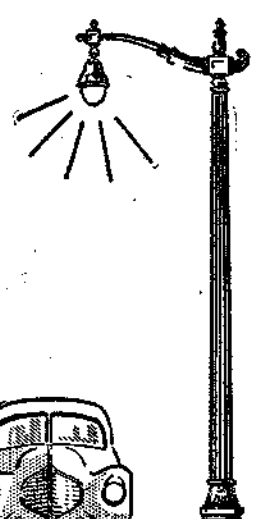

But the manpower shortage and other necessary wartime restrictions have decreased the frequency of our patrols. We must therefore call upon all civic-minded, patriotic citizens to phone us when they notice a street light out of order.

Adequate street lighting protects you, your children, your auto, the place where you live; it helps prevent crime, expedites the movement of workers, troops, war materials.

REPORT BROKEN STREET LIGHTS to any Edison office or to the police. Your cooperation will help prevent motor accidents and robberies.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

They fired a salute—right across decks of the United States transport. Dewey notified them his own next shot would be right amidships if the German didn't sail out and come back and salute properly. The Germans did it, but kept steam up and moving around.

Then the British squadron ran up the Stars and Stripes alongside the Union Jack. Its bands played "The Star Spangled Banner," its guns were trained on the German, and the German hooked his anchor in the mud.

Crippled Planes Given
Prompt Repair Service

LONDON.—American planes crippled on missions to Germany can land anywhere in France now with the assurance that they will be promptly repaired by "workshops on wheels." Brig. Gen. Joseph Morris, maintenance chief of the army service command, said. He credited the mobile repair and reclamation units with saving hundreds of American lives.

Great Britain Prepared
For Nazi U-Boat Drive

LONDON.—First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander, asked in commons if the Allies have sufficient surface vessels and aircraft to deal with the increased submarine menace in the Atlantic, said, "I am not prepared to comment beyond saying that any additional strain which the enemy can place on our resources will be encountered and overcome just as it has been in the past."

Well Trained
Jones—I hear Brown got a job as bus conductor. What did he know about that kind of work?

Smith—Oh, he'd had lots of experience. He used to work in a sardine factory.

War Conditions

NEW RULING ON PAPERS TO NAVY MEN

Instructions received from the postmaster general will sharply affect subscriptions for the Chronicle, as well as all other publications, for members of the armed forces overseas.

Effective July 1, 1945, it will no longer be possible to renew subscriptions for personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, at fleet post offices at New York City or San Francisco, without a written request from the person addressed. Relatives and friends may still pay for subscriptions, if requests are received.

The postmaster general said the order was issued to save shipping space.

This does not affect Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard personnel in this country.

A new ruling on addresses of Army men overseas provides that complete unit addresses, as well as APO numbers, must be included in all addresses. Thousands of publications are not delivered without complete addresses, the postmaster general said.

Letters from Men in the Service

Mrs. Mary Richards has written the following letter to Mrs. Fred White of Cass City:

"I arrived here in Battle Creek May 26. I have been interned by the Japs for three years. A week after being liberated I met your son, Frank. I forgot to mention to you that I came from the Philippines. Frank is in good health and looked so well when I saw him. Knowing that I was coming to Battle Creek, he asked me if I could write to you which I accepted with pleasure. My, those boys were so wonderful to us that we are willing to do everything for them, after being treated so badly by the Japs.

"Right now, my husband and I are in Toledo visiting his brother whom he hasn't seen for 27 years. My husband arrived in the Philippines in 1915 and hasn't been back ever since. This is my first visit here. I am born of American and Spanish parents and reared in the Philippines. This is really a wonderful place—America! I have a sister in Battle Creek and we are leaving Saturday, June 9, back to Battle Creek.

"The Japs were starving us slowly but surely. We were only getting two meals a day. It consisted of only soft boiled rice, and three days before we were rescued, the Japs didn't give us anything at all.

"This is all, Mrs. White. I am signing off for today as I have to write to several other relatives whose boys I have met in the Philippine Islands."

Pfc. Harold Creguer, writing from the Philippines to his sister, Miss Helene Creguer, says:

"I can now tell you something I've wanted to tell you a long time ago. I have been to Manila! I have seen some of the ruins and the Japs surely did the damage! It was a beautiful city before the war. Some of the night clubs are open now and theatres. I went to one of the theatres and saw the picture, 'Phantom of the Opera.' It is a very beautiful building, larger than ours at home and very modern with air conditioning and nice soft seats. It would almost make a person think he was in the States. That is about all I am allowed to tell you.

"I did see a lot of wrecked Japanese planes. The restaurants are very high priced and it would take a lot of money to live there.

"I'm enclosing another news bulletin and we have started a company newspaper and this is the first one. It is a weekly."
