Michigan's bean queen for 1950 is pretty Anna Meininger of Gagetown. She was chosen Monday at the first annual Michigan Bean Festival at Fairgrove.

Don't Let School Bells Sound Death Knell for Child

Spokesman of State Safety Commission Sounds Grim Warning

"Don't let school bells sound the death knell for your child!"

This grim warning was issued today by Village Marshal Otto, spokesman for the State Safety Commission's September program of traffic safety education, as millions of youngsters trooped to classrooms throughout the country—many for the first time.

"For the beginner," Marshal Otto said, "this may be his first tussle with reality—with the dangers of the street, and the problems that he must face for himself without Mother's personal guidance. For that reason, the danger to the very young is extreme at this time of the year."

This emphasis on child safety—the necessity for thorough safety education by both educators and parents and the driver's responsibility for child safety—is part of

Barn and Granary In Novesta Destroyed By Fire Wednesday

A fire, believed to be caused by the spontaneous combustion of wet hay, completely destroyed a barn and granary in Novesta Township Wednesday afternoon.

The buildings were on a farm owned by Wm. Englehart, five miles south and one mile east of Cass City. The property is rented by Clarence Sage, who was working in Pontiac when the fire occurred. Sage's wife and family were at home.

Firemen said the blaze was probably caused by combustion of wet hay in the barn. Flames spread to a near-by granary which also burned to the ground.

The roofs of a chicken house and a wooded adjoining the house were slightly damaged by fire. Elkland Township firemen, called to extinguish the blaze, sprayed both buildings to prevent the fire from spreading.

A brigade of firemen and neighbors were forced to draw water from a pump in the farm yard to bolster the fire-truck supply until more water arrived from a near-by farm.

Although I have no opposition at the Primary Election to be held Tuesday, September 12th, I want the voters of this county to know that I shall appreciate their support. The right to vote is one of your most valuable rights; exercise it.

To Finish Saginaw Valley Flood Control Survey

Construction May Be Delayed Owing to the Present World Conditions

The Saginaw Valley flood control survey will be completed this year, Col. John Bristor, Detroit District engineer, U. S. Army, told more than two hundred residents of Owosso at a meeting there Thursday evening. Plans for a flood control project at Owosso are included in the valley-wide plan, the engineer reported. Although construction cost estimates for necessary flood protective works at Owosso and Cornuna are not yet available, the engineer said he, personally, was of the opinion that the average annual loss of $15,000 was sufficient to justify federal assistance.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by the Saginaw Valley Regional Planning Commission at the request of the army engineers. W. E. Dennison, chairman, reviewed the commission's program since 1948 when Congressional authorization for the survey was obtained by Congressman Fred Crawford. He said the detailed survey was approved by the chief of engineers in October 1948 and had proceeded since without delay and no project in the country of similar size has been completed more rapidly.

Dennison said the army engineers had planned to delay completion of the survey in the Sanilac Flats area until later in order to complete their report by early fall due to the fact construction probably should not get underway until after Frankemuth and Vassar were protected, but the engineers had agreed to complete the entire survey including the Sanilac Flats and submit it to Congress in a single report.

William Hackett, Crawford's secretary, reported that the chief of engineers in Washington had assured the Congressmen recently that the survey would be completed on schedule but construction, should the present world situation continue, might be delayed unless the project could qualify from a national defense standpoint. Dennison pointed out that the project at some locations might qualify from the standpoint of increased food production, flood protection for factories and transportation of defense workers and materials.

At a dinner meeting of the regional commission's executive committee with Col. Bristor, it was decided to hold the next commission meeting on October 3, probably at Frankemuth.

Local Plant Supplies Detroit Ice Cream Co.

Chief producer of powdered and condensed milk for the Wesley Ice Cream Company in Detroit is the Wesley Milk plant at the corner of Maple and Main Sts. in Cass City, according to Harvey Bartle, manager.

The plant is owned by C. Wesley Ebling, veteran Detroit dairy goods producer. A former owner of the Ebling Dairy, he sold his name when he held his business. Upon re-entering the dairy field, he used his middle name, Wesley.

Aside from powdered and condensed milk, the concern also produces butter and skimmed milk, by-products of processing.

Bartle said production methods are much the same as in the treatment of evaporated milk. Raw milk from local farms is trucked to the plant where it is heated at pasteurizing temperatures before condensation.

In the production of powdered milk, moisture is removed by further heating and agitation, leaving the fine yellow-white powder used in ice cream.

COUNTY FARM BUREAU HITS 1950 GOAL

The Tuscola County Farm Bureau has closed its 1950 membership with a total of 1,098 for the year. The county's goal was 1,067.

The four high townships were Akron 134, Columbia 112, Fairgrove 104, Almer 108.

County Organizational Director, Kenneth L. Baur, reports that the 1951 membership drive will begin Dec. 4 and will be conducted on a one-week drive the same as last year.

Promptness in any service doubles its value.

Tuscola Vets Seek Funds from County

The Allied Veterans Council of Tuscola County Monday night authorized a communication to the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors asking that funds be made available for the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Fund. The board has made no budget provision for the past four years, according to Council Chairman Perry DeBoer.

The fund has a balance of only $466, and veterans' claims for relief cannot be met, DeBoer said.

Under state law, boards of supervisors are required to levy one tenth of a mill annually for Soldiers and Sailors Relief and to meet any commitments exceeding that minimum provision. In recent years, relief claims have been negligible and the Tuscola board has not been called upon to make the appropriations.

Council members estimate the minimum levy would provide better than $2,500 annually.

18 Edison Men Completing Work On Street Lamps

Dance Heralds New Lighting on Cass City's Main Street

Detroit Edison crews have been completing the installation of the boulevard lights along Main St. this week by repairing sidewalk holes used to lay electric cable and cementing around the new lamp poles.

A sneak preview of the lights Wednesday morning gave promise that they would begin working condition for the street dance scheduled for Thursday night. The dance was planned to be held before the entire completion of the work so that Edison crews might attend. Music for the square and round dances was to be supplied by Bob Quinn and his Ramblers of station W. L. E. W. Bad Axe.

Local men working on the lighting project are Herbert Anderson, Edw. Billick, Lloyd Finkbeiner, Ansel Goodman, John Kim, Leo Kratz and J. Peters.

Others are G. Smith, E. Schuette, Bill Soddors of Algonac; Wilbur Silvernail, Maurice Taylor, Elwin Spindler, Frank Hablick and Dennis Pace.

Three from Detroit have also been working on the installation. They are Lawrence Rowe, Albert Carson and H. McDarvis, supervisor.

Some of the Detroiters have been living in tents north of the village while working in Cass City.

Construction supervisors are well pleased with the treatment of the working crew by Cass Cityans. Cooperation on the part of the local citizenry was remarkably fine, they said.

Caro Canoeist to Fly Home from the Arctic Circle

W. Emerson Scott, 29, of Caro and Raymond Driessen, 20, of St. Charles, Ill., arrived at the mouth of the MacKenzie River on the Beaufort Sea, according to a letter written and postmarked at Aklavik on Sept. 1. Aklavik is within the Arctic Circle.

The two men set out on the Saginaw River on their 5,000-mile junket April 23 in a heavily laden canoe equipped with an outboard motor. From the Saginaw River, they went through Saginaw Bay to Lake Huron, then through the Sault Ste. Marie locks into Lake Superior, where they headed into Canada.

They plan to fly home. Scott, an outdoorsman and retired secretary of the Tuscola County Red Cross chapter, had dreamed of the 5,000-mile canoe trip to the Arctic Circle for 13 years. He couldn't sell anyone else on the idea, however, until he met young Driessen last spring and found an enthusiastic partner.

Yellow Oleo Damage To State Industry Says Speaker

Wm. Schabel, a representative of the Dairy Action League, said if the manufacture of yellow oleomargarine was legalized by Michigan voters at the November election the state would be given a severe blow industrially and the demand for dairymen's products will be greatly lessened. The change to yellow oleomargarine would effect 600,000 Michigan people industrially, he said.

Mr. Schabel was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon at the New Gordon Hotel on Tuesday. Alger Freiburger was program chairman and the September Rotary Bulletin edited by Willis Campbell were distributed to members.

at the primary election September 12th as a Republican from the 20th District and is willing to stand on his past record.

Since taking the office as Senator January 1, 1947, he has attended every daily Legislative session. He is a member of the committees on elections, highways, insurance, public health and social aid, and has never missed a meeting of any of these committees.

He is in favor of fair taxes but is opposed to higher state tax for the general fund, including the proposed corporation tax, which in the end would be paid by the consumer. He is opposed to taking money from the general fund for highway purposes, as general fund money is collected through sales tax, etc. To be fair, the highways should be financed from gas and weight tax.

His record will prove that he has been in favor of helping the crippled children, tubercular patients, mental cases, blind, and old folks in need. (But he is not in favor of taxing a small home owner to help a lazy chiseler.)

Public welfare must be protected by their State Representatives and Senators, and he has tried to protect the little man; the big fellow has his lobbyist to look after his interest. For an example, the Hittle Bill, which he favored and which was passed, will stop finance corporations from charging 50%, 75% and even more than 100% interest on loans made on automobiles that were bought by the poor man. (The rich man pays cash.)

Prepaid Medical Care Provided For Cows, Dogs

DENVER, COL. — The national veterinary service, incorporated, is earmarked on a trial run of prepaid veterinary care for dogs and cattle in this state. If successful, the organization hopes to expand nationally.

For $12 a year, Rover's owners won't have to worry about veterinary fees within certain limitations which resemble those of medical-care plans for humans.

More important than the canine health service is the plan C. R. Tibbs has for cattle. Tibbs is head of a veterinary supply firm. He worked on his idea for animal health insurance for two years before forming the new service, of which he is president.

Surveys indicate that herds totaling 150,000 head of cattle in Colorado may be signed up. The fee hasn't been determined yet, but it will be considerably less than for dogs. Tibbs expects some 5,000 dog owners to enroll their pets.

Must Pass Health Test

Only dogs between six months and eight years old will be accepted. They will have to pass a health examination and will have a tattooed identification number to keep owners from bringing in nonmembers.

Nearly all the 100 veterinarians in Colorado have agreed to participate. Thus, if Rover gets sick away from home, he can be taken to the nearest vet for prepaid treatment.

The most enthusiastic response has come from stockmen. Twenty-three per cent of 500 questioned indicated that they would join. Many complained of the difficulty of getting a vet to come to their ranches. That turned up the information that vets apparently don't like country life any better than doctors. Thirty per cent of the state's vets live in the Denver area.

Tibbs thinks the plan may cause more vets to locate in isolated areas when enough ranches are in the plan to assure them a living from fixed prepaid fees.

Signed Up By Herds

Cattle will be signed up by herds. Higher fees will be charged for dairy cows than beef animals. Milk giving cows need more medication than cattle raised for steaks.

Horses and swine aren't covered now, but that may come later. The plan won't cover cats. Tibbs says veterinarians don't claim to know enough about feline diseases to promise to keep cats healthy.

The nonprofit organization hopes to finance research into animal diseases, working with federal and state laboratories.

Tibbs claims that the plan, which probably will be known as the "Silver Cross" plan, has historical precedent.

"The original Blue Cross was a health insurance plan for dogs, horses and cattle in England during World War I," he says.

Girls Admit Setting Fire Just to Miss Few Classes

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. — Two 14-year-old girls confessed that they set a million-dollar fire so they could "miss a few days of school."

The girls, Patricia Flaherty and Gay Jean Grant, were caught after they had bet a group of boys 25 cents they could set a similar fire in another school.

The boys raced to the police when they found that the girls had made good on their bet by setting fire to the Lincoln grade school.

The earlier fire destroyed the Central junior high school, where the girls were students.

Police said they readily admitted their guilt.

They told authorities that they went to the junior high school with Arlene Horsley, a 14-year-old companion, and decided to "do something" so they could get out of classes.

First they decided to flood the school and turned on all the showers in the boys' locker room.

But they said that didn't work, so they decided to start a fire. One of them went out to buy a penny box of matches. Arlene got scared and ran home.

Patricia and Gay said they went to a room on the second floor and set fire to a wall map and curtains.

Then they fled, they said, and went home and played phonograph records until they heard the wail of sirens. Then they joined the spectators at the scene.

Hydrogen Bomb Danger Causing 'Undue' Worry

HARTSDALE, N. Y. — Americans are worrying unduly over the danger of a hydrogen bomb being dropped here, because "there is no means of transporting one by air," says John M. Hancock, who helped write the Baruch report on atomic energy.

Hancock told the Scarsdale Town club's annual dinner that "a hydrogen bomb can't be carried around in a package." He said the mechanism required to set off a hydrogen bomb prohibits its use as "we think of bombing."

Hancock was an alternate when Bernard M. Baruch was a delegate to the United Nations atomic energy commission in 1946.

Careful, Colonel!

To disobey a command of a colonel is to invite disaster, as many a green rookie had learned.

One morning on a tour of inspection a colonel stopped at the kitchen of one of the companies in his command, where he met two K.P.'s with a large soup kettle.

"Here, you K.P.," he bellowed. "Let me taste that soup." One of the men hurried back after a large spoon, which he handed respectfully to the colonel.

The officer plunged the ladle into the pot, took a mouthful of the steaming liquid, and smacked his lips critically. Then he let out a howl that could be heard at G.H.Q. half a mile away.

"Soup, you blasted fool, do you call that soup?" he roared.

"No, sir, colonel, that's just some dish water we was carrying out."

'Once Over' Seedbed Operation Cuts Cost New Method Eliminates Extra Tillage Steps

Giving the soil a "once-over" seedbed preparation can help cut down crop production costs by eliminating extra tillage steps while still maintaining high yields, according to Michigan State College agronomists.

The agronomists found that plowing, packing and planting in one operation produced as high yields of small grains, sugar beets and corn on soil of good tilth, as did conventional seedbed preparation that included double disking and spike-tooth harrowing.

The "once-over" method permitted quicker planting, because less time was needed to get seed into the ground. It means a saving in time, labor and tractor fuel. Two disking and two harrowing operations were eliminated. Another advantage was that the soil had greater water storage capacity, for the tilth was not broken down by excessive tillage.

Illustrated above is the "once over" method of plowing, packing and planting that can save many farmers high production costs.

Maintaining tilth is vital in crop production, these agronomists say, because loose, grainy soils give a good contact between the soil and the seed. That makes it easier for roots to reach plant nutrients, air and water.

X-Disease Appears Among Illinois Cattle

A comparatively new disease, hyperkeratosis, or x-disease, has been recognized in 37 or more states, the Journal of American Veterinary Medical Association reports.

Reports indicate that, in some sections, herds have been decimated and dispersed because of the effects of the disease. This has happened in few instances in Illinois, but in the southern states the disease apparently has assumed a more malignant form and constitutes a more serious problem than elsewhere.

The morbidity, while unpredictable, may be high. Young cattle appear to be more susceptible than older ones and the death rate among them is higher. While in the U. S. bureau of animal industry report, beef cattle were more frequently involved than dairy animals, the disease has been seen almost equally among the two types in Illinois.

The cause, as indicated by the name "x-disease", is unknown.

The U. S. department of agriculture reports a decrease in farm population from 1910 to 1950 of over four million. From 1916 to 1930, the number of persons living on farms decreased each year except during the recession years of the early 1920's and during 1933.

In the depression of the early 30's farm population rose rapidly, totaling 32.0 million in 1933. The principal reason for this increase was a cutting down of migration away from farms. After 1933, the number of persons on farms decreased yearly through 1945.

During World War II the rate of decrease grew as large numbers of people left farms for the cities or went into the armed forces. By 1946 only 25.2 million persons lived on farms.

After the war, farm population increased substantially for two years, but since then, the changes have been slight. Farm population appears to have leveled off about half-way between its prewar size and the wartime low.

Electric Water Pump Saves Many Pump Pains

The Rural Electrification administration reports that next to lighting, water pumping is possibly the most valuable farm use of electricity. On many farms, five cents worth of electricity will pump and deliver 1,000 gallons of water to its place of use.

More and more farm families are realizing how much time is spent pumping water and are converting to the use of electricity.

This Article Gives Advice To Farmers on Fly Control

Begin fly control as soon as flies appear. If you wait for a heavier population, the early flies will lay eggs and produce even more flies.

There are several different kinds of flies, including the house fly, horn fly, stable fly, horse fly and heel fly. Both the house fly and horn fly can be controlled easily with chemical sprays, while it is difficult to protect cattle from the stable fly and horse fly with sprays. Heel flies can best be controlled by using rotenone to kill the grubs.

Good sanitation is the first step to controlling flies. Keep barns and premises clean, eliminate rotting straw, and remove manure once or twice a week.

All cattle, except cows being milked or beef animals to be slaughtered within 30 days, may be sprayed with 50 percent wettable DDT, at a rate of eight pounds to a 100 gallons of water. Milking cows, and beef animals may be sprayed safely with 50 percent wettable methoxychlor at the same rate.

The first spray application to buildings should be made at the beginning of the fly season and be repeated as often as necessary. In addition to barns, spray all outside surfaces where flies rest. This includes board fences, posts, sides of buildings, around manure piles, hog houses, chicken houses, outside toilets and feeding sheds. If DDT is used for spraying buildings, care must be taken not to contaminate feed or water to be consumed by animals. Methoxychlor is the safer insecticide to use inside dairy barns. If DDT is used in the dairy barn, Parks makes the following cautions: Sweep or spray down all cobwebs and dust before applying; do not allow it to come in contact with feed, mangers or water, and apply the spray in the morning so it may dry thoroughly before cattle are brought into the barn at night.

New Drug for Asthma Relief Shows Promise During Tests

A new drug for combating asthma has shown "marked promise" in preliminary laboratory tests and is now on clinical trial.

The drug, known chemically as 1-(3,4-dihydroxyphenyl)-2-amino-1-butanol, will not be available for the treatment of asthma sufferers in general until its value has been determined conclusively in clinical tests.

The compound is described as a "bronchodilator," meaning that it produces expansion of the bronchial tubes and hence gives relief from bronchial asthma, which is a spasmodic contraction of the bronchia.

The new drug differs from previous compounds of this type in being unusually free of side effects. The drug is a member of a family of chemical compounds known as "sympathetic amines." This group includes epinephrine, which checks local hemorrhages and relieves shock; ephedrine, used in treatment of asthma and hay fever; and amphetamine, which stimulates the nerves of the blood vessels.

As soon as supplies are adequate, the new drug will be widely available for study by physicians.

Hypnotized Subjects
Hypnotism is a well-recognized state, resembling ordinary sleep, which can be induced by the suggestions and operations of the hypnotist. The hypnotized subject becomes extremely co-operative with the hypnotist, and very anxious to please him. It has been thought that a person's senses are much keener under hypnosis than in the waking state. However, psychologists now believe that the feats of strength and perception that can be performed by a hypnotized person could also be done in his normal condition, provided he was willing and able to make the necessary very great effort.

"Eye for Color"
The ladies have a better eye for color, no matter what the men say about gift-neckties. Faulty color vision occurs in about ten times as many men as women.

Onions
Soups made with onions rank high in favorite food dishes, while many stews, souffles, salads, and sandwiches call for this vegetable.

The thing that makes fish stories so exasperating is that even if they're true no one believes them.

CANDIDATE FOR THE REPUBLICAN
NOMINATIONSTATE
REPRESENTATIVE

TUSCOLA COUNTY

In just a few days, voters of this county will select the Republican nominee who, if elected, will represent them in the Michigan State Legislature for the next two years.

I have submitted my name for re-nomination and re-election on the basis of my record during the past few years while I have had the privilege of representing you.

Truthfully, I can say that I have tried hard to watch over the agricultural interests of the county, and at the same time pay attention to the needs of the state as a whole.

I have been appointed by the Speaker of the House to serve on many committees in the past, and now am on what is considered the most important committee—that of "Ways and Means"—whose members hold no other committee assignments.

If my past record persuades the voters to return me to Lansing I can promise close attention to their business, as in the past.

I shall hope, and be grateful, for your votes for this important position, and hope that all voters will go to the polls so that the best possible expression of the will of the majority will be secured.

JAMES KIRK.

Secret Service Men Finally Nab Fugitive Counterfeit Expert

CHICAGO. — After a 12-year search of hotels, libraries, railroad stations and stores, U. S. secret service agents have arrested a counterfeit expert who allegedly made his money in the winter and spent it in the summer.

Agent Henry Anheiler reported the arrest of Hugu Hedin, 37, a Swedish alien, on charges of making and possessing counterfeit money. He described Hedin as a "lone wolf" who had been trailed by agents working in relays until he was found in a two-room Chicago apartment with paper and plates for bank notes.

"I knew you'd get me sooner or later," agents quoted him.

Anheiler said Hedin was convicted at Detroit in 1927 on a counterfeit charge, served in prison until 1930, and in 1938 came to Chicago and was believed to have started making notes again.

Agents said the notes allegedly made by Hedin were difficult even for banks to detect.

Hedin was unmarried and worked alone, agents said. He never stayed long in one place. Agents who were trailing him sometimes sat beside him at libraries and watched him read books on metals and papers, but never could find him with evidence.

Last November, however, they discovered that he had invented some real estate in Grayslake, Ill. When he wrote to a real-estate agent about delinquent payments, they closed in, following him to a hotel in St. Louis and finally to Chicago.

Anheiler said Hedin was working on a plate for a $5 note when agents entered his hideout, and that they found 10 other plates and paper for 100 notes in his rooms.

Family Radio May Soon Become Mosquito-Killer

NEW YORK. — The family radio soon may be used to kill mosquitoes—and not with commercials, either.

Just broadcast the song of the female mosquito, amplified a million times. Male mosquitoes, lured by the siren song, come swarming and are burned to a crisp on an electrical grille covering the loud-speaker of the radio.

Dr. Morton C. Kahn, associate professor of public health at Cornell university medical college, says that on a recent trip to Cuba he conducted an experiment in the center of a vast mosquito filled bog. The female voice, broadcast over giant loud-speakers, attracted every male mosquito within a one mile radius. They perished on a charged grille.

There's one little hitch, however. Females, probably being smarter, aren't drawn by the call of the male mosquito.

It's the female mosquito that causes humans all the trouble. (The male mosquito's beak is not strong enough to pierce the human skin.)

Man Without Any Arms Plays Back on Piano

CHICAGO.—A man who had lost both arms played back and boogie-woogie on the piano in a motion picture, and surgeons applauded his performance.

Dr. Henry Kessler, West Orange, N. J., told the American Association of Railway Surgeons the performance by an unnamed patient shows what can be accomplished when a person is taught properly to use artificial hands.

The doctor said he thought the man "was joking" when he first came to his rehabilitation institute in New Jersey and announced he wanted to play the piano.

Kessler said that after the man learned routine dexterity, such as tying a shoe, the amputee was fitted with two special pairs of metal fingers which he learned to spread to cover a wide range of notes.

The doctor said it was not enough to give a man an artificial appliance and turn him loose.

"He must be taught how to use it, after being psychologically prepared," Dr. Kessler said.

Homing Pigeon Homes Only to Young Owner

STANTON - BY - BRIDGE, ENGLAND.—Ivy Aucote, 11, has a homing pigeon which is different.

Instead of homing to his pigeon cote as a homing pigeon should, he homes to Ivy—wherever she is.

The pigeon, named Joey, is six months old. He was let out of his cage to exercise about two hours after Ivy had left for school.

He whizzed off and joined her in the classroom, two and one-half miles away in Melbourne. He since has repeated the stunt twice. He also finds Ivy when she's stopping in Melbourne.

E. L. Hunt, a member of the council of Great Britain's national homing union, told newsmen:

"One or two similar cases have been heard of before. In some birds the ability to 'home' in this fashion is developed to an extraordinary degree and is unexplainable."

Know the value of time, seize and enjoy every moment of it.

All "Figgered" Out

When a village idiot blossomed out all of a sudden in new clothes, the neighbors wondered at his prosperity.

"What's happened to you?" asked one of them.

"I won the first prize in the lottery," he answered.

"How did you come to guess the lucky number?"

"Well, three times running I dreamed of seven; so I figured it out that three times seven are 24, and I bought ticket number 24. It won the first prize."

"Why, you blamed fool, three times seven is 21, not 24."

"Gosh, is that so?" said the village idiot. "Well, 24 won, anyway."

Hoarding, says a writer, is simply the old selfish human instinct raising its ugly head.

Economists List Custom Rates for Corn Picking Job

Farmers planning to pay for custom work in their corn harvest or do custom harvesting for others can get a pretty good idea of average rates for this year from rates charged in the past two years. Michigan State College agricultural economists expect only slight changes from rates reported in an extensive survey in 1948.

Custom rates for picking corn were reported for both 1 and 2-row pickers. The 2-row pickers were used chiefly in the southern part of the state.

The most common rates for 1-row pickers were $5 per acre or per hour. Farmers reported lower rates for 2-row pickers but only on an acre basis. The most common rate was $4. Some farmers reported furnishing one or two wagons with the picker, but the custom rates were about the same with or without wagons.

Custom rates for field chopping of corn were given only on an hourly basis. Most common rates were listed as $8 an hour for chopper and blower with one or two men, two wagons and one tractor; and $9 an hour if two tractors were used. Rate for two or three men with wagons or trucks and two tractors was $10 an hour.

The MSC economists emphasize that these charges are those most commonly reported. Rates will vary according to such working factors as field conditions, going wage rates in the area, and type of equipment used.

REPUBLICANS of MICHIGAN....

Let's ask ourselves a fair question
..... Which of Our Candidates for Governor can defeat
Williams in the November Election?

THE ANSWER IS SIMPLE:

In winning re-election as Secretary of State in 1948, Fred Alger led the Republican ticket with 1,043,913 votes in the face of a Democratic landslide. THINK THAT OVER between now and election day . . . and remember this . . . it will take youth to win . . . Alger is young. It will take a vote getter to win . . . and Alger has proved his vote getting ability. Make no mistake . . . Fred Alger is the one man among our candidates for Governor who can bring us victory in November.

Let's not waste our valuable votes on a candidate who hasn't a chance to win the election. Let's get together and nominate the one man who has everything it takes to beat Williams! Youth . . . vigor . . . an honest record . . . and the proven ability to get votes . . . WITH FRED ALGER WE CAN WIN AN IMPORTANT REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN NOVEMBER!

To the citizens of Sanilac County:

It has been impossible during the campaign now drawing to a close for me to personally contact all the voters of the county. I could not have done so without neglecting the duties of my office.

The office of Prosecuting Attorney is an important County office. In addition to the prosecution of criminal offenses the prosecutor represents the county in all civil litigation and is the legal advisor of all other county officials and the Board of Supervisors.

During the time I have served as your Prosecuting Attorney I have endeavored to perform these duties in a capable and impartial manner. If renominated and re-elected I shall continue so to do.

This campaign has been cleanly conducted. It will be so conducted by me until it is over. This is the last issue of this newspaper before the primary. It will therefore be impossible for me to answer in this newspaper any issues not already raised.

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking the people of Sanilac County for their support in the past. It is my earnest hope that you will again extend that support to me at the Republican Primary Election, on September 12th.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES W. RIGNEY,
Prosecuting Attorney.

How to Find God

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"IN THESE frightening times," writes Betty McCoy from Salt Lake City, "I want to find God, for myself and for my children. It is terrifying to have to bring them up in a world where everything is so difficult and so uncertain."

"Life must have been safer and simpler a few generations ago, but all that science has done, in demolishing time, space, domestic drudgery and epidemics, in providing inexhaustible entertainment, motor cars, telephones, electric equipment, radio, is to have complicated the whole scheme and made things worse than ever."

"Gene and I," the letter continues, "have no foolish hope of making the future secure for the children, or attempting to predict what the future will be. What we hope now is to prepare them for whatever may come, and have them accept it courageously. And if we, and they, could find God, would that not be the greatest of all possible safeguards?"

Church Has No Meaning
"I don't mean just going to church and Sunday School," writes Betty, "I've had that, and it never has meant anything to me. My people, and Gene's too, were religious in a lifeless, polite sort of way, and they weren't one bit better than the neighbors who never went near a church. My brothers are good men and successful men, and they long ago dropped all pretense of believing in anything spiritual, or rather believing in the churches as necessary."

"But they, like my husband, do actually believe in God, though they don't say much about it. What puzzles us is what to give, what to tell our children, who are now 8, 6, and 2. If we are going to tell them the story of a Leader Whose law is love, forgiveness, meekness, sharing, then how can we defend our own lives or all the lives of the other church-going people who give an hour a week to a sort of courtesy call on God, and show absolutely no difference in any other way, going right on with law suits, scandals and money-seeking materialism?"

Betty, the answer is as simple as sunlight, as simple as the rolling waves of the sea. But just because it is so near, so tremendous and so easy, it is hard to find, and every human soul must make that search alone. If we had had better leaders, all during the long years since Jesus Christ preached His doctrine, we should not be so puzzled now.

A Worthwhile Speaker
One of the country's most distinguished advisers on matters social and psychopathic talks on the radio sometimes to the late afternoon. All I know of him is that he is a scientist, a lecturer, a teacher and a writer on this subject. He is always worth hearing, and one thing he said recently especially impressed me. He said that America must not forget that in all her history she has had one mighty ally, the one whose guidance has made her what she is.

That ally is God. His name is incorporated in our great documents of state, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, our legal contracts, our court oaths. We turned to Him in our very beginnings, and we are not ashamed to state on the very currency for which men work, that our trust was in Him. If we leave Him out of our future national and international dealings, we are cheating our children indeed.

And the way to find Him? The old way, the old promise. Ask and ye shall receive.

Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alleman

As preparedness is emphasized throughout the State, Michigan moves its machinery along to recruit 1,500 air raid spotters. Detroit's defense will be tested in October with a simulated atomic bombing of key installations.

Michigan will have fewer physicians and dentists in the near future. Congress is enacting legislation to draft needed medical men for military hospitals. Forecast at Washington: Lifting of selective service ban on drafting of married men, 19 through 25.

The legislature's economy program did not anticipate K-Day and resultant inflation. (Note: Wholesale prices index soared 20 per cent in 60 days). University of Michigan's President Ruthven warned legislators that the low operating budget ($11.5 million instead of $15.8 asked) has resulted in its "worst crisis in 50 years." Employees are demanding higher wages recently granted by GM, Chrysler, Packard.

Meanwhile the political scene moves along as usual. Mud-slinging has been at a minimum thus far. But Republican Fred Alger now says Governor Williams has been creating disharmony in Michigan to win re-election. Mrs. Williams, in turn, states the Republicans believe in government for the few.

A move may be made, according to political seers, to slip Detroit's John Gibson on the 1950 Democratic slate in the hope his popularity with the CIO will weld the big union to the Democratic fold this fall.

If the war picture is discouraging, Michigan's fall crops, at least, are booming with beaming reports from all sectors. Only major exception in the field of plenty is the prospective field-bean harvest.

And car dealers have been warned that competition is near again despite possible shortages. J. C. Doyle, central regional manager of the Ford Motor Co., tells them: "You have been given a reprieve (from competition) but it's a temporary reprieve... this is not a business for the next few months but for the future."

The value of your dollar is still going down—with scare buying playing the villain's role in the trend. Not by hoarders in retail stores, according to Wall Street, but by merchants, wholesalers and manufacturers who have flooded primary sources of commodities with anticipatory orders.

An American Legion official at the convention in Grand Rapids in asking for universal military training says: "The Neck of the United States is lying on the chopping block just like a Thanksgiving turkey." He demanded immediate and complete preparedness for national defense.

Mirror of a possible labor shortage in Michigan are MUCC figures showing unemployment compensation benefits have dipped to the lowest point since World War II. Only 21,846 persons were on MUCC roles at last muster. Lowest figure (during World War II) is 6,900.

Michigan game bird hunters have been promised better shooting next fall. State conservation wildlife survey indicates the quack pheasant population is up 35 percent.

And the hog is helping the conservation department now. The job turned over to the pigs is to root up sod in woodlots so nuts and fruit-bearing trees and shrubs can seed themselves better.

Timely question: To what extent will the Korean crisis affect the voters' preference of Republican candidates for governor in the Sept. 12 primary? It's difficult to concentrate on Michigan politics when war headlines jam the front page and dominate the radio.

Oscar G. Olander, former state police commissioner, is being advanced at Lansing for civilian defense director. The legislature has set aside $362,945 for defense activities. Michigan state police would be called upon to enforce new subversive controls.

A good many men of letters spend a fortune trying to get some of them back.

A man who is always in a stew usually goes to pot.

Is There Any Substitute for Experience?

Edmund Miller.

As announced previously, I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Drain Commissioner of Tuscola County at the primary election September 12.

During the six years that I have been commissioner it is undoubtedly true that more drain work has been done in the county than in any previous period of the same length.

During this time, work on 104 drains has been done, for a total of 330 miles. This work includes new construction, deepening, widening, and cleaning out. I have acted on petitions from every township in the county, and have been careful to divide the work among all the townships on the basis of proven need for the drain work.

This amount of work has, I believe, given me experience which is valuable to you residents of the county as your drain "hired man."

Because of this training in the job, I raise the question; "Is there any substitute for experience?"

It is true that most voters will agree with that, and I hope to receive your votes.

But the only time that a vote means anything is when it is actually put into the ballot box.

So I ask all those who want to continue an experienced public servant in office to GO TO THE POLLS TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, AND CAST YOUR VOTE FOR THE UNDERSIGNED FOR DRAIN COMMISSIONER.

Yours for continued good service,

EDMUND MILLER

Nothing Trivial

A teacher was making a strenuous effort to get good attendance in her room. Looking over her class one morning, she saw that all except one were in their places.

"This is fine," she exclaimed, "all here except Jimmie Jones; and let us hope that it is something serious which keeps him away."

Only When Necessary

"Dear Teacher," wrote an indignant mother, "You must not whack Tommy. He is a delicate child and isn't used to it. We never hit him at home except in self-defense."

FOLLOWING DIRECTIONS

"Why did you throw the pot of geraniums at the plaintiff?"

"Because of an advertisement, your honor."

"What advertisement?"

"Say it with flowers."

NEW VALUATION

"I see she's let her hair go dark again."

"Yes—off the gold standard."

Always Happens

Magistrate: "But why did you break into the dress shop four nights running?"

Defendant: "I got a new dress for my wife and she made me go back and change it three times."

Better Hurry

"Jim, why don't you get married?"

"Well, my trouble is that every day I get more particular and less desirable."

It sounds contradictory, but many of the fairer sex keep themselves thin so they will carry more weight with the men.

Pack an Easily Carried Lunch Box (See Recipes Below)

Have a Picnic!

PACK YOURSELF a basket of fun and good eating with a well planned, easily carried picnic lunch if you plan to trek out-of-doors to have your meal.

Many will tell you that picnic lunches don't satisfy because they're better sounding than they are eating. Others tell you they always forget the salt, pepper, forks or napkins, while still others maintain that something always spills or is too bulky to carry easily.

If you take as much care planning the picnic lunch as you do a meal at home, it can be not only good but well balanced so that it doesn't leave you uncomfortable. With modern aids, you can pack many things in lightweight containers that are easy to carry and spill proof, too.

It's not necessary to forget anything if you have a basket or hamper that's fitted with table accessories such as complete table settings. Keep salt, pepper and sugar in the basket, and you won't forget them. Make a list of the menu and check off each item as you pack, and this will eliminate forgetting other essentials.

SANDWICHES ARE favorites of every picnic lunch. Butter the bread thoroughly so that the filling does not soak through. Wrap each sandwich carefully in waxed paper so it doesn't dry, and you'll enjoy them. Here are some excellent fillings:

Banana-Pineapple Special (Makes 3 sandwiches)

1 banana
1-2 tablespoons real mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
4-6 slices date-nut bread
6-8 pineapple chunks

Mash banana and mix with mayonnaise until of good spreading consistency. Add lemon juice. Spread on bread and top with pineapple. Cover with bread.

Bacon-Egg Sandwich (Makes 4)

12 strips bacon, cut
4 eggs, beaten
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 cup finely chopped celery
¼ teaspoon salt
4 large buns

Fry bacon until crisp. Pour off fat. Add eggs, vegetables and salt. Scramble mixture while it cooks. Serve on toasted, buttered buns.

Ham-Potato Sandwich (Makes 6)

6 hamburger buns
¼ cup soft butter
12 lettuce leaves
12 slices boiled ham or Bologna
1½ cups potato salad
6 slices tomato, if desired

Cut buns in half and spread with butter. Place a lettuce leaf and a slice of ham on each bun half. On the bottom half of each sandwich, place ¼ cup potato salad and one tomato slice. Cover with top half of bun.

LYNN SAYS: These Picnic Tips Make Eating Fun

Next supper picnic you have, bring hot soup for a first course. It will carry safely in your thermos. You will find that hot cream soup is very welcome, especially if the other dishes are cold salads and sandwiches.

Layer cakes are not easy to carry to picnics. Bake the cake in an oblong pan, frost, and carry in the same pan.

Don't let anyone tell you that every man who fails to make

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

Hearty Chicken Sandwich (Makes 6)

1 cup chopped, cooked chicken
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
¼ cup salad dressing
¼ teaspoon salt
6 Vienna rolls
¼ cup soft butter
6 lettuce leaves

Combine chicken, celery, green pepper, salad dressing and salt. Cut rolls in half lengthwise and spread with butter. Spread chicken salad on lower half of rolls. Top with lettuce leaf, then cover with roll top.

These ham and egg roll-ups are sandwich like, but require no bread. They make excellent nibbling on a picnic:

Ham and Egg Roll-Ups (Makes 8)

2 slices Swiss or American cheese
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
3 tablespoons real mayonnaise
1 teaspoon mustard-with-horseradish
Dash of Worcestershire sauce
3 ham slices
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut cheese in half. Chop hard-cooked eggs and add mayonnaise, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper. Place strips of cheese on bread board and top with ham slice. Spread egg mixture in center of ham. Roll up tightly. Wrap in waxed paper.

THEY WHO LIKE hot food on the picnic spot will be interested to know that small size cans, eight-ounce size, are available now for the first time, of food favorites.

To make a balanced meal, plan to have a tossed salad which can be carried in a jar or a lightweight, unbreakable bowl that comes fitted with a cover. As dessert you might pack some fresh fruit and simple cakes, baked in paper cups, with a baked on frosting that won't get messy in transport.

HERE IS A SALAD ideal for the picnic:

"Tossed Garden Salad" (Serves 4)

2 cucumbers, sliced
10 radishes, sliced
½ cup sliced green onions
1 bunch watercress or other greens, separated
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup shredded raw carrots
½ cup shredded cabbage
¼ teaspoon salt

French dressing

Toss vegetables together in a bowl with the salt and French dressing. If desired, the bowl may be rubbed with a split clove of garlic.

Cooling drinks are much in demand as picnic fare. Mix together some apricot nectar and pineapple juice with gingerale and ice cubes and place in the thermos. The beverage will be deliciously cold and refreshing, as well as ready to serve.

Chill whole melons thoroughly before taking to the picnic, and wrap in several layers of newspaper with ice. Place in dishpan or bucket for easy transport to the picnic grounds.

USDA TUSCOLA COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE

Directors from the Thumb Sheep Breeders Association will meet at Marquette on September 12 to make plans for the annual fall ram sale which will be held at the Marquette Stockyards on October 5. Reid Kirk and County Agricultural Agent Loren S. Armbruster will represent Tuscola County at the directors' meeting.

Livestock feeders are informed to reserve September 28 for a meeting on feeding situation and outlook on livestock feeding. Wilton Findlay and Don Stark from Michigan State College will explain and outline the program.

The September board meeting of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District directors will be held in the courthouse on September 11. The directors will begin to plan for the annual meeting, discuss the soil conservation awards banquet which will be held in Frankenmuth on September 26 and make tentative plans for a regional directors' meeting. The board will also discuss in more detail group planning in order to get more soil conservation to the farmer and on the land.

Hessian fly free date is September 15 for the Tuscola County area.

Tuscola County ABA secretaries and inseminator-managers will meet in the Caro courthouse on September 12. F. D. Knipping, field supervisor of the Michigan Artificial Breeding Cooperative, and Agent Armbruster will discuss and explain new developments in artificial breeding. Tuscola County has five organizations in operation with well over 6,000 cows now serviced artificially.

At special ceremonies during the State 4-H Show at Michigan State College, one hundred and fifty-four 4-H club leaders were honored for their years of voluntary service as leaders, announces Byron E. Carpenter, Tuscola County 4-H Club Agent. Mrs. Iris Opperman of Vassar received the pearl pin for 15 years as a 4-H club leader in the county. One emerald award for 25 years' service and 12 diamond pins for 20 years of service were awarded. Gold pins were presented to 107 leaders for 10 years of leadership and pearl pins to 35 for 15 years.

"Hot" Lacquer Process

A patent has been developed which covers the application of lacquers at elevated temperatures—for example 150° to 180° Fahrenheit. By means of this novel technique, which has attracted widespread interest, lacquer containing much larger proportions of solids than has before been possible can be applied by spray.

Beautiful Grounds

Throughout the country the "Plant America" program is gaining momentum. Every person can aid in this program to improve the landscape.

"You look sweet enough to eat," he whispered soft and low.

"I am," said she quite hungrily.

"Where do you want to go?"

PRECAUTION

"I hold in my hand here a bright and shining silver dollar," announced the candidate to a group of young Americans. "That dollar goes to the lad who is level-headed enough to belong to the same party as I do."

Then turning to a bright-eyed urchin at his left, he asked:

"What's your politics, son?"

"What's yours?" piped the young opportunist.

Fair Play

The two beginners were playing golf. The next green was 300 yards away and over numerous hazards.

One shut his eyes and took a lusty swing. By a freak of chance he connected with the ball and sent it sailing for the green. It bounded directly into the cup for a hole in one.

"You've made a hole in one, exclaimed the other in an awed voice.

"I'll wager two to one I could do it again," bragged the first.

"Okay," grunted his friend, "it's a wager—but on one condition."

"Sure," agreed the confident one.

"What's the condition?"

"This time," said the other, "You've got to make the shot with your eyes open!"

What a Whole Set?

The millionaire, whose daughter the young man had just saved, was insistent that he accept a cash reward. Finally, to save an embarrassing situation, our hero said casually:

"Well, if you insist, just give me a golf club."

A week later he received a telegram from the father:

"Have bought for you the West-end Golfer's club, and am now negotiating for the Sunnyside Links."

Thinking of the Long Pull?

Better Buy Buick!

If that car of yours has put its best days behind it, there's no time like right now to think about starting out afresh with a taut, new, up-to-the-minute motorcar with all its mileage still in it.

And there's no better place in the world to start than with the beauty pictured here, for a variety of reasons.

For one thing, this Buick SPECIAL is a quick-stepping Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight that's priced lower than some sixes.

For another, it's built with typical Buick ruggedness through and through—a husky that can take a lot of years without crying "Uncle!"

Then, too—this high-styled beauty is proving to be one of the most economical Buicks ever built—easy on gas, easy on upkeep, easy on you in its soft, floating, light-handling comfort.

It even comes with Dynaflo Drive* if you like—and Dynaflo means that you will never have to service or replace a friction clutch, and that rear-end or transmission servicing—even engine upkeep—are cut to a minimum.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Of course, you can't see all of this in the brief span of a trial drive.

But you can experience the good solid feel of Buick strength beneath you. You can satisfy yourself on the lightness of the controls, the utter smoothness of Dynaflo, the quick surge of Buick's Fireball power.

All such things will tell you that this is a car you'll be glad to live with for a long time to come—and you need only to ask your Buick dealer for a demonstration to see precisely what we mean.

Why not call on him soon to talk about signing up?

Grow Clean Plants
Many destructive vegetable diseases may be avoided by growing seedlings in soil free from disease-causing organisms. One way is to use clean soil and the other way is to treat the soil with formaldehyde.

PLANS FOR SAGINAW FAIR NEAR COMPLETION

Plans for the 1950 Saginaw Fair are rapidly nearing completion. Major alterations have been made in many of the exhibit buildings and new construction is being rushed to get ready for the opening.

Alterations to buildings, which have been carefully planned to provide more exhibit space and better arrangement of displays, should add to the enjoyment and interest of the fair visitors.

A new western style corral is expected to be popular with the livestock judges and exhibitors of farm animals. Plans call for many interesting programs to be presented there. Rustic bleachers are provided along the shady north side of the corral for the comfort of those who take pleasure in watching the stock judging.

An addition has been made to the administration building to speed up and streamline the many activities centered around the office and to provide more space for the increased office staff. Despite the fact that entry offices and other departmental functions have been taken out of the main office and placed in the exhibit buildings, the fair, with its many phases, has outgrown the main office.

Lawrence Buehrly was chosen president; Rev. Roy J. Striffler, vice president; and Mrs. Wilma Fry, secretary-treasurer.

Spring Burning

Spring burning does not control weeds. Weed seeds already are in the soil and burning makes an ideal seedbed for the weed crop.

Prosperity too often brings adversity to men and nations.

Colors Play Prominent Role In Naming Earth's Features

Hundreds of rivers and creeks around the globe are called red, black, or yellow. There are mountains, canyons, lakes, bays, and islands in many lands and many languages whose names add up to the rainbow's hue.

The names linger long after their origins become obscure. Thus, conflicting versions of place name origins often arise.

The Red river of the north, some historians hold, translates the American Indian name, misquik-sagagan. The literal meaning is bloody river, apropos of battles on its banks. Others contend that the Red and its tributary, the Red Lake river, Red Lake county, and town, all took their name from northern Minnesota's Red lake—named by Indians when they saw a sunset reflected in its placid surface.

On the Mississippi, not far from the Red river's mouth, the French in 1700 came to the Indian camp at Istouma. The name meant red pest, and referred to a marker between tribal hunting lands. Translating it to their language, the French called it—Baton Rouge.

To the west, Juan de Onate, in 1598, marched north from Mexico. He came to a ruddy river and so named it in Spanish—Colorado. Its tributary, the Green, flows through long stretches of green shale. In turn, the Green's tributary, the White, flows between white canyon cliffs.

A haze that characterizes the two chains is responsible for the names of the Blue Ridge mountains and the Great Smokies. Dark pine woods account for color that names the Black hills of South Dakota. New Hampshire's White mountains have bare summits of white granite. Were they named in summer for the rocks, or in a season when capped with snow?

New Building to Be Used To Study Earthquake Effect

For the first time a building will be used as a research tool in a major study of the effects of earthquakes and everyday strain on structural design.

The building is the new engineering structure of the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

In the foundations, supporting columns and girders of the building are buried an assortment of instruments which will measure these effects.

The battery of devices starts at 32 feet underground beneath the tons of steel and concrete in the foundations. It continues up a supporting column to the second floor and across a girder supporting the floor. Included in the group of instruments are Carlson strainmeters, SR-4 strain gauges, pressure gauges, a seismograph and an oscillograph. The strainmeters will measure the strain on concrete. The strain gauges will register strain on structural steel and pressure gauges will tell what portions of the foundations bear the most weight.

These instruments will be connected to an oscillograph, which will automatically record information from the various devices. A seismograph connected to the oscillograph, will immediately start recording data from the various instruments, when there is an earthquake in the vicinity.

Antarctica Now "Inhabited"

Six nations—Great Britain, France, Norway, Australia, Chile, and Argentina—moved to establish permanent bases on the fringe of vast ice-draped Antarctica during 1949. Britain began operations to rescue 11 men of the Falkland Islands dependencies survey marooned by pack ice for two years at its southernmost base in Graham Land. The survey, continuous since 1943, is chiefly meteorological, Norway, Britain, and Sweden launched a three nation, two-year expedition to Queen Maud Land on the Antarctica continent opposite Africa's Cape of Good Hope. The scientists will explore ice-free areas reported in the interior, prospect for minerals, and make long-term climatic observations.

Garden Trouble

Extremes in weather conditions may encourage various garden troubles. Heavy rains may pack the soil. Careful and frequent cultivation and use of straw or rotted manure mulch may help preserve proper soil physical conditions. Humid days and nights may boost fungus disease development. Timely and proper application of fungicides should help control these. The succulent growth of young plants invites aphids, cutworms, various beetles and other garden pests. For controls of these, an insecticide or poison should be selected with respect to the feeding habits of the insect pest causing trouble.

"Dainty" Diet

When you order the blue-plate vegetarian special with whole wheat toast, you may think you are dining daintily. Actually, you are munching like a zoo-fed gorilla. This lumbering jungle beast's food differs from that of a diet-conscious woman only in quantity. He rounds off his daily 20 or more pounds of vegetables, fruit salad, and whole wheat bread with about three quarts of milk.

Prudence, like experience, must be paid for.

McComb Family Held Reunion Labor Day

The annual McComb reunion was held Labor Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Haley in Cass City. A bountiful dinner, games and visiting were enjoyed after which a short business meeting was held and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Phyllis Hennessey; secretary, Wm. Bell; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Burns.

Prizes were presented to the oldest member, John Haley, and to the youngest member present, little Miss Linda Boulton.

Out-of-town relatives attended from Detroit, Trenton, Almont, Auburn Heights, Berkley, Saginaw and Pigeon.

The next reunion will be on Labor Day of 1951 at a county park near Caro.

DON'T LET SCHOOL BELLS SOUND DEATH KNEEL FOR CHILD

The State Safety Commission's program this month.

Another important part of the program, Marshal Otto said, will be devoted to acquainting the public with the record of the young drivers as a group, and how this record can be improved.

"Traffic safety education," Marshal Otto said, "is not a thing that we can arbitrarily end with the student's fourth, eighth, or twelfth year of formal education. Adult—so-called 'mature'—drivers themselves have much to learn about traffic safety; so the process is obviously a never-ending one. Instruction early in a child's life, however, will do much to make things safer for him, and in 10 or 20 years when he is of driving age, for all of us."

Using the slogan, "Watch out for kids," the State Safety Commission hopes to convince all adults that their teachings may mean the difference between life or death for some youngster.
