U. S. War Fears Are Puzzle to Europe, Dr. McCoy Says

Dr. Ira D. McCoy of Bad Axe, former physician in Cass City, returned last week from an 18-day tour of Europe. In an interview printed in the Port Huron Times Herald of recent date, the doctor said that Europeans cannot understand why the United States is concerned about Russia's warlike moves because they think the Reds are staging a colossal bluff.

Dr. McCoy said Europeans learn through travelers from behind the Iron Curtain that production in Soviet satellite countries is lagging far behind because workers have no incentive other than a gun in their backs.

Dr. McCoy said, "Europeans do not think a third world war is coming. They are rebuilding their cities. They feel that war has become too disastrous for any nation."

Seven countries were visited by the party of 42 Detroiters, including Portugal, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, England and France. The group stopped at Lisbon, Milan, Rome, Zurich, Frankfurt, Brussels, London and Paris.

Swing-Out Ushers In Commencement Festivities

Fifty-four seniors, resplendent in a new shape of caps and gowns, followed their school band through the traditional Swing-Out march Wednesday morning. Returning to the high school auditorium, they were honored by an assembly giving further significance to their donning of the academic garb.

As a part of the Swing-Out program, Jessie Fry, recently elected student president for 1950-51, was inaugurated by Nancy Schwaderer, retiring student leader. Leslie Townsend spoke for the student body in congratulating the seniors on their new estate while Roy Benson was faculty speaker. Janet Habicht, valedictorian, reviewed briefly the history of the class. Jessie Fry and Hene Ludlow, juniors, then took charge of a giftatory in which each senior was presented with an appropriate, if sometimes ludicrous gift. The band furnished additional music for the assembly.

Jim Schad Pitches No-hit Game at Pigeon Tuesday

Red Hawk Twirler Throws Shutout, Fanning 10 Sebewaing Batters

South paw Jim Schad pitched a beautiful no-hit game against the Pigeon Panthers at Pigeon Tuesday night. It was indeed a great victory for the Red Hawk pitcher as he won his fifth game of the year. Only in the fifth inning was Schad in trouble. An error and three walks produced the lone run for Pigeon, otherwise it was three up and three down as Schad hurled wonderful baseball.

Records are unavailable as to when (if ever) a Cass City pitcher turned in such a performance as Jim Schad did Tuesday.

The game was highlighted along with Schad's performance by some real slugging on the part of Lee Hartel. In the top of the 7th, Hartel drilled a fast ball into deep right center field for a home run. The ball traveled about 400 feet in the air from home plate.

By winning this game, the Red Hawks are assured of at least tie for the league championship.

Jim Schad, the big left-handed pitching ace of the Cass City Red Hawk's baseball team, turned in a beautiful pitching job last Thursday as he blanked the Sebewaing Indians 7 to 0. Schad gave up only two hits, fanning ten batters and walking no one.

Lee Hartel and Bob Alexander were the hitting stars for the day with two hits each.

If Cass City beats Pigeon, the Red Hawks will be assured of a tie for first place with Elkton.

Liberty Bell Announced the Savings Bond Drive

Replica of Famous Bell Will Be Exhibited in Cass City on June 8

A quota of $110,000 has been set for Tuscola County in the U. S. Treasury's Independence Savings Bond Drive which opened May 15 and will continue through July 4. Forty-nine replicas of the Liberty Bell will tour the nation during the weeks of the drive. They will remain in all major market areas long enough for special promotional techniques to be developed around their visits.

A replica of the Liberty Bell will be on exhibit at Cass City on Thursday morning, June 8, for one hour. It will arrive from Sandusky at 9:30 a. m. and will leave Cass City for Bad Axe at 10:30 a. m. Six of the nation's great copper companies are jointly making the bell possible. The bells will tour in red, white and blue trucks to be supplied by the Ford Motor Company. At the conclusion of the drive the bells will be on permanent display in the individual states and the District of Columbia.

The bells were cast in Anney, a town in the Swiss Alps. Each bell is being cast without the crack in the original Liberty Bell.

The Liberty Bell was rung in 1776 for the first reading of the Declaration of Independence. In 1776 it celebrated the signing of the Declaration. The bell was cracked in 1835 as it tolled for the death of Chief Justice John Marshall of the U. S. Supreme Court.

In 1846 it was enshrined in the State House (Independence Hall) in Philadelphia. In 1876 it sounded to commemorate 100 years of American Independence, at the Philadelphia Centennial. It was rung in 1916 on the occasion of the first linking of the Atlantic and Pacific by long distance telephone. Its note was broadcast in 1926 at the opening of the Sesqui-centennial Exposition in Philadelphia.

The bell announced the landing of Allied Armies on the beaches of Normandy June 6, 1944 (D-Day). It rang again May 15 to open the Treasury Department's Independence bond drive.

Just because a few citizens go to the trouble of voting, our nation is fast developing a government of the minority for the minority.

Live as the young folks do and you'll stay young, says a doctor. The only trouble will be to get the old folks to settle down that much.

In spite of all the talk of the destructiveness of the H-bomb, the average citizen is actually in much greater danger from auto bumpers.

Lawn Wedding Held At Mose Karr Home Saturday Afternoon

Baskets of white gladioluses and palms helped to beautify the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mose Karr which was the scene of the wedding on Saturday of their daughter, Miss Iva, and Harold Clague, both of Ann Arbor.

The double ring ceremony was conducted at four o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Henry Kuhlman in the presence of sixty-five guests. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Harold Oatley of Cass City and Mrs. Leonard Karr sang "Because" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was attired in a gown of white silk marquisette designed with a sweetheart neckline outlined with lace, wrist-point sleeves, and hoop skirt with a lace insert which fell into a cathedral train. Her veil was secured by a tiara of lace and rhinestones and she carried a white Bible topped with gardenias. For going away she wore a gray gabardine suit with green accessories.

Mrs. Leonard Sparks of Astoria, Oregon, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was gowned in white organza over yellow satin and wore white mitts. She had a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and a matching headdress.

The gown of the junior bridesmaid, Miss Marlene Salgat of Gagetown and niece of the bride, was pink organza over pink satin. She wore pink mitts and her colonial bouquet was made of pink roses as was her headdress.

The groom, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clague of Ann Arbor, was attended by his brother, Richard Clague, also of Ann Arbor. Ushers were Frank Salgat, nephew of the bride, and Leonard Karr, her brother.

Immediately following the ceremony cake, ice cream and coffee were served in the dining room from a table decorated with white tapers in crystal candelabra and a wedding cake topped with a mini-ture bride and groom. Out-of-town guests were from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Pontiac, Whittemore Lake, Argyle and Cass City, Mich., and Astoria, Oregon.

After a wedding trip to Sault Ste Marie and Mackinac Island Mr. and Mrs. Clague will make their home at 410 N. State St., Ann Arbor. Mr. Clague is employed at the Clague Grocery and Mrs. Clague is a beautician at the Delia Beauty Salon in Ann Arbor.

Ageless China

In China the first question a person asks another on an official call is, "What is your glorious age?" And enthusiasm grows in proportion as the gentleman is able to report a higher and higher age. If he is anywhere over 50 the inquirer drops his voice in humility and respect.

They say what we don't know doesn't hurt us. It may be true, but it certainly amuses a lot of other people.

Usually the fellow who tries to impress you that he wasn't born yesterday would be just as smart if he had been.

There never was any money earned in tending to other people's business—but folks still insist on doing it.

If you are perfectly frank in speaking about others, the chances are that you will be considered a nuisance.

The fellow who said some men are able to go through fire and water unharmed, probably didn't mean firewater.

It's unhealthy to suppress a laugh, says a doctor—but probably not half as unhealthy as laughing at the boss' mistake.

Age, they say, is not a matter of years, but a state of mind—so it's probably all right if Grandpappy wants to whistle at the girls on the street.

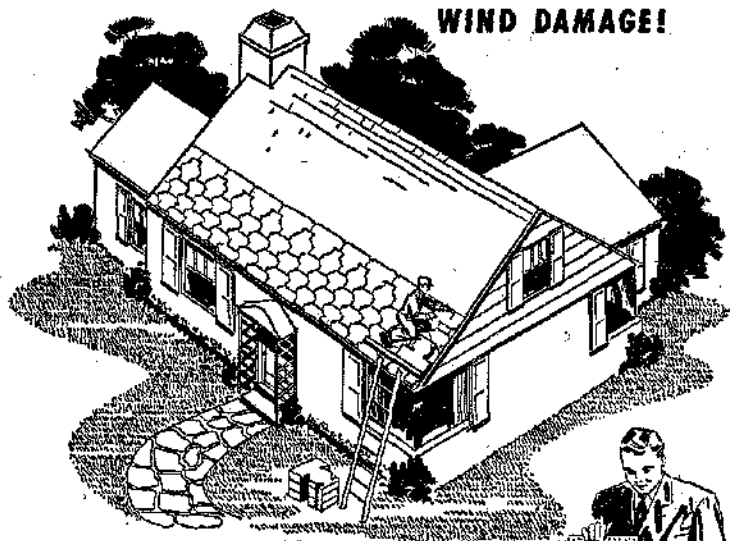

Don't blame bad luck for all your troubles. Bad luck usually is the outcome of bad judgment.

They say a necessity is something you can't get along without, but do, and a luxury is something you ought to get along without, but don't.

Lots of folks work hard and save money all their lives to buy things that only the young can enjoy.

U. S. War Fears Puzzle to Europe, Dr. McCoy Says

Italy, Belgium and England after World War II is phenomenal. Employment is high in these countries and stores are well stocked. England is experiencing a building boom, he said.

In Italy, the party had audiences with the Pope, the Catholics in private and the entire party in public.

Destruction in Frankfurt, Germany, was termed terrible by Dr. McCoy. Rubble still stands inside bombed buildings and hundreds of bodies are still buried there, he added.

He said, "The Germans resent our occupation but they also realize if we weren't there the Russians would be so they regard us as the lesser of two evils."

Interviews with Winston Churchill and Sir Stafford Cripps were highlights of the visit to London.

Only eight of the party met Mr. Churchill, and Dr. McCoy was one of the group.

"Churchill looks aged, white and tired," he said. "At first, he was quite reserved but soon brightened up and said 'if it hadn't been for the atomic bomb, Russia would have overrun Europe,' a statement we knew he had made previously."

"Then suddenly, he coined one of the phrases, for which he is noted: 'The atomic bomb is a strange angel with loaded wings.'"

He also told us that he looks on the United States and England as partners and added that his country now is the junior partner.

Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, readily answered all questions and said England would be ready to continue on its own after the ECA (Economic Cooperation Administration) expires in 1952.

Dr. McCoy, in his interview with the Times Herald, said "Paris is still Paris, not much different than it was in 1919 when I was there during service overseas in World War I. The city escaped war damage."

The party left Versailles, France, Sunday afternoon and 24 hours later was in Detroit. He said several persons, including himself, caught cold during a four-hour stay in Gander, Newfoundland, on the return trip.

Tuesday—No midweek service because of Decoration Day.

"Persons taking trips should plan to start early so they will have plenty of time to reach their destination. The same should be true of their return home."

"Make sure your car is in good operating condition, drive with the normal flow of traffic, observe all signs and signals and be alert at all times. In short, be doubly careful and enjoy a safe holiday week end."

State Police patrols will be intensified during peak traffic periods as they occur in various sections of the state. Traffic is expected to be heavy Saturday and Sunday, slack off on Monday, and again reach a peak on Tuesday, Memorial Day.

Some economists have been predicting a depression was just around the corner for several years now. At least it won't hurt as long as it stays there.

The man of the house may have to work hard for the money he earns—but some wives have to work just as hard to get their hands on it.

The hope for permanent peace rests not with science, with skill, with machines, or with industry. Peace must come from within the hearts and minds of people and nations.

A survey shows that several thousand women in the United States have taken up law. A very small percentage when you consider how many million are laying it down.

A psychiatrist reports that the prestige value of a television set is much greater than that of a new baby, nowadays. Does he mean that soon letters of sympathy will be in order with the coming of a new baby?

Michigan's tourist industry, second only to California and New York, is headed for an excellent season in 1950.

Such is the forecast of Robert Furlong, secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing.

But Furlong does attach a big "if": Michigan will have plenty of competition for tourist dollars, both from other states in this country and from countries abroad. If Michigan is to get its traditional big slice of the 1950 tourist dollars, owners of resorts, motels, cottages, amusement centers and others in the industry must upgrade their facilities in every possible way.

Put into specific illustrations, this calls for installation of running water in cabins, for example; greater emphasis on hospitality—entertainment for the family.

Frank Davis, secretary of the East Michigan Tourist Association, Bay City recently completed a survey of 550 resort operators in eastern and central Michigan.

He reports that a Michigan vacation in 1950 will cost about the same as a year ago. The average housekeeping cottage rents for $35 a week with a range from $20 to $125 a week, depending on location and facilities. The American plan resorts average about $8 to $9 a day with a range from $6 to $25.

The EMTA's new 1950 tourist booklet, "It's Playtime," is jam-packed with happy ideas for thrift vacations in eastern and central Michigan.

Chester C. Wells, secretary of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, Grand Rapids, recently released his "Carefree Days" lure book for 1950. It is a companion book to the East Michigan edition.

Prominently displayed is a calendar of events in West Michigan. Here is proof supreme that Michigan is vacation-conscious in planning entertainment for tourists. Beginning with the National Trout Festival at Kalkaska, the calendar presents a long list of events such as Holland's Tulip Time Festival last week, Traverse City's National Cherry Festival July 6-7, Harbor Springs' Indian naming ceremony July 22, Charlevoix's Venetian Night July 30, Grand Haven's Coast Guard Festival August 1-4.

The calendar is climaxed with Cedar Springs' Red Flannel Festival, heralding opening of the traditional deer hunting season on November 15.

Jumbo-sized is George Bishop's 152-page "Lure Book" of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, Marquette, also recently distributed to the tourist trade.

This edition offers a detailed map of each county in Michigan's north country, beyond the Straits of Mackinac. Michigan citizens who have never visited the Soo Locks have a thrill coming. And that goes, too, for the remainder of this once-called "wilderness" area, now accessible by air as well as highway. The Copper Country and its Keweenaw peninsula and Porcupine Mountain State Park offer grandeur on a scale that surprises every traveler.

Verily, Michigan has much, much to offer its own citizens with recreational attractions. For a beautiful peninsula, look about you!

Declining prices and surplus... plus an emergency threatening all dairying and the entire economy of the state of Michigan... call for business action more than ever before by Michigan dairy farmers this year.

To organize for this campaign the American Dairy Association of Michigan has been given the responsibility of raising funds. Dairy farmers support is being given in the ADA Set-Aside for May and June, with

May earmarked for state activity and June for nationwide advertising, merchandising and research.

Last year's park attendance was a record 13,000,000. More than 5,000,000 visitors concentrated in four parks—largely a matter of habit.

Mung Bean

China's mung bean, source of the tender sprouts that make chop suey and other oriental dishes exotic, achieved commercial importance as an American crop during World War II. Grown almost exclusively in Oklahoma, it reached a production peak of 24,200,000 pounds in 1945. Demand has lessened since the war, with the result that the 1949 harvest was one-third that of 1945.

Night Driving

The fact that three out of every five fatal accidents occur at night (with only 30 per cent of the driving occurring between dusk and dawn), indicates that darkness produces a new and dangerous set of driving conditions calling for less speed and more caution.

Visual Training

Reading speed can often be doubled by orthoptics—scientific visual training. Optometrists who give such training find that comprehension rises with reading speed.

Tuscola County dairymen con-signed and attended the seventh annual Lapeer Dairy Cattle Congress last week. Consignments from Tuscola County were made by George W. Foster of Fostoria, Harold Blaylock of Vassar, Ethel Hulbert of Cass City, Clark Montague of Deford, and Seddon Bros. of Silverwood. Of the 80 some odd head of dairy cattle at the sale, several were purchased by farmers from Tuscola County.

Speaking of dairying, County Agricultural Agent Loren S. The important thing is to cool the milk immediately after milking and maintaining it at a temperature below 60 degrees Fahrenheit.

Dean Dana was on one of the many subcommittees working on the Hoover report.

Directors of the Thumb Sheep Breeders Association met at Marlette High School last week to make plans for the summer sheep field day and picnic and also for the fall ram sale. WOMAN'S WORLD
Use Practical Knowledge, Vision
To Achieve Room Atmosphere
By Erita Haley

IS THERE SOME feature in your home that annoys you, such as a dark hall, a jumbled room, a shabby bed frame or no space for books? Maybe it isn't anything like this, but something intangible such as atmosphere or style? How do you go about getting it?

Surprising though it may seem, many of these decorative problems are easily solved in many cases. It may involve changing a furniture of picture arrangement which requires no money, only knowledge. It may mean taking the old-fashioned trimmings off some of the furniture and a bit of refinishing which takes, not money, but "elbow work." It may mean constructing a shelf over a studio couch at very little cost.

The first problem is not one of how to do it, but one of what you have to do with. Look over the problem critically and think about the possibilities. See what the desired effect should be, and then it's much easier to go about getting it. Style and atmosphere are a result of imagination, but they must be based on practical knowledge and certain basic rules. You cannot violate the principles of balance or rules of color harmony and achieve a result pleasing to the eye.

When you feel you lack imagination, study good examples and soon you'll feel yourself becoming creative. In this way you can achieve

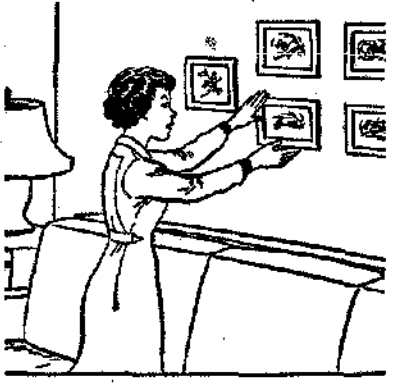

You may accomplish wonders . . . the style you want, and, at the same time, have a lot of fun.

Simple practical tricks that you do with pictures or decoration add the atmosphere and individuality that make a room or a home yours. Carry them out with neatness and dispatch and you will have created something that gives you and anyone else real pleasure.

Let Picture Arrangements Reflect Personality

It's not necessary to rush out to buy expensive originals if you like pictures in the home. People have been known to collect inexpensive with simple decorating tricks.

prints or greeting cards that they like or which reflect a certain hobby of theirs. Groupings of several of these over a couch, above a desk, or on some bare wall reflect the personality of the owner.

Groups of pictures which go together might be pasted on a wall near a deep window without frames of their own. Colored glue tape, to match some color in the drapes or in the room itself would serve to frame each of the pictures. Family portraits might all be framed together on a neutral background and hung above a couch. This would take care of the odd shapes and styles in which they so frequently come.

When you're preparing pictures for a group arrangement, have them all conform in some way or another. Different types of birds go together just as do prints of flowers. Charcoal sketches might be used together as would photographs of the family. All of these have something in common which would dictate their belonging to a certain group.

Framing should suit the furnishing of the room. For modern use light or black woods, or even white. For period rooms, select framing that goes pleasantly with your furniture wood.

Informal rooms may have their pictures framed with wallpaper or tape, provided this is taken from the room in which they're used.

The width of the frame depends upon the picture which is used. When selecting frames, try several different widths and woods against the picture to make the choice.

Re-Arrange Furniture For Pleasing Effects

One of the basic rules in arranging a room is that it should have a center of interest or focal point as this is sometimes expressed. When a room does not have this, you feel restless in it because attention does not become drawn to one particularly pleasing aspect of the room and cannot settle.

When the room has a fireplace, this gives a natural center of interest, and arrangements are built around this with chairs to either side of the fireplace and perhaps a table in the middle.

You don't need a fireplace, however. An interesting arrangement of furniture which invites a group of people to sit down and talk comfortably could serve just as well. In dens, hobby room and such, the center of interest might be a hobby collection; a knick-knack shelf, a wall with a large map, or some other distinctive feature which is interest catching.

Where rooms have a lot of sunlight or a row of windows, these might be utilized for the focal point. Plants, glass collections, china or miniatures might be used on small shelves on the windows to center attention.

Even hallways can be made interesting. If dark and cheerless, induce light into them by means of wall color. Substitute glass panels for wood. Shallow wooden or glass shelves on the glass panels brighten the hall considerably if they hold plants or colorful jars on them.

Paints might also be painted a light neutral, and you could use decals appropriate to the room pasted on each panel.

If the hall or any room is rather bare and you do not want to buy any decorative objects for it, a scenic wallpaper can do the work of these things.

Avoid Clutter In Decorations.

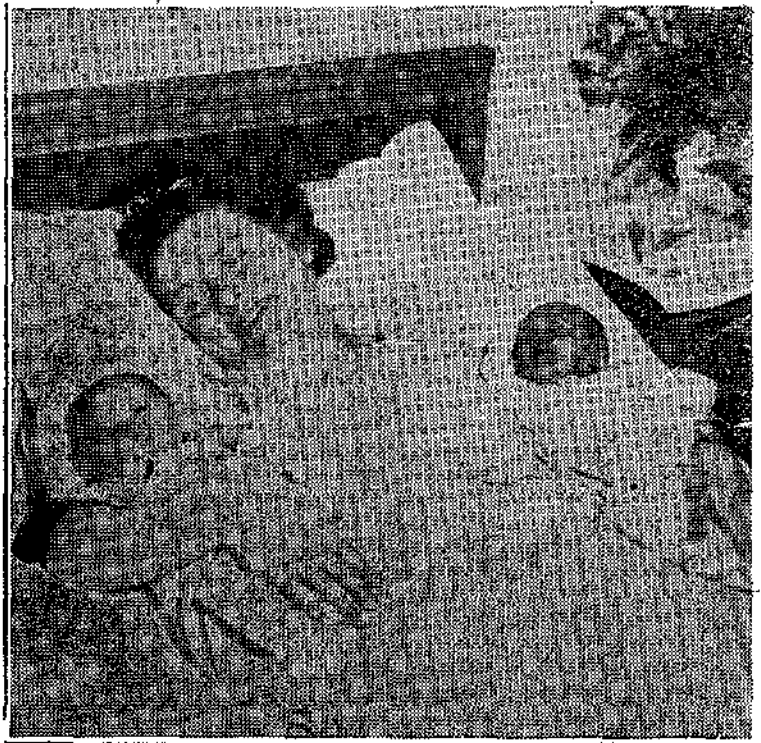

Many rooms offend simply because there's too much in them. They're so busy they appear restless and create this feeling in you when you enter. Many needless chairs and other furniture might be cleared away and used to better effect in a hall that needs cheering.

Ornateness is usually to be feared more than plainness since it destroys the feeling of unity. Highly decorative pieces of furniture with good lines could be trimmed down so as not to distract from their basic good lines. This applies to ornate headboards on beds, as well as to highly curvaceous legs seen on some furniture.

When you have too much pattern on furniture, you might try slip-covering it, employing plain, solid colors, with the primary interest in the texture of the fabric.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.
