Price Support Loan Program for 1948 Wheat Crop

Loan Rate Is $2.07 per Bushel on Basis of U. S. No. 1 Wheat

A price support loan program for the 1948 wheat crop will be available to Tuscola County farmers this year after harvest, according to the County AAA chairman, Chas. B. Eckfeld. The loan rate is $2.07 per bushel on the basis of U. S. No. 1 wheat and was established as required by legislation at 90% of the parity price of wheat on July 1, 1948. For lower grades of wheat, correspondingly lower rates will be available. All wheat placed under loan must contain not more than 14% moisture content.

Government loans will be made to farmers on wheat produced in 1948 grading No. 3 or better, or grading U. S. No. 4 or 5 because of test weight only. The wheat may be stored by the farmer either in approved elevators or in approved farm bins or granaries.

Farmers may apply for wheat loans at the county AAA office in Caro any time after harvest but not later than Dec. 31, 1948. The loans will mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1949, and will bear interest at the rate of 3% per annum. Release of the wheat under loan may be obtained by the farmer at any time provided he fulfills the conditions in the loan agreement by paying the principal and interest to the holder of the note or loan agreement.

In order to be eligible for a farm storage loan, wheat stored on the farm must have been stored in the granary or bin at least 30 days prior to its inspection. Farm bins and granaries must, in the opinion of the County AAA Committee, be of such substantial and permanent construction as to afford safe storage of the wheat for a period of two years. It is not required that wheat placed under farm storage loan be insured. However, the producer who puts his wheat under farm storage loan is responsible for safe-guarding the wheat and is obligated to maintain the farm storage structures in good repair and to keep the wheat in good condition.

Under farm stored loans a service fee of one cent per bushel is charged on the number of bushels under loan or a $3.00 fee, whichever is the greater.

Wheat stored in approved commercial elevators can be placed under loan immediately without a waiting period. Where wheat is warehouse stored, the producer must pay a service fee of one-half cent per bushel on the number of bushels.

Consolidation of Schools in Tuscola And Elsewhere

Deputy Co. Commissioner of Schools Tells of Trend in Educational Units

The Chronicle has received the following communication from the deputy commissioner of schools in Tuscola County:

Several inquiries have come to this office relative to the trend in school consolidation in Tuscola County and elsewhere and I have been asked to send you data on the above inquiry.

In our county, Unionville joined with ten rural districts to form a Rural Agricultural School. Akron, last year, joined with six and Fairgrove with six rural districts to form two Rural Agricultural Schools. Millington formed a township district about two years ago. Caro, Mayville, Kingston and Reese have taken in several rural districts but have not consolidated with them.

Those talking consolidation at present are Kingston, Mayville and Reese. Also there is a movement gathering momentum at present for an elementary school consolidation between Caro and Cass City and talk of similar consolidation south of Cass City.

There is no question in the mind of anyone familiar with the rural school situation that some kind of consolidation is very necessary in the near future. The only question is the kind of consolidation that will fit the conditions of our county.

Outside of Tuscola County, Sanilac County now has a complete plan for consolidation of all schools as soon as the people are ready to move in that direction. A survey was made by a lay committee last year. Saginaw County is consolidating in several areas. The upper peninsula has had consolidation in most areas for several years. Missaukee County is almost entirely consolidated.

Reasons why consolidation is imperative:

1. When a rural school closes, the pupils must be given schooling somewhere. When a school has fewer than ten pupils it usually has to close.

2. The financial advantage given by law to larger units of administration is so great that a county cannot afford to forfeit its rightful share of state aid.

3. Rich school districts receive no state aid thereby depriving the county of additional funds to run its schools.

4. Some schools have sixty pupils and maintain eight grades and kindergarten. This means about 45 classes a day with recitation periods of 3 to 10 minutes each. Some have six pupils scattered over five or six grades.

R. Little, Mt. Clemens; "Special Study," Mrs. Richard Lichtenfeld.

Lunch was served to about 80 people by the Grant W. S. C. S. at 12:30.

The afternoon session was opened by Mrs. Lee VanInwager leading devotions. Special music was presented by Manly L. Fay of Grant with Mrs. Lawrence Moore of Grant at the piano. When is a Telephone Like a Market Basket?

ANSWER:

When the COST of Providing Telephone Service is Compared with the COST of Filling the Market Basket

Every time a Michigan housewife goes to market, she faces this bitter fact: The cost of filling her market basket has sharply increased.

Reliable figures* show that the over-all cost of living has increased 70% since 1941. The cost of almost everything has risen tremendously - - - that is, almost everything except telephone service. The majority of exchanges served by Michigan Associated Telephone Company have not had a change in rates in 20 years. Yet our cost of furnishing service has increased over 128% since 1941!

Is it any wonder then that we cannot operate on a sound financial basis necessary for service improvement and expansion? We know you will readily understand why we are seeking an adjustment in telephone service rates.

The first state reward road in Michigan, built in Elkland Township, cost the citizens of that township just $135 in township taxes, P. A. Koepfgen, township highway commissioner, informed the Chronicle Saturday.

I. B. Auten secured $300 in subscriptions. This with $500 from the state and $135 in township taxes totalled $935, the amount paid the contractor for the job.

New 4-H Club Awards
Stress Farm Forestry

FARM OWNERS	OTHER SMALL OWNERS	LARGE OWNERS	PUBLIC
30%	27%	18%	25%

The importance of farm forestry in America is stressed by the fact that farmers own the greatest single share of commercial woodlands. A 4-H club forestry project, symbolized by the young man planting a seedling, offers awards to spur interest in farm forestry.

The stake of farm boys and girls in the woodlands of this state, and of America as a whole, is emphasized by new national and state awards for a 4-H club project in forestry, which include medals for state winners, and scholarships and trips for regional winners.

Four-H club members in this community, interested in forestry, are eligible to compete for these awards which include:

A gold medal for the state winner.

One of four regional $200 cash scholarships.

One of four trips to the next 4-H club congress in Chicago.

The four areas in which regional awards are being made are the West, South, Central states and Northeast.

The sponsor for these awards is the American Forest Products Industries, a national association of lumber, pulp and paper, plywood and other forest industries.

"Good forest practices on the nation's farms are of major importance," declares Col. William B. Greeley, chairman of the American Forest Products Industries. "Farmers own a greater share of the nation's woodlands than any other group. With our uses for wood increasing almost daily, we must see to it that our harvests of trees are sufficient to meet the needs of our growing population. This means markets for wood, and this means greater and permanent opportunities for farmers who manage their woodlands for continuing forest crops."

National surveys show that farmers own 30 per cent of the nation's 460 million acres of commercial forest land. Other owners of small tracts own 27 per cent. Medium and large owners have about 18 per cent of the total, and the public owns about 25 per cent. Information about the 4-H club forestry project may be obtained from your county extension agent.

New OLIVER "77"

A New Model of a Famous Tractor

Oliver begins its second century with the introduction of a new fleet of quality farm tractors—including the new 2-3 plow "77", a tractor with advanced farm features that make field work faster and more efficient than ever.

The smooth, brisk valve-in-head engine of the "77" is a six—and you have a choice of three types for the fuel you prefer: high compression for gasoline, "KD" for tractor fuels, and a diesel that will be available later.

The "77" will set a new performance mark in the operation of power take-off machines with its direct drive unit... a new economy record with its 6-forward-speed transmission in the Oil Miser case, Fuel Miser governor, and the basic interchangeability of Oliver's full line of tractor-mounted tools with all other new Row Crop models. Wheels on Row Crop models are interchangeable, too—with a choice of cast iron or stamped steel.

One of the models in the new Oliver fleet is sure to fit your acreage and farming practices. Available in Row Crop, Standard, Row Crop with Adjustable Front Axle or Single Front Wheel. Drop in next time you're in town.

"CARE" Packages Will Go to Japan

At the request of General of the Armies, Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of Allied Forces in the Pacific, CARE announces the extension of its non-profit gift package service to Japan. Negotiations for a further extension to the Philippines, Korea and Okinawa are under way.

The opening of Japan to CARE's service was made public simultaneously from Tokyo by Brigadier General Crawford F. Sams, chief of SCAP's Public Health and Welfare Section, and from New York by Paul Comly French, executive director of CARE.

Mr. French said CARE had designed a special Japanese food package, containing items most necessary and most acceptable in Japan today. Ten thousand of these parcels are now in Japan, ready for distribution. Complete cost of the parcel, including delivery, is ten dollars.

CARE, which has operated for two years in 15 European countries and delivered approximately 5 1/2 million parcels on order from Americans, thus becomes the only registered agency through which individuals here can send supplementary food to individuals and groups in Japan," Mr. French said. "All other relief agencies serving the country distribute supplies through LARA (Licensed Agencies for Relief in Asia), which determines the groups and institutions to receive them.

CARE will not attempt a broad general relief program in Japan," he continued. "While many of the 26 member agencies of CARE are also members of LARA, the work of the two groups will supplement each other. LARA's member agencies ask contributions from the American people for the support of its work, while CARE accepts orders for its standard gift package to individuals and groups."

COUNTY SEAT LOST PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN ON THURSDAY

Concluded from page 1. because of poor health.

He served two terms as a member of the state hospital commission. He was first named to the hospital board in 1935 and served until 1937. He was reappointed to that board on Jan. 1, 1939, and served until March 1, 1948. He was chairman of the board during his last year of service on it.

He was instrumental in the organization of the Caro Board of Commerce, serving as its first president in 1921. He was also president of the Michigan Automotive Trade Association in 1938.

Mr. Striffler acted as president of the Hotel Montague Company, organized in Caro in 1923 to build the present Hotel Montague after fire had destroyed a former hostelry.

During World War II, Mr. Striffler was commander of the Tuscola County Civilian Defense organization. He also served as a member of the Caro village council from 1920 to 1921.

He was a star performer while in high school in many branches of athletics, and as a student helped organize and was the first president of the Tuscola High School Athletic Association, which after 42 years, is still a factor in the control of county school athletics. He held the record of 10.2 seconds in the 100-yard dash for county schools for nearly 25 years. At Alma College he took part in athletics, playing football and baseball, and participating in track athletics.

The dread Dutch elm disease, killer of thousands of trees, is spreading rapidly over large areas. Control measures should include: (1) Pruning and burning of all dead material from elms; (2) removing of the bark before elm wood is stored or dumped, if the wood is not destroyed; (3) piling of stored elm wood in a dry building or cellar; (4) removing and burning promptly all elm trees killed by the disease.

There are three good clues for spotting the diseased trees, according to University of Massachusetts specialists. Evidence of woodpecker work is one. Where strips of bark have been removed from tree limbs it may indicate that woodpeckers are feeding on elm bark beetles, carriers of the Dutch elm disease.

Shepherd's crooks are another sign of the disease. These crooks are twisted twigs branching out at the end of last season's growth. Third, lack of spring buds may indicate that the trees have been attacked by the disease.

Early detection of the disease will aid control measures, foresters say.

The table for this saw frame is an all-steel welded job which is not damaged by heavy peels. The frame at the back of the table and the safety guard were made from scrap pieces. The guard on the back of the saw also is an example of fabricating useful equipment from metal scraps with an arc welder.

Wisconsin Notes Drop In Dairy Cow Numbers At the beginning of 1948, Wisconsin, America's greatest dairy state, had 2,580,000 cows and heifers, two years old or over, kept for milk, also 1,015,000 heifer calves and heifers one to two years old kept for milk cows. Compared with a year ago, the number of milk cows declined 51,000 and the number of young stock kept for future milk cows decreased 16,000.

The bride's mother was gowned for the occasion in a dress of blue and pink with white accessories and the groom's mother wore pink with white. Both had corsages of red roses.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Weatherhead were given a reception in Evergreen Community Club hall at Shabbona where all had an enjoyable time, and the newlyweds received many beautiful and useful gifts.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Gene Alleman
Saugatuck—Here on Michigan's West Dutch coast, just 12 miles south of tulip-famous Holland, is the artist summer capital of the Middle West.

As you approach the village by automobile on US-31, an illuminated sign welcomes you.

It displays an artist's pallet, bright with colors.

Landscape paintings are on display at village shops. At the Saugatuck Village Hall, whose architectural lines remind you of New England, you are invited to view an exhibit of paintings 2 to 5 p. m. daily. An artists' ball is held in August.

And yet, apparent as it is that Saugatuck is proud of its artists, the artists themselves are not all happy about Saugatuck's growing prosperity as a summer recreational center.

Garish electric signs tempt tourists to imbibe at cocktail bars. The blare of orchestra music is in the air. Sale of liquor is abnormally brisk at Saugatuck and Douglas. Like the phenomenon noted by a protesting minister at Rose City, popular first stop for northbound hunters and fishermen. Saugatuck is a satisfactory place for city people to unlace and unbend.

Vacationers, some of whom arrive in luxurious cruisers, are inclined to imbibe freely. The artists' atmosphere of Bohemian informality lends itself well to laxness of behavior. Sport clothes are the vogue. Mother does not need to dress up. She borrows daughter's blue jeans and joins her offspring in a sidewalk parade. The jeans seem to fit mama more than they should. Daughter rolls up her jeans to the knees. Father's attire would do justice to Bing Crosby in Hollywood. Just about anything goes.

At night the crowds through the cocktail bars and the pavilion where dancing and motion pictures are featured. On the sidewalk, if the weather permits, M. Hasselbar, mass production artist, puts on a circus-like act under bright lights. Using a variety of brushes, he rapidly daubs colors upon a canvas.

A sign says: "Direct from artist to you."

Hasselbar, a newcomer to Saugatuck, employs unorthodox and unapproved methods of mass production. He is a Henry Ford on a small scale. Turning out canvases quickly to fit the consumer's purse.

Constrasted to Hasselbar, who winters at Miami and who arrived at Saugatuck last summer for the first time, is Carl Hoermann, distinguished among all American artists in the field of dune and desert paintings. Hoermann and his attractive wife, Gibsongirlish in her wholesome charm, reside at the hillside "Chalet Studio." They have a desert studio home, Rancho Mirage, at Riverside, California, not far from Palm Springs.

Hoermann travels to dunes at 6 a. m. or 6 p. m. preferring the lights and shadows at that time in order to catch the mood of nature and transfer it to a working sketch. He has disdain for those who paint from imagination and who will duplicate composition. "House painters," he retorts.

The varying hues of lights and shadows, ranging from green, blue, purple to golden brown, make the Hoermann canvas a thing of joy.

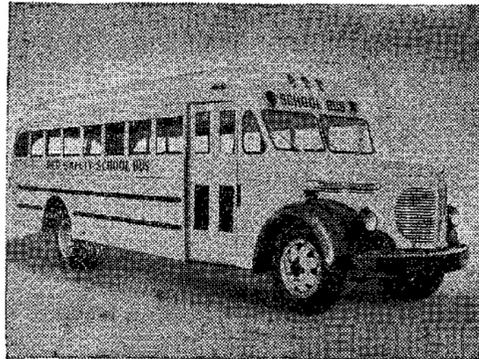

The Chicago Art Institute sponsors a summer school of painting at old Fish-Town along an abandoned channel of the Kalamazoo River near Lake Michigan. Oxbow Inn, where the students go for their meals, is an ancient, weather-beaten frame building, forlorn for the lack of paint. The "museum", where students exhibit their creations, is simplicity itself. Nothing fancy about Oxbow. Utility is first.

More than 100 years ago the town of Singapore arose at the mouth of the Kalamazoo River. At one time it boasted of three lumber mills, two hotels and several general stores. Lots were at a premium. A total of 672 sailing boats entered the harbor in 1870. Today a drifting sand dune marks Singapore. The town is lost, buried. Saugatuck is unique because of its artists' colony.

But if certain trends continue, artists are fearful it will become a tourist night-life spot like Greenwich Village in New York City.

Be wise, be wise, economize! Scrutinize the want ads now.

Strange Fish
The sword-tailed fish, which finds its way into many a tropical aquarium, has a peculiar way of wooing. The handsomely colored male will swim excitedly around the female, giving her an occasional dig with his stiletto-like tail. It isn't a fight. It's only their way of making love.

Storing Grain
Grain can be stored almost indefinitely with little deterioration in farm-type bins—those that hold 1,000 to 3,000 bushels—if it is kept dry, cool, clean, and free of insects.

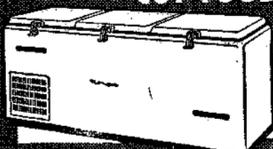

Crude Oil Output
It is estimated that total daily demand for crude oil in the United States during 1948 will be 5,800,000 barrels. In 1941 it was 4,071,000 barrels.

Moth Fiction Exploded
Many believe that wrapping clothes in newspapers will protect against moths because of a mysterious quality in the ink with which the papers have been printed. This is fiction. Putting garments in paper or zippered bags is effective only if every opening has been completely sealed.

QUICK TEST TELLS IF GRAIN IS DRY

Farmers who want to avoid loss from grain heating in storage can make this simple test devised by Dr. S. T. Dexter, farm crops research scientist at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.

A small waxed cardboard container such as an individual ice cream cup is used in the test. A sample of grain, representing the average condition of the field, is placed in the container. To this is added about a half teaspoon of ammonium chloride salt which can be obtained from the druggist. The container is then closed and shaken vigorously 50 times.

Results of the test are shown in the two photographs above. At the left, the salt comes out of the tube dry and in single grains as it was when first put in. This shows that the grain is dry enough to store under ordinary farm conditions. The salt in the picture on the right is damp and clumped together, showing that the grain is too damp for storage. A little practice makes the test easy and quick. Then samples can be taken and the test performed in the field at harvest time.

Re-Seeding Bluegrass Lawns Re-seeding of established bluegrass lawns is usually a waste of seed and effort. Even a thin stand of old bluegrass plants keeps young grass seedlings from living. If the grass is thin the mower should be set to cut high. Re-seeding is needed only in large bare spots or where it has been injured by a heavy growth of crabgrass.
