Solicitors Are Busy In Drive for the Community Chest

Campaign Started Monday at Kick-off Dinner at the New Gordon Hotel

Dave Ackerman presided as chairman at the New Gordon Hotel when solicitors to the number of 48 were guests at the "kick-off" dinner on Monday evening and plans were completed to raise $5,000 for the Elkland Township Community Chest.

Mr. Ackerman gave instructions to solicitors and assigned the territory to be covered by each one. The dinner was served at the expense of two local business houses.

The meeting was an informal one when, during a question and answer period, information which solicitors desired, was given.

An officer of the chest suggests that the amount which will be donated by a household be determined by its members thereby saving the time of the solicitor for a second call.

A large thermometer will be displayed in front of the hotel which will inform people of the progress of the campaign.

The community chest came into existence a year ago when interested persons in this vicinity realized the need of such an organization which would collect and disburse funds under one head, dispensing with the many smaller drives which were continually carried on here. Last year over $5,000 were collected and the greater part of that sum distributed to 14 different organizations, leaving a small balance on hand.

Large Group at Evangelical U. B. Family Night

Wednesday was family night at the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the social rooms presented an attractive view as members of the congregation and their families were seated at prettily decorated tables. They were divided into 12 groups, each at a table which bore emblems of the month in which they celebrated their birthdays.

Following a short general program, representatives of each month contributed numbers for the entire group. These afforded many types of entertainment.

It was an enjoyable event in church family life sponsored by the Woman's Society of World Service.

Mrs. Schwaderer Is Officer of Policy Planning Committee

By Gene Alleman

Signs are multiplying that the proposed bridge over the Straits of Mackinac will soon become a pressing issue. The Michigan Hotel Association recently adopted a resolution recommending to the Governor and to the State Highway Commissioner that every effort should be made at an early date to bring about the construction of the bridge. The resolution pointed out that the structure could be constructed 50 per cent of its cost being paid by grant of the congress and the remaining 50 per cent being paid by sale of revenue bonds to private investors "without obligation of any kind on the part of the state." Hotel men feel keenly that Michigan will miss a good bet if the traffic bottleneck at the Straits is not removed in the near future. Leading argument: Modjeski and Masters, bridge and traffic engineers, forecast that motor traffic across the Straits would triple in one year after completion of a bridge.

Grass root sentiment on state issues are to be studied by a republican policy planning committee headed by Dr. Robert M. Ford of the University of Michigan. Ford was a former administrative assistant to former governor Harry F. Kelley. Vice Chairmen are Herman H. Luhrs, Royal Oak; Mrs. Isabelle Schwaderer, Cass City, and George A. Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie.

Approximately 5,000 employees of Ford Motor Company at Dearborn will be eligible for retirement turn to Michigan Mirror, page 4.

While Vernon Poole and his hired man, Jerry Waun, 19, of Snover were rolling a 50-gallon barrel of cider down the basement steps at the Poole farm, 7 miles west of Deckerville, on Monday, the barrel rolled over Poole's body, killing him instantly. Poole, on the lower side, lost his footing and fell.

This and That

Jim McAlpine, 12-year-old lad of Grant Township, did his first pheasant hunting Saturday. He procured a hunting license on the first day of the season and with his first shotgun he downed his first bird with the first shot in his first hour of hunting. That was enough "firsts" to give a thrill to any 12-year-old!

Grover H. Burke is trying to bring a southern atmosphere in agriculture to this community. On his way home from Florida this spring, he obtained some peanut seed which he planted in his garden, a block north of the Chronicle building and Monday he brought in a bush of the nuts which are on display in this office. Next year he plans to try out some cotton and tobacco on the same plot of ground. Michigan weather this summer and autumn has been very favorable to peanut growing. How about a peanut queen contest in Cass City in 1950, Grover?

Frank Hegler says he was given a very nearly perfect potato specimen by Vern Stewart, who grows potatoes on his farm in Novesta Township, 6 1/2 miles south of Cass City. The specimen weighed exactly three pounds. It wouldn't take many potatoes of this kind to fill a bushel basket.

When Fire Chief Clarence Burt asked for a straw stack or brush pile close to town in order to demonstrate the efficiency of Elkland Township's new fire truck, he had no response to the request. However, the fire department had a real fire at the M. D. Hart farm residence, a mile west of town, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crawford, and the demonstration was entirely satisfactory. A passerby noticed a blaze on the roof Friday evening and notified the Crawfords who turned in an alarm. Elkland Township farmers are naturally pleased to have this new protection for their farm buildings.

The Arthur Moores in Grant Township are planning to feast on autumn raspberries providing of course that the weather man continues to furnish such fine October days as prevailed the first of this week. Tuesday, they had raspberries for supper.

Walter scored 531 out of a possible 600 points. He placed first in individual scoring on Jersey cattle with a score of 136 out of a possible 160. His ranking in other breed contests were: Holsteins, 3rd; Guernsey, 15th; and Ayrshire, 30th.

The group made the trip by car and made their headquarters at the Youth Building on the Indiana State Fairgrounds, which is the site of the International Dairy Exposition.

Walter's trip was sponsored by the Saginaw Dairy Company.

The exposition gathered some of the finest dairy herds in North America, including several well-known Michigan herds. The Clayton Rohlf's Holstein herd at Fairgrove was represented by three cows which were a part of the Michigan State Holstein exhibit.

Insecticides Urged In Hopper Control Declared Better Than Use Of Poison Baits

Farmers have access to easier and better ways to protect their crops against grasshoppers than by the use of poison baits.

Any of three newly-developed insecticides — chlordane, toxaphene or benzene hexachloride — are recommended by the U. S. department of agriculture for general use against "hoppers" on a large number of crops.

Another well-known insecticide, DDT, doesn't work against grasshoppers.

Experimental work with the three insecticides has been carried on by federal and state agencies long enough to be sure of the results. Each has advantages and choice should depend on special needs. The type of sprayer or duster used makes little difference so long as the insecticide goes on evenly and in the right amounts.

All three insecticides are both stomach and contact poisons. Under field conditions, chlordane and toxaphene are best as stomach poisons.

Chlordane is best as a spray made from an emulsion. For half-grown and most full-grown hoppers, use one-half pound of actual chlordane per acre. Double the dose for full-grown or big, yellow grasshoppers. Chlordane is a slow killer and results are not apparent at once. But hoppers stop feeding as soon as they swallow a good dose. The killing effect of chlordane lasts about 10 days.

Benzene hexachloride is best as a dust, although it may be used as a spray made from wettable powder. Use at the rate of three-tenths of a pound of actual gamma isomer benzene hexachloride per acre or 30 pounds of one per cent gamma isomer dust per acre. (Directions on the package will tell you how to get this concentration.) The effect of this insecticide lasts about two days.

Toxaphene or chlorinated camphene can be used as a dust, as a wettable powder or as an emulsion. The emulsion usually lasts longer. Toxaphene is available in 10 or 20 per cent dusts. It gives good results at the rate of 30 pounds of 10 per cent dust per acre. As an emulsion, it should be used at the rate of one and a half pounds of actual toxaphene against small hoppers or two and a half or three pounds against large hoppers. Toxaphene is effective for about 10 days.

If the hoppers are confined to the field you want to treat, you can do a good job with benzene hexachloride. But if the pests are moving into your field from the outside, you'll be wise to use the longer-lasting chlordane or toxaphene.

In India, the King of England is given the title of Emperor.

The young man called on his best girl and spent the evening. When he arrived there was not a cloud in the sky, so he carried no umbrella. At ten o'clock it was raining cats and dogs and the gutters overflowed.

"My, my, my," said the dear one, "if you go out in this storm you will catch your death of cold."

"I'm afraid I might," was the assenting answer.

"Well, I'll tell you what—stay all night; you can have Tom's room, since he's at college."

She flew upstairs to see that Tom's room was in order. In a little time she came down to announce that Tom's room was in order, but the young man was not in sight.

In a few minutes he appeared, dripping wet and out of breath from running, with a bundle under his arm.

"Why, Charlie, where have you been?" she cried.

"Been home after my pajamas," was the answer.

SPOOK SWEEPERS

Ghost Tales Haunt House

WASHINGTON, D. C. — James Cypress, 64-year old custodian of the most famous haunted house in the land, should lay claim to the title of "one of the bravest men in the world." He and Carrie, his wife, who is about the same age, sweep out the spooks in what is known as the octagon house, where President James Madison and his wife, Dolly, found a roof after the British burned the White House in 1814.

James is old now, and tired. He's lived in the house for more than a quarter-century.

"Golly," he said, "I don't hear any creaking doors or strange noises. Of course, that is what they talk about. There is the woman who fell over a black cat and was killed when she tumbled over the circular stairwell."

Saw Black Cats

James once saw a couple of black cats around the place and didn't mind it too much. He also recalled that once when his wife was sick he called a doctor to the loft where they live. The doctor saw some strange shadows.

Must not have been much to it, though, for the next time the Cypress family needed the doctor he came on the double.

For almost half a century now the building has been occupied by the American Institute of Architects.

Except the Cypresses' living quarters, most of the building contains offices now.

It's a red brick building and isn't eight-sided at all, but six-sided. The library of congress, which is supposed to know everything, doesn't know how the house got its name of octagon.

The first person who ever lived there was Col. John Taylor, a wealthy plantation owner and a friend of George Washington. It is one building in the world which could, if it wishes, honestly put out a sign "George Washington Slept Here," but doesn't.

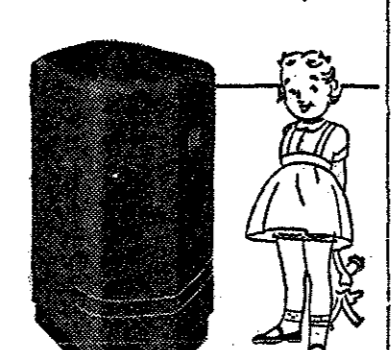

Touch of Tragedy

There was a touch of tragedy from the first. A daughter of the colonel fell in love with a Britisher, fluffed him, and he committed suicide in the house.

After the treaty which ended the War of 1812 was signed, Washington society kicked up a fancy heel in the old building until 1821.

During some uncertain times, there was an underground passage between the octagon house and the White House. That now is plugged up.

During the Civil War, the building was confiscated by the government and turned into a hospital for wounded Yankee soldiers. At another time, it served as a Catholic school for girls.

Revolutionary War Women
Who Won Fame from Flags

Betsy Ross wasn't the only American woman of the Revolutionary war period who gained fame for her flag making prowess. A young matron named Rebecca Young made the flag that Gen. George Washington carried when the Continental army took part in the siege of Boston.

Mrs. Young, who had a flag shop in Philadelphia, was noted in the Colonies for her exquisite needlework. Her fine stitching, embroidered scallops, and beautiful patchwork quilts were the talk of the countryside, according to childcraft books.

The flag that General Washington requisitioned Mrs. Young to make, had thirteen alternate red and white stripes. Appliqued on the blue field in the upper left-hand corner were crosses of Saint Andrew and Saint George—a design which represents the union of Scotland and England.

It was named the "Grand Union Flag" by General Washington and flown by troops of the Continental army, for the first time about January 1, 1776.

Like Betsy Ross, who is credited with having made the country's first official flag, Mrs. Young did not design the flag General Washington ordered from her. He is said to have adopted the design for it from an ensign that had been raised by John Paul Jones from the deck of the ship Alfred on December 3, 1775.

Dressings for Fish

An endless variety of dressings may be served with fish. The secret is to add just the right amount of seasoning to enhance the delicate fish flavor rather than to mask it. Sour cream can be used as the basis for preparing a number of different fish sauces. Miss Frances Cook, foods specialist, University of Illinois college of agriculture, recommends this easy-to-prepare one: To a half cup of whipped sour cream, add 2 tablespoons of vinegar and a dash of tobacco sauce and salt to taste. Then just before serving, blend in 1/2 cup of finely chopped or grated cucumber. Be sure the cucumber is thoroughly chilled, and blend it in carefully.

Use of Trifocals

Trifocals, which provide a middle-range for seeing as well as the near and far vision of bifocals, are becoming increasingly prevalent, partly because the United States is becoming an "older" nation. (The number of older persons is increasing in proportion to the number of younger ones.) At about the age of 40 the average person enters the "double-vision era," when glasses are needed for near-far seeing. Trifocals offer also the transition step of middle-range seeing.

Persistent Snow

Snow has fallen in some area of Illinois in all months of the year except July and August.

Voyageurs

Small Boaters Conquer Sea
DARTMOUTH, England. — Two daring British brothers completed a 2,700 mile Atlantic crossing in a home-made 20-foot sailboat.

Stanley Smith, 30, and his brother, Colin, 29, set foot on land for the first time since leaving Halifax, N.S., in their flimsy craft. The trip required 43 days.

The two former glider pilots were welcomed by screaming sirens and ships' whistles, while hundreds of persons cheered.

Looking fit and bronzed the two were whisked off to the city hall for a reception by the mayor and city councilors.

After successfully braving storms, thirst and starvation for more than six weeks without aid, the brothers had to accept a tow from a harbor launch to make their triumphal entrance. The wind felled them 500 yards off shore.

The Smith brothers emigrated to Canada last February. While on the liner crossing the Atlantic, they designed their little craft with the idea of using it on cruises through the Canadian lakes.

OF CONGERS, NEW YORK

We're Sure that Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play. Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls. These people are telling us, as Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Gentlemen:
The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,
Niles M. Davies
Erica Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products. It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers. We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help. We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

in April, 1950, at Pensions of $100 per month including Social Security benefits. The company estimates that 13,000 employees are sixty years of age or over. The new pension plan will cost the company $20,000,000 per year. Increase in the price of Ford automobiles may be an indirect result.

With the election of Wyley R. Kirk of Fairgrove as chairman of the State Agricultural Commission, speculation has increased that Charles Figy, director of the State Department of Agriculture, may be replaced in the near future. Figy was reappointed by the old commission early in 1949, but the usual one-year appointment was withheld.

Governor G. Mennen Williams continues to utilize the Attorney General and State Controller as agencies to put republican state elective officials on the defensive. The Attorney General has ruled that purchases by the Highway Department must be cleared through the Department of Administration of which the controller is director. As republicans hold a majority on the state administrative board, headed by the Governor, the recent moves by Williams have been largely nullified.

Banks of Michigan paid a record sum of $3,508,673 as interest earnings on funds of the State Treasury, it is announced by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. Brake has been mentioned as a possible republican candidate for Governor in 1950. Accordingly, he has been the target of criticisms by Governor Williams, well publicized in the press. When the Governor asked the State Treasurer to collect interest on some $32,000,000 in state funds on deposit at banks, Brake replied with a press statement that such was not practical in view of the state needs for funds and requirements of banks for 30 to 60 days or longer withdrawal notice for money on deposit drawing interest.

The October term of the Michigan Supreme Court is being watched carefully by Lansing observers. Among the cases before jurists is the suit brought by Attorney General Stephen J. Roth contesting appointment of former Gov. Kim Sigler as Special Macomb County Prosecutor. The case involves a charge that former Senator Ivan A. Johnston, Mt. Clemens, allegedly accepted a bribe while serving as Macomb County Prosecutor. Special Macomb Judge Paul R. Cash, Alma, ruled in favor of Sigler.

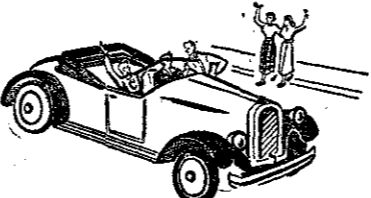

The continued trend of high school graduates to college and universities is shown by the all-time enrollment record at Michigan State College, East Lansing. The 1948 total was 15,886, the new record is 16,051. Of this number 43 per cent are war veterans. To remind visitors that most of its new buildings are being financed without cost to the public, the college administration has erected large signs in front of new buildings with this reminder.

Contracts have been awarded by the state administrative board for construction of the first 500 bed unit of the new Northville State Mental Hospital. Total overall cost of the hospital development is expected to approximate $12,000,000 with facilities for 3,000 patients. The hospital is only 30 minutes from downtown Detroit.

"Want a lift?" is a familiar cry these days around our high schools. And youngsters will dash across the street to hop into the car—cars will stop in the middle of the street to pick up passengers—and many a youngster may be seen standing in the street talking to the driver.

All these signals of a new school term mean added caution on the part of every driver. They mean slowing down when approaching a school zone; a constant lookout for the boy or girl who may cross the street without stopping to look for you.

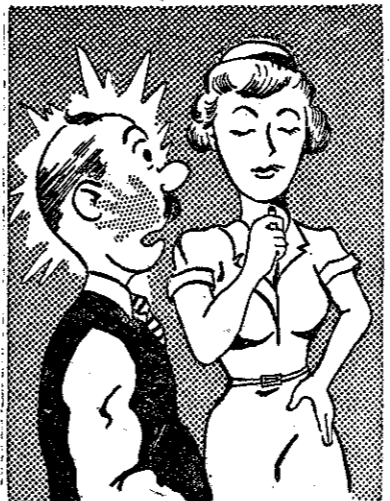

Of course, our youngsters should be careful—it's your duty as a parent to caution them against such dangerous actions. But it's also your duty to keep in mind that these children, with the excitement of beginning school and all the new activities, are apt to be heedless. So it's up to YOU to keep them safe.

Not only our schools, but the city playgrounds, youth centers, bowling halls, theaters—all these locations should be "Slow down—watch out" zones for every driver. Be careful and give the kids a "Brake"—save yourself from the tragedy that comes from knowing you've killed or injured a child!

Moot Question
The sales manager and the advertising manager were arguing about which of their departments was the most important to the company. "Can you show me," challenged the sales chief, "a single order that advertising ever put on the books?" "I think I can," replied the advertising manager, "but first answer this question. Can you show me a single load of hay that the sun ever put in a barn?"

Moisture Needs of Trees, Plants, Shrubs, Explained

Every tree around your home needs 100 gallons or more of water per day, because that is the approximate amount that is evaporated from the leaves.

Many people water plants only by the sprinkling of a hose. After a few moments the ground looks wet but it is only on the surface. An inch below, the ground will probably be bone dry, as anyone would find if the soil is turned over with a spade or trowel.

It is the moisture farther down in the soil that gives the real benefit to shrubs, trees, and other plants, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

If there are no local restrictions against using a garden hose during drought periods, the nozzle of the hose should be taken off and the water should be allowed to run in around the plant slowly long enough really to get down to the roots. This is especially true of shrubs and trees which have been planted recently and haven't had time to develop a large, strong network of roots.

To save both water and work the use of mulches is important after watering. In addition to prepared mulches, one simple mulch which can be used consists of grass clippings. An inch of sawdust provides another good mulch. Peatmoss is one of the more popular mulches.

Few people realize the enormous amount of moisture which plants need. The water is absorbed by the roots, is lifted up through the trunk and branches of a tree, then through the leaves, and finally is evaporated out into the air.

Better Acoustics for Home To Be Demanded by Public

In 20 years your radio cabinet probably will be about as obsolete as a wood-burning cook stove, according to Dr. Howard C. Hardy, supervisor of acoustics and vibrations research at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.

Dr. Hardy believes that radio sound systems will be built into the walls of houses within the near future and will become as much a part of any building as plumbing and electrical wiring.

"People are beginning to demand better sound reproduction and better acoustics in their homes," Dr. Hardy said.

Architects, construction engineers, and the public in general are becoming increasingly aware that sound and sound reproduction are as important considerations in construction as are the other utilities. Radios, phonographs, and television units are becoming as essential in a home as a refrigerator.

Dr. Hardy, one of the nation's leading authorities on sound in general and acoustics in particular, believes that better sound reproduction and acoustics are not now common in American homes and other structures simply because the public hasn't demanded them.

"And the public hasn't so far demanded them because very few people have ever really heard good sound reproduction except in a certain few theaters and auditoriums," he said.

Plaster of Paris was originally manufactured near Paris, France.

HOUSES MUST WORK TO PAY THEIR WAY

Tractors are found on almost every Michigan farm, but here and there a team of horses is still kept for special jobs. Farmers who have "one last team" claim there is no sentiment connected with the animals. The horses get board and room and often spend much time in their stalls.

John Doneth, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, estimates that unless the team is working at least 700 hours a year it is not paying its way.

So though "sentiment" may not enter the picture—the team is getting a lot of paid vacation unless working at least 70 work days 10 hours long each year.

IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear father, Mr. Joseph Nichols, who passed away 12 years ago, Oct. 22, 1937. We never thought when you left home, you never would return. The shock was hard, the pain severe. We never thought your death was near. We often sit and think of you and speak of how you died. To think you could not say goodbye before you closed your eyes. We tried so hard to save you. Our prayers were all in vain. This world would seem like heaven, if we could have you back again. Sadly missed by his children. 10-21-1

Serve Fish Often For Meal Variety
(See Recipe Below)

Seafood Specials

FISH do not swim in the ocean just to be eaten on Friday," says the old adage. If you've had the good fortune of eating fish prepared properly, then you certainly will adhere to the adage, for fish cooked to perfection is truly delicious.

But, there are other reasons for eating fish, too! You may have abundant body-building proteins, minerals and vitamins when you have a fish dinner.

Fish are modestly priced whether you buy them fresh, quick-frozen or canned, so they'll help you with food budgeting problems. They're plentiful and amazingly versatile, if you'll just give them a chance.

If you don't particularly enjoy fish, try a new way of preparation. One of the recipes in today's column might start you on a new food adventure. Or, if you tend to get tired of fish, try other methods of preparation with a dash of spanking brand new flavor tricks. You'll be surprised at how many new ways there are for preparing the same foods.

Many have heard of "fish and chips" but have you ever tried them at home? Use filets of fish which have been cleaned, then season with salt and pepper. Roll them in flour and dip in a thin batter, and fry in deep fat (300°). Served with shoe string potatoes, also fried in deep fat until golden and crisp, a hearts of lettuce salad and a generous serving of lemon quarters, you'll have a really delicious dinner for any night of the week.

DO YOU OBJECT to the odor of fish? Fish which is not overcooked will not have that odor to which you may rightfully object. It's wise to remember that fish is delicate and does not need long cooking to make it tender.

Baked fish is popular, especially when it's stuffed with a nicely seasoned celery mixture, then served with a tangy lemon-butter sauce.

*Stuffed-Baked Fish (Serves 6)

- 3 to 4 pound whole fish
- 3 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1/2 cup bacon drippings
- 4 cups dry bread cubes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon sage, marjoram or thyme
- 4 slices bacon

Have fish cleaned but leave on head, tail and fins. Wipe dry. Rub inside and out with salt; let stand about 10 minutes. Cook onion, celery and parsley in drippings until golden brown. Combine with bread cubes and seasonings.

Toss lightly and stuff fish loosely. Fasten fish with skewers and lace with string. Place fish, seam side down in a shallow, well greased baking pan. Brush with melted fat or salad oil. Bake, uncovered, in a moderately hot oven (375°) for 40 to 50 minutes. Baste occasionally with fat or oil. During the last 15

LYNN SAYS: These Tested Ways Help in Fish Cookery

When brooding fish filets, allow the fish to stand after brooding for at least one half hour, so that the coating will not fall off when the filets are fried.

Potato nests are a nice innovation for serving creamed fish. Make them by cutting raw potatoes into slender strips, and cook in hot fat for 2 minutes. Press the potatoes into muffin pans and brown in a hot oven.

Fish goes to lunch just as nicely as to dinner, when it's tuna fish in golden brown and puffy sandwiches:

Tuna Fish Sandwiches (Serves 4-6)

- 1 cup grated tuna fish (canned)
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 tablespoon grated onion
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup salad dressing
- Salt, pepper and paprika
- 1/2 cup coarsely grated American cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese and season to taste. Cut bread slice diagonally in half. Toast one side; spread other side with tuna mixture. Sprinkle with cheese and broil until golden brown and puffy.

HERE'S A RECIPE for the thin batter into which to dip the fish for deep fat frying:

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or salad oil

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs, add melted fat or oil and milk. Combine with dry ingredients. Beat until smooth and use for fish filets which have been seasoned and rolled in flour. Fry in deep fat until golden brown. Serve at once.

Oysters have a delicate flavor, but you can coax them into an even more appetizing tempting dish as follows:

Savory Oyster Casserole (Serves 4)

- 2 dozen oysters
- 1 cup cooked, chopped spinach
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon tabasco sauce
- 1 cup toasted bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons minced celery
- Salt, pepper and cayenne pepper

Add seasonings to parsley, spinach, bay leaf, onion and celery.

Brown flour in butter and add spinach mixture to it. Cook slowly for 15 minutes and then remove bay leaf. Drain and dry oysters and place in a buttered baking dish, or in individual casseroles. Mix oysters with bread crumbs, then top with vegetable mixture. Dress with lemon juice. Bake in a hot (450°) oven for about 12 minutes. Serve with additional lemon, if desired.

Chopped sweet pickles added to bread stuffing make a nice innovation when used with pike or other white-fleshed fish.

Lemon browned butter is another fine idea for serving with fish. Brown but do not burn butter over a slow fire in a heavy skillet. Add to this a dash of Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice to season.

Fish filets are sometimes more interesting if dipped in bread dressing, rolled, fastened with string and baked or fried, than when served flat.

WOMAN'S WORLD

When Laundering Curtains Use Professional Way for Results

By Eritta Haley

EVER HAD CURTAINS fall apart while laundering them? Ever had them look limp, faded, and not quite clean enough? These are things that happen when we give curtains and drapes strictly amateur treatment when it comes to cleaning.

On the other hand, there's pure joy in a woman's eyes when she surveys curtains that have been properly cleaned. Curtains like this have a spanking-clean look, they hang straight, and they have retained their color.

Dirt which creeps into the house via windows, as well as the sun which dries out the thread of curtain material work havoc with the best of window coverings. For these reasons, extra care is necessary to keep curtains looking nice and avoiding the expensive replacement cost which they would otherwise necessitate.

Too much cannot be said in favor of constant cleaning. This does not mean laundering every few weeks, but it does mean applying a vacuum attachment to them when you do your weekly cleaning to get rid of the surface dust which will otherwise clog the fibers, and make them more difficult to launder.

Curtains can be kept cleaner, too, when windows are cleaned weekly or bi-monthly, depending upon the dirt in different communities. Needless to say, the curtains should be removed as the windows are being cleaned, so no soil comes off on them.

It isn't always necessary to remove the curtains from the rods when washing the windows, since urements so you won't have to go through all the measuring again when you launder.

If you use a curtain stretcher, wash all curtains which are the same size at the same time so you will not have to reset it for each pair.

For those of you who will iron curtains, it's a wise idea to mark the ironing board as to length and width so that you can avoid having the problems of too-short or too-narrow curtains. This is an especially good idea for those curtains which need frequent laundering: kitchen, bathroom and play-room curtains.

Before washing the curtains, dust them either with a vacuum attachment or shake them out before washing so that you will get none of the surface dirt into the water. In this way you can have your water for washing as clean as possible.

Curtains Need Special Care When Washed

Rinse curtains but do not soak them in water as a pre-washing procedure. You can get a lot of dirt out of curtains by giving them a brief cold water rinse. Soaking them, however, would tend to weaken the delicate fibers, which have frequently been sun-baked.

Filmy laces and delicate sheers should not be washed without some protection. In fact, if the curtains are very fragile, they had best be washed in lukewarm water with mild soap, by hand. Simply squeeze, the suds in and out of them as you would a sweater or some woolen garment.

For the somewhat more durable types, but still fragile curtains, place each panel in a pillowcase and sew the top with basting stitches. In this way the rough action of the washing machine will be buffered by the case.

If you intend using a curtain stretcher for drying the fragile curtains, place a strip of muslin at top and bottom of the curtain with pins or basting stitches so that the pins of the stretcher will not tear the curtain.

Curtains may also be basted to a sheet before washing as a protective measure. True, this is somewhat time consuming but worth the effort for it allows the curtain to swish about freely in the machine. You may also use the sheet as a guide for spreading the curtain to dry.

Wash Pre-Shrunk Drapes Only

Unlined draperies made of sanforized material, or those which have been pre-shrunk before making are easily washed. These, too, are given the preliminary dusting and rinsing before washing. Special caution must be observed in wringing them out since it's unwise to put the hooks through the wringer.

Remove the hooks before washing, or plan to wring the curtains by hand if you leave them on.

Both curtains and drapes (with hooks removed) should be folded flat when putting through the wringer to keep them as straight as possible.

Hang both curtains and drapes with care so they will not show the pull of pins at the corners. The best way to do it is to allow a generous overlap.

Rayon curtains may be simply rolled in an absorbent towel and ironed while still damp. Nylon curtains need little or no ironing.

Ruffles come first, when you're ready to iron curtains. These may be done with a hand iron, an ironer, or a new gadget which has recently reached the market. This latter attaches to the hand iron, and you run the ruffles over it.

Medieval Jousting Holds Popularity in Maryland

WASHINGTON. — The medieval sport of jousting still is indulged in at county fairs and horse shows in Maryland, according to the National Geographic Society. Tournaments became widespread in Maryland about 1840 and have retained their popularity ever since.

Although the contestants do not wear the traditional armor associated with the jousts of old, they have maintained some of the ritualistic ceremony that accompanied the sport, and the cry of "Charge, Sir Knight" can be heard all the summer on the fields where the events take place.

Instead of tilting at each other, the contestants spur their horses down a course toward a series of three trestles and attempt to spear with sharp-pointed lances small metal rings dangling from cross-bars. The winning rider is the one spearing the most rings; and to him goes the honor also of choosing the tournament queen of love and beauty.

The modern "knights" run the course three times, clad in colorful silks and riding breeches and bearing titles usually taken from the town or estate from which they originate. The master of ceremonies, who directs the contestants at different stages of the meet, is called the Lord of the Tourney.

"Riding at the rings"—the modern version of the medieval sport—also has become popular in the country districts of Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina and Pennsylvania.

Marine Proves He's Equal To Seven in Street Battle

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—According to an item which recently appeared in the San Diego UNION, former marines throughout the nation can point to Policeman Leon Kozlowski of Calumet City, Calif., as proof of the leathernecks' classic boast that one marine is the equal of seven other men.

Officer Kozlowski, a marine veteran and Japanese prisoner in World War II, was patrolling his beat one night when he came upon seven men fighting. He attempted to stop the fracas, and the combatants all turned on him.

The odds of 7 to 1 were just about right. The battlers fell all around when Kozlowski lowered the boom.

Milk Products Add To Turkey Profits

More Eggs Result Of Judicious Use

Increased egg production of nearly 25 per cent and an increased profit of $2.57 per hen, as a result of adding milk products to the rations of breeding turkeys, is indicated in results of a feeding demonstration reported by the Kraft foods company.

Two similar flocks of broad breasted bronze turkeys on the Lester Woodhams' ranch at Sonora, Calif., were placed on test at the beginning of the season. Both flocks were fed a ration consisting of commercial breeder mash in pellet form, some oats and a little corn. One flock had 130 hens and the other 204. Breeding and management of the two flocks was identical. A pelletized milk product was added to the ration of the smaller flock.

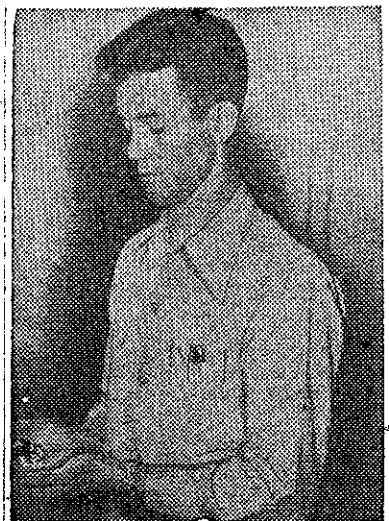

These turkeys show what excellent results can be obtained by turkey raisers with use of proper feed and control of flocks.

Careful records of egg production and feed consumption were maintained from the start of egg production, February 21, to May 28 when the birds were marketed because of the lateness of the hatching season. Both flocks were producing at better than 40 per cent when marketed.

During the 94-day laying period the 130 hens in the flock receiving the pelletized milk product laid a total of 6,237 eggs, an average of 48.1 eggs each. In the same period the 204 hens in the control flock laid 7,811 eggs, or an average of 38.3 each. This meant that the test flock produced better than 25 per cent more eggs. Rate of production was 51.2 per cent for the test flock compared to 40 per cent for the control flock.

Eggs from the test flock graded 91.6 per cent saleable for hatching against 89.3 per cent for the control flock. With hatching eggs at 32 cents each, this meant that each hen receiving the pelletized milk product produced an average of $14.11 worth of hatching eggs, or $3.17 more than the average for the control flock, which was $10.94.

Ancient Beans

Indian beans from varieties reportedly many thousands of years old are being tested by Cornell plant growers for qualities that may help growers get better crops. The beans came from the Allegany reservation and the samples are shown here by T. L. York, assistant in plant breeding at Cornell.

Superphosphate Assists Effectiveness of Manure

One load of manure can be made to do the work of two in topdressing fields, if superphosphate is added before manure is spread, says Prof. C. J. Chapman, of the University of Wisconsin. He suggests putting 25 to 30 pounds of superphosphate in the spreader as the manure goes out onto the field, or scattering superphosphate in barn gutters at the rate of a pound per cow per day.

Thanks, Awfully

A deaf old lady walked into a Main Street store, and asked for five cents' worth of castle soap. "We don't sell a nickel's worth," said the clerk politely. "Yes, I want the white kind," she answered pleasantly. "You don't understand me, madam; I said a nickel wouldn't buy any castle soap in this establishment."

"Sure enough," replied the aged customer, "soap isn't what it used to be in my time; they put too much rozum in it nowadays."

"Oh, Lord!" said the distracted clerk, in a stage whisper, "will you listen to this old lunatic?" Placing his mouth to the dame's ear, he fairly screamed, "We don't sell a nickel's worth of soap here!" "Yes," smiled the old lady, "I wish you would wrap it up securely, with a double thickness of paper; I don't want it smelling up my bag."

The clerk rushed to a box, took out a bar of soap, and almost threw it at the old woman, exclaiming, "Take it and get out, you old harridan of thunduration!"

She smiled, wrapped it herself, and carefully laid her nickel on the counter. "You're the politest and most accommodatingest young man I ever seed, and I'll call again when I need more soap."

DEBTOR

"Ah, my boy," the actor said profoundly to his fellow Thespian, "I owe a great deal to that old lady."

"Your mother?"

"Heavens, no—my landlady!"

Risky Business

"See, here," the agent at an Indian reservation said to one of the chieftains, "It's a violation of the law to have more than one wife and you have four. When you go back home you tell all of your wives except one that they can no longer regard you as their husband."

The chief pondered a moment and then replied, "Ugh, you tell 'em."

NEW FLAME

Widower had engraved on his wife's tombstone the words, "The light of my life has gone out." A little later he married again, and one Sunday was standing with No. 2 before his first wife's grave. Reading the above sentiment, the lady inquired in a rather huffed tone, "Is that so?"

"Yes," replied he, "but I've struck another match!"

OWNERSHIP

A young woman political worker was helping to take a pre-election poll of the voters.

"May I see the gentleman of the house?" she asked of a large woman who opened the door.

"No, you can't," answered the woman.

"But I want to know the party he belongs to," pleaded the girl.

"Well, take a good look at me," she said sternly. "I'm the party!"

Could Be Done

Joe—"Well, it looks like they'll convict that guy accused of murdering his wife. He'll probably hang for it soon."

Pete—"Don't be silly. They don't hang murderers in this state."

Joe—"No? What do they do, then?"

Pete—"They kill them by elocution."

Yeah, Take It

"Sir," he began stammeringly, as he faced her father's stern gaze, "I've come to ask for your daughter's hand."

"That's all right with me, son," he replied, "just so long as you take the one that's always in my pocket."

Man's first weapon in warfare was the slingshot.

"NO! YOU AREN'T GOING TO CLEAN WITH GASOLINE AGAIN!"

CASS CITY

HUMPTY-DUMPTY

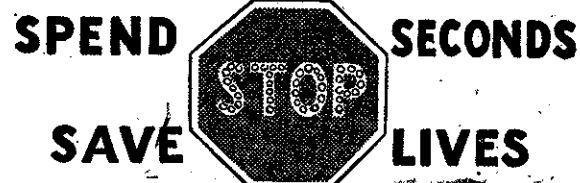

hit a stone wall,
After too many drinks from the keg;
His car took fire—made a funeral pyre,
And now he's just a fried egg!

Funny? No!—Humpty Dumpty's kind of death is only stupid—and criminal.

Look at the facts: Drinking drivers cause one out of every five highway deaths. When innocent victims perish, too, that's manslaughter! It must be dealt with by strict laws, strictly enforced.

Even one or two drinks slow reactions, impair judgment, increase accident chances three to four times.

Drinking and driving just don't mix. If you drive, don't drink. If you drink, don't drive.
