Check Imports

In 1944, at ports of entry, foreign plant quarantine officials inspected 22,000 airplanes from foreign countries, or an increase of about 65 per cent over the number inspected in 1943. About one airplane in seven was found to carry prohibited plant material some of which carried insect pests or plant diseases which could be injurious to farm crops if allowed to become eslablished in this country.

Nazis Meant to Enslave British

Deportation of Most Males Rigid Rule Mapped in German Document.

HAMBURG. - The German high command's secret plan for the administration of Britain, which called for the deportation to the continent of the male population between the ages of 17 and 45, now is in British hands.

The red bound 23-page manuscript disclosed that Adolf Hitler planned to complete the occupation of England before September 9, 1940, and the transformation of the country and its resources into Germany's main war workshop.

British industry under Nazi direction was to turn out weapons for only one obvious objective - the battle of Russia. The blueprint for England in defeat was mapped the year before the Nazis invaded Russia by a staff of German administration experts working under the direct guidance of Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch, former commander in chief of the German army, and Gen. Franz Halder, chief of staff of the high command.

Believed Only Copy Left. Only 195 copies of the plan were printed, and 78 were distributed to high Nazi authorities and army officials. The remainder were reserved for the high command's archives. The plan was one of the most secret documents of the high command. The copy now in British hands was believed to be the only one of its kind still in existence.

Designed to prevent sabotage, the deportation provision presumably meant that Britons would have been farmed out on the continent as slave laborers while German workers were rushed to Britain to keep the war machine operating with a minimum of interference. Britain was to be divided into districts in charge of army commanders who were to have field and town units under

Under the list of administrative regulations the plan provided that any person in Britain impeding the German war effort by starting hostilities was to be treated as a guerrilla and shot. Hostages were to be taken as a "security" measure.

Death Penalty Provided. The country's state of health was a safeguard for the resources of the country and the Nazi troops. A nonfraternization policy on a limited scale was to be enforced.

Death sentences were to be assessed against persons who failed to turn in all radio transmitting apparatus and spare parts. A sunset to sunrise curiew, strict blackout regulations and a firm minimum rationing system were to be enforced. Looting and violence against the population were to be classed as military court offenses punishable by death. The regulations also stated that monuments were to be protected. The German penal code, providing for executions by decapitation with an ax or guillotine, was to be enforced.

Keep Bluegrass Growing

After bluegrass matures in June, its protein content, and hence its feeding value, remains low until fall rains start it growing again. During spring and fall, it is suggested that bluegrass be kept from heading out. If there is not enough stock to keep it down to a height of 4 to 6 inches, it is suggested that the grass be clipped with a mower. This will keep the grass growing and high in protein and hence in feeding value.

Steel Output

In the past four years, cutput of this country's steel mills totaled 325 million tons-double the rest of the world's production in any two years before the war began. Actual production last year amounted to 89.1 million tons, 70 per cent more than Axis Europe combined with Japan was able to make.

The Want Ads Never Speak, But Hundreds Answer Them!

I have found a Royal Road to washing"

"It's true-there may be no royal road to learning...but I've learned of a royal road to washing pleasure-my all-electric laundry. I used to dread washday . . . now all I do is place the clothes in my washer, add soap and turn a switch. As if by magic the clothes are washed, rinsed and wrung, even as I do some of the cleaning upstairs. That isn't all, though-the electric dryer damp-dries the clothes so that they are ready for ironing in about a half-hour. Then comes the real pleasure of washday-ironing with the electric ironer, with a real saving of time and effort. My electric laundry means a minimum of work . . . a maximum of time for other things."

Electric laundry equipment is not generally available for sale now. Some is being manufactured and distributed. It will be to your advantage to have your name on your electrical dealer's list, so that you will be able to get it at the earliest possible time.

Gold and Silver Valued at $250,000,000; Gems at $30,000,000 Seized.

TOKYO.—Searching for Japanese war loot American troops have uncovered more than $250,000,000 in gold and silver; and diamonds weighing more than 90 pounds, estimated in value at $30,000,000.

In the army and navy ministry alone $12,000,000 in gold and silver was found.

It was disclosed by the raids that the Japanese government had no knowledge of the gold and silver and that neither the army nor navy has made an accounting of expenditures to the government since 1937-the year of the invasion of China.

The hoards included 58,000,000 ounces of gold and silver bullion and coins, 33,400 ounces of platinum on which no value was set, and Japanese silver coins valued at 27,000,000 yen ($1,800,000 at the occupation exchange rate of 15 to 1).

All were seized by U. S. Sixth and Eighth army troops at Imperial army headquarters, the navy ministry building, military arsenals in Osaka and in the warehouses of precious metals companies.

Surprise to Japs.

Greatest surprise to the Japanese finance ministry was the discovery of huge stores of silver at the army and navy ministries. The army held 8,049,920 ounces of silver valued at $6,037,440. The navy had 7,947,104 ounces valued at $5,760,328.

The army held 21,906 ounces of platinum in addition to the silver. The navy had 11,109 ounces of platinum and 42 ounces of gold bullion valued at $1,463.

We were astounded to learn that the army and navy had not reported any expenditures since 1937," declared an Allied spokesman.

"The finance ministry told us they had no reports of army and navy funds. The finance ministry didn't know either the army or navy had a single ounce of precious metals.

"The two services drew their money from a master account with the Bank of Japan and only they knew what became of it,"

Chief paymasters of the army and navy were from two to three years behind in their reports.

The headquarters spokesman said the hoard would be stored in the imperial mint and in Bank of Japan vaults. It was seized suddenly to make sure specie reserves didn't disappear, he said.

A complete evaluation of the reserves will not be made for several days, the spokesman said. An exact evaluation was hampered because the Japanese had dispersed bank records to avoid bomb damage.

at jewelers' weight of 12 ounces to the pound—were discovered in cheap quart thermos bottles in a safe deposit vault.

The gems, largely government-owned and many obtained through deceit of the Japanese people, are valued at more than $30,000,000.

The fortune in diamonds found in the Mitsui Trust company vaults, deposited in the name of a Japanese government import and export control agency.

Many of the diamonds had been contributed by civilians who were told they were needed for industrial use. Obviously they were never used for that purpose. Possibly the gems were intended for use as trading material with Germany and other nations had the war continued.

Some of the gems probably were obtained abroad, as the same type of campaign for them was conducted by the Japanese overseas.

The same government control 250 pounds of platinum in various parts of Tokyo.

Finally he attached himself to Corporal Augustine, who instituted a search for his family. The search ended in success recently when Gaetan's father, a shoemaker, was reunited with the child in Paris. The reunion restored his memory.

(Eastmen Kodak Photo.) Diagnosis must be exact. Before a standard-size X-ray is taken, the chest is measured and the equipment adjusted accordingly. In the campaign against tuberculosis, supported by Christmas Seals, followup X-rays of suspicious cases are made on standard 14" x 17" films.

Cut Poppies

Poppies are better for landscape subjects than for cutting. If they are to be used as cut flowers, sear the stem ends in a flame just as soon as the blooms are cut. Place them in deep water (almost up to the flower) and let them stand in a cool basement for several hours before placing them in an arrangement with flowers. Even with this treatment, they usually drop their petals the second day. Their best place is in the garden where they make a real display of brilliant color.

Safety Movement

The agricultural safety movement was started in 1942, when agricultural leaders determined that farmmore than 16,000 farm people are disabling injuries. About 90 million dollars' worth of farm property is destroyed in fires, while the total annual cost to agriculture for injuries and fires is estimated to be one Million dollars.

Commercial canning began in the U. S. in 1819. First American patent for the tin can was granted in 1825, although an English patent had been taken out in 1810. The word "can" is derived from the English "cannister."

Farmers' Organizations!

Before joining any organization, farmers should consider the following ten prerequisites: Need, Membership, Leadership, Finances, Control, Scope, Objectives, Program, Performance, Organization.

Today we discuss the METHOD OF ORGANIZ-

Membership in an organization may be secured through the friendly, sincere solicitation by friends and neighbors, or by outside organizers. In the first instance, members are assured an active part in the management. Where outside organizers are employed, the party supplying the money will control the management. It should not be necessary to pay tribute to any individual or group.

FARMER CO-OPERATIVES build their membership through personal solicitation by friends and neighbors. Their continued growth reflects the sincerity of the membership.

Japanese Beetles Here

No insect pest is as well known to citizens of America as the Japanese beetle. This is due in part to the size and conspicuous coloration of the pest and to the relatively high populations which appear, but more particularly to its appetite for a wide variety of plants, which causes it to invade yards and gardens as well as commercial plantings of fruit trees and field crops.

Check Fires

Forest owners prefer feed lanes instead of fire lines - wide pasture strips which provide excellent grazing and which stop fires better

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

 VERY woman who manages a house and a family knows the value of a plan.

No matter how tangled the problem is, if she can sit down with a pencil and paper and plan it all out, she feels a great relief in her troubled soul, and she knows all will go well.

Perhaps her plan runs something like this. "Dave and Mary come down with Joe in his car. Susan is coming with Aunt Alice. The Fosters will have the guest room. Alice comes in with me, the two children on cots in the old playroom-" and so on.

Or perhaps, it is this sort of planning; "I'll combine celery and have a good soup—that's Saturday night, and with the corned beef hash and cabbage and biscuits that'll do for supper. That leaves all those sausages for Sunday morning-and a picnic lunch. Well, now I have only to make a dessert or two and I'm all

And so with the children's school outfits. And so with the proposed visit to the mountains or the seaside. Think it all out, settle the details, tell everyone just what he or she has to do-and all anxiety and uncertainty are gone.

World Problems to Solve.

Now we have a bigger job than week-end meals or picnic and houseparty plans to work on. Now we have world problems of feeding and housing to settle.

"World problems!" We are accustomed to this phrase now, and we dismiss it as too big to handle. It dimly means straitened markets at home, great ships loaded with eign ports, hordes of hungry, frighttened, homeless folk waiting for that food.

We have nervous sense that this winter will be hard on us all, but that we'll weather it. And then afterward-

The "then afterward" is what ought to concern us now. We'll get through this winter on limited meat and fuel; we'll get through the next and the next, and we'll slowly work our way out to that prosperity and plenty that nothing can keep away from us.

But then? Then comes the time when everyone will want a little money. Ten thousand, 12 thousand, 20 thousand dollars in 1950 are going to spell the simple word "fortune." Opportunities will be everywhere; you may have what you want in 1950, if you plan for it today.

To buy things now-homes, furniture, rugs, cars, is not thrifty, because of high prices and scarcities. Also, qualities are not what they were, and what they will be again. But to get through these next few years quietly, thriftily, means that you can buy that hillside farm, with the oaks and the creek, some day. It means saying to the ambitious boy, "we can give you your first year or two of medical school, anyway." It means an investment in some growing industry that will bring you and your husband a comfortable and secure old age. It may mean

FOR A HAPPY FUTURE

Although the war is over, many grave problems remain with us. We can't do much about the hardships of Europe or Asia, excepting to contribute what we can to relief agencies. But in our own sphere, we can do a lot. Shortages will be with us for some time. Fuel and clothing will not be plentiful this winter. Some foods will still be hard to get. Nevertheless, there should be no real suffering in this country, and we can look forward to a better year than we have had in a lorg time.

This is a time to think of the future. Right now most people have considerable money saved up and they have good jobs. There is a great temptation, now that the re-strictions of war are being re-moved, to go out and buy all those things you have had to do without for so long, even though prices are high and quality poor. The time for sacrifice and doing without is not yet over, Miss Norris warns. This is the great opportunity to put away a tidy sum for the next few years.

The best investment, aside from any patriotic motives, is in government bonds, Miss Norris says. For safety and high yield these victory issues cannot be rivaled. Every one should buy all he can to assure a happy future.

travel. It may mean helping a be loved daughter through the hard years when her nursery is small. Money is going to be just as important to you in 1950 as it is today, and worth twice as much.

Invest in Government Bonds. My answer to this problem is to invest in the last government bonds; the bonds that mean victory, rehabilitation, the beginning of a new world. This is not government propaganda; I have not been asked to do it. I am saving it because I consider it an extraordinary opportunity. If in the dark war years there was ever a question as to how America was going to come out of this world agony, there is no question now. She has emerged gloriously, convincingly, unequivocally on top. We who bought bonds when German buzz bombs were besieging London, when Japanese suicide planes were sinking our ships, may have shown some little faith and patriotism in the act.

But not now. Now there is no doubt that an investment in America, as she makes her last great effort to clean up the remains of the war ruins everywhere, and get her own wheels started again, is the safest investment in the world. When I say save, and scrimp if you must, and cut down, and sacrifice-but lay away victory bonds, and bonds, and bonds," I am talking not for America, not even for the soldiers and sailors and airmen for whose benefit this great drive is opened, but for you-yourselfand those you love, and your bright er tomorrow.

TASTIER SCHOOL LUNCHES School days mean lunch-box days,

Here are some suggestions to make lunches "go over in a big way." Use enough waxed paper to cover sandwiches, fruit and cake completely so that the food does not dry out. And use paper cups with lids to keep raw vegetables crisp. To keep lettuce from wilting long before lunchtime, wash the leaves, dry them well, and wrap them separately in waxed paper. Then the leaves can be added to the sandwich just before eating.

Flat Sonr If packed jars of beans or peas are allowed to stand at room teinperature before processing them, lat sour may develop.
