Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alleman

Governor Williams is not Michigan's first governor to enjoy talking at luncheons and dinners, crowning festival queens and otherwise being the answer to a program chairman's prayer. Kim Sigler used to thrive on these things even while the legislature was thrashing about at Lansing.

Williams stuck to the job faithfully while solons were in town. But he waived aside all arguments in June and July for a speaking schedule that resembled a barnstorming trip. Like Sigler, he prefers travel by airplane.

The governor's staff is now convinced that many voters prefer to have their governor "work at the job." Result: Fewer speaking engagements are being booked for "Soapy" next fall. The governor and his family are residing during August at the governor's home on Mackinac Island.

When to call the legislature into special session is a decision yet to be made. The governor insists Michigan should enact a new tax immediately if it is to avert financial chaos next spring. He plugs vigorously for a corporation income tax rather than a personal income tax, and defends his position as not favoring a "soak the consumer" levy.

Even if the legislature were to adopt a flat personal income tax, Concluded on page 2.

County Bean Queen To Be Chosen Aug. 26

Farmers' Clubs of Tuscola County are making plans to have contestants in the county bean queen finals which will be held on Friday evening, August 26, in connection with the Tuscola County Fair.

Contestants who wish to enter are requested to contact the Farmers' Club in their community. Single girls, who are farmers' daughters, and between the ages of 17 and 25 are eligible.

The county winner will compete with bean queens from other counties at the Labor Day bean festival at Fairgrove. The winner there will be crowned "Michigan Bean Queen" who will then be sent to the State Fair and compete against all other Michigan queens for the title of "Queen of All Queens."

All Tuscola County contestants will be guests at the Michigan State Fair for one day, which will be announced later. The Michigan Bean Shippers' Association have invited all county winners to be dinner guests at their annual meeting to be held in Detroit on August 31.

West Elkland 4-H Club Has "Little Fair"

The August meeting of the West Elkland 4-H Club was held at the Wm. Martus home on Monday night when 38 members, parents and leaders were present.

All members who have summer projects participated in a "Little Fair," and brought fine samples for an exhibit. The projects represented were flowers and vegetable gardens, food preparation, food preservation, potato and pickle crops.

The handicraft honor roll members showed the articles which they will exhibit at the county fair, these articles being chosen from last winter's work.

The two junior members, Jean Martin and Grace Donnelly, exhibited bouquets from their flower gardens and were awarded ribbons. Many members have hobbies and at the meeting these were displayed and enjoyed by members and grown-ups alike.

The county 4-H leader, Byron Carpenter, was present and all profited by his remarks and suggestions. President Fred Martin conducted the business meeting after which the members had a game period and parents visited.

Refreshments were served and all went home knowing how to make a better display of their projects for next week's county fair.

Pasture Renovation Demonstration on Friday, Aug. 26

Cole Brothers' pasture, 1 mile east and 1/2 south of Watrousville, will be the scene of a pasture renovation demonstration sponsored by the Tuscola Soil Conservation District in cooperation with county implement dealers. The event will begin at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on Friday, August 26. The five acres to be seeded should be completed by noon.

The best use of the thousands of acres of permanent pastures in the county can be had only when a good management program is followed. This program should include the reseeding or renovation of these areas when the vegetation becomes thin and unproductive. The application of lime on those areas showing an acid reaction to tests should be the first step in the improvement program. On steep hilly land it is desirable to till the land without plowing. In this way the vegetation and organic material is left on or near the surface where it helps in controlling erosion and furnishes protection for the new seeding. Several tools can be used to accomplish this first step, the most successful being field cultivators.

After being completely cultivated the land is given a heavy application of fertilizer and the seed sown. Alfalfa and smooth brome grass are by far the best for seeding the lighter upland soils of this area. Aiding the Soil Conservation District in the demonstration will be Harry Rohlf, Akron; Beith Implement, H. R. Hyde & Son, Hanes Farm Supply, and Whalen Lime of Caro.

Deed Covering Kercher Land Given By Lincoln in 1861

George Weaver Schroeder of McHenry, Illinois, recently mailed to E. W. Kercher of Cass City a photostatic copy of a deed granted by Abraham Lincoln in 1861 to Mr. Schroeder's grandfather, George Sherman Weaver. The deed covers 160 acres in section 34 of Elkland Township now owned by Mr. Kercher and was signed on July 1, 1861.

In his letter, Mr. Schroeder writes: "Upon the death of my grandfather, George Sherman Weaver, who originally came from Albany, New York, and resided last in Flushing, New York, I found a deed to some property in Michigan granted by Abraham Lincoln in 1861, among his personal papers last March. The recorder of deeds for Tuscola County advises me that this property now belongs to you so I thought you might be interested in having the enclosed photostatic copy of this first deed to your property."

"From the way the deed reads, I presume that your 160 acres of land was originally given to Matilda Davis, widow of Young Davis, as compensation for the services Young Davis gave the Georgia Militia as a private in the Cherokee Removal, and that Mrs. Davis in turn gave the land to William Final. I do not know how my grandfather acquired this deed as neither the Davises nor the Finals were, to my knowledge, relatives of his. His father, however, who was also named George Sherman Weaver, once owned large tracts of timber in Michigan and was sole supplier of lumber to the New York Central Railroad at that time. Perhaps he bought the land from Mr. Final."

Mr. Kercher acquired the land from Mr. and Mrs. Calvin J. Striffler in 1943.

County Granges to Hold Mystery Ride

Final arrangements have been made by Mrs. Wm. LeValley, Pomona lecturer, and her committee for the first Tuscola County Mystery Ride to be held on Saturday evening, August 20, at 8 o'clock.

Each subordinate Grange from the county will form a caravan, led by their lecturer, to meet with the Pomona lecturer at a central meeting place, which is known only by the lecturers, to begin the Mystery Ride. Late arrivals will be out of luck as only Mrs. LeValley and her helpers know the final destination.

The climax of the evening will be the selection and crowning of the County Cinderella. The lucky young Grange woman who is chosen as the County Cinderella will be presented with a pair of silver slippers, a gift of the Pomona Grange, and crowned as Miss Tuscola Co. Cinderella of 1949.

The County Cinderella will wear the silver slippers when she represents Tuscola County at the state Grange convention at Jackson, Mich., next October 25 through 27. She will compete at that time for the title of State Grange Princess. An alternate will be chosen in case the County Cinderella can not attend the meeting at Jackson.

A program of interest to all age Grangers has been arranged and a potluck lunch will be served at the conclusion of the evening's entertainment.

Frankly Speaking

By Cash Asher in the Corpus Christi, Texas, Press.

Cass City, Michigan—Walking along the wide Main Street of this quiet little village yesterday, we observed coming painstakingly toward us an elderly man on crutches. Accompanying him was a large bird dog, carrying a basket of groceries.

The man was Lee Dickinson. We hadn't seen him for 20 years. He rode range one time with Buffalo Bill, and thereby hangs a tale.

When he came to Michigan in the early part of this century from northwestern Nebraska, he bought a farm on the banks of the Cass River. We lived across the river from him, played with his boys, and always thrilled to his "tall tales" of the pioneer West.

When he shipped two carloads of bronchos to Cass City for sale, we began to believe there might be some truth in his yarns. We recall him describing vast herds of wild horses on the plains, and of working at Buffalo Bill's side in driving cattle from Texas to Nebraska. He related one story of how he had concluded on page 10.

A good food store must be a clean store.

We believe our customers are entitled to top quality food at low prices, served in clean, healthful surroundings.

That's why we train and instruct our employees to keep all trays and cases and scales scrubbed and sanitary; to keep refuse and packing cases out of the aisles and off the sidewalks; and to keep floors and grocery racks clean and orderly.

Sometimes during rush periods it's hard to keep a store as neat as it should be. But that's our job, and you will be doing us a favor if you will let us know if your A&P store ever fails in any way to measure up to our high standards of cleanliness. Please write:

Local Young Man Marries Pigeon Girl

An unusual variety of musical selections highlighted the wedding day of Miss Eleanor Schulze of Pigeon and Mr. Raymond Russell Tate of Cass City on Sunday, August 14. At the ceremony at the Cross Lutheran Church at Pigeon, the church choir sang, and the Misses Marian and Gertrude Wilkie of Pigeon offered a duet, "O Perfect Love." During the afternoon the Lutheran band played, and in the evening there was music by an accordionist from Detroit.

White gladioli at the altar and baskets of colored gladioli decorated the church for the rites at 2:30 on Sunday afternoon. Rev. E. G. Richter presided at the ring ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride, who is the daughter of

Mrs. Raymond Tate.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schulze of Pigeon, wore a white satin bridal gown, a three-quarter length veil fastened to a tiara, and pearl necklace and earrings, gifts of the groom. She carried red roses and white gardenias.

The bride's sister, Miss Magdalena Schulze, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow taffeta dress and carried yellow roses and daisies. The bridesmaids were sisters of the groom—Mrs. Jean Parsell, wearing pink taffeta with pink roses and carnations, and Miss Patty Tate, in Nile green taffeta and carrying pink and white roses. The dresses of the attendants were similar to that of the bride with square necklines, lace-edged bertha collars, buttons to the waist in the back, and bustles.

They wore lace hats and mitts to match their dresses, and three-strand pearl necklaces which the bride had presented to them.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tate of Cass City, chose as his attendants Ray Martin of Cass City, Arthur Schulze, brother of the bride, and Albert Schulze, her cousin.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served from tables on which were displayed bouquets of verbenas and sweet peas and a four-tiered white wedding cake. This in turn was followed by a reception, also at the bride's home.

The bride's mother wore an aqua dress with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias and pink roses. Mrs. Tate chose a two-piece dress of navy blue and Paisley with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was made of gardenias and red roses.

When they return from their wedding trip into northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Tate will reside in Cass City.

Bride-Elects Feted With Showers

At the home of the Misses Betty and Helen Hower near Cass City Tuesday evening, a group of friends of Miss Alice Anthes honored her with a pantry shower.

Miss Anthes' marriage to Barton Beecher of Vassar will take place on Saturday evening, August 27, in the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The evening's entertainment began with a supper served in the dining room of the Hower home. The large table was attractive with a centerpiece of gladioli and with combination name and tally cards which marked the places for the guests.

Miss Marjorie Kim won honors in a musical game which Mrs. John Esau conducted with Miss Betty Hower at the piano. In other games supervised by Mrs. John Zinnecker and Mrs. George Dillman, the first prize was won by Mrs. Arnold Fisher. Others assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Malcolm MacCallum and Mrs. Gordon L. Thomas.

Arranged on a small table and bearing appropriate original jingles was a wide variety of staple food supplies to stock the pantry shelves of Miss Anthes' new home in Vassar.

Guests from out-of-town who were present at the party included Mrs. Theron Bush of Unionville, and Mrs. Norbert Gaeth of Sebewaing.

Mrs. Euphemia Hunter was the guest of honor Monday evening at a beautifully appointed personal shower given by Mary M. Holcomb at her home on South Seeger St.

The guests were greeted in the hallway by the hostess and honor guest.

The rooms throughout the house were bright with the season's blooms, many of which were exquisite specimens from the Marshall gardens in Kingston.

When the guests had arrived several entertaining and appropriate games were played with the assistance of Mrs. E. McCoy at the piano. Winners of the contests were Mrs. Edward Pinney and Mrs. Robert Keppen. Following the games Mrs. Hunter opened the many beautiful gifts of lingerie and other personal articles, after which refreshments were served.

The dining room was illuminated entirely by candlelight and decorated with a large buffet arrangement of tall white gladioli, white petunias and verbenas and flanked with crystal candelabra and white tapers.

The lace-covered dining table was centered with a large crystal punch bowl and tall candles in crystal candelabra surrounded with dainty cookies, small frosted cakes and colored mints. Mrs. C. W. Price and Mrs. G. H. Burke presided at the punch bowl.

Several out-of-town guests were present. They were Mrs. George McIntyre and Mrs. A. D. McIntyre of Saginaw, Mrs. B. L. Middleton and Mrs. Frederick Nern of Lexington and Mrs. C. V. Hamilton of Caro.

Homemade Electric Fences Carry Risks

You're taking a big risk if you use homemade electric fence equipment on the farm, warns Robert Maddex, Michigan State College agricultural engineer.

Each year, the newspapers report cases of deaths and injuries to humans and stock caused by electric fences constructed by farmers to operate from the ordinary lighting circuit.

Farmers who make these fences often believe that they are saving money both from the amount of fence needed and the cost of purchasing an approved fence controller. The farmers who use these fences believe them safe because they arrange to have the current flow through a light bulb of low wattage. This continuous current does not give the needed warning sting but rather gives a paralyzing shock that may keep the victim from pulling away from the wire. Serious burns or electrocution may result.

A good electric fence saves time, labor, and materials. Maddex states, but the controller should be of an approved type. The controllers which bear an approval give only a warning sting which causes the person or animal touching them to pull away immediately unharmed.

Maddex advises purchase only a fence controller that has been constructed to give good dependable service with no danger to animals or people. Constructing a homemade controller may mean that you are making a death trap on your farm.

says the governor, taxpayers would soon favor a graduated income tax by constitutional amendment.

Victor Knox, speaker of the house of representatives, is convinced Michigan voters would never approve a tax boost or a new tax until actual need had been demonstrated. A treasury deficit will furnish such proof says Knox. This reasoning influenced Republican legislators, he said recently, to sidestep the issue of new taxes until 1950.

If this strategy is adhered to, Republican legislative leaders will await 1950 to see how much money is needed and then cut the cloth accordingly. To do anything now, so this argument goes, is to guess at a future development.

But 1950 is also re-election year for many legislators, as with state elective officials. To impose a new tax in an election year is regarded by some as something next to political heresy.

The more the Republicans wait, the more their opponents are going to lambast the party for protecting big corporations from a tax on their profits. Governor Williams wishes to put the G. O. P. on the defensive in 1950. He has been hammering away at the corporation tax consistently in 1949 speaking tours.

A week or so ago we had the opportunity to swing into the Upper Peninsula as far west as Marquette and Escanaba. Everywhere we were asked about Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., and State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, two prospective candidates for governor in the Republican primary next spring. Also: "Is Dr. Keyes going to run for governor this time?"

Aside from saying that Alger, Brake and Keyes are ALL definitely interested in the nomination, we managed to stay neutral. Partisan politics have no place in this Main street column. But the inquiries do show an interest or anxiety of Republican observers about 1950.

Another point: Harry F. Kelly is a possible candidate. Would a "third term" issue lessen his proved popularity with Michigan voters? That is something for the hot-stove league to talk about this fall.

Cooperative efforts to curtail Michigan's highway traffic toll are beginning to bring dividends. For three consecutive months a decline in traffic deaths has taken place. Maxwell Halsey, executive secretary of the Michigan state safety commission, reports the next objective is to make highways more safe for children. "More than 4,500 children were killed or injured in Michigan traffic accidents last year," says Halsey.

Does your community need a hospital? The Federal government will pay one-third of the cost of construction, providing the local thirds. This aid is limited to about $11 million dollars for Michigan.

Hugh J. McGoldrick, Williams-appointed director of the state office of hospital survey and community raises the other two-thirds, reports that seven projects are now under way and three more will break ground next fall. The ten hospitals and hospital additions will add 1,000 beds to Michigan's facilities.

The want ads are newsy, too.

Stored Fruit

One way to keep moisture out of fruit which is to be stored in the basement or cellar is to place it in galvanized steel utility baskets.

Five Classes of Pine Stock Will Be Offered to Farmers

Five classes of pine stock including white pine transplants will be offered to farmers and others for fall and spring reforestation projects, the conservation department announces. Orders now are being accepted only at the department's forestry division office, Lansing.

The division expects to have approximately 9,700,000 pieces of stock available, according to distribution head, F. J. Hodge. A record 5,400,000 trees were produced and shipped in the spring of this year.

Stocks offered at no increase in prices are: three and four-year-old white pine transplants, two-year-old red and jack pine seedlings, and four-year-old red pine transplants. This is the first white pine available from the division since 1947. Shipments from the Higgins Lake nursery are expected to be made Sept. 15 - Nov. 1 for fall planting programs and April 15 - May 20 in the spring.

Nursery stocks are distributed at cost for reforestation and may not be resold or otherwise used commercially.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Thirty-five Years Ago
Aug. 21, 1914.

At a special meeting of the board of education of the Cass City Public Schools Wednesday evening, it was decided to institute a course of agriculture in the high school for the coming year. The subject will be under the direct supervision of H. G. Leavens, the new superintendent of schools.

Walter Schell's barn located just outside the village limits was struck by lightning late Tuesday afternoon and burned to the ground.

Dr. James H. Hays has sold his residence property on Seeger St. together with his medical practice and office equipment to Dr. Ira D. McCoy of Emlenton, Pa.

Frederick Klump, founder of the Chronicle and a former resident of Cass City, will leave his home in Saginaw this week for Holland as agent for the Michigan Sugar Co. to arrange for a shipment of sugar beet seed from that country.

Harry Crandell left this week for a five weeks' trip to state fairs where he will exhibit registered stock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ward left Cass City Friday morning in an emigrant wagon on a trip overland to Perry, Oklahoma, where they will spend the winter months with the former's brother.

The Detroit, Bay City and Western R. R. will commence running passenger trains over the new extension from Snover to Sandusky on Aug. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Striffler are moving into their new residence which is nearing completion.

Twenty-five Years Ago
Aug. 22, 1924

Twenty-eight members of the Class of '23 of the Cass City High School and four guests were present at the first class reunion held at Williams' Inn, near Harbor Beach, on Monday evening. It was voted to make the reunion an annual affair despite the fact that 15 of the class members were unable to be present.

Miss Margaret Hurley and Cameron Wallace were married at the parental home of the bride on Aug. 15.

Secretary Benkelman and other officers and co-workers of the Cass City fair are being complimented for the excellent exhibits and high class entertainment features of the fair which closed Aug. 15.

Grant H. Slocum, former Tuscola County publisher and one of the founders of the Ancient Order of Gleaners, died at his home at Mt. Clemens Aug. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Delong returned Wednesday from an eight months' stay with relatives in the West.

One hundred Cass City people will motor to Williams' Inn this afternoon to attend a banquet this evening given in honor of James K. Brooker, Cass City's representative at the Olympic meet. Eddie Guest, Michigan's poet, and Prof. William Lyon Phelps of Yale University will contribute numbers to the program.

Are private home builders falling down on the job?

Governor G. Mennen Williams thinks so: "If private industry, unaided, could meet this problem (homes for low-income workers) I would be entirely in favor of letting private industry handle it. But the record shows that private industry cannot handle the housing problem alone."

In advocating public housing whereby rents are subsidized by taxpayers, Williams points to the four years' experience of Detroit, as reported by the Detroit Housing Commission. "The housing needs of the City of Detroit increased during the last four years by a total of more than 144,000 dwelling units. During the same period, the private building industry constructed a little more than 27,000 units, leaving more than 117,000 Detroit families still without adequate homes."

H. E. Alles, executive secretary of the Michigan Association of Home Builders, takes issue with the governor's blanket indictment. "According to the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, 446,400 new homes were started under construction in the first six months of 1949. This is 95.8 per cent of the record rate of production set in 1948 when 1,038,000 homes were completed. More than one-half of these homes were built to sell at $7,500 or less."

"The U. S. Federal Reserve Board is authority for information that 40 per cent of these homes cost less than $5,000. Financing of homes is still the number one problem. Senate Bill 7.2, extending Federal Housing Administration guaranteed loans, must be acted upon before Congress adjourns."

Governor Williams contends that housing is a government responsibility.

"Everyone is aware to some degree of the acute housing problem which has afflicted us ever since the beginning of the second World War," he said recently.

"Many of us, regardless of our economic position in life, have faced housing problems. I, myself, had a difficult time finding a suitable home for my family in Lansing. With the exception of a very wealthy few, there isn't any group of our citizens which hasn't felt in some way the effect of the lack of homes."

Governor Williams also feels that the "denial of homes to veterans is a particularly flagrant contradiction of all that America stands for. The men and women who fought in World War II risked their lives for the defense of our homes. It is an ironic tragedy that as an indirect result of their victorious struggle, there are no homes for them."

Alles, who serves as spokesman for Michigan home builders, maintains that hundreds of homes are now available throughout Michigan to war veterans at attractive terms.

"Down payments are not required from World War II veterans who can obtain Veteran Administration approval," he said. "Monthly payment including interest and taxes on a two-bedroom house varies between $40 and $47. The VA requires interest of not more than 4 per cent on such mortgages. This advantage to the veteran becomes a handicap because of the difficulty in finding lenders, in view of the lack of cash payment, who will accept this lower-than-going rate."

Private builders have advocated that Congress should increase this interest rate to 4½ per cent, the prevailing rate paid by non-veteran home owners. This would make veteran mortgages equally attractive and marketable."

One requirement in the new federal public housing act, recently adopted by Congress, is that cities which obtain federal housing subsidies must eliminate slum dwellings in an amount equal to the number of new public housing units provided.

A Washington business service has assured home builders that the federal housing program will call for only about 15 per cent of the housing industry's total capacity of one million homes per year. As subsidized rents are limited to low-income workers, it is the intent of Congress that the program will meet a demand almost never filled in the past by private builders.

Governor Williams may have had this in mind when he declared builders had failed to do the job. Home builders do not agree.

In the long run, the public will be the judge.

Time Is Here to Do Work on Lawn For Better Turf

If you plan to seed a new lawn or thicken the turf of your present lawn now is the time for action. Dr. James Tyson, Michigan State College soil scientist and authority on lawns, says the last two weeks of August is the ideal time to plant the seed.

Planting at this time of the year permits taking advantage of the usual fall rains and permits grass to get a good start without the usual weed competition that exists in spring sown yards.

Soil should be tested to determine whether or not lime is needed. If tests show lime is needed ground limestone should be broadcast at a rate of 100 pounds for each 1,000 square feet. This should be worked into the soil. Do not use lime unless soil is strongly acid in reaction (PH 5.5 or lower).

Fitting the soil for a new lawn is important. After being graded with the proper slope for drainage away from the house foundation, the ground should be alternately raked and rolled until a firm seedbed is produced, Tyson suggests.

Before broadcasting the seed, the seedbed should be raked lightly with a steel rake, the teeth not penetrating more than a quarter of an inch.

For sandy soils Chew's fescue or creeping red fescue grass is recommended by the lawn specialist. For open, sunny, fertile and well-drained loam, Kentucky bluegrass normally produces the best results. On shady, fertile well-drained loam, a mixture of Chew's fescue or red fescue with rough bluegrass makes a good mixture. On wet, poorly-drained soils, Dr. Tyson recommends the use of Canadian bluegrass, rough bluegrass and redtop.

From a pound to a pound and a half of seed for each thousand square feet of yard is adequate if properly distributed.

Tyson recommends that the measured amount of seed for a section of the yard be mixed with enough dry screened soil to make sufficient bulk for even distribution. The lawn should be raked lightly after the seed has been sown and rolled once with a heavy roller to firm the seed.

In reseeding to thicken a turf,

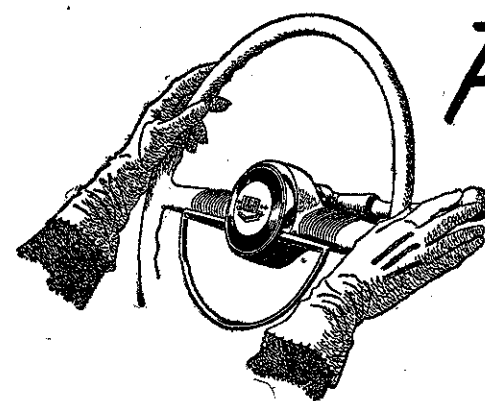

Dr. Tyson recommends raking the lawn with a steel garden rake to remove dead grass and scar the surface of the soil. After sowing the seed, using about one fourth to one-half a pound to 1,000 square feet. The lawn should be sprinkled thoroughly to settle the soil around the seed.

Persons interested in more information about lawn planting and care can obtain "Growing Beautiful Lawns," an extension bulletin (Extension 224) by Dr. Tyson without charge. This bulletin is available from county agricultural extension offices or from the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich.

How to Get Help When Polio Strikes

1. At the first sign of illness, call your own doctor. If he suspects polio he will report the case to the local Health Department and arrange for hospitalization or home care, as indicated. The National Foundation does not select physicians or hospitals. This is a family matter. If you have no family physician, call your City or County Medical Society, your Board of Health or the nearest hospital.

2. If your doctor says it is polio and requires hospitalization, the local Chapter of the National Foundation will help arrange for transportation to a treatment center. As soon as the patient goes to the hospital—or if your doctor advises the patient can be treated at home—get in touch with your Chapter of the National Foundation to arrange for any needed assistance.

a.) Most Chapters are listed in the telephone book under N for National Foundation, I for Infantile Paralysis and the letter starting the name of the county you live in, i. e., Washington County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. If you can't find it—check with your doctor, hospital or Health Department.

b.) Your Chapter will get in touch with you as soon as it learns of the case through your physician, the hospital or the Health Department. However, late reporting or a heavy hospital load may delay this Chapter contact. If you do not hear promptly, telephone or visit your Chapter representative. You can ease your own worries sooner by making the approach yourself.

3. The Chapter representative will notify the hospital that it is arranging with you for full or partial payment of expenses for medical care. Adults are as eligible for help as are children. Discuss with your Chapter how much of the full bill the Chapter will pay.

a.) March of Dimes funds are used to help the medically indigent—but this is not the same as "indigent;" it includes families of moderate income, who cannot meet the high costs of modern care of this expensive disease. The help is a gift—not a loan. While families that can pay are expected to do so, no family is expected to impoverish itself to meet medical expenses for polio.

b.) Even if you can assume full costs for initial hospitalization, it is a good idea to see your Chapter. If yours should be a patient who is severely affected—and this cannot be determined in the first few days—you may need help later on. Bills incurred in the weeks before your Chapter assumes financial responsibility cannot be paid months afterward, but the Chapter will step in at whatever time you really need help. Have a frank, friendly talk with your Chapter representative at the beginning.

4. Chapters pay for hospitalization, professional services including nursing and physical therapy, transportation to and from hospitals, convalescent centers and clinics, treatment after hospitalization and appliances such as wheelchairs, braces, etc., as needed. There are no hard and fast rules. Each case is decided upon individual medical and financial needs. Assistance is given regardless of age, race, creed or color. More than 110,000 polio patients were directly assisted in full or in part up to the end of 1948.

5. In addition, your Chapter can put you in touch with proper sources for nursing and physical therapy at home, can refer you to rehabilitation and vocational training agencies, will provide literature designed to foster better understanding of infantile paralysis—so you will know what to expect and how to help your polio patient back to a useful life.

Hunting License Fees Are Unchanged

Michigan's 3,700 hunting license agents will have a stock of licenses for the coming hunting season by Sept. 15, the conservation department reports. Application blanks for the special antlerless deer season will be distributed with first license shipments to dealers since the applications must be returned to the department's general operations division by Oct. 10. No hunting season opens before Oct. 1.

License fees are the same as in 1948: $2 for small game hunting and $3.50 for deer hunting by residents; $15 for small game and $35 for deer hunting by nonresidents, with nonresident archers paying a $10 rate. Trapping licenses are $2. Over a million hunting and trapping licenses were issued last year.

In addition to the Michigan license, hunters of ducks and geese must purchase, attach and cancel with a signature a federal migratory waterfowl stamp. Stamps can be purchased only at the post office.

Isolate Animals Back from Fairs

Generally the best animals on the farm go to the county fair for exhibition. For this reason, Dr. B. J. Killham, Michigan State College extension veterinarian, believes it wise to take every precaution to protect them from disease.

County fairs operate under state regulations that require clean bills of health before animals can be shown. This not only protects your own stock but that of other showmen as well. Dr. Killham advises getting necessary papers from veterinarians so that it isn't done as a last minute rush job.

Quarantining show animals when they are returned to the farm is an extra precaution that is wise. By isolating them for three weeks from the rest of the herd or flock, you're making doubly sure any infection picked up in the show ring isn't spread.

It pays in many ways to read Chronicle want ads.

Back to School Advice to Parents

When your children are asked the standard question, "Are you glad to go back to school?" is their answer pleasing to you?

Their answer, whether yes or no, reflects back on you as a parent. Parents can do a great deal to help Johnny do his best at school and enjoy himself there, advises Mrs. Lennah Backus, child development specialist at Michigan State College.

If your child brings home a poor report, what do you do? If Johnny is not doing his best then he needs your help and understanding rather than scolding. If it is arithmetic that bothers, let him help you with your use of it around the home.

Let Johnny keep score while playing games and his interest in numbers and spelling will take on a new meaning. Tying arithmetic in with daily living will make it interesting for him.

Interest in reading and liking books is developed more easily through the story hour when children are young. But it can be greatly aided at a later age by suggesting that they take turns with you in reading aloud. Here again encouragement rather than criticism is the recipe for success.

As Johnny goes back to school shared interest and shared activity is one of the best ways of helping him do his best. It may be a slower way of finding out some of Johnny's shortcomings, but if it helps him over some hurdles the results will be worth your time.

Bowlers, Attention!

At a recent meeting of its newly elected officers, rules and regulations for the 1949-50 season were made and we print the following information for the benefit of the individuals who plan to become members this season.

1—Again, as in the past, a bowler will be required to purchase a membership card at a cost of $3.45 as he signs up to bowl the first schedule. However, if he meets all the requirements of the league rules, he will be allowed to bowl the last three weeks of the schedule at no cost.

2—Each member shall pay $1.15 per week to cover lines and dues (90c for lines, 25c for dues) whether he bowls with his team or not, unless a satisfactory substitute is made in which case the sub pays for the lines (90c) and the regular member shall pay the dues (25c).

3—When a member is absent and no substitution made, the weekly payment will be divided, with 65c going to the alleys and 50c to the league. If a member leaves the schedule before its completion and without securing a substitute, he shall forfeit his rights to his $3.45 entry fee and 50c sanctions fee.

4—The league will operate on a 70% handicap basis and the four point system will be used.

5—It was further decided upon, in the case of a new member who has no established average, to use an average of 135 for 1st night of bowling and thereafter use the average established by his first night of bowling. Further that if a regular bowler with an established average is absent the 1st night of schedule, he shall not use a substitute that night nor until he is present and has established an average by bowling his scheduled three games.

6—The Cass City Bowling alleys will have on display a trophy which was presented to the winning team last season, and will be handed down to the winning team of 1949-50 season with name of team and date inscribed thereon.

7—The directors of the association voted to hold a bowling banquet during the 1st week following the close of the City League Tournament. A committee will be appointed later to meet with representatives of the league and officers to determine place, date, etc.

Our first night of scheduled bowling at the Cass City Alleys will be Monday, September 12th. Membership cards can be secured at either bank or the bowling alley. Member must be signed up by September 1st, to allow time to make up teams and secure printed schedules.

With the approaching of the new school term, all the teen-aged youngsters in every neighborhood seem to band together in "hordes", piling into the old jalopies for quick trips to the football practice fields, the beaches and the movies.

These supposedly innocent amusements can turn into TRAGEDIES unless parents are constantly on the look-out for the overcrowded car . . . the lad who gets a "kick" out of speeding . . . the "gang" who laugh and boast about the chances they take in an auto. If you, as a parent, overhear any such conversations — if you see careless driving among the youngsters your boy or girl associates with, it is your duty to reprimand the driver. And if you are wise, you will forbid your child to enter such an auto.

These precautions may be the means of saving your children's lives. But that is not enough. You must do your part in keeping other children safe — by discussing the dangers of speed and careless driving with your youngsters and their friends — and by doing everything within your power to drive that Safety message "home".

Right now, at the beginning of the school term, is the time to double your own safety precautions, and to instill safety in the minds of every driver — and every automobile passenger — in your family! Play safe — and save lives!

Hunting Regulations For General Deer Season to Continue

Hunting regulations for the general deer season Nov. 15 through Nov. 30 will continue the same as last fall including the restriction that only shotguns may be used below highway M-46 and in the Thumb, but the gun load in this part of the lower peninsula may be ball or slug as well as buckshot.

Bow and arrow hunting again will be legal Oct. 1 through Nov. 5 this year throughout the state, the conservation department advises, but only bucks may be taken in Keeweenaw, Houghton, Marquette, Dickinson, Menominee, Chippewa except Drummond Island, Emmet, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Osego, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Ogemaw, Clare, Gladwin, Arenac and those parts of Bay and Huron counties north of Towlaine 16.

In all other counties including Drummond Island, archers may take deer of either sex in this period. The Allean county one-deer archery season, Oct. 1 through Dec. 15, will be retained.

A special antlerless deer season will be held Dec. 1 through Dec. 10 in three areas to reduce fruit and farm crop damage. In area A, which includes part of Charlevoix, Antrim and Grand Traverse counties, the quota is 4,500 hunters. In area B, consisting of Leelanau, Benzie and part of Grand Traverse and Manistee counties, the quota is 15,000 hunters; and in area C, part of Allean county, the quota is 800. Area C hunters must register at Swan Creek experiment station near Fennville and at Dunningville checking stations.

Application forms for the antlerless season can be secured early in September from regular hunting license issuing agents, and must be returned to the conservation department's general operations division postmarked not later than Oct. 10. Any hunter getting a deer in other open seasons will not be eligible to hunt in the antlerless season.

Drawings will be held October 20 if more applications are received than the quotas call for in each area. Should any farm operator make application, who receives the major portion of his livelihood from land in any of these areas, he will be granted a permit on receipt of his application, and he will not have to participate in the drawing.

been shot by a western outlaw, and of Buffalo Bill bringing a doctor 40 miles to dress his wounds. The outlaw had been abusive in a camp, and when Dickinson remonstrated with him, he pulled his "trustworthy six-shooter" and fired. Then he fled, followed by several men on cow ponies. They never caught the fugitive. Dickinson could show a scar on his thigh to substantiate his account of the adventure, but no one ever believed he knew Buffalo Bill.

Several years after he came to Cass City, the original Buffalo Bill Show was booked for a performance in Bad Axe, about 20 miles north and east of Cass City. Dickinson's friends began kidding him, and daring him to go to the show and make his presence known.

to the great western hero.

He went without a protest, and after one of the women pistol toters had demonstrated her skill in shooting a cigar from a man's lips at 20 feet, he called out to her, using her family name. She paused and searched the audience with her vision, finally seeing him, and saying, "Why, Lee Dickinson, what are you doing here?"

After the show, Dickinson took his chastened friends backstage, and Buffalo Bill shook his hand warmly, and recalled the very story that they had heard and disbelieved. Buffalo Bill invited them to have dinner with him—and he went to the limit of entertaining them.

After that, Dickinson's stories of the West became local classics. When he came to Michigan he brought with him a buckskin pony of which he was exceptionally fond. A favorite story of his was about how this pony had saved his life in a blizzard. He had been out on the plains a dozen miles from his ranch home when the blinding snow storm struck. He was soon confused about directions, and let the buckskin have free rein. The horse moved through the storm for two hours, then stopped. Dickinson tried to urge the animal on; but he refused to budge. Dismounting, Dickinson could see the outline of the windmilled of his ranch outlined in the windwhipped snow.

Nobody knew that the pony was a quarterhorse with a lot of speed, so when Dickinson entered him in the running race at the Cass City Fair, no one, except the owner, bet on him. He ran away from the field.

Knowing the truth of these stories, we did not doubt Dickinson when he began telling us yesterday about his bird dog. He said he had been offered $600 for the animal.

"He knows everything you say to him," the man on crutches said. "He goes to the meat market and grocery store for me, carrying a note, and always comes home safely with the things I've ordered. He will bring my shoes or pipe and tobacco from anywhere in the house, and if I drop a crutch, he'll pick it up and give it back to me. He walks into my room every morning after the clock strikes six, and at 10 o'clock at night, brings my bedroom slippers."

It sounded fantastic—but what would you have said or done under the circumstances? Believe him? Of course, as I did.
