Emerson Scott Is Appointed Executive Sec. of Co. Red Cross

B. H. McComb, chairman of the Tuscola County Chapter of the American Red Cross, has announced the employment of Emerson Scott of Caro to the position of executive secretary of the local chapter. This action was taken by the executive officers at a meeting held Wednesday, Nov. 28. The contract of employment extends from Dec. 1, 1945, to Feb. 1, 1946, but it is expected that Mr. Scott will be retained on a yearly basis at the time of the annual meeting next January.

Mr. Scott is a veteran of World War II and saw considerable service in Africa and Italy before being severely wounded in action in Italy. Subsequent to his graduation from the Caro high school in 1930 he entered Y. M. C. A. work in Chicago, Evanston, Ill., and Seattle, Washington, for a period of six years. For the period of one and a half years just prior to entrance into the armed services, he was director of community service work in Seattle.

Mr. McComb said that the Tuscola county chapter is fortunate in securing a man of such good training for the position of executive secretary. The Red Cross work provides a valuable service between the soldier and his home, and the handling of veterans' problems after his discharge. These duties have multiplied tremendously during the period of the war, and are expected to increase for some time to come. It has been impossible for volunteers to take care of this work in a manner that the people of Tuscola county are entitled to receive. Mr. Scott's previous training and experience in similar work fits him ideally for the type of Red Cross work now needed.

It is expected that Red Cross offices will be secured in Caro in the near future, and Mr. Scott will be in charge. He will have direct control of all Red Cross activities in the county and will be available to the public for any service that the Red Cross can render. In making this announcement, Mr. McComb said that he also wished, at this time, to express his appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Landon of Cass City for their unselfish devotion and work during the past four years for the Red Cross. During that time Mr. Landon was chairman of the Home Service committee and he and his wife gave considerable of their time in maintaining service for the soldiers and their families.

Mr. McComb will retire from the county chairmanship the first of the new year, a position he has ably filled for four years.

Then he was selected unanimously as center of the Upper Thumb All Star team. His latest feat toward football fame was being placed on the Northeastern Michigan All Star squad. He backed up the line on defense and was considered one of the hardest tacklers in the league. Perry Hayden to Show Biblical Wheat Movies in Cass City

Perry Hayden, founder of the world-famous Biblical Tithing Wheat demonstration, will show his beautiful colored movies at the December meeting of the Cass City Community club next Tuesday evening. Dinner will be served to members of the club at 7:30 and the meeting will be open to the public at 8:15 to which all are invited.

Inspired by a sermon in his local Quaker church five years ago, Perry Hayden, a Quaker miller of Tecumseh, Mich., set out to illustrate some of the Bible lessons on "Tithing," "Rebirth" and "Returns on what we sow."

Hayden started with a cubic inch of wheat which he planted in a patch 4 ft. by 8 ft. A year later, he harvested the patch, deducted 10% of the crop as a tithe to the church, and planted the balance again the following year. The second, third and fourth years, he again deducted the tithe and replanted the entire balance of the crop. This year was the fifth year. The harvesters cut a field of 230 acres, which netted 5,187 bushels, originating from the small cubic inch of wheat five years ago. This year it required 2,500 acres for the replanting of the sixth and last crop of the demonstration.

If continued for seven years, it would cover the entire state of Indiana. In nine years it would require the whole United States, and in 15 years it is estimated that it would cover the globe. After deducting the tithe, the balance left for replanting has exceeded the state average of Michigan every year.

Rotarians Are Guests of the Gavel Club

Turkey Dinner and a Delightful Program are Features of Evening

Place cards, bearing the Rotary emblem and the names of guests, designated places for seating at the tables at the Home restaurant Tuesday evening when the Rotarians were guests of the Gavel club at a turkey dinner. At the side of each guest sat a member of the entertaining club.

Florence Hillman, John Kirm, Amy Deneen and Joyce Hutchinson presented "Annie Laurie" and "Festival March" as a trombone quartet and Mary Doerr played "My Buddie Polka" as a cornet solo with Marion Croft as piano accompanist.

SHRINKAGE ALLOWANCE

A stout gentleman, determined to lose weight during a stay on his Vermont farm, hustled to the general store for a pair of overalls. He picked out a pair big enough for energetic exercise. Then a thought struck him. "Wait a minute," he said to the clerk, "those fit me now, but I expect to lose a lot—maybe I had better buy a smaller pair."

The clerk shook his head, calmly went on wrapping the overalls. "Mister, if you can shrink as fast as those overalls will, you'll be doing pretty good."

Large Eyes

Just as a man with large feet necessarily does not walk faster than a person with small feet, people with large eyes do not see any better than persons with small eyes.

Speeding Has Doubled Number of Accidents

Came V-J Day in Mid-August and America rejoiced.

Came lifting of wartime speed regulations and America was launched on a joyride that threatens to become a national calamity.

In Michigan, auto accidents during September cost 105 lives and injured 2,792 persons in communities covered by Michigan State Police reports.

Injuries in rural areas nearly doubled and the rate still soars. . . . Prior to gas rationing more Americans were killed annually through auto accidents than lost their lives in World War I. Must we have a return of speed laws or will American common sense re-assert itself.

Cows Have Hay Fever

Hay fever is not confined to human sufferers, according to William Moore, North Carolina's official veterinarian. He reports that an experiment showed that 40 per cent of one group of cows were sensitive to ragweed pollen. Moore says he believes the allergy causes various maladies among cows—heaves and eczema in addition to hay fever.

Parrots Repetitious

The talk of a parrot is nothing but a mimetic function. Many parrots, readily repeat all kinds of sounds including words and phrases of human speech. Perhaps the best talker is the African grey parrot, whose tail is red.

Trees Control Erosion

Planting trees at or near the top of steep slopes will help prevent soil erosion. The root systems hold the soil in place, while the litter that accumulates under the trees soaks up the rainfall and reduces surface run-off.

Spilled Mineral Oil

When mineral oil is spilled on the rug, floor or clothing immediately apply cold water to the spot. You will find it will not stain.

Fruit Stains

Try applying a little tomato juice on washable materials to remove rust and fruit stains.

BUT THIS WAS BREAD
PEOPLE on the snow-packed downtown streets were scurrying home. Wretchedly Private Kane hunched his shoulders deeper into his Army coat. It was Christmas Eve—and his last furlough. What should he do with himself? And he didn't even have a bed.

A sign on a door read "Bundles for America," and he went in. At a desk a woman was warning, "Miss Rigby, don't shove the candy into these stockings too hard. The net tears."

"I'm sorry," Miss Rigby's hands fluttered. "I-I guess I don't do much good." Private Kane figured she must be seventy.

The young woman urged, "You'd better go home now. It's dark. You've helped a lot, really." She informed Private Kane, "Homes Registry—244 Market Street—will get a room for you." Then added, "Merry Christmas."

At the door he stood looking out. Merry Christmas! That was a laugh. Christmas meant home and he'd never had one. Not that he hadn't appreciated the orphanage. But he was to be shipped soon and perhaps—perhaps he might never know what a home was like.

His Army buddies wore mittens knitted by mothers, sweaters by aunts. They whisked out family pictures, pictures of sweethearts. And he—had nothing! His chest hurt him, and his cough was harsh.

"Linnin's good for that, soldier."

It was the little lady. Her black hat sat high on her head. He thought, her ears will be cold.

"Rub your chest and put flannel over it." Her hands made a darting gesture to push his collar close about his neck. She was the kind who mothered everybody. "You—you could sleep at my house," she said timidly. "You—maybe have an engagement first—"

What could he lose? But as he

"You could sleep at my house," she said.

helped her into a taxi he regretted his impulse to accept.

The driver stopped in front of a toy of a house. Snow peaked the fence posts and was like crushed diamonds on the walk. She opened a door into the kitchen, and Private Kane looked around at the fancy lamp with glass prisms, the elegant silver canister on the worn red and white checked tablecloth. "Where's everyone?" he asked.

"I live alone." Her blue eyes were apologetic. "I told you you'd better go on and have a jolly Christmas Eve—"

He lifted a stove lid on the range. A red glow flickered. He dumped in coal and opened the drafts with an authoritative flip. "It'll be cozy in no time. Better getcha some coal."

"You shouldn't have all this trouble," she protested.

"Trouble!" A wry grin twisted his lips. "Say, don't take off your coat. We're going to shop."

Private Kane and Miss Rigby selected carefully. He stopped before a fir. "Let's buy it." Private Kane smiled as he set his purchases down at the door. "You wait here a minute." Of course, he reminded himself, this was only make-believe having a home. Just the crumbs.

He had bought her a fleecy blue scarf when he asked her to wait. Back at the house he set the table. The silverware was carved with cherubs. "Gosh, that's swell hardware."

After supper they trimmed the tree. "Tinsel's a little tarnished," she said. "Oh! The angel!" She held it tenderly. "Pa always fastened it on the very top."

His eyes lingered on the lamp, the tree, the silverware. Gosh, the quiet of it! Crumbs to remember. "You—could have a room of your own—" she stopped. Then, "If—if you wanted to come back here. After the war, I mean." She pushed a round fat object into his hand. "It was Pa's. I want you to have it." Private Kane sat up. "Me?" he breathed. "Me." The watch was heavy and solid. He turned it over, observing the grand manner in which it was carved. "Thanks. Aw, gee—"

"Merry Christmas," she beamed. "Merry Christmas to you."

Once more his eyes swept the room. Home! Why—this wasn't crumbs. This was bread!

Assuming that there are two sides to everything - even to the Michigan automobile strike - the Michigan Mirror this week undertakes the difficult task of appraising the wage controversy between Michigan automobile companies and the U.A.W.-C.I.O. union.

First, we assume also that it is a proper and fundamental duty of the press to report facts objectively. This, in itself, is not easy to do. Eye-witnesses to an accident often tell different stories. A jury consists of 12 individuals, not just one, as a safeguard against miscarriage of justice.

Second, we assume that an enlightened public opinion - created by both emotional declarations of the two parties and by the facts as others see them - will be the major and final factor determining outcome of the Michigan strike.

That's where YOU come into the picture. And that's where YOUR government, prodded by YOUR opinion, may intervene. The Michigan automobile business dates back to 1899 when the Olds Vehicle company, which had moved from Lansing to Detroit, began regular production of automobiles. In 1910 the newly-formed General Motors Corporation took over the Olds work. In 1901 Henry Ford produced his first car; the company, a family-held corporation, was chartered in 1919. As a historian would see it, this is rapid transformation. Here is a comparatively NEW industry. It resulted in a boom for Detroit whose population jumped from 285,704 in 1900 to 1,568,662 in 1930 - the span of a single generation! Other cities - Flint, Saginaw, Pontiac, Lansing, Grand Rapids - Concluded on page 6.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

experienced a similar growth.
Because the automobile industry employs mass production methods, its labor demand has been largely for UNSKILLED workmen. Highly skilled mechanical jobs are relatively few. We recall one Lansing automobile industrialist saying that an average farm boy could learn to be a good automobile worker in 30 days, but that if he were a GOOD farm boy, he could do it in three days!
Because no great skill was required, the auto industry sought to supply its labor needs in midwestern and southern states: Michigan, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee and the "Deep South". This migration to Michigan unfortunately did not stimulate deep roots here;
much of the labor has been transient and marginal.
Another characteristic of the industry has been its periodic fluctuations of employment. New models.
A change may lay off thousands.
When Ford changed from the famous Model T, some 60,000 workers were idle for months.
The unskilled nature of the work, plus periodic unemployment, did not make for steady income. The N.R.A. study of wages in the auto industry shows that 45 per cent of the workers received an annual income of less than $1,000.

Here you have a new industry, employing unskilled workers and subjecting them to periodical loss of income.

It seems inevitable that labor unrest would breed in such fertile soil. Remember 1937 and the sit-down strikes in Michigan? Here was evidence that the pendulum had swung far to the left. The United States supreme court de-clared the action to be illegal.

But it is significant to note that the C.I.O. labor movement in Michigan is less than a decade old in experience. Here also is a NEW development.

The newness of the U.A.W.-C.I.O., in fact, is perhaps its greatest strength and also its greatest weakness.

Led by the Reuther brothers, the union has boldly demanded a straight 30 per cent increase in the worker's hour rate — or 48 hours' pay for 40 hours' work. Further than that, the union insists that the corporation's profits is a matter of proprietary interest of the workers — certainly a socialistic idea and one that fits well into the thinking of the Reuther brothers.

General Motors countered with an offer to increase the hour rate 10 per cent and to assure a 45-hour workweek. Whereas the hour rate has been $1.12 to $1.15 (according to the union) or $1.18 (according to GM), the new hour rate would be $1.26½. The take-home pay would be $57.30 (allowing for same absenteeism at 45 hours as existed at 48 hours) compared with the union's demand for $59.80 for 40 hours' work. Allowing for absenteeism, the workers' take-home pay last June (1945) was $55.64. Thus, the GM offer would result in MORE take-home pay than the workers received during war-time.

The struggle is akin to David's combat with Goliath in that General Motors' financial position is reported by the New York Times as being at $2.2 billions in total assets and $1.1 billion in liquid assets, while the union's total re-sources if distributed to all union members would be only around $36 each.

And now for the writer's own personal interpretations.

If the union is successful in getting anything like a 30 per cent boost in wage rates, the effect will be widespread upon our national economy. Prices inevitably must be adjusted upward. Result will be inflationary.

If wages are linked to profits, then the worker must be willing to expect the formula to work both ways. When profits go down, the workers' wages must go down.

The union's weakness, as we see it, lies in its radical and irrespon-sible leadership. Back of the Reu-ther boys' thinking in the U.A.W.-C.I.O. is a desire to nationalize the automobile industry. That is state socialism which opens the door to totalitarian government and death of the free enterprise system.

The public has much at stake in the outcome of the Michigan auto-mobile strike.

Beware Coughs
from common colds
That Hang On

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bron-chitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medi-cine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other fine tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, per-mits rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

IN THE streetcar crowded with holiday shoppers Mrs. Weston couldn't see the couple behind her but their words added to her mounting despair and fury. Overhead, tinsel-wreathed placards exhorted to buy fur coats, diamonds, perfume. She shut her eyes to them but she could not shut her ears.

"That was one swell party last night," sighed the man. "Oh, boy!"

The girl squealed. Mrs. Weston cringed. The high laughter was like the whistle in Puppo, the rubber dog they'd given Harvey Jr. his third Christmas. Puppo had become more than a toy. He still lived in glory, a kind of household god enshrined in the whatnot in Harvey's room. "Love to Puppo," Harvey ended his letters. Puppo always topped the "Lady, you have the wrong angle."

Christmas tree. There'd be no tree this year. It was worse than childish of Harv to want one. She wouldn't have it. A package had been sent to Harvey Jr. overseas in October, but there'd be no Christmas at home.

Wicked, horrible, thought Mrs. Weston, that people are going through all the old motions of a Merry Christmas. No one has a right to be merry.

"You looked super last night," said the man. "You are super, honey. You're so beautiful." Mrs. Weston turned slightly and caught a glimpse of a flat pretty face surrounded by blond curls. "You rate orchids, honey," the man went on, "and you're goin' to have them." The constant ache in Mrs. Weston's heart sharpened to a stab. For such fools her Harvey was risking his life. Another block of their chatter and Mrs. Weston would say, "The money squandered on orchids, young man, would buy a good many war stamps," or, "This is no occasion for whoopee."

"Jack thinks the Army is going to get him this time." It was the girl speaking. "And is he scared!"

The woman next her got off and another squeezed in. "Certainly going to be a big Christmas," observed the newcomer cheerfully. "Were you downtown Saturday? Worst jam I ever saw."

"I was not," Mrs. Weston felt compelled to explain. "I am going to town now only to select a wreath for my mother's grave."

Behind her the young people were still shrilling about Jack and the Army. "Tell him we'll give him a farewell party. Tell him if he gets shot he'll have a pretty nurse." The man was chortling. "Let's get off next corner, beautiful. You can buy me a drink."

Liquor, thought Mrs. Weston furiously. That explained their incessant giggling over nothing. She raised her voice. "I don't see how people can think about Christmas. How they can drink and laugh and waste money on silly things. Life is so terrible—" her voice broke. Heavens, people were staring! "My son—somewhere in the Pacific," she added hurriedly in a low voice. "I—I'm thinking of him."

She felt a hand on her shoulder. "Lady you have the wrong angle." The man behind her leaned forward. Her eyes met compassionate blue ones in a face curiously pale. "It don't help your boy any for you to have no Christmas. Be as merry as you can. Like as not he'll be back, fit as a fiddle—like me." He lurched to his feet.

Something caught in Mrs. Weston's throat. He was limping to the door. The car jolted to a stop and the girl thrust a steady little hand under his arm. Drunk, thought Mrs. Weston, drunk with the joy of being alive. She sprang to her feet, without apology pushed through the crowd. "Wait!" But they were getting off.

She was halted by the crowds on the sidewalk. Standing on tiptoe she saw the couple turn in at the dairy bar. A drink. They'd laugh and make love over an ice cream soda. "Merry Christmas, soldier," she whispered. "Be as merry as you can."

Misty-eyed, she walked to the corner rimmed with Christmas trees. "A small tree," choked Mrs. Weston. She wiped her eyes and picked one up, testing its weight. "It must be strong," she told the vendor firmly. "Strong enough to hold up a good sized rubber dog, and—our spirits."

"Me...I'm staying in the Army!"

THERE ARE PLENTY OF REASONS...
AND HERE THEY ARE!"

1 "First, I keep my present grade. That means a lot.

2 "By reenlisting for 3 years I can pick my own branch of service in the Air, Ground or Service Forces, and can go to any overseas theater I wish.

3 "I get my mustering-out pay, even though I'm reenlisting. Also, I get $50 a year reenlistment bonus for each year I've been in the Army. My dependents receive family allowances for the full term of my enlistment. And I'll be eligible for GI Bill of Rights benefits when I get out of the Army.

4 "My food, clothes, quarters, medical and dental care are all supplied to me. And I can learn any of 200 skills or trades in the Army schools.

5 "All of us who are reenlisting are going to have from 30 to 90 days furlough at home with full pay and our travel paid both ways. And we'll have 30 days' furlough every year with pay.

6 "Any time after 20 years I can retire at half pay increasing year by year to three-quarters retirement pay after 30 years of service. And the time I've already served in active military or naval service counts toward my retirement time. Added up—reenlistment seems pretty sound to me!"

JANUARY 31, 1946

FOR MEN IN THE ARMY

MEN now in Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in grade held at time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

You may enlist AT ANY TIME for 1½, 2 or 3 year periods. (One-year enlistments for men now in the Army with at least 6 months of service.)

Cranes Fly High

Cranes are known to fly as high as any birds have been recorded. One plane pilot observed European cranes migrating at 15,000 feet, while climbers in the Himalaya mountains stationed at 14,000 feet recorded cranes passing over at heights near the limit of visibility, placing them at least 20,000 feet above sea level. This altitude is all the more astonishing when one finds that aviators rarely venture above 18,000 feet without auxiliary oxygen supply, and here the cranes fly furnishing their own power.
