

Farmers' Home Administration to Hold Progress Day

The Farmers' Home Administration will hold a Progress Day celebration on March 31 to encourage better farming and better living among its cooperating families in Tuscola County, and to recognize families who have already made outstanding success, the F.H.A. county supervisor, John McDurmon, announced today.

At the county-wide meeting to be held at Caro, five families will be honored for exceptional progress in family, farm and community living. These five top-ranking families, McDurmon said, will be selected by the U. S. D. A. County Council from among the 400 families who have been served by the Farmers' Home Administration or its predecessor agency, the Farm Security Administration which was established in 1935.

Members of the council making the selection are: Milton Hagelberg, president; Dean Gordon, Harold Tubbs, Byron Carpenter, Donald Cook, Francis Ode, John Martin, Jacob Meachum and Wilson Kirk.

Families will be chosen on the basis of their progress in family living, including improvements to financial management, housing, health, and education of the children, farm improvement including soil conservation through such means as careful cultivation, fertilizing, and draining, crop improvement through better balance of crops, variety selection, and proper timing, and livestock improvement through better breeding, feeding, testing and housing.

In each case, McDurmon said, families will also be judged on the basis of their character, community leadership, and farm and home accomplishments, as well as the appearance of their farms. Such factors as neighborliness, participation in the work of farm organizations, churches, and schools, will be considered in addition to progress in improving family living and farming operations.

The five families chosen, McDurmon added, will be guests of honor on "Farm Family Progress Day" to be presented at the Caro Methodist Church Thursday afternoon, March 31. All of the 400 families on the county files of the Farmers' Home Administration will be invited to attend.

The winning families will in turn be honor guests representing Tuscola County at a statewide meeting later at East Lansing, where some 250 Michigan F.H.A. farm families selected in the same manner will be honored.

Former Kingston Woman Slain By Koreans

Mrs. Horace H. Underwood, a former resident of Kingston and a cousin of Murray D. VanWagoner, former governor of Michigan, was slain in Korea. State dailies carried the story of the killing of the wife of a prominent U. S. missionary in the following article sent from Seoul, Korea:

"Officials theorized today that Red terrorists slew the wife of a prominent U. S. Missionary while gunning for a Korean woman leader who is a foe of Communism.

"Three Koreans were arrested in the shooting of popular Mrs. Horace H. Underwood, 60, the former Miss Ethel VanWagoner, of Kingston, Mich. President Syngman Rhee himself declared the killing had shocked the Republic of Korea.

"Police Chief Kim Tai Sun turned loose all his detectives on the case. He predicted a break within 24 hours.

"Mrs. Underwood was fatally wounded recently by one of two hooded gunmen who burst into her home as she was giving a tea.

Kim told the Associated Press he was convinced the gunmen got their orders from Korean Reds. He believed they were looking for Mrs. Mo. Yun, a foe of Communism. A guest, she was to have addressed the meeting.

"Investigators said the shooting took place in the entrance hall. Mrs. Underwood went there after the pair showed their way past a houseboy. She was shot while apparently trying to push one of the intruders out of the door.

"Guests told authorities that the gunman then entered the living room and seemed to be looking for someone. Mrs. Mo and five other guests had fled at the shots and were hiding in a telephone alcove. Mrs. Mo has not been seen since.

"The slayers told the guests to go to one end of the living room. They then fled.

"At a news conference, Rhee said he also believed the killers were after Mrs. Mo.

"Mrs. Underwood was the wife of Dr. Horace H. Underwood, prominent missionary and educator in Japan. Dr. Underwood was teaching at nearby Chosen Christian College when the shooting occurred.

"Mrs. Underwood was giving the tea for wives of faculty members.

"A graduate of Albion (Mich.) College and New York University, Mrs. Underwood attended grade and high school in the Tuscola County village of Kingston. She came to Korea as a teacher and was married to Dr. Underwood in 1916.

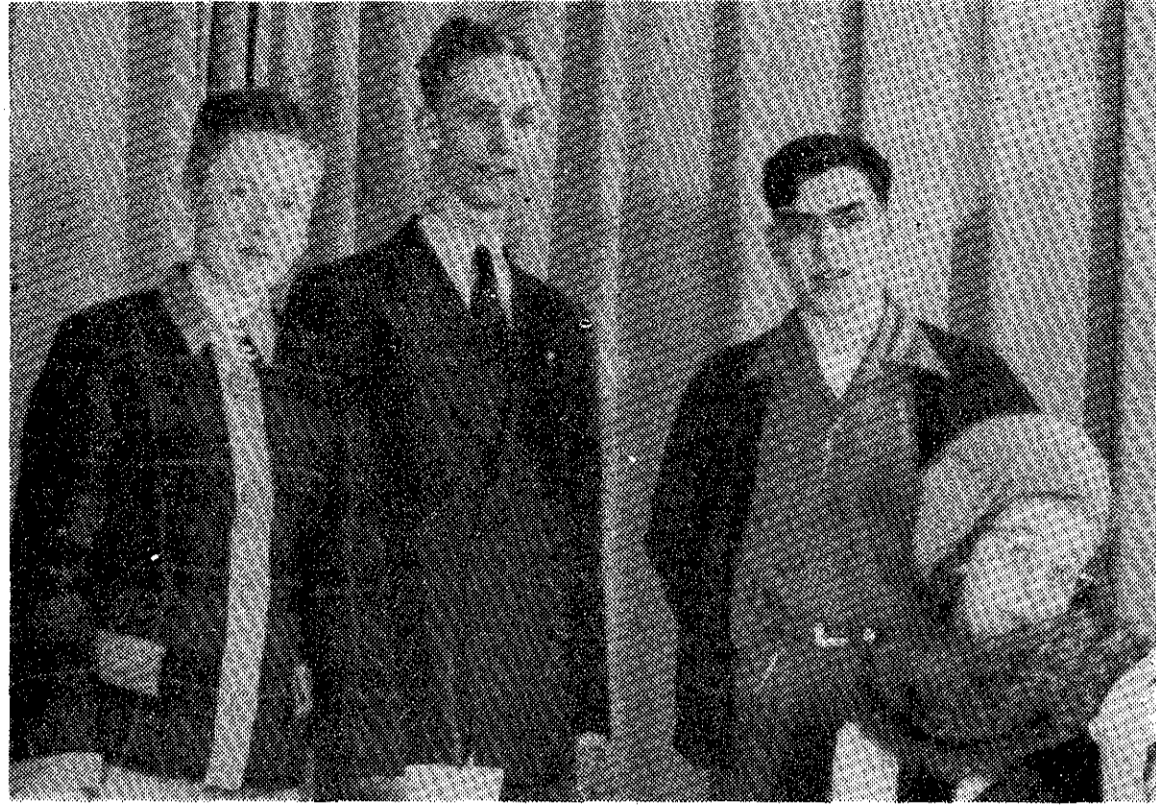

"She was a cousin of Murray D. VanWagoner, former Michigan governor, and now military governor of Bavaria. Her half-brother was the late Prof. Carl Rufus, of the University of Michigan.

"She and her husband were Japanese prisoners during World War II. On a visit to Albion College campus in 1946 she told of her long experiences in the Far East.

"Dr. Underwood, although an advisor to the former American military government in Korea, had taken no part in Korean politics. He was president of the Chosen Christian College before the war and was teaching a language class at the time his wife was shot. His father founded the college.

"Besides her husband, Mrs. Underwood is survived by four sons and a daughter."

Down Memory Lane
FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Twenty-five Years Ago
March 28, 1924

There appears to be considerable interest in the formation of a club in the Cass City community and efforts will be made within the next few weeks to ascertain if there are enough young people sufficiently enthusiastic to proceed with the organization. The movement is sponsored by the Cass City State Bank and young folks desiring full information are requested to consult G. A. Tindale, cashier of the bank or Willis Campbell, instructor in agriculture in the local school.

Township treasurers of Tuscola County have completed settlements with Mrs. Burden Hoover, county treasurer, and $53,709.10 in state, county and township taxes were returned by them as uncollectable. Ernest Croft, treasurer of Elkland Township, proved the best collector of the 28 in the county when he returned only $149.86 unpaid.

The tower tank for the village water plant was delivered at Cass City this week. Henry Nowland & Son, who specialize in the moving of articles of weight, placed the tank and its supports on village grounds near the power house. Work will commence next week in laying the foundation and the tank will be erected about April 20. The distance from the top of the foundation to the bottom of the tank will be 108 feet. The tank has a capacity of 60,000 gallons.

Lawrence Keegan, who has been conducting a blacksmith shop at New Greenleaf, has returned to Cass City to work at his trade. He has purchased the Crafts shop and equipment on East Main St.

Cass City High School's basketball team finished as runners-up in the Class C tournament at Mt. Pleasant last week. Nineteen other schools had qualified for competition in this class. Members of the local team are Allen, Gowen, Hunt, Hutchinson and Smith.

Thirty-five Years Ago
March 27, 1914
Managers of the Rex Theatre have removed the shelving from the east side of the playhouse and have enlarged the stage as a start towards many improvements which they will make in the near future.

Dry sympathizers met at Caro Tuesday afternoon and adopted a constitution and chose the name of the Tuscola County Anti-Saloon League, Inc., for their permanent organization. One member elected by the dries in each voting precinct will constitute the board of trustees who will have control of the affairs of the organization.

One of the pickle sheds of the Williams Pickle Co.'s plant here is being dismantled and will be removed to Greenleaf station where it will again be erected. Peter Lawson, the local manager of the company, says the remaining building is large enough to handle the company's business here as improved shipping facilities make it possible to move the crop more rapidly and less storage room is necessary.

Two hundred thirty-six citizens of Novesta Township attended the township caucus at the Quick school house Saturday. It was necessary to take seven ballots to decide the contest for the office of treasurer.
The matter of bonding Tuscola County for $100,000 to build a new courthouse will come before the taxpayers at the spring election.

The following teachers will leave Friday for their homes where they will spend the Easter vacation: Miss Grace Northrup, Pontiac; Miss Florence Fields, Albion; Miss Coral Reid, Big Rapids; Miss Audrey Pell, Howell; Miss Anna Finkbeiner, Detroit; Miss Mable Milton, Armada.

Vaccinating Pigs
As small pigs are more easily handled than large ones, it is advisable to have pigs vaccinated against cholera, castrated, and earmarked before they are weaned—at about eight weeks of age. It is more economical to have pigs vaccinated early because not as much serum is required as for large pigs and hogs. Early vaccination also provides longer immunity.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Idaho Ghost Town
Bay Horse, a ghost town in Custer county, Idaho, received its name because a man discovered a rich outcrop vein of ore here while he was out looking for his bay horse.

Worm Infestation
Pastures and feedlots are primary sources of worm infestation in livestock.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Fashion Forecast for Spring Includes Little That's New

By Ertta Haley

WHEN YOU START looking at the new spring clothes, the first idea which will come to you is that nothing very new has been added to the fashion picture. There is only more elaboration of details which we have already seen.

This will come as a welcome surprise to those of you who want to get along on a limited clothes budget. Since skirt lengths are about the same as last year, that means you don't have to run out and buy all new dresses and coats.

Furthermore, those of you who were able to buy only a basic wardrobe, can now add some of the trimmings which give you the well-groomed look. You might like to add a new hand bag, new shoes and perhaps a scattering of pins to your costume.

Smart Fabrics, Exquisite Handwork are Featured

You will be impressed by the sheer beauty of fabrics this season like never before. There are perfectly wonderful linens, heavy, luxurious satins, real silk in solid colors or excellent prints, and then the soft sheer fabrics like chiffon which is a very important part of the fashion picture.

The woollens which you'll be seeing in suits and coats are also mate-

Grey Chiffon

This full-skirted pale grey silk chiffon afternoon dress, worn over a matching color crepe slip, is from the spring collection of a New York designer. Below-elbow sleeves are cut in one with the bodice, detailed with a small buttoned collar. The waistline is elasticized and girdled with a bronze leather belt.

on which to use the handwork. When properly applied, the blouse will still look as tailored as it should for a suit.

Neckline Interest Shown Currently

Probably the most outstanding feature of the newest clothes is the importance attached to the neckline. Bared necklines, even in the most strictly casual wear, are featured.

Necklines can take the form of gently rounded curve or they may be deep and plunging such as are featured on many of the new blouses. On others, neckline interest may be displayed with what is known as the portrait type, which means the neckline is outlined with a highly decorative flounce.

On the beach dresses which you'll be buying now or later, you're most apt to run into the strapless variety. These dresses, however, often come with a bolero or stole with which you can cover up, if desired.

Choose Silhouette Most Flattering

This year you may choose the silhouette most flattering to you. The full-skirted look is still with us, but then, too, there's the slim-tailored variety, and several others in-between those two.

The full-skirted look can be very slimming, you'll discover, especially when it's carried out in a soft, sheer material like chiffon. Softly gathered at the waist, it falls in gracious folds that seem to hug the figure.

Skirts on suits are usually slender and tailored, but since they're still thirteen to fourteen inches from the floor, some show slits or back fullness which will make it simple for you to board cars, busses or streetcars.

Most formal dresses are longer than those worn in the daytime, but the ankle-length formal is still the most popular.

Rounded Shoulders Are Essential

The stiff-looking artificial shoulders which we started seeing some time ago have gradually disappeared, and fortunately, too! They have no place in a fashion world which highlights beauty and femininity.

In the really high-priced dresses, no shoulder pads are used. If you do have them, make certain they are small and cleverly concealed. In other words, use padding to give a nice round line, but have it done so carefully that no one realizes you're wearing pads.

Coats Use Plenty Of Materials

Most of the coats seen currently are long and full, whether they're of the belted variety or princess style or fitted. If they're full length, that is, coming to the dress hemline, they're bound to use a lot of material.

Because of the lovely rich fabrics used on coats, you'll be amazed at some of the lovely details in tailoring. These features have often been used in the past, but it takes a good material to show them up to full advantage.

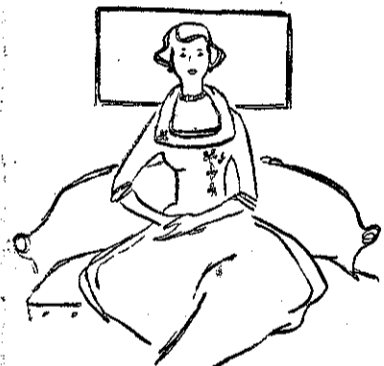

Back fullness is smart . . .

materials which will make you sigh with delight. They are beautifully woven and in stunning colors. Really sleek and silky gabardines that can show tailoring to perfection are as handsome as it's possible to be.

Exquisite handwork is featured on much of the clothing. You'll be seeing a lot of it on the new blouses in the form of magnificently embroidered collars, cuffs and blouse front. On dresses it shows off best on the new portrait neckline as well as the bodice and sometimes on the cuffs.

There is something so rich an utterly feminine about handwork in combination with good materials that you won't want to miss an opportunity to have something of it in your wardrobe. It can, however, be carried out without showing anything fussy.

If you're making a linen blouse for a suit, this is an ideal fabric

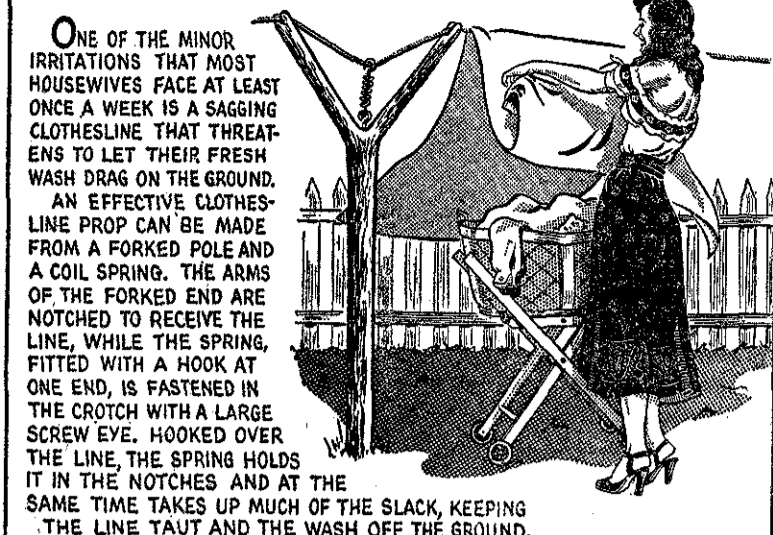

Be Smart!

One of the features of the Empire waistline is the opportunity it gives for a new type of decoration. Newest is the use of scatter pins, many times larger than those worn on your shoulder, so large in fact, that usually one is all you'll want. Very narrow belts are much favored. For sheer woools and those classic dresses of spun rayon, you'll like the ever-smart cord belts, many of which are leather. For soft dresses, there's a newer style: lace-like, jeweled belts that look much like the highly ornamental necklaces you've been wearing.

HOW TO FIX IT

By Tom Gregory

ONE OF THE MINOR IRRITATIONS THAT MOST HOUSEWIVES FACE AT LEAST ONCE A WEEK IS A SAGGING CLOTHESLINE THAT THREATENS TO LET THEIR FRESH WASH DRAG ON THE GROUND. AN EFFECTIVE CLOTHESLINE PROP CAN BE MADE FROM A FORKED POLE AND A COIL SPRING. THE ARMS OF THE FORKED END ARE NOTCHED TO RECEIVE THE LINE, WHILE THE SPRING, FITTED WITH A HOOK AT ONE END, IS FASTENED IN THE CROTCH WITH A LARGE SCREW EYE. HOOKED OVER THE LINE, THE SPRING HOLDS IT IN THE NOTCHES AND AT THE SAME TIME TAKES UP MUCH OF THE SLACK, KEEPING THE LINE TAUT AND THE WASH OFF THE GROUND.

IF YOU HAVE OCCASION TO PUT UP A CLOTHESLINE ON THE PORCH, OR IN THE KITCHEN, A SIMPLE DEVICE FOR KEEPING IT TIGHTLY STRUNG IS TO PASS THE LINE THROUGH A HOOK AND TIE A WEIGHT TO THE END OF IT. PULL DOWN THE LINE TO HANG CLOTHES, RELEASE IT AND THE WEIGHT WILL PULL IT UP TIGHTLY.

Twin Beds Gain Favor

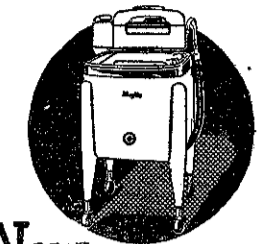

Detroit has started to sleep single, according to reports of retail stores in that city. Before 1945, 62 per cent of the mattresses sold were for double beds. Today, however, twin beds have taken the lead with 52 per cent of the sales.

Time-Saver

It is time-saving to use two galvanized steel water pails when scrubbing the kitchen floor. Use one for soapy water and the other for rinse water, thus eliminating a trip back to the sink for more water.

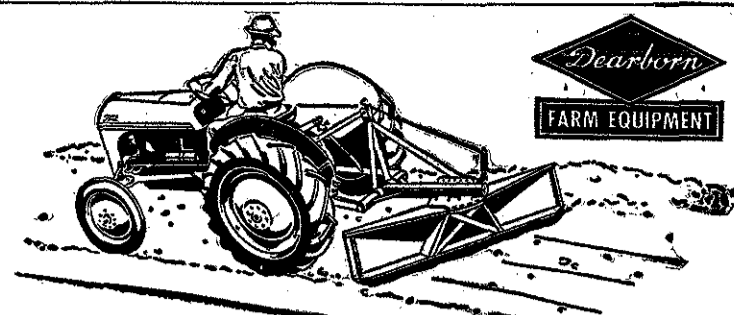

Paint Stucco House
Rain, snow, ice and sleet are natural enemies of stucco. In the winter, rain or snow settles in the cracks in the surface, freezes and enlarges the cracks. As this continues, sooner or later bits of the stucco are forced off and the house becomes unsightly. Proper painting with suitable colors and materials keeps the cracks sealed, the rain, snow and sleet out, and gives character to the house at the same time.

Ought to Know
Girl (quizzing sailor home on leave) — What would you do if your gun captain's head was blown off in the midst of battle?
Sailor—Nothing.
Girl—Why not?
Sailor—I'm the gun captain.

Which?
The conceited young man was even more boring than usual.
"It's a fact," he said with pride, "that people often take me for a member of the Guards."
His pretty companion wasn't impressed.
"Really," she drawled. "Shin-mud—or black?"

Who Else?

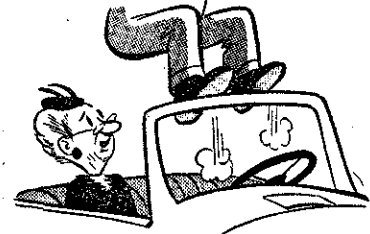

A YOUNG woman went into a large London store to buy a pair of birds. She told the salesman the variety she wished, and that she desired a male and a female. The birds were finally selected and handed to her.

She then asked the salesman how she could tell the difference between the two. He instructed her to go to another store to buy a supply of male and female worms, and told her that when she fed the worms to the birds, the male bird would always eat the female worms while the female bird would eat the male worms. She thanked him and went on her way.

When she got to the door, she turned and came back to the salesman and said: "I must be stupid, but how am I going to tell which are the male and which are the female worms?"

And his reply was: "Madam, I am only a bird expert; you will have to see a worm expert about that."

ANYTHING TO PLEASE

After going about three miles the motorist who had given an old lady a lift on the country road asked: "And where did you say you were going?"

"Well," she said, "to tell you the truth, I was going in the opposite direction, only I didn't like to hurt your feelings when you were so kind as to offer me a ride."

Canned Citrus Juice
More citrus juice was canned in the U. S. during the 1947-'48 season than in any previous year.

HAD ENOUGH

The girl in the ous took her powder puff from her pocket and began powdering her face. That finished, she took out her lipstick and made up the curves of her mouth. Still not content with her appearance, she devoted her attention to her eyebrows. This beauty treatment was too much for the conductor, who had been watching her every movement, and he called out: "Any gent here like to borrow my shaving tackle?"

GRAVE THOUGHTS

A soldier, after placing some flowers on a grave in a cemetery, noticed an old Chinaman placing a bowl of rice on a near-by grave.
"What time do you expect your friend to come up and eat the rice?" asked the soldier.
The old Chinaman replied, with a smile:
"Same time your friend come up to smell flow-ers"

Mistake

A rookie in the cavalry was told to report to his lieutenant.
"Private Jones," said the lieutenant, "take my horse down and have him shod."
After three hours' wait, the officer hunted up Jones and found him cleaning his gun.

"Jones," he said, "where's the horse I told you to have shod?"
The private turned pale and gasped, "Oh, did you say shod?"

Flatterer

Daughter: "I met the best-looking young officer at the dance, and he told me I was the prettiest girl he had ever seen."

Mother: "Now, my dear, don't trust any man who starts to deceive you at the very first meeting."

Point to Remember
The way a dress is made, as well as the fabric in it, determines how easily it will wash and iron.

When Boiling Rice
One teaspoon of lemon juice to the water in which rice is boiled will help to separate the grains.

House Flies
There is now definite evidence that house flies are developing resistance to DDT.

AMG Top Man In Munich Has Mammoth Task

MUNICH.—Murray D. Van Waggoner, former governor of Michigan, feels that he has a big job on his hands here as military governor of Bavaria, one of the three laender (provinces) in the American zone of occupation in Germany.

Van Waggoner is less concerned with the actual execution of policy than he is with supervision of the way in which the elected German officials put these policies into effect.

But the field of this supervision is much broader than it would be in a state government at home, he says. In the absence of any federal government, the laender or state administrations must be both.

Comparing the two jobs, Van Waggoner points out that governors in the United States frequently have the assistance of organized commissions in broad fields of policy like public utilities or conservation.

He has studied the possibilities of such a reform here. But so far, he says, he has not proposed it formally or in private conversations with the Bavarian leaders.

Sees Many Callers

In the governor's office in Lansing, Mich., Van Waggoner says, he saw callers during office hours on the average of one every 15 minutes. Here, outside of his own immediate staff, he sees perhaps three each day. But the volume of correspondence and reports is immensely greater, he says.

He finds the setup of American military government is sometimes cumbersome and unresponsive.

"At home," Van Waggoner explains, "when you decided to do something you called in the people who were involved and went ahead with the job. 'If we decide here in Munich that we want to make some move, it must be approved in Berlin, Frankfurt and a dozen other places. By the time it gets back to us, we may have changed our minds or the whole program may even have ceased to exist.'"

He agrees that teaching the forms of democratic government to the Germans is a task of immense proportions. He does not believe that the Americans and the other occupying powers are proceeding too quickly in turning over authority to the local officials.

Some Never Learn

"There are some people," he says, "who never learn to swim until they are pushed off the end of a dock."

He adds tolerantly: "Of course, they will make some mistakes." Among the bars to genuine democratic progress there are two factors, Van Waggoner thinks, which outweigh the others.

One is an entrenched and hugely jealous civil service which starts its protection at the top instead of at the bottom. "It is almost impossible to remove a policy-forming official, but he puts fear, or scrub-woman, can be tossed to the political wolves any time," he says.

Abundance of Salisburys Pittance in Duplication

CHICAGO. — Twenty-two communities in the world are named Salisbury, but they are a pittance in the realm of duplication, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Mayor R. G. Gordon of Salisbury, England, sent Christmas greetings yesterday to the twenty-one other Salisburys. At the same time he challenged any other town or city to produce a greater number of sister places.

How about Clinton, which thirty-three cities and towns use as their name? asks Britannica. Thirty Clintons are situated in the United States, one in New Zealand and two in Canada.

And, says the Encyclopaedia firm, there are thirty-two Clintons in the United States, New Zealand, Australia, Canada and Westmorland, England, Chester, in Cheshire, England, has twenty-nine namesakes.

There are twenty-nine Center-villes, twenty-eight Springfields, twenty-eight Auburns, twenty-seven Belmonts and twenty-seven Clevelands, just to scratch the surface.

City Does Not Determine Whether Costs High, Low

LINCOLN, NEB.—The idea that the cost of living varies sharply from city to city doesn't carry much weight with the business-research bureau at the University of Nebraska.

Living expenses are 12 per cent lower in New Orleans than in Washington, but those are the two extremes, the bureau reported. In 34 cities studied, the "average difference" amounted to less than 3 per cent. Dr. Edgar Z. Palmer, bureau chief, said. Food costs varied about 1 1/2 per cent.

"It seems to make little difference what city we live in," he said. "Living costs too much in any, and there is not much choice."

Population appears to have no effect on living expenses, Palmer said.

When you make a friend you sometimes destroy an enemy.

New Plymouth on Display

Plymouth's new special deluxe four-door sedan (above). Throughout the new Plymouth line beautifully streamlined bodies are lower and narrower, seats are wider and headroom greater. At the same time overall exterior dimensions are reduced, but wheelbase has been lengthened to 118 inches and glass area is increased. Horsepower is raised to 97. Although fenders flow gracefully into the body they are detachable for ease in repair.

New Plymouth Features Beauty, Performance, Safety and Comfort

Brilliant new styling is combined with outstanding riding comfort, increased roominess, and sweeping mechanical improvements in the new line of Plymouth automobiles. Completely redesigned, the new Plymouth has a longer wheelbase for a better ride and more road stability, but less front and rear overhang for easier parking and garaging. While the silhouette has been lowered and the width decreased, there is more head and leg room and seats are wider. Typical of Plymouth's many refinements is the ignition-starter combination, with which a turn of the key starts the engine. The new Plymouths are sleek in appearance. New rear-end styling provides a graceful balance with the horizontal grille lines which emphasize the broadness of the front fenders which blend perfectly into body lines are nevertheless separate and detachable, thus avoiding sheet metal panels so costly to repair or replace. The new Plymouth line includes nine distinct automobiles. Special deluxe and deluxe types are on a 118-inch wheelbase, one inch longer than last year's. Special deluxe models are: four-door sedan, club coupe, convertible club coupe and station wagon. In the deluxe group are the four-door sedan and the club coupe. In addition, Plymouth will build three deluxe models on a brand new 111-inch wheelbase, a two-door sedan, a three-passenger coupe, and a new body type, the Suburban. The 97-horsepower engine has improved performance and efficiency with a new design cylinder head which increases compression ratio to 7 to 1. A new chrome plated compression piston ring reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, while a newly-designed intake manifold induces quicker, smoother engine warm-up and produces faster throttle response. Body styling which produces greater passenger room without excessive bulk also increases visibility. V-type windshields have 37 percent more area and provide excellent vision without distortion. Windshield wipers clear 61.5 percent greater area and the rear window is 35.4 percent larger.

Cushioned Footsteps

John G. Tufford, Elyria, Ohio, cobbler, found flat rubber heels unsatisfactory, so in 1914 he invented a rubber heel that was concave inside and convex outside to keep tight contact with leather. Shoe store clerks helped finance patent application for shares. Canadian and English patent rights yielded a half a million dollars.
