

New Publishers Take Possession of Chronicle in March

Arrangements have been made for the transfer of the Cass City Chronicle to John Haire of Wyandotte and E. J. LaPorte of Pinconning. The new owners will take possession next week.

Mr. LaPorte, the senior partner, has been the publisher of the Pinconning Journal since January, 1944, has other business interests there and is a prominent citizen of that city.

Mr. Haire, who will be the resident publisher and editor, received early training in newspaper work, both in the editorial and mechanical departments while attending high school in Pinconning. When he was graduated from high school, his mother sold the Pinconning Journal and he entered Michigan State College. After two years and two terms in Michigan State, he was called to the service and spent 34 months in the Finance Division of the Air Corps. He was S/Sgt. and Chief Clerk of the office. After his discharge, he re-entered college and was graduated from the journalism department. Two days later he went to work in Wyandotte where he has been employed in the advertising and editorial departments of that paper for over three years.

Mr. Haire and Miss Dorothy Miller, classmates in high school, were married at Pinconning on Sept. 20, 1947. Mrs. Haire is a graduate of the Bay City Business College and was employed as a bookkeeper in Bay City and Wyandotte.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Haire are members of the Lutheran Church. Concluded on page 4.

The Robert Horners Observed Golden Wedding Feb. 14

(By Mrs. Luella Bullock)
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horner enjoyed having their family home Wednesday, Feb. 14, in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. The table was covered with a lace table cloth with yellow candles at each end, and centered by a four-tiered wedding cake made by the youngest daughter, Maxine. A friend decorated the cake with white icing and yellow roses and buds. It was topped with a heart-shaped Valentine design with gold bows and lace and love birds on each side.

The table was set with dishes that had been given them on a previous occasion by the family. A gold teapot, sugar bowl and creamer, anniversary plate and Swedish gold cake server, all gifts from the family, were used.

Mrs. Horner was carried to the table by the eldest son, Keith, and after refreshments of cake, ice cream, tea and coffee were enjoyed and pictures taken she was returned to her room where she has spent most of her time since Sept. 28 on account of ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Horner stood the occasion very nicely and their friends join in wishing them many more years or as long as the Lord sees fit to spare them.

Rotarians Pay Dr. Schenck Tribute

In memory of Dr. P. A. Schenck, a past president of the Cass City Rotary Club, members of that society paused in silent prayer for several moments at their Tuesday luncheon and then the group sang, "God Be with You Till We Meet Again." The Rotary Bulletin contained two tributes to Dr. Schenck, whose funeral was held Sunday afternoon. The first was a poem by Rev. Melvin R. Vender on Dr. Schenck's retirement after 50 years in the practice of dentistry in Cass City. The second was entitled "He Lived a Motto, 'Service Above Self,'" contributed by Willis Campbell.

Lloyd Beamer, a representative of Parke-Davis Co. of Detroit, was introduced by Vern Bothwell, program chairman, as the luncheon speaker. Mr. Beamer spoke on native and modern drugs in their relation to health.

Members discussed the preparation of a program and the sale of tickets for the forthcoming talent show to be held in Cass City on Friday, March 9.

Luncheon guests included Robt. Ballentine of Port Huron, Arnold Geiger of Pigeon and John Haire of Cass City.

He has been president of Rotary, the Community Club, the village, a trustee of the Presbyterian Church as long as we remember, and an officer of various lodges.

"There never has been a project for the betterment of the town which he has not backed and there never has been a subscription list whereon he has not matched the largest donation. Red Hawks Fail In Bid for League Title at Sebawaing

Dale Derow and Harry Rueger, a pair of towering Sebawaing cagers, forced the Cass City Red Hawks to settle for second place in the Upper Thumb Conference Tuesday night before a turn-away, capacity crowd that jammed the Sebawaing gym to see Cass City lose 52-44.

Derow and Rueger controlled the backboards for the league champions all evening and were the deciding factors in one of the hardest played games of the season.

The Red Hawks played the Sebawaing cagers on even terms for the first two quarters. Paced by Tim Burdon, who was hitting with regularity from outside the foul circle, Cass City had a slight 17-15 edge at the end of the first quarter.

In the second period, Sebawaing tied the score four different times, but never took the lead. Rueger and Jim Hoch carried the offensive load for Sebawaing, while Burdon and Eugene Kloc kept Cass City in the running.

Clarence V. Howell, C. C. H. S., '06, Conducts One-Man War Against Racial Prejudice

Some call him the "Pied Piper of Manhattan," others "Gabriel." Either name is appropriate, for people do follow Clarence V. Howell in numbers—and, like both of these spiritual progenitors, he has a horn, too, a four-valved shepherd's pipe which he picked up in Sweden when conducting a student tour through that country. So writes Ann Hollinshead, who contributes articles under the pen name of Fidas Achates, to io Triumphant, the magazine of the Albion College Alumni Association. In the article regarding Mr. Howell, a graduate of the Cass City High School in 1906, Mrs. Hollinshead writes:

We, ourselves, first met Mr. Howell in a dress factory in Fashion Center, New York City, where he was introducing about fifty Teachers College and Columbia summer students to the work of cutters, basters, drapers and pressers. And then we followed him and his horn on an All Nights trip to the Markets, visiting the two million dollar Dairyplex pasteurizing plant on Twelfth Avenue and 48 Street, bakeries of Cushman and the Purity Bakery company, fruit and vegetable markets on the piers of North River, Gansvoort market, wholesale meat refrigerators, Fulton Fish market and the Flower market. And bright and early one Sunday morning, good Methodists though we were, we sat with him and his student followers at an eight o'clock mass

Few Attend the Village Caucus Monday Night

A small minority of the registered voters of Cass City attended the village caucus Monday night at the city municipal building to nominate candidates for the village offices.

Under the direction of Harold Oatley, chairman of the caucus, Clifford A. Croft was unopposed for re-nomination to the office of village president. If elected, it will be Croft's third successive term.

Other members of the village council who were unopposed in the nominating proceedings were Mrs. Wilma Fry who will run for the offices of village treasurer and clerk. Mrs. Fry has served three terms as clerk and is seeking her second term as treasurer.

Two village trustees were selected for re-nomination. Arlan Hartwick and M. C. McLellan will be on the spring ballot along with James Bauer. Bauer will replace incumbent Alvin Stevens on the board of trustees, if elected. Mr. Stevens, who is justice of the peace and village attorney, requested that his name be withdrawn as a candidate for nomination as trustee.

Other city officials nominated were Harold Jackson, who will be trying for another term as city assessor; Thelma Schwaderer and Alice Nettleton who will be serving their fourth year on the library board, if elected.

Besides presenting the slate for the coming election, the caucus appointed a committee to investigate the cost of re-surfacing Main St., in conjunction with the State Highway Department.

Appointed to the fact finding committee are Curtis Hunt, Grant Ball and C. L. Burt.

The members present at the caucus made an official note in the records of the very poor attendance at the caucus. Only 24 persons were present Monday night.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Jerusalem the Golden

O sweet and blessed country,
The home of God's elect!
O sweet and blessed country,
That eager hearts expect!
Jesus, in mercy bring us
To that dear land of rest!
Who art, with God the Father,
And Spirit, ever blest.

The verse is from a 3,000 line poem by the monk, Bernard of Cluny. Begun as a satire on the vice and folly of his age (15th Cent.), it ends in religious fervor and rapture as he envisions his beloved heaven. This portion is contained in "Jerusalem the Golden," a beautiful and noble hymn.

Factories, To Slum Tenements and New Housing, To Chinatown." And about 100,000 people have followed him.

In all he has developed over 50 trips to churches of various faiths—Jewish, Protestant, Catholic,

Greek Orthodox, Armenian and Russian churches, Hindu Buddhist temples; to crime courts; to health centers; to the flophouses on the Bowery and the Salvation Army hotel; to auto assembly plants. And the advertised high point of each trip is a lecture by some well-known and able authority, such as Dr. Mark Starr, educational director of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union, who was one of the first to send people to college so that they could return to educate others in their unions; and Dr. Haven Emerson, professor emeritus of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, world authority on alcohol.

A 27 Year Endeavor

"But how did it all begin?" we asked Mr. Howell in his more-than modest office-home in the basement of an apartment house at 417 West 121 Street, New York. Obviously a great idea had captured him years before.

And then he told us of a meeting of a group of Methodist ministers in the New York area who were attending a special conference. They were disturbed by the persuasive teaching of socialists and Wobblies in labor organizations and wished very much to meet them so that they could either convert them or better understand their social approach and biases. Only one person had entree to these radicals, Howell, who had been working with laboring groups in the great metropolis, conducting religious forums where economic, social and political questions were freely discussed. His work was at that time subsidized by the Home Board of the Methodist Church. So Howell planned a trip to New York's labor centers for the conference-going ministers.

"Oh yes, the Wobblies (I. W. W. s) disdained the ministers. They frankly didn't like 'sky pilots.' But they had attended my forums and trusted me. So they all talked freely and frankly."

"Two more such trips to labor centers were staged that summer, and three the next.

Then the idea grew, aided and abetted by an incident that Howell experienced himself on a commercial sightseeing trip through Chinatown, during which the professional guide pointed out a house where two high school boys were supposed to have been murdered, a white slave house, and an opium den. All of these he found to be lurid untruths when he visited the area the next day and discovered that the so-called murderers' hangout was a Chinese Masonic lodge, and that the opium den was the home of an honorable Chinese merchant.

So Howell outlined trips himself to Chinatown, and he is still introducing native New Yorkers and visitors to New York to Chinese art, temples, theatres, the opera and clubs.

And then, because New York is a veritable microcosm, he began tours to all the foreign language centers. In 1938 when the depression seriously hit the pocketbook of the Methodist Church, it was forced to discontinue assistance to Howell's "Reconciliation Trips."

Since then he has gone on with his work, under a board of directors recruited from all faiths.

Michigan Birth and Education

"It really all came about because of my deep interest in the laboring man and his problems," Howell said thoughtfully, remembering that when he was ten years old a minister with a great social outlook stayed at his home overnight and talked long hours with his family in their home near Gagetown, Michigan.

So, he answered a call to the ministry. He finished high school in Cass City, and then began to take jobs of all sorts so that he could save enough money to attend Albion College. The summer of 1905 he laid sidewalks in his hometown, and in subsequent vacation periods he sold books. Finally, in 1911 he was graduated from Albion but with a heavy debt over his head.

Book sales, however, again came to his rescue, and by 1912 he was ready to enter the Methodist ministry.

His first charge was the Moorestown Circuit, northeast of Cadillac, with four churches scattered over a wide area, and furnishing him a salary of only $400. He purchased a horse and buggy and covered the ground happily. In two years the membership, preaching, appointments and income doubled with the help of an assistant the second year.

Best of all was his meeting with Ida Oastley, the deaconess sent to do evangelistic work at Pioneer, one of the churches in his charge. In 1914 they were married and began their effective collaboration in their significant venture in understanding.

For a year they served the Bowen Circuit, east of Grand Rapids, and then the desire for further education sent Howell and his wife to Texas to sell more books, this time "Simple Home Remedies for Mothers." Texas was chosen because the distances were great and doctors were charging at the rate of a dollar a mile to visit patients. So Howell got out of the Texas towns at least two miles and did a land office business, enough to take him and his wife to Boston for two years study under Harry F. Ward at Boston University School of Theology and Professor Thomas Nixon Carver at Harvard, two men poles apart in their sociological viewpoints, both of them highly challenging to Howell.

In 1919 Howell followed Ward to Union Theological Seminary, and here under the Department of Evangelism of the Methodist Church he began his unusual field work in the New York area, with Bishop Francis J. McConnell as his mentor and chief, great Methodist liberal who had given Howell's Albion College commencement address.

And ever since Clarence Howell's arrival in New York, he has been filled with the urge to do something to correct the misunderstandings which lead to useless, destructive fraternal strife. The whole city has been his parish, and people of all faiths his brothers. Everywhere he is highly respected. "What a vision you have given us of the new world of brotherhood that is destined to come," recently wrote Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of New York's famous Community Church. His idea has also captured the imaginations of several of our major periodicals, for in the last two years he and his trips have been written up in eight metropolitan newspapers and national magazines.

To further his work Howell, himself, has produced two books, "Let's Go to Church" and "Saint Lucifer," giving his fresh morning hours to writing.

His Ambitions

"The future of the Reconciliation Trips?" He repeated our query and then told us that there was talk of Columbia University sponsoring them, which we thought an appropriate arrangement since one sociology professor already gives extra credit for three trips taken by his students, and several nursing courses require five trips to be taken by enrollees. Besides, Clarence V. Howell and his Swedish shepherd's horn are a very real and traditional part of the Columbia-Union Theological scene.

In a serious vein he confessed that he believes eventually the Reconciliation Trips should no longer be necessary. But in the meantime he wishes to go to other cities to organize similar Reconciliation Trips, each with a social challenge resulting in action which betters the community.

He hopes for 25 more years of active, energetic living, and as we remember him, skipping between rows of fruit-filled crates on the docks at two in the morning, merrily tooting his horn, we believe it quite possible that his hopes may be realized. Certainly no one has really seen New York who has not followed in his footsteps. And we suggest that it would be the part of wisdom on arrival in New York to telephone MOnument 2-6350, the phone number of Reconciliation Trips, to arrange to join the next party with Clarence Howell.

"I'd just a bit rather be called Gabriel, though, than the Pied Piper," he told us in parting, his beautiful teeth glistening in a grin,

"You see, rats and mice followed the latter, but angels, Gabriel."

MANY THANKS

After an ownership of the Chronicle for 47 years, it is with feelings of relief and some regrets that we make the announcement of the sale of this newspaper—relief that there is in sight a respite from strenuous work and regret that we are parting with a newspaper that has been in our possession for so many years.

To our friends who are wondering why we have disposed of the newspaper, we can only say we need a rest. After so many years of meeting a "dead line" each week, the detail work was taking a toll in nerves and health. We are very grateful for the patronage accorded us by the people that the Chronicle serves in Cass City and the surrounding territory. Estimated in dollars and cents, we are sure the change is unwise, but there are other considerations that count more than money.

We want to thank the people of Cass City and the surrounding communities for their very loyal support and for the cordial friendships.

We anticipate the change to publishers of younger years will be all "to the good" and that the newspaper will be improved and its high standard maintained. We ask that the new publishers be given whole-hearted support and that our friends will give them all assistance possible.

Stock Brings Good Prices at Farm Week

Although the price for the grand champion fell below that paid in 1950, average prices paid for swine at the auction following the Farmers' Week Show at Michigan State College were high.

Harry Moxley, extension animal husbandry specialist, reports an average price of $27.41 a hundred for the swine sold. That was about $5 a hundred above market price that day. Normally the auction price is between $2 and $3 above the market top at Farmers' Week swine auctions.

The grand champion sold for $110 a pound in 1950 and but 90 cents a pound in 1951.

The average price of $36.31 paid for steers entered for championship honors, however, was not outstanding, M. S. C. livestock men say.

The Eavesdropper

One night, at a party, French statesman Talleyrand was discussing international politics with a foreign ambassador who was the duller member of the diplomatic corps. For endless minutes, the ambassador talked on, repeating himself over and over. Talleyrand, praying for deliverance, nodded his head wearily.

The diplomat had been talking for an hour, when another guest, seated at the other end of the room, nudged his companion and pointed to the yawning guest.

"Shh," he whispered. "You are overheard!"

FUNERAL OF DR. SCHENCK HELD HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Billiard parlor has been enjoyed almost daily by a large number of friends. He never complained; even though he lost his two sons in their early manhood in a period of six weeks, he never asked others to share his troubles; even in his last illness, no one was asked to hear of his fatigue or pain. He enjoyed life; he enjoyed his friends. He was a man who strove for the best, who left the community better because he lived in it, of whom no one was jealous and who had only friends.

ILLITERATE

A man-about-town was in serious trouble and called up his lawyer. "It's a dirty trick," he screamed into the phone, "a dirty trick."
The lawyer soothed him with, "Calm down, calm down, and tell me what's the trouble."
"That girl's husband has made a horrible mistake," screamed the man. "He's named me as co-respondent in a divorce case and I can't even write!"

Maybe They Ain't For Sale
Did you ever stop to think that the poor old duck's business is always in a slump, due to her lack of advertising? She lays her eggs in seclusion—she never makes any noise about it. But when the hen lays her eggs—her cackles are heard far and near. She tells the world about it—she advertises!
The result is, the world eats hens' eggs by the millions, while the poor old duck's eggs are unsought.

H. F. Lenzer, the retiring owner, has published the Chronicle for 47 years. He learned the printer's trade on the Cass City Enterprise when A. A. P. McDowell was the editor. In February, 1904, he purchased the Tri-County Chronicle from Rev. Frederick Klump, the founder of that paper. Two years later the Chronicle and Enterprise were consolidated under the name of the Cass City Chronicle. The paper has been housed in its own building which was erected in 1912. The Lenzer block has not been sold.

Tuscola Soil Testing Laboratory to Serve County Farmers

Tuscola County's long awaited and much needed soil testing service is now a reality. A modern well-equipped laboratory has been set up in the County Farm Bureau office next to the Caro Farmers Elevator on Green Street in Caro.

The testing equipment valued at nearly $600.00 consists of the most modern electrical and chemical analysis devices and its use determines not only the presence or absence of plant nutrient materials but measures the relative quantity of plant food level in a given soil sample.

The equipment was arranged and testing reagents were supplied last week by MSC Soil Chemist Kirk Lawton, and Soils Extension Specialist Paul Rood. Lawton and Rood spent a half day with Norman K. Waggoner, Caro High School vocational agriculture instructor, who has agreed to operating the testing laboratory.

The laboratory space, plumbing, and furniture has been provided by the Caro Farmers Elevator. Funds for the soil testing equipment were donated cooperatively as follows: Tuscola County Farm Bureau, $125.00; Tuscola County Soil Conservation District, $125.00; Farm Produce Elevator, Cass City, $125.00; and Caro Sugar Beet Growers Association and the Caro plant of Michigan Sugar Company jointly providing $125.00.

Farmers wishing to have soil samples tested should bring them to the Farm Bureau office in clean glass or paper containers, says Agent Carpenter. The County Farm Bureau organizational director or his secretary will check in the samples. A soil history questionnaire will be required for each sample when brought in, forms for this being provided at the laboratory. A charge of fifty cents a sample will be made to cover the cost of operating the lab. Fertilizer recommendations will be made to owners in a letter from the county agricultural agent, together with reports of the soil tests.

The rising divorce rate is conclusive proof that you never know how the tied will turn.

RED HAWKS FAIL IN BID FOR LEAGUE TITLE AT SEBEWAING

Concluded from page 1. Two gift tosses after time had run out in the half. Coach Cecil Morgan must have jolted his players at halftime for when Sebewaing came out to start the third quarter, the complexion of the game changed—Sebewaing having the edge in the play that most observers gave to the Red Hawks in the opening two periods. It was here that Rueger and Gerow started using their superior height advantage to take the rebounds from both backboards. By the end of the period, Sebewaing had erased the Hawk's one point advantage and taken a four point lead.

Behind by six points early in the fourth period, Cass City made a desperate bid to get back in the game and midway in the quarter had reduced the Sebewaing margin to two points. But the rally failed when Rueger and Hoch hit for two big buckets to bring the lead back to six points for Sebewaing. With the four points went Cass City's last chance for a share of the conference title. Sebewaing kept pulling away until the game ended—their final eight point margin was the greatest difference between the two teams all evening. Scoring honors for the night went to Burdon, of Cass City with 18 points, while Gerow of Sebewaing scored 16 for the winners.

Michigan sits stunned yet over its tremendous loss in the fire which lashed through the state office building in Lansing. Cause of the blaze was easy to dig up—now comes the task of scraping up money to rebuild the structure.

As a result of the loss of office space, plans for the new office building, scheduled to be built behind the capitol building, have been stepped up. Plans now are arranged to exceed not over 4 1/2 million dollars. A. N. Langius, head of the state building department, says it can't be built for that amount.

From whence is to come the money? That is the question starting state legislators in the face in the next four years. In the meantime, it will cost 2 1/2 millions (and 6-8 months) to get the old water soaked office building back into operation. Top two floors will be lopped off, of course, since both are total losses.

Additional monies will be dug up when legislators begin considering the state of the capitol building itself. Long labeled a fire trap, it is expected that measures will be taken to make the old building more fireproof. Currently it is listed as "slow burning." The state office building was "fireproof."

This fire, costly as it was and will be, however, has served as an object lesson to every state in the union. Most observers expect to see a modernization program soon in every state where buildings still sit as fair game to any good blaze. And county governments are awakening too. Most of the county courthouses were constructed near the turn of the century and are veritable fire traps in that they are lacking in sprinkler systems, are overcrowded and are poorly arranged for escape exits.

Sidelight to the fire: The state office building was insured out of the state insurance fund which has assets of only $1,800,000. The states liquor supply is insured by private firms, assets unlimited.

Air force officials predict that one out of three air force reservists will be back in uniform by the end of the current mobilization.

But, for the time being, news from Korea is encouraging. That means domestic news worsens. The psychological letdown is apparent. Once again, people are primarily concerned with getting their own jobs done, laying in inventories to get a big profit if prices rise, buying now to avoid scarcities later.

Manufacturer's inventories have been rising fast and are at a record high. The proposal to boost the manufacturers' excise tax on autos from seven to 20 percent along with similar jumps in taxes of other "non-essentials" has helped set off a buying rush.

Michigan pays $4.79 of every $100 the federal government spends. And so if Sen. Harry Byrd's economy ideas prevail in congress, state taxpayers will be saved some $435,890,000.

A citizen advisory committee has recommended the consolidation of 16 independent professional and trade licensing boards in one agency. The new department would handle licensing for occupations ranging from accounting to embalmers, chiropractors and plumbers.

Beetles may not be vital as bullets, but in the national budget is a request for $487,000 to study Japanese beetles. First recorded find in Michigan was in 1932. Total catch: Eight beetles.

Upon request of the department of defense, Michigan State College will go back on a wartime full-year academic schedule. Objective is to make college graduates available for military service or work in defense industries a year earlier.

Final poll card returns show some 50 percent fewer deer were bagged in Michigan than in 1949. Computation show 2,186 deer were copped in Western Michigan by 12,294 hunters as compared to 4,157 deer taken by 15,193 hunters the first season in 1949.

Floor Revived with Color
In reconditioning old houses with wide pine board flooring, painting is especially appropriate, in the opinion of an architect who has successfully remodeled many Colonial farmhouses. In one old house, the reconditioned floors in different rooms are painted old gold, marine blue and dark green.

Blue Fox
Foxes abound on America's Aleutian Islands in three colors—red, white and blue. The blue foxes are really white ones with a dietary deficiency.

About 80 per cent of the newspapers in the United States are evening papers.

... of course, it's ELECTRIC!

GENE AUTRY, star of his own television and screen productions, also starring over CBS radio.

"Inside the oven or on top of the range, food cooked electrically is 'tops' with us," says Mrs. Gene Autry. "My husband calls our Electric Range 'civilized cooking,' with its perfect temperature control and clean heat. And I like the way it keeps my pots and pans clean—the way they hug the top of the heating elements, there's practically no heat wasted into the kitchen."

For any kind of meal, an Electric Range is thrifty to use. Food waste is cut down because you get uniformly good results. And you're not tied down to continual pot watching, because this modern range does the watching for you.

DEFORD

W. S. C. S. Entertains—
The local W. S. C. S. entertained the Decker W. S. C. S. Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. in the church annex. The guest speakers were Miss Ella Hedlund and Miss Irene Reiber of the Youth Home Missions. Miss Reiber, the adult evangelist, spoke on "Knowing Our Gardens." Our lives are our gardens, our choices of what we do are either plants of value or weeds, which must be plucked out root and all if our gardens are to be beautiful and useful. Miss Hedlund played the piano and conducted the devotions. The acting chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Churchill, called the meeting to order, led in singing, called on Mrs. Earl Rayl, Sr., for the invocation, then introduced the guest speakers. After the lesson was given the chairman, conducted a short business session. The Decker ladies thanked the Deford group for the invitation and invited this group to visit them in April. The committee on arrangements were Mrs. Warren Kelley and Mrs. Burton Allen. Due to illness, Mrs. Allen was not present. Red and white streamers were used for decorations, and refreshments of sandwiches, cake, jello, pickles, candy, nuts and coffee were served.

Fellowship Hour in Church Annex—
Friday night after the church service around 110 people gathered in the annex for a time of fellowship in honor of the evangelists, Miss Irene Reiber and Miss Ella Hedlund of Lansing, and Rev. and Mrs. Walter Mollan and Paul of Melvin. After a while spent in renewing friendships and visiting refreshments were served. We of the Deford Church were happy to have the friends of the sister churches with us. The average attendance of the church services was 117 people, and the messages were wonderful. If you were there you will know what we mean. May we invite you to all the church functions?

Special Services Close—
The evangelistic services conducted by Miss Irene Reiber and Miss Edia Hedlund in the Deford church closed Sunday evening with a blessed harvest of souls, 62 finding a new start in Jesus Christ and 54 surrendering their all to His service and many more who were wonderfully helped. These workers are sponsored by the "Youth Home Missions" and their main object in life is to win souls for Heaven. Deford will be glad to welcome them back at any time, and the fellowship of their presence, gifts, and prayers of the sister churches greatly benefited our home community.

Midweek service Feb. 23 will be with Warren Kelleys. Family Night which was to have been Friday night at the Jerry Hicks home will be on March 2, due to the special services at Kingston Methodist Church. Potluck lunch will be served after the program. You are all welcome to the fellowships, devotions and recreation as well as refreshments. W. C. T. U. will meet Thursday, March 1, with Mrs. Harriet Rayl. Your presence and prayers for the increasing of this work are greatly needed and appreciated.

Would you care to write to Elmer Rayl? He expects to be sent to Japan soon. Here is his address: Pfc. Elmer M. Rayl, 1104651, F Co. 1st Inf. Trng. Bn. Trng. and Replacement Command, Test camp No. 1, Camp Joseph H.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford returned home Saturday after spending three months in Florida. Arleon Retherford and Warren Kelley drove to Detroit to bring them to their home here. Mr. Retherford is in very poor health. They were Saturday dinner guests of Arleon and Leola and family. Mrs. Vern Stewart entertained the Wilnot Flower Club Thursday. Twenty members and one visitor, Mrs. L. Burt of Pontiac, were present. A very pleasant afternoon was spent and a potluck lunch was served. Mrs. Burt spent until Saturday with Mrs. Stewart. Judy Clark spent from Friday through Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark. Kathleen and Bill Dalton of Detroit spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kelley. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelley of Saginaw were Sunday dinner guests at the Kelley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rayl, Norma Kay and Joy Ann of Fairgrove were guests at the E. Rayl home Sunday. Earl and Mrs. Raymond Rayl will celebrate birthdays this week. Miss Delia Hirach and Walter Rayl were callers also. Miss Irene Reiber and Miss Edia Hedlund left the Rayl home where they stayed while conducting services in the Deford church Monday morning to go to Lansing where they will conduct services for two weeks. They expect to go to work in Pennsylvania for some time.

Items Folks Read In the Enterprise Back in 1881

Older residents of this community may be interested in some of the items published on Sept. 8, 1881, in the Cass City Enterprise, when the village's first newspaper made its initial appearance during the dark days of the fire of 1881. Here are some of the local news items which appeared at that time:

Prof. Beach was the first Cass City subscriber to the Enterprise.

Mr. Seed's home on the hill has been a real hospital for the sick and destitute during the week.

Get your ears ready to hear the snort of the iron horse in less than twelve months.

The walls of the new town hall are going up slowly on account of there not being sufficient material on hand.

The liberality with which our merchants have distributed their goods to the victims of the fire is worthy of the highest commendation. The ladies of the village are also entitled to great credit for the energetic manner in which they have provided clothing for the destitute.

If some of the news in this issue appears a little old, remember that the paper has been delayed nearly a week—all hands being out fighting fire.

Mr. C. W. McPhail left last Sunday for Boston, but when in Detroit he received a dispatch from Millington saying that Cass City was in ashes. He immediately returned and was happily disappointed to find the city as he left it, with the exception of a half dozen houses missing, and a badly demoralized population.

Much needed improvements are being made in the Cass City hotel. The building is being raised up and a substantial stone foundation placed under it. The outside will be painted, the large hall on the second story divided up into bedrooms, and the whole inside thoroughly renovated. For these improvements, Mr. Tennant, the gentlemanly proprietor, deserves the thanks of our citizens and the traveling public.

Owing to the difficulty in obtaining a suitable office, we have taken temporary quarters over Messrs. Wickware & Waldon's carriage shop, and notwithstanding the fact that we have crowded editor's sanctum, composing room, job room and press room all into the one apartment, we shall be glad to receive a call from any of our friends. As soon as the new brick town hall is completed, which will be in a few weeks, we expect to occupy the second story, which will be fitted up with all modern conveniences, and make one of the most pleasant and commodious newspaper offices in the state.

Our public school opened last Monday morning, but owing to the dense smoke, could not be continued during the day. It will resume next Monday morning. The newly appointed principal, Prof. John R. Beach, is by no means a stranger to many of our citizens, has large experience as a teacher, and comes with the highest recommendations. We think our school authorities showed excellent judgment in securing his services. The assistant teacher, Miss Avers, is well and favorably known here, and we have no doubt but that she will make a careful and popular teacher. We hope the parents and all who are interested in educational matters will do what they can to make the new teachers feel that they have their sympathy and support in this responsible work.

Michigan Livestock Exchange Shippers At County Meeting

About thirty livestock farmers took time to attend the Tuscola County membership's annual meeting of the Michigan Livestock Exchange held at the courthouse in Caro Wednesday, February 14.

Loren Ewald, Unionville, president of the county stock producer group, reports that the program provided farmers much information on cooperative marketing which they had requested.

R. H. Walton, manager of the Michigan Livestock Exchange, was unable to appear as the main speaker as scheduled but he was represented by Ben Patterson of the Michigan State Farm Bureau.

Mr. Patterson reported on the business done by the exchange at the Detroit stockyards and also the activities of the organization's branch markets operated at Battle Creek, Portland, and more recently at St. Louis, Michigan.

Don Stark, Michigan State College extension specialist in agricultural economics, also talked to the stockmen on the subject of price controls and feeding outlook. He pointed out that present controls still permit profitable feeding operations if managed efficiently.

Another feature of the afternoon meeting was a demonstration on livestock loss prevention by a Caro FFA team consisting of Joe Esakovich and Ernie Patterson. The boys illustrated the losses that livestock farmers take due to carelessness and improper handling, and pointed out proper methods of caring for stock which prevent losses. They demonstrated various kinds of equipment recommended for efficient management. The movie, "Today's Chisolm Trail," was also shown, outlining the development of the livestock production and marketing industries.

The group reelected Loren Ewald as president and Alvin Smith, Caro, secretary for the coming year. They designated the above officers as official delegates to the state annual meeting to be held at Lansing March 10. Other official delegates elected to represent Tuscola County at the annual meeting were Alfred Goodall and Jim Milligan of Cass City, Henry Lane and John Graham, Caro, and Melvin Ewald, Unionville.

Marcus D. Losey Died in Lake Orion

Marcus Dana Losey, 80, former grocery and crockery dealer in Cass City, died Friday at his home in Lake Orion.

Born March 7, 1870, in Brandon Township, Mr. Losey married the former Nettie Spurgeon in Oxford on Feb. 22, 1893. He was a resident in Lake Orion for 39 years. He was a retired retail grocer and a member of the First Baptist Church. His widow survives him.

Funeral services were held Monday at Allen's Funeral Home in Lake Orion. Burial was made in Elkland cemetery.

Papers on the salt and copper mines of Michigan and the St. Lawrence Water Way were very ably presented by Mrs. Sherwood Rice, Sr., and Mrs. Richard Burdon.

Following adjournment of the meeting the hostess served refreshments.
