

Two-Day Band Festival Here on March 24 and 25

Thirty-two to 34 Bands Will Participate in District No. 3 Event

The two-day district band festival March 24 and 25 at Cass City High School will begin at eight o'clock each morning and will continue all day.

Cass City High School is a member of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association in District Number Three. District Number Three includes the entire Thumb with outlying towns, such as Lapeer, Flint, Saginaw, and Bay City. Don Borg is the chairman of this district this year and will be in charge of the festival. Approximately 32 to 34 bands are expected to participate.

The festival is not a competitive one. Each school band plays three numbers, one of which is a required number. This required number is voted upon by all the directors in the state. Each required number is chosen for its grade of difficulty equal to the size or class of school. The larger the school, the more difficult the music. The other two numbers are a warm-up march and a selection of each director's own choosing.

Each band is allowed twenty-five minutes of playing time. Ten minutes before they spend in the warm-up room. After playing their three numbers they proceed to the sight reading room where they play a march and a selection, which they have never seen before. Each band will be given a rating from I which is superior to V which is very poor.

All bands and orchestras receiving an I rating will be entitled to go to the state festival in April. School will be out on these days and all of the rooms will be used for housing the bands. The gym will be used as the judging room. Everyone is invited to come and listen to these bands play. It must be understood, however, that you may enter the gym only between bands. You may not enter while a band is playing. The sight reading room is the library. No one is allowed there except band students performing at that time. The band room will be used as the warm-up room, and only those warming up are allowed there.

In the second game in the Class B division Thursday night, March 2, Bad Axe defeated Caro 58 to 51. New School Building for St. Agatha Parish at Gagetown

The new grade school, being built by the St. Agatha Catholic Church in Gagetown, is nearing completion. The 60 ft. by 100 ft. modern school building will replace the old three story structure, which is one of the oldest parochial schools in this area.

There are four classrooms, a library, an office, a rest room and two toilets in the new building.

Each classroom has three 6 ft. by 8 ft. windows in its outside wall, making possible a maximum of natural illumination. There are no blackboards in the classrooms, but instead there are green chalk boards and yellow chalk is used instead of white. They are newly developed to reduce eyestrain. The rooms are painted in pastel shades with different colors for the various classrooms. The floors are of asphalt tile and there are germicidal lights in every room to reduce the bacteria content in the air.

One hundred eighteen lockers are built into the walls of the main hall and the building is heated by a vapor-vacuum connection heating system, which is piped from a central heating plant in the church building.

Gagetown High School Will Be Closed Next Fall

Meetings will be held in the near future on plans to close five one-room rural schools near Gagetown and transport the students to the Gagetown Public School. The school districts in which it is proposed to hold such meetings include Cedar Run, Bingham, Frenchtown, Carolan and Sunshine. When held, residents in these districts will be given a chance to decide whether they would be interested in having their children transported to Gagetown and attend classes there next fall.

The proposal follows a recent action by the Gagetown board of education (Elmwood School District No. 3, Fri.) in deciding to close grades nine through 12 at the close of the present school term and transport these students to other high schools in neighboring communities.

Reasons for closing of the high school was given by the board as low enrollment and the necessity of a narrow curriculum because lack of students has removed the school from the accredited list of Michigan high schools and made it ineligible for the collection of state tuition.

Abundant Floor Space for Each Child

The modern school is a far cry from the little red schoolhouse. The old methods of discipline and learning have given way to educational ideas more in line with democratic living.

Modern education is reflected in an informal and flexible approach to school design. New elementary schools are planned so the program of learning may take place in a home-like atmosphere. Each room is designed to serve the needs of the group housed therein. To be thus self-contained each room has its own clothing wardrobes, book shelves, reading corner, storage cabinets, movable seats and tables, play and activity facilities. Adequate lighting and the introduction of attractive colors, step up efficiency and lift morale by helping children to see better, feel better and consequently do better work.

Abundant floor space for each child encourages informal grouping of children according to interests and abilities. Approximately thirty square feet per child are required to accommodate these facilities.

Such classrooms prove to be homes of happy children, learning easily and naturally in an informal and friendly atmosphere.

NORMAL PASSENGER SERVICE ON G. T. R. R. AGAIN

Beginning Monday, March 13, normal passenger train schedules will be resumed on the Grand Trunk railroad, announces Walt Miller at the Cass City depot.

E. L. Schwaderer Returns from Trip To Germany

Ernest L. Schwaderer returned home last week from his trip to Heidelberg, Germany, where he visited his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Wood, (Alice) and family for a few weeks. His overseas trip by plane was made from New York City via Newfoundland, London, England, to Frankfurt, Germany, in 22 hours. The return trip was made in 36 hours with stops at Amsterdam, Glasgow, Scotland, and Shannon, Ireland, Newfoundland and Boston to New York City. Mr. Schwaderer and the Wood family enjoyed a three-day motor trip when they visited Munich, Berchtesgaden, the German Alps, Salzburg, Austria, and other points of interest. Part of the automobile tour was over the autobahn, a military road of 260 miles in which underpasses and overpasses eliminate all crossroad intersections.

Heidelberg, a city of 125,000, has few manufacturing industries and was practically untouched by bombing raids. Frankfurt, not so fortunate, is being slowly rebuilt. Mr. Schwaderer says unemployment in the western zone has been made more prevalent by the presence of large numbers of refugees.

Ken Brown Wins Excellent Rating

Seventeen members of the High School Glee Club and Ken Brown took part in the vocal solo and ensemble festival held at Mt. Morris Saturday afternoon. There were about 70 vocal entries in this festival. Each group or soloist was allowed six minutes to perform with a 20-minute warm-up. Dr. Wm. Morton, retired music director of the city of Flint was adjudicator.

Kenneth Brown received an excellent rating for his song, "Macushla." He will go to Mt. Pleasant on April 1 to take part in the regional festival.

Dr. Morton gave Nancy Delong a good rating for her vocal solo and the girls' ensemble of 16 voices received a good rating.

Dr. Norton stated that both singers have fine voices and the girls' ensemble has good tone quality and balance of parts.

Four or five of the students and a M. S. S. C. to facilitate such organization programs for mutual benefit of students and community.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dodge, who recently purchased the Rushlo farm four miles west of Cass City from Chester Sokol, moved to their new home Monday. The next afternoon they brought 600 baby chicks and 358 laying hens to the farm. That evening about 7:30 o'clock the poultry house was discovered afire and an alarm was sent to the local fire department. The flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building and it and the poultry are totally destroyed. The building and contents were fully insured.

That the Church of the Nazarene at Cass City is well satisfied with their pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Fred Belleville, was evidenced at the church Sunday, Feb. 26, when it was announced that the congregation had extended a three-year call for the Rev. Mr. Belleville to remain as pastor.

Mix-up of Prices And Illustrations

The misplacing of two illustrations with the accompanying descriptions in the large advertisement of the Brinker Lumber Co. in the Chronicle last week led to a confusion of price quotations. One "Great Hour of Sharing" Voices United Appeal

One "Great Hour of Sharing," scheduled for March 12 in many churches voices a united appeal stressing overseas needs and affording a Lenten season sacrificial offering.
The National Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Church appeal of 22 denominations for relief and reconstruction will be presented in broadcasts and newscasts across America. Two great network broadcasts were scheduled for this week: ABC 10:30-11:00 p. m., EST on March 9 (Thursday) and CBS at 6:30-7:00 p. m. EST, on Saturday, March 11. Also there will be a series of radio transcriptions. (Please check with your newspapers, etc., for time and station.) Because of delay in securing leaflets and information pertaining thereto, the offering in the local Presbyterian Church will be taken on Palm Sunday. Listen to the broadcasts on "One Great Hour."

Radio Supports National Appeal

Radio and television are playing a major role in the united appeal of Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches for overseas relief, reconstruction, and inter-church aid.
Nine national coast-to-coast network broadcasts, six fifteen-minute dramatic programs over more than 800 local stations, spot announcements over nearly every station in the country, and special programs in many cities, are radio's contribution to the needy people of the world.

"One Great Hour of Sharing," an event which will bring worshipers in 100,000 local churches around the country closer to those who suffer in Europe, Asia, and the Near East, will culminate Sunday, March 12, at 11:00 a. m.

Through "Operation Good Samaritan," a series of stories involving individual refugees in Europe, Palestine, Japan, China, and Burma, and DPs in this country, radio listeners by March 12 will have lived through the tragedy and despair of those who need much, and the hope that comes with a little aid.

The major networks, NBC, CBS, ABC, and Mutual are devoting full half-hour programs. The final program scheduled for Saturday, March 11, the eve of the observance over CBS, will be a round-up on all aspects of church reconstruction and relief work overseas.

The purpose of "One Great Hour of Sharing" is to secure funds for the overseas relief, rehabilitation and inter-church aid needs. Some of this will be used through denominational channels; the other part will be used through Church World Service, the official Protestant relief agency.

Candlelight Wedding at E. U. B. Church Saturday Evening

Mrs. Carl Edward Mantey.

A musical prelude was given by Mrs. John Esau, pianist, and Mrs. Norwood Eastman, violinist, of Ypsilanti, and a background of potted palms and huckleberry vines with baskets of white gladioli, calla lilies and stocks, provided a beautiful setting in the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church Saturday evening, for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Elaine Tuckey and Carl Edward Mantey of Fairgrove. Mr. and Mrs. Luke Tuckey are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Mantey of Caro are the parents of the groom.

Guests were seated by J. D. Tuckey, brother of the bride, and Stanley Lane of Fairgrove, for the candlelight service at seven-thirty o'clock. Rev. John Tuckey of Brown City, uncle of the bride, and district superintendent of the United Missionary Church, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Rev. S. P. Kim, the church pastor, who presided at the exchange of the rings. Edgar Mantey of Fairgrove, best man for his brother, sang "Because" and later "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Miss Roma Lee Humm of Fairgrove.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautifully gowned in white slipper satin. The dress, fashioned with a long train, featured a bodice which buttoned down the back to the waist. A round neck and yoke of net and full-length sleeves, which came to points over the hands, were other features. A cascade of the full length of the dress, which showed flowers made of pleated satin and leaves outlined with beads, added to the beauty of the dress. A satin sweetheart cap held in place the three-quarter length veil of pure silk. The bride's arm bouquet was all white of miniature calla lilies, lilies of the valley and centered with an orchid.

Miss Eunice Tuckey, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a dress of light blue faille. The Misses Dorothy Humm of Fairgrove and Vera Bodamer of Saginaw, bridesmaids, wore identical gowns of pink faille. These were sleeveless with narrow bertha collars edged with matching lace. Graduated tiers of matching lace formed panels in the front of the skirts. Matching headbands and ballerina slippers completed their costumes. Their bouquets were colonial in style and they wore strands of pearls, gifts of the bride.

Two small cousins of the bride, Marie Jones of Flint and Phyllis Tuckey of Brown City, as flower girls, were dressed in white and carried miniature colonial bouquets.

Roy Tuckey, youngest brother of the bride, carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow. Other attendants of the groom besides his brother, Edgar, were his brother-in-law, Leslie Hegman, of Owosso and a college friend, Wesley Showalter, of Wyandotte.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. There six girls, Margaret Emma Doughty, Esther Bucherly, Sharon Seeger, Phyllis Copeland, Norma Harris and Janice Bartle, served ice cream and cake. A wedding bell centered the servings of ice cream and the cakes, both the bride's and the groom's, were the creation and gift of Mrs. Warren Kelley, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Tuckey chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue figured dress with navy accessories and the groom's mother wore pea-cock blue with black accessories. Both wore corsages of red roses and white carnations.

The young people left immediately on a week's wedding trip to Kentucky and points in the East and will make their home on a farm near Fairgrove. The bride chose for travelling, a tan and gray checked suit of gabardine with matching hat, a short black coat with Persian lamb trim and matching accessories.

The bride is a registered nurse and has been employed in a local hospital. The groom attended Michigan State College for three years.

The church was filled to capacity and guests came from Detroit, Saginaw, Pigeon, Vassar, Flint, Owosso, Wyandotte, Brown City, Ypsilanti, Fairgrove, Caro, Bad Axe and this vicinity.

Newlyweds on Trip to Florida

The Fort home here was the scene of a lovely wedding Friday evening at eight o'clock when Miss Shirley Gladys Fort, daughter of Mr. Gladys Fort and the late Alfred Fort, became the bride of Grant Strickland of Cass City. The groom's mother is Mrs. Eva Baer of Howell.

Potted palms and tall baskets of white stocks formed a setting for the candlelight service at which Rev. M. R. Vender officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Frank Fort. Mrs. Ethel McCoy played wedding music and Mrs. Brewster Shaw sang, "Always" and "Will You Remember" from Blossom Time.

The bride chose a dressmaker suit, mauve in color with which she wore an orchid colored hat. She carried a white Bible topped with two orchids. Her sister, Miss Barbara Fort, as her attendant, wore a beige suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red camellias.

Robert Foy of Flint performed the duties of best man.

Mrs. Fort chose for the wedding a navy blue dress and hat with white accessories. Mrs. Baer wore a gray dress and black sequin hat. Both mothers had corsages of pink carnations and lilies of the valley.

About 45 guests were present for the rites from Lansing, Howell, Bay City, North Branch, Fairgrove and this community.

Following the ceremony about one hundred guests were invited to a luncheon and reception at the O'Rourke restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Strickland left on a two weeks' trip to Florida and upon their return will live here.

The bride was graduated from the local high school in 1947 and has attended Michigan State College. The groom who was graduated from high school here in 1946 has been employed locally since that time.

Mushroom Soup
Cream of mushroom soup can be substituted for white sauces in many recipes. And it adds a slightly different flavor.

Miss Lessman Marries Elmwood Merchant

In a quiet ceremony at nine o'clock Saturday in the rectory of St. Pancratius Church here with Rev. John J. Bozek officiating, Miss Elizabeth Louise Lessman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lessman of Decker, became the bride of Alton O'Connor, son of Mrs. Dennis O'Connor.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Brien of Detroit, the latter a sister of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibelyou of Bay City. Mrs. Gibelyou is a sister of the bride.

The bride wore a gray suit with navy blue accessories and an orchid corsage. She was also wearing a two-strand pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. Mrs. O'Brien chose a gray suit with black accessories and Mrs. Gibelyou wore a navy blue suit with gray accessories.

The groom was graduated with the class of 1940 and later served in the army during the war. The bride, a member of the class of '44, has been employed in the office of the Bauer Candy Co. here. Following a week's wedding trip, the newlyweds will make their home at Elmwood corners where the groom recently bought a store.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Home Restaurant immediately following the rites and a small group of relatives and friends gathered at the Lessman home Saturday evening to honor the newlyweds. Lunch was served.

Mrs. Ethel Starr of Rochester moved to Cass City Monday and will make her home on South Seeger St.

Mrs. Edward Pinney is in Flint and will attend the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Alice Stevens, in that city today.

Eddie Laidlaw and cousin, Sharon Brown, spent the week end with Eddie's mother, Mrs. Nila Laidlaw, at Dearborn.

Mrs. Wilmot Carpenter, who had been a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, Sr., since last week, returned to her home in Farwell Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Helwig will be host and hostess Friday evening, March 10, for the meeting of the Grant-Elkland Grange. Potluck supper at seven o'clock, in the Bird schoolhouse.

Mrs. Andrew Champion will serve as one of the judges in deciding the winners in a poster contest conducted by the county cancer society for school students. The decision will be made at Caro on March 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Croft were dinner guests in the Wm. Croft home near Uby Sunday in honor of Ernest Croft's birthday. Other guests were Mrs. Irene Moore and sons and Miss Bessie Croft of Bad Axe.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Gast of Flint spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fleenor. Other Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cook and children and Mrs. Lydia White. Afternoon callers Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey O'Dell and family of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark of Caro and Mr. and Mrs. Frank White and children.

Mrs. Don Schleicher and son, Joe Don, of Saginaw were luncheon guests of Mrs. Harold Wells Monday, while the Rev. Mr. Schleicher attended a ministerial meeting in the local Baptist Church. Mrs. Schleicher was formerly Miss Ruth Burhans of Harbor Beach and she and Mrs. Wells were classmates while student nurses in the Port Huron City Hospital. They were members of the 1934 graduating class.

Friends here of Mrs. Ali B. Jarman will be interested to know that she expected to undergo a gall bladder operation in a hospital in Fairbanks, Alaska, March 1 and was to be in the hospital at least ten days. She would enjoy hearing from friends who may write to her at Box 224, Fairbanks, Alaska. The letters and cards should be sent air-mail so that they would arrive there in about three days, otherwise a month's time is required to send mail by boat.

Fifteen members of the Adult Bible class of the Methodist Church met for the regular monthly meeting, last Thursday at the church. Nine members who have birthdays in the first half of the year were guests at the potluck dinner. A lovely birthday cake made by Mrs. John Marshall, Jr., centered the table. Mrs. Walter Schell, Mrs. Frank Hegler, Mrs. Frank White and Mrs. Sam Benkelman contributed to the program. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Arthur Steward.

The baby had cried and fretted all day and the young mother was nearly frantic. When her husband came home in the evening, she described her experience.

"Well, remember," he told her cheerfully, "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

About 8:30, with the baby crying again, she said to hubby:

"I'm going to a movie, darling, so for the next couple of hours you assume world domination."

Sort of Casual

A local citizen was walking down town one morning when a stranger addressed him: "Do you know where the post office is?" "Yes," answered the citizen, affably, and walked on without further reply. After proceeding for about ten steps he looked back, and inquired in his turn, "Why? Did you want to know?" "No," replied the stranger, with great earnestness, and then, the account having been balanced, the two walked away in opposite directions.

First Life Company

In 1750 the Presbyterian synod in New York and Philadelphia set up a corporation for insuring the lives of their ministers for the protection of their families. It was called "A Corporation for the Relief of Poor and Distressed Presbyterian Ministers and the Poor and Distressed Widows and Children of Presbyterian Ministers," and was the first life insurance company in the U. S.

M. S. C. FOREIGN STUDENTS TO VISIT TUSCOLA COUNTY

The only obligation of local communities is the entertainment of the students and faculty counselors. It is hoped that these students may be invited to a different home each night for wider acquaintance and to get a cross-section knowledge of American homes as well as other institutions.

Anyone in the town or country vicinity interested is asked to phone Edward Golding, Jr., 93F3. Cass City already has a first hand acquaintance with a number of foreign students as well as a reputation for welcoming and entertaining them.

The entire group will meet in Caro for a banquet with the 4-H Club on Wednesday evening, March 22, then go to their respective areas until Sunday.

While in Cass City they are scheduled at the high school, the Gavel Club and the Grange. It is hoped that other groups will invite them, making arrangements through the local 4-H chairman.

The Cass City Grange is postponing its regular meeting one week in order to give the members an opportunity to meet the group of students who will visit Cass City. They will appear on the Grange literary program and will conduct open discussions in which they will answer questions about their countries and ask questions about ours.

All Granges in the vicinity are invited to meet with the Cass City Grange at their rooms at the Bird School Friday evening, March 24. The evening's entertainment will begin with a potluck supper at 7:30 o'clock.

Portable Radios

The finish on any portable radio receives much more actual wear and tear than the finish on any other model. It must be smooth so that dust will not accumulate and so that it can be easily cleaned. The finish must also withstand frequent handling, minor abrasions and still retain its presentable appearance. Perfect adhesion of the finish to the case is also necessary.

Vitamins for Calf

A calf which does not get the vitamins it needs from its diet will lose its appetite, lose weight, and unless the necessary vitamins are supplied.

KARL J. JANSKY DIED IN RED BANK, NEW JERSEY

Karl G. Jansky, 44, electronics scientist, brother of Mrs. Irving A. Striffler of Marysville, Ohio, died suddenly Tuesday, Feb. 14, at Red Bank, N. J.

Mr. Jansky, who was known by astronomers as the "founder of the new experimental science of radio astronomy," was a radio research engineer for the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., in New Jersey. In 1932 Mr. Jansky was the first scientist to detect cosmic radio waves. He found at that time, the waves originated from the Milky Way, not from the sun as believed by earlier physicist experimenters.

Mr. Jansky, who received both his bachelor of arts degree and his master's degree from the University of Wisconsin, was awarded the national defense research citation of merit for distinguished secret war time service in the field of electronics, and was a member of the national defense research committee and the Institute of Radio Engineering.

Warren G. Harding was the first U. S. president to speak over the radio.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

We test . . . you judge!

If your oil burner shows inefficient operation, we'll tell you exactly how much fuel is being wasted.

Then we'll give you a written guarantee of how much you can save by installing a Timken Wall-Flame Oil Burner in your present furnace or boiler.

Unless you save as guaranteed, we'll re-install your old burner and refund your money. That's fair enough, isn't it?

We dare to offer this efficiency test because thousands of present Timken owners are getting direct fuel savings up to 25% or more.

The troop committee's treasurer, Fred Auten, was a guest at the Explorer meeting.

The post made plans for an overnight hike but weather didn't permit. Only one Scout showed up.

The Panther Patrol, led by James Ware, won the Boy Scout Troop basketball championship.

Scoutmaster Harold Oatley and Patrol Leader James Ware, both members of the Order of the Arrow, went to Camp Rotary over the week end to cut ice for the summer camp. Sunday they skied on the camp hills.

Nation Will Produce More 'Green Pastures'

Grass and Mechanization More Vital in Later Years

Prospects are evident that America's farmlands will grow greener in the second half of the 20th century.

Outstanding in farming's past 50 years and bound to play vital parts in the years to come are the new importance of grass and the mechanization of the farm.

According to experts on the subject, grass is soon to rank as a prime contributor to the health and wealth of the United States. Farmers who will turn to the use of grass as a real crop in itself, will find that it prevents erosion, builds up the soil, improves the land for crops that are to follow and provides greater profit through more economical feed.

Because they can now grow more grass with less work, farmers are planting more and more acres in green pastures. They are using more grass as rotation and cover crops and tests have proved to them that grass in rotation with corn and cotton vastly increases yields.

The making of hay and grass silage is the basis of grassland farming. This is a true product of the 20th century. Experiments started about 25 years ago are just now getting widespread acceptance as farmers find that grass silage is second only to grazing in a good livestock program.

Cultivator Needed In Control of Weeds

Chemical sprays are not yet ready to replace the cultivator in controlling weeds, according to Dr. J. C. Willard, agronomist in the college of agriculture at Ohio University.

"No chemicals so far available for use in crops will kill all weeds," Dr. Willard said. "If we use chemicals without cultivation to remove the weeds left after spraying, it will be only a short time before we have fields which are as weedy as before, but the weeds will be different and of kinds harder to kill."

Introduction of new chemicals every year makes spraying more of a specialist's job, he pointed out, cautioning farmers to beware of the fly-by-night operator.

Sleeping Sickness Menace To Livestock Is Recounted

Each summer and fall livestock owners are warned of the toll which may be taken of animals by sleeping sickness. Losses from this disease showed a startling increase in 1947 and 1948, and figures for the past year are expected to show but little decline when finally compiled.

The virus of the disease may have "wintered over" with more virulence and in more places.

Returns After 68 Years of Faithful Service

The Tuscola County Chapter of the American Red Cross was recently presented with an aged chair, a chair which had originally been given by the American Association of the Red Cross to a Sinclair family residing in the Tip of the Thumb area of Michigan at the time of the disastrous fire that ravaged a major portion of Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and St. Clair Counties during September of 1881. This fire, the victims of which had been given emergency relief by the newly formed American Association of the Red Cross under direction of Clara Barton, was the principal motivating factor in persuading the Congress of the United States in signing the articles of agreement as proposed by the Geneva Convention. In 1882 the American Red Cross was born.

Sterling Harris, manager of the Gamble Store in Caro, who is also county fund drive and membership chairman for 1950, accepted the "veteran chair" in behalf of and for the Red Cross from Miss Constance Grace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McNinch, proprietors of the North Grove Inn, located 5 miles south of Caro at the junction of M-24 and M-46. This chair came down to Constance from her great grandfather, Michael O'Brien, who was a resident of Port Austin, Michigan, at the time of the disaster. Miss Constance, better known as "Connie" by her schoolmates, is a miss of 12 summers and has no knowledge of the terrible fire except as passed on down through the generations but she does ponder over the cause of the uneven wear of the legs of the chair. While the seat of the chair was originally the average 18 inches from the floor it now is about 13 inches on the left side and a scant 11 inches on the right side. In fact, the lower rung on the right side is half worn through. Connie says she doesn't know whether people used to be heavier on the left side or if the wood of the legs happened to be of different degrees of hardness. Nevertheless, there was a something that caused a dimness of those beautiful and otherwise bright eyes when Connie relinquished possession of the old heirloom to Mr. Harris.

The presentation took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Spencer, 6204 E. Shabbona Road, R. No. 1, Deford, Michigan. The presentation site was selected by Miss Connie, as she had heard that Mr. Spencer resided somewhere near the origin of the fire and was a child of approximately her age, at the time of the disaster.

Your writer found Mr. Spencer to be the possessor of a very alert mind in spite of nearly four score years of life. Mr. Spencer has a very vivid, or should we say "searing" recollection of the disastrous fire which destroyed the property of 3,281 families and in which a total of 1,531 homes and 1,480 barns were consumed. In addition to the property damage involved, 300 persons were burned to death and 14,438 were made homeless. Surely, a disaster that we hope is never repeated. Mr. Spencer also recalls many of the oddities that took place on that never to be forgotten day of Sept. 5, 1881. He stated that everybody thought the world had come to an end and that it was not a normal fire of flame, heat, smoke, and ash but was a deluge of brimstone from the skies. He relates many instances that partially support the contention of the survivors, but let us get back to the facts of the fire.

In the summer of 1881, the Thumb area of Michigan had suffered a very severe drought. No rain had fallen for weeks. Ponds and pot holes had disappeared. Swamps had nearly dried up. Where creeks and rivers had been raging torrents five months before, they were then but mere trickles of water lazily wandering down the topographical ravines of the countryside. Unharvested crops in the sparsely cleared fields of the timber area stood as a living monument to man's inability to make things grow without moisture. The vegetation in the fields and forests had withered and died, awaiting the refreshing rain that failed to arrive.

In years gone by, the natives had utilized the fall months to burn the brush piles and other debris left behind by the loggers or land clearers. Sept. 5, 1881, was no exception and many a brush pile was set afire in the Tuscola County area on that day. For awhile all went well but suddenly a strong wind sprang up in the southwest, and all Hell broke loose. The flames from the brush piles suddenly took on new life, acquired more power and leaped into the tree tops. Fanned by the sudden burst of strong wind, sucked on by the vacuum created by its own power, the flames went racing across the countryside, consuming birds and animals, dwellings and other buildings, farm crops and timber and in many instances, even human lives. Leaving in its wake a swath of desolation and human misery, the fire raced northeastward to the lake shore at the tip of the Thumb, a distance of more than 60 miles as the crow flies, in a space of four hours. A speed of fifteen miles an hour in those days was a thing of rarity to the average individual.

Mr. Spencer, born June 21, 1870, in Lapeer County was residing with his parents, two brothers and three sisters on a farm three miles east and one and one-half miles south of Deford at the time of the disaster. Shortly before 10:00 a. m. on Sept. 5, 1881, the residents of the Deford area came to the realization that the smoke that was stifling them was no longer coming from innocently burning brush piles, but was coming from a relentless and all consuming forest fire. Those that possessed stock immediately turned them loose to let them shift for themselves. Mr. Spencer recalls how, in the few minutes before the fire reached their farm and while the wall of the fire was still more than a mile away, a large hemlock stump out in the middle of a cleared field suddenly burst into flames. He also recalls how the rabbits, squirrels, partridge and quail fleeing before the fire would take refuge in buildings inhabited by cats, dogs and human beings, entirely unafraid of their otherwise natural enemies. How the men put the women folks and children in wells to protect them from the scorching heat and stifling smoke. How one neighbor had a team of oxen which came through the fire alive but minus their hoofs and how another neighbor's team was found with their hides burned off and the flesh cooked to a pure white all through. How a neighbor had a pair of white heifers which turned yellow, because of the hair being burned off and the hide scorched but otherwise unharmed. How one neighbor turned six hogs loose and never found a hair of them but he did find six large grease spots a few rods from where he had released them. He recalls how not a log on the railway of his father's sawmill was even scorched but at a neighboring sawmill every log was badly charred but still solid timber. How the flames would engulf one building and suddenly go out while a neighboring building would be entirely consumed. How the flames burned a round hole in the roof of a house and then went out; how it burned one plank of the church steps and then went out. Mr. Spencer said many persons attributed their survival to the fact that they were able to take refuge in the rivers and cover their heads with wet blankets. Those along the lake shore took refuge in the waters of Saginaw Bay or Lake Huron.

At about 2:00 p. m. as the fire reached the lake shore at the tip of the Thumb the wind veered from the southwest to the northwest and at 4:00 p. m. was raging through Sanilac County. Mr. Spencer, who had relatives living at Woodstock, Canada, which is approximately 90 miles east of Sarnia, said that the folks over there had to light their lamps at two o'clock in the afternoon as the smoke was so dense that it obscured the daylight.

The newly formed American Association of the Red Cross located at Dansville, New York, immediately collected clothes and money and sent them on for the relief of the Michigan survivors.

The Red Cross dispensed relief in the Thumb area of Michigan for a year and a half after the disaster. Miss Connie's great grandfather, Michael O'Brien, who was an experienced carpenter, erected a large building at Port Austin for the Red Cross for the storage of relief supplies and as he knew most residents of that section of the disaster area he was employed by the Red Cross to assist in dispensing the relief supplies. This "veteran chair" having been given by the Red Cross to the Sinclair family and later given to the O'Brien family now returned to a chapter of the original giver, the American Red Cross.

TUSCOLA COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE

The March meeting of the County Agricultural Council will be held Monday evening, March 13. Members will receive the latest information on Vocational Agricultural Education from William Tulloch, instructor at Vassar High School, and on G. I. Veterans on the Farm Training Program from Francis Ode, supervisor at Millington High School.

A two-day Michigan Pest Control Conference will be held on March 15 and 16 at Michigan State College. Registration will be from 9 to 9:30 on the first day. The two-day program will be based on the latest methods of pest control. Agent Armbruster can furnish more complete details to anyone desiring to attend.

Five Tuscola County farmers plan to attend the annual meeting of the Michigan Livestock Exchange at the Hotel Olds, Lansing, this week, Saturday. The five, elected as county delegates at the recent county meeting are Loren Ewald of Unionville, Alvin Smith and John Graham of Caro, Milford Culbert of Fairgrove and Norman Kurpsel of Millington. Melville Graham of Caro was elected as an alternate.

Almost 300 Tuscola County beet growers attended the beet growers meetings held in the county last week. Hunger signs or plant nutrients deficiency were pointed out to the farmers. Adding of organic matter by means of green manure crops and legumes was shown to the group. Very beneficial results were indicated by actual tests from farmers in and near Tuscola County.

Farmers wishing assistance on farm buildings are to contact Loren S. Armbruster, county agricultural agent, by March 14. Agent Armbruster states that building specialist, Art Bell, from Michigan State College will be in the county on March 16 for such work.

4-H Club leaders of agricultural projects will want to attend the training meeting at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, March 15, at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building. Assistant state club leader, Nevils Pearson, will be present to discuss problems and programs for 4-H livestock and crops projects. He will discuss selection of desirable project animals, suggest summer club program planning. He will also announce various contests and awards that will be of interest to 4-H club members enrolled in agricultural projects. Judging and demonstration plans will be suggested and some all-county events announced. Projects in soil and water conservation and forestry will be included in the discussion at the March 15 meeting. Leaders attending the training session may obtain their supply of summer project bulletins and report blanks.

4-H Sheep Club members and any interested adults may be interested in the sheep shearing school conducted by Graydon Blank, Michigan State College specialist in animal husbandry, which will be held at the Tim Sheridan farm, March 16, all day. Sheridan's farm is three miles east and one-half mile south of Fairgrove. The county 4-H sheep club will meet at the Sheridan home at 6:30 p. m., March 16 for a potluck supper and business meeting.

There has been a change in the location of the district spring achievement program in the southeast corner of the county. The achievement will be held Wednesday, April 5, at the Kingston High School, instead of Mayville High School as previously announced.

Seven Deadly Sins Put Onto Canvas By Noted Painter

NEW YORK.—What are the "seven deadly sins?" An artist has put them on canvas. He is Paul Cadmus who says: "Intimate and prolonged study of the seven deadly sins might, I thought, make a better man of me—but I am just as bad as to begin with."

But that was just a little whimsical talk, for it's easy to see that Cadmus isn't very bad when one talks with him.

Cadmus' pictures were put on exhibition in the Midtown galleries here and, as was expected, stirred up as much controversy as his work has done regularly in the past.

Second Show

This was only his second one-man show in oils; the first was in 1937, but at that time he was already widely known for pictures of girls with sailors—and very unfair he was to sailors, the navy complained.

He was 40 in 1944 when he started the present series. He had been taking notes about the deadly sins for sometime. "I know no one who is free of them," he says, and adds: "In every case friends of mine have come in handy. But the most useful object of study was myself, and in a way the series is autobiographical."

Cadmus lists the seven deadly sins as pride, lust, envy, gluttony, sloth, anger and avarice. In Roman Catholic theology, the last two are identified as wrath and covetousness.

In the exhibition the various sins were not identified. Cadmus thinks visitors were more interested in guessing which is which, or in letting their conscience be their guide. He hoped the series would go entire to one purchaser, and though he was not optimistic about it, he further hoped the purchaser will be a church.

Lists Worst Sins

The worst sins, he says, are those which do the most harm to others. He places pride at the head of the list. A friend suggested that, for this one, he simply put a frame around a mirror and let pride confront its own image. The difficulty was to intensify its interpretation beyond mere vanity, which seems to him comparatively innocent.

Though lust enjoys a considerable ill fame, Cadmus regards it as not too harmful. Gluttony hurts no one but the glutton. Lust is more common among men, sloth among women, he finds. And he has a particularly low opinion of avarice, "the loneliest of all sins." For an eighth sin, he suggests immorality, and he believes it's really the evil part of the other seven.

Trainmen Delay Schedule To Pot-Shoot at Game

ONSLAW, IOWA.—It took an Iowa conservation officer to discover why a freight train required two hours to travel two miles.

Reporting on the case of the late branch-line freight, Officer Louis E. Lemke said he found that the train was stopping at likely-looking spots while crewmen fired at game from atop its boxcars. They would then get off the train, pick up their kill, and in some instances clean it before proceeding.

Receiving complaints from farmers about the shooting, Lemke watched the train one day from a near-by farmhouse with a pair of binoculars.

Lemke said he flagged the six-car train a short time later and went through it. He said he found nine rabbits and three quail.

Since he reported the incident to a Chicago & North Western Railroad official, Lemke said, there have been no more reports of shooting.

No charges were filed. There is no provision in Iowa law prohibiting shooting from a train as there is from an automobile on a public road, Lemke said.

Isotopes Are to Be Used On Oysters' Eating Choice

BEAUFORT, N.C.—The federal atomic energy commission and the fish and wildlife service are going to try to radio-activate oysters here. The AEC hopes to learn more from the experiment than it did in the A-bomb tests at Bikini.

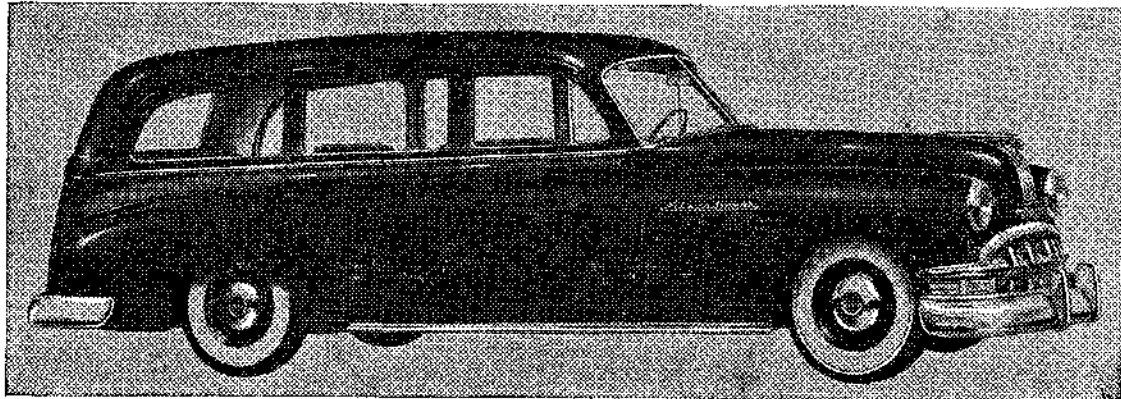

The fish and wildlife service's part in the project will be to determine what an oyster likes to eat. In a huge building used before the war as a biological laboratory, the oysters will be fed artificially. Tiny amounts of radioactive chemical substances from the AEC's isotopes division at Oak Ridge, Tenn., will be shot into the tanks along with organisms which scientists believe appeal to an oyster's appetite.

As the organisms grow, they absorb the isotopes and the oysters will be eating the "hot" food.

Isotopes can be traced. Thus the food taken in by the oysters, digested and incorporated in their tissues, may be determined chemically and by radiation measurement.

Pontiac's New Steel Station Wagon Revealed

The 1950 Pontiac station wagon is of steel construction and to the traditional station wagon swank has been added safety, durability, quietness and low maintenance of a sedan. Because of its revolutionary new construction the Pontiac station wagon may be obtained in a number of handsome, two-tone color combinations. Pontiac reports an enthusiastic reception far in advance of the old-fashioned steel and wood type of station wagon.

By Gene Alleman

Inducing new industries to locate in Michigan small towns is not a push-button affair.

Decentralization of industry whereby workers may work part-time in a small factory and then part-time on a small plot of ground is more of an illusion than a reality.

These points were among a number of interesting facts brought out at a panel program sponsored by the Michigan Press Association as a service for member newspapers which serve small rural communities.

The program was stimulated by interest shown in the series of the "Michigan Mirror" news letters last August and September on the subject of community development and new industries for Michigan small towns.

To bring the matter to a sharp focus for consideration of newspaper editors, the state press association invited three experts to participate on a panel program.

C. Dwight Wood, Michigan Department of Economic Development, emphasized the need for self-help in the community whereby the town took inventory of its resources and potentials. Mr. Wood declared that "one of the best ways in which a community can get in touch with industrial prospects" was for the community to make a survey of the services which were available in the community for various industries. If suitable sites are available and other factors are favorable, the community can then list these available resources with the Michigan Department of Economic Development. The state department compiles a monthly bulletin which is distributed to officials of industries which have indicated a desire to migrate to smaller towns or to open branches elsewhere.

Professor H. O. Whittemore, head of the Department of Landscape Architecture, University of Michigan, emphasized the need for available land, preferably adjacent to railroad facilities, which could be readily utilized for industrial use and also for future expansion.

Because of the need for parking of worker automobiles as well as truck shipping, storage, and the trend to a one-story factory building, the average number of square feet of space per industrial worker has jumped from about 150 feet in building floor space to around 1500 or 1600 square feet per worker.

Professor Whittemore believes firmly that the ideal factory area should be within the city limits and hence that availability of such land for industry becomes an essential function of the community in planning for future industrial development.

He pointed out that a recent decision of the Supreme Court held it was unconstitutional for a municipality to condemn land which was to be turned over to a private industrial concern for private use.

In that connection Mr. Wood, Michigan Department of Economic Development, pointed out that a number of Michigan rural communities have formed corporations to purchase industrial land which is re-sold to industry at a fair price.

"We have put out a guide for helping communities to form such corporations, and many Michigan communities are in the process of doing that now," said Mr. Wood.

Dean Ernest L. Anthony, School of Agriculture, Michigan State College, referred to a college survey of approximately 25,000 industrial workers who lived on small farm plots and who presumably worked in city industries.

In the past the idea of decentralization of industry whereby workers could perform part-time farming on home plots while working part-time in city industries has had a popular vogue. The MSC survey, however, revealed that a majority of these workers were making "very poor use of the fact that they lived in the country."

"Today we must realize that agriculture is a business," said Dean Anthony. "It is a scientific and mechanical business. The man who pays much attention to farming has to farm as if he really meant to farm. It is not something, just a little on the side, that he can putter around with."

It is the observation of Dean Anthony that the present industrial pattern of labor used on swing-shifts does not encourage part-time farmers in rural communities. Dean Anthony favored the encouragement of agricultural processing plants, such as cooperative creameries, milk plants, and other food concerns, which might develop in small communities.

"Too many of our communities have forgotten their farmers and the farm possibilities that are right around that community in which they live," observed Dean Anthony. "I would like to see town and country get a lot closer together than they are now."

The writer of this column has traveled considerably about Michigan. An inevitable observation is the growth of some small communities, while neighboring towns languish and steadily decline. Community development is not a matter of overnight success. It calls for an awakened civic spirit and a consistent cooperation of citizens in movements to better the community, making the town a better place in which to live and work.

It is significant to note that Michigan already has services available in the Michigan Department of Economic Development, the University of Michigan and Michigan State College whereby communities can obtain assistance in helping themselves to progressive development. The towns which are making an effort to improve themselves are thus the communities which are more apt to attract new industries.

No Proof

YEARS AGO there was an old man who lived at the edge of the Grand Canyon, and who used to tell tourists that he had dug out the big cleft in the ground, and had wheeled away the dirt in a wheelbarrow. He told the tale once to a young girl from the East.

"I don't believe it!" she said, indignantly.

"Why don't you believe it?" he asked.

"Well, you might have dug it out, as you say, and wheeled the dirt away in a wheelbarrow—but what did you do with the dirt?"
