

Hawk Nine Opens Quest for Conference Title at Sebewaing

Cass City High School's baseball team, co-champions of the Upper Thumb Conference with Vassar, Caro and Elkton last year, begin defense of their title next Monday at Sebewaing.

Coach Irv Claxman will have a primarily veteran team to take the field to try to better the 10-3 record the Hawks posted in 1950.

Most of the infield spots are staffed with lettermen and only a couple of positions are in doubt at this time.

Tentatively, Claxman has indicated that he will start Lee Hartel at third base, Bob Alexander at second and Chet Dorland behind the plate.

At shortstop, Eugene Kloc will probably get the nod over Bob Wallace—although the pair are running neck and neck for the starting berth.

It's a toss up for the first base slot on the 1951 edition of the Hawks. Pete Martin and Tim Burdon are making the final choice a difficult one for Claxman.

On the mound for Cass City Monday will be Gerald Whittaker. Whittaker saw limited action last year and has been moved into the front ranks for this season.

One of the biggest blows to the Hawks' chances was the ineligibility of Wally Brown—the ace hurler is over age and lost to the team for the season.

Two of the three outfield positions are set. Tom Schwaderer and Jimmy Fox are almost cinch starters. But the last berth is wide open. Between now and Monday, Claxman must choose a starter from among Jim Bishop, Fred Milligan, Ben Hobart, Clarence Schneberger and Tom Townsend.

After playing at Sebewaing, the Hawks open the home season here Thursday with Pigeon at 2:30 p. m.

Three Cass City Drivers Involved in Motor Accidents

Cass City drivers were involved in three accidents this week according to reports from the Caro County sheriff's department. All drivers and passengers escaped serious injury in the wrecks.

Sunday, on Deckerville Road, John Doerr, Cass City, was making a turn when Leon C. Ford, Davison, rammed him, skidding him off the road. Neither driver was injured.

Monday evening Olin Vouik, Cass City, and Alex Underhill, Vassar, collided on East Main St. Neither driver saw the other before the collision.

Orville Fish, Cass City, was taken to Pleasant Home Hospital for treatment and released after he turned over one mile south, and three-quarter mile west of Cass City Tuesday morning.

According to sheriff's reports, Fish was driving west on River Road when he hit a tree and turned over. He sustained minor injuries that were treated before he was released from the hospital.

Thirteen Honor Students Cited: Outstanding Abilities Key to Success For Cass City's High School Seniors

In the ninth induction since the granting of a charter to the local chapter in 1945, thirteen seniors of Cass City High School's 1951 graduating class were recognized as members of the National Honor Society in an honors convocation held Wednesday morning in the school auditorium. Of these, eight had previously been elected, while five were made members at this time. The constitution of the society, the only national honor group at the secondary school level, limits elections to a maximum of 15% of the class membership.

Although excellence in scholarship is expected of all candidates, character, leadership, and service, are equally considered as criteria for membership. While the actual choices are made by a faculty council, it has long been the policy of the local chapter to lean heavily on the preferences given by the students themselves who each year are given an opportunity to rate their fellow students in terms of worthiness for membership. Again this year, all elections were among those named deserving by their classmates.

Profit Named Chairman of Tuscola Board of Supervisors

For the first time in over 15 years, Elkland Township will have a representative as chairman of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors. William Profit was named to the post early this week and is the first supervisor from here to be honored with the position since George Hall served in that position from Elkland Township.

Profit is well known in political and farming circles here. He was supervisor of Elkland Township for seven years until 1941. He replaced Audley Rawson and served until he resigned to take a position on the Road Commission.

He served in that capacity from 1941 to the spring of 1949 when he resigned to again take the supervisor's reins. Profit has been on the School Board of Elkland No. 3 school since 1927.

Weather Retards Track Team in Pre-Meet Practices

Weather has been the big bug-a-boo for Coach Arthur Paddy and the Cass City track team that opens the season Wednesday against the Bay City Handy reserves at four p. m.

Because of the weather, Paddy has been unable to evaluate the new men who are out for the track team this year. There will be two events that will be without experienced men to carry the Hawk colors in conference competition.

Backbone of the team will be Tom Schwaderer, Eugene Kloc and Lee Hartel, Upper Thumb Conference Champions last year. Schwaderer was champion in two events—the 100-yard dash and the 180-yard low hurdles. Hartel was the best of the high jumpers and Kloc was supreme in the 220-yard dash.

Legume Treatment Helps Save Seed

Treatment of alfalfa seed may not increase yields, but it will help to save seed and obtain a more uniform stand, advises Ed Andrews, extension specialist in plant pathology at Michigan State College.

With alfalfa seed prices as high as they are this year, seed treatment is a wise practice. Treating seed legumes has controlled damping-off and given better stands when poor quality seed is planted in cold, wet soil. This is particularly true for large seed legumes such as soybeans when seed is cracked and damaged.

Since cost of treatment is very low per acre, Andrews believes farmers should plan to treat their legume seeds. Growers frequently will be unable to detect poor quality in seed and cannot hope to predict growing conditions at planting time.

Arasan or Spergon, eight ounces per 100 pounds of seed are used for alfalfa and clover (except sweet clover.) Andrews emphasizes that sweet clover should not be treated. For soybeans, Arasan or Spergon is used at the rate of two ounces per bushel of seed.

For small amounts of seed, shake the seed and an excess of the dust treatment material together in a suitable container. Then sift off the excess dust. Be sure that all of the dust that does not adhere to the seed surfaces is sifted from the seed. Pockets of dust tend to accumulate in the hopper of the planter and will kill young plants as the seed germinates. Use care in handling the treating material.

Treatment with the above materials can be done any time before planting. Nodulation will not be reduced if inoculation is applied immediately before planting is directed.

Hamburger Stand Operator Combines Business and Hobby

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Joe Greenberger, a hamburger stand operator, has combined his hobby and his business to come up with a novel idea that has boomed his business.

A toy electric train at his place circles the round 24 seat counter to and from trips to the kitchen. It whistles, blows off steam and moves through a tunnel just like a real one. A spare engine takes over if the operating locomotive heats up. Thus the train service continues without interruption.

The customer seems to get a kick out of watching the train emerge from the kitchen carrying his hamburger. The counterman has only to press a button to halt it before the diner to be served.

The complete train is a model of a Santa Fe diesel engine, eight flat cars that carry the food, an open coal car that transports mustard and catsup cups and a refrigerator car for ice cream. Only the caboose is for decoration alone.

The tracks are built up on a three-inch platform on the counter and are surrounded by a tiny fence. "The train service," Greenberger said, "has it all over waitresses. Keeps going all the time and has no nose to be powdered."

Greenberger, who advertises "fine food by fast freight," has carried out the train motif throughout his shop. A railroad trestle stand holds the customers' hats, the juke box music is limited to train melodies and Santa Fe ashtrays dot the counter.

An elaborate railroad mural decorates the partition separating the customer from the kitchen grill. The train equipment is valued at $600.

Pooch Carries Coal, Wood For Owner to Earn Keep

Jerseyville, Ill.—John Varney's dog Rusty knows how to keep his master happy. The pooch keeps the home adequately supplied with wood and coal.

When the supply of wood gets low, Varney tells Rusty about it and the dog fills the wood box. The same for the coal box.

"We usually reward Rusty with some item of food for his labor," Varney said. Often, however, when the dog gets hungry, he trots out and starts hauling in wood and coal, whether or not fuel is needed.

Shock of Seeing Sister After Twenty-Two Years Is Fatal

LONG BEACH, N. Y.—The meeting of two sisters after 22 years so shocked one of them that she dropped dead.

Mrs. Sallie Mimmon of Detroit arrived in Long Beach, N. Y., about 3 a. m. She could not find the address of her sister, Lucille O'Bannon, 60, and decided to stay at a rooming-house overnight.

The rooming-house proprietor knew the sister and where she lived. Mrs. Mimmon decided to call on her despite the hour, then about 4 a. m.

She rang the bell. Mrs. O'Bannon opened the door, looked in disbelief, and fell dead. Police said she had been suffering from heart trouble. The sisters had not corresponded for many years and neither was sure the other was alive.

Off-Duty Citizen as Busy As When on Regular Job

NEW YORK—Americans spend almost as much time working at unpaid, volunteer activities as they do with their regular jobs.

In a report on the United States "off-duty citizen," a Fortune magazine article said recently that U.S. volunteer workers in 1949 raised about $3,000,000,000 for philanthropy, including $193,000,000 raised by Community Chest workers.

"Except for the few intellectuals who don't believe in 'joining' and the very poor who can't afford to, practically all adult Americans belong to some club or other, and most of them take part in some joint effort to do good. This prodigious army of volunteer citizens, who take time from their jobs and pleasure to work more or less selflessly for the betterment of the community, is unique in the world," the article said.

Remove accumulated papers, rags and rubbish from basement and attic to make the farm more fire-safe.

Dust and cobwebs around light-bulbs not only cut down the amount of light but also might cause fire, say Michigan State College farm safety specialists.

Failure Inexcusable. There is no excuse for a man being a failure in this country— if he fails at everything else he can still be a politician.

Bennett too Good to Retire

Although he has reached the age of retirement, Dr. Hugh E. Bennett will not yet leave active duty as Chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, according to word just received here by Dave Dawson, local Soil Conservation Service technician. Secretary Charles F. Brannan has announced the extension of Dr. Bennett's appointment for an unspecified period.

Thousands of farmers throughout Michigan know Hugh E. Bennett personally and many of them have welcomed him to their dinner tables. Particularly is this true of cooperators in soil conservation districts and among farmers who form the district governing bodies. "Farmers themselves are largely responsible for the extension of Dr. Bennett's retirement time," Reid Kirk, Chairman of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District said. "Word got around last winter that he would reach the age of 70 on April 15. Under government regulations, he would have retired the last of April.

"However, farmers in his home state of North Carolina decided a man like Dr. Bennett, who probably knows more about soil conservation than anyone else in the world, was too young to go into moth balls with the government. That's considerably younger than General Marshall, Dr. Albert Einstein, or General Douglas MacArthur, and they all seem to be pretty useful yet.

So last January our soil conservation district supervisors in North Carolina passed a resolution at their State meeting asking that the Chief's retirement time be extended. That started the ball rolling.

This unusual executive action by President Truman is a new milestone in the career of a man who is recognized by many as the father of modern soil conservation. But another and more significant recognition has come to "Doc" Bennett in connection with the recent unification of soil conservation functions within the Dept. of Agriculture.

Only a few weeks ago, Secretary Charles F. Brannan announced a new order which would provide "one-step service" for farmers with soil conservation problems.

The Secretary decreed that the Soil Conservation Service and the President and Marketing Administration should move their county personnel into joint offices.

The unification order aroused much public speculation as to "who was taking over whom."

Dawson has pointed out that neither agency loses its program or its right to administer it. Instead, PMA, SCS, and the Forest Service have been directed to work together more closely and more effectively in giving better help to the farmer.

Working with the Tuscola Soil Conservation District Governing body and the county PMA committee, SCS technicians will help develop a well coordinated soil conservation program with no agency working at cross purposes. And these technicians will be responsible for the technical standards of all permanent practices applied by farmers receiving incentive payments from the FMA.

"These are details of the program from the county standpoint," Dawson said. "But from the personal standpoint of Bennett, one of the most significant phases is found in the first objective listed under Brannan's unification order."

This provides that the basic objectives of all Departmental agencies—"shall be the use of each acre of agricultural land within its capabilities and the treatment of each of agricultural land in accordance with its needs for protection and improvement."

And as he faces the future, an "over-age Chief" still much too young for moth balls, Bennett carries with him the knowledge that the principles for which he has fought nearly 50 years, now guide the soil conservation activities of the entire USDA.

Manure on Farm Has High Value Today

Value of manure produced on a farm often comes to a high figure. A. R. Wolcott, Michigan State College agronomist, says that a six-month accumulation of manure on a farm carrying 12 milk cows and the corresponding young stock is equal to five and one-half tons of 10-5-10 fertilizer.

That is worth approximately $300 at present day fertilizer prices.

During spring months when field work is heavy, it's easy to neglect manure spreading. Don't allow this to happen, advise MSC agricultural authorities. Keeping valuable manure in circulation will mean dollars saved and higher crop yields.

Instinct Wins

By Richard H. Wilkinson

WHEN "SNICKER" Snyder, owner-manager of the Whirlwind baseball club, signed on a new player he always handed the newcomer a sheaf of typewritten papers and told him to read every line. Snicker was 57 years old and had been affiliated with baseball a nd baseball players all his life. The game had certain fundamental rules, certain regulations that Snicker felt no rookie could possibly acquire on either a home-town or a college team. Therefore he had written them all down and he made each new player read them.

When Jock Dudley was handed the sheaf of papers he stared at it blankly and grinned. Snicker said sharply: "You read 'em, young feller! Every danged word."

Butch Garrison, Snicker's head scout, had found Jock. Butch was enthusiastic: "The kid's a natural," he told Snicker. "He plays by instinct."

"Instinct be damned!" Snicker said sarcastically. "Some players are naturally good, but, by gurn, I've been in the game long enough to know you gotta learn the fundamentals or you get no place!"

Three days later in the bullpen Snicker watched the new rookie throwing a few to old Dutch Feyerell. Snicker flew off the handle. He could tell by the way Jock was throwing them that he hadn't read the typewritten sheaf of papers. He called Jock aside and laid into him.

But a week passed before Snicker was sure that Jock had read the typewritten rules. Then he wasn't satisfied. "Maybe he read 'em," he snapped at Butch, "but they didn't do him much good. He ain't polished yet."

"He don't need to be polished," Butch says. "I tell you the boy is a natural."

"You're crazy! That stuff's for books. It don't happen."

"It is happening," said Butch. "The kid's throwing 'em and he's hitting 'em. What more do you want?"

"Polish," said Snicker. "He's got to do better."

Facts, however, are facts. Jock pitched in 10 games that season and won them all.

Snicker wasn't satisfied. He wouldn't admit that Butch was right. Yet at the same time he did confess that Jock was a profitable addition to the team.

PERHAPS Snicker was right in his insistence. At any rate, throughout the winter training, Jock steadily improved. He had acquired more polish. Snicker was almost satisfied.

"See!" he said to Butch. "What'd I tell you! The kid's been reading my rules. It's helping him."

"You're balmy," Butch replied. "The kid don't need rules."

And so the two old cronies continued to disagree throughout the summer. Jock Dudley brought laurels to the team.

Snicker was happy. He took all the credit for Jock's fame for himself.

Facts, however, are facts. Jock pitched in 10 games that season and won them all.

The only thorn in his rosebud was Butch. Butch insisted that Jock's greatness was due to no one but himself.

"You're sore," Snicker told him, "because folks are giving me the credit. Every one knows one knows it's them fundamentals I thought up that put Jock where he is. Instinct! Nuts!"

Butch was fed up. He got sore. He told Snicker a few things about himself that Snicker had never heard before. "If you were anything but pig-headed," Butch roared at him, "I'd have told you something long ago."

"Told me what?" yelled Snicker. "I'm always willin' to listen to reason."

"If the reason fits in with your ideas you are," Butch yelled back. "I'd a told you this long ago only I knew the kid was a natural, but you're so thick-headed you'd a thought he wouldn't make the grade unless he read your rules."

"He did read 'em!"

"Like hell he did! That kid that you're so sure got places because of your danged old fundamentals can't read or write! He never read your paper because he couldn't. Now what do you think of that?"

And Snicker didn't snicker.

Any business, large or small, succeeds only as it serves.

Let's Talk It Over

Ed. Vallender, Farm Editor
Station WBCM Bay City

Planting Time Jitters.

Some alarming stories have been coming out of the PMA about what farmers intend to plant this spring. Seems like we're going to be short of corn (considering the numbers of livestock to be fed.) and a few other commodities. The USDA is very worried about this picture. PMA salesmen are touring the country selling the idea of planting more feed grains.

Seems like everyone on the southern edge of the corn belt is getting into cotton. This shift of "planting intentions" has cost one man his job. Ralph Trigg, longtime head of the PMA is out. That'll give you some idea of how much the Ag men in Washington are worried.

Fact is . . . our long range, expanding livestock program needs much more dry feed than formerly produced. The whole structure will collapse if scarcities occur.

Beet Acreage Off.

We have a similar situation here in Northeastern Michigan. It stems, however, from an entirely different problem. The anticipated shortage of manpower has cut into our sugar beet acreage about 25 percent. Many farmers have refused to sign sugar beet contracts because their sons have been drafted leaving them short-handed. Taking farm boys into the service hurts the dairy industry as well as crop crops. In some cases, the farmer and his wife are too old to do the heavy work necessary. There has been a lot of talk about who is essential and who isn't. The sad part of all this muddle is the damage already done. We know of a case where five farms in one section have been put out of commission. Every one of the boys have been drafted. . . and in each case . . . the parents say they are too old to manage alone. These old folks have been forced to sell cows and virtually get out of farming. The best they can do now is rent the land.

Sugar Beets.

A lot of farmers are on the fence about sugar beets. It is one crop that takes a certain amount of hand labor both early and late. Representatives of the Industry have assured us that there will be adequate labor on hand, WHEN NEEDED. (And that labor won't come from Puerto Rica.)

There is the second factor in favor of the farmer. First . . . new tools, available now . . . can cut hand labor in the spring by 60 percent. And . . . with the number of beet harvesters on hand . . . together with the additional ones on order . . . it will be possible for the first time in history to harvest entirely by machinery.

It is possible for a farmer to increase his sugar beet acreage this year and have no fears about getting the beets out of the ground.

But . . . sadly enough . . . if the draft should remove the only able-bodied man from the farm, even mechanical marvels cannot get a crop in or out.

Sugar is number one on the hit parade during a war. A sugar beet contract is mighty important to the farmer . . . and to the country.

Hard hit by inflation many of the farmer sex find it difficult to cover their bareness with the bare necessities.

The same fellow, who splits his sides while looking over the family album, looks into the mirror without cracking a smile.

Day of Resurrection

Now let the heavens be joyful,
Let earth her song begin,
The round world keep high triumph,
And all that is therein;
Let all things seen and unseen
Their notes together blend,
For Christ the Lord is risen,
Our joy that hath no end.

Easter celebration in the early Greek Church, as now, was climaxed at midnight with a cannon shot. With king, queen, and arch-bishops present, priests chanted, bands played, and rockets flared. For this festival, John of Damascus, the greatest poet of his church, in 750 AD wrote The Day of Resurrection.

Meininger -
Bumhoffer

On Saturday evening Miss Anna Margaret Meininger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Meininger of Gagetown, and Edward A. Bumhoffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Bumhoffer of Elkton, were married in New Salem Lutheran Church in Sebawaing. Rev. John Rookle officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in slipper satin and lace. Her silk illusion veil was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies centered with an orchid and wore a pearl necklace.

Miss Marian Meininger, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore orchid lace and taffeta and carried yellow carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Metzger, sister of the groom, and Miss Doris Shapow. They were gowned in Nile green and yellow and carried yellow carnations. All three attendants wore picture hats.

Leonard Bumhoffer of Detroit was his brother's best man. Ushers were George Metzger, John Bernhardt, Frank Meininger and Carl Bumhoffer.

A reception at the Arbeiter hall in Sebawaing followed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Robert Weiss, of Saginaw, the bride wore a colonial style white satin gown and a finger-tip veil of imported French lace, held by a pearl beaded crown. She carried a bouquet of white calla lilies and yellow roses.

Hogs

If farmers give hogs the opportunity, they will consume just the right amounts of different feeds to give them a balanced diet.

Origin of "Leathernecks"

Collars and ties made of steel were issued to officers of the U.S. marines in the early 1800's as a protection in warfare. At the same time, enlisted men were issued leather collars. And that gave the nickname, "Leathernecks" which they are still called to this day.

SHOOT STORY

Different Language

By Richard H. Wilkinson

SHORTLY BEFORE noon on the day the Garrisons left Laredo for Mexico City, their motor went dead. Mrs. Garrison was greatly disturbed. "Of all places!" she said, "to have this happen. I declare, you should have had the car looked at in Laredo."

"I did," said Mr. Garrison. His voice was muffled because his head was beneath the hood. But Mrs. Garrison was paying no attention anyhow. She was gazing about the wild, rugged, treeless country in which they had stopped, as if expecting Pancho Villa and a horde of vicious looking henchmen to rise up from behind a rock. Five horsemen suddenly appeared outlined against the sky on the crest of a nearby hill.

Mrs. Garrison let out a squeak of fright. Into her mind there flashed stories of the roving bands of outlaws that inhabited the hills of Mexico.

Mr. Garrison lifted a grease-be-smeared face and stared at the horsemen. Then he looked at his wife and saw that her cheeks were white. "Rubbish!" he said. "No need to be scared." But his own heartbeats had increased in volume.

The horsemen were coming down the hill. Mrs. Garrison had a wild impulse to flee. She could see the leader of the quintet and his appearance confirmed her fears. Just as the stories had said, he was dark and handsome and sly.

The leader of the group doffed his hat and said something in Spanish that neither of the Garrisons understood. They regarded each other with frightened looks. One of the henchmen dismounted and proceeded to examine the car.

"They're wondering if it's worth anything," Mrs. Garrison said.

"It isn't," Mr. Garrison told her.

There followed a rapid jargon of speech between the riders. Presently two of them uncoiled ropes and attached the ends to the automobile's bumper. It was quite evident that they planned to tow the thing away, and the Garrisons were congratulating themselves on escaping with their lives, when the leader signed to them to enter the vehicle.

Mrs. Garrison shrieked and clung to her husband. "They're going to kidnap us. Oh, Lord, have mercy!"

Mr. Garrison was more practical. "I doubt if they harm us if we do what they say. If we don't—they might cut off our ears."

Thus having set his wife's mind at rest, he preceded her into the car and sat behind the wheel.

AN HOUR LATER they turned into a side road and presently the car stopped before a great rambling ranch house.

The prisoners were ordered to alight. A wizened, copper-colored Mexican unloaded their handbags and led them inside and to a bedroom.

"Not bad for a kidnaper's hide-out," Mr. Garrison commented.

"It will probably take every cent we have to pay the ransom. They think we're rich."

Some one knocked at their door and they both started. But it was

"My father," she said in perfect English, "regrets that he does not speak your language."

The same wizened servant. He beckoned to them and they followed him out and along the corridor and into a dining room. The leader of the kidnappers was waiting for them. The Garrisons were hungry and so they ate. By the time the meal was finished all hands felt pretty gay.

Footsteps sounded on the porch, and a young girl entered. At sight of the Garrisons, she hesitated, but their host greeted her warmly, and beckoned her to him. There followed a jargon of speech between the man and girl. The girl's face suddenly lighted and she looked at the Garrisons.

"My father," she said in perfect English, "regrets that he does not speak your language. But he trusts you have been made comfortable and will stay with him a few days. He has many American friends and whenever the chance offers he likes to extend them the hospitality of his home. He tells me that your car has been repaired and is waiting."

Mr. and Mrs. Garrison looked at each other. Mrs. Garrison said: "Oh, my! Just imagine! Do let's stay, Henry."

And Henry said: "O. K." And for no accountable reason he grinned and felt tenderly of his ears.

The want-ads are newsy, too.

Simple Plans Make Most Attractive Landscape on Farm

Why merely admire attractive landscaping on your neighbor's farm when you can make similar improvements on your farm, asks Joseph T. Cox, landscape extension specialist at Michigan State College.

Most successful landscaping improvements narrow down to a logical arrangement of buildings, lawn areas, and plantings, he says.

Most of us cannot do much about changing building locations, but we can plan better approaches to them. Does your present driveway guide guests to your favorite door? Make the drive wide enough to allow parking space near your front door for two or three cars.

How are your lawn areas arranged? Having them arranged as public lawn, family lawn, and service lawn provides a place for home ground activities. Open expanses of grass with shrubs and flowers at the edges give an enclosure effect. Trees for shade and relief of bareness are very desirable here.

Private lawn spaces at the side or rear of the house need screen plantings for enclosure and privacy for family activities. The service or clothes drying yard can be located in an out-of-the-way place not far from the back door.

Plantings necessary to give your grounds a refined appearance will consist of foundation groups about the base of the house, border or enclosure masses, and trees for wind protection and shade.

Follow a program of proper maintenance for your grounds as they now exist, Cox advises. Explore the adjustments you could make to add convenience and better appearance to your farmstead.

The landscape planner recognizes that practical and convenient grounds will be attractive grounds because they require less time for upkeep.

Baby chicks, pigs and lambs get a healthier start in life when Reddy Kilowatt (electricity) tends the brooder. As Michigan State College tests show, electric heat lamps produce energy-building warmth, prevent huddling, crowding, smothering and other injury. Fire hazard is practically eliminated when electric heat lamps are properly installed.

Your Edison Farm Service Advisor will gladly help you design an electric brooder to suit your needs. His assistance involves no charge or obligation—and, of course, he does not sell wiring or equipment. Just call any Edison office.

Many dealers feature a complete electric brooder unit, including 250 watt infra-red lamp, reflector, porcelain socket and heavy-duty cord.

JEST JESTIN

Good Aim
Driving a new car, a man hit a pedestrian who was crossing the street. Unhurt, the pedestrian demanded, "What's the matter? Are you blind?" Glowering, the motorist replied, "It doesn't look like it, does it? I hit you, didn't I?"

LOCAL OPTION

A vivacious young Clevelander shocked her Boston-reared beau by drawing on her gloves as they started down the street on their first date. "Where I come from," cooed the young man, stuffily, "people would as soon see a woman put on her stockings in public, as her gloves."
"Where I come from," retorted the young lady, "they'd rather!"

Careful Scot
Jock MacGregor was a shy young Scot, anxious to get married but hardly knowing how to go about it. At length he thought he saw his opportunity in a dispatch printed in the local newspaper. It told of a comely young woman who had agreed to marry any man who would pay her father's debts.

Jock called on the money-minded lady, found her to be the pampered daughter of an indulgent widowed father, very pretty and most agreeable. A match seemed very much in prospect, until Jock's native caution moved him to ask a question the young woman dared not answer.
"Lassie," the cagey suitor remarked, "before I marry you, and pay your father's debts, tell me this: 'Who got your old man in debt in the first place?'"

Hold That Temper
A young mother, having saved up for a dining-room set she doted on, saw it installed and went out to market. She returned to find her small son seated under the new table, busily whittling the neat sharp corners off its legs. For a moment she stood aghast, then rushed outdoors to her husband. "John, come quickly!" she cried. "If I touch him, I'll kill him!"

Papa Tells One
My eight-year-old son entered a contest in which he had to tell, in 25 words or less, why he liked a radio program. "I like the Jack Smith show," he wrote, "because as soon as it is over, the Lone Ranger comes on."

WELL, THAT'S DIFFERENT

Howard Da Silva tells of the mother who had to tell her kid that his "Poppy was just killed in a terrible accident."
The kid went into hysterics, and the mother pleaded, "Even if Poppy is dead, he wouldn't want you to cry like this."
"Poppy?" screamed the kid. "I thought you said, 'Hoppy!'"

Well, It Rimes
Don't worry if your job is small
And rewards are few
Remember, the mighty oak
Was once a nut like you.

Never Behind a Rabbit
Hunter: "Is he an intelligent hunting dog?"
Sam: "Yassuh. He gets behind a tree whenever you shoots."

AIE BREAKS
Radio announcers live in dread of "tuffs." One sportscaster still shudders over the time he announced excitedly: "Notre Dame seven, Northwestern six, and once again the Fighting Irish have eked out victory by a narrow virgin!" And then there was the night Westbrook Van Voorhees had a coughing fit on a cigarette program, excused himself with: "Guess I've been smoking too much!"

Michigan Mirror
INTERPRETING THE NEWS

The post-election mood of many legislative leaders is distinctly cool towards making any tax deal with G. Mennen Williams.

Reasons: (1) Williams' partisan attack on Dr. Lee Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, alleging inaction in an official inquiry into the Litchfield school-peddling scandal. (2) The voters' reaffirmation of confidence in the Republican party as shown by the spring election outcome.

The governor keeps insisting that a state corporation profits tax is not a "consumer" tax and that "it could not be translated into a general price increase." His statement is at direct variance with the accepted fact that federal income taxes imposed upon corporations are paid ultimately by consumers in the form of higher prices.

Republican legislative leaders are apt to press for enactment of a gasoline tax increase, already approved by the Senate, and let the chips fall where they may. Such a levy coupled with additional taxes on corporations may be the final answer to needs for better highways and a solution of the state deficit.

The spring election didn't boost the governor's stock with the state legislature.

The unique means of determining draft status for those seeking college training seems established. Centers have been designated all over Michigan to give examinations which will determine whether the students are sufficiently promising as college material to warrant their deferments from military service.

Opposition has been discovered to the plan. Some selective service boards, sparked by Grand Rapids' board No. 48, vow they will defer every farm worker in their jurisdiction if college deferments are allowed. Says Gen. Glenn B. Arnold, Michigan director: "If a board refuses to abide by the regulations, it will be removed."

The senate has delivered a stinging slap at the University of Michigan. It has approved a measure providing that any state institution selling TV rights must make provision for free public reception. Says Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit): "Last year the University piped a broadcast into a Detroit theater and charged $2.50 to viewers—where does that leave the fellow with the TV set?"

Philip A. Hart officially has resigned as commissioner of state corporation and securities commission to continue as director of the Detroit office of price stabilization to which post he was appointed some 2½ months ago.

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, superintendent of schools, urges high school graduates to go ahead with plans to attend college despite draft fears. He says the student may get in one or two years before induction and his program can be more easily completed upon discharge.

Michigan will graduate 25,000 high school students this spring.

Michigan's TB death rate is declining. Discovery of new cases has remained about the same over the last 10 years. Some 6,000 cases are diagnosed annually, as against 5,900 cases per year between 1930 and '39. But the death rate has been cut in half in the last 20 years.

State road maps which have been so difficult to find the last few months now have been distributed. More than 300,000 have been sent out.

Last year 86,417 Michigan residents paid $11,286,439 in intangible taxes on stocks, bonds, mortgages, land contracts and accounts.

The automobile industry in Michigan has completed its largest first quarter output in the history of the business—some 2,000,000 units. It is reasonably confident of doing approximately as well in the next three months. And most car makers are planning on producing guns and civilian goods simultaneously. Perhaps that predicted automobile shortage won't mature.

Another large crop of pheasants is expected in southern Michigan this year. According to rural mail carrier and conservation winter surveys the game birds did not suffer too much from the heavy winter. Too, last year's delayed growing season resulted in an abundance of unharvested corn in many areas which offered a larger than usual food supply.

Frank G. Pardee, state mining engineer and appraiser, has been loaned to the office of defense mobilization in Washington, D. C. Working with the defense minerals administration, he will be in charge of western hemisphere iron ore resources development and supply.

Railroad to the Sky
At one time, steam engines of the Manitowish and Pike's Peak railroad, chuffing their way up the 14,000-foot peak, required three stops along the way to take on 800-gallon gulps of water. The last of the steamer units has been retired. The "Railroad to the Sky" is now completely dieselized.

Clip Dairy Cows
Keeping dairy cows clean and well clipped is important because disease germs survive a long time where they can hide in dust and filth.

Speeding Around Sun
The Earth moves around the sun with an average velocity of about 1109 miles per minute. It is most rapid in January, when we are nearest the sun, and slowest in July, when we are farthest away.

Not a Pretty Picture.
It's not a pretty picture, but so long as the law of the knife and bayonet prevails in the world it will be well for Uncle Sam to whet his weapons well.

Personal News and Notes from Deford

Intermediate Fun—

The members of the intermediate class of the Deford Sunday School enjoyed a party at the home of their teacher, Horace Murry, Saturday night. Games of various kinds were directed by Lora Jean Allen. One game played by rolling a ball on the floor and seeing where it stopped was very amusing to say the least and the ball acted as though it was as confused as to where to stop or which way to choose to go as people are sometimes to find their course in life. After the recreation, refreshments were served and all left for their homes at a late hour.

Intermediates, if you like to fellowship in fun, join the Sunday School class and you will hear about the parties.

April W. C. T. U.—

Thursday afternoon the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, who were present at the home of Mrs. Lena Murry, enjoyed the lesson given by Mrs. E. J. Harris of Kingston. The chairman, Mrs. Edna Warner, conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Amanda McArthur led the devotions. It was announced that there will be a temperance film, "Power of Decision," shown in the church Friday night. Specials in music are also planned. According to the recommendations, everyone will enjoy this film. Help us to help children and youth to choose the best in life. We live only once here on earth, but God's judgments are everlasting.

The hostess served refreshments which were much enjoyed.

Temperance film, "Power of Decision," to be shown tonight at 8:00 p. m. in the church. Recommended for all ages and everyone will be welcome.

Midweek services in church Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. May we see you there?

Parents Are Urged to Let Children See Dentist Alone

ATLANTA, Ga. — Two Atlanta dentists wish parents would leave their children alone when they have teeth worked on. They believe it would be better for all concerned if parents do not accompany their children into the dentist's operating room while the children are receiving treatment.

Say Drs. Frank L. Lamons and Mary L. Morgan: "Departure of the parent from the scene brings miraculous results in every instance of behavior difficulty." And even though there's no apparent trouble brewing, "the dentist's relationship with the child and the parent will be a happier one."

A petition has been defined as a document that shows how many people lacked the backbone to say so.

Utah Board Says Probation Is Better Than Parole Use

SALT LAKE CITY—The Utah adult probation and parole department reports that 88 per cent of Utah prisoners placed on probation during the last two years were rehabilitated to take useful places in society.

Those paroled and returned to society with the stigma of a prison record did not have as much success. The report for rehabilitation of parolees was 74 per cent.

Cost of supervision of men on parole and probation is $77 a year, compared with an approximate cost of $700 to keep a man in prison.

Monday they will arrive in Washington where a sightseeing bus will take them to many of the interesting places, such as: Lincoln Memorial, Congressional Library, and the Capitol Building. That same afternoon, a train will take them to Jersey City in time to board a special ferry and cross the Hudson River, arriving in New York City late that afternoon.

The balance of the afternoon and evening will be spent at the Empire State Building, United Nations Building, Subway, Macy's department store and their own pleasures.

Forest Project Pictures Shown At F. B. Meeting

Elkland Farm Bureau members were entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Golding.

David H. Dawson of the soil conservation department was a guest and spoke on "Conservation, its Purpose, its Need, and its Use." The purpose: To build up and retain the fertility of our soil for future generations. The need: Never before in the history of the world has full production been more urgent. He also noted that America's best non-secret weapon is her ability to produce. The use was illustrated by knowing our different soils and producing crops suitable to the soil type and the reclamation of waste lands.

Mr. Dawson further illustrated his talk by showing pictures of Saginaw, Lapeer and Tuscola Counties. Local scenes were taken at the E. W. Kercher farm on River Road where he has many acres devoted to the forest rehabilitation project. These scenes proved very interesting as out-of-door activity evidently agrees with Mr. Kercher. He was shown working among the trees. Another scene was the Walter Goodall family bringing in the Christmas tree from the Kercher Scotch Pines plantation.

A short business meeting and discussion period followed, after which twenty-two members enjoyed a lunch furnished by the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Eastman will entertain the group May 14. All Farm Bureau members are urged to attend.

Fullmer Sponsors Tuscola Swine Show

Tuscola County's 4-H and F.F.A. market hog feeders, parents, and leaders were guests of Frank Fullmer, sponsor of the semi-annual swine show, at the Mexican Tea Room near the Caro Stockyards Wednesday evening, April 2. About 45 exhibitors and guests were present. The meeting and program were planned by Fullmer, owner of the Caro Stockyards, and George C. MacQueen, County 4-H Club Agent.

There was considerable interest and discussion concerning enlarging and improving the project, and concerning the type and quality of hogs that are needed to attract top sale buyers, Arthur Parrish, operator of the Lee Packing Company, Caro, spoke briefly, stating that the present day pork buyer demands a meat-type hog, and will pay a premium for stretchy meaty hogs in preference to over fat lard hogs which were the type most desired a few years ago. This change in demand has resulted from the increasing popularity of vegetable shortening and its use instead of lard.

It was concluded at the close of the discussion that a swine feeder's tour about June 1 would be beneficial to advise the 4-H Club members and to identify hogs being kept for the fall show, which is to be held September 25.

Fullmer has provided cash awards for top hog exhibitors since the semi-annual shows began eight years ago, and has awarded handsome trophies to both exhibitor and buyer of the champion hog at the last three shows. Joyce Little, Cass City, exhibited the champion at the 1951 spring sale, which was purchased by Howard Wells, in charge of the meat department at Kauffman's Super Market, Caro.

Movies and games provided entertainment at the swine feeders meeting.

Plans were made for the annual meeting of the church society following a potluck supper on Monday, April 30. A nominating committee will be appointed to name candidates for church and Sunday School officers, by Rev. S. R. Wurtz, council president.

D. W. Benkelman and George Dillman were appointed as a committee to audit the books of the church and its auxiliary groups.

Local Draft Board Has Authority for Farming Deferment

Many inquiries have been received by E. L. Anthony, dean of the school of agriculture at Michigan State College, regarding agricultural occupational deferments in the present draft for the military effort. Dean Anthony, who is a member of the Michigan Defense Production Council, says local draft boards have complete authority in connection with these deferments.

It is the dean's understanding that county mobilization committees have been advised to keep local draft boards informed on the need for farm toys in their areas. As head of the county mobilization committee, the PMA chairman is the man who can act. He can recommend, according to reports from Washington, that a person will be of more value to the nation in the production of food than in the armed forces, if such is his opinion.

Dean Anthony reported that farmers had lost much of their good "know-how" hired help to industrial plants. The only help they can depend upon are farm-reared young men who are already on farms.

The dean cited a report in the Michigan Farmer, state farm publication, that 1,523 men in Michigan had been given I-C deferments (Agricultural) as of January 31, 1951.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS NAMED TO HONOR SOCIETY HERE

Club, serving as its president in the twelfth grade. An Honor Society member since the eighth grade, she served twice as an officer of the group and has been a member as well as president of the student board.

Hill Places Fourth.

The hall guide commissioner assumes a large responsibility in the field of student self-government and to that office Edna Mae Hill has given an unusual degree of ability and devotion. Both class and home room offices have claimed her attention and she has assumed an active role in the projects of the council. With all these time consuming activities, she has found it possible to maintain a scholarship placing her fourth in the largest class ever to graduate from the local school.

Another senior who will be missed in the role of cheer leader, is Ariene Lane. Dramatics, too, found her an able participant as evidenced by roles in both speech class and senior plays. Twice she served as home room president and as a sophomore she was named to the leadership of her class.

Sharing the editor-ship of this year's Peramos, Marilyn Wagg has also served on the Cassmopolitan staff. Well up among the highest fraction of her class in scholarship, she has found time for plays, council membership, and class and home room leadership.

Townsend Leads Boys.

Leading the boys of his class in scholarship, Tommy Townsend has also been one of its most active members in terms of every project and function the class has undertaken. He has participated in all sports being out for football, basketball, and baseball all four years. His home room elected him its president in the junior year and he served as vice president of the sophomore class. Last year's Junior-Senior Banquet found him toastmaster and he also played a part in that year's Junior Play.

Climaxing four years of activity, Ilene Ludlow was honored by her classmates by being named their president for the fourth and most glorious year. Under her leadership, the class has successfully sponsored a variety of projects and looks forward with great eagerness to the culminating events of its commencement. Outstanding among her contributions have been roles in three major dramatic productions, the speech class, junior and senior class plays.

Pat Stirtton's sterling qualities were recognized when he was elected as a sophomore to the junior honor society. He was treasurer of his class during the same year and graduates with one of the highest scholastic records earned by boys in his class.

Athletics and vocational agriculture pursuits have highlighted the high school career of Jim Fox. His membership in the honor society also began in the tenth grade. Vice president of the F. F. A. as a junior, he was elevated to the presidency of that group during the past year.

Colbert Four-year Society Member.

A four year honor society member is Sally Colbert. She has served both as home room and class president and gained valuable experience as both student librarian and teacher. Three years a council member, she is the present secretary of that body.

Among the able students in her class, Mary Goodall contributed two years of service as a hall guide and has been a member of the M. E. C. She too was first elected to the junior honor society.

In addition to the seniors inducted at this week's assembly, twenty-three underclassmen were also presented with the pins and certificates emblematic of society membership. Arrangements for the induction ceremony were in the hands of the active society members under the guidance of Otto Ross, sponsor. Mrs. Mary Holcomb, who has served as a member of the faculty council since its inception, gave the keynote address at the service.

The following from the other classes were elected to honor society membership.

Eight were chosen from the eleventh grade:

Charlyne Bartz, Bonnie Benkelman, Joyce Harris, Joyce Lounsbury, Tom Schwaderer, Ellen Sickler, Dick Wallace and Mary Wood.

The tenth graders honored were: Jack Connell, Shirley Dorland and Bob Fritz.

Three girls and a boy were lected from the ninth grade: Russell Foy, Janice James, Anne Lorentzen and Shirley Smith.

Eight eighth graders were selected:

Margaret Doughty, Robert Freeman, Nellie Graham, Norma Harris, Bob McEachern, Sally McGrath, Sharon Seeger and Catherine Wood.
