

Softball Will Soon Be in the Limelight Here

Twelve Teams Will Play in Local Leagues; Cass City Enters Tri-County Group

Softball, so popular in Cass City last year, bids fair to be held in favor by many people again this season. To add to the interest is the formation of a traveling league team to represent Cass City in the Tri-County Softball League in which seven other villages in the Upper Thumb are entered.

Two leagues—the American and National—will constitute the local program as was arranged last season. This year there are six teams in each as follows:

American League—Baker & Urquhart, Baldy Sunoco, F. F. A., Decker, Church of Christ, Deford.

National League—Local No. 83, Ellington, Bullis Plumbers, Cass City Tractor, Alward, Western Auto.

The schedule for the first week of play starting June 5 is as follows:

Monday, June 5—Baker-Urquhart vs. Baldy. Local 83 vs. Ellington.

Wednesday, June 7, F. F. A. vs. Decker. Bullis Plumbers vs. Cass City Tractor.

Thursday, June 8—Church of Christ vs. Deford. Alward vs. Western Auto.

The first game was set on June 5 to avoid a conflict with commencement exercises which are scheduled for Tuesday, June 6.

The Gavel Club's softball committee has selected John Muntz as custodian of the playing field and the following umpires: George Dillman, Murray DeFrain, Everett Field, Russell Hayward and Junior Root. Other members of the softball committee are Irving Farsch, Kenneth Maharg, Ben Benkelman and Raymond McCullough.

The Tri-County Softball League, recently organized, will have teams entered from eight towns—Akron, Elkton, Pigeon, Marlette, Caro, Bad Axe, Cass City and Sebewaing.

Officers are: President, Truman Ackerman, Akron; vice president, Don Stametz, Caro; secretary-treasurer, Frank Hofmeister, Sebewaing; trustees, Alvin Bittner, Elkton, and Grant Ball, Cass City.

Cass City's team in the Tri-County League will be composed of star players chosen from the 12 teams in the local leagues. The first game of this series at Cass City will be on June 2 when Sebewaing plays here.

Grounds at 4-H Building Are Seeded

The grounds around the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building have been seeded to a grass mixture and oats. This was accomplished through the joint planning and cooperation of Byron Carpenter, 4-H Club agent, George MacQueen, assistant county agricultural agent, and implement dealers of the village and county farms. The project was completed Friday noon. A. B. Quick, prominent farmer north of Caro, furnished the seed mixture along with additional white clover seed. Clare Hanes, Minneapolis-Moline dealer in Caro, cooperated by furnishing two tractors, one with a manure loader and a disc. These implements were used, along with a manure spreader furnished by Oscar Uhl, manager of the county farm, to spread and disc in manure on this plot of ground. Seeding was accomplished through the cooperation of George Bieth of Bieth Implement Company. Mr. Bieth furnished a tractor and grain drill, an operator and the seed oats. All this fine cooperation should bring a good stand of grass which is badly needed around this area.

TB Patch Test Demonstrated

Dr. Lloyd L. Savage demonstrates the patch test for tuberculosis at the meeting of Tuscola County teachers Friday. Jeanne, third grade pupil in Caro school, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Battin, receives the test.

Jeanne Battin, third grade Caro student exclaimed, "Is that all?" as Dr. Lloyd Savage applied a small strip of adhesive tape to her back in a demonstration of a tuberculin "patch" test before assembled teachers of all rural and parochial schools in Tuscola County.

The meeting was held April 28 at the courthouse.

This week county children are taking home leaflets and letters explaining the test as well as cards to be signed by parents if they wish children to take advantage of

Weed Control Day Demonstrations Are Set for June 7

Will Be Held at the Bates Wills Farm Two Miles North of Vassar

Weeds of all kinds are a detriment in producing a good crop whether it be a cultivated or non-cultivated crop. Reduction of crop yields are due to the "stealing" of plant food elements and moisture from the crop. Tuscola County Agricultural Agent Loren S. Armbruster states that many chemicals for weed control are on the market at the present time and are effective if used properly for their intended purpose.

Farmers from Tuscola County will have an opportunity to see demonstrational plots in crops and pastures where various chemicals have been applied on Wednesday, June 7, in Tuscola County. This weed control day will be held on the Bates Wills farm, two miles north of Vassar.

The all-day affair is being planned to show the effectiveness of chemicals for all kinds of weeds. Michigan State College specialists will be on hand to explain the various demonstrations and discuss management problems of weed killers with relation to different crops.

Agent Armbruster urges farmers from Tuscola County to reserve June 7 and plan to attend this important event. A day spent at weed control day will be well worth the time and effort, he believes.

4-H Members Are Working for Their Building Fund

Gilford Club Is the First to Make a Donation of Three Dollars per Member

Boys and girls who belong to Tuscola County 4-H Clubs are earning money for their own 4-H Building fund, reports Byron E. Carpenter, county 4-H Club agent.

Since September, 1949, 4-Hers in clubs all over the county have contributed $482.28 to the 4-H Building fund, raised by their efforts both as organizations and as individuals. The building fund, administered by the Tuscola County 4-H Council, is being used to finish paying for the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building at Caro.

The Black School Merry Workers 4-H Club at Gilford was the first organization to make a donation of three dollars per member for its entire membership as proposed by the County 4-H Council last fall. A sum of $80.66 was presented to the council last week by two leaders of the Black Merry Workers, P. A. Ellison and Robert Thayer. This group of 20 club members is just beginning its second year as a community club. Other leaders who assisted with the club's winter 4-H projects are Mrs. Maggie Bauman, Mrs. Molly Massall, Miss Marjorie Dove, and Frank Reynolds. The club members who raised this money by sponsoring bake sales and with their own individual contributions are: Janice and Ruth Bauman, Eleanor Erickson, Mary Johnson, Joy Jones, Dorothy Keyes, Cleo Mathey, Mary Jane Young, Ervin Erickson, William Keyes, Gary Montgomery, Eugene Osartowski, James Montgomery, Oscar Schmidt, Robt. Road Paint Program Starts Next Monday

Weather permitting, the State Highway Department next Monday, May 8, will begin its annual road painting program covering some 7,500 miles of hard surfaced state trunkline highways, marking center lines and no passing zones to replace lines which have worn out during the past year under the stress of passing vehicles and the rigors of wet and cold weather. This year's paint program will involve expenditure of some $250,000 and will require three to four months to complete, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler estimates. This program is vitally necessary because it involves the safety of all who drive on our highways, as they rely on these lines to keep them in proper driving lanes and to protect them from accidents, the Commissioner added.

Junior High Banquet Attended by 150 on Friday Evening

By Sally McGrath

One of the social events of the school year was on Friday evening when the junior high served 150 people. Mrs. Mary Holcomb was hostess. The board of education and wives and husbands were guests and all the teachers that had any of the junior high boys or girls in school.

The tables were attractively decorated with spring flowers and napkins of different colors. The food furnished by the children was the kind that makes a perfect meal that everyone enjoys.

Jack Cook was the master of ceremonies and the program that he introduced showed a great deal of talent and hard work on the part of the class. There was singing and speaking. Barbara Short entertained the audience with a novelty song.

Mrs. Tyo presented the medals of the essay contest to Kathie Wood, Donna O'Dell and Margaret Emma Doughty and also in her usual friendly way told of each one's efforts and Kathie Wood's added honor in receiving second place in the seventh district. She presented Mrs. Holcomb with a very nice pin.

Mr. Claseman presented the outstanding basketball players with letters and to Mrs. Schwaderer he gave great praise for taking the boys to all out of town games and being nice to them.

We want to thank everyone who helped and our special thanks to Mr. Ackerman and Mr. Weatherhead for the skating party afterwards, also to the mothers who so kindly and efficiently helped prepare the meal for us.

Cass City High School Won Two Games Within Week

Local Pitchers Held the Visitors to Five Hits in the Two Encounters

The Cass City Red Hawks baseball team won two impressive victories during the past week.

Bad Axe came to town last Thursday and went home on the short end of a 4 to 2 score. It was Southpaw Jim Schad who twirled the impressive victory for the Hawks. Schad allowed only three scattered hits and displayed fine control as he set down the Bad Axe batters.

Lee Hartel and Eugene Kloc were the big boys with the bat. Lee collected two hard hits in three times at bat, and Kloc bashed a line triple to deep left to boost his batting average to .500.

Score:

Bad Axe 2 0 0 0 0 0—2 3 4
Cass City 3 0 0 1 0 x—4 6 2
DeChane and Whear; Schad and Bird.

The Red Hawks displayed fine batting power and fine pitching to defeat Unionville here Monday by the score of 11 to 2.

Lee Hartel was the Cass City pitcher, and, although wild, he let the hard hitting Unionville team down with just two hits, while striking out twelve batters.

Milton Hnatuk led the Cass City batters with four hits in four times at bat. One hit was a long home run.

Score:

Unionville 1 0 0 0 0 1—2 2 4

Next home games are Caro on May 4 and Elkton on May 11.

School Finances Difficult for Six Rural Schools

Co. Supt. Liddicoat Gives Rotarians a Picture of County School Situation

"Tuscola County has 8,700 school pupils which is approximately one-fourth of the county's population," said Joseph Liddicoat, county superintendent of schools, in an address at the Rotary Club luncheon at the New Gordon Restaurant Tuesday. "Three hundred teachers, 101 in rural and 199 in village schools, are employed in giving instructions. In the 123 public school districts, there are 400 school board members supervising educational matters. The county has eight parochial schools."

Eighty-eight rural schools and 11 high schools are open at present and there were 24 rural schools closed this year. Next year there will be 10 instead of 11 high schools operating in the county. Seventy per cent of the closed rural schools are in the Cass City service area.

The 8,700 school pupils in the county are divided as follows: 3,900 in village districts, 600 in parochial schools, 3,200 in rural schools and 1,000 from rural districts attending neighboring high schools. The sizes of rural schools vary from one school with three pupils to one with 60 studying in one room. Village schools range from 98 students with seven teachers to 1,150 pupils with 42 instructors.

Thirty years ago 20 per cent of the pupils attending school were graduated from high school. Today 80 per cent complete a high school course of study, according to the county superintendent.

Finances in some rural districts in the county create a terrific problem while others are prosperous. In Tuscola County next year six rural schools will be financially embarrassed and must have more than the tax limit of 15 mills to operate.

Interesting Meeting Of Home and School Council Monday

The program of the Home and School Council meeting held in the high school library Monday evening proved to be very interesting to all who attended.

Under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Fritz, general chairman, the audience was divided into five groups who held discussions on subjects relating to school problems. Each group had a parent and a teacher leader and at the close of its allotted time reported its findings to the entire assembly. Timely topics were discussed and much benefit was gained by all who participated or listened.

Several musical selections followed which included a saxophone solo by Don Lorentzen, a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Dor Borg and a vocal trio by Donna O'Dell, Phyllis Copeland and Norma Harris, grade students, under the direction of Mrs. B. H. Shaw.

Refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. Harold Perry as chairman. The next meeting which will be a reception for the teachers is announced for Thursday, Sept. 28, and Mrs. Alex Tyo will be in charge of the question box.

Big plans are already being made for summer picnics and vacations.

Mrs. Eva Marble Writes of Trip to Egypt, Greece, Italy

Sub Post Sonthofen
APO 178 A
18 April, 1950

Dear Mr. Lenzner,

Munich is always our starting point for any Italian trip or Mediterranean cruise unless we go via Switzerland. So on Saturday, April first, without sleeper reservations, we departed on the Munich, Rome train. This train specializes with "no diner" so we, feeling like the usual German traveler, tugged and lugged various types of lunch bags into the second class compartment. In this compartment five of us teachers, along with a G. I. resident from 11:45 a. m. on Saturday to 8:15 a. m. Sunday. You should have seen us!

Did you ever try to sleep in a compartment which held six people? We placed our luggage between the seats and lay across it but very few of us slept. I think one of us stirred every twenty minutes. Either we had to find aspirin, we were thirsty or we had to find an extra coat because we were cold (there was no heat). The G. I. would patiently murmur, "Are you all set for ten minutes?" And we would feel greatly abashed because we realized he had waited on us the entire journey. We were a sorry looking group when we boarded the train for Naples Sunday morning at 8:30. We arrived in Naples at 11:30, as Naples is about a three hours' journey from Rome. We were unable to board the ship, the S. S. Atlantic, until later so we went to the Excelsior, rented a room, had lunch and bathed, so we could look extremely respectable when we boarded the ship at six p. m. One always likes to look as neat as possible on this ship because of the varied nationalities aboard. For instance on this trip we have the following nations represented: England, Ireland, Switzerland, France, Italy, Spain, Greece and the United States. And if you think Americans have top priority, you are mistaken. But I won't start in that subject.

After sailing for three days we reached Alexandria, Egypt. Even the first view of this city is so picturesque that one feels the magic of the Near East as the towering minarets and the mosques come into view. We were able to leave the ship about 8 a. m. on April 5 and how good the land felt! Of course we were immediately grabbed by guides and were "taken over" by the Andy type of our Amos and Andy personalities. He said he was an English and Irish fellow from Alexandria. And he surely had all the guile of the Irish (with due apologies) for he transported us via taxi to what we supposed was a garage for private

65% of Tuscola County Is Living In Library Desert

Mrs. Loleta D. Fyan, state librarian, has released the results of the annual survey made of the library situation in Michigan. The survey conducted by the Michigan State Library's extension division is under the supervision of Miss Judocia Stratton, extension head.

The figures compiled show the entire state to be blanketed by large library deserts, places completely without any library service. Fifty-eight of the 83 counties in Michigan have these library deserts.

Tuscola County shows 65 per cent of the total population live in areas not served by a local library. For the entire state, the number of people living in library-less areas amounts to 750,000.

The way these library deserts can be eliminated is through the creation of more county and regional libraries with local and state funds. At the present time, the state allows $15,000 for the establishment of each new county library. Small continuing grants also are given annually. The help which the state gives comes under an appropriation from the legislature. This year's fund of $362,055 is less than it was twelve years ago.

The Michigan State Board for Libraries is asking for a figure adjusted to inflated costs and the million increase in population. Unless more funds are allowed, these library deserts will continue.

Prize Livestock—Livestock owners bringing their animals home after competition in state and county fairs are advised to keep them apart from home herds for 30 days—just in case they may have picked up a contagious disease that is slow in showing up. The American Veterinary Medical association says there is always a chance that show stock may be exposed to infection in transit or while on the fair grounds, yet it may take three weeks before signs of illness become apparent. In the meantime, quarantining them protects the home herd from exposure.

DOES YOUR WATER DO A FULL DAY'S WORK?

To save precious time and labor, to step up farm profits, let Reddy Kilowatt pump and lug more water. Your "wired" hand does this chore for as little as 1½¢ an hour.

Here are a few typical reports from Michigan farmers who have enlarged their electric water systems. "Milk production up 20%." "Butter fat increased 6 to 12%." "Feed costs way down." "Have real fire protection now." "My family is healthier and happier than ever before."

Yes, it pays to switch from man power to electric power... to make water do a full day's work.

Grasses and Legumes Are Key Crops in Rotation Program

Grasses and legumes are the key crops in a rotation to build and save soil according to Ed Longnecker, Michigan State College extension specialist in soil science.

Longnecker cites tests made on the Ferden Experimental Plots in Saginaw County to prove his point. Over a nine-year period, corn has averaged 51.1 bushels to the acre in rotations including legumes. On plots where no legumes were used, the average corn yield has been 34.8 bushels an acre. Yields of other crops than corn have also been greater when clover, alfalfa and grasses were used in the rotation.

The longer the experiment is continued, the wider the difference gets. That's proof, Longnecker thinks, that the longer land goes without a legume or grass crop, the more difficult it will be to get it back into high production.

Legumes and grasses like brome, timothy and Kentucky bluegrass are helpful in soil conservation and building in other ways. Forming a turf or sod, they protect the surface against both wind and water erosion, the soil scientist explained. Roots penetrate the sub-soil and loosen it up to help drainage and aeration of heavy, tight clay soils. They prevent sandy rolling soils from washing.

During the month of June, Michigan farmers will have a chance to see demonstrations of the value of grass and legumes in the farming program. Grass Days are being sponsored by the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service with assistance from other agencies in all areas of the state.

MSC Issues Frozen Food Publication

"Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes" is a popular money-saving practice these days and it's also the name of a new circular bulletin issued by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station at East Lansing.

Authored by Michigan State College home economists and agricultural specialists, the publication sets forth the considerations needed in buying and operating a home freezer. Points to be considered in selecting a freezer are outlined and numerous charts illustrate schedules for freezing fruits and vegetables. A discussion of wrapping materials aids in choosing packaging materials.

County extension offices can supply the bulletin to interested persons or it may be obtained by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

In addition to the direct contributions made by the clubs mentioned above, several clubs have sponsored parties and square dances for 4-H members at the Wilber Memorial Building and charged a small admission fee, which was turned over to the 4-H Council for operating expenses. The following clubs have sponsored 4-H benefit parties: Fairgrove Graham, led by Mrs. Lucile Hickey and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pike; Carolan Club led by Mrs. Nellie Sinclair, Mrs. Lawrence Salgat, Mrs. Rose Leinerth, and Mrs. John Ondrjka; the Kingston and North Vassar Clubs mentioned above; the Watertown-Duncan Clubs, led by Mr. and Mrs. Don Valentine, and Don Robinson, Fostoria; and the Wisner 4-H Club, led by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Black, Akron.

Other Crest

Cape Foulweather, now popularly known as Otter Crest, on the Oregon coast near Newport, was discovered and so named in March, 1778, 14 years before the Columbia river was discovered by Captain Gray. Today a lookout is on the cape, 500 feet above the sea, providing spectacular seascapes for many miles in both directions.

Exceeded Expectations

"If the Nation's Capital continues to grow during the remainder of the present century as rapidly as it grew between 1910 and 1941, it will have a population of more than 800,000 at the beginning of the next century," wrote President William Howard Taft in the National Geographic magazine of March, 1915. Current census bureau estimates show populations of 870,000 for the District of Columbia proper and 1,402,000 for the Washington metropolitan district.

Bean Growers Face Big Task

Eighty thousand bean growers in the United States, 40,000 of them in Michigan, are faced with a real problem—how to dispose of all the dry beans. Any they've decided to do something about it, reports C. E. Prentice, Michigan State College grain and bean marketing specialist.

Even though dry edible beans have gained in popularity in American diets in recent years, bean growers are entering the 1950 season with a surplus equal to nearly half of last year's production, or two-thirds of our normal requirement for food for one year.

To remedy this unbalance, the bean industry is currently conducting a nationwide drive to bring the story of dry edible beans to the attention of the nation's homemakers—a story of economy, nutrition, and good eating. National Bean Week, which ends May 10, is being promoted by the Production Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and is being backed by Michigan's 40,000 bean growers through the Michigan Bean Producers Association. It also is actively supported by the Michigan Bean Council of Shippers and Growers.

Michigan farmers have good reason to back the campaign actively, Prentice says. The 1949 Michigan crop of over 5 1/2 million 100 pound bags of dry beans was 28 percent of the national crop. About 92 percent of all the Navy or Pea beans produced in the U. S. are grown in this state, as well as smaller amounts of other varieties. Michigan's crop was 25 percent larger than normal last year.

The present oversupply, Prentice says, is due largely to the influence of war-time acreage increases and the very favorable weather last year.

Working Together

The great benefits which result from whole-hearted cooperation probably are no better illustrated than by the accomplishments of the 15,000 dairy farmers who work together as members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

Some of the outstanding benefits obtained for themselves by these members are:

1. A GUARANTEED market for all of the milk they produce.
2. Guaranteed prompt payment in full. No credit risk.
3. Substantial payment for milk rejected from the market in event the member's family is quarantined.
4. Check testing of the members milk for butterfat content by Association testers to insure proper payments.
5. Improving quality of product and cutting production costs through Association Quality Control Program.
6. Safeguarding the market against seasonal fluctuations in production by means of the Base and Excess Plan.
7. Efficient representation in legislative and regulatory measures at the local, state and national levels.
8. Constant and reliable source of information regarding important subjects relative to dairy farming, milk production and market situations.
9. A unified, intelligent program of advertising and sales promotion to increase the consumption of milk and dairy products.
10. A continuing program of research and dissemination of information setting forth the great value of milk as a food in cooperation with the Dairy Council and American Dairy Association.

Mrs. Eva Marble Writes of Trip to Egypt, Greece, Italy

cars, only to find that we were being taken to a restaurant. He then ordered (over our protests) some Mocha which was the extremely sweet French type. None of us drank but we all paid. Then after making a "deal" with us about prices he left to secure cars. We waited three of our precious hours for him. Finally he came and we started for Cairo by the desert highway.

It is fortunate that we didn't take movies of our trip out of Alexandria because we probably couldn't stand to see them. (We escaped accidents by practically miraculous powers). The streets are so narrow and the American cars are so plentiful that the traffic is terribly heavy. Anyway, we were soon out in the desert. In the half way house between the two cities stands a huge sign advertising General Motors cars. This looked very familiar. There aren't very many billboards, perhaps five and they advertise Coca Cola and watches. You should see the Coca Cola signs and stores. One could hardly believe that the Egyptians enjoyed the drinks so much but they do.

Our car arrived in Cairo on time. We went as per plan to the pyramids where we waited for the second car which held the guide. It didn't come for three hours. The car had been stopped by the police. As the driver didn't have a license for passengers, they were held until bond was furnished along with American "Geld" and cigarettes. Oh it's a great life. However, I did have time to climb the Cheops pyramid part way. I viewed the Queen's chamber but by then I was so tired that I wouldn't have climbed any higher to see the King's chamber if the king had been there himself. (One climbs half bent over). So we all climbed on camels and rode on to see the sphinx and the temple therein. That is quite an experience! I didn't get camel sick and I did enjoy it. Another interesting feature of Gizeh is the exact place where you can see the oasis begin, where the desert stops, of course. The desert suddenly is no more and all is green. It is truly wonderful. We saw the sunset on the desert and departed.

We had reservations at Sheppard's Hotel which is so ably described by Fielding. It is truly international. I don't believe it would cause much astonishment if one came riding on a donkey into the lounge. Nothing seems to amaze anyone at Sheppard's.

In the evening we rode around Cairo and saw the moon rise over the Nile. It is truly a beautiful sight and Cairo is fascinating at night.

I might tell you something of the dress of the people. You see practically every type of dress. The business men look like our business men only they wear nice dark red "fez" with the black tassels. Then there are the natives with their intriguing "night shirt" costumes. Someone writes that they are not white but grey. Believe me more of them are striped. You see all kinds of stripes and all colors. Some have narrow and some wide stripes. (I didn't see any polka dot ones). They are very long, down to the ankles, but they look just like our men's old night shirt costumes. Most of the women wear the black costumes with their faces covered.

Now just a word for the children! We went out to Memphis on Thursday morning. There were sailboats on the Nile so we stopped to take some pictures. The children came to watch. I wish you could have seen them! We are feeding half of Europe. We are sending missionaries way round the world but I saw no evidence of anything being done in Egypt. If any of you think that the ownership of Egypt was beneficial to the people, let me tell you you are mistaken. One little child, about three of four years old, had a sore on his face. I tell you, without exaggeration, that there were at least fifty flies (big ones) constantly attached to that sore. The child still haunts me. The older ones, I can tolerate, but when I see the children I just can't stand the sight of their suffering. The last year that I was attending the U. of M., I had a public health course from Dr. Engelke. He said we didn't do enough health teaching about the people in foreign lands. He is so right! When we tell the children that the people in Egypt live in mud brick homes, that's fine. But we fail to tell them that also the cows, mules, maybe a camel, or whatever farm animals are present live there too, in the same building, in the same room. We fail to tell them of the dirt and stench of the fields where the mother lugs her baby to work and breast feeds it from wherever she happens to be. We make everything so picturesque. It is picturesque; it is sad that this extreme poverty can be called by such a name.

I'm on my way to Memphis. I've just passed those children. Remember? Memphis is very interesting. We visited the oldest pyramid (King Zoser's) at Sakkara there. Saw the old destroyed temple with some remaining pillars. The most interesting sights were the chambers with the pictures (original) in the tomb which told of the Pharaoh's life. The colors are still vivid.

From Memphis, we drove to the Citadel which was Mohammed Ali's fortress. There we saw the Alabaster mosque and also the blue mosque. We heard the Koran calling the people to prayer. If one listened carefully he could hear the call to prayer resounding all over the city.

In the afternoon we visited the museum where all the treasures from the tombs are stored. I won't bore you with all the famous pieces we viewed as you probably know that all of King Tut's relics are here.

April seventh found us arising early (waited as usual for our guide) and preparing for our return journey. There is almost magic in the way the "maids" appear. The maids are male, a Egyptian Sudanese I believe. We always ordered breakfast the night before. When we pressed a button, the waiter would appear before you could count to ten with your breakfast. This morning we had fruit omelet, rolls and tea. (We couldn't stand the coffee). So how they calculated the time to appear, we never quite figured out.

We came back to Alexandria by the delta route which took approximately five hours (the desert way took three). I wish you could have been with me. I could hardly believe my eyes. Of course the crops were wonderful. I never saw such alfalfa. The methods of irrigation by man and camel are well known. But did you know they harness men to pull the felucas (sail boats) up or down the Nile canals? They do. Some are poled. But men often pull them. So slavery hasn't stopped, or should I say working like animals hasn't? The women still wash their clothes in the Nile and the water isn't clean. In the space of a fourth mile, I saw women washing their clothes, washing of feet, washing dishes, washing lettuce, and two men washing horses! Then up a few feet people were taking water out in jars for various purposes. The women carry these jars on their heads very charmingly.

We visited the bazaar districts in both cities. We thought the men who smoked the huge pipes which had glass containers on the ground most romantic. The Egyptians were very courteous to us. Unlike Fielding, I found the custom's officials (contrary to the N. Y. ones) most helpful and very polite. My only regret was that I couldn't stay longer. The memory of the farmer kneeling on the road at sunrise to pray will remain with me forever. The rising sun, the kneeling farmer, the call from the minarets all help to make Egypt a romantic country. We sailed away from the docks while the "gully gully" man was still doing his magic with brass cups and half dead baby chickens. The peddlers with their wares were still looking longingly and wishfully at us as we steamed out the harbor on the way to Rhodes.

Rhodes is one of the Duodecanese Islands. It had formerly belonged to Italy but has been restored to Greece. The people were wonderful to us. We walked through the streets of the old city of Rhodes. The walls of the old fortress are still there but the old lighthouse (one of the seven wonders) has been destroyed. The city is unique with its mosques and minarets, its mixed population and narrow alley-like streets. We visited on old bakery where the people were bringing their Easter bread to be baked. The baker stuck a number card in each loaf so that each person would get his own product. The women were so glad to see us, they gave us huge pieces of hot bread which were filled with cheese. Here is one country which appreciates help from America and believe me they need it.

The people were killing the lambs for the Easter feast. In some of the doorways we could see the men skinning the lambs. Lamb seems to be their main Easter dish. Later we had some but I didn't relish it.

Of course the climax of our trip was our visit to Piraeus and Athens. We rented a taxi and drove to Athens from Piraeus. The fare was about three dollars. We returned by subway for about 2½ cents. However we retained the taxi to drive us around the city. I have always dreamed of seeing the Acropolis with the beautiful Parthenon but never believed that my dream would be realized so you can imagine the thrill I received when I walked up those huge marble steps! This wonderful architecture has never been surpassed nor achieved by any other architect. Their knowledge of perspective in building is almost unbelievable.

We also visited the two theatres—Dionysus and the smaller Odeum or Concert Hall, built by the Romans. We saw the hospital of Hippocrates. One interesting feature of the latter was the relics of statues which had been gifts of the patients to the doctor. In the convalescent stage the patients would sculpt in a special room. They then gave these statues as gifts. The patients could also attend the theatres which were near.

The relics of the temple to Zeus were interesting. The columns are a perfect example of Corinthian architecture.

Theseus Temple was interesting. The columns are very simple (Doric). Back of Theseus is the old Market Place. As we gazed at these ancient ruins, we could well imagine the Greeks gathering here to discuss the news. I could visualize Socrates lecturing on philosophy of life to his group of followers.

We also went to the cemetery where Pericles (among many others) is buried. Did you know that the Germans looted his tomb when they were here? Typically, they knew just where he was buried and where to look also.

I know you are tired of reading this. So I won't bore you with the rest of my trip. When we landed in Naples, we went to Rome. Here I viewed St. Peter's in all its glory. Then on to Florence and Venice with its non singing gondoliers.

I arrived home (?) Sunday, April 16, very weary and glad to see my wonderful Bavarian Alps again.

Sincerely yours,
EVA MARBLE.

What's the secret of the "UNRUFFLED" RIDE?

SOME car makers say springs make the ride—and so we give every Buick four of the soft, gentle coil springs practically all cars use on front wheels only.

Some say the drive is important—how power is transmitted to the rear wheels.

We agree—and use a torque-tube drive, that takes up all the thrust, freeing rear springs of driving pulsation.

Some stress tires—so you'll find low-pressure casings on every Buick, mounted on our own kind of Safety-Ride rims. Some play up shock absorbers—we make ours fast, soft and sure in action, to wash out all "after-bounce."

Then there are frames—and car weight—and engine mountings, which on Buick are a very special kind used nowhere else.

They're all important—yet the plain truth is no one of these things—or two or three—gives a ride you can truly call "unruffled."

We feel it takes all of them—springs, tires, shock absorbers, drive, engine mountings—carefully and precisely brought into balance with each other.

You can see why we think so in any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

You can feel it on cobblestones and car tracks, washboard gravel and weather-pocked macadam, country lane and city street. You even feel it on boulevards, which grow still smoother when you travel them in a Buick—especially when it has Dynaflo Drive.*

So we would like you to try a ride that is truly "unruffled." Free of harshness—undisturbed by jounce and jitter—level—steady-going—smooth.

Just ask any Buick dealer for a chance to try out any Buick. You'll find it "the ride of a lifetime"—and the buy of a lifetime too!

*Dynaflo Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Only Buick has Dynaflo—and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from oil-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Celery Growers Shift Plantings To Green Types

Changing consumer preference in Michigan for green celery has resulted in a shifting of growers' plantings to more and more of the Pascal (green) types, say Michigan State College horticulturists and soil scientists.

Several varieties of green celery performed well in the experimental trials on the college muck farm in 1949, according to S. H. Wittwer, J. F. Davis, and A. N. Reath, reporting in a recent issue of the Quarterly Bulletin of the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.

Varieties outstanding in yield, storage quality, and blight resistance were Utah 15 and a local selection distributed by Vande Bunte Brothers in Hudsonville, Michigan.

Utah 10-B and a similar selection called Superior Pascal showed excellent keeping quality, gave high yields, and has the best stalk length and heart development of all varieties. However, both were very susceptible to leaf blight injuries. Summer Pascal types showed considerable resistance to blight, but had poor storage quality and short stalks.

Tests indicated that spacings between individual plants in the row should not exceed six inches. By spacing plants in the row nine inches apart, the percentage of marketable stalks was reduced 31 percent, and many plants showed a flat, bushy type of growth with no heart development.

The 1949 tests suggested that excellent green (Pascal type) celery, equal in quality and appearance to that shipped in from western states, could be grown on the muck soils in Michigan. For good quality, however, it is necessary that harvesting be delayed sufficiently long for the crop to be exposed to several weeks of cool night temperatures.

Michigan Mirror

The ideas of May are almost here, and the Michigan State Legislature is still in special session.

Since March 1 when legislators assembled at the Capitol a virtual tug-of-war has prevailed between the Republican dominated legislature and Governor G. Mennen Williams.

Using his constitutional right to limit legislation in a special session, Governor Williams has ruled that approximately $112 million in additional government spending must be financed, if at all, by a state income tax on corporation profits. The Governor declined to permit the legislature to increase the gasoline and weight tax in 1951, as advocated by good road boosters, saying that this need, too, should be paid by business from its profits.

By and large the legislative program of the Governor seems to be an echo of the "fair deal" of President Truman, as applied to Michigan. The Governor is building a platform for reelection around the theme of "liberalism." The list of public benefits which would be financed by business out of its profits is long and imposing. Practically every form of economic activity in the state would be effected.

As we have pointed out before, there is not a chinaman's chance or even cough in a carload that the legislature will nod acquiescence to William's radical proposal for sharing the wealth. The legislators, especially those from rural areas, have been hostile to any idea for a new tax. They profess to hold to the belief that the average Michigan taxpayer is weary from taxes and would welcome a genuine movement to restore economy in government.

While Democrat leaders point to the Truman reelection as proof that economy is not popular, and by the contrast that government spending is here to stay, the Republican finance leaders in the legislature have put the party on pledge not to levy a new tax and not to increase government spending in 1950.

When the needs of an expanding population and the cries of special pressure groups are considered, it is more than apparent that the Republicans have undertaken to deliver a miracle. Already, demands are pouring into the legislative halls to make an exception for this worthy cause and that public need. As there is obvious merit to all needs, according to your individual viewpoint, it is more than obvious that the Republicans will have to hold the line rigorously, economizing on everyone, if they are to achieve the difficult objective.

Republican committee chairmen point out that considerable time has been consumed since March 1, when the legislature began its special session, in preparing a budget to fit anticipated revenues during the coming fiscal year (July 1, 1950-51). The original budget prepared for Governor Williams was approximately $110 million in the red as based on anticipated state income from existing taxes. This has been swollen to more than $112 million by addition of new requests for further spending.

The general record of legislative bodies, whether congress or the state legislature, has been to talk economy but to vote spending. At Washington congress has failed to prune expenditures. While the liberals are urging more and more appropriations to take care of rising unemployment and to finance new welfare benefits, the country is being told by Senator George, Democrat, that the joint committee on internal revenue of which he is chairman estimates the total deficit for the next two fiscal years at $14 billions.

incurring a deficit. The Williams strategy is in reality putting a squeeze on his opposition—pressure for more spending and no solution for additional income other than a tax on business profits.

Democracy cannot fail if all citizens exercise their individual judgment in voting.

Experience is the one thing you have left after everything else is gone.

The trip was awarded them by Prairie Farmer-WLS, who entertained a group of twenty midwest Future Farmers with a round of sight-seeing, tours through various plants and museums, dinners and luncheons, and attendance Saturday night at the WLS National Barn Dance. Beans Are "Best Buys" on the Market

Here's a good chance to do something about the high cost of eating in weeks ahead.

Mary Bodwell, food economist at Michigan State College, says budget and nutrition wise shoppers will thank the bean industry for National Bean Week. April 27 to May 10 has been set aside to bring anew the story of beans to our nation's homes—and it's a story well worth repeating.

Why are beans one of our "best buys" in foods? Here are three of Miss Bodwell's answers to that one:

1. The time to buy food is when it's in good supply. The dry bean supply couldn't be better, from this angle.
2. Beans are a budget miser food compared with many other foods. Although low-priced, they're high in food value, especially in food energy, protein, the minerals calcium, iron and phosphorus and the B vitamins thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.
3. The quality of beans available on grocery shelves is exceptionally good this year, due to good growing and harvesting conditions last year.

These aren't the only reasons why dry beans should be on our shopping lists in future weeks. Miss Bodwell says we all have a stake in helping use up the abnormally large bean supply produced in last year's record growing season. Millions of bags of beans in storage add to government costs. Helping to move this supply would also mean more orderly marketing and service in the future.

Luncheon Ideas

MANY WOMEN would like to entertain a few friends for luncheon, but they worry about what to serve, and how it can look pretty. Should it be elaborate?

Does it have to be practically a dinner? These are two of the primary questions that come up with the unaccustomed hostess.

For the luncheon at which you want to gather together a few friends casually, plan a simple menu that can be easily served. You'll enjoy your guests so much better!

Even though you entertain six or more for luncheon, the menu should be simple, and not a dinner. Serve small portions of food, daintily and prettily. Make them feminine, and not too fattening. Your guests, dieting or maintaining weight, will appreciate this type of meal more than heavy foods which they'll have to go home to prepare for the menfolk.

A good plan for luncheon includes a clear soup, fruit cup or vegetable or fruit juice for a first course, but this may be omitted for very simple luncheons.

Plan a main dish and serve it with hot breads. Use a vegetable garnish or a salad that can be served on the same plate with the main dish.

HERE ARE TWO pie recipes for which you will enjoy using with any of the above main dishes.

*Frozen Lemon Pie (Serves 6)

- 1 1/2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs, finely rolled
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind
- 1/2 pint whipping cream

Line a refrigerator tray with one cup crumbs mixed well with butter. Combine egg yolks, sugar, lemon juice and lemon rind. Cook on low heat until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Chill and fold in whipped cream. Beat egg whites until they stand in peaks and fold into lemon mixture. Pour into lined tray and sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Freeze until firm. Cut in triangles.

*Rhubarb Deep-Dish Pie (Serves 10)

- 8 cups rhubarb cut in 1 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/2 cup cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 tablespoon orange rind
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/2 recipe pastry

Place rhubarb in colander and pour boiling water over it. Sift together sugar, cornstarch and nutmeg. Cut in butter, add orange rind and juice, and blend. Add rhubarb and mix well. Spread over bottom of 9x13-inch pan. Place 10 rectangular pieces of pastry

LYNN SAYS:

Store Foods Properly To Avoid Waste

To keep citrus fruit (lemon, orange, grapefruit, etc.), place fruit cut-side-down on saucer or plate. If you have several slices of lemon or orange left over, pack them together neatly and place the pile cut-side-down in the same way.

Cover dishes of food in mechanical refrigerator. (Rubberized or oiled silk slip-covers are easy to use.)

(2 1/2 x 4 1/4 inches) over rhubarb mixture. Sift centers with knife for steam vent. Bake one hour in moderate oven (350°).

HERE ARE SOME novel suggestions for luncheon main dishes that are ideal when entertaining. Their preparation is simple, so the hostess may keep cool and charming.

*Spinach-Stuffed Fillets (Serves 6)

- 1 pound spinach or kale
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 tablespoon butter
- Salt, pepper
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 1 1/2 pounds fish fillets

*Chicken Fondue (Serves 4)

- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1 cup diced cooked chicken meat or 6 ounce can
- 1 tablespoon finely grated onion
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Cook celery in butter several minutes. Combine with milk, bread crumbs, chicken, onion and pepper. Add salt to egg whites and beat until shiny and whites form peaks that fold over when beater is withdrawn. Beat yolks. Pour milk mixture into yolks stirring constantly. Four yolk mixture gradually over egg whites folding at the same time. Pour into ungreased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Place casserole in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (375°) until a knife inserted in center comes out clean, about one hour.

Toasted Crabmeat Sandwiches (Serves 6)

- 1 cup flaked crabmeat (6 1/2 ounce can)
- 3 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 teaspoon minced onion
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 4 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup grated cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Paprika
- 6 slices of bread

Mix the first seven ingredients into a paste. Toast one side of bread slices. Spread crabmeat mixture over untoasted side of bread. Sprinkle with grated cheese; sprinkle paprika on top. Broil four inches from unit until cheese has melted and lightly browned. Serve at once.

Left-over canned fruits or vegetables may now be kept in the original tin cans with safety. (A thin film of oil over pimiento pods left in the can will keep them from molding. Olives should be kept in their liquor.)

Sterilize bread box occasionally by washing thoroughly in hot, soapy water, rinsing with boiling water, drying well and airing in sunshine. Sticky cinnamon rolls, coffee cake, etc., may be kept in the bread box with the bread or in a covered toaster.

Big Supply Makes Beans a "Natural" For Thrifty Meals

Boston made the bean famous, but Michigan grows the beans. Let's take a tip from the thrifty New Englanders and make the most of the more than abundant supply of dry beans, suggests Mary Bodwell, food economist at Michigan State College.

In fact, so many beans were produced last year that a National Bean Week is now being observed to call attention to the merits of this food in our diets.

Here are a few tips about dry beans that homemakers should find helpful in weeks ahead:

You'll find the pork and bean combination practically unbeatable. It's one of those "natural" food combinations alert homemakers seek, to please the family and make food budget money go farther.

Make each of your low-cost bean dishes a taste treat by generous use of seasonings which blend well with beans. Try tomatoes, onions, molasses, brown sugar, ketchup or spices and meat flavors in the combinations.

To further insure satisfaction at the table, observe these basic bean-cooking rules. Wash in cold water, allow plenty of time for soaking, and soak in soft water if you can. Hard water toughens the skin. Keep heat low when cooking beans, watch the pot carefully—dry beans soak up a lot of water.

As far as dried bean quality is concerned, you have little to worry about, Miss Bodwell says. You are likely to be buying a Michigan product, and all beans packed in the state are carefully graded by processors. Michigan grows more than one-fourth of the nation's beans, and more than nine-tenths of the popular Navy or Pea bean varieties.

Dr. Savage emphasized the simplicity of the test which is completely painless. The "patch" is applied and left on for two days. Care must be taken that it is not dampened or loosened during this time. The area is later examined for a reaction.

of the Tuscola Medical Society, the Board of Supervisors and the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Miss Elaine Abbott, case-finding director of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, explained the importance of the program in protecting the health of county children. She emphasized the fact that although there is no longer a high incidence of tuberculosis among children, it was still necessary that they be checked in order to spot future sources of trouble.

Materials for an educational and tuberculin testing program for the town schools were distributed to the school superintendents of the county at an earlier meeting on April 26. Mr. Liddicoat introduced Miss Abbott, who explained the program. Superintendents will serve as area chairmen and will cooperate in making the clinics a success in their area. Willis Campbell is organizing the survey in Cass City and William D. Menold is area chairman in Gagetown. Testing will be done on Monday, May 8, by local doctors and nurses. The school tuberculin testing program is one of the most complete ever offered in Michigan and indications are that most students in the county will participate.

Use a time and temperature chart in baking. It saves opening the oven door and wasting fuel. Use as much stored heat as you can, to warm over and crisp up food.
