

Testimonial Plaque Presented to Bank Cashier Wallace

Has Been Employed for Quarter Century in the Cass City State Bank

One of the most cherished birthday gifts that Cameron M. Wallace has ever received is the testimonial plaque which was presented to him for his birth anniversary of June 21. It came from his fellow officers and directors of the Cass City State Bank, accompanying a substantial monetary gift, and was in commemoration of 25 years of faithful service with that institution. The testimonial was a fitting tribute for the fine work the bank cashier has done in the quarter century he has spent behind the bank's counters.

Born on a farm in Elkland township, Cameron Wallace was graduated from Cass City high school in 1919 and shortly after entered business college at Ypsilanti. First employed as a bookkeeper, he was later chosen assistant cashier, then cashier, and a few years ago was elected a member of the bank's board of directors.

Cameron Wallace, often called "Buzz," served the village many terms as clerk and has performed the same service in the Gavel club.

The potluck dinner at noon was followed by the business meeting and program. In the business meeting, all officers were elected to succeed themselves. Howard Malcolm is the president; Howard Retherford of Deford, vice president; and Mrs. Ella Vance of Cass City, the secretary. The reunion for 1946 will be held in the same place on the third Thursday in June.

During the program an impressive memorial service was conducted by Mrs. A. J. Knapp with a prayer by Mrs. Ella Vance and a sacred hymn by the male quartet. Deceased members mentioned were John Gray, Arthur Van Blaricom, Neil McLarty, Mrs. William Little, Mrs. Phoebe Ferguson, Mrs. Margaret Bridges, Lucille Bayley Horton, Mrs. Hattie Koppkeberger, Ransom Spencer, Thomas Gillies, Henry Harris, Bemis Bentley, Geo. Collins, Romney Horner and all other service men from the vicinity who have made the supreme sacrifice.

The meeting was called to order by the president, after which the congregation, led by Mrs. Arleon Retherford with Miss Betty Hower at the piano, sang the Doxology. The invocation was given by Wm. Churchhill and, following a talk by Howard Retherford on the origin of the flag, the pledge was given.

Other numbers on the program were: Vocal solo, "My Task," by Amy Vance Pearson; numbers by a male quartet, Harley and Warren Kelley, Glen Tonsley and Gerald Hicks with Mrs. Walter Kelley at the piano; a reading by Norwood Eastman; a duet by Mrs. Warren Kelley and Mrs. Arleon Retherford; an instrumental duet by Miss Jeanne Profit on the saxophone and Miss Betty Hower at the piano; and a mandolin and guitar duet by Wm. and Harley Kelley. Letters from Men in the Service

The following paragraphs are taken from a letter, dated June 18, from Leslie Doerr, Pm 1/c to his father, John J. Doerr. Leslie receives his mail through the F. P. O. in New York City.

"Lights are out on the corps quarters ward but I have a room with a chief and we can keep our desk lamps on as late as we want to. This chief is a fellow by the name of Hancock and he worked at Eloise, the county hospital just out of Detroit, before the war. He was at the Naval Armory while I was there so we have quite a lot to talk about. He is the first fellow I have had duty with that I knew back there.

"We played a basketball game tonight and lost by a drastic score. We played a Marine team here and they are supposed to be the best in the league. So, maybe we will win a few from the other teams. My wind is really poor and this climate is really hard on you to play in. I guess I smoke too many cigarettes.

"I haven't much time to visit the lodge lately for we have been practicing on playing ball every Wednesday night and it is the only night that the lodge meets to put on degree work. I am trying to get a gang together to go over to the other side of the canal to visit a Chinese lodge there. They say that they are really good in their work and everything is carried out to the fullest extent.

"My time is nearing the 14th month mark in this district and the time limit is set at 18, but most of the boys hang around for 24 so I really expect to be here around 10 months yet. Maybe the war will be over then and I can come home for good."

Columbus' Luck Held
Columbus was lucky in sailing across part of the Atlantic where the magnetic needle pointed, in general, about as much west of true north as in western Europe. The declinations are much greater in the north Atlantic. Declination varies in the United States from 22 degrees west in Maine to 25 degrees east in Washington. The line of no declination, the agonic line crosses near Lake Michigan, Cincinnati and Savannah. It makes wild wriggles in the Great Smokies.

'Love Apples' Were Tomatoes
Tomatoes have been used in this country as an edible fruit since early in the 19th century when people discovered they were good to eat and began using them as a food. Previously, they had been considered poisonous and were thought to be only decorative plants of the flower garden called "love apples."

Passenger Pigeons Unprotected
When a bill to protect the passenger pigeon was introduced in Ohio in 1887, a senate committee reported, "The passenger pigeon needs no protection, and no ordinary destruction can lessen them, or be missed from the myriads that are yearly produced." And now the passenger pigeon is no more!

NO PLACE FOR BUSTED

Many years ago, a man arrived at Tyrone, on the banks of the Kentucky river, and asked to be ferried across to Versailles.

"It'll cost you two bits," said the ferryman.

"I don't have two bits," replied the man. "But I'd sure like to get across the river."

"If you ain't got two bits," comforted the ferryman, "you would be no better off over there than you are here."

Plant By Full of the Moon
An English scientist reports that in greenhouse tests with tomatoes and corn, 17 sowings were made between April or May and August or September, covering several lunar cycles. The phases of the moon could not be found to exert any consistent effect either on seed germination or young plant growth, although temperature and daylight effects were observed.

Spies!

She Sold Out Her Own Son's Regiment

Sometimes, in espionage, money is thicker than blood.

THERE is a common bond of sympathy between those with relatives in our armed forces. This is understandable, yet even in this group, gossip is not always safe, and should be avoided.

Madam Marie Tichely was no glamour girl of espionage, for she had a son serving in the French infantry. At the same time, Marie was employed in a French defense plant. If you think it could not happen here, you are mistaken, for Marie Tichely was a natural-born French citizen, and could prove it.

Nevertheless, Marie was a spy in the employ of Germany. Originally, her job was to supply the Germans with detailed information about the plant where she was currently employed. However, in the plant she was thrown with many other women with sons in the service, so it was only natural that they should exchange notes. Soon Marie's reports to her German spy master, Gruber, began to contain bits of information about the disposition and strength of France's fighting forces, data gleaned from the thoughtless gossip in the factories where she was employed.

Much of the information passed on to Gruber was about the 117th Infantry, which was understandable, as her son was serving with this regiment. It is doubtful whether Marie ever considered herself to blame for the wounding of her son during an attack on the 117th, an action based entirely upon information supplied by Marie. Her limited mentality could not reason farther than direct cause and effect.

Under the Stamp.

A French postal censor led to her eventual undoing. This censor, having recently learned of a new trick the Germans were using—that of writing the message in invisible ink beneath the postage stamp—applied a routine examination for this type of communication to Marie's letter.

He steamed off the stamp, and applied the iodine vapor test. In the violet fumes, Marie's message to Gruber appeared in black letters.

Instead of arresting Marie at once, they watched her and her mail, and thus learned her second method of communication with her German superiors. She also enclosed her messages between two postcards, carefully pasted together. By this time the French secret service had enough information to convict, and Marie was arrested.

Chances are it was the cold-blooded manner in which she had sold out her own son and his regiment which caused the French court to impose the death sentence. When she heard this judgment passed upon her, the unintelligent and somewhat naive Marie railed at the injustice of her fate, cited the doctrine of "an eye for an eye," and insisted that, as she had never killed anyone, the penalty was far too severe. She blandly ignored the scores of men of the 117th Infantry who had perished in the surprise attack she had inspired.

When, on the morning of March 15, 1917, she faced the firing squad at Vincennes, France, her last breath was used to indict her executioners as murderers of an innocent woman who had never killed anyone.

Sometimes, in espionage, money is thicker than blood.

Oak Bluff Breezes

It is now time for wild strawberries and the natives and cottagers look forward to a few generous messes. There is something about wild strawberry time that sets it apart as a special season in the calendar. Those who live in this section know the spots where they grow best, along the roadsides, along the grassy banks of ditches and streams and in protected places along the bay shore. Where a few weeks ago, there was a profusion of white flowers with golden centers, now the tiny fruits are pointed in shape and deep crimson in color. If one will take the time and trouble to collect the fruit and prepare shortcake, he can be certain that of all nature's many free gifts of field and forest the wild strawberry is the peer of all. Isaac Walton was correct when he said, "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless He never did."

Stockholders of the association please keep in mind the 51st meeting July 6. It will be held at last year at the Maxwell cottage at 2 p. m., slow time. If impossible to get here, please see that someone is instructed to vote your proxy. Any other member can vote your proxy for you.

Here Mr. Todd spends his time on his hobbies of colored photography and improving his cottage, always in keeping with its woodsy rustic setting.

Bacon Sandwiches Make Grand Outdoor Eating

(See Recipes Below)

Picnic Tips

There's nothing like the great out-of-doors to produce great appetites. And there's nothing that tastes so good as food eaten in the great wide spaces in sand, under the pines amid the smoke of a fire.

Our recipes and suggestions today are designed to fit those who want to do part of their cooking at home, and finish when they arrive at the picnic. It is easy to lay out a well spread when everything is well organized and planned ahead.

You'll like the recipes because they're not fancy. They do make for some downright good eating, though, and will give you a grand experience in outdoor eating.

Food is best packed in hamper or tied in cloth. It's easiest to carry that way. If you have anything breakable, use a metal container.

Best Type of Fire.

For those of you who want to cook outdoors, use the trapper type of fire. Never start cooking until the wood has burned and is a bed of glowing red coals.

To make this type of fire, place 2 medium sized logs (green) 6 to 8 inches apart. Between these set up dry twigs and shavings. Carry something that will make the fire start easily, a bit of tissue paper with a few dry twigs. The logs can be adjusted to fit the cooking utensil. Our recipe round-up starts with the favorite hamburgers. If you snuggle in the extra cheese, you'll like the flavor:

All-American Hamburgers.

(Serves 6)
1 1/2 pounds hamburger
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/2 pound American cheese
4 tablespoons butter
6 buttered buns

Mix meat with milk, salt and pepper. Form 12 thin patties of the meat about 3 inches in diameter. Cut 6 slices of cheese slightly smaller than meat patties and place the cheese in between the meat patties, sandwich-fashion. Seal edges well. Melt butter in a skillet and fry the patties slowly for 10 to 15 minutes. Serve on toasted buns.

Hot Cheese Frankfurters.

(Serves 10)
20 frankfurters
20 slices of bacon
3/4 pound sharp cheese
Split frankfurters lengthwise and all with long strips of cheese. Wind a strip of bacon, spirally, around each frankfurter and fasten at ends with toothpicks. Toast on forks or long-handled toasters over fire until bacon is browned and cheese is melted. Place in a hot toasted roll and serve with relish.

Creamy Scrambled Eggs.

(Serves 6)
6 eggs
1/2 cup milk

Lynn Says

Campfire Cozy: Make sure the drinking water is safe on your camping trip. Boiled water always is, sparkling water isn't necessarily.

A hole dug in the earth in the shade of the tree, lined with small stones makes a nice outdoor refrigerator. Moist caves, shallow underground streams, small drops or falls are all good "refrigerators."

Be sure to put your campfire out. Water is the best thing, soil next best.

A canoe/paddle makes an excellent bread board or a checker board! Paint squares as for checkers and play with cookies or candies.

Lynn Chambers' Picnic Menu

*Bacon Sandwich
*Roasted Corn Cherry Tomatoes
Cocoa
*Rocks Fresh Fruit
*Recipes Given

1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup diced American cheese,
if desired

Beat the eggs well. Add salt and pepper, if desired. Melt butter in heavy skillet and pour eggs into pan, stirring well as the mixture begins to thicken. When eggs are partially cooked, add cheese. Serve on toast when thick. Do not overcook.

Bacon is a grand outdoor appetite tempter. It is also an important concentrated source of food energy that you'll need after working hard outdoors.

If you are frying bacon at the picnic, then this is the best method to follow: Place the strips in a cold skillet over a low fire. Turn fire-quantity until all parts of bacon are evenly crisp but not brittle. Do not let fat smoke. For extra crispness, drain off the fat as the bacon cooks.

Bacon Sandwich.
To make delectable sandwiches, fry the bacon as directed above with thick slices of fried onion and tomatoes served on toasted bun.

Have you caught some fish? Nothing will taste better than a chowder made in a chowder kettle over a bed of coals:

Fish Chowder.
(Serves 6)
5 slices bacon, diced
2 medium onions, diced
2 pounds fresh fish, boned
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
5 to 6 medium potatoes, sliced or diced
1 quart milk
4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour

Fry bacon and onion together until onion is light brown. Cut fish into small pieces and rub with salt and pepper. Add potatoes to chowder kettle. Cover with boiling water and cook 30 minutes. Blend flour with 1/2 cup milk. Add remaining milk to fish and stir in flour mixture. Add butter, simmering constantly. When mixture thickens, serve in soup bowls with crackers.

Like vegetables cooked outdoors? Then, here is one:

Roast Corn.

Use fresh sweet corn. Remove corn silk but leave husks on. Dip the ear, husk and all into a pail of water and lay on a grate over a hot bed of coals. The water turns into steam within the husk coating and thus cooks the corn, making it steamy and juicy instead of dry and tasteless. Corn may also be roasted by burying in the ashes.

Cookies and fruit make the ideal campfire dessert. Take cookies easy to carry such as:

Rocks.
(Makes 5 dozen)
1 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon cinnamon
3/4 teaspoon cloves
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 1/2 cups walnuts
2 cups raisins

Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients, chopped nuts and raisins. Drop from spoon onto greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven.

If you wish additional instruction for making fruit or berries, write to Miss Lynn Chambers, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago 6, Illinois. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply.

Replenish Vitamins
In planning family meals for late winter and early spring, the housewife will be wise to provide more of the foods that are rich in vitamin C—tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, fresh green cabbage, kale, and other fresh greens—to offset losses of this vitamin which many vegetables and fruits suffer during winter storage. Tests at many state agricultural experiment stations have shown a gradual loss of vitamin C in potatoes, apples, onions, cabbage, parsnips, and even in some canned fruits and vegetables over the months in storage. Family meals may run low in the C vitamin and this may show up in a rundown feeling and "spring weariness."

Clay Aids Soil
Mixed with clay, compost improves the condition of the soil so greatly that cultivation during the growing season is much lighter. As a result the gardener gains by not having to do so much work or such hard work cultivating in summer heat. Added to sandy soils compost improves the water-holding capacity, checks leaching of fertilizer, and lightens the labor of providing water for the crops.

Beethoven's Early Deafness
Beethoven, the great composer, showed symptoms of deafness at 28. His statue at Bonn, Germany, remained standing after the Allied intense bombing.

NEW RULING ON PAPERS TO NAVY MEN

Instructions received from the postmaster general will sharply affect subscriptions for the Chronicle, as well as all other publications, for members of the armed forces overseas.

Effective July 1, 1945, it will no longer be possible to renew subscriptions for personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, at fleet post offices at New York City or San Francisco, without a written request from the person addressed. Relatives and friends may still pay for subscriptions, if requests are received.

Sea-Going Mules

The American mule is an important transportation unit for our army. Thousands of them are crossing the oceans, traveling in style, in ships that have been especially and expensively converted for the purpose. Seventeen ships—13 Liberty and 4 cargo ships—have been converted to mule carriers. The ships carry from 320 to 699 mules—with sick bays for 16 to 32 mules. A Missouri mule requires more space than the slightly smaller Texas mule.

Extra Jacket Plays Very Important Role

'Bare Shoulder' Mode Calls For Decorous Covering.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A "necessary luxury" that is the status of the extra little jacket or bolero in the current summer fashions. What with the new bare look that is a leading style theme this summer because of brief sleeved gowns with daringly low cut necklines, bareback sun outfits and braided play clothes, the little jacket, bolero and other shoulder coverings have risen to a new importance.

The extra jacket not only gives flipp to most every costume but this year it is doing a real service in that it solves the "bare look" problem converting even the most daring gown into a decorous costume for general wear. Fashion has planned it just that way for this summer. Which is why one's wardrobe should include any number of becoming little separate boleros and versatile extra jackets.

Boleros are having their biggest success this year made up as an actual part of the costume, or in contrast effects to go with any and every outfit. Many a smart little bolero is made of the new rayon weave buter linen, and for that matter pure linen is again becoming available. The girl that knows tricks in dressing wears her navy or black bolero skirt and lingerie blouse to business, and for her after-five date she dons a pink linen bolero, tucks an extra pink flower in her hair, and she's adorable to look upon.

The light top jacket also features well with daytime suits and one-piece dresses. With your chic black frock wear a pink wool short flaring top, pink felt or flower hat or change the color to lavender or the popular gold shade if you prefer.

It's very smart too, to wear with your modish black or navy frock one of the new-looking semi-fitted longer-length pastel or white wool jackets with a simple cardigan neckline. The smartest fasten down the front with match-color braid frogs.

Separate little capes are shown made up in tailored fashion or are quite fanciful done in lace or net to wear over summery frocks. For beachwear some of the capes are knee-length, often fashioned of the same material as the dress or swim suit, or done in bright contrast wool.

Designers are doing clever things with intriguing scarfs and other cover-up fantasies to wear with the bare-back play clothes and sun costumes. A shawl scarf made of bright gingham with deep hand-tied bright-color cotton fringe is most attractive and wearable. Net or lace wide and long scarfs starred with sequins are charming with summer dance frocks.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Superforts Rip New Jap Targets;
Big Five Key to United Nations'
Postwar Security Organization

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Pressing stretcher into service to move effects of command post, marines slog through stream inundating road on Okinawa.

PACIFIC:
New Attacks

With Japan's key industrial cities of Tokyo, Yokohama, Nagoya, Kobe and Osaka all but knocked out of war output, heavy U. S. bombers next trained their sights on the enemy's secondary production centers.

Purpose of the newest raids was to further paralyze the Japs' industrial machinery by pulverizing cities like Kagoshima, Omata, Hamatsu and Yokkaichi, which embrace scores of smaller but vital factories and thousands of home shops.

While the B-29s launched their latest aerial offensive, army and marine forces cleaned up the remnants of opposition on Okinawa, 325 miles from Tokyo.

Elation over the triumph, however, was sobered by the death of 10th army commander Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr., who died after being struck by a shell fragment at the front on the eve of victory. Fifty-eight years old, General Buckner led the U. S. ground forces on Okinawa after having spent many months planning the campaign in 1944.

As the Yanks rolled the enemy into the sea on the southern end of Okinawa after having smashed through the cave-studded Shuri line in earlier fighting, Admiral Nimitz estimated 80,459 Jap troops had been killed in 77 days of fighting, with only 1,680 taken prisoners. During that time, U. S. ground losses totaled 5,332 killed and 21,343 wounded.

TRUCK STRIKE:
Army Takes Over

"The army will break the strike. You can't beat the United States army."

Thus spoke Ellis T. Longenecker, Office of Defense Transportation official called in to manage private truck-bound lines in Chicago, as Yanks piled into carriers or provided escorts for non-striking drivers so as to deliver vital war material and civilian supplies.

Remaining idle were an estimated 10,000 of 14,000 members of the independent Chicago Truck Drivers union and Local 705 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. They walked out in protest of a War Labor board award of a $4.08 weekly raise for a 51-hour week after demanding a $5 boost for a 48-hour week.

Though 400 uniformed Yanks joined the estimated 4,000 non-striking drivers in the early days of the walkout, operations were far below normal, and the railroads placed an embargo on incoming freight to prevent pile-ups at terminals.

MOSCOW:

Try Poles

Reminiscent of the celebrated purge trials of 1937, the majority of Polish underground leaders on trial in Moscow for plotting against Russia apparently sealed their own doom by pleading guilty to all charges, while others admitted partial guilt. Only one pleaded innocent.

Appearing before the military division of the Russian supreme court, the 16 Poles were accused of committing sabotage behind the Red army lines, with the leaders also charged with conspiring to build up an organization to participate in a future war against the Soviets as part of a bloc of states headed by Germany.

Meanwhile, in Moscow, Polish leaders strove to organize a representative government which would strike some kind of balance between the Russian-sponsored Warsaw provisional regime and the non-communist elements. Though the Reds have insisted that the provisional regime must serve as the backbone for any government, the U. S. and Britain have sought to temper it with more conservative membership.

UNITED NATIONS:

Chart Security

With Pres. Harry S. Truman having flown to the west coast to be on hand for the closing session to crown the delegates' work, the United Nations put the finishing touches to the postwar security organization designed to keep peace in the future.

As the organization took final shape, major responsibility for maintaining the stability of the postwar world lay in the hands of the security council, bulwarked by the Big Five—the U. S., Britain, Russia, France and China—with authority vested in them to apply political or economic pressure to remove threats or call up the international peace force to curb hostilities.

Though the United Nations' organization also provides for a general assembly in which all member countries would be represented, work of this body would be restricted to discussion, resolution or recommendation. In the words of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, it would be the "Town Hall of the World" and would serve to influence public opinion.

Although the final disposition of boundaries must await the peace conferences, the organization does provide for international trusteeships of conquered territory or subject people, with the U. S. being allowed to keep all Pacific islands important to defense. Under the final charter, so called "dependent" or "subject" people would be afforded opportunity to achieve self-rule or independence.

To be under a general United Nations' military staff, the first international army, navy and air force was established, with member nations required to allow free passage through their territories in case of hostilities. According to U. S. military authorities, this country might furnish about one-third of its present armed might.

TRACTORS:

For Overseas

To enable cultivation of 2,900,000 acres capable of producing 1,500,000 tons of cereals, 14,500 tractors will be sent to 11 European countries by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration to help them raise their own foodstuffs and thus ease the serious food situation imperiling the continent.

With 13,000 of the tractors to be built in this country and the other 1,500 in Britain, the machines will be distributed among paying and non-paying countries alike.

For the paying countries, France will receive 3,798; Italy, 810; Netherlands, 530; Norway, 330; Belgium, 150; and Denmark, 70. Of the non-paying nations, Poland will obtain 3,526; Yugoslavia, 2,500; Czechoslovakia, 1,500; Greece, 1,261; and Albania, 25.

Mould Jap Youth for Suicide Attacks

The Japanese military command will have no difficulty in transforming its entire air force into suicide pilots, Dr. John W. Stanton, visiting associate professor of political science at Northwestern university, now teaching Japanese area characteristics to army officers, declared. This apparent willingness to die in battle is the result chiefly of a traditional obedience to authority and a militaristic indoctrination that begins in boyhood, he said. "Throughout grade school and high school the Japanese is given six to ten hours a week of study in a course on 'morals' which teaches him that the Jap soldier must never flee in battle and that his greatest duty is self-sacrifice," he said. "In the course, which is inspired by the militarists, he learns discipline and loyalty to the emperor and to the 'destiny' or expansion of Japan."

EUROPE:

Share Secrets

Fully exploiting the Allied victory over Germany, U. S. and British technicians have undertaken an intensive study of secret German devices and processes discovered in the wake of the Reich's collapse.

Originally, special technical teams followed fast moving Allied spearheads in the combat zones to examine enemy scientific and industrial installations following their capture before they could be destroyed.

Though German processes are first to be shipped to Britain, Allied authorities stated that American representatives would be on hand to assist in exploiting the material. Further, it was said, the U. S. had access to samples shipped to Britain. In all, the Allied agency charged with revealing the results of research has been 99 per cent effective in achieving impartiality toward the U. S. and Britain, it was said.

CORN:

Conserve Supplies

With farmers holding back large stocks of corn and the feed situation acute in many sections of the country, the War Food administration sought to channel incoming supplies of the grain to feed mixers and processors by prohibiting its use for industrial and beverage alcohol and export.

At the same time, officials expected that farmers would increase marketings now that corn could not be held back for higher prices following OPA refusal to boost ceilings. Even with the improvement in the flow of corn to feed mixers, however, considerable amounts of substitute materials might have to be used to meet the heightened demand from chicken producing areas. The May Hatch report showed the number of chicks was up 30 per cent from last year and 33 per cent over the 1939-'43 average.

In the face of the tight corn situation, there has been a big export demand for the grain for both purchase and lend-lease. Because many of the nations bidding for corn normally buy it in Argentina, this country felt further justified in clamping down on shipments, WFA said.

Big Hand for 'Ike'

Riding in an army reconnaissance car with a broad grin, and waving a continual salute, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned to the nation's capital to receive a hero's welcome from the 300,000 people lining flag-bedecked avenues.

Though Grant, Sherman and Pershing had ridden up Pennsylvania avenue before as conquering heroes, none received the hand accorded General Eisenhower as head of the U. S. and British armies which smashed Germany. "Ike! Ike! Ike!" the crowd roared as the motorcade crept up Washington's streets and army bombers cleared overhead.

Speaking to an at once hilarious and respectful congress, General Eisenhower had nothing but praise for the soldier who carried the Star Spangled Banner to victory in Europe. Said he: "Willingly, he has suffered hardships; without a whimper he has made heavy sacrifices. He has endured much but he has never faltered. His aggressiveness, his willingness to close with the enemy, has become a byword in the embattled armies of Europe."

HARD COAL:

Boost Prices

Because of increased labor costs of 60.7 cents a ton, and decline in operators' margins below the 1942 level, the government approved higher hard coal prices amounting to $1 a ton for domestic sizes and 25 to 50 cents a ton for industrial types.

Announcement of the higher prices followed the Office of Economic Stabilization's O. E. S. of a 1.37% wage boost for 68,000 mine workers, and slightly smaller increases for 4,000 more. Major portion of the boost results from payment for travel time to and from the pits, with other adjustments of $75 vacation allowance; 4 and 6 cents hourly premiums for second and third shifts, and time and a half for work beyond 35 hours.

At the same time, the OES said operators would be permitted to realize the 1942 level of 19.9 cents per ton over the present rate of 14.7 cents. They also would be allowed to make up the difference of 9.2 cents per ton below the accepted margin incurred during the first five months of 1945.

BANKS

National banks of the United States served the credit needs of more people at less cost during 1944 and ended the year with a stronger capital structure and a slight increase in earned profits, according to the American Bankers' association. Total assets of national banks in 1944 were $76,949,669,000 reported by the Comptroller of the Currency as of December 30 in comparison with $64,531,917,000 in the previous year. Loans and discounts were up 13 per cent and investments 26 per cent.

RESCUE

Billy Britt, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Britt, is having an attack of the whooping cough.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Schweitzer and children and Mrs. Roy Arnold and children of Bay City were Sunday visitors at the home of Wilber Ellis and family and to see their nephew, Sgt. Floyd Ellis, who has been spending his furlough here.

Pvt. Clifton E. Summers of Fort Sheridan, Ill., spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ostrum Summers, who entertained their children and families for Saturday dinner in his honor. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Woolner and children of Detroit brought Pvt. Summers home and took him to Detroit on Sunday, to return to Fort Sheridan.

Pfc. Thomas Quinn, Jr., of the Black Hawk division, came Saturday to spend a 30-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quinn. He landed in New York on June 18 from Germany where he had been since February, 1945.

The young people of the Nazarene church in Gagetown and the pastor and wife, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Miller, held a farewell party for Sgt. Floyd Ellis, and it also turned out to be a welcoming home party for Tech. 5th Grade Lysle D. Ellis, who came home Monday. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Ellis.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quinn and daughter, Miss Catherine, entertained the following guests at their home Sunday in honor of their son and brother, Pfc. Thomas Quinn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lester Quinn of Marlette, Pfc. Francis E. Quinn of Bay City, Mrs. Quinn of Kinde, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Creguer and children of Filion. Other callers were S. 2/c Edward Britt of Great Lakes, Ill., and Mrs. Edward Britt of Detroit, and Miss Marjorie Creguer of Filion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lachlan MacLachlan and children of Romeo were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Britt.

Raymond D. Webster was a Thursday evening caller at the home of his brother, Orville Webster, east of Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hundersmarch and son of Bad Axe were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Britt, parents of Mrs. Hundersmarch.

S. 2/c Edward Britt of Great Lakes, Ill., and Mrs. Edward Britt were Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Britt and son.

George Marx of Detroit, nephew of Mrs. Thomas Quinn, has been visiting the past two weeks at their home.

The Wilber Ellis family were indeed made happy when their son, Tech. 5th Grade Lysle Ellis, came home on Monday from being overseas in Sardinia and Italy since August, 1942. He arrived at New Port, Va., on June 15 and was honorably discharged on June 22. Tech. Ellis was inducted into the army on April 20, 1942, and went overseas in August. He was first in the Engineers and later in the Infantry. This was the first time since April 10, 1942, that their family had all been together as their other son, Sgt. Floyd Ellis, has also been in the service almost three years.

Select Awards for Boy Scout Gardens

A General MacArthur Garden Medal (above) will go to a limited number of Boy Scouts in each community who do superior jobs in raising and harvesting a variety of produce in gardens of at least 400 square feet. It is provided by the National Victory Garden Institute. Boy Scouts throughout the nation are not only planting gardens but will also work on farms. The Green Thumb Certificate (below) will go to every Scout raising food and reporting it to his Local Boy Scout Council.

Plane Loads

Plane loads of civil air transports during 1944 reached to more than 90 per cent of available capacity, 88 per cent in 1943, and only 72 per cent in 1942.

Cottons and Jersey Favored For Swim and Beach Outfits

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS is the time of the year when a maiden's fancy turns to thoughts of what's "the style" in play togs, swim suits and beach ensembles. Now that all nature seems to be joining in one grand chorus that invites one to come and play in the great outdoors, the summer style parade will be made up for the most part of sportswear and seashore fashions.

Judging from the signs that cast their shadows before, this is going to be a most glamorous season on the beach for the new swim-suits and ensembles were never more versatile and eye-thrilling. Designers are making a fascinating play on stripes, maneuvering them in every conceivable way. In the new fashions stripes go up and down, around and around and on the bias in ways that give the garment an individual look.

A very important trend is toward costume ensembles achieved with a matching robe or cape or jacket to be worn on the beach. This applies to sun frocks and play clothes too, the idea being to add a wrap that will tune the outfit to many-purpose wear.

As to materials, crisp striped cottons are very much in evidence on the beach and in the sports realm in general. Seersucker is being made up ever so smartly in styles that are not only good-looking but extremely practical. This year washable cotton jersey is making a great hit for swim suits, and exotically flowered rayon jersey is being made up into brief wrap-around skirts in sarong effects. Bright oriental-looking cottons are all-over shirred for figure-fitting swim suits with bra tops.

One of the big success fashions of the season is the stunning suit of red rayon jersey which is shown to the left in the accompanying illustration of smart seashore fashions. This stunning ensemble of scarf and swim suit comes from the New York Dress Institute. The fetching white cotton beach stole is a thrilling example of what creative genius is doing with even the simplest of materials this season. In this instance the white cotton is hand-painted with footprints for the motif, done in multi-color. The deep fringe is hand-tied of white cotton yarn.

One-strap swim suits present a thrilling new fashion theme for this summer. See a clever interpretation of this in the attractive model centered in the foreground. Important also is the fact that this suit is made of washable white cotton jersey. For the bra and one-hip decor Ella Raines, the designer, uses brown and white striped cotton jersey. The single strap over one shoulder is of the same brown stripe.

The beach ensemble to the right takes on a costume look because of the matching coat that so smartly complements it. You will see this trend to add a coat or other beach wrap emphasized all the way through this season's smart outdoor fashions. This is a glowing example of the ingenuity with which designers are manipulating stripes in the current mode. Crisp cotton with peppermint stripes is the material used. The stripes play all sorts of capers, some going vertical, horizontal, on the bias and in other deft arrangement that achieves a designfulness pleasing to the eye.

The first appearance of black in sportswear was accepted as a passing novelty, but it has proved so effective and practical its style prestige is reaching a new high. Form-fitting swim suits of dull-surfaced black elasticized silk are among the smartest, as are also those of elastic black satin. Then there is the swim suit of water-repellent black velvet. It's a beauty.

Freight Car Hot Box

The average freight car runs for 30 years without being set out of a train because of a "hot box."

Juice Found in Small Oranges

If orange buyers ever convince themselves on the facts of quality in orange juice and are willing to pay accordingly, there is likely to be a leveling off of orange prices. Judged by quality of juice, lower prices for some big oranges that now sell at a premium and higher prices for small oranges now discounted on the market, would fit the facts. This is the test tube and taste test verdict reached by U. S. department of agriculture studies. On a quality basis, the juice from small oranges averages better in flavor or taste. It is also richer and sweeter—has more solids.

Still Valuable, Too

In the early days of Pennsylvania, beaver pelts were used for money. Today, because of wise conservation laws, beavers are still living in that state.

Not Paint Brush

You've probably heard the expression "a lick and a promise." Well, the department of agriculture says that farmers are certainly "promising" themselves trouble when cattle are allowed to "lick" freshly painted fences, billboards, building, stanchions and other structures. That's because more farm animals are poisoned by lead than any other metallic poison. And paint is the most common source of lead around the barnyard.

Store To Preserve Nutrients

Bows Trim Dresses, Jackets and Dickies

Detachable bows that you can wear with this dress and that, play a flattering role in costume decor this spring. So now the ambition among college and teen-age girls is to collect bows and bows (spelled bows, not beaks). The newest trick is to smarten your dainty lingerie dicky with little black ribbon velvet bows, topping off with a matching velvet bow in your prettily coiffed hair. There are lots of other instances too, where an artful black velvet bow will fit into the scheme of things perfectly. Then there are those new, starched frost-white lingerie bows, that are being so importantly featured this spring. Designers are placing them in most unique ways on smart navy or black spring frocks or on two-piece jacket dresses. Perhaps the cleverest is the nifty short jacket that has a slot cut at the upper left shoulder through which is drawn a large butterfly bow made of lace and embroidery.

White Accessories Are Essentials This Year

That fashion slogan "iced with white" has caught the fancy of women who are alert to fashion and to what is most flattering. A white hat, a white coat, white gloves and footwear are summer wardrobe essentials this year. Then every lady of fashion needs must have in store endless frilly white blouses together with frothy, lovely jabots and other neckwear items galore.

Sheer Loveliness

The memory of the bride in a traditional white wedding gown is ever to be cherished. If your budget is limited, that need not be a barrier, for if you can sew it will add to the endearment of your bridal dress if you make it yourself. By taking advantage of the wartime budget lessons given by your local sewing center, experts will show you the latest tricks and modern finishing touches. The bride pictured "made her own" of a lovely white sheer, for this summer fashion favors exquisite diaphanous materials for the wedding gown. Suggested materials include sheerest of white cotton voile, ninon, marquisette and organdy over a rayon taffeta slip.

Child Care
Here's a solution to the old problem of keeping a youngster covered at night: Sew two of his largest crib blankets together on both sides and at one end, forming a sleeping bag. Tuck baby in the bag first, then put on the other covers. If he kicks off the covers, he still has the protection of his sleeping bag.

Agriculture "Come-back"
In 1944, for the eighth year in succession, American farmers made a new peak record for food production in this country, despite war's domination of the agricultural scene for almost five years. Simultaneously, American agriculture has succeeded in making an unusual come-back from the low levels reached after the first World war and which lasted for almost two decades. In 1944, gross farm income was well over 22 billion dollars — including government payments — more than twice the amount of the prewar income.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Shortening Sail at Your Home

Bill Syndicate.—WNU Features.

If you are lucky to have a country retreat, where he can find peace and quiet, putter with farm machinery, raise chickens, milk cows, sell fruit, where he can take his loved wife, baby girls, books and forget the world for a while, thank God for it.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"HOW long must we put up with my husband's postwar disillusionment and discontent?" writes Mrs. Harry Kling of Chicago. "He came back four months ago, and after the first delight at having him home again, honorably discharged, it has been nothing but difficulty and gloom. He was always a well-balanced man, affectionate, steady and contented. He is now nervous, critical, or worse than all darkly silent for hours. He has gone back into his old firm of claim adjusters, and is making good money, with good prospects ahead. But I can't stand this sort of home life much longer. No harmony, no conversation, no plans, no fun. He is 35, I am 32; our daughters are 5 and 3.

"Harry wants to give up our comfortable apartment, where I have a part-time maid, break up all our pleasant associations, upset the girls' schooling—they go to all-day nursery schools—and move to the country. He has his eye on a sprawling farm 35 miles out, house in bad repair, 52 acres partly cultivated, tenant house of three rooms—the farmhouse has about seven rooms, electric light fixtures and plumbing 40 years old, and everything imaginable in the way of refrigerator, telephone, gas stove, linoleum, curtaining, painting, yet to be done. Here he proposes we live for years—perhaps forever. I adore my husband, I have not loved any other man since I met him, at 20, but do you think it wise to pull up all our roots simply because he has been emotionally and nervously upset by the war? Wouldn't it be wiser to wait, for the girls' sake and for all our sakes?"

My answer to this is, my dear Mrs. Kling, don't make the mistake of thinking that this fearful war, some of whose phases have ended, is like any other war that ever was. After peace negotiations with the powers of savagery and lawlessness are signed, sealed and delivered, we still have a titanic job ahead of us—service folk and civilians alike. This postwar job will not only be to preserve world peace, it will be to preserve world sanity.

A Shattered World.
It will not be only to keep a few hundred thousand depressed and mentally affected men sane; it will be to keep us all sane. This war has bitten too deep into the equilibrium of humanity; too much that is unthinkable and unbearable has happened. Europe will be peopled by millions of folk who have known what it was—for weeks, months, years—to be homeless, hungry, desperate. The sacred thing that is a man's right to work, to love, to serve his family, to build his home—has been outraged and destroyed.

Barren wastes of ashes and ruins will be wearily searched and combed by vaguely wandering hordes—children whose first experience of life was fright, fear, hunger. Women who have looked upon death, death in the mass, heaped hundreds of innocent women

MOVING TO THE COUNTRY

After returning from service Harry was able to return to his old position as a claim adjuster. He is earning a good salary and seemingly should be glad to get back into the old ways. His wife says she loves him as much as ever. They have two daughters, five and three, who are attending day nursery school.

Yet with all this, Harry is moody, unsocial and restless. He no longer is well balanced and light hearted. Something weighs him down. He wants to get away—from his job, the association of family and friends, the familiar scenes.

Lately he has fixed his mind on going into farming. He has found a 52-acre place somewhat rundown, and only partly cultivated at present. There are two houses on it, one of three rooms, the other seven. Both are in poor condition. It is here, 35 miles from town, that Harry wants to move his family. Harry's wife doesn't like the prospects.

and children slain, and lying unburied in what once were grassy parks and splendid streets.

Nothing like this ever has happened in the world before. Try to realize that we will not only be fighting, in these years to come, for those alien peoples overseas, we will be fighting with every humane and scientific weapon in our power for ourselves. That honor and charity and service may live on in the world, that homes and firesides, books and schools and tree-shaded towns may still exist, that our hearts and souls shall not be ravaged again by the fearful cruelties man may inflict upon his fellow-man, will take all that we have of courage and vision and hard, humble labor.

A Country Retreat.
Your man has done his share. He has jeopardized his reason in these years when you and the babies waited for him, safe and snug in protected America. Now you three persons whom he loves must give him back those years.

If you are lucky enough to have a country retreat, where he can find peace and quiet, where he can putter with farm machinery, raise chickens, milk cows, sell fruit; where he can take his loved wife, his books, his baby girls, and forget the great world for awhile, thank God for it. Take it gratefully, and as he grows stronger and saner you'll see how he longs to share it to let other wounded souls and bodies rest under his big trees, to let other bewildered soul-scarred men fish his stream, help harvest his corn, sleep deep in the country guest room shaded by the pear trees.

We are going to find some big words for what we have to do for our men now. Teaching, helping, cheering, healing. Begin with your own. Forget all the past, as Europe must. Think only of a better tomorrow, and do your share to make it come true.

Preventing Tooth Decay
Fluorine solutions, mouthwashes and fluoride in drinking water are under experimentation. A poisonous element not to be trifled with, fluoride in extremely small amounts has prevented dental decay. Citizens of Kingston, N. Y., a city on the Hudson river, will drink fluoride-containing water while their neighbors down the line in Newburgh will get ordinary water. After a few years, dental comparisons should reveal whether other cities should fortify their water too.

Paragraphs About Folks in the Service

Pfc. Kenneth D. Clement of Cass City is serving with a Military Police unit in the Calcutta, India, area. Military police duty in India is much the same as it is in other theatres of operation, but does consist of a more extensive program of general activity. One of the most important duties of the MP in Calcutta and vicinity is guarding the millions of tons of vital war materials which pass through the city on the way to China. Each large shipment going forward either by train, truck or barge requires armed guard. MP's also guard the Calcutta docks, and a most difficult job for MP's in that city is the handling of traffic. Calcutta, the second largest city in the British Empire with a wartime population of approximately five million, is perhaps one of the most difficult cities in the world from the standpoint of inter-city travel, due to the many types of transportation. Taxicabs, rickshas, gharris, oxcarts, bicycles, motorcycles, lorries and tram cars, the city's normal means of conveyance, are now mixed with thousands of army vehicles rolling over the city's sizzling streets. The temperature often reaches 120 in the shade.

Marine Staff Sergeant Shirley E. Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beardsley, of Cass City and stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., has been promoted to her present rank. Sgt. McCoon is stationed at Casablanca Air Base, the hub of the North African division through which flow the fighting forces of Europe en route to the United States and the Pacific. This has been termed by Gen. Marshall as the "greatest logistic move of the war." Pvt. McCoon was employed by the Universal Engineering Co. at Frankmuth, before entering the armed forces in March, 1943. His wife, Mrs. Frances Chaffee McCoon, and daughter, Judith Dale, maintain their home at Cass City.

Result was 10 ships sunk, including three attack transports, a sub tender and a large tanker, with 22 Jap aircraft and industrial and chemical plants destroyed.

Rev. Walter S. Hubbard, pastor of the Kingston Free Will Baptist church, writes the following regarding his son, Walter Marshall Hubbard, Pm M 3/c: "His ship is preparing to set sail this week.
