Five Schools in Tuscola County Participated in Events at Cass City

The district Future Farmers of America contests in parliamentary procedure, demonstrations and public speaking were held in the Cass City High School gym Tuesday, March 2, with the Cass City Chapter being the host.

The Tuscola County District includes seven schools with F. F. A. chapters. Five of these schools participated in these contests.

"Chet" Szarapski and Steve Ziemba were the members of the Cass City F. F. A. demonstration team and walked off with top honors. Their subject was "Dairy Barn Construction". They discussed the construction of the model dairy barn that "Chet" built. This barn was on display in Mac and Scott's Drug Store window and in Brinker & Armstrong Lumber Co.'s show room three weeks ago. Second place in this contest was won by the Caro Chapter and third by the Millington Chapter.

Don Loomis of Cass City won the public speaking contest. He spoke on "Forwarding Farm Cooperatives". Second place went to Caro and third place to Fairgrove.

The parliamentary procedure contest was won by the Fairgrove team with second and third places going to Caro and Millington respectively.

Male Chorus to Sing Sunday Morning in Presbyterian Church

"Men's Sunday" will be observed in the Presbyterian Church on March 7 at 10:30 a. m., in keeping with a special day set apart by the denomination.

Four years ago, the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the U. S. A. appointed a Laymen's Commission to study its program and to make constructive criticisms and recommendations. One of the goals selected and approved at the assembly last May was the formation of a National Council of Presbyterian men, in order to share more intelligently and effectively in the total life and program of the church. Also that a men's day service be observed early in 1948.

A national conference was held in Chicago February 12-15 and the Men's Council was organized with Dr. Charles J. Turck, president of Macalester College, elected as president.

The local program committee in charge of the service is Arthur Holmberg, chairman; Frank Reid in charge of the choir; Curtis Hunt, publicity; W. J. Wetters, George Cole and Dale Kettwell.

Participating in the leadership and program of the morning will be a men's choir, with an anthem; the scripture will be read by W. J. Wetters; the responsive reading will be led by Arnold Fischer; the prayer will be given by Arthur Holmberg; Rev. M. R. Vender, pastor, will deliver the sermon, "The Challenge of the Hour". Mrs. Ethel McCoy will officiate as organist and choir director. The deacons, who will serve as ushers, are George Cole and Clarence Merchant.

The public not worshipping elsewhere are cordially invited.

Father and Son Banquet at Deford Attended by 66 Friday

The Father and Son banquet held at the Deford Church Friday evening with sixty-six present proved to be an evening of fine entertainment, with Arleon Retherford acting as toastmaster. The toast to the fathers was given by Arleon Kelley with a very fine response by Glen Touseley. Musical selections were given by the male quartet; Gerald Hicks and his accordion; and instrumental selections by the Rayl brothers.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. Townley, of Saginaw left many fine thoughts worthy of consideration in our everyday living.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford, even though miles away, still have thoughts for Deford friends which were well expressed with a basket of luscious oranges they sent from the sunny south for the occasion. The group surely enjoyed them!

Gas Station Thefts Believed Solved

Gordon Lee Wood, 18, of Gagetown was taken into custody by Sheriff Julius Goslin, and according to that officer, has confessed to participating in the burglary of a gas station in Cass City.

James Hartwick, 17, of Owendale, is said by Sheriff McBride of Huron county to have confessed to being involved in burglaries of gas stations at Caseville and Pigeon.

Nine gasoline station burglaries in Huron and Sanilac Counties and in Pontiac and the breaking and entering of the Square Deal Hardware at Gagetown and the Kinde High School were reported solved Tuesday with the arrest of four youths, two of them juveniles. One of the juveniles, on probation for twice breaking and entering the same filling station at Owendale and about to be sent to the reform school for breaking his probation, finally confessed to breaking into filling stations in six villages in Huron and Sanilac Counties and implicated four companions in several of the thefts. One youth, not yet in custody, is now living in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Trooper Glen Da Foe of the Bad Axe State Police Post made the arrest which led to the solving of the series of thefts.

The Baldy Sunoco Station and the Mac & Leo Station, both in Cass City, were burglarized early this year. The first on Jan. 3 and the second station on Feb. 15.

Sheriff Goslin and Deputy Sheriff John Zinnecker assisted state police in questioning the four young men Wednesday.

County Land Use Map of Sanilac Co.

A County Land Use map is one of the goals of the Sanilac County Planning Committee before spring is out, according to Gerhard F. Gettel, assistant county agent in Land Use Planning.

Six townships, (Buel, Lamotte, Flynn, Marion, Bridgehampton and Elk) have already started making such a map. These maps, first on a township basis, then for all of Sanilac County, are made by local farmers who know the "lay of the land" with the assistance of Mr. Gettel.

Five land use classifications will be shown on the finished product:

1. Land in farms but not suited to farming.
2. Land not in farms and which should not be in farms.
3. Land in farms, but of questionable suitability.
4. Land not in farms, but which are suitable for farming.

The fifty-six leaders of the Home Economics Extension groups met Tuesday and Wednesday for a lesson on "Disciplining the Growing Child" taught by Mrs. Lennah K. Backus, extension specialist in parents education and child development, from Michigan State College. They were also told that out of disciplining, parents help their children grow into self-disciplined adults, able to make wise decisions and to live more effectively.

The leaders' meetings were held at Caro and Cass City and were a part of the regular Home Economics Extension program arranged by Miss Mildred M. Omilor, county home demonstration agent. The lesson will be taught to the five hundred and fifty local members by the group leaders.

Fresh Food! The high point of the kiddies' party had arrived. The hostess tripped triumphantly into the tensely anticipative room bearing a heaping platter of gelatin dessert. "None of that stuff for me," he announced firmly. "It ain't dead yet."

Voice of Experience "Do you think business is ever going to pick up again?" asked the reporter. "Well," was the answer, "it's a lot like the weather. Two farmers got to talking about that one day during a long dry spell. "Think it'll ever rain, Zeke?" asked Hi. "Zeke took a long look at the sky, took a fresh bite of cut-plug, thought it over a moment, and said: 'Always has.'"

Over-Cautious "You remember when you cured my rheumatism a year ago, don't you, doctor?" asked the patient, "and you told me not to get myself wet?" "Yes," replied the doctor. "Well, I just wanted to know if you think it's safe for me to take a bath now."

Serve Fruit Desserts for Meal Contrasts
(See recipes below.)

Fruit Desserts

Food studies show that people do not get as many fruits in winter as in summer, and frequently this is thought to be a result of their lack of availability; but a good percentage of fruits available in their fresh form are canned, and thus made available for use.

Then, too, there are a number of fruits more available in the cooler months than during summer—apples are in their prime, and so are pears. Look to the citrus fruits, also, if you want particularly luscious fruits that are scarce in summer. Make good use of the dried fruits like prunes and apricots for they have excellent vitamin and mineral values.

This is the season to make full use of the canned fruits you stored during the warmer months. Serve them chilled with simple cookies for an easy dessert or make them into one of the many delectable puddings such as the following:

Deep Dish Plum Dessert.

(Serves 6)

- 3 cups canned plums
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons butter

Pit and chop the plums. Pour with ¼ cup of their juice into a greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with the spices and dot with butter. Cover with crust made as follows:

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- ½ cup milk
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Sift dry ingredients; cut in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Roll dough to ¼ inch thickness and make a few short slashes in it. Place over the fruit in the baking dish. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of sugar. Bake for 45 minutes in a preheated oven (400°F.) Serve warm.

Princess Custard.

(Serves 6)

- 2 large bananas, diced
- 1½ teaspoons orange rind, grated
- 6 tablespoons orange juice
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 2 egg whites
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ½ cup sweet crumbs (cake, cookie, graham cracker or vanilla wafer crumbs)

Combine bananas, orange rind and juice. In a double boiler, combine sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add milk gradually and cook until it thickens. Slowly stir into egg yolks. Cook until thick. 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fire and fold in fruit mixture. Chill. Gradually add sugar to stiffly beaten egg whites, fold into custard. Place in sherbet glasses and sprinkle with crumbs.

Celery tops may be dried in the oven, then crushed to a powder and kept in a jar. They add a pungent flavor to soups, stews, casseroles, dressings and salads.

To increase the volume of egg whites, add a tablespoon of water before beating. Do not add more water than that. Slightly longer beating is required when water is added.

Apricot Manhattan Mousse.

(Serves 8)

- 2½ cups apricots, sieved
- 6 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1½ cups whipping cream
- ¼ cup confectioners' sugar
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla

Add lemon juice and sugar to apricots and stir until dissolved. Soak 1½ teaspoons of gelatin in 1½ tablespoons water. Dissolve over hot water and add to apricot mixture. Pour into two refrigerator trays and place in refrigerator. Whip cream until it holds its shape then add sugar and vanilla. Soak remaining gelatin in water, dissolve over hot water. Cool and add to cream. Spread whipped cream mixture over apricot mixture and freeze.

Prunella Pudding.

(Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ cup milk, cold
- ¼ cup butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 12 slices soft bread
- 1½ cups prunes, cooked, pitted and chopped
- ½ cup shredded coconut, toasted

Combine cream, milk and ¼ cup of sugar in saucepan and bring to a boil. Moisten cornstarch with cold milk and stir into hot mixture. Cook until thickened. Add butter and vanilla. Cool until lukewarm. Remove crusts from bread, cube and toast, under broiler. Combine prunes with bread cubes and remaining sugar. Arrange half in bottom of a large pudding dish. Spread one half of crusted mixture over the prunes. Add remaining prune mixture, top with custard and toasted coconut. Chill 8 to 10 hours.

Caramelized Apples.

(Serves 8)

- 8 apples
- 16 marshmallows
- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup brown sugar
- ½ cup nut meats, almonds preferred

Arrange layers of apples, cut in eighths with marshmallows cut in thirds, butter cut into pieces, brown sugar and nuts in a buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) basting occasionally. Cool. Serve with whipped cream. This may also be served as a side dish with pork, turkey or chicken. Released by WNU Features.

Did you know that baked grapefruit makes a lovely refreshing dessert, especially after a heart casserole or roast? Bake them just as you would potatoes, for one hour, then halve and top with any of the following:

1. Sprinkle each half with a heaping teaspoonful of sugar and dot with butter; or, top with teaspoonful of jelly.
2. Sprinkle each half lightly with salt and ½ teaspoonful of worcestershire sauce.

Hog Mange Causes Average Loss of $2

New Insecticide Proves Effective in Control

Common mange of hogs is another widespread disease that has yielded to the results of animal health research. The U. S. department of agriculture says the average losses from mange probably amount to $2 a head. This figure covers the loss from stunted growth, delay in fattening, occasional deaths and dockage when mangy hogs are marketed.

The effective weapon against mange is benzene hexachloride, frequently referred to as "666." In Nebraska tests this newly-discovered insecticide was so effective it eradicated mange with one treatment. Not only did it eradicate mange — it also got rid of lice. This makes the old mange treatments obsolete.

In the Nebraska tests, crude benzene hexachloride (a wettable powder) was mixed with water (10 pounds powder in 100 gallons) and sprayed on the hogs.

One objectionable feature of the crude benzene hexachloride is its terrific odor. This odor is not present to any marked degree in commercial hog oils prepared by use of a solvent which takes the active ingredient (the gamma isomer) out of the crude benzene hexachloride and leaves behind the ineffective ingredients—the ones that have the disagreeable odor.

Herds and Flocks

Pond water piped to farm buildings for livestock can be filtered by building a solid housing of soft brick (laid in cement) over the end of the pipe in the bottom of the pond.

Water filters through the pores of the brick.

First treatment for cattle grubs should be made early in winter, as soon as the tell-tale bumps appear on the backs of animals. Several treatments a month apart will be necessary. Use a cattle grub dust containing 1 1/2 per cent rotenone.

The current shortage of feed makes it important to do continuous culling in the laying house.

Dairy cows lose a lot of energy pulling through heavy mud in the barn lots. Lost energy means less milk. Paved lots that take cows out of the mud soon pay for themselves.

Mow and Spray in One Operation Pays Well

Prof. B. B. Robb of Cornell university demonstrates a mow and weed gadget for applying 2,4-D to lawns. A regular garden sprayer is filled with 2,4-D mixture and pumped up ready for use. Fastened to the lawn mower the sprayer carries a two nozzle boom ahead of the blades and contains enough mixture to cover at least half an acre of lawn.

Killing Two Birds

A tired mother was walking her wailing infant back and forth at one o'clock in the morning when the bedroom door opened. Hubby appeared on the scene carrying his shoes.

"Oh, gee," she thought, "maybe he can quiet her." Instead, he said: "Here, put these shoes on. While you're walking, you might as well break 'em in for me."

Or Are Lights

An ambitious little group of amateur performers was bravely contending with the manifold problems of mounting a tableau bearing the ambitious title of "Noah's Ark."

After Santa Claus

Father was not greatly pleased by the school report brought to him by his hopeful. "How is it," he demanded, "that you stand so much lower in your studies for January than for December?"

"Why Dad," the boy replied in an injured tone, "don't you know that everything is marked down after the holidays?"

The Cass City Extension Club will meet next Tuesday evening, March 9, in the social rooms of the Methodist Church. The lesson will be on "Disciplining the Growing Child." The dinner committee is Mrs. Mason Wilson, Mrs. Ralph Youngs, Mrs. Herb Ludlow and Mrs. D. A. Krug. A special invitation is extended to mothers of growing children to attend the lecture which begins at 7:30.

Kenneth H. Higgins was recently graduated from the General Motors Institute at Flint with an "A" average on his two-year project which he pursued since he returned from service overseas. He is now employed in the Fisher Body Engineering Division in the General Motors Research Building in Detroit.

The Chester Graham family enjoyed a reunion Sunday. Present as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Graham were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Bottrell and sons, Eddie and Tommy, of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Graham of Detroit, Mrs. Alfred Hall and daughter, Joan, of Bad Axe and Miss Christina Graham and James Cook of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright spent the week end at Battle Creek with S/Sgt. and Mrs. Raymond Bierlein. Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Bierlein are sisters. Raymond was out of Percy Jones Hospital on a thirty day furlough. He has spent four years in the army and three years in the hospital. He was wounded in Germany and has undergone numerous operations.

Women of group No. 3 of which Mrs. Horace Bulen and Mrs. Grant Patterson are co-chairmen served the supper in the Methodist Church Monday evening to the Woman's Society of Christian Service members. Mrs. Ray Boughton conducted the devotions and Mrs. Grant Patterson presented the program on "Christian Highways in Japan."

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Striffler and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Laurie returned home Sunday after a sojourn in Los Angeles, Calif., for about six weeks. On the homeward trip the group traversed the states of Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. When they left Los Angeles on Sunday, Feb. 22, that portion of the state was very dry.

Mrs. A. Frankowski, who has been ill for the last two weeks, had the following guests: Mrs. Jno. Karabacz and son, Tony, Mr. and Mrs. F. Karabacz and daughter, Kathleen, Mrs. Joe Bazant and son, Donald, all from Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. J. Frankowski and son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Barnes and son, Mr. and Mrs. Hill and daughters, all of Cass City. Mrs. A. Frankowski is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kercher left Monday morning for Columbus, Ga., to visit in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Ferris A. Kercher, for about three weeks. They are making the trip by automobile. Mr. Kercher is a member of the Chronicle staff. George Hartman, formerly editor of the Elkton Advance and Pigeon Progress, is assisting, part time, in the Chronicle office during Mr. Kercher's absence.

Miss Betty Decker is employed in the dental offices of Drs. Schenck & Rawson.

Miss Charlotte Teets of Sandusky is a new beauty operator at the Be-Lov-Lee Beauty Shop.

About 25 members of the Methoupe group were present Thursday evening, Feb. 26, when Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wooley entertained that group of the Methodist Church. Games were enjoyed under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. John Safran and Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall. Mrs. Ashley Root and Carl Schell assisted the Wooleys in serving refreshments.

While "Andy" Schmidt acknowledges that Chronicle want ads are most always result getters, he related an instance Tuesday where a pitchfork was more resourceful than a newspaper ad. It seems last week that Earl Spencer inserted a liner ad in the Chronicle announcing the fact that he had lost two Berk sows. According to Andy's story, the two swine wandered under a load of bean straw as it was unloaded by Mr. Spencer. Two more loads were dumped onto the first load without an audible murmur from the two animals. Fourteen days later on the Spencer farm in Novesta Township, Mr. Spencer jabbed a pitchfork into the bean straw pile to feed some stock and hit one of the pigs when the animal gave forth a hearty squeal. The two sows probably felt more "peaked" than they looked after 14 days under cover.

period. Then Caro scored first on a free throw and John Snider won for Elkton by scoring two free throws.

Elkton made it possible for Bad Axe to tie Caro for the first place in the Upper Thumb. Sebawaing, however, gave Bad Axe a hard struggle when they staged a big rally in the fourth period for a 16-6 edge to tie the score. Bad Axe won through a 5 to 1 margin in the overtime period. The score was 54-50.

Mrs. Stanley Kloc Passed Away Friday

Mrs. Stanley Kloc passed away at her residence 1/2 mile north of Deford Friday morning, Feb. 27, after having been in ill health for 18 years.

Mrs. Kloc was born in Poland November 18, 1885, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pociask, and came to this country when a young woman. She was united in marriage with Stanley Kloc July 3, 1913, in Chicago, Illinois, where they made their home. In 1919 they came to this community where she has lived until her death.

To mourn their loss are her husband; one son, John, at home; four daughters, Mrs. Ersil (Stella) Emmons of Caro, and Jennie, Alice and Mary, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Morris of Chicago, Illinois, and two sisters still living in Poland; and one grandchild. One son and one daughter preceded her in death.

Prayer services were held at 9:00 a. m. Monday at the residence and Requiem High Mass at 10:00 a. m. Monday at the St. Pancratius Church, Cass City, the Rev. John J. Bozek officiating at Mass. Final resting place is in the St. Michael cemetery at Wilmet.

She was a charter member of St. Michael's Church and a member of the Altar Society and Rosary Society.

Petrified Trees Found in Africa

Great Trunks Preserved in Stone Are Described by Expedition Leader.

NEW YORK.—A remarkable petrified forest has been discovered in southwest Africa's Kaokoveld by Dr. Charles L. Camp, leader of the scientific expedition of University of Chicago.

Dr. Camp heads a scientific safari that is seeking new light on the origins of mankind through excavations in limestone caves and the study of fossilized remains of a man-like creature turned up early last year near Johannesburg, South Africa.

Dr. Camp reported that he was guided to a plateau in the adjoining territory of southwest Africa where he found the remains of ancient trees turned to stone and preserved in the rocks for more than a hundred million years. The logs, he said, are in consolidated "karoo" river gravels that extend out from beneath a volcanic mountain.

Some of the trunks measure more than 100 feet in length and up to 5 1/2 feet in diameter through their bases. Details of the original structure of the wood, the annual rings, the woody cells and fibers, the knots and even the borings of ancient insects beneath the bark could be seen clearly. The wood, Dr. Camp said, has been replaced by agate and other siliceous material. Some of the trunks also showed sections filled with limestone.

Stone-Age Tools

There were more than fifty well-preserved logs on an area of less than 20 acres. Many more extended over the adjacent ground. There the native inhabitants of long ago fashioned their stone tools from the agatized wood and some of these implements were left strewn about.

A local farmer, Jan H. Oberholzer, had noticed the wood fragments below the log plateau and asked Dr. Camp to inspect them while he was hunting fossils in the region of Franzfontein. Dr. Camp followed the fragments up to the plateau and there discovered the forest.

The trunks were remarkably straight and tapered very slightly in the first 100 feet, so that most of the limbs were carried at the crown as in some of the modern araucarian pines. Dr. Camp reported. One trunk, 118 feet long, was 4 1/2 feet in diameter at the base and 16 inches in diameter at the upper, broken end.

Dr. Camp deduced that the trunks evidently had drifted into sandbars in the rivers and had been cemented into place when the rock solidified. Then heavy masses of sediment were carried in and deposited above, causing some of the logs to become slightly flattened.

Spectacular Setting

Colors of the agatized wood, not quite so brilliant and varied as in the famous petrified forests of Arizona, were black, yellow, brown and red and the silicified parts were generally yellow, brown and gray, Dr. Camp reported. He said that a yellow mineral covered some of the smaller logs.

"The setting of the Franzfontein forest is spectacular," Dr. Camp wrote, "and the whole situation most unusual and instructive as a record of the earth ages ago, shortly after great ice caps melted from the lands of the Southern Hemisphere."

Emphasizing the danger of destruction of the valuable find, Dr. Camp said that protection could be afforded by establishing a national monument.

White men, he said, now are entering for the first time this fossil area where roam the rhino, the springbok, the gemsbok and other game of the region. It abounds in lion, zebra and jackals.

Few G.I.s Exhaust Education

Benefits, Administration Says

WASHINGTON.—Veterans' administration reported that only 8,400 ex-servicemen have used up all of the training to which they are entitled under the G.I. Bill of Rights. Trainees who have exhausted their education benefits constitute less than two-tenths of 1 per cent of the 4,302,000 veterans who have thus far enrolled under the law.

VA officials said, however, that some 1,800,000 veterans voluntarily discontinued training before they had served the maximum period.

An additional 123,000 disabled veterans, who are specially provided for in the vocational rehabilitation act, have either suspended training of their own accord or have been declared rehabilitated.

Certified Seed Will Help to Guarantee Better Crops

Certified seed will help to guarantee a better crop, reports Norris W. Wilber, county agricultural agent.

New varieties that are better adapted to Michigan growing conditions are continually being developed. The new varieties may be superior in other ways such as higher yielding ability, improved disease and insect resistance, better quality, and better adaptation to harvesting by modern farm machinery.

Seed of superior crop varieties is produced by farmers of the state who are members of the Michigan Crop Improvement Association. All the seed produced by these farmers is checked by field representatives of the association in cooperation with the Michigan State college farm crops department. Certified seed must be of high quality in regard to such things as germination, purity, freedom from weed seeds, grading, and appearance.

Agent Wilber can furnish the names of growers who can supply certified seeds of various crops.

Varieties recommended for this area for various crops include: Oats: Eaton, Huron, Marion. Barley: Bay, Wisconsin No. 33. Field Beans: Michelite, Robust. Corn: Northwest of Cass River on most fertile soils: Michigan 36B; Pioneer 355, 373, 359, 370. Kingscrot KS6 or KNI; Master 60; Hoosier-Crost 112A; Funk's G1A; Ohio M15; Ohio M34; Funk's G177; Pfister 274; DeKalb 240 or 404A.

Corn: Southeast of Cass River on the best soils: Kingscrot KS2; Michigan 51B; Kingscrot D4.

Too many farmers buy varieties that ripen too late. Ask for an earlier corn.

Every citizen of Guatemala is required to contribute the equivalent of two weeks' work, either in money or in labor, toward upkeep of the country's road system. Breeding Groups to Elect Directors on March 11 and 12

Annual meetings of the four Tuscola County Artificial Dairy Breeding Associations will be held on Thursday and Friday, March 11 and 12, according to the following schedule:

Kingston A. B. A. at Kingston High School, 1:15 p. m., March 11.
Cass City A. B. A. at Cass City High School, 7:30 p. m., March 11.
Millington A. B. A. at Millington High School, 1:15 p. m., March 12.

Vassar A. B. A. at Vassar High School, 7:15 p. m., March 12.

George Parsons, extension dairy specialist, and Dr. Glen Reed, extension veterinarian, Michigan State College, will both speak at each of the four meetings. Mr. Parsons' topic will deal with the operations of the local A. B. A.'s and their affiliation with the Michigan Artificial Breeders Association. Dr. Reed will discuss, "Dairy Herd Health," which topic will include important facts concerning the control of Bang's disease, mastitis and dairy cow breeding troubles.

Approximately 100 members of each association are expected to attend these meetings. All dairy farmers are cordially invited to attend these educational meetings.

The following men are presidents of the local A. B. A.'s and will preside at the business sessions held in connection with the above listed meetings: Allison Green, Kingston A. B. A.; E. G. Golding, Cass City A. B. A.; Austin Woodward, Millington A. B. A.; Louis Tingle, Vassar A. B. A.

Terms of one director in each association expires. Selection of men to fill these directorships will take place.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the M. A. B. C., Inc., at East Lansing, March 25, will also be named.

No Better Time to Slaughter Than Now

Now is the time to round up that steer you've been fattening all winter or to select the hog you want for your summer meat supply.

E. D. Farwell, animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State college, warns that farmers shouldn't wait until it is too warm to keep fresh meat without spoilage. With spring not far away, and the planting rush that comes with it, there is no better time to slaughter than now.

Each farm family should have about 150 pounds of meat per member per year and plans should be made to store half of that supply now. A 220 pound hog will yield 170 to 180 pounds of pork, a 1,000 pound steer will supply 550 to 600 pounds of beef, and a 100 pound lamb will yield about 50 pounds of lamb. Selection of young healthy livestock in good flesh is best, since their meat is more tender than meat from aged livestock.

STATE BANK OF SANDUSKY, Clerk

By Gene Alleman

Governor Kim Sigler, now an avowed candidate for re-election, believes that Michigan must renew its efforts to "sell Michigan."

In a Lincoln Day address at Muskegon, Sigler warned that the state faced industrial and tourist competition from the South. It would pay Michigan people, he said, to be "mindful of that which has made us great."

The South's competition for industry is best illustrated by Florida which has no state income tax, no state sales tax, no tax on homesteads under $5,000 valuation, no state realty tax and no state bonded debt.

"These fortunate and attractive safeguards will be maintained," observed the Tampa Florida Morning Tribune recently, "because overwhelming public sentiment will prevent the imposition of any new taxes."

The same newspaper points out that Florida had the third greatest increase in individual income in the nation during the period 1940-1947 and that its population gain was 18 per cent, exceeded only by 10 states.

Governor Sigler visited Florida prior to his return to Michigan, following a month's rest in the South.

It may be assumed that Governor Sigler, during the 1948 campaign, will express his current views on the subject of taxation.

Dull as this topic traditionally is, it is pertinent to the future of industry in Michigan. Burdensome taxes, levied by a legislature seeking its way out of the sales tax diversion dilemma, could readily speed up the decentralization trend voiced recently by Henry Ford II. Ford thinks the company employs too many people at River Rouge for production efficiency.

One year ago Sigler was opposed to imposition of new taxes. Instead, he favored repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment, an accomplishment now conceded to be very difficult to attain.

The 1947 Bonine-Tripp labor act, a state companion law to the federal Taft-Hartley act, may prove to be a deterrent to industry migration from Michigan.

If either or both of these laws discourage costly labor strikes and encourage friendly labor-management relations, much will be accomplished. Michigan still has a bad reputation, like Chicago for gangsters, of being the hotbed of labor agitators. People still remember the sitdown strikes in Michigan.

Nature richly endowed Michigan with natural resources, readily transported by water or railroad to be processed into consumer and capital goods. Man can safeguard this blessing by assuring freedom from discriminatory taxes, freedom to work, and freedom of competition. Surely these are among the reasons why Michigan enjoys its present greatness.

Ancient Industry

Ice has been used by man since before history began. The Romans, in 50 B.C., dug snow from mountain-sides and packed it in deep pits, covered with straw and tree prunings, to be cut out later for refrigeration purposes.

SHOOT STORY

Victory For a Moment

By
M. J. COLLINS

THE old ground hog was uneasy. Every few seconds she would stand upright, her bright eyes searching continually for the ever expected danger from some quarter. Each time the close scrutiny satisfied her and she would drop down and resume greedily eating the tender leaves of the young red clover. She was thin and shaggy. The three young groundhogs, eating the clover even more greedily than she, were the reason. This was the first time she had brought them up from the soft nest deep in the earth. The young ones revelled in the warm sunshine and the strange taste of what they were eating. They ranged farther away from their mother and the safety of the burrow unaware that danger lurked nearby.

A couple of noisy crows winged their way overhead but the old groundhog didn't pay them the slightest attention. She knew they weren't hawks who would bring death winging swiftly out of the sky for her young. She was getting full, yet she ate on, her stomach starting to swell. A familiar sound jerked her upright and little quivers of deathly fear lanced through her small brain. The dog, her implacable enemy, was bounding down the field. He saw the red-chested groundhog and raced toward her. With a shrill whistle she scurried towards her burrow, her brood close at her rump. As her young nuzzled, the shrill yapping of the dog penetrated clearly to her.

"Listen to that fool pup yapping!" his head off down by the creek. Hasn't got a brain in his head. Never be as good as his mother." The slatternly-looking woman leaned in the cabin door, ready to find fault with anything.

"Yeah," her husband answered slowly. "She was all right, too bad she had to get killed on the railroad. Maybe I should get the .22 and go down and see what he's up to. If there's any groundhogs down there they'll be eatin' the heart out of the young clover."

"I'll go down, Dad" their young son cried. He grabbed a stick. "Bet he's got a big one cornered down there."

YOUNG Tad ran along by the stump fence until he reached the clover field. Climbing up on a stump he could see the pup down at the other end near the creek jumping around a small stonepile and barking furiously.

"Bet he has one," he said aloud and started to run.

"What you got, Tippy?" Dropping on his stomach, he could see a groundhog crouched in between the safety of two large stones. Tad poked his stick in as far as he could but the groundhog only retreated further.

"Sic him! Get him out, Tip," he urged the excited pup.

"Guess we'll have to move some of these stones for you. Watch out now, or you'll get hurt." Tad began throwing stones aside. "Watch him, Tip." The pup saw the young groundhog and pounced on it savagely. For a few seconds he had a loose grip on it but the groundhog snapped back wickedly and with a surprised yipe the pup jumped away. The groundhog raced as fast as its short legs would go towards the safety of its burrow.

"Get it! Get it!" Tad screamed hoarsely with excitement. "Get him, boy!"

The pup was after it like a flash, his courage renewed. The escape of the groundhog was cut off only a few yards from safety. Urged on by Tad, the pup worried it but circled far enough out to be safe from those snapping teeth.

Suddenly the pup darted in and grabbed the groundhog by the back of the neck and shook him vigorously. The young groundhog gave a frightened little whistle.

Then something all snapping teeth, large and frightening, came tearing at the pup out of nowhere. Long sharp fangs sank cruelly into his rump. With a terrified yelp he dropped his victim and hightailed it for the house.

Herding the groggy, frightened young one ahead of her, the old groundhog disappeared down the burrow with a mocking, triumphant whistle.

Nearly 850 Miles of Tuscola Highways Need Improvements

Nearly 850 miles of city streets, county roads and state trunk highways in Tuscola County are dangerous, congested or otherwise unfit to meet present traffic demands and should be improved at a cost of $10,515,700, the Michigan Highway Study has revealed.

The needs were among those listed by cities and villages representing 87 per cent of the urban population, by all of the 83 counties and by the state highway department for roads and streets under their respective jurisdictions. After screening by impartial engineers, the individual requirements were made the basis for the general report on "Highway Needs in Michigan" released last week.

The study committee pointed out that only the absolute minimum needs are included in the figures and recommended that they be met during the next 12 or 15 years.

The study found that 2.25 miles of streets in Cass City need to be modernized at a cost of $31,500, including $26,500 for concrete widening of Seeger Street between Main and Garfield to 44 feet and surfacing the existing pavement with black top, and $5,000 for improving two miles of local residential streets.

In Unionville it was found that one-half mile of local streets need improving at a cost of $6,000.

On the county road system, 90 miles of Class B primary roads were found to be deficient and in need of improvements costing $1,222,500 and 666 miles of Class C local roads need modernizing at an expenditure of $2,748,500. Total cost of the county road needs was estimated at $3,993,300, including $22,300 for reconstruction of two bridges.

All but eight miles of the deficient Class B roads should receive black top treatment while 7.5 miles of Class B roads are in need of the same improvement. The remaining needs call for gravel.

The state highway department reported that 82.2 miles of state trunklines in Tuscola county need to be resurfaced, reconstructed or otherwise improved at a cost of $6,484,900, including $329,000 for six bridges and one railroad grade separation. These needs were itemized as follows:

M 15—Millington to south county line, 4.0 miles, high type two lane, $318,000; Millington to west county line, 18.2 miles, high type two lane, $1,000,000.

M 24—South county line to Caro, 11 miles, high type two lane, $308,400.

M 38—M 24 to west county line, 14.8 miles, high type two lane, $1,089,000.

M 46—East county line to M 24, 15 miles, high type two lane, $1,050,000.

M 81—Caro to Watrousville, 7 miles, resurface existing pavement, $140,000.

M 138—Unionville to west county line, 18.2 miles, high type two lane, $1,383,000.

M 25—Southwest of Unionville, 5 miles, high type two lane, $367,500.

Readjustment May Be Similar to 20's

Recent drops in the commodity markets, particularly in wheat and corn, have prompted many farmers to wonder if we are headed for a recession or a depression.

Arthur Mauch, agricultural economist, points out that it's necessary to examine the facts before making a decision. Price declines have been noted in a number of commodities for some time. Fruit prices in the U. S. continued to drop for the fourth consecutive month. For some time now hay, potatoes, apples, chickens, eggs and wool have been selling for less than parity. The price of some industrial goods has been declining, too.

While grain has declined rather rapidly, farmers should remember that grain still is not cheap. Prices of corn and wheat still run higher than a year ago. Livestock feeders and dairy farmers will welcome lower grain prices that will make feeding rations more favorable.

Future economic developments depend to a great extent on the attitude of the people. Mauch advises that "fear psychology" that makes people buy and sell without thinking could result in a serious depression. Good judgment and sound business planning can help to prevent such a drastic result. Present indications are that the readjustment may be similar to the 1920's when agriculture suffered price declines while general business conditions were relatively good.

Despite future developments, the recent changes in price show what can happen to prices in a short period of time. The MSC economist believes the best plan for the farmer to follow is one that helps him to absorb the shock of rapid price declines with the least possible loss and hardship.

H. E. Extension Members Save 80 From Starvation

By collecting $79.00 and buying twenty packages of garden seeds, members of twenty Home Economics Extension groups have helped prevent 80 persons in European countries from starving to death. The extension groups joined in the national movement to buy a package of garden seeds which would provide a garden for a family of four. The money will be sent to the American Seed Trade Association who will send the packages to one of three sources: To an individual designated by the group; to Church World Services, Inc.; to War Relief Services—National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Chairmen of the local extension groups responded to roll call at their county wide meeting on February 27 by indicating their group's contribution of money to purchase seeds. Groups and chairman of each buying a package of seeds are as follows:

180 ATTENDED THE O. E. S. FRIENDS' NIGHT FUNCTION HERE

Concluded from page one
Mrs. Leslie Beach of Gageton and Arthur Willits of Caro were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McConkey and presided in the East for the ceremony. Other towns which had officers here to assist with the work were: Grand Blanc, Port Sanilac, Bad Axe, Decker, Pigeon, Mayville and Fairgrove. Guests were also present from Peck and Unionville.

Mrs. Jos. Bruce of Peck, Thumb Association president, and other association officers were introduced.

Mrs. Edward Knight and her assistants, Mrs. Neil McLarty, Mrs. Clara Spaven and Mrs. L. E. Townsend, served cherry pie a la mode and coffee. The dining room table was prettily decorated with lighted red, white and blue tapers and a centerpiece in keeping with Washington's birthday, while miniature hatchets and clusters of cherries decorated the covers of the small tables at which the guests ate.

Mrs. Harold Murphy filled the station of associate conductress for Miss Gertrude Striffler, who was ill.

Panel Discussion On Current Topics

A most important open meeting for the people of the county will be sponsored by the Sanilac County Farm Bureau Friday, March 12, at 7:45 p. m. at the Sandusky school auditorium. The opportunity to hear a panel discussion will be given of which the principal purpose is to present more information to the people concerning current questions which will be presented to the voters at this fall election.

The subject will be "Shall We Change the State Constitution?" This will include many vital issues such as "Should We Continue to Fight to Maintain the 15-mill Limitation on Property?"

Right now there is a concerted effort to blame the farmers for the high cost of living and to drive the prices of farm commodities down while industrial profits soar and wages advance. Michigan has now changed from an agricultural to an industrial state. It will be very easy for the farmer interests to be neglected.

The panel will include: Moderator Jack Yeager of Michigan Farm Bureau; Stanley Powell, Ionia, Legislative Council; Clarence Reid, Avoca; Senator Edwin Klump of Harbor Beach; Rep. A. P. Decker of Decker; Supt. Harry Smith and Mayor Orval Finkbeiner of Sandusky.

Program highlights include Sandusky High School Band, The Lazy Ranch Boys of radio station WKNX of Saginaw, and a movie, "America the Beautiful."

Get Brooder House Ready Early

If you've ordered your baby chicks, Michigan State college poultry specialists have a word for you. Their advice is this: don't wait until the chicks get here before you get the brooder house ready.

They say the number one job is to clean the brooder house thoroughly—and that means scrub and disinfect the house and equipment. Cracks in the walls and floors should be sealed to stop drafts. Before the chicks arrive the brooder should be checked to see if the temperature holds.

Ban American Comics
Authors, journalists and educators of New South Wales have asked their government to ban all comic strips from the United States and to impose severe restrictions on importation of short stories and articles. A deputation claimed that use of imported features was a serious drain on dollars and that newspapers were using this material in preference to local items at a time when Australian journalists were seriously affected by newsprint cuts.

Massage Those Gums
A new electric vibrator for home use features a rubber cup attachment for gum massage. Three other accessories are a roller for skin stimulation, rubber fingers for the scalp and a rubber cup for tired muscles.

W. C. T. U. Presents Citizenship Program

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Mrs. Avon Boag on Friday, Feb. 27, when 22 were present. The program was in charge of Mrs. Helen Moore and "Christian Citizenship" was the theme.

The following numbers were given: "Who Are Citizens," Mrs. Neil McLarty; "Citizenship Training in the Family and in Schools," Mrs. A. H. Steward; "Groups of Men and Women Workers and Men and Women Social Groups," Rev. John Safran; "Making a Good Citizen Out of a Poor One," Miss Hollis McBurney; "Christian Citizenship Training in Churches," Nazarene by Mrs. Houghtaling, Methodist by Mrs. John McGrath, Presbyterian by Mrs. M. R. Vender, Baptist by Mrs. M. Ware, Evangelical by Mrs. S. C. Striffler.

This was followed by a round table discussion. Harold Outley spoke on "Citizenship in the School, 4-H and the Scouts" and Wm. Miller's subject was on "Courts". On account of the limited time the remainder of the program will be continued at the next meeting to be held March 26 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Knapp when Rev. Mr. Vender will speak on "Religious Education."

Tile Ditching Machine Operators Establish '48 Rates

At a meeting of the Eastern Michigan Trencher's Association held in Akron on March 1, definite minimum rates for digging tile trenches were established.

The meeting was called by Fred Davis, Akron operator, and the following rates established were reported by the association secretary, Fred Haebler, also of Akron: Minimum charge—75¢ per rod for 4 inch or 5 inch tile (average depth of trench 36 inches.) 90¢ per rod for laying tile 6 inches and larger in trenches average 36 inches in depth.

An additional cost of 5¢ per rod will be charged when the tile machine operator is required to make the connections of the laterals and the mains.

About 40 members attended the meeting. Willard Cutler, farm drainage engineer, Michigan State College, gave a demonstration of a method to use in the correcting of adjustments of levels used by tile machine operators in establishing the correct grades for laying tile.

War and Population
Although nations involved in World War II count their total war dead at 15 million, the world's population now is 10 per cent larger than it was in 1939. That increase is one of the reasons for continued hunger in countries which have not been able to restore food production to its prewar level.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Let's Bake a Cake That's Feathery Light!
(See recipes below.)

Parade of Cakes

Now that the weather is cooler and we're spending less time out-of-doors, there's more call for mother's delicious cakes. A cake somehow seems to top off evenings at home perfectly when the youngsters have their school chums in for an evening or if guests drop in unexpectedly.

Week-ends, too, probably are full of light entertaining if the week is a busy one, and it's time the old custom of baking a cake on Saturday afternoon were reinstated. Then, no matter who comes in that evening or stops for dinner or tea on Sunday, we have a cook's treat to set before them.

There are loads of cakes to please every palate, from feathery-textured spice cakes to delectable combinations of banana and pineapple cake, as well as spiced dark devil's food and light-as-down, delicate whipped cream cake.

First, let's start off with a hot milk cake, easy on the budget and easy to mix. Top it with a broiled icing.

Hot Milk Cake.
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup hot milk
1 tablespoon butter

Beat eggs until light and thick. Slowly add sugar and continue beating until very light and thick. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Fold into egg and sugar mixture all at one time. Melt butter in hot milk and fold into cake. The addition of the flour and milk should take no longer than one minute. Pour into a well greased pan and bake in a preheated, moderate (350°F.) oven for 30 minutes.

Broiled Icing.
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter, melted
1/2 cup cream
1 cup coconut

Combine ingredients, blending well. Frost cake and return to hot oven or broiler just long enough to brown.

Banana Cake.
1/2 cup butter
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 cup banana, mashed
1/2 cup dates, chopped
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained
2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup nutmeats
1/2 cup sour milk

Cream sugar and butter thoroughly. Add bananas, dates, pineapple, and blend thoroughly. Sift dry ingredients three times and mix in nuts; add alternately with sour milk. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Frost with caramel icing:

1 1/2 cups dark brown sugar
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter

Combine sugars and bring to a

LYNN SAYS: Baking Tips Help Give Successful Results

When you buy lamb chops for broiling, select some that are two-thirds to two inches thick. If they are any thinner, they dry out too readily before they are entirely cooked.

A well-cooked roast deserves a rest period of about 30 minutes before coming to the table. The roast will be much easier to carve in uniform slices if it stands a bit.

Ham 'n cornbread go a long way toward making any meal a success. Add finely diced ham to cornbread batter before baking. Serve with salads, soups and souffles for a flavor-bright combination.

A never-to-be-forgotten rule when baking cakes, is to allow all the ingredients, especially the fat, eggs and liquid to come to room temperature before mixing. Their "combinability" is increased tremendously and the texture of the cake improved.

HAD NO CONSIDERATION

OLD Angus MacNab had been a hard, cruel man, and among his relatives the news of his suicide had been received with more rejoicing than sorrow. But his son, Sandy, in whose home the old man had met his quietus, persisted in moping over the affair.

"Sandy," admonished a brutally frank acquaintance, "why do you carry on so? The old man was a regular torment to everybody, and you know, down deep in your heart, you're glad he's gone."

"That I am," admitted Sandy. "It's cruel to admit it, but it's true."

"You're not thinking he suffered, when he took off, are you? He just turned on the gas and went to sleep. So what's eating on you?"

"Mon, oh, mon," groaned Sandy. "Just look at this terrible gas bill the old coot left me!"

INTO THE NIGHT

Hubby — Darling, I think you spend entirely too much money getting your hand red.

Wife — And, dear, I think you spend entirely too much money getting your nose red.

Mercenary Motive?

"Are you sure you love me?" sighed the buxom widow, as she paused in her wringing.

"Sho' Mandy, sho'," Rufus assured her. "I loves you."

Mandy picked up another garment and meditatively rubbed it over the washing-board. In her mind, hope seemed to be contending with doubt. Suddenly she raised her head, and, fixing a wary eye on her waiting Romeo, she demanded: "Look here, Rufus, you ain't lost yo' job, is you?"

Catching an Alligator

The next time you want to catch a live alligator, just hold his mouth shut and tie him up. According to the World Book encyclopedia, the animal's jaws are very powerful, but once they are shut, a man can easily hold them closed with his bare hands.

Caro Firm to Offer Home Milk and Cream Pasteurizer

The continued spread of milk-borne diseases, caused by using raw milk for drinking and cooking purposes, is a growing black spot on the U.S. public health record.

Although the pasteurization process was developed many years ago, and is recognized by physicians and bacteriologists as the only absolutely reliable method of removing harmful, disease-carrying bacteria from milk, the benefits of this protection have not been available to a large percentage of our population.

Use of Raw Milk Increases Disease Stringent health measures have made protection by pasteurization available in the big cities. But until recently, pasteurization equipment has been too expensive to be practical for use in homes. As a result, there has been a constantly increasing number of victims of undulant fever, septic sore throat, tuberculosis, and typhoid fever among families who use raw milk for drinking and cooking purposes.

Now, the introduction of a home pasteurizing unit which combines the scientific accuracy of the big commercial units with a price that will fit family budgets makes it possible for everyone to enjoy the same protection as people who live in large communities.

Safeguard Unit Gives Protection
After extensive research and tests, the Guard-It Manufacturing Company of Chicago has developed a 2-gallon "family size" electric milk and cream pasteurizer. Known as the SAFEGUARD Home Milk and Cream Pasteurizer, it pasteurizes for about 1c a gallon.

The unit operates on an ordinary 110-volt, 60 cycle line, and provides automatic timing and temperature control, and uniform heating, agitation, and cooling features that are comparable to commercial units. Everywhere, it has received an enthusiastic response from health authorities and colleges after being submitted to exhaustive laboratory tests.

Bieth Implement Co. has just secured the local franchise for the SAFEGUARD Home Milk and Cream Pasteurizer through the General Electric Co. and he now has units on display in his store.

SUGAR BEETS HELP IMPROVE MICHIGAN SOIL

Sugar beets tend to increase the productivity of the land by means of a deep root action. The root system of every beet pushes into the subsoil, far beneath the depth reached by a plow—sometimes as much as four or five feet.

When the main root is pulled for harvest, thousands of smaller lateral roots remain in the soil. Actually, for every ten tons of beets harvested, about one ton of lateral roots per acre is left in the ground. When these rootlets decompose, —they supply valuable organic matter for following crops.

—they leave millions upon millions of tiny tunnels in every acre, permitting circulation of air and water, and efficient use of plant food necessary for high yields in any crop.

When planted in rotation with shallow-rooted crops, sugar beets balance the crop rotation. This is the basis of good farming! Moreover, the intensive cultivation of sugar beets reduces weed infestation. And the high profit from the crop permits growers to use large amounts of fertilizer, some of which remains in the soil to benefit succeeding crops.

PRICE SHOULD BE HIGH THIS YEAR!

The Sugar Act of 1948 contains provisions for stabilizing the price of sugar. Based on expected sugar, pulp and molasses prices, beets testing 16 per cent sugar will bring about $15.45 per ton. And that's not counting the feed value of beet tops.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS IN 1949?

Individual farm acreage allotments are almost certain to be re-enacted next year. Provision for them is made in the new Sugar Act. If Michigan farmers do not maintain their production history by planting an adequate acreage in 1948, the allotment for their farms will be reduced and given to other farms that have been increasing their acreage. Let's protect and improve the record by growing as many sugar beets as possible.

So the question for growers this year is not whether to plant sugar beets, but how many acres to plant. Order your fertilizer from your dealer now.

Kathleen Norris Says:

What Hospitalized Veterans Need

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"They let me hold the baby while they did the dishes."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

A FEW weeks ago, in a midwestern city, I was given a lift to my hotel by a charming young matron who apologized for the crumbs and peanut shells that littered the back of her car.

"The boys love them," she explained.

"The boys?"

"Soldiers," she said. "Boys from the hospital. Life cases."

"But—bread and peanuts?"

"Oh, those," she said laughing. "Those are for the ducks and the elephants. They feed them, at the zoo."

That was all I heard then. The rest I got at the hospital itself, from the superintendent of nurses.

"Little Mrs. Brown," she said. "Yes, she is very faithful. There ought to be a hundred like her. But she is the only one."

"She is the only one," the nurse went on, "who comes regularly and takes our boys driving. She takes them where they want to go, to see the sights from the mountain, or out to the zoo and the lake. If they want to see a special show, she takes them there. Christmas Day she and her husband—himself wearing a Purple Heart—had three to dinner; they played pencil games afterward, and the lucky three haven't stopped talking about it yet."

"I don't have to tell you," said nurse Williams, "that the authorities and the Red Cross do everything they can. But that is impersonal, of course. A boy is taken to the dentist, or a block of opera or concert tickets are carefully distributed. Magazines are sent in, Christmas is well-remembered. But all that is impersonal, and you don't know how these boys hunger for personal contacts. Why, Mrs. Brown tells me that sometimes they are all chattering together, like children."

Happier in Hospitals.

"You see, lots of our boys are so maimed or so disfigured that they don't want to go home. The contrast between what they were—strong and young and happy, just a few years ago—and what they are now—blind, lame, painful to look upon—is too much for them. They come back to the hospital on some pretext, another operation, more treatments; they are happier here. But they long for friends, friends who never knew them in the old days, friends who will take them as they are."

"We have one boy here who often is asked to one of the humblest homes of the city for a Sunday dinner. A humble home, yes, but with a mother and father and boys and girls in it. They make him one of them for just a few happy hours every week, he knows they like him. The first time he went he came back breathless. 'They let me hold the baby while they did the dishes,' he said, over and over. Everyone in the hospital knew that these good plain people trusted him, and that the baby wasn't frightened by the poor patched face."

After our talk, Mrs. Williams let me look into a ward. But I couldn't stand that long. It wasn't that the boys were dreadful or frightening, nothing like that. It was that they were so normal, just lonely boys amusing themselves with old magazines, games and the radio. Thin wistful boys, bandaged boys, philosophical boys and embittered boys.

"They gave so much..."

SMALL FAVORS

While veterans in government hospitals receive excellent medical care, good food and clothing, they have other needs that no institution can provide. This is a chance to enjoy normal human contacts—trips to the movies and parks, dinners in happy homes. It is up to the people living within reach of these hospitals to do what they can to make the lot of these heroic young men easier, says Miss Norris.

In a recent visit to a midwestern city she met a woman who was doing her part. This young matron goes regularly to the hospital, takes the men out in her car for long drives to parks, zoos, nearby lakes and mountains. But she is the only one that comes, the head nurse told Miss Norris.

Nearly every woman could do something for these men who have lost so much, continues Miss Norris. They appreciate small favors, little pleasures that almost anyone can provide. An invitation to dinner on a holiday, a ticket to a play or concert, a chance to participate in a family gathering, will relieve the monotony of their lives. It is not all one way, either, concludes Miss Norris. There is a rich satisfaction in conferring small favors on these homeless veterans.

They have given more, for us and our safety, than those who fell. They risked their lives for us, and though those lives were not taken, they were as surely destroyed as if they had been. And now we forget them.

Take Care of One or Two.

Near you, there is very probably a hospital for maimed and invalided men. This is not a request that you attempt to amuse the hundreds of them, still in their glorious twenties, who are willing away the long days and weeks as mere names on charts; their hopes, their futures gone. As hundreds, as a mass, they have good food, care, clothes, everything that organization can do. But as individual men they long for personal contacts, for friendship in some home where their own personalities can find a little expression. Their enthusiasm for even the simplest sort of home life will touch you to the heart. Their gratitude for friendship—which, after all, is one of the priceless and precious things of life—will repay you a thousand times over for every minute you give them.

No, don't attempt to do it for hundreds, do it for two. Do it for one. Ask the head nurse for one who is convalescent, whose term in the ward is nearly up, if you like. Then, if the experiment is not a success, you know he soon will be discharged from the hospital anyway. By that time you'll know a few more, you'll have found the one who needs just what your family can give him, and whom you need.

If you've a vacant chair, let him fill it. While these boys are hospitalized and friendless and lonely that vacant chair at your table and mine is surely an unspoken rebuke.

Strange Lizards Exhibited

Lizards that walk on water and three-toed sloths are the oddest newcomers to the Chicago zoo. The lizards, about two feet long, are basilisk lizards which have a sort of skimming walk as they travel over the water. They live in trees and along the banks of streams in Central America.

Sloths, the "upside-down animals," come in both two-toed and three-toed varieties. But the three-toed ones are the more rare specimens.

SHORT STORY

Birthday Gift

By MAUDE NORMAN

THE sound of a ragman's horn came in the open window of the room, where, with housewifely zeal, Nancy Winters was busy with spring house-cleaning.

A gleam came into her eyes. She thought, "I'll give him that pile of magazines Ted has in the garage and all those pop bottles he is always promising to take away, but never does. I'm tired of having them around."

The ragman looked around hopelessly as he loaded the bottles and magazines on his rickety old truck.

"Any olda clothes, Ma'am?" he asked. "Any olda rubber or iron?"

"No, that's all... wait a minute." She darted into the garage, returning with a pair of old grey trousers. "Here, you may as well take these, too."

She gave her husband a particularly warm kiss when he came home that evening. "I'm almost dead," she sighed as they were eating dinner. "At first I thought I would open a can of soup or something easy to prepare, but then I remembered how nice you were, so I made you this meat pie and upside-down cake." Thus she tried to pave the way to tell him what she had done.

"It beats me why you have to kill yourself, trying to do everything in one day," Ted answered. "The house always looks all right to me without you having to tear it apart every so often. Thanks for the swell dinner, Honey. Guess I'll work on the car for awhile."

"That reminds me," she interrupted hastily. "A ragman came by today and I let him take those pop bottles and magazines out in the garage."

"You what?"

"And I let him take those dirty old pants out there, too," she rushed on.

"You mean you gave those pants away?" Ted shouted. "Those pants had fifty dollars in the pocket!"

"Ted! They didn't."

"They did unless you took it out. Did you?"

"Of course not. It never occurred to me... Oh, Ted! What have I done?"

"Gave away your birthday gift, that's all. I've been saving all year to buy that wrist watch you wanted. I thought I had found a safe hiding place in those pants. Perhaps we can get it back. Did you notice a name on the truck?"

NANCY shook her head despairingly. "There wasn't any name, but there was a phone number. I noticed that because it was the same number as our house. Main 1152."

"That's a lot of help. We can't look through the whole book."

"We could look under 'Junk Dealers,'" she cried.

"Here it is," she exulted, after a few minutes' search. "Tony Rozalle, 1346 Clark street."

1346 Clark street was a shabby little house, whose back yard gave ample proof of its owner's occupation.

"You mean you gave those pants away?" Ted shouted.

LAFF LINES

BIG SAVINGS MADE

SIR Herbert Beerbohm Tree, English actor and manager, was interested only in the artistic merit of his productions. To achieve a desired effect, he spent money lavishly. On one occasion, he spent such huge sums that his backers protested vigorously. They threatened to withdraw their financial support unless he cut expenses immediately. Faced with this ultimatum, Tree looked about desperately for a way to effect economies.

For two days he went over the script with a fine comb. Finally he came up with a bright idea. It wasn't much of a saving, but it was the only thing he could think of. And what was this brain storm of economy? In the third act, one of his actors came on stage carrying a three-cent newspaper under his arm. Tree ordered him to carry a one-cent paper.

MADE POOR DEAL

The diner in the cafeteria rushed over to the manager. "I've been robbed!" screamed the customer. "Somebody stole my topcoat. It was a brown coat, with raglan sleeves."

"Hm-mm-mm," mused the manager, "now that you mention it, I just saw a guy walk out of here with that very coat."

The customer looked hastily toward the door. "Quick, quick!" he demanded. "What did the guy look like?"

The manager shook his head. "Terrible," he returned. "The sleeves were five inches too short!"

How He Lost It

Pete Gray, the one-armed ball player, when an American leaguer, often was irked by people asking him how he had lost his arm. One day after the game, an elderly lady fan, solicitous and worried, started asking Gray how he felt: was he tired, did he think he would make good?—and a dozen other queries which he tried to shake off courteously.

Finally the lady asked, "My son, how did you lose your arm?"

Gray did not hide his annoyance. "An old lady in Brooklyn talked it off me," he snarled as he dashed for a taxi.

Keep Expense Down

Jimmy—Pop, it says here that animals have a new fur coat every year.

Pop—Sessah, my boy, your mother is in the next room.

Not Under Anything

A woman missed her gloves as she was leaving the restaurant where she had dined with her husband. Asking him to wait, she hurried back to look for them, searching first on the table and finally lifting the cloth to peer under it.

Just then a waiter hurried over to her. "Pardon me, madame," he said, "but the gentleman is over there by the door."

Persistence Pays

A life insurance agent called upon a big business man at the close of a busy day. When the agent had been admitted, the big fellow said:

"You ought to feel highly honored, young man. Do you know that today I have refused to see seven insurance men?"

"I know," said the agent, "I'm them!"

NO HOUSING PROBLEM

"Not for a couple of days, mister. His boy, who's in the air corps, was all busted up in an airplane crash. Tony and his wife wanted to go see him but they didn't have the money. Then today a rich lady gave Tony fifty bucks and they lit out as soon as he came home. That's what I call luck."

"Yes, it was fortunate," Ted avoided Nancy's eyes as he spoke. "I'm glad Mr. Rozalle and his wife were able to visit their son."

"Sure I can't do anything for you mister?"

"Nothing, thank you. What we wanted to see about wasn't very important."

Lice Inflict Heavy Damage on Cattle

DDT Treatment Cuts High Winter Losses

Lice are injurious to all types of cattle. Animals produce less meat and milk if lice are unchecked. Young animals and poorly-nourished old animals suffer most from lice.

The winter season is the time lice are bad on cattle. The louse population builds up then. Dr. Harold Gunderson, extension entomologist at Iowa State college, says one louse unchecked in fall means 1,000 the following March.

For lice control on cattle, DDT is being used successfully. Early in fall, before cold weather arrives, it is mixed with water and sprayed on the animals. After cold weather comes, a DDT dust is recommended. Farmers are being advised to use a dust containing 10 per cent DDT. Some of the powdered louse killers on the market contain less than 10 per cent DDT, but have other effective insecticides combined with the DDT.

The rotenone dusts recommended for cattle grub control can be used for lice control. Usually they are diluted for lice, to cover greater area and reduce the cost. For instance, one pound of a cattle grub dust containing 1 1/2 per cent rotenone can be mixed with two pounds of flour to make an effective louse killer.

World's Largest Potato Yard Found in Chicago

The world's largest potato yard is located—not in Idaho, nor in Maine—but in the largest city near the geographical center of the nation—Chicago.

In the Wood street yards of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, an average of 20,000 carloads of potatoes are handled annually. Many thousands of tons of other vegetables also pass through this yard.

The yard is the central marketing point for potatoes, which come in from virtually every state in the union. Dealers and brokers assemble in the yard each day before dawn to buy, sell or consign an average of 36,000 bushels daily. The Wood street yard is a far cry from the wooden platform which served as a terminal years ago.

Milk Testing Traced To Michigan Farmers

By Louis Sellers

Forty years ago a few progressive dairy farmers in Michigan organized the first cow-testing association in the United States. They wanted to improve the profitability of their herds. They hired a tester to weigh and test the milk of each cow and to keep a record of her feed cost and income. They wanted that information so they could cull the low producers from their herds and feed the rest more economically.

In the first four years of their pioneer effort, these Michigan farmers doubled the average profit per cow. Since then thousands of other dairy farmers have followed their example with equally striking results.

Decorator's Tricks Utilized To Alter Room's Proportions

By Ethel Haley

SINCE very few of us can select just where we want to live, and even go a step further and design rooms the size they should really be, then we must do the next best thing—use decorative effects either to make large rooms appear smaller or small rooms seem larger.

Just in case you've a desire to wag your head and say that's impossible, then consult decorators who are faced with these problems every day. It's true that you don't magically create space or lose it, but the effect can be changed.

When decorators' tricks are used, pleasant illusions are created and you need not feel out-sized in a room that is actually small, but made to appear spacious. Or, if the room is large, you need not feel lost in it, if it is at all properly furnished and decorated.

First of all, if you have one or the other situation in your own home, and to an extreme degree, at that, remember you must go all out and follow the recipe the decorators give, or the effect will be lost.

You must take into consideration walls, rugs, furniture and color as well as pattern.

Avoid Small Things, Plainness in Large Room

It's much easier to decorate a large room than a small room, if the former seems a bit lofty and barnlike, to you. There are many tricks to reduce the size of the room, which has deep windows, high walls and an enormous floor area.

The first trick regards wallpaper or wall covering. Never use something plain or with small patterns or they will stand out boldly and show off the large size of the room. Here is the place to use large patterns, but they should be in good taste and not too well defined.

Scenic papers and striped ones are taboo. Scenic ones make the height of the room too apparent and striped papers bring out its depth.

Break up the large expanses of wall space. This can be done with dados, a divided lower wall section.

And small rooms larger.

Plain painted or papered dados with graceful lines are especially good. If you do not use the dado trick, have the ceiling come down on the side walls for 18 to 24 inches. This will terminate as a wood or decorative paper molding.

Use furniture in proper proportions to the room. The larger the

Be Smart!

It's a season of exquisite blouses, whether of the sheerest permanent finished organdie with a touch of the old time flit lace or a handmade tailored affair by Yolande (above). In the latter's collection of handmaides, such beautiful combinations as hand hemstitching and val lace are employed on the softest crepes. Teamed with ballet length velvet skirts, these blouses make lovely informal costumes for evening.

Pinwale Corduroy

room, in other words, the more massive may be its furniture.

Make certain the furniture is arranged in nice groupings about the room, not just scattered without plan to fill space.

Curtains or Venetian blinds are not enough for the windows. You can hold the room together much better if you use floor length draperies.

Small Rooms Can Look Spacious and Serene

While the small room is more of a problem, the cluttered appearance and proportions easily yield to decorative treatment. First, your problem will be one of removing everything that is absolutely not essential. Get chests that will go under beds or couches; do not stack them in the room. Hacksacks can be made to contain various items, as can a window seat or a couch.

Now, let's start on the room itself. Use plain, solid-toned wallpaper and keep it light in color. Striped paper may be used to add height, and so may small-patterned paper. Avoid dark colors for walls and ceiling. Repaint in lighter colors if necessary.

Here is a good list of colors from which to choose for the small room: Pale gray; light gray green; lime green; light yellow; chalk blue; dead white; light cream; but not ivory; beige; but not tan; dusty pink or rose; pale coral, or mauve.

Naturally the choice of color will depend upon the use for the room, but the list is large enough to take care of any type of room, be it bedroom or living room.

Avoid Fussy Furniture, Cluttered Windows

Your furniture for the small room may be delicate or very simple with graceful lines if you choose modern. Scale the size of the furniture to fit the proportions of the room.

Mirrors are wonderful for adding depth to this type of room. Large panels might be very effective between windows. Or you might use them to better advantage over the fireplace or even on a wall where the outdoors can be reflected. If you want to use lightly tinted mirrors, this is perfectly proper.

However, never use mirrors with fussy edgings or highly decorated edges, as this will bring attention to the size and shape of the mirror. Still length glass curtains of sheer material are excellent for your windows. If draperies are used, too, have them long and full, to the floor, but do not tie them back. Lacy net curtains are another good choice. Venetian blinds, with or without draperies and curtains, also may be used.

Wall to wall carpeting will add a great deal of roominess to this room, while scatter rugs make it look tiny and crowded. Any type of patterned rug also will crowd you. Textured broadloom or a monotone of some type is best.

KEEPING IT STRAIGHT

If your candles are inclined to wobble in their holders, melt some paraffin and pour it into the socket. Place the candle in the holder while the paraffin still is hot. This serves a double purpose—it keeps candles straight and prevents danger of fire.
