Voters to Consider Five Changes in State Constitution

Constitution Revision and Callahan Bill on Ballot at the November Election

Five changes in the state constitution, constitution revision and the Callahan bill which requires agents of foreign countries to register will be considered by Michigan voters at the November election.

The proposals and their order on the ballot are:

1. Makes lieutenant governor successor to governor if chief executive dies after election and prior to Jan. 1 year term begins.
2. Repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment.
3. Authorize the legislature to fix the salaries of the state constitutional officers.
4. Authorize the legislators to fix their salaries and expenses.
5. Liberalize the 15-mill tax limitation provision by majority vote to permit bond issues up to $50 per thousand valuation for 20 years.
6. General revision of the constitution, submitted by a public act.

The attorney general's office was asked to draft a suitable condensation for the No. 1 constitutional question.

Council Grants Building Permits and Orders New Sidewalks

Tuesday was "pay day" for the village when three items took $11,341 from the village treasury. Other lesser amounts added to the total of bills allowed and the entire sum was an unusually large amount considered at one council meeting.

Chief among the items was $5,910.75 for a carload of four and six-inch water pipe for new water mains on South Ale St. and in the Hills and Dales subdivision. Another item called for $5,000.00 to repay a loan made by the village several months ago and the third large item was $431.00 for dust master for the village streets.

Sidewalks will be constructed, village trustees decided Tuesday, on the north side of Huron St., from Oak to Maple St., and on the south side of Huron St. between Maple and Sherman Streets. There will be a crosswalk connection at Sherman St.

Building permits were oked for the following:

Joe Harber for a garage on the corner of Sherman and Pine Sts. John Wagner for a garage on Pine St. W. Chas. Merchant for remodeling a residence on Third St. Mrs. Edna Fessler for moving a residence to Maple St. and remodeling same. Sewer and water applications for Mrs. Fessler's property and sewer application for Alex Brian's residence on Third St. were approved.

MSC Workshop In Government Raps Constitution

Workshop Demanded an Overall Reorganization of Administrative Machinery

Michigan's constitution was labeled inadequate for the problems of government now confronting the state by the majority of panel members in the Michigan State College Workshop in State and Local Government.

The Workshop ended Friday, July 23, after a three-week discussion series which brought prominent state and local government figures before a group of more than 60 high school teachers of civics, political science and related subjects.

Gov. Kim Sigler opened the Workshop sessions July 6, demanding an overall reorganization of Michigan's administrative machinery to increase the appointive power of the governor, and give him a four-year term of office. He disapproved the approximately 100 bureaus and agencies which he charged now make the policy of state government, for which the governor is held responsible.

Other charges against the constitution dealt with "earmarking" of funds for local use; lack of provision for a graduated state income tax; and limitation of salaries for government officials.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, Budget Director John A. Perkins, and Auditor General Muri K. Aten, all speaking in separate panels, but with the same thought, agreed that constitutional "earmarking" of funds for local use was a curb to effective operation on the state level.

Brake indicated the possibility of higher taxes next year in a statement that the state is "in the red this year, and has good prospects for continuing in the red unless something is done about it."

Aten, agreeing that dedicated funds gave local areas a disproportionate cash balance when compared to the state, attacked the sales tax specifically, advocating a uniform income tax which would be constitutionally sound.

Perkins said the budget department was "overcoming some evils of earmarking by budgeting the assigned funds," even though they must still go to the designated departments. He charged the system of dedicated funds could make the state build roads of gold brick, by amassing unused funds not transferable under the constitution.

Perkins also disapproved the

Assigned to Flight of Jet Planes Overseas

Cpl. Geo. J. Stinar, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Stinar, of Gary, Ind., successfully competed for assignment to the flight of 16 F-80 "Shooting Star" jet planes making the first U. S. air force transatlantic hop by jet-propelled aircraft. He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Zinnecker, former residents of Cass City.

Corporal Stinar has served in the air force since October, 1946. He left Selfridge Field July 12th last and went by way of Maine, Iceland, Greenland, and England to Germany. He expects to go on a three months' air tour. He is an expert airplane and engine mechanic and served in that capacity during the epoch making flight.

Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alleman
Doster—Situating along the shaded shores of Pine Lake, 12 miles north of Kalamazoo and adjacent to this Bawty County village, is one of the most unique educational institutions for war veterans in the entire United States.

Here is a veritable "dream spot," the sort of thing a young man overseas might conjure in his imagination but never expects to see.

It is a practical emblem of Michigan's generosity to its sons who served the Nation in World War II.

We refer to the Michigan Veterans' Vocational School, operated by the State of Michigan and administered by the Western Michigan College of Education at Kalamazoo.

We arrived at the Pine Lake school, as it is generally called, just as dinner was being served in the long administration building.

Windows of the dining hall overlook the sky-blue waters of Pine Lake. The scene is that of a summer resort rather than a college campus. In front of the main building is a bathing beach. Boats are tied up to a wood pier. A float with diving board is moored in deep water.

In a grove of tall trees are 25 log cabins.

After dinner the veterans lounge about. Some go swimming. It is a twilight time for relaxation. A bus-load of girls from Kalamazoo. Concluded on page 6.

Cass City Oil and Gas Company Elected Two New Directors

The regularity of the receipt of the annual 10% dividends to stockholders of The Cass City Oil and Gas Co. has had a tendency for them to lose interest in the annual meetings of stockholders. This was quite true on Thursday, July 22, when few of the stockholders assembled at the town hall to elect directors.

M. B. Auten, Bruce Brown, Henry Smith and W. B. Hicks, Sr. were chosen to succeed themselves. Arthur C. Atwell and Roy Severance are new directors. They succeeded Chas. Hartsell and Chas. Severance, who passed away during the past year.

The past year's business was among the best in the company's history, according to M. B. Auten, secretary-treasurer.

Registration Dates For the New Draft

President Harry Truman has ordered registration for the new draft to begin August 30 for men 18 through 25.

The registration will continue through September 18. Different age groups will register on different days.

Mr. Truman listed 10 age classifications and gave these dates for registration between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

1. Those born in 1922 after August 30 will register Monday, August 30.
2. Those born in 1923 will register August 31 or September 1.
3. Those born in 1924 register on September 2 or 3.
4. Those born in 1925 register September 4 or 7.
5. Those born in 1926 register on September 8 or 9.
6. Those born in 1927 register on September 10 or 11.
7. Those born in 1928 register on September 13 or 14.
8. Those born in 1929 register on September 15 or 16.
9. Those born in 1930 before September 19, register September 17 or 18.
10. Anyone born on or after September 19, 1930, must register within five days after his 18th birthday.

Each eligible man was instructed to register in the area in which he has his permanent home or in which he happens to be on the day for his registration. And each was warned "to familiarize himself" with the rules and regulations governing the registration program.

There was nothing in the proclamation to indicate when actual inductions will begin. By law, draft can't start until September 22. That is 90 days after Mr. Truman signed the Selective Service Act.

Eighteen year olds can avoid the draft by enlisting for one year and then serving for a longer period in the reserves. Such enlistments were accepted starting Wednesday.

Happenings in The Neighboring Towns and Villages

Items of Interest that Were Gleaned from the Newspapers of the Thumb

A group of Brown City citizens in a plea for financial aid for the new community center pleaded its case before the village council Monday night. Spearheaded by Claude L. Wood, director of the Community Club, the group asked for and was granted unanimously $500 of village money to help in the project.

Marlette school electors voted Monday night to exceed the 15 mill tax levy by five mills and use the money in a building and site fund. School board members say the community is desperately in need of a new six-room elementary school building addition. The school now has an option on a building site south of the present school building. When the board decides to start construction there will probably be a bond issue to finance it, backers say.

Military rites were conducted Tuesday by posts of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars for Pfc. Leo D. Martin, whose body arrived in Caro from overseas Saturday. Rev. Hugh Putnam officiated at services at the Nazarene Church. Burial was in Caro cemetery. Pfc. Martin was killed in action in Germany Apr. 4, 1945. He leaves his widow; two sons, William Delbert and John Robert; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Martin; three brothers, Lawrence, Clark and Raymond Martin; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Mattlin, Jr., Miss Laura Martin, all of Caro; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, of Deford.

The Auxiliary to the Tuscola County Post, No. 4164, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has made a start in securing belated recognition and the payment of proper respect to those citizens of Tuscola County who served in the U. S. armed forces during World War I and World War II. The county board of supervisors during the June session voted their approval of the erection of a suitable, permanent honor roll, to be erected on the court house lawn in Caro. Assistance will be needed to assemble the names and addresses of residents of Tuscola Co. who served in the armed forces during World War I and World War II. After a complete list of servicemen and servicewomen has been compiled the financial assistance of all citizens of Tuscola County will be solicited, to help defray the expense of purchasing, and erection of this long delayed honor roll.

This Is Why Beef Steak Is High

Wheat Keeps Farmers And Elevators Busy

Farmers are putting in extra long hours in caring for their grain crops and local elevator workmen are busy day and night in unloading trucks and trailers, cleaning the grain and loading it into railroad cars.

Wheat samples are reported good and yields are abundant. Barley has ripened as early as wheat this year and deliveries of that grain are now being made to elevators.

Cass City Girl Scouts To Participate in Clothing Kit Project

The Girl Scouts of America are going to try to send abroad 100,000 clothing kits for young people in a national clothing kit project. There are two big needs in this project. One is the need for clothing by young people of other lands. The other is the need to satisfy the longing of Girl Scouts to do something for other young people abroad.

The Cass City Girl Scouts have pledged that they will send 10 layettes. Each layette will include: 4 binders, 12 diapers (36 inches square) 4 shirts, 4 jackets, 2 blankets, 1 or 2 wool sweaters, 1 cap or bonnet, 3 bibs, 1 wash cloth and towel and safety pins.

This is a big project and the Scouts will welcome any contribution of these articles, material to make them, or money to buy material. Donors will be doing their part not only to alleviate suffering, but to help build international friendship and understanding.

If you wish to donate anything, call Mrs. Alex Tyo, phone 223. The Girl Scouts will be glad to call for your contribution.

Editors Discussed Mutual Problems

The Sanilac County newspaper editors entertained the Huron County men of the same profession and two from Tuscola County at their monthly meeting Friday evening in the East End Hotel in Minden City, with Wm. Engel of the Minden City Herald as host. The wives were also guests.

A sumptuous chicken and ham dinner was served by the hotel management after which the editors enjoyed a round-table discussion of mutual problems, directed by President Lloyd Buhl of the Deckerville Recorder.

Others present besides those mentioned above were Mrs. Engel, Mrs. Buhl, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Poole of the Brown City Banner, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner A. Black of the Crosswell Jeffersonian, Robert Neumann of the Marlette Leader, Mr. and Mrs. Clare J. Hewens and son, John, of the Huron County Tribune, Bad Axe, Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Mizener of the Harbor Beach Times, Theodore Hartman and son, Robert, of the Sebawaing Blade, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hunt of the Mayville Monitor and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lenzner of the Cass City Chronicle.

Citizens in Village and Rural Districts Both Voted Against Proposed Change

The proposition to consolidate the Cass City school district (Elkland No. 5) with seven rural districts—three in Elkland, two in Novesta and two in Grant Township—was defeated in a special election Tuesday. The vote was 35 "yes" and 41 "no" by citizens in the rural school districts, while in the village district, 49 were in favor of the proposition and 189 were opposed.

The vote was light. Out of a possible 780 ballots in Dist. 5, Elkland, only 238 took the trouble to vote. Seventy-six out of 405 eligible voters attended the election from the seven rural districts.

Sentiment which appeared to be quite favorable when consolidation of local districts was first proposed in February, 1947, has changed considerably of late, due possibly to the type of organization such as the rural agricultural school which project was considered at the election Tuesday. Voters in both rural and village districts apparently were not satisfied with the type of organization under consideration.

Rural school districts voting on the consolidation project included Nos. 2, 3 and 4, Elkland; Nos. 2 and 5, Novesta; and Nos. 4 and 6 Grant.

Purchase Agreement Program for Grain

A more simplified version of providing price support for the 1948 crops of wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn and grain sorghums has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Chas. E. Eckfeld, chairman of the Tuscola County AAA Committee.

Mr. Eckfeld said that a purchase agreement program has been authorized as a price support measure in addition to the government loan program previously announced.

"The purchase agreement program will provide the farmer with the same degree of price protection as the loan program but with much less bother and red tape and at less cost," he said.

LOUNSBURY-DEAN REUNION JULY 25

Eighty-two attended the annual Lounsbury-Dean reunion held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Livingston July 25. The group enjoyed a wiener roast and a hamburger fry at noon. After a close and exciting softball game ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Robert Joiner was elected to act as president for next year; Mrs. Clark Helwig as secretary; and E. O. Lounsbury as treasurer.

The 1949 reunion will be held on the last Sunday of July at the Alfred Goodall home.

Depleted Ore Mines Viewed as Arsenal

Deep Tunnels Are Safe From Bombs in Atomic War.

JOPLIN, MO.—With the lead and zinc ore reserves badly depleted by all-out production in World War II, this vast mining field in the corners of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma thinks in terms of becoming a huge, subterranean arsenal when hearing talk about an atomic war.

The district has miles and miles of man-made underground caverns suitable for munitions works and storage. This, coupled with the fact that the district is near the center of the United States, makes atomic warfare conversation perhaps less frightening than almost any place else in the country.

The idea that the district could be used for defense production and storage has been stimulated by recent visits of military procurement men who have talked with manufacturers and business men on this subject.

Tunnels—"drifts," the miners call them—large enough to accommodate whole munition works are available. Many are scientifically ventilated and electrically lighted.

Scores of mines, already 30 to 40 years old, worked at top speed on thin ore percentages during the recent war and under the stimulation of federal subsidies.

In July, 1947, the subsidies were withdrawn. Many of the big marginal mines closed. Others are preparing to close.

A problem of preserving the field for future subterranean development would be keeping the drifts from filling up with water should mine operations be suspended completely.

Excessive Use of Lime Exhausts Soil Fertility

Specialist Warns Other Plant Foods Required

Liming can exhaust rather than rebuild soil fertility, unless lime is accompanied by the return of other needed plant food elements to the soil, declares Dr. William A. Albrecht, University of Missouri. "Up to the present time in our land use," says Dr. Albrecht, "we have been putting limestone on our soils under the mistaken belief that its benefits rested only in reducing soil acidity. We have gone ahead with our campaign with the idea that lime is all that is needed, and that if a little is good, more will be better.

"This generous use of lime has helped produce more proteins in legume forage and other crops. But the added crop production has used up other plant food elements. Among these potash has been the most prominent.

"We have credited the lime and the neutralization of the soil with working wonders, but we have not realized that liming by itself was helping exhaust our soil fertility more rapidly," he points out. "It is essential," concludes Dr. Albrecht, "to remember that we need potash to make the carbohydrates in the growing plant before we can convert them into protein."

Sturdy Roots Required For Top Crop Output

No crop can do a better job producing than the roots that nourish it. To get strong, healthy, bushel-boosting growth above the ground, you have to have a sturdy root development below the surface. Roots need plenty of "living room" to stretch out for moisture, air and plant nutrients. They need that room not only in the plow layer, but also in the subsoil below.

It takes plenty of organic matter to keep a clay or loam soil roomy, well drained and ventilated. Part of that organic matter is burned up every year in producing crops. If it is not replaced, then your soil packs down. It becomes "stuffy" and hard to cultivate. It loses its sponginess, or porosity. Roots cannot grow readily, top growth suffers and lower crop yields result.

Several steps are necessary to get good catches of legumes. Liming, based on soil tests, is important. So is the application of fertilizer carrying phosphate and potash.

To round out a balanced soil management program and add to the organic matter supply, animal manure and crop residues should be returned to the soil.

Steel Farm Trailer

This two-wheeled farm trailer has an all-steel frame on which any type of body can be placed. Welded fabrication on the trailer frame eliminates bolts which work loose and cause rattles or breakdowns. The tongue in this trailer is attached in a way that avoids trouble in service. It was designed at Colorado A & M college.

Johnson Grass Control Termed Community Job

Johnson grass control is a community job because it requires the attention of everyone in the neighborhood, according to Purdue university. Watch for new bunches of Johnson grass that start in clean fields. Kill them by pulling or hoeing before deep roots are formed. The grass spreads both by seeds and root parts and is scattered by water, in hay, by cultivator or wind.

Save the Flakiness There's a trick to re-rolling or storing pastry that can mean the difference between flaky pastry and that which is not. Instead of wadding the pastry scraps up into a ball before storing or rolling, stack them neatly, piece on piece. In this way the flaky structure is preserved rather than destroyed.

Care of Goldfish When goldfish are sick be sure they are not overcrowded, overfed, given improper foods or that sick fish have been mixed with healthy ones. Perhaps the water needs changing or the aquarium needs more light. A pinch of salt, either epsom or table, will benefit all fish.

Helpless Giraffe How the giraffe survives in the jungle is a mystery, because he is awkward, shy and virtually helpless against powerful and swift predatory animals. His only protection derives from his dappled appearance, and an acute sense of hearing.

Tropical Caecilian Is Strange Animal

Little Known Creature Related To Salamander and Frog.

WASHINGTON.—There is an animal that is related to the salamander and the frog but looks like a gigantic earthworm and lives an earthworm's life and is so rarely seen that probably not one person in a million is aware of its existence. It is the caecilian, a very ancient creature forming the third branch of the order of amphibians, which were the first backboned creatures to come out of the seas and establish themselves on the land nearly 300 million years ago.

Numbering about 50 species, the caecilians inhabit most of tropical America, Africa and Asia. An excellent example of this strange creature, together with a large number of frogs, has been received at Smithsonian Institution from Dr. Paulo Sawaya of University of Sao Paulo, Brazil. Dr. Sawaya, now in England, expects to return here for a systematic study of the specimens. The present specimen is about a foot long. Some are known from Peru nearly a yard long. It might be mistaken either for a titanic earthworm or a snake, but its general appearance is more comparable with the former. In its physical structure are combined characters of both salamanders and frogs.

These creatures spend all their lives burrowing in the soil. They live chiefly on earthworms and come to the surface only very briefly after heavy rains. They usually are seen only by farmers plowing the fields, or in the course of ditching operations. Since they are so easily mistaken for snakes, they are avoided, although so far as known they are entirely harmless. Although they have sharp teeth, they make no effort to bite when handled.

Most of the caecilians are egg-laying creatures, the large eggs being attached to one another like beads in a string and wound up in a ball which is incubated by the mother who coils herself around it. The burrows where the eggs are laid are always on a stream bank since the young, like all amphibians, must pass part of their developmental stage in the water.

Despite the fact that they are reported so seldom, the caecilians are probably fairly abundant animals. Owing to their subterranean life they are nearly, perhaps in some cases completely, blind.

Strange Japanese Custom
 The Japanese have an unusual custom — getting friends to autograph favorite hymns. Each book becomes a veritable collection of autographs — pastors, teachers, visiting speakers, relatives and friends. Thus, when a Japanese opens his hymn book there is added significance and reverence as he is reminded of a beloved friend whose name is written across the hymn he is singing. The book becomes a symbol of deep fellowship as well as presenting an interesting array of signatures.

Sodium Fluoride
 One of the most harmful parasites of pigs is the round worm. Sodium fluoride is one of the best drugs that can be used against it. Sodium fluoride is poisonous. Containers should be conspicuously labeled and stored out of reach of children, household pets, and persons not familiar with its poisonous nature.

"Cover the Canary"
 Canaries should not be disturbed at night. After sunset it is advisable to remove the bird from a lighted room or to put a cover over the cage. An illuminated room keeps a bird awake longer than necessary, and causes loss of energy.

Remedy for Malaria
Malaria is caused by the anopheles mosquito. The Allies discovered a secret German chemical during the North African campaign effective against malaria. It is called "Aralen," and unlike atabrine (widely used in the war) it does not yellow the skin, and yet it controls malarial attacks more quickly than either atabrine or quinine. A year's supply of Aralen for one person would cost about $3.

Meat Substitutes
Milk and eggs supply amino acids in even better amounts than does muscle meat, take less grain to produce, and contain certain food values not contributed by meat. Heart, muscle and other glandular or so-called variety cuts of meat also are superior to muscle meat in amino acids and often are available for less money.

SHORT STORY

Always A Payoff

By KATHRYN BEMIS

HENRY HALL came breezing into his suburban bungalow. No Mandy in the kitchen, no wife Grace in sight. "Grace will warm up something and call it dinner!" he sputtered. "Why does she play bridge on Mandy's day off?" But after living ten years with a bald-headed, flat-chested little scrimp of a man like himself, a modest-salaried manager of a women's apparel shop, he couldn't blame Grace for craving entertainment.

He switched on a lamp in the living room and settled into his chair by the radio. His gaze lighted on his encyclopedia.

He took out the first volume his hand touched. Perhaps a little Shakespeare would brighten his talk. He started as something flew out from a leaf, zigzagged to the rug.

A ten dollar bill! He snatched it up, stuffed it into his billfold. Grace, hiding her money in books! He yanked out another masterpiece, shook it. Two more tens fluttered before Henry's eyes.

Within a few minutes, he had shaken down $200 instead of meagre knowledge, from the awe-inspiring tomes.

BUT from that night on, Henry was worried. The allowance he gave Grace was small. She must have scrimped on household expenses a long time to save that money. What sinister project was she planning?

So he was greatly relieved one evening when she met him at the door and quavered, "Oh, Henry, I've been robbed!"

Henry managed to look concerned. He asked, "Robbed? What's gone?" "Two hundred dollars I saved from the house-money! I hid it in the encyclopedia! I've slaved—done without Mandy days on end—saved what I would have paid her—"

Her bitter disappointment overcame his desire to punish her. He jumped up, saying, "Wait! Just a minute!"

He raced upstairs to his clothes closet. He reached into its dark confines for his old brown coat. The brown suit had unaccountably disappeared!

"Where in the dickens is my old brown suit?" he called downstairs.

"That moth catcher? I warned you I'd give that rag away or burn it up! But I did even better. The old clothes man gave me 50 cents for it!"

FROM now on, Henry was a changed man. Finding that old brown suit had become his obsession. Then one morning when giving instructions to one of his saleswomen, he abruptly wheeled about, dashed out to the street. He grabbed a passing man by the collar of his shabby brown coat, demanding, "Where'd you get that suit?"

The voice of the stranger shook with fear of the madman he judged Henry Hall to be. "Griss and Griscom made it for me—five years ago," he said conciliatingly.

"Ha!" jeered Henry, not relaxing his hold. "Griss and Griscom made that suit for me—the label's inside! Smart, aren't you?"

"Where the dickens is my old suit?" he called downstairs.

"What's coming off here?" snapped a policeman, thrusting Henry aside.

"This man's wearing my suit—he's got the money—he's—"

After the matter had been talked out before the police sergeant and Henry was convinced that the stranger had once been affluent enough to buy custom-made suits and now was clothed in one of them, he returned to the shop, a chastened man.

Mandy's black face wore a broad grin that night when she placed the best roast before Henry. She said, "Mr. Hall—you know what? My boy Iren' looks swell in your old brown suit he bought off'en that ol' cios' man. He's sure generous, too."

"What's that?" asked the suddenly alert Henry.

"You see, we's fixin' to git married, Mr. Hall. Not havin' steady work, I ain't saved much, but that man's makin' me up for it! He's already bought me a white 'lectric 'frigerator—big as two like you'll's got!"

"And what kind of courses are offered at this bit of paradise?" you ask.

Commander Harry W. Lawson, director, places emphasis upon vocational training—the teaching of useful trades. These include business education, home appliance repair, machine and architectural drafting, machine shop, printing, radio and typewriter repair, and watch and clock repair.

Modern tools are provided for class instruction. The printing department, in which we were personally interested, has a modern typesetting machine and a full line of printing equipment. Kenneth Ross, printing instructor, served in the Canadian Air Force.

We became interested in the story of "Ike" Permelia, a Negro double amputee.

"Ike" served in the Signal Corps for five years. While on combat duty in Germany he lost both hands. Percy Jones general hospital equipped him with mechanical fingers, and "Ike" became a student at Pine Lake in February.

One of three Negro veterans out of nearly 180 at Pine Lake, "Ike" is popular with his fellows. He never asks for sympathy, never whimpers. Although he gets $200 a month for life because of his disability, "Ike" wants to live a useful life and do his part. He has plenty of guts.

We admire his courage and his cheerful outlook. He is a real American.

Travel Notes: A "must" in our trailer kitchen pantry is a Charlevoix discovery, smoked lake fish canned by George LaBlance, Jr. George distributed samples at the newspaper editors' outing June 25-27. We promptly ordered a case. The product is lake mullet, or sucker to old-timers. The smoked flavor is similar to tuna or salmon.

As you drive north on US-31, leaving Beulah, is a new industry featuring delicious frozen pies—cherry and apple. "Pet-Ritz," on Orchard Hill, is the result of a Beulah cherry pie recipe developed by the mother of Althea Kraker, until recently a co-ed at Michigan State College. Althea earned vacation money selling cherry pies to Beulah tourists. The pies inspired her husband, Petritz, to go into business. Frozen pies, by the truckload, are now delivered to frozen-food dealers and they are really something "out of this world!"

Scenes we witnessed on two succeeding Saturday nights:

Castle Park, exclusive summer colony on Lake Michigan at Holland. A marvelous resort for parents with children and with money. Meals at ivy-green Castle Inn. Trained supervisors for youngsters at beach. Horse-back riding, tennis, golf. Dancing on cement circle high above lake. Sons and mothers, daughters and fathers, all join in "grand march." Everyone is happy. Lighthouse Park, summer trailer colony on Lake Huron at Port Huron. A miniature "city" run by "Barney" Cook, Canadian-born.

"Ike" Permelia, of Battle Creek, a World War II veteran who lost both hands in combat, is learning how to operate a typesetting machine at the Michigan Veterans Vocational School, north of Kalamazoo at Pine Lake. "Ike" wants to be a printer and earn good steady wages. The printing department with training facilities for 20 students is sponsored by the Michigan Press Association, Inc.

Irishman. Flowers, lawn. Trailer fee, $4.50 week, netted profit in 1947. Pavilion for dancing. Everyone is happy.
It's a good world, and don't forget it.

Sleeping Sickness in Congo
In the Belgian Congo the sleeping sickness toll has declined gradually in recent years. In 1946 there were 43,000 old and new cases, compared with 47,000 the previous year.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Twenty-five Years Ago
August 3, 1923.

Wednesday, August 15, is planned as a big day for children at the Cass City Fair when all under 12 years will be admitted free.

About 80 Masons attended the service at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and enjoyed a sermon of special interest to members of the fraternity, delivered by the pastor, Rev. Wm. W. Edwards.

Henry L. Knight expects to leave next week to attend a reunion of his Civil War comrades of Company M, 2nd Ohio Heavy Artillery which will be held at Painesville, Ohio, on August 11.

Translated into food, at the prices the farmer gets, it takes 63½ dozen, or 672, eggs to pay a plasterer for one day of eight hours work in New York City. It takes 17½ bushels of corn, or a year's receipts from half an acre to pay a bricklayer one day.

Rev. W. W. Edwards preached his farewell sermon to the community at a union meeting at the Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, previous to his departure for Lansing where he has accepted a call as pastor of the Mt. Hope Presbyterian Church.

Thirty-five Years Ago
August 1, 1913

K. I. Sawyer, a deputy from the state highway department, was in Cass City the latter part of last week and accepted the state reward roads that have been built in Elkland and Novesta Townships. Each township has had a mile under construction this year. According to the figures of J. J. Gallagher, highway commissioner, who supervised the Elkland Township road, the mile constructed here cost local taxpayers $200 less than the contractor's price of $1,974 for the job.

Street Commissioner Hutchinson and his crew of workmen are engaged in putting a cement floor in the implement warehouse of J. A. Caldwell. The warehouse is 45 by 53 feet and the work will be completed in about three days.

Harry Striffler of Argyle visited in Cass City last Thursday, and Friday morning left for Chicago where he entered the employ of the Woman's World until the opening of the University of Michigan this fall when he will continue his course. Mr. Striffler has charge of the World's circulation in Michigan and will superintend a crew of six experienced canvassers.

The following are participants in the program of the benefit entertainment which will be given at the Presbyterian Church this evening: Miss Feather, organist; Miss Gregory, pianist; F. A. Russo, violinist; Miss Fee, reader; Mesdames Wickware, Schenck and Pinney and Misses Feather, Schenck and Cochrell, vocalists; Geo. Sutton, baritone.

African Hunter Tells Tribulations In Hunting Baboons

Youthful Zoologist Will Collect A Series of Skeletons of Small Animals

TAUNGS, SOUTH AFRICA.—A leader of the University of California expedition seeking a series of baboon skulls here told of the many tribulations encountered in hunting the wary animals.

Thomas W. Larson, who heads the zoological program, said: "The baboons are extremely wild and I usually have to shoot them from 500 to 1,000 yards, which is quite difficult, since they jump around like jacks-in-the-box."

The youthful zoologist's objectives are to collect a series of skeletons of small animals for use by the paleontologists and a mounted series for the university's museum of vertebrate zoology.

Larson now has specimens of 52 species of mammals and scores of reptiles of various types, in addition to an assortment of frogs, poisonous snakes and other forms, which he has preserved in alcohol. One of his assignments was to prepare and ship the skeleton of an elephant.

Larson reported that he had collected skulls of two rare aard wolves, insect-eating hynas whose teeth have been reduced to tiny nubs, near Omataka Flat. He was planning a week's trip with a professional hunter in search of equally rare aard varks.

The aard vark is a mammal with a pig-like snout, erect ears and strong claws, which it uses to dig into termite hills for food. It leaves its burrow only at night and is seldom seen. The aard vark uses its long, sticky tongue to trap the termites, its teeth, through years of disuse, having been reduced to pegs.

Larson will also seek to add ratsels, meerkats and long-eared foxes to his collection.

Stuck With Her Story
A famous European king greatly admired a beautiful court lady. One day he asked her age. She replied: "Your majesty, I am 25."
Five years later he again put the same question to her. She again replied: "Your majesty, I am 25."
"See here," said the king, "you told me that five years ago."
"Certainly," she said. "I am not one of those ladies who say one thing one day and another the next."

New Effect
As the two men left the movie, one was visibly more impressed with what they had just seen than the other.
"It's really wonderful," said the first, "what great progress the films have made within a few years, don't you think?"
"It certainly is," said the second, "first they moved, then they talked and now this one smells."

DID IT IN A HURRY

"How many fish you got, mister?"
"None, yet; but I've only been fishing an hour."
"Say, you're doing all right. There was a feller fished here for two weeks and he didn't catch any more than you got in an hour."

Would Be a Sensation!
Ignatz—Would you be interested in a dog that plays the banjo and does card tricks?
Producer—I certainly would. Do you know one?
Ignatz—No, but I'll keep my eyes open.

Cheap Labor
"Whatever made your husband take up scouting long enough to become a scoutmaster, Mrs. Ruggs?"
"Well, Mrs. Tuggs, you know we have a lot of lawn to be mowed in the summer and miles of sidewalk to shovel in the winter."

Minutes of Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of School District No. 5 was called to order by Lester Ross, in the absence of the president, C. U. Brown.

The first consideration was the election of two trustees for a period of three years.

George Dillman and Bernard Ross were appointed tellers and sworn in by Frederick Pinney.

Mrs. Starmann announced that she was not a candidate for reelection. Mrs. H. T. Donahue was nominated to fill that vacancy. It was moved by Edward Baker and seconded by Otto Prieskorn that the nominations be closed, the rules suspended and an unanimous ballot cast for Mrs. Donahue. The motion was carried and Mrs. Donahue was declared elected.

Frederick Pinney and Robert Keppen were nominated to fill the vacancy left by Ernest Schwaderer. Mr. Schwaderer had previously announced that he was not a candidate for reelection. Mr. Pinney withdrew his name.

It was moved by Alex Tyo and seconded by Bernard Ross that the nominations be closed and the secretary instructed to cast an unanimous ballot for Mr. Keppen. Motion was carried. Mr. Keppen was declared elected.

It was moved by Helen Baker and seconded by Clarence Burt that we authorize the school to transport children of this district who live a mile or more from school. This action is necessary in order to be reimbursed for this transportation by the state.

Moved by Ernest Schwaderer and seconded by Harold Perry that the report be accepted and placed on file.

Moved by Clarence Burt and seconded by Frederick Pinney that meeting adjourn. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned.

Editor Learns Ruining a Good Edition Is As Simple As Pi

DEERFIELD, WIS.—The complexities and problems of publishing a newspaper are many but Harlan Everson, editor of the Deerfield Independent, reached the climax of his woes with a bang.

This notice appeared on his barren page one:

"There have been times in the past when our patience has been sorely tried but nothing like this. After making up the front page with much care, we had difficulty with the press and this page was completely SMASHED. Some days you just can't lay up a dime. All the news will appear next week, or we will blow up the printing office—period."

Side-Winder Phones On Farms Bow To Modern Instruments

NEW YORK.—America's rural residents are putting in telephones at a record rate. If the trend continues, farm homes with telephones soon will outnumber those without.

In 1940, one rural home in four had a telephone. By 1945 nearly one in three had a telephone despite wartime curtailment of expansion. Now it's estimated the ratio has risen to better than four in 10—or 42 per cent, to be exact.

Along with the increase in numbers of rural telephones, farm customers have been asking—and getting—improved types of service.

The old wall telephones with a crank on the side is fast giving way to newer equipment with which the customer picks up the receiver and either asks the operator for a number, or dials it himself.

Most of the new farm customers are being served via the conventional telephone wires strung on poles. But there are some tricky installations, like using radio to serve eight widely separated ranch families at Cheyenne Wells, Colo. Four of the ranches are connected to the central office by short wave radio. Four others are connected by wire with one of the ranches having radio telephone equipment.

Navy Strives To Develop Atomic Engine For Sub

WASHINGTON.—An atomic engine which would propel a submarine underwater at 30 knots for a year without refueling is the goal of the navy's nuclear power engineers.

Navy officials said the development of an efficient atomic engine for a ship may require a minimum of 5 years and probably 10 or 15 years of intensive work.

The engine is still on the drawing boards, and it may be several years before an experimental model will be attempted, they said.

White Lamp Shades Best
Dark lamp shades absorb light. The same bulb will give 50 per cent more light with a white or ivory shade.

Removing Gravy Stains
Never use hot water on gravy stains. Launder in warm, soapy water.

First Horses
The colt, or dawn horse, was about the size of a red fox, scientists tell us, and had a horse-like mane and tail. His front feet had four toes and his hind feet had three. By the time the Ice Age had arrived his descendants had spread all over the world, and he lived on all the continents except Australia.

Europe Heavily Populated
Europe is populous, holding four times America's 140 million in an area only one-fourth larger.

California Gold Rush
The first big rush for gold gave California in 1848, the year of the gold rush, a predominantly masculine population of 250,000 or more.

Westminster hall was built in 1097. The trial of Charles I, later beheaded, was held there. So was the trial of Guy Fawkes, who in 1605 planted gunpowder in the cellar to blow up Parliament. His unsuccessful exploit long has been commemorated by a traditional search of the cellars before each parliamentary session.

Joe and Bebe Siegrist, brilliant aerialists, who will be featured in the grandstand show at the Caro Fair, starting Aug. 25 and continuing through Aug. 28, are virtual skyscrapers.

They perform on a tiny, skeleton-like platform, held aloft by a spindly ladder, some 100 feet high. And, to top it off, a flagpole is mounted upon the small aerial platform, and from this flagpole the Siegrists also present some of their sensational thrillers. Their performance is replete with difficult feats, which are accented and given peril by the height at which they are presented. Perhaps the most outstanding of their offerings is a backward double somersault through open space from one tiny perch to another, placed at the extreme ends of a fragile looking 100-foot high platform.

Concentration Is Essential Writes A. Blake Gillies

A. Blake Gillies, superintendent of the Detroit House of Correction at Plymouth, Mich., writes in the De-Ho-Co. News, a publication of that institution, as follows:

"Recently I was extended the courtesy of observing a surgeon perform a major operation. A slight slip of his hand would have meant paralysis or death for the patient. What impressed me about him was not his skill but his amazing calmness. I knew that only a few moments before the operation he was nervous. But once he stood at the operating table, he worked with a machine-like precision that dumbfounded me."

"Today, more than ever, concentration is essential to the full enjoyment of pleasures and to effective work. This is an age of distraction, with interruptions by friends, by noise, by scares and by our flightiness. Increasing work must be done under conditions which are inhospitable to concentration, yet on concentration depends, more and more a man's success in our specialized world. It is vital not only in work but also in the enrichment of the inner life: fascinating possibilities for mental enjoyment can be turned into a meaningless jumble of entertainments unless we have the power to single out and enjoy to the utmost one pursuit at a time."

"Of course the secret of this ability to rise above the distractions of life lies in having an intense interest in it. Such interest creates attention as a tree bears fruit and you find yourself concentrating without effort."

Factors That Cause Dairy Animals To Lose Weight

Watch your dairy cows for a loss of body weight during summer months as a warning given dairymen today by Norris W. Wilber, county agricultural agent for Tuscola County.

There are several factors which may cause dairy animals to lose weight, but the main one is a lack of feed. Too often pastures become inadequate to carry the number of animals being grazed, the agent warns.

Other factors causing the loss of body weight in dairy cows include high temperatures, high humidity, lack of water supply, flies and irregular milking due to press of farm work.

Cows should be milked as near to 12 hours apart as possible. But County Agent Wilber believes the span from morning to night often runs near 14 hours and from night to morning 10 hours during heavy farming months.

Cows that lose body weight in the summer often drop in milk production. They will go into the winter months in poor condition and then it will take lots of silage, hay and expensive feed to bring them back to top shape, the agent reminds.

cost because there will be no interest attached to the purchase agreement program," the chairman said. It was explained that the purchase agreement program simply provides a legal agreement on the part of the Commodity Credit Corporation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that it will accept delivery of a specified amount of grain from the farmer who signs the agreement papers at a price equal to the loan rate in the county if the farmer chooses to deliver the grain to CCC.

The loan rate for wheat in Tuscola County is $2.07 per bushel U. S. No. 1.

The agreement specifies, however, that CCC will not accept delivery of grain until after the maturity date of the loan program, which is April 30, 1949, and then that delivery will be accepted only during the 30-day period following April 30, 1949.

In the agreement, the farmer must specify the maximum number of bushels he wishes included in the agreement. If the farmer chooses to deliver his grain to the CCC at the expiration of the agreement, the CCC will accept any amount up to the maximum specified by the farmer.

Under the purchase agreement program, the farmer may store his grain in commercial or farm storage facilities of his own choice and the grain need not be inspected nor sealed by the County AAA Committee as is the case in the loan program.

The farmer need not deliver his grain to the CCC under the purchase agreement program. If the market price goes up before the purchase agreement runs out, the farmer may sell his grain on the market without obtaining a release from his purchase agreement and thereby take advantage of the price increase. If the market goes down below the level of the loan rate, the farmer may hold his grain for delivery to CCC at the loan rate, thereby taking advantage of the protection offered against a falling market.

The farmer signing a purchase agreement must pay a service fee of 1/2 cent per bushel for each bushel stated in the purchase agreement, or $1.50, whichever is greater. Under the loan program, the service fee for farm-stored grain is 1 cent per bushel for each bushel under loan, or $3.00, whichever is greater. For warehouse stored grain under loan, the fee is the same as under the purchase agreement program. However, there is no interest charge connected with the purchase agreement program whereas under the loan program, the farmer who stores his grain under loan must pay a 3 percent interest charge in addition to the service fee.

Purchase agreements can be executed at the County AAA Office anytime between harvest and December 31, 1948.

legal right of Civil Service to set salaries of state employees, complaining that it nullified representative government frequently, and upset budget plans by instituting changes after the budget had been set for the fiscal year.

All discussion groups decried the apathy of the voter as contributing to inefficient government and the election of unqualified officials. Means suggested for facilitating intelligent voting included shortening "bedsheet" ballots, improved presentation of information through press, radio and schools, and empowering key figures with authority commensurate with their responsibility in the eyes of the voters.

John C. Jacoby, attorney for the Wayne County Road Commission, defended the frequently attacked township as being a unit close to the voter. He advocated continued representation by geographic area as well as by population, adding that the form of government which best activates public interest is the best form.

Rural control of both bodies of the legislature was held as an obstacle to representative government, by a panel headed by State Senator G. Edward Bonine. His panel, including State Representative Homer L. Bauer, urged reapportionment, with the Senate to represent geographic area and the House population. They agreed with previous and subsequent panels that higher salaries would contribute to more equitable representation in government by all economic groups.

Gordon Walker, secretary of the Wayne County Republican committee, voiced an extracurricular endorsement of the Sigler action at the Republican national convention, during a discussion of political parties. He said the Michigan delegation's action was democratic because they loyally backed the candidate to which the state committed them. His statement was seconded by Charles M. Ziegler, State Highway Commissioner, who said, "When the truth is known, I think it will prove that Dewey was very proud of the Michigan delegation's action."

Questions from the Workshop class took up an hour of each daily session, with teachers bringing their local problems as specific examples of the general subject discussed by the panel members.

Frozen Precooked Foods

A recent development is the freezing of precooked foods. To serve these foods it is necessary only to heat them in a controlled oven for a predetermined length of time. Some processors put complete meals on disposable plates so that the meal can be prepared by simply heating the prepared plate.

Frozen precooked foods have been most widely accepted by railroads, air lines, and steamship lines. Many apartment-house dwellers, with none too adequate kitchen facilities and little time to use those that they have, find such foods convenient.

Trackless Trolley

An experimental electrical trackless trolley line, 3000 feet long, was tried out in Paris in 1900. In the 1880's a German industrial firm brought out a "trolley wire bus." It was an open wagon which drew power from a cable that ran along an overhead wire. The electric trackless trolley of today is said to be a direct descendant of this ancient vehicle.

Famous Irish Castle

Near Limerick, Ireland, is the famed Cratloe castle, once the headquarters of Brian Boru, the warrior king who united Ireland in the 11th century, during his battles with the Danes. The castle is in complete ruins today, and serves only as a striking background for a peaceful rural scene.

Farm Topics

Fly Immunity to DDT Is Debatable Question

Some Insects Develop Strain of Resistance

Do flies become immune or resistant to DDT after it has been used for a few years?

This question arises from the fact that a few fly-control failures on farms where DDT was effective in other years have been hard to account for. The explanation was that the flies probably had become resistant to the chemical.

Uncle Sam's entomologists admit that insects can develop resistance to the insecticides used against them, as in the case of the apple codling moth against which lead arsenate lost its effectiveness. Moreover, Uncle Sam's bug men say they have, in the laboratory, been able to develop a DDT-resistant strain of flies. It is not likely that a DDT-resistant strain would develop naturally in the short time since DDT was first used.

It is more reasonable to believe that the occasional failure on farms where DDT already has been used with good results is due to carelessness or inferior product.

One thing in particular that should accompany the use of DDT is the destruction or removal of fly breeding places, such as manure piles, weed piles, old stack bottoms and wet spots in barnyards. One or more such spots may be able to turn out flies faster than DDT can kill them, for DDT is not noted for fast action. A fly may survive for hours after alighting on a surface coated with DDT.

Herds and Flocks

New insecticide, pyrene, has proved its effectiveness in control of flies on livestock. Better than some of the old-time fly killing insecticides, the new material is being used now in some livestock fly sprays.

Use of protein supplements in rations for shotes always has been profitable. Some farmers have failed to use these supplements, though, because of their cost. Now that grain is so high, the cost of protein supplements is relatively low. So, if the use of supplements is more important one time than another, now is that time.

It looks now like the farmer who has a flock of good pullets in the laying house next fall will get good prices for eggs. The better care you take of pullets now, the better they will be able to stand up under the strain of heavy laying next fall.

Benzene hexachloride, recommended by swine specialists at agricultural colleges for control of hog lice and mange, now is being incorporated in hog oils that can be used in dipping vats, hog wallows, hog oilers or on rubbing posts.

Reviving Grindstone

This farm grindstone, although badly battered about its entire diameter and worn quite flat in one place, was easily trued-up by dressing it with the sharp-pointed tool shown attached to the small board. The dark "cutting tip" of the tool is made of carbonyl cemented carbide, the hardest metal made by man.

Tests Show Tung Meal Poisonous to Chickens

Tung meal proved unsatisfactory as a source of protein in chick rations in tests conducted at the Florida agricultural experiment station. The tung meal proved poisonous, whether raw, heated or heated and sifted. It caused heavy mortality at 10 and 15 per cent levels. At 5 per cent and higher levels the tung meal interfered with feed utilization and growth.

Cotton Insect Damage

Cotton insects destroyed 15.1 per cent of the 1948 crop, according to a report of the bureau of agricultural economics. In addition to lint, this meant 613,000 tons of cotton seed which would have produced 200 million pounds of margarine, 276,000 tons of high protein meal, and 152,000 tons of cottonseed hulls. Meal loss to insects would have provided sufficient protein for 178 million pounds of beef or 690 million gallons of milk.

Birthplace of Bobby Burns

One of the most popular attractions in Scotland is a thatched cottage on the outskirts of Ayr in Alloway, birthplace of Robert Burns, the famous Scot poet.

Where They Originated

Brussels sprouts, cabbage, broccoli and celery originated in the Scandinavian countries, pineapples in Brazil and the white potato in Argentina.
