Mrs. Marble Attends Operas in Vienna

Sub Post Sonthofen APO 178 A, c/o P.M., N. Y., N. Y. 11, March 1949.

Dear Friends,

Since Germany is famous for its culture (since and before Hitler), I have been trying to cultivate a better taste for music. On Thursday, Feb. 17, I attended a piano concert given by Elly Ney, the most famous pianist of the present time. She played Beethoven music and was accompanied by a cellist. My school officer, Major Moreland, and his wife were my guests. They are grand people and we all enjoyed the evening immensely.

We had planned to leave for Vienna via Munich. I planned to go with Captain Calhoun, Adjutant at the hospital, and his wife. His wife is one of my assistants since three weeks. It is a good thing I planned to accompany military personnel. Here is what he had to obtain for each and every one of us.

(1) orders from headquarters giving us permission to go. (2) rail authorization which would allow us to ride the Mozart which is the military train going from Munich to Vienna. (3) A Grey pass. This is special and demanded by the Russian. Concluded on page 10.

Kindergarten Enjoys Outdoor Experiences

Monday was a full day of pleasurable experiences for 62 kindergarten children. At 9:00 these girls and boys accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Webster and four student teachers, Margaret Peddie, Eunice Tuckey, Emaline Bullis and Helen Phetteplace, boarded two school buses.

The first stop of the trip was made at Mr. Steward's to see his rabbits. They traveled on to Caro, where they visited the Bowles Hatchery. They saw how mother hen was replaced. Little minds could scarcely comprehend the fact that little chickens could be hatched without mother hen's assistance.

Then the bus motored to the Bruce Shaw farm. Pony and horse rides brought shouts of glee. The horses put on a wonderful show for the children. Here they saw young calves, cows, and a baby pig.

A little after 12:00, tempting lunches were spread out on Mr. Campbell's lawn, milk and generous servings of ice cream made the dinner complete.

Flowering in the woods rounded out the day. About 2:30, 62 tired, but happy children, armed with May baskets, started homeward.

Cass City Drops First Game of the Season to Caro

Gageton Suffered Severe Setback at Hand of the Local Nine

Scoring three runs in the last inning, Caro High School defeated Cass City 7 to 6 to give the locals their first defeat of the season on Saturday at Caro.

It appeared as though the Red Hawks were well on the road to their fifth straight win when Caro scored three times on errors and hits. Duane Klein, Caro pitcher, and Ron Bullis, Cass City, pitched fine ball but loose play by teammates made scoring rather frequent.

Score:

Cass City .. 1 0 1 3 0 1 0-6 7 4

Caro 0 2 0 1 1 0 8-7 10 2

The game with Gageton on Monday, however, was a much different affair. It looked more like a track meet for the score was an unbelievable 33 to 3 in favor of Cass City. Wildness on the part of the Gageton pitchers caused frequent scoring by the Cass City batters.

Gerald Whittaker gained his first high school victory as he turned back the Gageton batters with only three hits. Lee Hartel hit a single, a double and a home run to lead Cass City hitters.

Score:

Gageton- 0 2 0 1 0 0 0-3 2 7

Cass City- 1 1 2 9 17 3 x-33 15 3

Rural Life Sunday Comes on May 22

Church organizations throughout the country will unite in observing Rural Life Sunday, or 4-H Club Sunday, on May 22, according to County 4-H Club agent, Byron E. Carpenter.

Since its beginning nearly two decades ago, the observance of 4-H Club Sunday has become increasingly significant in the 4-H Club program. This year the theme will be "Better Living for a Better World."

Observance of the 4-H Club Sunday gives the 4-H member an opportunity to participate in a service that develops the "heart H." Agent Byron Carpenter points out that it acquaints 4-H members with other character-building agencies, it helps them to realize their own responsibilities to their community, and it helps them to cooperate with other community groups.

Ministers and priests in all parts of the county are being contacted and informed of this special date. It is suggested that some special mention might be made for 4-H members during services on May 22.

4-H members throughout the county are especially urged to attend services at their churches on 4-H Club Sunday, says Mr. Carpenter.

Reverend Paul Allured of Lansing will supply the Presbyterian pulpit Sunday morning, May 8.—5-6-1 Adv.

Michigan Mirror

"When I get through at Lansing, I trust no one will say, 'Williams slept here'."

G. Mennen Williams, Michigan's youthful governor and Democratic protégé of former Governor Frank Murphy, tossed off the words crisply.

The newspaper editors laughed heartily. The governor was appearing at their traditional "State of Michigan Press Conference" to answer written questions. The moderator, Senator Don Vandewerp of Fremont, had previously introduced State Treasurer D. Hale Brake with a humorous reference to Brake's boyhood days in Newaygo County. Fremont could well put up a monument, "Hale Brake Slept Here," said Vandewerp. All this happened in January, 1949.

The state legislature has two weeks left before adjournment May 20.

Many weeks have gone by since Governor Williams presented his program of social reform. He had proposed public housing, liberal workmen's compensation benefits and extension of medical care and disability payments. "Injured workers should be allowed medical care as long as necessary."

Unemployment benefits should be increased, and coverage should be extended to all employers and employees. (Now limited to eight or more.) Also fair employment practice law modeled after the New York statute.

More state aid for higher education and for vocational education. Old age assistance benefits should be increased from $50 to $60 monthly maximum. Michigan farm produce would be offered to consumers with a "Michigan Seal of Quality" supported by strict grading and marketing research.

Stream pollution laws would be tightened, and money provided whereby state institutions might eliminate pollution of public waters.

To finance all this and to bridge the growing gap in the treasury caused by sales diversion, Governor Williams proposed a tax on corporation profits. He condemned Michigan's present tax system as "soaking the consumer."

What does Governor Williams think now—four months after his inauguration—about all this? At a luncheon of the Detroit Economics club, he panned the legislature for shelving much of his program. "We are like a bunch of crows flapping over the carcass of the past when we ought to be eagles soaring to meet new horizons," he declared. Michigan's state government is "10 years behind the times."

The state's labor legislation, he said, was inadequate. The legislature, controlled by the Republican party, was obstructing progress. And so on.

There was a strong note of frustration in Governor Williams' words. If he had once hoped to accomplish these reforms through bipartisan action, now he was in doubt.

Prior to the spring election, Governor Williams had urged the voters to make a clear-cut choice between the Republican record of "inaction" and the Democratic path to social justice. The April verdict, a whopping victory for the G. O. P., was a "disappointment" to Williams. He continued to insist that his November victory was a popular mandate for his spending program.

In the meanwhile, Republican leaders are seeking to transform parts of Williams' proposals into G. O. P. accomplishments, while avoiding imposition of new or higher taxes for state needs. Economy and revenue adjustments would plug the major part of the deficit.

If the state incurs a deficit—as seems inevitable in view of the 78 per cent ear-marking of state sales tax revenue—Governor Williams is likely to blame the legislature for it.

Does Williams hope to win reelection in 1950 by taking a cue from President Truman's successful attacks on the 80th "do-nothing" Congress?

Kim Sigler criticized the 1947-48 legislature for blocking his program of centralized streamlining of state government. In 1949 Governor Williams is also critical.

His reference to "a bunch of crows" reveals his impatience. In a few weeks the legislature's record will be written. We intend to review the results in this column.

Rats destroyed or damaged 200 million bushels of grain last year, the U. S. department of agriculture estimates. If this amount of grain were all wheat, it would be sufficient to supply one pound of bread every day for a year to 38 million people.

Miss Addison has made the trip from England to the United States several times in the last few years.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Serve Home-Made Rolls Often! (See Recipes Below)

Bake at Home

HOMEMAKERS who want to keep up their morale will find satisfaction in the praise of the family. Such remarks as "Oh, boy, mom is making those rolls for dinner tonight," or "The house smells wonderful with that bread baking," bring a lift and a thrill to the heart of many of us besieged with the routine of endless cleaning, dusting, laundry and preparing meals.

No longer need there be an excuse for not making yeast-raised breads and rolls at home, for methods have become exceedingly simplified recently. You don't even have to knead these delightful concoctions any more, and in many cases, one rising is sufficient.

No-knead rolls and bread are light and delicious. They do not have quite as fine a texture as breads which have been kneaded, but this is a small matter, especially when you can have fragrant yeast rolls so quickly.

The recipes for quick rolls of this type are quite different from others you've used. Less flour is used and the dough is soft. The directions given in this column have been carefully tested, so be sure to follow them closely, and you'll have amazing success.

FOR THIS SEASON of the year, one recipe which you'll want to use often, is that for hot cross buns.

Hot Cross Buns (Makes 18)

- 1 cup scalded milk
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 package yeast, compressed or dry granular
- 1 egg
- 3 cups sifted, all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine milk, shortening, sugar and salt. When lukewarm, add yeast and mix thoroughly. Blend in egg, then add gradually the flour with raisins and cinnamon and mix until well-blended and soft. Place in a greased bowl and cover. Place dough in refrigerator until needed, or allow to rest for 10 minutes before shaping.

Form dough into buns and place on greased baking sheet. Let rise in a warm place (80° to 85°) until light, about 45 minutes. In the meantime, combine one well-beaten egg white with two tablespoons of cold water and brush the tops of the buns with the mixture just before baking. Slash a deep cross on top of each bun with a sharp knife, after they have risen. Bake in a hot (425°) oven for 20 minutes.

Combine four teaspoons of milk with one cup sifted confectioner's sugar and one-fourth teaspoon vanilla. Drip this mixture over the buns filling the crosses, while the rolls are still hot.

Omit the raisins and cinnamon from the above recipe and use it for LYNN SAYS: Serve Hot Sandwiches For a Savory Lunch

Scrambled eggs placed between two slices of buttered toast which have been spread with anchovy paste make a delectable sandwich.

Spread deviled ham on white bread, top with another slice of bread and dip in an egg-milk mixture. Fry as for French toast.

Hot sliced tongue makes an excellent sandwich when teamed with fried apples on a toasted English muffin.

caramel rolls, as follows:

Caramel Rolls

Spread the dough with one and one-half tablespoons butter, melted, one-fourth cup brown sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon. Roll and cut into one-inch pieces. Combine one-half cup brown sugar, three tablespoons honey-flavored corn syrup and one tablespoon butter. Spread about one tablespoon of this mixture in greased muffin tins and place in cut pieces of dough. Let rise until light, then bake in a moderately hot (375°) oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown.

There's an old-fashioned hot bread which grandmother used to make, potato rolls, a recipe which has now been brought up-to-date with streamlined technique to speed the process.

*Potato Rolls (Makes 2 dozen)

- 1 cup scalded milk
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 package yeast, compressed or dry granular
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup hot, mashed potatoes (unseasoned)
- 4 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Combine the milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Add yeast and mix well. Blend in beaten eggs and mashed potatoes. Add gradually the flour and mix until well-blended and dough is soft. Store dough in refrigerator or cold place for at least two hours or until needed. The top of the dough should be greased.

When ready to use, roll chilled, dough to one-half inch thickness on a floured board. Cut with a two and one-half inch cutter. Place on a greased baking sheet. (Or, shape rolls into any shape desired, like parkerhouse, cloverleaf, twists, braids, bowknots, etc.) Let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about one and one-half hours. Bake in a moderately hot (400°) oven for 15-20 minutes.

Orange Bread (Makes 1 loaf)

- 1 cake yeast, compressed or dry granular
- 1/2 cup lukewarm water
- 1 beaten egg
- 2 tablespoons melted shortening
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- Grated rind of 2 oranges
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 4 cups flour

Dissolve the yeast in water. Add the beaten egg, shortening, sugar, orange rind and juice. Stir in flour, mixing until smooth. Add more flour, if necessary, to make dough easy to handle. Let rise in bowl until doubled in bulk. Place in a greased loaf pan and let rise again until doubled in bulk. Bake in a hot (400°) oven for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350°) and bake for 45 minutes longer.

Bulk sausage meat, fried in patties, and placed between hot pancakes, made the same size as the sausage patty, are hearty as well as good.

Place baked or boiled ham on a slice of bread and spread thinly with mustard. Top with a slice of American cheese and place in the oven until cheese melts slightly.

Sprinkle thick slices of tomato with salt, pepper and bits of bacon. Serve on slices of buttered toast which has been spread with ham salad or deviled ham.

CHANGE OF OPERATION IN COUNSELING CENTER

The Tuscola County Council of Veterans' Affairs announces a change in operation of the Veterans' Counseling Center, now located in the Court House, has become necessary.

Effective June 1, W. Emerson Scott, veterans' counselor, will be employed on a half time basis only and no additional clerical help will be employed. The counselor will be on duty Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week during June and July. The office will then be closed out completely on August 1.

Arthur Dehmel, chairman of the council, stated the gradual closing of the office was agreed upon by the group, in order that service officers of the various veteran organizations and other persons in the county could prepare themselves more fully for possible additional request for aid from veterans. Some time is also needed to acquaint the veterans of the county of the coming change.

Every veteran organization in the county is a member of the Council of Veterans' Affairs. The majority of the membership was present Tuesday night when the change in operations was agreed upon.

Mr. Dehmel stated the office had been operated to the entire satisfaction of the council. This change in operational procedure, he said, was brought about by the change in operations of the Red Cross office.

The Red Cross and the council have operated an office jointly since May 1 of 1946 and have shared the services of paid personnel. This will not be possible after June 1 and the council does not have enough monies on hand to operate a full time office independent of the Red Cross.

CHANGE IN RED CROSS OPERATIVE PROCEDURE

The board of directors of the Tuscola County Chapter, the American Red Cross, has announced a change in its operative procedure.

At a recent meeting the board decided that on June 1 it will abolish the position of executive secretary. A full time home service worker will be employed instead. The board also decided that it must dispense with paid clerical help.

This change has been brought about by circumstances over which the local chapter has had no control. In at least two instances, the board has had to refuse monies raised by Community Chest organizations in the county. This was brought about by fund raising policies of the national organization and at the insistence of two of its representatives who have visited the chapter during the past campaign.

If the local chapter had been free to accept the $2100.00 available from Community Chests, the chapter's quota of $12,868 would likely have been attained.

Clean-up Days Today, Tomorrow

Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7, have been designated as clean-up days by Village President Clifford Croft. The dates were set at the last regular meeting of the village council. Village trustees urge all citizens to enter the campaign to make Cass City a place more beautiful and more healthful.

Following the custom of former years, the village truck will haul away tin cans and other rubbish at the expense of the village. All debris should be placed in barrels, boxes or other containers in a convenient place at the street curb for loading on the truck.

All persons are requested to cooperate in this spring cleaning campaign.

Funeral of Paul A. Jones Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Paul Arthur Jones, 49, were held Tuesday at 9 a. m. in St. Pancratius Church. Rev. John J. Bozek officiated and burial was made in Elkland cemetery under the auspices of Tri-County Post No. 507 of the American Legion of which he was a member. Mr. Jones died Saturday night in his parental home here, following a long illness.

Son of the late Arthur Jones and Mrs. Laurie Moore Jones, he was born here Jan. 14, 1900. He served in the Navy during World War I and following that took up horticultural work.

At Saginaw on March 9, 1935, he was married to Miss Lillian Kahn. He is survived by his widow and his mother. His father died in 1947 and a brother, Dr. Park Jones, died in 1929.

MICHIGAN Motoring

Have you ever had a flat tire when you were out on the highway and in a hurry? It's exasperating, isn't it? — to have to change the tire yourself, especially in a hurry. But, even more important... that flat tire could have been dangerous!

If you are traveling at a high rate of speed you may not be able to control your car when a tire "blows" . . . you may swerve off the road into a ditch, or you might smash into another automobile! These are chances that no driver on Michigan's highways today can afford to take — no matter how safe a driver you are, an unsafe car can cost your life. Don't take chances . . . make sure that every inch of your automobile is in good running condition. Have your tires checked — have them repaired or replaced if there is a chance that they might become dangerous. Have your brakes checked carefully — your motor. Never start on a long trip without having your car thoroughly overhauled.

These automobile checks do not take long, and they may be the means of saving your life, that of a passenger — or those in the cars you meet on the highway.

Drive a safe car — for safety!

Legislative Letter

By A. P. Decker

Meeting a deadline as the legislative session goes into the home stretch is always a pretty rugged business, but this year the going seems to be tougher.

Starting out with a heavy work week, we advanced our hour of meeting from 8 p. m. on Monday to 3 p. m., giving us the opportunity to get several bills on the calendar considered, recess long enough for the dinner hour to permit several committee meetings for the purpose of reporting out House Bills, and then reconvening for an evening session. Thus the pattern was set for the balance of the week, with numerous committee meetings, and long sessions. As this letter is being written at midnight Thursday, something like 90 bills, to say nothing of the resolutions, have been reported out of our various House committees, for consideration and passage this week.

We passed a general revision of the sportsmen's fishing laws after deleting a provision which raised the dealers' commission from 5 to 15c from the sale of fishing licenses.

Also passed was the Senate Bill increasing old age assistance from $50 to $60. It was not, however, passed until considerable debate had taken place, and efforts to place an amendment in the bill to repeal the "recovery" clause was decisively defeated.

Another measure that passed only after a long drawn out debate was an election bill which would prohibit the use of public funds for electioneering.

After a struggle, during which a call of the House was ordered, the House passed a gas tax bill. As originally reported, the bill called for a 2-cent a gal. increase, but before passage, it was amended to a 1-cent increase. The debate was very bitter on this bill and many farmers' ears should have burned plenty, for the opponents of an increase raked the outstate and farmers (particularly those with the little "red tanks" in their back yards) over the coals. The balance of the road program bills, which I discussed in a previous letter, and which were introduced as the result of the study committee's survey, were all sent back to committee today. The gas tax bill has now gone to the Senate, where its fate is problematical inasmuch as it is rumored there is a hostile attitude in the Senate toward the bill. Hours of debate centered around a bill to legalize the Fraternal Order of Police before it was beaten the second time. Having been defeated previously by one vote, and the vote reconsidered, it was laid on the table. In discussing the measure, the charge was made that it was aimed particularly at overriding the objections of Detroit officials. The charge was denied by proponents of the bill who felt that a police commissioner should not have authority to bar the policemen in that city from joining a fraternal organization of their own, but apparently the thought took root and stuck in the minds of a majority of the members. The fact that the Supreme Court had upheld previous bans had some bearing on the matter.

Delaying tactics on the part of the minority party threw a monkey wrench into the machinery today. With 100 bills on the calendar, and a certainty that more would come out of committee for consideration today and tomorrow, the democrats employed a new strategy in slowing down the legislative wheels. Refusing to go along on a suspension of rules to permit the advancing bills, considered on G. O. today, to their immediate passage, the orderly procedure was temporarily stalled. Going back into the order of General Orders, we proceeded to discuss and advance to Third Reading, all Senate Bills then on the calendar on G. O. It had not been the intention to consider the Senate Bills this week, inasmuch as the deadline applied only to House Bills in the House, and Senate Bills in the Senate. . . in other words, the bills had to pass the house of origin this week. Intent on getting our work done, with the knowledge that any House Bill which did not pass the House this week, would automatically be dead unless the adjournment resolution is reconsidered, and the date changed, we continued on in session until one minute before midnight, adjourning only for 6 minutes; Friday's session will begin in 5 minutes, or 12:05 a. m. Being another legislative day, we can then go into Third Reading of bills, and start cleaning up the calendar. Just what is going to happen is difficult to say now, for if the minority party continue their present tactics, it is certain many measures will fall by the wayside unless the adjournment date is changed. Many possibilities are opening up, but just which course will be pursued is yet to be determined later in the day.

Is it not a fact that only a thin space separates the notable from the not able printer?

Dairymen Need Good Pastures

Abundant supplies of good pasture during the 150 to 175 days of normal grazing in the year reduces the cost of milk production, says J. G. Hays, dairy extension project leader at Michigan State College.

Grass, the only natural feed for cows, will provide a complete ration for the dairy herd, Hays states. A lush, succulent grass offers minerals, proteins, sugars, and starches, plus tons of abundance of vitamins.

A dairy cow will eat an estimated five tons of grass during the season. Careful planning of pasture land and crop rotations is necessary to meet this demand, Hays points out.

Thoughtful dairymen are using a sequence of grass seedings for pasture purposes. Plantings of special grasses, such as Reed canary for wet spots, sudan for the hot summer period, and rye for late fall and early spring grazing, will supplement the reliable alfalfa-brome mixture. Alfalfa-brome normally supplies the bulk of grass fed during the early and middle summer season, the specialist continues.

Dairy herd improvement association records show that most profits are made by dairymen supplying ample feed during the entire year. A good, well-fertilized pasture supplemented with small rations of grain or silage will pay dividends.

Farmers should plan now to attend the Grass Day programs to be held throughout the state in June, Hays advises. These programs, sponsored by the Michigan State College cooperative extension service with other agencies cooperating, will include demonstrations and information on good pasture management.

Chopping and Baling Custom Rates Listed

Many farmers are now making plans for custom work with field choppers and balers. Some plan to hire work done and others will use their equipment to work for others.

A recent survey by E. R. Bookout and R. W. Christian, agricultural economists at Michigan State College, shows many of the common rates charged for custom field chopping and baling.

Most of the rates reported for field chopping were on an hourly basis. The rates varied with the amount of power and equipment furnished by the custom operator. One group of farmers furnished the field chopper and blower, one tractor and two wagons. The usual charge for this group was $8.00 per hour for chopping hay, straw, or corn for silage.

The next group were the custom operators who furnished the field chopper and blower, two tractors, two or three wagons and an extra man. The most common rate for this group was $10.00 per hour.

For chopping corn for silage, a few farmers reported a charge per hour for the use of the chopper in the field. To this charge was added a rate per foot of silo height for the use of the equipment at the silo. The usual rates were $6.50 per hour for the field work and $1.00 to $2.00 per foot, depending on silo width.

Automatic string tie balers for baling hay or straw were charged for at 12 cents per bale without a towed wagon. Addition of the wagon added one cent per bale.

Three man wire tie balers were charged for at 14 cents per bale when no wagon was towed. One cent per bale was added for the wagon.

Mrs. Marble Attends Operas in Vienna

Well, we left Friday but instead of leaving from Munich, we drove to Salzburg. Salzburg is in the American Zone of Austria. The train left at 10:25 and so as we had hours to spend, we called on Jim McCully who is a former Michigan man. At present he is principal of the schools at Salzburg. His wife and children plan to come over in August. We had a grand visit. Jim and I both came over on the Vance and we ate together three times per day as our names both began with M. We had a good time catching up on all the news as he knew all the teachers I knew.

The ride on the Mozart is very enlightening. All shades are pulled very tight. There are plenty of M. P.'s riding the train at all times. This alone made me feel scary. The road bed was very rough and so, even though we had sleepers, we didn't sleep much. The only sleep we had was the hour or so after the train arrived in Vienna.

But I've almost forgotten the highly rated individual who rode the Mozart too, Tyrone Power and his new wife, Linda Christian. He sure is old looking, but mostly looks like his pictures. We had many views of him and also her.

Saturday night we went to the opera and saw Wagner's Tannhauser. I have always said that I didn't like Wagner, but I surely enjoyed this production. Tyrone was also at the opera. After the opera we went to the Bristol Club. I was surprised to see so many people that I knew. But when I realize that over one hundred twenty teachers came over on the boat with me, I guess it isn't so surprising.

Sunday we went out to see the beautiful palace of Franz Joseph of Austria. The palace is filled with beautiful furniture, paintings and pencil paintings of Maria Theresa's children. It also contains relics of Napoleon's visits. Has a bust of his son and even the stuffed bird which the boy loved. (Of course the bird wasn't dead at that time.) It was interesting to see the iron bed in which Franz Joseph always slept. Crowds thronged the palace and the palace grounds. It was a nice warm day, so warm in fact that we just wore our suits.

Sunday night we again attended the opera. This time Tyrone wasn't there and the production also was light. It was "A Night in Venice" by Strauss. The acting, singing, and dancing were gorgeous. It was the best I have seen anywhere. Then too, I enjoy Strauss.

We ate at several Viennese restaurants. The food was good and the coffee simply horrible. The coffee was Turkish. One restaurant manager brewed it specially for us. It was potable—but that's all.

On Monday we went shopping in the International Zone. Of course I was looking for Russians, but saw none. Mrs. Calhoun and I each bought ourselves a hat. It made us both feel very swanky anyway. We wanted to shop in the P. X. too, but it was closed. The night before, $10,000 and all the watches and jewelry had been removed from the store. What a haul!

Monday night we left at 9 p. m. for Salzburg on the Mozart. Again all the shades were tightly drawn. Again we were told that all the doors were locked, as we began our return trip. We also were forbidden to leave our cars. The shrieking whistle of the train, the rough ride, and my vivid imagination prevented me from sleeping, so I was worn out. It took us seven hours to drive from Salzburg to Southofen.

Just one word about the people of Vienna. They are no longer a happy people. It is not a gay city. In fact we thought it horribly dirty. I was somewhat disappointed in the city itself. But we had a grand time and a wonderful trip. And whoever would have thought that Eva Marble, an ordinary school teacher, would one day be a visitor in Vienna, Austria?

As always,
Your friend,
EVA MARBLE.

$107,440 in Sales Tax to Tuscola Co.

Gives Simple Directions for Pasteurizing Milk

Though many Michigan families produce their own milk supply, they can have pasteurized milk with very little trouble. Good milk is an important food for everyone from baby to grandmother and it should be safe to drink.

Two methods for pasteurization are suggested by Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State College. These directions are approved by the State Health Department.

Pour 4 to 6 quarts of clean fresh milk into a kettle and place a floating dairy thermometer in the milk. Do not use tin, iron or chipped enamel utensils or a candy thermometer which is part copper. Heat the milk rapidly, stirring constantly, until a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit is reached. If you heat it above 160 degrees the milk will taste cooked or boiled.

Place the kettle immediately into a large pan of cold water. Keep the kettle covered to prevent scum from forming. Cool the milk quickly to 60 degrees or lower. Change the water in the pan often. Store well covered in a cold, clean place.

Here is another method suitable for pasteurizing one or two quarts of milk and no thermometer is necessary. Place one or two quarts of milk in top of a double boiler. Cover. Place 1 quart of water in bottom part of cooker. Boil water vigorously for 10 minutes. This method was worked out by the departments of dairy and bacteriology at Michigan State College.

Dynamite Is Magic Worker on Farmland Must Be Carefully Used to Prevent Harm

Dynamite is the Paul Bunyan of the modern farm. Like the make-believe, giant lumberman who could uproot trees and do other remarkable things, explosives, properly and carefully used, can perform scores of labor-saving tasks about the farm, according to F. S. Eldred, manager of the explosives and powder divisions, Olin industries, East Alton, Ill.

Farmers today are finding they can save much labor and time in digging ditches, blasting out stumps, making post holes, cleaning out water holes and even planting trees by the use of explosives, Eldred says.

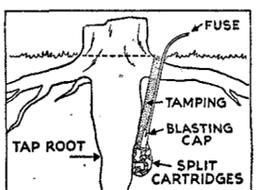

"But caution is the watchword," he warns. Like fire, dynamite is an excellent servant and a terrible master. When the farmer uses it with full knowledge of the great labor-saving work it can do, as well as the fearful damage, he has a giant farm hand who can almost perform miracles."

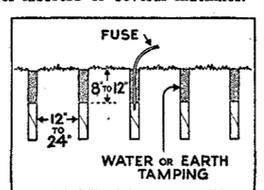

Stumps are a bugbear to farmers. Each is a problem in itself. The farmer must study the type of stump, whether it has roots that run along just under the ground, or has great tap roots. Then he must carefully plan how to blast out that stump with dynamite. Again "caution" is the watchword. If not sure, the farmer should consult an explosives expert. But the typical way to blast a stump is to place the dynamite as near as possible under the center mass, or under the largest roots. If there are two large roots, it may be necessary to plant the explosive under both.

Sometimes there are stumps with central downward roots, called tap roots. In such a case, as shown in Figure 2, the charge is placed down alongside the tap root on the side that will bring it as near as possible to the center of the stump. Another great labor-saving task can be performed with dynamite. That is the digging of ditches. Dynamite can be easily carried through the woods, swamps and other country impassable to horses or machines and, once there, can quickly do more work than dozens of laborers or several machines.

But always the words "safety-first" must be kept in mind. The farmer should know his explosive, know the type of soil in which he is operating and should not trust his own judgement. If there is ever any doubt, he should consult an expert.

Ditches are dug by dynamite not by placing one charge, blowing out a hole then using another charge. Figure 3 shows the dynamite planted stick by stick at regular intervals so that whole sections are blown out at the same time. In this way, the earth does not fall back into a part of the ditch already dug. One of the advantages of digging ditches with dynamite is that there are no "spoil banks."

Dairymen Need Good Pastures

Abundant supplies of good pasture during the 150 to 175 days of normal grazing in the year reduces the cost of milk production, says J. G. Hays, dairy extension project leader at Michigan State College.

Grass, the only natural feed for cows, will provide a complete ration for the dairy herd, Hays states. A lush, succulent grass offers minerals, proteins, sugars, and starches, plus tons of abundance of vitamins.

A dairy cow will eat an estimated five tons of grass during the season. Careful planning of pasture land and crop rotations is necessary to meet this demand, Hays points out.

Thoughtful dairymen are using a sequence of grass seedings for pasture purposes. Plantings of special grasses, such as Reed canary for wet spots, sudan for the hot summer period, and rye for late fall and early spring grazing, will supplement the reliable alfalfa-brome mixture.

Alfalfa-brome normally supplies the bulk of grass fed during the early and middle summer season, the specialist continues. Dairy herd improvement association records show that most profits are made by dairymen supplying ample feed during the entire year.

Chopping and Baling Custom Rates Listed

Many farmers are now making plans for custom work with field choppers and balers. Some plan to hire work done and others will use their equipment to work for others.

A recent survey by E. R. Bookout and R. W. Christian, agricultural economists at Michigan State College, shows many of the common rates charged for custom field chopping and baling.

Most of the rates reported for field chopping were on an hourly basis. The rates varied with the amount of power and equipment furnished by the custom operator. One group of farmers furnished the field chopper and blower, one tractor and two wagons.

The next group were the custom operators who furnished the field chopper and blower, two tractors, two or three wagons and an extra man. The most common rate for this group was $10.00 per hour.

For chopping corn for silage, a few farmers reported a charge per hour for the use of the chopper in the field. To this charge was added a rate per foot of silo height for the use of the equipment at the silo. The usual rates were $6.50 per hour for the field work and $1.00 to $2.00 per foot, depending on silo width.

Mrs. Marble Attends Operas in Vienna

Well, we left Friday but instead of leaving from Munich, we drove to Salzburg. Salzburg is in the American Zone of Austria. The train left at 10:25 and so as we had hours to spend, we called on Jim McCully who is a former Michigan man. At present he is principal of the schools at Salzburg. His wife and children plan to come over in August. We had a grand visit. Jim and I both came over on the Vance and we ate together three times per day as our names both began with M. We had a good time catching up on all the news as he knew all the teachers I knew.

The ride on the Mozart is very enlightening. All shades are pulled very tight. There are plenty of M. P.'s riding the train at all times. This alone made me feel scary. The road bed was very rough and so, even though we had sleepers, we didn't sleep much. The only sleep we had was the hour or so after the train arrived in Vienna.

But I've almost forgotten the highly rated individual who rode the Mozart too, Tyrone Power and his new wife, Linda Christian. He sure is old looking, but mostly looks like his pictures. We had many views of him and also her.

Saturday night we went to the opera and saw Wagner's Tannhauser. I have always said that I didn't like Wagner, but I surely enjoyed this production. Tyrone was also at the opera. After the opera we went to the Bristol Club. I was surprised to see so many people that I knew. But when I realize that over one hundred twenty teachers came over on the boat with me, I guess it isn't so surprising.

Sunday we went out to see the beautiful palace of Franz Joseph of Austria. The palace is filled with beautiful furniture, paintings and pencil paintings of Maria Theresa's children. It also contains relics of Napoleon's visits. Has a bust of his son and even the stuffed bird which the boy loved. (Of course the bird wasn't dead at that time.) It was interesting to see the iron bed in which Franz Joseph always slept. Crowds thronged the palace and the palace grounds. It was a nice warm day, so warm in fact that we just wore our suits.

Sunday night we again attended the opera. This time Tyrone wasn't there and the production also was light. It was "A Night in Venice" by Strauss. The acting, singing, and dancing were gorgeous. It was the best I have seen anywhere. Then too, I enjoy Strauss.

We ate at several Viennese restaurants. The food was good and the coffee simply horrible. The coffee was Turkish. One restaurant manager brewed it specially for us. It was potable—but that's all.

On Monday we went shopping in the International Zone. Of course I was looking for Russians, but saw none. Mrs. Calhoun and I each bought ourselves a hat. It made us both feel very swanky anyway. We wanted to shop in the P. X. too, but it was closed. The night before, $10,000 and all the watches and jewelry had been removed from the store. What a haul!

Monday night we left at 9 p. m. for Salzburg on the Mozart. Again all the shades were tightly drawn. Again we were told that all the doors were locked, as we began our return trip. We also were forbidden to leave our cars. The shrieking whistle of the train, the rough ride, and my vivid imagination prevented me from sleeping, so I was worn out. It took us seven hours to drive from Salzburg to Sonthofen.

Just one word about the people of Vienna. They are no longer a happy people. It is not a gay city. In fact we thought it horribly dirty. I was somewhat disappointed in the city itself. But we had a grand time and a wonderful trip. And whoever would have thought that Eva Marble, an ordinary school teacher, would one day be a visitor in Vienna, Austria?

As always, Your friend, EVA MARBLE.

$107,440 in Sales Tax to Tuscola Co.

Diversion of the state collected sales tax has returned $107,440.95 to townships, villages and school districts of Tuscola County for the first quarter of 1949. Townships received $36,150.60, villages $15,605.70 and school districts $55,684.65.

Apportionment to the townships and villages was made at the per capita rate of $1.45 according to the 1940 federal census. The rate to school districts was $5.43 for each of 10,255 children on the school census.

Amounts to which districts are entitled were mailed by Arthur M. Willis, county treasurer. Graded school districts received the following: Akron $2,845.76, Caro $4,880.57, Cass City $2,372.91, Fairgrove $2,177.43, Postoria $532.14, Gageton $901.38, Kingston $749.84, Mayville $1,129.44, Millington $3,198.27, Reese $971.97, Richville $830.79, Silverwood $407.25, Tuscola $499.76, Unionville $3,724.98, Vassar $4,267.98.

Gives Simple Directions for Pasteurizing Milk

Though many Michigan families produce their own milk supply, they can have pasteurized milk with very little trouble. Good milk is an important food for everyone from baby to grandmother and it should be safe to drink.

Two methods for pasteurization are suggested by Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State College. These directions are approved by the State Health Department.

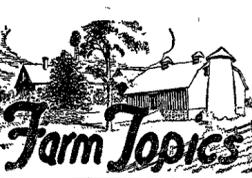

Pour 4 to 6 quarts of clean fresh milk into a kettle and place a floating dairy thermometer in the milk. Do not use tin, iron or chipped enamel utensils or a candy thermometer which is part copper. Heat the milk rapidly, stirring constantly, until a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit is reached. If you heat it above 160 degrees the milk will taste cooked or boiled.

Place the kettle immediately into a large pan of cold water. Keep the kettle covered to prevent scum from forming. Cool the milk quickly to 60 degrees or lower. Change the water in the pan often. Store well covered in a cold, clean place.

Here is another method suitable for pasteurizing one or two quarts of milk and no thermometer is necessary. Place one or two quarts of milk in top of a double boiler. Cover. Place 1 quart of water in bottom part of cooker. Boil water vigorously for 10 minutes. This method was worked out by the departments of dairy and bacteriology at Michigan State College.
