Roger Little to Be Presented with "God and Country" Award

Roger Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Little, will be presented with the "God and Country" award at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 10:30 a. m., by his pastor, Rev. M. R. Vender.

The Boy Scouts of America maintain that no boy can grow into the best kind of citizenship without recognizing his obligation to God, as well as to Country. The Boy Scout movement stresses the importance of the Scout's religious training in the responsibility of the home and church.

To facilitate this fact the Protestant Committee on Scouting, in cooperation with the major Protestant denominations, has developed this church-centered program for Scouts affiliated with their churches and makes available the "God and Country" award to those who have fulfilled specific standards involving their active participation in the total program of their respective church. This includes habitual attendance, required studies, and evidence of Christian growth together with one hundred fifty hours of assigned personal service to his church.

Southeast Asia Still Fabled Land For Many Tourists

SINGAPORE.—The fabled, jungle lands of southeast Asia still are a tourist's dream of strange sounds and scents, of intrigue and tropical fevers, of opium dens and beauty.

The incense of other ages sometimes is choked with the tang of gunpowder, the clang of ancient gongs mingled with the boom of bombs, and the intrigue smacks of Moscow. Fortunately, however, the beauty remains.

No disease of body or mind could ever strip the lost City of Angkor of its awesome wonder; Bali of its peaceful sleep in the bosom of the past; Bangkok of its purple fantasy; Burma of its templed glories, or stolid Sir Stamford Raffles in bronze of his unruffled Singapore calm.

Roads Shut Down

Although Indo-China, Indonesia, Thailand, Burma, Malaya are making a concerted effort to attract the dollar of the American tourist, it is only fair to report that many of the romantic roads leading to the inner marvels of this bottom shelf of Asia are virtually shut down to visitors by bullets of civil and guerrilla war.

The tourist stopping over only in Singapore or Bangkok or Bali will see none of the turmoil of an awakening Asia.

Around-the-world ships pull up to Singapore wharves or park overnight in the famed Singapore roads. Airlines drop down at airports outside Rangoon, Bangkok, Singapore, Batavia and Saigon. But an airport is an airport—little more and little else.

A tourist must go into the city to get even the slightest nibble of a taste of the exoticism of these parts.

Many Surprised

Many tourists who do see Singapore, the city of lavender literature, are slightly surprised to find it merely an overhead British community and that they must get among the varied races to feel the flavor of the East.

Singapore, a city of about 1,000,000 persons (three-quarters Chinese) is mainly a big business port. The main sections are dominated by Western architecture and demeanor.

Nevertheless, it is a quick glimpse of the far-off Far East. The Indians, the Sikhs, the Moslems, the Malays, the Javanese, the older Chinese and the prettier ones all wear their national costumes.

Anyone who slings a camera over his shoulder can saunter up High Street and find himself in conversation with an Indian money-changer who wants to buy American dollars. He'll give you less than the dollar is worth on the black market and you're a fool for trying to beat the stringent monetary regulations.

Trucks Crash Five Times Into Hill-Bottom House

BRIDGEVILLE, PA.—Mrs. Elizabeth Kirby hardly bothers now when she hears a crash that rocks the house. She knows what it is and has become accustomed to it.

When such crashes occur she remarks, "It's just another truck," and goes on about her business. Naturally, she checks what part of the house has been damaged.

That sort of thing has been going on for a long time. Four times in the last two years trucks failed to negotiate the curve at the foot of the hill and landed in various parts of the Kirby home.

First the kitchen went; $750 damage. The next truck hit the living room.

"Only $250 damage," said Mrs. Kirby, who is getting philosophical about it all.

Then the dining room went; $480 damage. Then a truck rammed into the house and sheared off a corner of the living room and the front porch.

"I'm getting used to it now," laughed Mrs. Kirby, who was in another part of the house when the truck barged in.

Her daughter, Betty, 6, was at school.

"So long as no one is hurt, we'll stay here. We have to have some place to live and we own this house. Anyway, if that's how I'm supposed to die that's how I'll die."

This Woman's Intuition Proved to Be Correct

MONCLAIR, FLA.—Maybe the male of the species has been unwarrantedly skeptical about woman's intuition all the time—for here's another instance of its being vindicated.

Mrs. R. A. Mallory told her husband on entering her home at night that a man was in the house. A search revealed nothing. But after retiring, Mrs. Mallory told her husband she couldn't sleep knowing that a man was in the house.

This time Mallory looked under the bed. A prowler scrambled from the other side and fled out a window.

'Tis Spring But NOT Time for Dumping Your Trash!

The sheriff's department is preparing for an onslaught of illegal county roadside refuse dumping.

It happens every spring, says the department, but it warned the public it has embarked on a new policy. From here on, court action will be taken against offenders.

Sheriff Jeffrey says the next time he receives a complaint of refuse or garbage being dumped beside the road, he will sign a warrant for the arrest of the offender. He pointed out that leaving refuse and garbage along a highway or bridge right of way is a violation of the state law.

Relative to the wearing of the award, the Boy Scouts of America has authorized the "God and Country Award" to be worn over the left breast pocket at the left of the traditional high honor "Eagle Scout Badge," or when the Eagle Badge is not worn, centered above the flap on the left breast pocket.

Roger, who is now a member of the Explorer Post No. 6194 of Cass City, a Post-Scout affiliate organization, enrolled for the God and Country service award four years ago while a member of the local troop of the Boy Scouts of America.

Roger is a junior in high school and a member of the local Presbyterian Church, and has been active in the Westminster Youth Fellowship. He attended the 1948 and 1949 Youth Summer Training Conferences at Alma College and attended the annual Synod of Youth Assemblies in Kalamazoo, Bay City and Flint.

"The achievement of the Award is a significant honor," said Rev. Melvin R. Vender. "Roger is to be congratulated. He is to my knowledge the first in Cass City to achieve the award, and one of, perhaps the first in the Valley Trails Council, to receive the "God and Country Award" of the Protestant Committee on Scouting, The Roman Catholic Church, and the Hebrew Synagogues also present the award."

Others participating in the ceremonial of presentation on Sunday will be Edward Baker, post adviser, a member of the troop committee, Robert Mann, and members of the Explorer Post of which Roger is now a member.

How the United States Serves the World

By Faith Parrott, ninth grade. First place winner in the senior high group.

The condition of the world today is a serious matter. Will it survive the turmoil it is in? If it is to survive, some nation must be willing to assume leadership. The destiny of the world has made the United States the leading nation. It is the United States willing to accept the responsibility as well as the honor, is the question that we must face squarely.

I believe that the service of the United States to the rest of the world can be classified under three headings: First, physical assistance and leadership in setting decent standards of living for the ordinary citizen; second, education aid; third, spiritual support. Agencies, such as the Marshall Plan, CROP and CARE, have been organized to aid war-torn and backward lands. The Marshall Plan, a national project, also known as the European Recovery Plan, sends money to aid in building up factories, and in buying machinery and equipment. This will eventually put the people on their own feet and enable them to earn their own living. Organizations such as CROP and CARE, evolved out of the goodness of people's hearts, send grain, food and clothing packages. Certain organizations have sent tools, machinery, and equipment to backward lands to aid them in making their countries more self-sustaining.

A country's standard of living is important too. The State Department broadcasts the Voice of America program to foreign countries in different languages. It tells how people live in the United States and lets them know how high a living standard the common man in our country has. Students from foreign countries are also being asked to spend a few weeks in our country; thus they will be able to learn about our living standards first-hand.

People need to be educated in order to want higher ideals and to work to achieve them. For instance, the U. S. Navy is building schools on certain islands in the Pacific Ocean to educate children so they will be able to better their lives. Our state department is sending comic books, based on United States history and written in different languages, to help fight against communism. Also, the State Department is sending history outlines to help other people understand our love of democracy and peace.

Every country needs a good spiritual foundation and one way of obtaining this is by distributing Bibles. General MacArthur wants Bibles in Japan, and he hopes that in fifteen years he can have enough Bibles for every Japanese. He also wants Christian missionaries.

Bibles and missionaries are being sent elsewhere too.

In order to have a better world, we need every one of these three things: Good physical bodies and high standards of living, good education and high spiritual goals. If we are to achieve these things in places other than the United States, every one must cooperate. The United States as a country, is doing her share, but I wonder if each individual is doing his part as well as he should. If every American would do a little more than his share, then the United States would, I am sure, come nearer the goal of really living up to the vast responsibilities of world leadership.

How the United States Serves the World

By Kathy Wood, seventh grade. First place winner in junior high group.

The countries of the world want the type of freedom by which they can govern themselves in their own way. They want a world at peace in which they may feel safety and security for their loved ones. What are we as Americans doing to help these countries feel safe and secure?

They say Allah helps those who help themselves but countries devastated by war are hardly in a position to help themselves. The American government may make loans according to the Marshall Plan to help a country help itself. It may help a country develop its agriculture and industries. In this way we build up better conditions in the devastated countries, build up morale of their peoples and start them on the road to independence.

Much that is done abroad is done by American private enterprise. There are now hundreds of American owned and American sponsored plants abroad. For example our Firestone Rubber Company has an agricultural project in Liberia on which are ten million rubber plants. This plant pays one fourth of the Liberian government tax. This plant besides paying taxes, is paying wages sixty per cent above the local standards. Thus the standard of living of the employees is raised.

If American capital abroad is wisely used in most of the now undeveloped regions of the world, the people of those countries concerned will have a new prosperity.

In Japan under General MacArthur, America has set up a democracy. Freedom of religion, speech, thought and assembly have been secured for the Japanese people. The unlimited powers of the police have been broken. Women have equal rights with men; unions are encouraged; labor relations are regulated. Land is being distributed to the landless. Free enterprise for the common man is easier.

America has done much to help displaced persons of Europe. The organization that takes care of the transporting of displaced persons is the International Refugee Organization. There are certain requirements these displaced persons must meet. They must pass the immigration laws and restrictions.

The United States is attempting to build up international friendship. The Voice of America broadcasted to European countries attempting to create friendly understanding, but was not too successful. If operated differently it has unlimited possibilities. The Friendship Train was warmly received. The amount of food was trifling. It was a private enterprise and therefore created a feeling of friendship between nations. Good will has been fostered by touring American legislators. Individual contact has sprung up as the result of sending CARE packages. Many friendships have been built this way.

The United States welcomes foreign students to study in its universities. They learn about character and customs of America and Americans in turn learn about the problems of their countries. America also is glad to have foreign representatives come to our country to study our methods of government, industry and agriculture so that they return home with new and better ideas for their own.

Much has been done by the United States to aid other countries, but the need is still tremendous. If a feeling of love, brotherliness and neighborly trust could be built up among nations there would be no limit to the amount of good that could be accomplished.

Plow for Beans Before May 15

Plowing under a green crop for beans or soybeans to be planted in late May or June should be done by May 15, urges H. R. Pettigrove, who conducts studies in bean cultural methods at Michigan State College.

Trials conducted by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station on the college farms at East Lansing, showed that two out of three years the yield of field beans was cut in half when the sod crop was plowed late.

Results of one year's test showed a yield of 945 pounds of field beans per acre when fall plowing was done; 920 pounds when plowed May 1; 977 for May 15 and the significant drop to 473 pounds per acre when plowed May 31.

In another year, plowing before May 15 brought a yield of 1787 pounds per acre and plowing May 31 resulted in only 841 pounds of field beans per acre.

planted crop unless the year has rains sufficient to carry the crop, Pettigrove contends. Many farmers are planting soybeans late for better control of the weeds. The bean specialist says no bad effect should result from this if the field is plowed early enough.

A green manure crop plowed under late takes too much moisture for its growth in late May. Unless rains occur, not enough moisture is left in the soil to produce a maximum yield of the next crop planted.

It isn't wise to trust the weather,

Pettigrove concludes. Plowing for late planted crops should be completed by May 15 each year.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Simplicity of Current Fashions Encourages Clothes Remodeling

By Eritta Haley

EVERY WOMAN, at one time or another, has decided that she will not accumulate a lot of unwearable clothing in her closet. How's the resolution working out?

Current fashions stimulate clothes remodeling and help you keep the resolution if you'd just put a little thought and effort into the task. Just think, it isn't always that fashions encourage remodeling. Sometimes changes from one season to another are so extreme that old clothes will simply not yield to slight alteration. Use the opportunity while it's here.

Clothes which were purchased during the fall come in for their share of change just about this time of year, so they can take you through to the new clothes in Spring.

They may need only a little sparkle or re-adjustment to add lots of style to the wardrobe. How much simpler it is to take an hour or two for this change instead of poking the dress into the recesses of the closet to collect dust.

A bit of decoration or ornamentation may be all that the dress needs to come to life. How simple to add a brand new button trim to pockets or sleeves or skirt! How little work it is to put a braid or head trim on your blouse, or how easy it is to insert a bow on a draped skirt! The result is practically a brand new piece of clothing with just a little time and virtually no expense.

Hat and gloves, too, may be refreshed by sewing in new brilliants

Remodel your clothes

or sequins to replace those which have lost their luster, or to add new decor to the hat.

Use Good Technique In Remodeling

"Just how do I go about this business of remodeling?" asks many a woman, be she novice or an experienced seamstress. "It seems like I get started, then it takes months to finish, or the work never gets done," say another group.

It's important to map out the work and to know just what you hope to achieve when you're changing a dress, blouse or other piece of clothing. Study the garment and decide upon the simplest procedure for achieving a new effect.

When you undertake too elaborate remodeling job, you lose interest because they may take more time than you have available. If clothes are changed as soon as

Be Smart!

Here is an interesting classic, the evening dress that will remain undated for a long time to come. The close-fitting bodice flows into skirt that sweeps out in graceful folds to give the silhouette a pleasing base. Of course, it is a natural for the rich beauty of velvet, particularly when black velvet is the foil for a banding of oversize pearls or of rhinestones. The matching stole is lined with shimmering satin in warm ivory to complement the pearls or in the whitest white as a background for rhinestones.

Woodrow Wilson issued the first Mother's Day proclamation.

Slim Silhouette

The biggest news of the season is the slim silhouette achieved in this inexpensive dress of green crepe. The back-wrapped skirt loops with a bow on one hip, but a very slender effect throughout the skirt. The double fold collar frames the face as well as giving a slight rising shoulder line.

you tire of them, the adjustments they need are minor and can be made quickly while interest runs high.

Start with a clean garment. This may be washed at home if it can be laundered; otherwise, have it cleaned. You may be surprised how little other than cleanliness and good pressing and perhaps mending is necessary to bring clothes back to their original beauty.

Take the garment with you if you want to choose additional material or some ornamentation for it that has to be bought. Colors have a way of not being what they look like when it comes to choosing buttons to fit the original holes, or when it's a matter of getting the thread to match.

You can be much more accurate, too, in buying the correct amount of braiding, beading, sequins, veiling or other decor when the hat, dress or blouse is with you.

After the material is purchased and the plan is well in mind, choose a time when you'll be uninterrupted for the length of time it takes to alter the garment. Try to finish the job in one or two sittings, as you'll be inspired enough to do the best work.

Make Worn Dresses Into Separates

The current trend of fashion separates is still much favored and lends itself as inspiration for changing many garments. If you have tired of the bodice on a dress but like the skirt, or if the skirt has worn, but the luxuriousness of the bodice still delights you, then separate the two and work from there.

Tailored dresses with interesting collars and lovely sleeves are easily ripped from the skirt. Choose material for a skirt, and sew from a pattern to make a brand new skirt. If you do not want to attach it to the old bodice, put the two together with a nice cummerbund or an interesting belt, or wear them as a skirt and blouse. In the latter case, finish off the bottom of the bodice with a narrow, neat hem, stitched by hand or machine.

Perhaps you have a nice bouffant on a dress that has a bodice worn at the sleeves and collar. The separation is easy. Choose a contrasting blouse to go with the skirt. Make this from a pattern that fits nicely with this particular skirt. Materials with metallic stripes usually go nicely with skirts of this type.

Use Outworn Clothes As Material Source

If you separate bodice and skirt and use only the skirt, the waistline needs adjusting. The zipper will have to be moved down, and a placket made of it. The top should be finished with stiff material that folds down behind the fabric. Use with or without belt or a scarf to serve as a belt.

If you're tired of dresses, robes or certain pieces of lingerie, you have unlimited opportunity for collecting materials that may be used for sewing practically new garments.

Beautiful silk dresses convert nicely into attractive blouses. To make these, separate the dress at all the seams and press out. Fit the blouse pattern on the goods and cut as you would from yard materials.

Cleave means both to stick together and to part.

Dip Hatching Eggs To Control Newcastle

Recommendations for control of Newcastle disease have come from continued research and study of control methods. A recent advance is aiding hatchery owners to keep their incubators free of infection and in preventing the disease from getting into the new batch of chicks through possible contamination from the shell surface of the hatching eggs.

Dr. H. J. Stafseth, head of the department of bacteriology and public health at Michigan State College, cites experiments by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

To determine the effect of disinfectants on hatching eggs, poultry specialists conducted tests with three commonly used products. These were sodium hydroxide, or common lye, quaternary ammonium disinfectant, and sodium orthophenylphenate. They were used in various solutions and the eggs immersed for five minutes to guard against the transmission of Newcastle disease from the shell surface. Incubators usually are treated before eggs are set.

The sodium hydroxide was used in a two percent solution, the sodium orthophenylphenate in one percent solution and the ammonium in 0.1 percent strength. Both chicken eggs and turkey eggs were dipped in lye and in ammonium solutions and the turkey eggs were treated also in sodium orthophenylphenate solution. All eggs were immersed for five minutes. In none of these tests was there any noticeable effect on the hatchability of the eggs.

Dr. Stafseth states that this method should prevent transmission of the virus on egg shells, but since the virus is contained in eggs, broken eggs would still transmit the disease.

Paved Barnyard Pays for Itself

A concrete paved barnyard that cost $1,100 but paid for itself the first year is a much envied possession of Clair McLean, Gratiot County farmer.

At the recent Gratiot County

NOTHING NEW . . . James Scall, New York dress designer, says the so-called modern fashions of women are really rehashes of something the men once wore.

beef feeders' tour, McLean's cattle showed evidence that the paved lot brought better gains and made "chore time" a simple proposition.

McLean put the two lots, which total more than 6,300 square feet, into concrete in 1946. It cost $1,100 in materials and labor, not counting ten days of his own labor and that of his hired man. But the next spring he was able to hold 65 head of choice steers on feed 80 days longer than many other farmers in the locality who did not have paved lots.

The results included a three pound daily gain and a cent a pound advance in price, which McLean figures paid the cost of the lot.

The concrete yard is six inches thick and made up of a five to one mixture of pit run gravel. He cleans it off twice a week with a scraper on the rear of his tractor and loads the manure into the spreader for use on his land. The paved lot saves much of the value of the fertilizer also, McLean contends.

Cook Spuds for Poultry Feeds

J. M. Moore, Michigan State College-extension poultryman, says boiled or steamed potatoes are satisfactory as a substitute for about half the normal weight of grain given poultry for growth, fattening or egg production.

Raw potatoes are not suitable as chickens do not like the taste and are unable to digest them.

Feeding of boiled potatoes, made into a mash with the grain mixture and oil or vitamin concentrates added proves satisfactory. About 5 to 8 pounds of potatoes daily for each 100 layers is the maximum that can be fed. Moore suggests that the mash made of cull or surplus potatoes be prepared fresh daily.

Giraffes' eyes are so constructed that they can see to the rear without turning their heads.

Ivory is supplied by the boar, hippopotamus and walrus, as well as the elephant.

JOAN GREEN WAS CHOSEN CO. DRESS REVUE WINNER

Concluded from page 1. Breinager, Fostoria; Virginia Seddon, Millington. The dress revue was the final feature of the afternoon program at the two-day achievement. It was presented as a television show, directed by Mrs. Fred Black, Mrs. Dean Gordon, and county home demonstration agent, Jean Gillies.

Five background scenes were made for the revue by the Caro High School students under the direction of the school art instructor, Mrs. Arthur Rea. The program was arranged by Mrs. Lucile Hickey and Mrs. Bertha Achenbach, of Akron. It consisted of a pledge to the flag and the 4-H pledge led by Norrine Cramer, Akron, and Billy Dowling, Caro. Assistant County Agent George MacQueen led some community singing, followed by remarks and announcements of the honor rolls by the judges. Mrs.

Corrine White and Nevels Pearson, assistant state club leaders, judged all exhibits at the county achievement projects. These were judged by Detroit Edison district farm advisor, Irwin Teichman, and the electrical honor roll was read by Don Cook, county farm service advisor for the Edison Company. The leaders receiving awards were: Mrs. Cora Hammond, Vassar; Mrs. Ruby Horwath, Fairgrove; Harry Pike, Caro; Mrs. Grover Laurie, Gagetown; Fred Black, Akron; Arlie Findlay, Reese; Irene Hall, Gagetown.

Horse's Teeth Care of the horse's teeth is important, because even the best rations will not nourish an animal that is unable to chew properly.

Humus A good supply of humus and a granular structure increase the soil's capacity to hold water and yet permit excess water to drain away freely.

SHORT STORY Like A Fox

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

IT IS ELECTION TIME in our town of Dexter. Al Slater is determined to be elected state representative from the 31st Belknap district. Al has tried for three consecutive terms to win out over Tyler Jenkins. At every election he had the vote sewed up. But Tyler, who is one of the shrewdest politicians a man would want to meet, always contrived to pull a fast one, two or three days before voting day, and succeeded in swinging the vote his way.

3-Minute Fiction

"Folks think I'm dumb," Al confided to his wife. "It's got to be a joke, me running for office against Jenkins."

Al began his campaign 10 months before election. He knew that folks in Dexter were eager to have the contemplated new state highway run through town, instead of swinging off to the northward toward Bartlett. And he knew that if he could persuade the highway commissioner to chart the course of the proposed road through Dexter, it would mean a big thing; it would probably mean Al's election.

And so Al went to the capitol, looked up the highway commissioner, whose name was Higgins, and talked the thing over. At first Higgins was obstinate. The highway, he told Al, was scheduled to run through Bartlett.

Well, Al didn't get discouraged. He called on Mr. Higgins a month later and talked things over again. This time he took Mr. Higgins to lunch and bought tickets for the theater afterward. Higgins began to weaken. Al talked himself blue in the face, and finally went away with a promise that Mr. Higgins would think the matter over. Al was mighty satisfied with himself. A month before election a story came out in the papers that, through the efforts of Albert T. Slater, the new state highway would run through Dexter.

AL RECEIVED a lot of credit for his work, and a lot of promises of votes.

Tyler disappeared shortly after that. He didn't show up until two weeks before election, and then it was to announce a piece of news that overshadowed Al's great work. Tyler, it seemed, had made a trip to the capitol himself. He had consulted the proper authorities and received a promise that the state would employ local labor in constructing that section of the road that ran through Dexter.

"Folks think I'm dumb," Al confided to his wife. "It's got to be a joke, me running against Jenk."

The news was something to cheer about. It began to look as if Tyler had pulled another fast one.

Well, Tyler might have been elected if news hadn't drifted back into town that the state, because of adverse business conditions, had decided to abandon the idea of building the road that year.

Al made a hurried trip to the capitol. He didn't return during the next week, and folks began to forget he was even a candidate.

And then on the day before election one of the newspapers from the capitol that claims a fair-sized circulation in Dexter came out with the announcement that the road would definitely be put through. The words were a direct quotation from Commissioner Higgins, whose picture appeared on the front page alongside a picture of Al Slater. It was through Al's efforts, the article read, that the course of the road would pass through Dexter.

Dexter was jubilant. At the polls on the day following, Al was unanimously elected to fill the expired term of Tyler Jenkins.

"Dumb, am I?" Al said to his wife after it was over. "Well, this is one time Tyler pulled his fast one too early in the game. He thought the psychological moment was two weeks ago, instead of yesterday. I wonder," he went on, "what Tyler would say if he knew I started that rumor about abandoning the road idea. I wonder if the folks would say I was dumb if they knew I just did it so's I could make it appear like I persuaded the state to change its mind on the day before election. Dumb, am I? Dumb—like a fox."

Dear Sir, I hope you will not be surprised to receive a letter from unknown person in Nigeria. First of all sir, my aim in writing you this few lines is just to help me in the cause of international friendship, so I beg you sir, to publish my name and address in your widely reach journal as a Nigerian youth that needs pen pals, both sexes, in your country. I would be very much delighted if you can perform the duty for me. I am an African boy of 19 years of age and I am 5 ft., 2 ins. tall. My hobbies are exchanging of gifts, magazines, stamp collecting, collecting of dollars and views. Sir, can I know from you if you will like some of our newspapers to be sent to you for I am anxious to mail you now, and also to send you some photos of important places in my country. Now I have to close, thanks for the courtesy of your action. Sincerely yours, ROBINSON JOSEPH. George Washington was born in Virginia, at that time a British colony. Caro Man to Start Sunday on 5,000-Mile Canoe Trip

A fabulous trip by canoe, that will start at Saginaw and cover 5,000 miles of large and small lakes, rivers and portages to reach the Arctic Ocean, is being planned by a Caro man and a youth of St. Charles, Illinois. The adventurers are W. Emerson Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Scott of Caro, and Raymond Driessen, who is 20 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Driessen of 725 Prairie St., St. Charles, Illinois. The pair plan to embark next Sunday, April 23, at 2:00 p. m., at Ojibway Island in Saginaw, weather permitting. Travel will be made in a rugged 19 foot long canoe, having a width amidships of 40 inches, powered by a 5 horsepower outboard motor. Following the Michigan shore of Lake Huron, they plan to proceed north to the Straits of Mackinac and into Lake Superior by way of the St. Mary's River and Sault Ste. Marie, then westward, and eventually landing near the Minnesota-Ontario boundary. From this point their course will continue westward through a chain of lakes and streams on the border to Lake of the Woods, then northward into huge Lake Winnipeg in Manitoba. From here the two men will follow the Saskatchewan River, west to Edmonton, Alberta, at which point they will transport all equipment north to Peace River by train. The Peace and Slave Rivers will be followed east and north through the wilderness to Great Slave Lake. The long and mighty Mackenzie River, second largest on the continent, will then be their "highway" to Alkavik on the Beaufort Sea, which is a part of the Arctic Ocean. Emerson Scott is the former county veterans counselor and also the former executive secretary of the local Red Cross. He also found time to take active interest in community affairs, having been a member of the Caro Rotary and Exchange clubs, was much concerned with youth activities and gave active leadership in the Boy Scout movement. He was also active in veteran organizations having served two terms as commander of the Caro V. F. W. Post, one term as district junior vice commander and was at one time in the running for state junior vice commander. He is also a member of the Gagetown Chapter of the D. A. V. He served three years as chairman of the State Board of Trustees of Michigan's $50,000,000 Veterans' Trust Fund. Scott is not a stranger to pulse quickening experiences, as he is a veteran of the bloody Anzio beach head and other "name places" of the last war. He spent two summers in Alaska prior to the war and has had considerable experience in camping and canoeing in many parts of the States and Canada. Mr. Driessen, in the words of Scott, "has been something of a river rat all his life." He is an excellent swimmer, and has spent his summers running a launch and taking care of boats and canoes on the Fox River in Illinois, with time out now and then for camping trips. He is a husky chap and appears capable of taking the portages and other activities of the trip in stride. His parents are formerly of Marquette County in the upper peninsula. The men will carry a movie and a still camera to record their trip. They will also have a rifle along, for which they already have a Canadian permit. It will be used only in extreme emergency situations. "Health and pleasure, not hunting," Scott said, is the aim of the trip. They do, of course, expect some fine sport fishing as they move along. When asked about their plans for meals and lodging, both replied they expect to camp out and prepare their own meals, "unless we happen to receive an invitation to a free meal somewhere." The lucky fellows also admit adverse weather conditions may force them to change their plans from time to time as they hope to reach Alkavik about August 15. The return trip will be made by plane sometime in September.

KEEP IT DARK

A railway employe was summoned to court to serve as a juror for a few days—a duty not wholly to his liking. After listening to a long list of excuses for not sitting in the panel propounded by the potential juror, the judge sternly snapped, "Do you mean to tell me you're indispensable to that big railroad that has thousands upon thousands of employes?" "No judge," the workman replied, "but I don't want them to find it out!" Of Course A census clerk, in scanning over the form to see if it had been properly filled up, noticed the figures 120 and 112 under the headings, "Age of Father, if living," and "Age of Mother, if living." "But your parents were never so old, were they?" asked the astonished clerk. "No," was the reply, "but they would have been, if living." Cooperation "Jack hasn't come home. Am worried. Is he spending the night with you?" wired Smith's wife to five of his lodge brothers. Soon after the husband arrived home, and before long a messenger boy came in with five replies to the wires his wife had sent. They all read: "Yes, Jack is spending the night with me."

Some Wind! A NEW YORKER was traveling west in a Pullman when a group of chamber of commerce boosters from Kansas City, Mo., boarded the train and began to praise their city to the New Yorker, telling him of its beautiful boulevards, large industrial establishments, and its wonderful possibilities. Finally the New Yorker became tired and said the only thing that would improve their city would be to make it a seaport. The enthusiastic Kansas Citians laughed at him and asked how they could make it a seaport, being so far from the ocean. The New Yorker replied that it would be a very easy task. "The only thing that you will have to do," said he, "is to lay a two-inch pipe from your city to the Gulf of Mexico. Then if you fellows can suck as hard as you can blow you will have it a seaport inside half an hour."

Friend: "Why don't you move in with her parents?"
Y. M.: "Can't. They're living with their parents."

Such Snebs
"Yes," said the boastful young man, "my family can trace its ancestry back to William the Conqueror."

White House to Have Extra Guest Rooms Following Alteration

WASHINGTON.—There will be room for extra guests when President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman move back into the White House. This is slated to occur sometime in late 1951. There will also be room to store all those things that some people don't like to throw away.

When the repair job is completed, the mansion will have 77 rooms and a two story basement. The 150-year old structure is to be completely renovated inside. It now has only 69 rooms and no basement.

Engineers have disclosed that eight additional rooms would be built on the top, or fourth floor, probably for use by guests. This floor has been used for maid's quarters and guests who could not be accommodated in the limited bedroom space on the third floor. The third floor is used by the President and his family.

Presidents have been known on rare occasions to sleep in the "attic" to permit very important persons to occupy their bedrooms.

Maj. Gen. Glen E. Edgerton, one of the engineers attached to the renovation commission, said the new White House should last 150 years or more. Congress has appropriated nearly 3.5 million dollars for the whole job.

The commission is now considering how to dispose of hundreds of pieces of scrap and other materials salvaged from the historic structure without running afoul of the Congressional dictum that there be no "commercial exploitation."

General Edgerton said the commission might ask new legislation to defray the cost of distributing the souvenirs. Care must be taken to authenticate these, he explained, to avoid an avalanche of fakes being sold to the gullible.

THE MARVELOUS SPRING SHOWER OF METEORS

Bad Weather Sends Pair Of Escapes Back To Cell

PRINCE FREDERICK, MD.—Two prisoners escaped from the Calvert county jail by pounding a hole through the wall with an axe.

But the alarm hardly had been spread before they crawled back in again.

The weather, it seems, had discouraged their bid for freedom. "It's too miserable and uncomfortable out there," they said.

The two prisoners—Thomas Robert Jackson, 30, charged with murder, and Elvert Cherry, charged with grand larceny—had hacked a hole through a concrete wall with an axe apparently handed to them through a window.

They were later taken to a jail at nearby Marlboro for safer keeping.

Wrong Mental Attitude Makes Chores Irsome

CHICAGO.—Conserving the homemaker's physical energy is just as important a household saving as balancing vitamins against the food budget or stretching the clothing dollar.

According to research conducted on behalf of an Illinois, Ill., firm manufacturing a synthetic household starch which remains in clothes through many washings and doubles the wear of fabrics, there are several recommended ways to make sure that the housewife doesn't use up her energy unnecessarily in the course of her home-making duties.

First, the wrong mental attitude toward household chores can make jobs in the home twice as hard as they need be, the report says. If this is her trouble, the overtired housewife should simplify her work by taking greater advantage of time-saving aids so that she can spend more time away from the home in relaxing entertainment.

Second, eliminate household nuisances and chores which clutter up a homemaker's day. Such "clutter" includes unessential furniture which by rights belongs in the attic instead of the living room, where it must be dusted; marketing haphazardly every day instead of only once or twice a week; listening to favorite radio programs without, at the same time, doing something useful which, as a job, preys on the mind, such as mending.

Burglary Suspect Burns As Robbed Safe Open

LOS ANGELES.—A burglary suspect here is convinced that crime not only doesn't pay, but it sometimes develops an ironical twist fit to make any self-respecting criminal blow his top.

Clifford L. Aubertin, 35, confessed bitterly to police that he carted off a 200-pound safe from an automobile accessory shop and garage.

First he lugged the bulky strongbox to his car. After driving to a secluded spot, he pushed the safe 200 yards up a hill and battered it open with a sledge hammer. Inside he found $3.80.

Officers who arrested Aubertin as he slept, resting from his labors, added the crowning blow: The safe was unlocked all the time.

Trio With Ideal Would Clean Up Liberty Statue

NEW YORK.—Three men with an ideal, a formula and a lot of old rags have a big job cut out for themselves. They'd like to give a bath to the statue of liberty, an indelicate lady who has gone 63 years without any overall abutions.

The three gentlemen with the project are dental technician Albert Baumgarten; jeweler Alexander Nagy, and chemist Wurt Wasserman. The latter is a native of Germany, the other two of Hungary, but all three are naturalized Americans—and that's where the ideal came in.

The trio decided they'd like to do something to show just how much they love America. It was Nagy who translated the desire into a natural project.

He'd been a sailor and, later, navigator on ships sailing all over the world. Each time he put into New York harbor he couldn't help seeing how dirty Miss Liberty was.

Statue Now Corroded
Actually, the statue, which was put up in 1886, hasn't been cleaned since. What was once glistening bronze is now corroded and green. Chemist Wasserman says there's between an eighth and a fourth of an inch of corrosion on the statue.

"Just think," says Baumgarten, "how nice the statue will look, bronze and shining."

"I bet ships will be able to see it—or the light reflected from it—20 miles out when it's cleaned," says Wasserman.

"Imagine how it will be on a night when there's a full moon," says Nagy.

What made their plan to clean the statue a practical one is the formula, a concoction they put together to help them in their professions. Both Baumgarten and Nagy had felt the need for a better liquid polishing agent, for brightening Nagy's jewelry and the porcelain false teeth Baumgarten makes. Independently, they came to Wasserman and decided to pool their ideas.

They worked for four years, tried countless different formulas until they perfected the present one. They've been using it on dentures and brooches, but they haven't tried to market it commercially.

Made Several Trips

The three have made several trips to the island, sounding out public opinion on the project. Only twice have they found opposition.

"A janitor or something in the statue," relates Baumgarten, "didn't like the idea. He said that if the corrosion was removed, the statue would crumble. That's nonsense, of course."

Another time, Wasserman talked to an elderly man, told him the plan.

"What?" said the astounded man, "You're going to take off all that nice green paint?"

They estimate that it will take them at least a month to do the job, plus 250 gallons of their polish and $1,000 worth of equipment, which they'll donate. That's provided they get permission—and assistance—from the department of interior's national park service, which has jurisdiction over the statue.

Boll Weevils In Winter
Some farmers believe that boll weevils spend the winter in the forest. This is not true. They spend the winter at the base of cotton stalks, under rocks, in old scare crows, in hollow fence posts, under shingles, in decayed siding on machine sheds, and other places except timber stands.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From the Old-Timer of Frankfort, Ky.: "I remember when a vacuum cleaner looked like this. It must have taken up most of the space in the storage closet. It took a strong woman, using both hands, to push it over the rug. Who else remembers this?"

From E. E. Meredith of Fairmont, W. Va.: "I remember when the wealth of parents was judged by the earrings on their little girl. The well-to-do family provided gold adornments. That was when piercing the earlobes was in vogue. The lobes were pinched between the thumb and forefinger, then a sharp needle threaded with silk was run through it. The wound was allowed to heal before the earrings were inserted."

From R. D. Bonar of Churubusco, Ind.: "I remember way back when just a small boy, I went with my father to the old mill pond to see the farmers wash their sheep. In the spring, just before shearing time, they would drive their flocks to the pond and, one at a time, the sheep would be taken into the water and given a bath to remove the dirt and oil from their fleeces. The wool brought a better price when so treated."

From John Foxton of Schuler, Okla.: "I remember when my father sheared the sheep and Mother carded and spun the wool on an old-fashioned spinning wheel and knitted us socks, mittens and other articles of clothing. She also made tallow candles."

Advise Repeat for Bang's Vaccination

Dr. I. F. Huddleson, who perfected the "Brucella M" vaccine for prevention of Bang's disease in cattle, recommends re-vaccination after two years. The Michigan State College brucellosis authority advises farmers who used the vaccine on animals more than two years ago to contact veterinarians for another inoculation.

When the vaccine, now widely used in Michigan, was first announced, Dr. Huddleson expressed a belief that its life would possibly be a period of two years.

Veterinarians throughout the state report most farmers to be highly pleased with results of the vaccine developed in the Brucella Laboratory on the Michigan State College campus. It is available through most Michigan veterinarians who have been given a permit by the Michigan Department of Agriculture to use it.

Prepare Woodwork For Repaint Jobs

Proper Preliminaries Make Task Easier

Woodwork in farm homes can be repainted more effectively if proper steps are taken to prepare the surface beforehand.

This conclusion was announced after a study of the subject by the Eagle-Picher company of Cincinnati. Their survey, according to reports, showed that preparing the surface beforehand will always be valuable, whether the work is to be done by a professional, or by the farmer himself.

If the woodwork has been painted before and the paint is in good condition, it should be washed down with a few drops of benzine on a dry cloth. This is done to remove any grease. Care should be taken, however, as benzine is inflammable.

In removing this paint brush from a can of paint, it is always best to scrape off any excess fluid to prevent dripping or streaking.

Should the present paint on the woodwork be in poor condition, then it should be removed entirely, or at least in the bad spots, with a paint remover. This applies especially to areas with blisters, roughness, streaks or looseness. Any paint left on should be cleaned with benzine.

New Farm Wagon

Like modern cars which "float" over the highways, this new, all-steel farm wagon has just been offered the American farmer to help smooth out rough fields and roads. Front and rear axle tilt independently (as shown) to give maximum flexibility and stability, even under capacity loads of 3,000 pounds. Auto-type wheels and steering mechanism are used.

Spring Calving Permits Cheaper Winter Feeding

Spring calving permits use of cheaper lower-grade feed during winter. A cow that calves in the spring will get along nicely on a plain kind of ration. But the cow that calves in the fall must be fed a milk-producing ration during the winter to keep the calf growing rapidly. Such a ration is more expensive.

In a climate where the cow herd must be on a dry feed for five months, a total of about 1,800 to 1,500 pounds of digestible feed is needed in winter.

A 1,100-pound pregnant beef cow can be carried through the winter quite cheaply when fed 1,100 pounds of clover hay, 1,500 pounds of corn stover and 500 pounds of oats straw.

Handling Tips Offered In Hatching Egg Work

Tips on handling hatching eggs have gone out to farmers from several extension service sources. In the main, farmers are urged to pack such eggs in cases with the small end down, and, if these eggs are marketed twice a week, it will not be necessary to turn them.

If hatching eggs are to be stopped for a short time, the advice continues, keep the room temperature between 45 and 60 degrees.

Camels and pigs are said to be unable to swim.

some Governors, of bigger and better government spending. If Republican leaders can hew to the line, balancing the state budget without imposition of a new tax for increase of state expenditures, the result will be a near miracle. The federal government finds itself unable to make ends meet, even in a period of record prosperity. It is easy to talk economy; it is very difficult to vote economy. Movies Held to Blame For Many Broken Homes

NEW YORK—Husbands don't make love like the movie actors do, and that's what ruins marriages. That seems to be a rather bizarre statement, but Alfred E. Johns, who specializes in patching up broken homes, declared the movies are making his job twice as difficult as it would be if the movies presented domestic life realistically.

Hollywood, he avers, is breaking up many marriages by making wives dissatisfied and giving husbands inferiority complexes. "Husbands just don't make love the way screen heroes do," Johns said. "The movies make married life seem glamorous and real life wives are disappointed in what they find."

"Everybody's either rich in the movies, or gets rich. Wives start nagging their husbands if they don't get rich, too." And things are getting worse, instead of better, on the matrimonial front, Johns said. He's found a direct relationship between the number of divorces and the number of movies persons go to see.

The happiest married men, according to a survey, he said, are chemical engineers. They are homebodies who prefer unimaginative books to fabulous movies. Second on the list are ministers. Next, in order, come college professors, teachers and engineers.

Doctors are 11th on the list, bankers 12th and newspapermen 13th. At the bottom of the list are traveling salesmen and laborers. Johns said they see lots of movies and so do their wives.

"Movies and novels never give a realistic approach to marriage," he added. "They make life glamorous and glamor may be good for the eye, but it's very bad for the mind."

Purple Finch

The purple finch goes through peculiar antics during the mating season. He picks up a straw in his bill and handles it much as a drum major handles a baton. These maneuvers are designed to attract the female of his choice. When his dance is finished, he falls over and plays 'possum in a bid for his 'lady's' sympathy.

Strictly speaking, Donald Duck should be Donald Drake—the male of the specie.

Kitchens of Nation Held New Frontier For American Youth

SAN FRANCISCO.—There is a new frontier for America's young men—and it is in America's kitchens. That's the considered opinion of Bill Harmon, 34, who is chef at the Mark Hopkins hotel here. He says the culinary craft is wide open for any young talent who may be interested.

The old, imported chefs are dying off, he points out, and adds, logically enough, that someone will have to take the place of each. "More than ever before, Americans want good food," Harmon asserts. "There is better food than ever to sell them. What we lack is trained manpower."

He suggested that if this manpower ever appears, America can easily lead the world in the quality of its food. "The tip on this is in the sauces we make these days. In Europe they rarely had the prize beef and other raw materials that we have to work with. They got their flavor from strong sauces. Today we get the flavor from the food itself rather than from the sauce because we have better food to work with."

Harmon thinks all that's needed is to make boys aware of the opportunities that await them in the big kitchens back of the nation's better dining halls. "Cooking as a career offers 100 per cent employment," he asserts. "I could work around the clock seven days a week if I could take it." No good chef is ever out of a job.

"In the second place, wages are better. We start untrained apprentices at $5.83 a day and remember that includes free meals and laundry. An apprentice serves two years, learning the various stations around the kitchen—salads, butcher shop, cold meats, vegetables, bakery, fry station, roasts and broils and desserts.

"After two years he is an assistant cook, starting at $10.83 a day with meals and laundry. He can go up as fast after that as he is good at his work. I think it takes five years to make a really good chef."

Harmon prefers boys fresh from high school. "I'd much rather have a completely green apprentice than one somebody else has trained."

U.S. Indian Population Now On Steady Increase
WASHINGTON.—The red man is on the increase in the United States. Indian bureau officials, reporting on population trends of the Indians, said the climb in Indian population was averaging about 1 per cent each year. The bureau estimated there are now more than 400,000 Indians on tribal rolls—possibly 450,000. This compares with a low of less than 250,000 in 1930, and 398,000 when the last official check was made in 1936.

Old Company Rules Proved Boon to Courting Workers

NEW YORK.—The A. T. & T. company's researchers have come up on a set of rules promulgated in 1880 by a store in Amboy, Ill., for the guidance of its employees—rules which allowed, among other things, one night each week for courting and another for attending prayer meetings. The complete set of rules were as follows: 1. The store must be open from 6 A. M. to 6 P. M. 2. The store must be swept, counters, shelves and showcases dusted; lamps trimmed and chimneys cleaned; pens made; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast. 3. The store must not be opened on the Sabbath unless necessary and then for only a few minutes. 4. The employe who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement, will assuredly give his employer's reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty. 5. The employe must pay not less than $5 a year to the church and must attend Sunday school regularly. 6. Men employes are given one evening a week for courting and two if they go to prayer meeting. 7. Leisure hours should be spent mostly in reading.

Patrons 'On Own' When Students Do Beauty Work

FRANKFORT, KY.—If you let a beauty college student work on you, it's at your own risk, according to a ruling by Kentucky's court of appeals. The ruling was made in the case of a Louisville woman, Mrs. Jewel Gill, 915 S. First street. Mrs. Gill charged that Robert Beckham, a GI student at the Louisville college of beauty culture, injured her scalp in giving her a permanent wave. She filed suit in Jefferson circuit court seeking $1,500 in damages and $44 for medical costs. A circuit court jury awarded her $544, but the court of appeals voided the award by its ruling which said the customer must assume the risk of the student's inexperience.

Shabbona Extension Club—The Shabbona Extension Club met Monday, April 17, in the Shabbona Hall. The two leaders, Mrs. Virgel VanNorman and Mrs. Frank Pelton, gave the lesson on dress fitting. The next lesson will be given May 1 in the afternoon in the home of Mrs. Cliff Ferguson. This will finish the dressmaking lesson. The next meeting will be a salad lesson on May 17 with Mrs. Alex Lindsay and Mrs. Val Isydorek as leaders. The lesson which the club is interested in for 1951 was selected and any one interested in slip covering can get this lesson April 25 in Sandusky.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

In a reply to Republican legislative leaders Governor G. Mennen Williams has reaffirmed his decision not to permit the state legislature to consider a bill in 1950 to increase gasoline and weight taxes for city and rural road improvements. As the 1950 legislative session is a special session, not a general session, the Governor is within his rights to limit bills which the legislature may consider this year.

The Michigan State Supreme Court has restored Brig. Gen. Louis A. Kunzig to his position as business manager of the Liquor Control Commission. The court opinion held that the State Civil Service Commission had full jurisdiction over a state employee in a classified civil service position. Kunzig was fired by two Democratic members of the three-member liquor board, headed by John J. Kozaren, an appointee of Governor Williams. Kunzig served under Governors Kelley and Sigler, and he qualified for his post in a civil service competitive examination, conducted by the Civil Service Commission. The court opinion serves to reinforce the authority of the Civil Service Commission in safeguarding employes from political patronage raids.

Automobile finance gouging in Michigan, as reported by the Better Business Bureau of Detroit, would be eliminated by a reform bill now before the Michigan state legislature. The sponsor is State Senator Harry F. Hittle, Lansing. The bill has already been approved by the Senate, and a favorable vote in the House is forecast this week.

A recent statement of the Better Business Bureau included the following: "Typical complaints have disclosed gouging of car purchasers by conniving dealers and finance companies whose 'finance charges' included dealer 'kickbacks' up to $168.50 and rates of 44%, 69%, 84%, 106%, 134% and up.

"These loan shark rates can be charged with impunity because of the weird fiction that a 'finance charge' is a so-called 'cash-time-differential' but isn't interest and hence not subject to the usury laws!"

Amendments aimed at eliminating the welfare chiseler have been reported favorably by the Senate Social Aid Committee of the legislature at Lansing. Amendments would limit state matching funds to 50 percent of the county total unless a higher ratio had been approved by the State Administrative Board; require uniform rules for all county welfare boards; penalize welfare applicants should they fail to report all income; require recipients of welfare funds to take available work "at prevailing wages." These recommendations are the result of an investigation made by a welfare investigating committee headed by Senator Colin Smith, Big Rapids, Republican.

Governor Williams continues to maintain in public speeches that $110 millions in additional government taxes, if paid by corporations out of profits, would not be paid ultimately by consumers. Governor Williams says that corporations would not transfer state tax to the consumer in the form of price increases. In fact, in his March 15 message to the legislature he held: "The weight of expert opinion holds that a corporation profits tax cannot be shifted to consumers in price increases."

Increased benefits of unemployment compensation are proposed by President Truman and Governor Williams. The additional cost of President Truman's recommendations was estimated by the President in a message to Congress on April 7 to be $850 millions, all paid by employers. The federal and state unemployment tax is added to production costs and becomes another hidden tax paid by the consumer.

Lansing observers are wondering whether the state legislature can reverse a trend, abetted by pressure groups and encouraged by

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Some Guys Just Won't Take 'No' For An Answer!"

Robert B. Foy Wed At Owosso Saturday

At high mass Saturday morning, April 15, Miss Jayne Lantz of Owosso and Robert B. Foy of Cass City were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony by Father Charles Smith of St. Paul's Catholic Church of Owosso.

The bride chose for her attendant Mrs. Carl Delaney of Owosso and Dr. Charles Kelly of Flint served as best man.

The bride was attired in a suit of navy blue with white accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Delaney's suit was gray with navy accessories, her corsage being red roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Arthur Palmer of Detroit and the groom is a son of Mrs. Arthur Dewey of Cass City.

Mrs. Palmer wore a dress of flowered black and white and Mrs. Dewey was dressed in navy blue with red and white accessories. Both had corsages of white shattered carnations.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was served the bridal party at the Farmer's Kitchen in Owosso.

Out-of-town guests attended from Lansing, Flint, Detroit and Cass City. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dewey and son, Russell Foy, attended from Cass City.

The bride is a graduate of Houghton Lake High School, Class of 1947, and the groom of Cass City High School, class of 1946. Robert is a senior at Central Michigan College.

The bride and groom will reside at Trailer Haven, R. R. 2, Lansing, Michigan.

The young couple received many lovely gifts.

Martell Guisbert Married in Flint

Miss Thalia Martell Guisbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Guisbert, was an attractive bride on Sunday when she exchanged marriage vows with Pete Panos of Flint in the Greek Orthodox Church on North Saginaw Street in that city. The double ring ceremony took place at three o'clock Sunday afternoon in the presence of about two hundred guests. The groom is the son of Mrs. Gregory Panos and the late Mr. Panos.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, full skirt, long sleeves and a long train. Her lovely veil was of three-quarter length and her arm bouquet was of white roses. She also wore a strand of pearls and a diamond dinner ring, the latter a gift of the groom's mother.

Miss Roberta Guisbert, the bride's sister, as maid of honor, wore fuchsia taffeta with matching gauntlet gloves and flowers in her hair. Other attendants of the bride were Miss Anita Anister and Mrs. Shirley Ballard of Flint. They wore chartreuse gowns and bouquets and all carried colonial bouquets.

Mrs. Guisbert wore a dress of teal blue and a black picture hat. Her corsage was of roses. The groom's mother was dressed in black, complemented by an orchid.

For the rites a soloist sang, "Ave Maria" and "The Lord's Prayer."

After a wedding trip the newlyweds will make their home in Flint where the bride has been employed and where the groom is in business. A reception attended by three hundred guests was held Sunday evening at eight o'clock in Flint.

Prior to her wedding the bride was honored with two showers, given by Mrs. Edw. Knight, Mrs. Ephraim Knight and Mrs. Keith McConkey here and one given in Flint by the groom's sister.

Those from Cass City and vicinity who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Keith McConkey and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Knight and children, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Butler and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Doerr and son, Don, and their daughter, Lorelei, of Bay City, Mrs. Edw. Knight and the bride's family. Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Krohn and family attended the reception.

Newlyweds Honored At Shabbona Hall

Approximately two hundred guests attended a reception Saturday night in the Shabbona Community Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hillaker who were married March 25 in the Baptist parsonage in Cass City.

The hall was appropriately decorated with yellow and white streamers. Cake and ice cream were served.

The couple received many beautiful gifts. Guests were present from Cass City, Rochester, Snover, Big Rapids, Sandusky, Detroit, Crosswell and Royal Oak.

Mrs. Hillaker is the former Elaine Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe of Snover.

Plywood Economical In Many Farm Uses

Brooder Houses Prove Utility of Material

Farmers are finding that the high strength and light weight of plywood makes it an economical and efficient material to use in portable farm buildings such as brooder houses, hog shelters, and range sheds.

A brooder house, a building magazine reports, should be of adequate size, warm and dry, and properly lighted and ventilated. To be economical, it should be relatively low in first cost, and yet be strongly built to give long life without expensive and troublesome upkeep. For convenience, it must be easy to clean and move.

Here is a "turkey feeder" that is easily and economically made from exterior plywood—weather can't harm it and it's easy portability appeals to farmers.

Portability, of course, is of prime importance. Some portable buildings, built by conventional methods, weigh as much as 2 to 3 thousand pounds. Farmers naturally hesitate to move a heavy structure frequently, and so invite exposure to disease. If moved often, particularly over rough ground, heavy buildings soon are loosened at the joints.

Ends Poultry Chores

Another poultry chore has been electrified and placed on an automatic basis as shown above. This time it is a feeding job which normally requires considerable time and personal attention.

It is being accomplished on an increasing number of electrified farms by mechanical feeders operated by small motors. The device illustrated here is fairly common in a number of larger poultry houses. Feed and supplements are placed in the top of the metal cylinder and then mixed by the rotating central shaft which has small paddles attached at the lower end. The shaft is lowered as the feed is ejected from the bottom of the cylinder by the spinning paddles.

Chemical Caponization Held of Limited Value

The question of whether chemical caponization is practical is one which poultry raisers ask most frequently. Many county extension services also receive numerous questions on the subject.

In experimental work, the treatment stopped fighting and crowing among the cockerels.

"All things considered, it would appear that chemical caponization has very limited value at present."
