Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Twenty-five Years Ago
October 3, 1924.

A big day of fun and frolic is promised for the pavement opening celebration and home-coming at Cass City on Friday, Oct. 10. There will be an extensive program of races, contests, band concerts, auto parade, free lunch, free movies and other attractions.

Members of the Woman's Study Club at their meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Atwell chose Thursday, Oct. 16, as the date for entertaining the Tuscola County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Fire threatened to destroy James Whale's feed barn at a late hour Saturday night when a Ford touring car belonging to John Towle of Evergreen Township burst into flames.

John Lorentzen has purchased the creamery business at Cass City, known as the Parrott Creamery Co., from A. O. McAnally, a Detroit retailer, who has been its owner since last April.

Mrs. A. J. Knapp has been elected first vice president of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs.

J. W. Quinn, former prosecuting attorney of Tuscola County, died Sept. 27 at a Lansing hospital.

Thirty-five Years Ago
Oct. 2, 1914.

C. D. Striffler and A. Doerr went to Buffalo Saturday with a carload of sheep, returning Tuesday.

Edward Pinney, J. C. Farrell,

Neil McLarty and Dugald Livingstone were in Detroit Tuesday and Wednesday attending the Democratic state convention.

Local option petitions circulated in Elkland Township were signed by 254 citizens and have been posted as required by law.

Bert Walker, a surveyor of Marlette, has been employed by those interested in the Cass River Drain to take a preliminary survey of the proposed project.

The announcement that Rev. G. A. Fee would be transferred to Asbury M. E. Church in Detroit came as a distinct surprise to his congregation here for at the last quarterly conference he was unanimously invited to return to Cass City. Rev. W. A. Gregory, pastor of Asbury Church, has been assigned to the pastorate here.

Color of Eyes

Dark eyes are dark because of fine particles of pigment in their irises. Blue eyes have no pigment but look blue because colorless droplets in their irises scatter light, absorbing the longer rays and reflecting only the short blue ones.

Cattle Rustling

Thousands of potential pairs of leather soles never reach the shoe industry each year because of the cattle rustling which still goes on in the stock-growing states. The "rustlers" sell the meat and throw away the hides.

RED CROSS HAS RECORD NUMBER SERVING U. S. MILITARY FORCES

With U. S. military forces at five times their prewar strength, a record number of American Red Cross workers are serving them throughout the world.

More than 2,000 Red Cross representatives today are stationed at 1,300 military installations and 123 hospitals here and overseas. About 1,400 staff workers are serving troops in this country. The others are working at occupation and defense posts abroad. Only during the peak years of World War II were a larger number on duty.

The duties of these Red Cross workers are as varied as the locale in which they work, involving a wide range of welfare services that contribute to military morale. They may include tiding over a soldier's wife with grocery and rent money until her family allowance check comes through, or getting a welfare report on an Eskimo serviceman's mother via weather bureau radio. Sometimes it means getting word of a family emergency to a sailor with the fleet in the Mediterranean.

Service of the Red Cross worker in a military hospital may be helping a man through the difficult hour when he learns that he will never be well again or removing the worry that often stands in the way of his recovery.

Under federal statute and regulations of the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, the American Red Cross furnishes volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the armed forces and acts in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their armed forces.

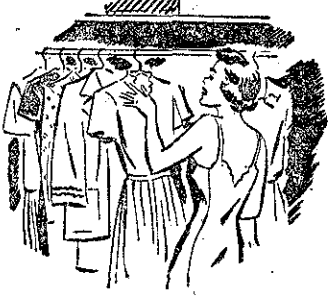

The Red Cross man at Hickam Air Force base, Hawaii, lead a helping hand to a young marine, enroute from Kwajalein to his Maine home on emergency leave.

are that the Red Cross has a field worker on the spot or nearby who can help try to solve it.

In this country 361 field directors and their assistants cover 148 base stations, 31 substations, and 923 itinerant stations. During the last year field directors at camps handled more than 672,000 cases. Health and welfare reports requested by servicemen or their families were the most common type of help asked for. More than 179,000 such cases were recorded. The next most frequent type of request was that involving leave or extension of leave. The Red Cross cannot grant leave, but military authorities depend upon the organization for reports of conditions underlying leave requests. These cases run into many thousands each year.

Abroad, Red Cross coverage is almost as complete as in this country. In Japan alone, 159 men and women are serving occupation troops at 31 military installations and 14 hospitals. Other parts of the Far East are equally well staffed.

In Europe, 248 Red Cross workers serve military personnel and their dependents at 51 military installations and 15 hospitals, most of them in occupied Germany. Coverage is also given in England and to miscellaneous units still in France.

SHORT STORY

Infectious Laugh

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT WAS ETHAN PRYOR'S laughter that first attracted Abigail to him. When Ethan laughed every one else laughed. The sound had that mirthful, appealing quality that was infectious. It was good to hear. It gave you a feeling of well-being.

This all happened in 1929, when Ethan's retail antique business was netting him $15,000 a year. It was easy to laugh then. They were a jolly couple.

In 1931 Ethan's retail antique business dropped off from one-half its top amount to one-third, then to one-quarter.

That year passed and the next. The Pryors didn't find it so easy to laugh. They gave up their seven-room apartment and moved into a less expensive one.

In January of 1934 they moved to a single room in an unfashionable part of the city. Ethan was barely making enough to keep them from starving.

Abigail hunted for a week and eventually won for herself a job. It wasn't much of a job. She sat behind a glass window all afternoon and evening selling tickets for a stock company performance. The stock company wasn't doing so well. It looked as though it might fold up any day. But it paid $15 a week and would have to do until she could get something better.

Inspired, a little ashamed, Ethan went job hunting himself. He hunted a week, two weeks, without success. He began to brood. Abigail did her best to cheer him up, to get him into a happy frame of mind.

"Let's hear the old laugh ring out, darling. A pleasant frame of mind is half the battle." She sat on the arm of his chair. "Tell you what. Let's celebrate. Let's take $5 and go down to Tony's. We can have a gay time for a change." THEY WENT TO Tony's. They drank wine and ate a big dinner. They danced. They sat and watched the floor show. It wasn't a bad floor show. Among other things there was a comedian. The comedian was sad. He wasn't funny. But Abigail laughed. She laughed as though she thought he was tremendously funny.

"Well, I guess we laughed our way through that depression."

Ethan looked at her. A fond light came into his eyes. She was trying to be gay. She was doing all she could to bolster up his spirits. He could at least help.

Ethan laughed. It was the old time, mirthful, appealing laughter. It rolled out and filled the room. Others heard it. Others laughed. They couldn't help it. They laughed with Ethan. The comedian was inspired.

After the show a man came up and sat down at Ethan's and Abigail's table. Abigail introduced him as the owner of the stock company show where she sold tickets. His name was Jones.

"Listen," said Mr. Jones. "We'll pay you $5 a night to come and laugh at our show. It's supposed to be a funny show. You can put it across."

Ethan scratched his chin. He looked at Abigail. He said: "Well, I dunno. For $40 a week I might consider it."

"Sold!" said Mr. Jones. Ethan looked at his wife when he got home. "You planned it!" he accused.

"Sure," said Abigail. "When you have something it should be cashed in on. You can laugh your way to riches, my dear."

Times were getting better. People were buying antiques. By the beginning of 1938 he was doing quite well. That summer he enlarged his shop.

"Well," said Abigail, happily, "I guess we laughed our way through that depression all right."

Ethan kissed her. Then he threw back his head and began to laugh. He laughed loud and long. "There!" he said. "That laugh isn't going to cost any one a cent. From now on I laugh because I want to and free of charge. Honey, I love you."

"Ditto," said Abigail.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gremel of Saginaw visited their mother, Mrs. Edith Jackson, who is ill, on Sunday.

Woodchuck Nuisance

Woodchucks are nuisances on any farm or pasture. Many a head of livestock has broken its leg by stepping into one of these holes. The mounds of dirt around the holes interfere with farm machinery. These animals destroy a certain amount of grain but their main damage is done in their burrowing.

Foot Ventilation

Reason doctors urge removing rubbers and galoshes indoors is that leather soles on shoes cannot ventilate feet properly if hampered by impermeable foot coverings.

Apple Harvest Bruises Can Be Cut with Care

Apple bruising can be reduced in every step of the harvesting and packing process, scientists say, but the greatest opportunity for bruise reduction is in the apple packing house.

Roy E. Marshall, Michigan State College horticulturist, cites a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study to find ways to cut bruise losses.

Close supervision of picking operations is listed as a necessary beginning. Another important point is the handling of apple boxes on pallets—wooden platforms on which 24 or 30 boxes of apples are placed for mechanized handling.

Only one-fifth as much bruising was found when apple boxes were handled on pallets as when the boxes were handled separately. Bruises incurred during storage of loose fruit was also found to be less with apples handled on pallets.

Researchers found bruising damage greater after apples were taken to the packing line than in the combined operations of picking, hauling, and handling.

Studies now under way in Michigan by H. P. Gaston, MSC horticulturist, are showing similar results.

The apple authorities also emphasize the importance of having the various parts of moving equipment accurately timed.

Set Michigan Potato Loan Rate

Loan rate for Michigan potatoes has been set at 70 cents per hundredweight, advises Dale Hathaway, Michigan State College marketing specialist.

This was reported as part of the USDA announcement concerning loan rates to producers or dealers on 1949 late-crop Irish potatoes. Loan rates in other states range from 55 to 95 cents. Rates are about 75 percent of the September bulk-at-farm support price.

Hathaway points out that the loan program is voluntary, and will not affect eligibility for other price support. The loans can provide ready cash for harvest-time financing, as supplement to price support.

To get a loan, a producer must be certified as eligible to participate in the potato price support operations. Producers must have planted within acreage goals to get eligibility certificates. Dealer eligibility provides for payment of at least support prices for eligible potatoes purchased from eligible producers.

All loans will be made through County Agricultural Conservation committees in counties where the potatoes are stored.

CASS CITY HOSPITAL

Patients in the hospital Wednesday forenoon were: Mrs. Stanley Sharrard, Mrs. Corrine Greger and Chas. Arnott of Cass City, Mrs. Millard Knuckles of Deford, Clem Kulish of Minden City, Mrs. Katie Brown of Unionville, Mrs. Lois Evans and Mrs. Harold Richner of Kingston, Mrs. Walter Musial of Snover, and Mrs. T. L. Parson of Dearborn.

Patients recently discharged were: Mrs. Loren Bitterling and baby of Decker, Mrs. Eugene Orban and baby of Unionville, Neil McDermid of Caseville, Helen Whitaker and Mrs. Frances Bartnik of Cass City.

One and a half year old Michael Jernor of Cass City admitted with a fractured leg which he sustained when a radio tipped over onto him.

ELMWOOD

Mrs. Ella Peddie visited on Friday with her sister, Mrs. Perry Livingston.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Keller, Mrs. Lewis Livingston and son, David, were visitors on Sunday afternoon at the LeRoy Evans home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Livingston and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Veder and son, Robert, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Veder.

Mrs. Harold Evans spent Saturday in Detroit and attended a shower Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Harry Evans given by Mrs. Ira Evans.

Place Refrigerators For Top Service

Before your new refrigerator is moved in, consider where it should stand to give you top service. The labor saving value and efficiency may be largely lost if a refrigerator is poorly placed.

You can save yourself steps, advises Lucile Ketchum, home management extension specialist at Michigan State College, by placing it near a food preparation center not too far from the sink.

Keep your refrigerator in the open with at least 2 1/2 inches of air space between the back of the refrigerator and the wall. If your box must be recessed, 3 to 4 inches at the back and sides is better and 8 to 12 inches at the top.

Avoid extremes of heat and cold. Although modern refrigerators are well-insulated, extra heat makes them run overtime as you will have noticed on a hot summer day.

On the other hand, an unheated back porch during winter months is a poor spot for the refrigerator because the extreme cold is hard on its mechanism.

PLEASANT HOME HOSPITAL

Patients in the hospital Wednesday forenoon were: Mrs. James Luana of Centerline, W. E. Hunt of Mayville, Arch Seller of Sandusky, Mrs. Jennie Wright and Mrs. Chas. Barriager of Caro, Mrs. Minnie Wheeler, Mrs. Simon Shagena and Miss Betty Boughner of Snover, Mrs. John Adamezyk and baby boy of Kingston, Mrs. Nick Melcheck of Cass City, and Mrs. Leo Patnaude of Kingston.

Born Sept. 26 to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Englehart of Cass City, a son, Douglas Albert. Weight 8 lbs. and 7 oz.

Patients recently discharged were: Mrs. Fred Wright, Donald Little, Baby Rex Schuette and Miss Laura Bigelow of Cass City, Mrs. Robert Neumann of Marlette, Baby Mileski of Deford, and Danny Sheffer of Pontiac.

DISTRICT SCOUT ROUNDTABLE AT HIGH SCHOOL OCT. 3

Concluded from page 1. problems, share experiences, learn new program features, master Scout skills, ceremonies and games, all of which help the local unit leaders to administer a better quality of Scouting to the youth that they serve.

Other activities to be taken up at the Scouters' roundtable are the Senior Scout Rendezvous, Tuscola District Camporee, ushering at the Michigan and the Michigan State football games and the nation-wide Roll Call Week.

The Senior Scout Rendezvous will take place on October 8 and 9 on the Muskegon River in the Houghton Lake State Forest area. This is open to all Scouts 14 years and older and their leaders.

The Tuscola District Camporee is to be held on October 29 and 30 at the Caro Scout ground which is located east and north of Caro. This is open to all registered Scouts of the county and their leaders.

Ushering at the home games at Ann Arbor and East Lansing has become a feature in the fall program of the Scout troops. Each council has been given a quota and this is spread over the units in the area.

The National Roll-Call Week is a feature of the national council program. During the last week in September or as near thereby as possible the neighborhood commissioner will make a visit to each unit that he serves and inspect the uniforms and call the names on the unit record.

NEED CARE IN CORN HARVEST

Mechanical corn pickers are at work harvesting another big corn crop. They can do it in record time if they are operated safely.

Stop the picker to make adjustments. Keep guards in place—manufacturers provide shields for exposed parts. Watch out for fires—remove trash accumulations. Stop the picker before oiling or making any adjustments.

Funeral of Marvel E. White Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Marvel Eugene White were held at Little's Funeral Home on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 27, and were conducted by Rev. Fred Clark and Rev. Sergei Moisejemo. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Mr. White passed away in Pleasant Home Hospital on Saturday evening where he had been a patient for four days. He had been in poor health for the last 10 years.

Mr. White was born in Arkona, Ontario, June 8, 1869, the son of the late William and Hannah Hutchinson White. He came to this community in 1900. He had been a member of the Argyle Methodist Church for the past five years.

He is survived by two sisters, Miss Maude White, at home, and Mrs. James (Clara) Palmer of Argyle. One sister and two brothers preceded him in death.

Arboretum Near Oak Beach Is Visited by Cass City W. S. C.

Just south of Oak Beach the group was taken to see the 40-acre tract called the arboretum and owned by the Huron County Federation of Women's Clubs. On the land 1,500 red pine trees have already been planted in rows six feet apart.

A little farther down the road was the "Club Wilderness," 120 acres leased by the Huron County Federation for 99 years and set aside by them for the preservation of wild flowers, shrubs and trees, birds and animals just as nature provided them.

As the grape conference went round and round, getting nowhere fast, testimony quickly focused attention on the general problem of marketing Michigan food crops.

Under state agricultural advertising law, any group of growers can qualify for limited state aid if they raise their own funds on a matching basis.

Because of the 1949 bumper crop, which incidentally is of excellent quality, the state department of agriculture has offered to provide $4,000 from the department's special fund to augment the commission's program of promotion.

EXTENSION STAFF AT SPECIAL CONFERENCE

On Thursday of this week, the extension staff of Tuscola County attended a special conference of extension agents in Saginaw. Home Agent Miss Jean Gillies, 4-H Club Agent Byron Carpenter, and County Agricultural Agent Loren S. Armbruster will spend the entire day meeting with other agents of the East Michigan District working out plans and policies for a better over-all extension program.

Specialists from Michigan State College in various fields will be present.

Because more people rely on newspapers for information than on other media, Michigan governors hold press conferences twice a day.

The governor discusses problems of state government with reporters. The daily newspaper, in the matter of hours, carries news on these developments.

Woes of Michigan grape growers were aired recently at a conference called by Governor G. Mennen William and covered by the press. Oddly enough, grape growers apparently boycotted the meeting, as none of them showed up.

Clarence Bolander, information chief of the agriculture department, said that 26 per cent of Michigan's grape crop was usually sold as fresh fruit; 6 per cent was purchased by housewives for jelly and jam; and the remainder was sold to processors for grape juice or wine.

A Detroit produce man reported the modern housewife shuns the chore of making jelly, preferring to purchase ready-made products from the corner grocery.

As the grape conference went round and round, getting nowhere fast, testimony quickly focused attention on the general problem of marketing Michigan food crops.

Under state agricultural advertising law, any group of growers can qualify for limited state aid if they raise their own funds on a matching basis.

Because of the 1949 bumper crop, which incidentally is of excellent quality, the state department of agriculture has offered to provide $4,000 from the department's special fund to augment the commission's program of promotion.

Minard Farley, Jr., enterprising secretary of the apple commission, said growers were seeking cooperation of Florida outlets in an effort to obtain an apple haulback for ruckers, who bring fresh citrus fruit to Michigan.

The Lake Michigan shore is one of the most important fruit belts in the United States. Grapes, peaches, apples and pears are concentrated here.

The harder fruits, moreover, are widely distributed in the southern portion of the state. Romeo's peach festival is an example.

Michigan agriculture requires the efforts of many persons other than full-time farmers and family workers. In 1948 more than 50,000 seasonal workers were employed at the period of peak demand in August.

Surplus crops present the biggest headache to growers. That's where the state of Michigan comes into the picture for inspection, marketing and advertising.

You will have an opportunity to enjoy Michigan apples this fall, winter and spring at attractive prices. As for grapes, the growers apparently patched up their difficulties, and all is well. At least we hope so.
