Community Club to Consider Reviving Community Chest

A joint research committee of the Cass City Rotary and Gavel clubs will submit recommendations for the re-establishment of a local Community Chest to the Cass City Community Club at its regular meeting next Tuesday evening. The purpose of the proposed chest is to coordinate all community charity drives into one large drive, supervising and investi-gating the charities for whom these moneys will be raised.

The advantages of such a chest plan are great. Instead of drives every month in the fall and winter, there would be only one solicita-tion, making it easier for the workers and more convenient in time wasted for the giver to listen to each separate story of need. It also gives local supervision and investigation of each charity by a chest committee to protect local givers from unwarranted claims.

A Community Chest also has its drawbacks. Chief of these is the difficulty of raising at one time enough to cover all the purposes. It is often easier to give one dollar 12 times a year then 10 dollars once each year. But to gain the advantages of a chest, the latter type of giving would be necessary.

to drop in a depression. The farmer fought games yet. The league always takes for his product what standings are: the consumer is willing to pay after the middlemen get out their costs of processing, transporting, and selling, plus a profit.

The real reason for high food prices, Mauch believes, is that consumers have two and one-half to three times as much money to spend as they had in 1939. That represents demand—power to buy food. Farm production has increased about a third, and that is an outstanding performance since we have fewer farmers today. This food represents supply.

Economists have contended for vears that the relation between supply and demand determines the price. Using simple arithmetic, Mauch then divided the goods into money available to buy and the price is twice as high.

"The fault lies in too much money to spend in relation to the goods to buy and the consumer's willingness to bid up prices. The farmer influences the price by his effect on supply. Since he has been pass. doing his best to increase supply, he can hardly be' responsible for gouging the consumer", the economist concluded.

Proper Use of Color Enlivens Dull and Uninteresting Rooms

By Ertta Haley

IF ANYTHING at all has been done in the field of home furnishings during the last 10 years or so, one of the most important ideas has been the use of color.

Take a look at recent showings of colorful wallpaper and fabrics and you will realize the importance of this idea. Daring combinations are used, not with daring results, but with interesting effect.

Colors which you might never think of combining if you see them separately are used with excellent effects, and unusual and arresting results. Naturally it takes something of the knowledge of color to use them effectively, but even those who know little about basic principles are being helped by stores who coordinate rooms for the consumer.

In many cases you'll find colors for paint and wallpaper, as well as furniture and draperies already selected for you. They come all packaged, so to speak.

For example, if you like that lovely new shade of dark green for walls, and the room you have cannot take all dark green, use a single green wall or two or three, depending upon the light in the room. with the other walls a gardenia

Now, suppose you have a pedfroom and would like it wallpapered. The room, however, is too small to crowd with lots of small designs. Did you know that the insides of shelves can be papered with a fioral print, or a single wall can be papered likewise?

Trends and Tricks Make Decorating Easy

Those who know about color will tell you that rust, deep clear blue and the plum shades will be favorite colors in upholstery and mon and turquoise.

Rose tones which have been popular for a long time are yielding sway to the orchid and purple shades. Deep green tones are bepopular for carpeting. pecially among decorators.

If you are interested in wallpaper, the trend is to use deep, rich vibrant color. The charcoals, deep stone grays, rich wines, terra cotta and even dark rich browns are very luscious. All of these however, must be in muted enough tones to make them easy to live with.

Bluish lavender shades which have rarely been seen before are coming to the front in the new-wallpapers. Then, too, there's an exciting use of yellow and chartreuse which should be particularly effec-

Be Smart!

So novel and new that it's destined to be a sensation is the revival of the Irene Castle peg top skirt of a generation ago. The idea is used in a basic dinner or restaurant dress of black over which is worn a bodice type jacket of richest maroon, with a pert little peplum that ripples over the peg top. The color contrast is accentuated with braiding in black on the maroon, highlighted with sequing.

Rayon taffeta is orisp and dressy and just right for a bleuse like this one with navy, powder blue and pink stripes. The fabric is made of Avisco rayon yarn. Notice the attractive peplum which also forms a pocket, as well as the low V-neckline and the flattering way in which it fits.

tive in dining rooms or bedrooms. Wallpapers are not to be termed modern as much as they are livable

Small scenic patterns are becoming more and more popular. You don't have to use all scenic paper in a room. Use it on only one wall if the proportions of the room cannot use the scenic all over.

How to Use Wallpaper To Best Effect

A dining room can be made very effective if you lack a large picture window, for instance, by use of scenic paper on one wall. Keep the other walls plain, even to the absence of pictures as there is enough design in a scenic wall-

In a library, bedroom or den, a scenic wallpaper which features sketches of sailing vessels and scenes from a tiny coast village, depicted in subtle colors on a variety of grounds including celadon green, steel blue and suty rose, would be very effective.

It's smart when choosing the scenic papers to try to reflect one's interest in the design chosen.

For a kitchen that is large enough or for part of a breakfast nock, you might like to use a paper that shows complete table settings, with knives forks, glasses and china

Another idea for a kitchen, particularly one that you want to brighten, might be a scenic para that features barns, windmills country lanes. You can use your decorative skill with the greatest of ease by just a border of paper to add a nice note to a room. There's a pre-pasted border available that will do wonders for dull painted rooms. This is especially effective in bedrooms that won't take lots of design because they are too small. Use good taste to be most effective and, if you can't rely on your own, it's cheapest to get professional advice

Here Are Combinations Which Will Be Helpful

If you want a cool looking room. you might have the walls done in a powder blue, with ivory colored cambridge cloth on the windows. The floor can be stained and then covered with a brown rug. Your best choice in furniture would be mahogany; if modern, use ivory leather. A cheerful informal looking dining or living room can have walls in a green and white stripe, rather muted in effect. The windows can have draperies of green, rose and white crash. The floor in a living room should carry a dark green rug; in a dining room, this may be more informal such as a green and white tweedy effect rug in an interesting weave. If you have a Colonial room, blue and white striped paper can be used and combined with blue draperies over white. The rug color can be blue, rose, beige, green or brown, and the furniture best in this room would be 18th century. Remember, whenever you use a striped wallpaper, as the two described above, you add height to the room. The stripes never are used in a room which is very high ceilinged. Another question frequently brought up when decorating is discussed is: "Shall I paint the woodwork light or dark?" If you have nice woodwork and want to bring it out, have it white. If the woodwork should be hidden, have it dark, or paint it the same color as the walls, if you are using a nice quiet solid

An Early American dining or living room would benefit from use of an appropriate scenic wallpaper.

Concluded from page 1. Murphy advocated a department of finance 'in which may be centralized and consolidated all accounting functions apart from auditing, budget preparation and control, and purchasing. "By 1943 the need had become so obvious that Governor Kelly, after noting that there were in excess of 100 agencies of state government, in his inaugural message stated that, "The constitution makes it clear that it is the duty of the governor to acquaint himself with the problems, accomplishments, and possible improvements of each one of these many and varied departments of state government, striving always to orrelate their various activities into an efficient, economical work-"In order to fulfill this duty it is my opinion that the governor should be provided by law with a department to be known as the department of business administration, directed by a business administrator under the personal supervision of and directly responsible to the governor, and clothed with proper and adequate authority."

Perkins points out that this department, as created by the legislature, lacks the real tools for getting results—namely, budget control, accounting and purchasing. Hence its death was inevitable, and the legislature ordered it in 1945. By relieving the state administrative board of these important functions, which were being actually administered by administrative employees not responsible directly to the governor, the Sigler reform would permit the board to become the "governor's cabinet", according to Perkins.

As has been pointed out previously by Perkins in this column, the new department will not result immediately in large dollar savings. "In the first place, the department's own expenditures may actually increase slightly as it undertakes the long-neglected tasks of better servicing the line departments and institutions and 🌋 requiring of them better operations . . . Business organizations have long realized that it was wise to spend a dollar in order to save everal dollars."

Perkins expresses some concern about the future of the new

"Unthinking resentment against 🔛 ncreased tax burdens may bring oitter and unfounded criticisms against the department," he states. Why "increased tax burdens"? Because the State of Michigan must seek new sources of revenue as a result, "largely although not entirely", of the diversion to local units of a major part of its sales tax revenue.

If the voters in November reaffirm diversion of sales tax revenue to local governments, (as now appears to be likely) Perkins forecasts increased taxes in order to stave off "a deficit of millions of dollars.'

Looking for someone to blame. voters may jump at the conclusion the new state department of administration-is responsible.

At least, that's the 1948 apprehension of Controller Perkins.

Farm Equipment Outlook

Farm equipment industry, which set a record for production in 1947, is working harder than ever to help the American farmer fulfill his assignment in speeding world recovery, says J. H. Oppenheim, president of the Farm Equipment institute. There is still a tremendous demand for farm machinery to replace overage wartime equipment, he reports, but expanding production facilities are helping to meet it. Given an adequate supply of materials and freedom from extended work stoppages, the industry may equal or even top last year's all-time high in 1948, he

Electricity Assures. Water for Livestock

Economical Installation For Winter Suggested Electricity, which has eased the farmer's chores, has come to the aid of farm animals, too. Through the medium of electricity, Dobbin and Bossy no longer need fear that their drinking water supply will be shut off during the cold winter months. Tests by agricultural engineers have demonstrated that electricity is economical to provide warm water for livestock during the winter. Watering devices were operated at a cost as low as 70 kilowatt hours per month, representing an outlay of $1.40 at two cents per kilowatt. Some farmers are finding that their installations are expensive to

In fact, a survey covering 15,000 farms the country over, made by the department of agriculture, re veals that about four times as many accidents happened to men and boys between the ages of 14 and 65 as were suffered by farm women and girls. Of the youngsters under 14 injured, nearly 65 per cent were

More farm people were injured by falls than any other type of accident, with the majority of mishaps involving falling on steps and stairs and from vehicles. Men and boys were victims of twice as many in juries from falls as were women and girls.

Of the total number of farm ac cidents, 56 per cent were connected with farm work and 8 per cent with housework. The age period from 25 to 45 was disclosed as the most dangerous.

Horses Need Attention During Stabled Period

Disease and injury that some times prove crippling can be pre vented by giving special attention to horses' feet during the stabled period. Brittle boofs, spongy hoofs. thrush and foot canker are the four diseases commonly caused by bad stable conditions.

Beginning of Textile Industry

Spinning wheel of the 14th century, the fly shuttle of the early 18th century, and the steam loom of Edmund Cartwright in 1785 provided the first real impetus to weaving. But it required the inventive ability of many early Americans, the skill of many others in the late 19th century, to give the world today its present textile industry. Great electrically driven looms today work automatically, so delicately adjusted that the instant one warp yarn breaks the loom stops until the broken thread is repaired.

Use of Bias Tape One of the more important sewing notions is bias fold tape. It is practically indispensable to the sewing woman. Bias tape is used for binding, facing, trimming and piping. Bias tape is cut on the bias. that is, at an angle to the weave. It should have great elasticity and is intended to lie flat along curved

"Why, Miss Justin!" he said, "I-wasn't expecting you. Were you to work tonight?" "No, I came to see you. I overheard you and Mr. Kibb talking about those checks and it had me worried. Is something wrong?" "Plenty," said Thorne. It was hard to begin. He ran a nervous hand through his black hair. "Then you know about the checks-you cashed them?" "Yes. I cashed the checks because Mr. Dyhart told me to. Wait other way. Didn't you suspect anything?" "Certainly. I guess I looked puzzled, because each time when I handed Mr. Dyhart the money, he mentioned a change in the accounting rules.' Thorne jumped. "If Dyhart said that, it's plain no one else was in on it. He disguised his signature, so that when it came to a showdown, he could blame everything on you. That's why he had you cash the checks!" "How can you prove it?" asked

Miss Justin weakly. "Well, it's a long chance," sald Thorne, slamming his fist. "M I lose and the corporation kicks me out-I've been wanting to hang out a shingle for a long time."

MR. DYHART looked surprised as he ushered them into his living room. "Just leaving, Thorne, but business before pleasure. I suppose it's something to do with the "That's correct," said Thorne.

"Dyhari," he purposely skipped the "Mr.," "you had Miss Justin cash several checks recently, amounting to nearly $10,000." "Ridiculous," smiled Dyhart. "I know nothing of any checks."

"We've practically discovered the guilty person," went on Thorne dryly, as he opened his case and removed a cancelled check. Thorne took a sheet of paper, placed the check on it, and flashed it before Dyhart's eyes.

"All you have to do, Dyhart," he said, "is copy the signature on this check!"

only sound was the tick of a clock. The pen dropped from Dyhart's hand and plopped on the rug.

Thorne snatched the pen. "Never mind, Dybart, that's enough. This afternoon we asked every employee to copy that signature. Not one besitated. You did, and you're guilty. I reasoned, since the tellers passed those checks, the signature, though doctored a bit, was actually yours-disguised!"

A groan fled Dyhart's lips. "I wanted to get the money back in time," he gasped. "I didn't mean to involve Miss Justin, but she was my secretary. Don't swear out a warrant, Thorne. I'll pay it all

After they were in the street, Thorne took a deep breath, Rt made him tingle and look up at the stars pinned on a clear sky. "Well, you're still a travelling auditor with a job so I guess you won't hang out your shingle," said Miss Justin softly. "If I could find a secretary, a good one. Miss Justin - would you—" "Take dictation from you?" Miss Justin laughed when she said it. Thorne decided it was the pleasantest laugh he had ever heard.

Tuna puff uses such nourishing ingredients as eggs, milk and bread crambs to make a hearty and satisfying dish out of a small can of fish. Bake it in individual casseroles for a colorful edging around the vegetable platter.

*Tuna Puffs

- 4 tablespoons butter 1/2 pound sliced mushrooms 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt Few grains cayenne
- 1½ cups milk
- 4 eggs, separated 1 cup freshly grated American
- 1 7-ounce can flaked tuna fish

2 cups fresh bread crumbs Melt butter in saucepan, add mushrooms, cover and cook five minutes over low heat, stirring occasionally. Remove mushrooms. Add flour and seasonings to butter left in pan and blend. Gradually add milk. Stir and cook over low heat until thickened. Beat egg yolks slightly, add some hot sauce and blend; return to remaining sauce and cook two minutes longer. Fold in grated cheese. Remove from heat. Add drained, flaked tuna and mix thoroughly. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in fish mixture. Pour into six large, buttered custard cups or individual casseroles. Bake in a moderately slow (325 degree) oven, 45 minutes or until firm. Serve with lemon. For baking in a large casserole, allow one and one-quarter hours baking

Dr. Irving Langmuir, a leading rain-making scientist, has said that if some present experiments are successful it may be possible to decrease winter cloudiness in northern parts of the United States and increase average winter: temperatures.

Among other possibilities that scientists have discussed are these: Thunderstorms may be broken up before lightning occurs, which might save some of the timber now destroyed every year by lightningcaused forest fires.

Some of the damaging ice storms that occur in many parts of the nation might be prevented.

Move Clouds to Desert Moisture-carrying clouds might be "floated" to drought or desert regions and then triggered open. Airports could be kept free of clouds or fog.

> Thus far scientists know these basic facts:

1. A tiny bit of dry ice dropped into a "super-cooled" cloud always will cause ice crystals to form. These fall as rain if the air below is not too dry. A "supercooled" cloud is below the freezing point but is filled with tiny particles of moisture that haven't yet frozen. These are fairly common in northern latitudes, especially in winter. Drop Small Crystals

2. If small crystals that closely resemble snow crystals are dropped in a super-cooled cloud they, too, will cause moisture to fall under certain conditions. 3. If water or ice is dropped into certain clouds above the freezing point it sometimes causes rain. Such clouds are common over the United States in summer. These are the triggers that man uses to start rain. Nature apparently has others, too, and scientists are trying to find out what they are. One of the major rain research studies is called "Project Cirrus," sponsored by the army signal tric company. It is spending close to one million dollars a year. There also is a thunderstorm-studying project at Wilmington. Ohio, sponsored by the navy, the air force, the weather bureau and the national advisory committee on aeronautics.

Business Principles Required on Farms

Operation by Guess or 'By Neighbor' Deployed

Cash, credit, equipment, soil fertility and human strength are involved on the ledger of assets controlled by the farmer and rancher -assets that become liabilities when management is lacking.

Probably 90 per cent of the difference between a poor farm or ranch and a profitable one is in the management. Good business principles lead a farmer ahead, whereas one who operates by intuition, by guess or "by neighbor" never gets ahead. · Here are a few points necessary to good farm or ranch manage-

1 KEEP RECORDS. This assures factual data to use in determining production possibilities of the farm or ranch. See that yields of crops, production of livestock, cash expenses and receipts are recorded properly.

2 WATCH MARKET TRENDS.

By consistently reading market outlooks or discussions on prices. which reflect the most probable future situations, farmers and ranchers will have a guide to use in planning production. Thus they will be able to have produce ready to sell at the right time to realize the highest price and still have livestock and land more fertile for the following

3. PLAN LABOR. Make it tie in with seasons for care of machinery and equipment, time for planting, care of crops, harvesting and marketing.

PLAN THE FARMSTEAD AND 4. FIELDS. Make rotations easy, save labor and increase yields by adapting crops to land.

Study in Contrasts

the South, "Sally" views with interest the "new look" in Georgia farming. Latest figures show a steady decrease in the number of mules used for farm power in this state. Replacing them are jeeps, representing another step forward in farm mechanization. Equipped with hydraulic lifts and numerous other special implements and attachments, jeeps have speeded up farm operations and eased the work burden for both farmer and

Mysterious 'X Disease' Termed Serious Threat

"Hyperkeratosis" is the jawbreaking name of a baffling cattle disease now causing trouble on thousands of farms, particularly in southeastern states.

Known also by the simpler terms of "X disease" and "double X disease," the new malady has caused serious loss in at least 26 states and poses a serious threat to output of meat, milk and other animal products. One symptom of the disease is a marked thickening of the skin. So far, efforts to transmit it and to treat it with drugs have been unsuccessful.

Agriculture department scientists are cooperating with specialists of several southeastern states in an intensive study of the disease.

Portable Elevator Saves Labor and Time on Farm

Easily constructed on the farm and powered with a fractional horsepower motor, the portable elevator conveyor saves much back-break ing labor as well as time in the handling and storing of grains. Cost of construction is estimated at about $1 per lineal foot, compared with $1.85 per lineal foot for ready-made equipment. Cost of operation also is low. Plans are ava able through rural electric 🕾

Exclusive of islands and colonies, the area of Spain is about 100,000 square miles.

Value of Vegetable and Fruits Vegetables and fruits should be included in the daily meals of every family. They are protective foods. By using them we can get many of the necessary minerals and vitamins which help to maintain good health. Actually they are better for one's health and cost less than tonics and cathartics. Since many fruits and vegetables are low in calories, they can be used generously by those who want to keep their weight under control. Vegetables and fruits make good eating. They are versatile, so they can be used in many ways. If they are varied and served properly prepared, the family will never tire

Nation's Gold Hoard America's gold supply has surpassed the 23 billion dollar mark. This country now has more than three-fifths of all the gold above ground, and more gold than any nation in history ever had. The total is more than two billion higher than a year ago and still rising as more and more foreign nations, unable to pay in dollars, are making gold payments for American goods. First Aid Stations

Almost 2,000 highway first aid stations and more than 10,000 mobile first aid units are maintained and operated by Red Cross trained

Lakes in Quebec-Superior Thousands of lakes are included in the Quebec-Superior area, and their names would do credit to a whole library of children's books. A child's eye view of the region would disclose Alice, Bear Island, Knife, Farm, White Iron, Eagle's Nest, Big Moose, Big Bear Head, Bald Eagle, Horse, Polly, Seagull, Snow Bank and Silver Island lakes. Olympic Games Modern Olympics, reviving the very ancient games, date from 1896 at Athens. The 14th Olympiad takes its number from the fact that 1948 is the 14th quadrennial year when 1896 is taken as the first. The 6th Olympiad, scheduled for Berlin in 1916, was cancelled because of World War I. The 12th, 1940, originally scheduled for Tokio, was reassigned to Helsinki, Finland, and later cancelled because of war.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Worry Is a Destroyer of People

Bell Syndicate.-WNU Features.

"She's afraid that Linda's baby is being spoiled, end afraid that Linda' having another, and that Derrick never will be a money-maker."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

WICHITA man is leaving his wife and going to live with his mother on her farm. Their only son, 17, is going away to college. Their only daughter, who is now 20, ran away and got married three years ago. The man, Bert Snow, says he has borne all he can bear and that his wife is driving him crazy.

"Mattie," said his letter, "is about the worst worrier I know. Lots of women worry, and bother their tired husbands at night with a lot of nonsensical complaints that they ought never to mention, but Mattle beats the lot. Everything she says is worrying. In the mornings it's the weather, the paper being late, the garden being dry, the house being in such a condition, the oven being slow getting hot, the coffee not being like the last pound, the teaspoon that has been missing for years, the napkins wearing out so fast.

Every word is worry. Her face has a brown, dried, wrinkled look from worry. She's afraid that Linda's baby is being spoiled, and afraid that Linda's having another, and that Derrick never will be a money-maker. She calls up my son in the middle of a school morning to remind him of his cough pills. She worries when she telephones her friends and she worries when she doesn't.

Has Many Worries. "All this is about nothing. And with all this, she keeps up a constant undertone of paralyzing anxiety about real troubles, so that sometimes she actually cannot get a meal or speak for terror. Anything alarming that Is said on the about war, or floods, or weather, any suspicion of epidemics or statement as to the prevalence of cancer or polio, statistics on highway or bathtub accidents, these throw her into a low nervous state in which she murmurs and trembles for hours. High prices, scarcities, unexpected charges by the dentist, plumber, doctor, everything is grist to poor Mattie's mill. I'm getting as bad as she is. I'm going home to Mamma."

This pathetic, desperate letter from a 50-year-old man describes a domestic condition that is only too common nowadays. Not that most worriers are as bad as Mattie.

But we are all worriers, more or less, and worry is like mildew, or termites, or gangrene. It eats away our powers, it weakens our will, it darkens a hundred scenes that ought to be unclouded and happy.

The truth is that while worry is wasteful, unprofitable and uncomfortable for all concerned, there is no saying today that we have nothing to worry about. We have everything to worry about.

Thousands of inessential things are right with our civilization; but two or three supremely essential things have been so badly mismanaged and have been allowed so to harden into custom and usage, that do what we will we cannot belance or rationalize our problems. Life could be different, without wars, intemperance, unemployment, privation, and, above all-without fear. We know it could, at one-tenth of the cost of war. We know all nations want to be friendly; all men and women want to sleep securely and safely in their own households. We know there is plenty of everything desirable in the world: Sunshine, homes, food, friendship.

DON'T WORRY

While it is perfectly natural for everybody to worry at some time, incessant worry weakens the will, destroys confidence and causes much unbappiness.

Bert Snow, 50, is plagued with a wife who constantly complains and is beset with an endless stream of nonessential worries which oftentimes paralyzes ber with fearful anxiety. The situation has become so intolerable that Bert has decided to leave bis wife and return to bis mother's farm.

Although Miss Norris admits that there are problems confronting today's civilization, she emphasizes that it is the wife's duty to steel berself against the world's troubles. When her bushand returns home from a difficult day at the office, she should greet him cheerfully and erase all the troubles from his mind.

The thought that is driving us all mad is, why, in the name of God, our Father, then, haven't we all these things!

Oh, yes. Mattie and her kind have plenty to worry about, from the grease spot on the new carpet to the latest from Moscow. But American women today must stop worrying-about everything. True patriots, realizing that we are the strongest nation in this ruined world, and that all the others look to us for help, must rise to this call Give Your Best.

We must do our best with the evitable shocks, we must feed our families cheap food if we cannot afford better, we must invent, originate, experiment, change. We must enjoy everything we possibly can; fine music, third-run movies, magazines, walks, books, the miracles of sunrise and moonrise, the joy of quiet hours at home.

We must steel ourselves to spare the children and the tired man who comes home from nervous, exhausting office days, the misgivings we cannot help feeling. Just to find you cheerful, confident, philosophical, will do more for your husband than any other thing-than any other dozen things-that could be done for him. The earlier generations of American women helped to build this amazing republic by an attitude of "Don't worry dear, we'll get through this."

We will get through this time of high prices, taxes, house shortages, war fears and war debts; we will emerge into peaceful times and wiser times. We will know years—centuries —when the stupidities of today will seem like a bad dream.

We have grown up too fast, our amusements and extravagances and escapes have temporarily upset our sober reason. But we'll find reason again, and with it a type of living the world never has known. Sweep away all your worries this minute; the unpaid bill, the red spot behind Buddy's ear, the letter from Mamma, the office humiliation that dear old patient John has to take, the newspaper headlines, the mosquito that descends humming over you as soon as you put out the bedroom light at night-all of them, all of them are only dreams which will vanish when the morning of courage and determination dawns.

New Hospital Color FORT WORTH, TEX.—Glaringly white hospital walls in hospital rooms may be a thing of the past. St. Joseph's hospital in Fort Worth now uses a soft shade of green for operating rooms. It is one of the first in the state to convert to the new color. The idea is to cut down on the glare. The color scheme is carried over into the drapes, sheets, operating gowns, caps and masks. Authorities say it helps to relieve eye fatigue

She Wants Full Details

SELDOM, if ever, did Aunt Sarah fall into a situation which threat ened to get out of hand. But one day she came very close to it. She needed a new maid, to replace Mag gie, who was getting married.

A perky young applicant seemed to have all the right answers, and Aunt Sarah had about made up her mind to hire her, when her native caution caused her to inquire: "Now, if you work here, I suppose you can be reticent about what you see and hear in this house?"

This one required a little thought: so the girl chewed her thumb and Finally she said: 'Well, ma'am. can try. Just how much is there here to be reticent about?"

Sales Talk

Business was slow in the little Kentucky town when the local barber stopped a heavy-bearded moun taineer in front of the shop and said: "Come on in and let me sell you a shave, Zeke.'

"Nope," said the older man, "l vowed I wouldn't shave till I killed off young Elmer Pike, the last of the tribe I'm feudin, with,"

"Haven't you got no pride?" ar gued the barber, pointing to the older man's beard "Would you want folks sayin' that you was tryin, to kill your enemy from ambush?"

Polite Refusal

"No, I can't marry you," said the smart young lady to her suitor, "but I'll always admire your good

NOT INTENTIONAL During a railroad emegency, volunteer engineer performed the remarkable feat of bringing the train in 25 minutes ahead of time. The passengers went forward in a body to thank him. A pale-faced man came down from the cab. "Don't thank me," he gasped. "I just found out five minutes ago how to stop this thing.'

Ouch! It Hurts!

Dentist: "Stop waving your arms and making faces; I haven't even touched your tooth.

Mrs. Brown: "I know you haven't, but you're standing on my foot."

WILL SHE BE SURPRISED!

"I want a piece of cloth to make ny doll a dress." The merchant looked behind the counter, found a remnant and wrap

"How much is it?" asked the lass The merchant smiled. "Just one

All right," she agreed, tossing her blonde curls. "Grandmother said to tell you she would come in this afternoon and pay for it.

"But this windy spell is unusual," insisted the leathery faced ranchman dryly. Why, you can see for yourself it's blown down trees that never was blowed down before!"

Money Problem

"Look here, Dick," the girl said reproachfully, "you wouldn't by any chance marry me for my money would you?" He replied thoughtlessly, "Not it there was any other way to get it.' Clever Evasion Brunette: "My dear, where did your beautiful string of pearls come from? I hope that you don't mind my asking?' Blonde: "Not at all. They came from oysters."

Sanilac Clerk Notes

Cases in our court last week, not any. No judge, no court, no lawyers— what an era of peace!

Next week on Monday, October 11, the supervisors meet for their October session. There will be a lot of matters to be brought before the board at this session as it is always a busy one. Come in, spend a few hours and see your supervisors in action.

For the month of September we recorded 18 marriages and two divorces. Percentages quite a lot better this month.

If you have sheep and poultry claims, bring or send them in at once for the October session.

The November 2 general election ballots are in the process of printing at the present time. Mr. Voter, don't forget election Nov. 2. Your presence may mean a lot. Good bye.

Only One Morphine There is great need for improved drugs of the analgesic type, such as morphine, which make pain harder to feel by reducing the perception of pain in the brain without blocking other nerve functions. Morphine, the most potent analgesic so far discovered, is habit-forming, and most other available agents are relatively ineffective even in large doses.
