Things Are Rough in Peru
While the U. S. price index rose 3.9 per cent last year, living costs in Peru soared as high as the Andes—increasing 46.1 per cent. Between August, 1939, and December, 1947, living costs rose 69 per cent in the U. S. compared to 207 per cent in Peru, according to the Municipal Finance officers association. Among 11 nations for which comparable statistics are available, Canadian living costs have increased the least since before the war. Though the Canadian price index rose 14.9 per cent in 1947, it is only 45 per cent above the 1939 level of that country.

ROCKY FELL, alias Pheian, alias Finn, turned the green coupe in at the sign that said "Meals—Over night Cabins—Home Cooking." This out-of-the-way tourist camp, deep in Canada's New Brunswick, looked like a natural for Rocky, wanted in a dozen states, with $5,000 for the one who turned him in. Fat chance! They probably were still looking for a blue sedan with Illinois plates.

3-Minute Fiction

The man, his face gray-green, drove down a narrow track and at the end was an abandoned quarry with lots of water. Rocky grove the coupe back alone. He had the money and passport. He was Phillip Sumpter. It was easy for Rocky to forget him and a dozen like him. He was looking forward to some home-cooking and a soft bed. He turned the corner of the drive and saw a white house with many gables—Robin's Nest. Sure looked comfy. Cabins here and there among the willows.

"Ob-oh!" A scarlet tunic was talking to an old lady in blue gingham on the steps. Rocky felt the gun under his armpit. Nothing to worry about.

When Rocky stopped the car, the old lady came briskly down. The Mountie went into the house. "Good day, sir. Welcome. I'm the proprietress—one of them. Miss Abby Stubbs. My sister Rachel and I run Robin's Rest. You'd like dinner, a cabin—"

"Sure," grinned Rocky. "Sure Miss Abby—I want the works. Chicken and hot biscuits and coffee—"

"Very good sir. Here's the key of No. 4, the cabin by the pond. Dinner will be ready when you are, Mr.—"

"We're so glad to have you, Mr. Sumter. You have no idea." Miss Abby actually dimpled.

"Well," said Rocky. Just the same, after he had washed up he did not go directly to the front but strolled around to the rear.

"I SAW him first." Dear, Sweet old Miss Abby's voice. "I spoke to him first. It's the money car—it's the one that pays."

"Abby Stubbs! I noticed first I swear I did. You never even got him to register. That's what you were supposed to do—"

"You're trying to cheat me. I know you, Rachel."

"We'll call it a tie. We'll split the money—" Harpies—both of them! Rocky straightened up.

"I have the proof," crowed Miss Abby. "I was talking to Corporal Renault. He stopped for dinner. I told him, and he's waiting and when Mr. Sumter comes in—Well, I'm not going to wait; I'm going to get the corporal now."

That was why Rocky pulled the gun on Corporal Renault when they met at the corner of the house. "Not so easy, copper," Rocky snarled, and stared at the two trembling old sisters behind the Mountie's broad back. "Those old dames can fight some more over the $5,000 prize. I'm not caught yet. Damn you—"

That Mountie was a funny cop. He didn't look boyish any more, though he still was smiling. And he didn't back up. He kept right on coming. The gun roared but its muzzle was knocked up and a fist caught Rocky in the middle. He was still on the lawn when he came to and there was a familiar feel about his wrists. Bracelets.

"Well, it's a pinch, I guess," said Rocky. "I—anyway, those old witches will have to split the dough with you, copper."

Miss Abby and Miss Rachel," said the Mountie, "had a little pool. They put a dollar in it for every car with a different state license-plate. They were up to 47 when you came in with Arizona. Arizona was Bingo That's how Miss Abby came to be claiming the money—$48. It seems there's a bit more coming."

JERRY McSAFETY RETURNS TO GIVE TRAFFIC TALKS TO CHILDREN

Your Friend, Jerry McSafety

Once again popular Jerry McSafety is back in town with his master, Wayne Fernelius, to entertain and instruct the children of Cass City School. The little policeman-ventriloquist is presented by Tindale Ford Sales.

Jerry McSafety's illustrated lectures are practically a command performance with youngsters. He demonstrates with songs, stories and fascinating charts the practical, common-sense safety rules for children of every age . . . and leaves a lasting impression in the minds of his youthful audiences.

Jerry McSafety and Wayne Fernelius have appeared at schools, lodges, churches and many other groups to dramatize the need for careful observance of approved safety rules.

Fernelius and his wooden but quick-witted brain child, complete with regulation police uniform, will arrive at Cass City Public School at 9 a. m. Thursday, September 30.

OF HARVESTING SUGAR BEETS

WITH THE NEW McCORMICK-DEERING HM-1 BEET HARVESTER

Now it's easy to harvest beets in less time—and at the right time—with a McCormick-Deering HM-1 Beet Harvester for your Farmall H, M or MD Tractor. This machine harvests 5 to 6 tons of beets an hour. And you don't have to worry about weather or field conditions—you can harvest your beets no matter whether it's hot, cold, wet or dry.

In one continuous operation, this beet harvester tops, lifts, cleans and loads the beets into a special cart pulled behind the tractor. The cart is equipped to elevate the beets into a truck or wagon at the end of the field. This eliminates handling and it's not necessary to drive the truck across the beet field.

Come in today. Let us show you how the new McCormick-Deering Sugar Beet Harvester will do a sweet, efficient job of saving you time and money.

Spraying in Summer Will Not Halt Grubs

Destroying Eggs Fails To Stop Winter Attack

Spraying cattle in summer with benzene hexachloride, rotenone or other insecticides, new or old, does not prevent grub infestation in winter.

Although there is nothing new in that statement, the need for repeating it is plainly indicated by an account of spraying dairy cattle in one of the corn belt states. The work was given considerable publicity, with erroneous conclusions.

In this case, older animals of the herd were sprayed with DDT. Heifers and calves were not sprayed because they were running in pasture. Spraying them would have required getting them up and handling them.

Dipping method is favored by some cattlemen to control grubs and other infestations.

The following winter, it was noticeable that the cows which had been sprayed were not infested with grubs. The young stuff was peppered with them. The natural conclusion was that a summer spray of DDT was effective.

That conclusion is unwarranted because, as entomologists know, older cattle seldom if ever have grubs of the heel fly. The young animals are the ones that suffer.

The department of agriculture says: "Many substances have been applied to cattle to keep away heel flies and to kill the eggs deposited on the legs of the animals. All have been found to be either ineffective or impractical. The best time for attacking the pest is when the grubs are in the backs of cattle."

Soil Inventory Termed Good Management Basis

Keep an inventory of the soil's fertility, the same as of buildings, livestock and equipment, advises Middle West Soil Improvement committee.

Nearly any farmer knows how many dairy cows, beef cattle, hogs and sheep he has. He also keeps a record of his seed, feed, buildings, machinery and fences.

Few farmers, however, have an inventory of their principal asset—the soil. Yet a farmer's earning power depends largely on whether his soil's fertility level is high or low.

On thousands of farms a soil fertility inventory would show serious shortages. Overcropping has used up nitrogen, phosphate and potash. The organic matter supply is scraping the bottom of the barrel. Soil structure has been damaged. Drainage is poor and air circulation is shut off. Crop output is low.

Restocking the "shelves" of the soil warehouse involves several essential steps. Plant food is important. But other things also are needed, particularly organic matter and good soil structure.

The soil inventory can be improved faster and at lower cost if "leaks" are halted by conservation measures that will slow down runoff and save topsoil and plant foods. Among such measures are contour cultivation, strip cropping and terracing where needed.

Soil Fumigation Needed In Sugar Beet Culture

Joint tests in Utah by sugar interests and USDA "showed that soil fumigation for beets which follow beets made the difference between big yields and no yield at all." The sugar beet nematode builds up so fast in one growing season where fertile soil has grown a big crop of beets that the field is a death-bed for sugar beets the next year without soil fumigation, it was indicated in the tests.

commission with requests for rate increases. As a result, our workload has tripled in 12 months.

"Utilities have a monopoly by state franchise and hence are not self-regulated by competition, as is the case of private business. Because of this fact, they are permitted to earn only enough to pay a reasonable return to investors. They cannot set aside profits to meet the cost of needed improvements and expansion of their plants as private industry does. Utilities are regulated by the legislature, and the commission acts as a court. It's our job to look after the public's interest—good service at fair rates."

The Public Service Commission has jurisdiction over five general classes of utilities: Electric power, telephone, gas distribution, railroad and motor transportation, such as buses and trucks.

What the commission does is highly important to the people of Michigan. These utilities touch the lives and reach into the pocket-books of every citizen. Invested capital of Michigan utilities amounts to more than $2,000,000,000. The people pay more than $600,000,000 each year in fees—just about twice what the State of Michigan collects in all forms of taxes.

Nineteen major utility companies filed applications in 1948 for rate adjustments, as inflation kicked up their cost of operation. Collectively, these utilities asked a total of $40,000,000 additional income.

In addition to the high cost of doing business, utilities are forced by long-established policy to expand their service whenever the public demands more service. Private industry would put off expansion, if prices were out of line. Utilities can't delay installation of telephones, laying of gas mains, generating plants, and so on.

Michigan Bell, for example, is now expanding its telephone service to the tune of $120,000,000. Consumers and Detroit Edison are borrowing $100,000,000 each. Detroit Edison stockholders number 44,000 persons—all of whom have risked money for investment. This profit incentive makes America tick.

"The financial impact of an interruption in the service of a single utility," related Chairman White, "is well illustrated in the 17-day curtailment of natural gas to a number of Detroit industries in January, 1948.

"Approximately 100,000 workmen lost $8,700,000 in wages. Unemployment compensation payments totaled $1,356,880, while the state spent $150,000 for additional administrative help to process the applications. It is estimated that the grand total was around $10,800,000—all because one utility was unable to provide full service to all of its customers for only 17 days.

"Members of the commission sense an obligation, as representatives of the people, to do everything possible to assure adequate service by our public utilities. The consequences of our failure to do this would be costly, indeed."

When the commission does announce its findings on pending cases for higher utility rates, you may be sure that these three men—all appointees of Governor Kim Sigler—believe the rates to be the lowest rates consistent with good service.

The history of the utility commission has not been favorable to public interests. The average commissioner has held office for only three years. Salaries have not been always attractive to high calibre business men. Appointments have been political, as a reward for political support, in too many instances.

The commission gets little publicity. Yet its work affects every one.

That's the picture of the Michigan Public Service Commission in September, 1948.

Poultry Will Require Water for Winter

Steady Flow Obtained With Pressure System

Farmers have tried various ways of preventing water from freezing in their poultry houses in cold weather. Some simply drain the poultry line and go back to carrying water during the winter. Others, who dislike carrying water even more in the winter than they do in the summer, appear to have devised satisfactory ways of keeping their pressure water systems working no matter what the thermometer reads.

The result of one farmer's idea is shown in the accompanying illustration. It presents one of 16 waterers fashioned from drain tiles, 2½ feet high and 12 inches in diameter. Pie plates, suspended a few inches below the top of the tiles, are used for drinking purposes and water flows into them on a continuous, year-round basis. Ordinary sink drains, located below the plates, direct the overflow into a central waste system which serves the three-story poultry house.

Waste water spills over a hill a short distance from the building. The steady flow of water through the supply pipes, plus the fact that all such pipes are doubly protected by being located within conventional soil tiles, keeps them open all winter. To date, ice and snow have not retarded the waste outlet. The system's 500-gallon supply tank is served by a two-horsepower electric motor.

Pays to Mechanize

The mechanical age is paying dividends on the farm as well as in industry, says the Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar association. A century ago 64 man-hours of labor were required to produce an acre of wheat, now less than 10 hours are needed. One hundred fifty years ago the labor of 19 farm workers was necessary to produce the food consumed by one person living in the city, now one worker can produce for four people living in the cities.

Herds and Flocks

Milk slump usually is caused by fly trouble, poor pasture or both. To control flies, keep buildings sprayed with DDT and use a repellent type of spray at milking time. To bolster short pastures, feed grain or silage.

Mudholes for hogs, aside from harboring parasites and disease, are likely to cause animals to overheat. An animal plastered with mud, baked on by the sun, is likely to heat up in a hurry.

Mangy hogs usually bring 50 cents to $1 less per 100 pounds when sent to market. It's easy to clean up mange with benzene hexachloride.

Farm Population Drops 10 Per Cent Since 1940

Farm population of the United States declined about three million persons, or 10 per cent, between the census of 1940 and the special estimate as of January 1, 1948. The latest farm population figure of 27,439,000, however, is more than two million larger than the total for January, 1945, when many farm residents were in the armed forces or working in war plants, census reports show.

Repshinka-Christie—
Miss Marie Repshinska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Repshinska, of Gagetown, and Robert Christie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Christie of Detroit, were married in the St. Agatha Church here on Saturday morning, Sept. 18, at nine o'clock, by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John McCullough.

Miss Dora Johnston of Detroit was maid of honor and Miss Peggy Brough of Detroit was bridesmaid. Henry Christie and William Repshinska were the groom's attendants.

The bride's dress was white satin with sweetheart neckline and fingertip veil, while those of the bride's attendants were green and rose taffeta. Gladioli and chrysanthemums were used in the church and house decorations.

Wedding dinner was served to 45 guests at the home of the bride's parents and about 70 attended the reception at the house from two to four o'clock.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding came from Canada, Detroit and Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. Christie spent their honeymoon in the Smokey Mountains. They will reside in Detroit.

The bride has held a position in the United Savings Bank of Detroit and has worked in that city for seven years. The groom is an electrician.

Mrs. F. A. Schaick of Pasadena, Calif., is spending the remainder of the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Genevieve Malling, and friends.

Mrs. George A. Wilson of Mt. Dora, Florida, who spends the summers at her cottage at Crescent Beach, visited among relatives and friends last week at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Purdy, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Purdy, Mr. and Mrs. Roy LaFave and Miss Florence Lehman.

James L. Purdy, Don Wilson and sons, James and George, spent the week end with Orion Everett at Lake City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McDonald and Tommy Herron visited Sunday at the home of Mrs. Minnie Haight in Port Huron.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter and family and Mrs. C. P. Hunter were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Weiler of Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Freeman of Detroit were Sunday and Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Downing.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Mosack attended the funeral of Mrs. Mosack's father, F. Everts, Thursday in Detroit. Mr. Everts died suddenly Tuesday.

On Thursday evening of last week, neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karr invaded their home bringing well filled baskets of good things to eat. The occasion was a house warming. Progressive pedro was played during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Karr were presented with a purse of money. The guests left wishing them many years of happiness.

Sunday visitors at the Fred Dorsch home were C. Burke and Mr. Wilkinson of Detroit.

Leaning Tower of Pisa
One of the most famous towers is the Leaning Tower of Pisa, in Italy. Galileo in 1589 used the Leaning Tower for his experiments investigating the force of gravity. Although it has been said that the architect intended that the tower should lean, there are considerable evidences that this is not so but that the great weight of the tower, on inadequate wooden pilings in soft soil, caused the structure to lean after the work was begun.

Texas Rainmaker Sprinkles Crops 24 Hours Daily

ELSA, TEX.—Making rain by seeding clouds with dry ice doesn't interest W. A. Harding, owner of the unique Evergreen farms.

For 11 years he's been making two and a half inches of rainfall a day.

Harding does his rainmaking on his 1,800-acre farm, where he grows alfalfa and sudan grasses for dehydration and manufacture into chicken and horse feed and vitamin pills for humans.

His is the only farm in the world, Harding believes, that operates full-blown 24-hours a day, seven days a week, year after year.

Continual sprinkling, harvesting and dehydration is going on at the T-shaped farm in the lower Rio Grande valley.

Every 24 hours the sprinkling system lays down two and a half inches of rain on a 120-acre block. The next day another 120 acres are showered.

Cuts Alfalfa Frequently

By providing plenty of rain, Harding is able to cut his alfalfa 10 times a year, his oats and other small grains three or four times.

His oats are cut when eight inches tall, alfalfa at 16 inches. The harvesters barely clear the soil as they snip off the plants.

"We cut while the plants are tender and have their greenest protein content," explained Harding, one of the real estate men who "opened up" the lower Rio Grande valley after World War I.

The alfalfa and oats are conveyed into trucks and hauled to the dehydrator, where they are fed into a telescopic drum furnace 24 feet in diameter.

Temperatures of 1,750 degrees Fahrenheit bake out the moisture. Then a hammer mill, grinding at 3,600 revolutions per minute, chops the stalks where they're sucked through a fine screen.

Produces Green Flour

The finished product is a pastel green flour, as fine as a housewife's baking flour. The entire dehydration and grinding process takes less than three minutes.

Most of the sacks of green flour are shipped to Kansas City, where they are mixed either with poultry feed or processed into vitamin pills for human consumption.

"The best thing about this farm is that we contract for our production a year in advance," explained Harding, who last year turned out 8,000 tons of dehydrated cereal grasses and alfalfa.

"Our soil is getting richer, too, because of the alfalfa, although we fertilize the oats and sudan grasses."

The farm has its own power supply. Gas wells provide power for the water pumps in the sprinkling system and for heat for the dehydration plant.

Baboon Causes Noisy Uproar in Philadelphia Pet Shop

PHILADELPHIA—Babs, a five-year-old baboon, came up with her own version of the "bull in the china shop."

Working diligently during the early morning hours, Babs succeeded in picking the lock of her cage in a pet shop.

Then the trouble started.

First she freed a canary which promptly found its way to a fire escape door and headed for the wide open spaces.

Babs opened the cages of two sets of puppies, scrambled them thoroughly and as a result, one of the wire-haired terriers got mixed up in a dog fight and killed a 2-month-old chow.

While pandemonium reigned on the first floor, Babs ventured upstairs to the kennels where dogs are kept for owners.

Meanwhile, a passer-by who saw the dog fight downstairs, sent out a call to the shop owner, Mrs. Bertha Docktor.

After calming the dogs and getting them back in their proper pens, Mrs. Docktor's helper, Edward Krimmel set out after Babs with a net.

But Babs dodged Krimmel and was about to follow the canary through the fire escape door when Mrs. Docktor succeeded in luring Babs downstairs with bananas and grapes.

'Foodless Girl' in China Raids Pantry at Midnight

NANKING.—Yang Mei, 20, who swore she had not eaten for nine years, was exposed by the official Central News agency as a midnight pantry raider.

The agency said nurses, feigning sleep at the Chungking hospital where the girl has been under observation for weeks, caught her slipping into the pantry to feast.

She had insisted she lost all appetite for food nine years ago after an illness, but the agency said she had had midnight snacks of chicken, pork and potato stew, porridge, cooked rice, pickled dried beans and other food.

The report said the girl, realizing that she would be unable to maintain her pretense, had threatened suicide.

Like Hymns Most

In Chicago the American Music Conference completed a national survey, reported findings no disk jockey in the land could be expected to believe, says Pathfinder.

From returns on questionnaires sent to a representative 4,537 U. S. families, AMC announced that 60.8 per cent families put religious music, particularly hymns, at the top of their list. Furthermore, churches were rated above theaters and concert halls as the No. 1 outside factor in stimulating musical interest.

Ladder Falls Common

Two hundred deaths and many thousands of serious injuries result each year from falls from ladders in and about the home. Over-reaching, unsteady placing and defective ladders are common causes.

Caution for Swimmers

Stay out of the water for at least an hour after eating, and swim in sight of others. Be sure water is deep enough and free of obstructions before diving. Don't try to swim too far.

First Ice Cream Ad

First advertisement for ice cream appeared in the New York Gazette May 13, 1777. Philip Lenzi, a confectioner from London, told his patrons in the columns of the Gazette that ice cream might be had at his confectionery shop "most every day."

Ice Cream Soda, 5c

Ice cream sodas were first introduced at the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876, and the first ice cream cones were sold in 1904 at the St. Louis World's Fair.

FOOD STORE

There's a FACTORY on your Old Back Forty

Mr. Modern Farmer is chief executive, production superintendent, and engineer of a food-producing factory. And by using factory methods—letting electric power and equipment do the heavy, time-taking farm chores—he's reducing production costs, increasing output . . . a sound business formula used by all successful manufacturers.

A call to your nearest Edison office will bring a Farm Service Advisor to your farm. He can give you expert, impartial advice—impartial because he has no equipment to sell. On hay drying, feed grinding, gutter cleaning and a dozen other jobs, the Edison man can help you pocket more profits from that factory on your old "back forty."

Woods assisted in the bean harvest again this week, returning home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Green of Lexington called at the James Mudge home Sunday afternoon.

Miss Betty Hempton of Pontiac spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hempton. Mrs. Lottie Walden of Pontiac is visiting this week at the Hempton home.

James Mudge went to Big Beaver Monday to assist his brother-in-law, L. J. Felmlee, in the remodeling and repair of his house and other buildings.

James Dew, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry McLellan, were near Romeo the first of the week looking for peaches and other fruit.

RESCUE

McAlpine-Olsoy—Miss Betty McAlpine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin McAlpine, of Rescue was united in marriage to Junior Andrew Olsoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Olsoy, of Cass City, at the rectory of St. Pancratius Catholic Church in Cass City, by Rt. Rev. Magr. John McCullough of Gageton, on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 16. The bride wore a white dress and they were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gray, brother-in-law and sister of the groom.

Wedding supper was served in the hotel in Cass City and in the evening a reception was held in the Grant Town Hall at Rescue with about 150 guests present. They received lovely presents. They will make their home in Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Creguer and children of Filion and Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Quinn and children of Kinde were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quinn, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Helwig and daughters, Lenora and Joyce, of Cass City called on relatives here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmore, Sr., and son, Theodore, and grandchildren, Betty, Samuel and James Ashmore, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ashmore of Cass City.

William W. Parker accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knight and daughter, Patty, on a trip to New Hudson where Mr. Parker visited his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. James Small, a few days and the Knights visited friends near New Hudson.

Change in Egg Situation

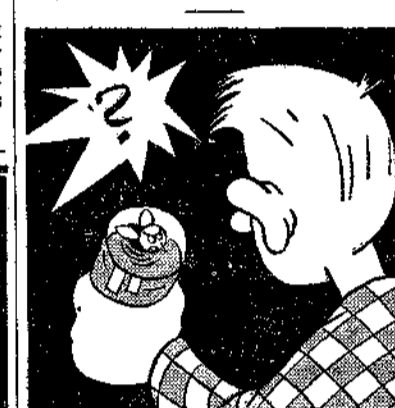

Our eggs are coming from big farms, when 10 years ago they came from small farms. Half of today's eggs come from farms with 200 or more birds.

Horse Laugh

ONE evening Jones was discovered by Brown trying to push a horse on to his doorstep. "I say, old man, do give me a hand," he pleaded, and Brown, wondering, did so. "Now," continued Jones, "let's get him up the stairs and into the bathroom."

THEY ADD ZEST

Inspector: "Do you folks around here have much trouble with insects getting in your corn?" "We sure do," said the native, "but we jes' fishes 'em out and drinks it anyhow."

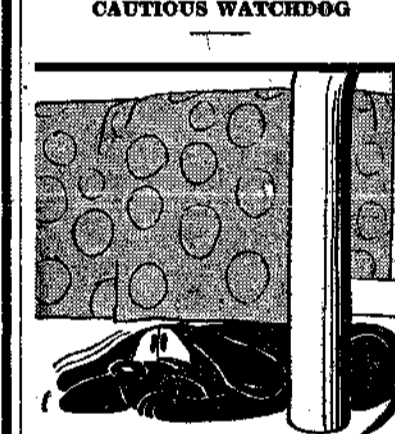

An Old Compliment

Hubby: "You look like Venus this morning, honey." Wife: "Do you really think so?" Hubby: "Yeah. You look about three thousand years old."

Shrimps for a Shrimp

"Tell me what you eat, and I'll tell you what you are," said a hunch-counter philosopher. Whereupon a meek little man, sitting a few stools away, called to the waitress: "Cancel my order for shrimp salad, please."

CAUTIOUS WATCHDOG

They had recently acquired a dog and were demonstrating his good points to a visitor.

"Mind you," said the man of the house, "I know he's not what you would call a thoroughbred, but no tramp or burglar can come near the house without his letting us know about it."

"What does he do?" asked the visitor. "Bark the place down?"

"Well, no—he crawls under the bed."

Needless Advice

Two men left a banquet together after dining too well. "When you get home," advised one, "if you don't want to disturb your family, undress at the foot of the stairs, fold your clothes neatly and creep up to bed. It's the undressing in your room that awakens the wife."

Next day they met at lunch. "How did you get along?" asked one.

"No good," said the other. "I took off all my clothes at the foot of the stairs, as you told me and folded them neatly. I didn't make a sound. But when I got to the top of the stairs, I found it was my neighbor's home!"

A Hot Retort

The chorus girl was telling the others about her birthday party.

"You should have seen the cake," she said. "It was divine. There were 17 candles on it—one for each year."

There was a disbelieving silence for a moment or two, then her best friend smiled.

"Seventeen candles, eh?" she purred. "What did you do—burn them at both ends?"

ELMWOOD CENTER

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwell Kelly and daughter, Kay, spent Labor Day week and visiting friends in Murfreesboro, Tenn. They enjoyed the trip through the Cumberland Mountains, Wender Cave and other scenic wonders.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Evans and daughter, Naoma, spent two weeks traveling to the Pacific Coast and back. They went via South Dakota, The Black Hills, stopping to view Mount Rushmore memorial of Lincoln, Washington, T. Roosevelt and Jefferson, through the Big Horn and Rocky Mountains, spending a day at Yellowstone Park and on to Oregon via the Old Oregon Trail.

They spent two very enjoyable days, visiting Mrs. Evans' cousins, Mr. and Mrs. T. Markwardt at Chilquin, Ore. Mrs. Markwardt is a daughter of the late David Blackmore, formerly of Cass City, and a brother of Mrs. George Dodge.

They also visited Mrs. David Blackmore and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Duffy at Klamath Falls, Oregon. While there, they journeyed to beautiful Crator Lake which has to be seen to be appreciated.

On Saturday, the Evans went on to the Pacific Coast but were unable to see much of the ocean due to the intense fog. Sunday they drove through the Giant Redwoods in California and on to Reno, Nevada, stopping at the Reno Motel, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Corporon.

Corporon was formerly, Miss Myrtle Vader, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vader, of Cass City. Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Corporon were high school chums and have only seen each other once since Mrs. Corporon went to California in 1926.

One of the highlights of the whole trip was a trip to Lake Toho and Virginia City, the next day. Virginia City was once the richest mining town in the West but today is mostly tumble down shacks. Some of the famous saloons have been preserved and are open as souvenir shops. That evening, Mr. and Mrs. Corporon were dinner hosts at 'Colombos' after which they visited Roaring Camp where many relics of the old west have been preserved, Harold's Club and other interesting spots.

Tuesday morning, the Evans regretfully said good-bye and returned home via the Lincoln Highway across the Great Salt Lake Desert and the wonderful farm land of Iowa. Michigan never looked so good and they wouldn't trade it for a thing they saw.

HOLBROOK

Mrs. Fred Pingston of Dearborn, and sons, Glen and Danny, are spending this week with Mrs. Werner Schuette.
