

Parrott Nears Completion of New Cruiser at Farm Home

William A. Parrott is fully qualified to give a lesson in how to build a $15,000 ship for $4,500 with the near completion of his pleasure cruiser "Elaine" at his farm, three miles west and three miles south of Cass City.

When the finishing touches are completed within six weeks, Parrott will have completed five long years of work on the sleek ship. Parrott started in the spring of 1946 and used available materials from around the Cass City area for the majority of the raw materials for his ship.

Although most of the lumber is of oak, Parrott was forced to travel from the east coast to the west coast for everything needed for completion of the job.

First out-of-area stop for Parrott was for the designs. This was handled by Ross of Long Island, New York.

Then, with blueprints in hand, Parrott started work on the ship. The frame was constructed of good solid oak from this area, but the planking came from Port Orford—cedar lumber that especially fitted to the needs of the ship builder.

Oak and cedar were used nearly exclusively in the "Elaine" although Parrott reports that in the bulkhead there is fir plywood.

Although hampered throughout the five years by material shortages, the ship gradually took shape and now is practically ready for her shakedown cruise.

Bay Port residents will be one of the first to see the boat in the water. Parrott plans to launch her there. Persons watching the launching will see a boat 38 feet long, with a 11 foot, six inch beam and a three foot, two inch draft.

If they are one of the chosen few to be on deck, they will be able to find two 100 horsepower Packard Marine engines, capable of powering the Elaine at a top speed of 25 miles per hour, or of cruising at 15 miles per hour. The big motors require lots of gas and a 200 gallon tank is installed to keep the Elaine moving.

A glance into the rest of the ship will reveal sleeping quarters for six persons, with complete kitchen facilities, including a kerosene stove.

The entire ship was built in a shed at the Parrott home. The ship was so big that Parrott was forced to knock out a wall to get

West Elkland 4-H "Little Achievement" At Martus Home

The West Elkland 4-H Club held its spring "Little Achievement" on Monday, April 16, at the Wm. Martus home. Completed projects were exhibited just as they will be at Millington on April 19. Projects included: Knitting, clothing, food preparation, egg production and personal accounts. Several hobby collections belonging to the club members were shown. Mr. MacQueen talked about the achievement at Millington and the projects available for the summer. He showed two very nice films. Awards were given to the children who completed their winter projects and this was followed by a lunch by the hostess, Mrs. Martus. This was the sixth "Little Achievement" held by the West Elkland Club since it was organized in 1947.

Two New Members For Draft Board

Responsibility for acting on the recent draft laws has been further divided by the Tuscola County Board by the addition of two new members.

Nicholas VanPetter, Reese, and Fred Henderson, Kingston, will join the three older members of the board. They are: E. B. Schwaderer, Cass City, chairman; Ward J. Walker, Caro, vice chairman; and Roy Bodimer, Vassar.

Dillman Paces Keglers in Roll-Off

Led by George Dillman's 265 single game and 620 series, Dillman's team took the opening series in the roll-off for the championship recently.

Dillman's picked up a total of 2389 pins while Huffs rolled 2345, including a nine pin spot.

The championship roll-off will be finished as soon as the regular season is completed. It takes two defeats for elimination according to the tourney rules.

Auto Accidents Injure Two More Persons in Caro

Two persons were injured in automobile accidents Friday, April 13, in Tuscola County.

Most seriously injured was Stella Walker, Caro, who received internal injuries and a broken leg when Wayne Duncan, 16, Caro, backed into her at Hoffman's parking lot in the county seat village. Miss Walker was taken to the Caro hospital and later moved to a hospital in Saginaw.

Osband Injured. Peter Osband, Caro, was taken to the Caro hospital when he ran into a parked wrecker belonging to J. Fox of Mayville. Osband claimed that he failed to see the truck, although a man was stationed in the back of the wrecker with a light.

In a minor wreck Sunday the car of Donald Gardner, Deford, was smashed by Florence Logan, Caro. Logan was blinded by the lights of an auto and failed to see Gardner's car parked on the side of the road near the V. F. W. hall on M-81.

Students Perform At Caro Hospital

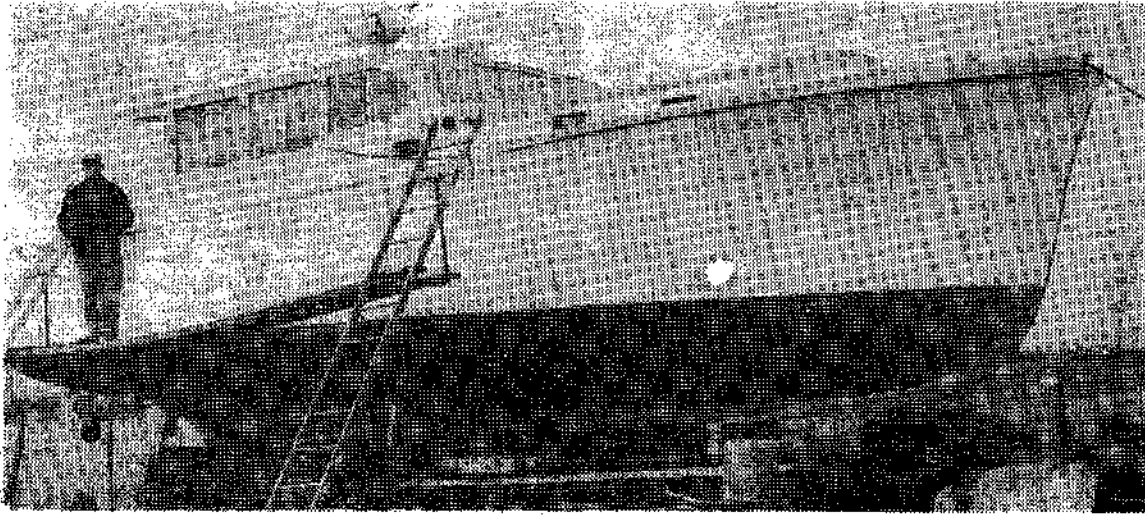

Members of the Cass City Music Department entertained members of the Caro Infirmary Tuesday night with a half-hour mixed singing and instrumental show.

Joan Holmberg and Nancy DeLong gave soprano solos and Jack Cook sang a tenor solo.

James Jezewski entertained members with a clarinet solo while Don Borg, high school music director, together with his wife, concluded the program with a vocal duet.

The show was sponsored by the Junior Red Cross at Caro.

The "Elaine" A Beauty at A Bargain Price

Here is the result of five long years of labor for William Parrott, Cass City. The "Elaine," a pleasure cruiser, built to withstand the rugged weather of the Great Lakes.

Sebewaing Spoils Hawks Bid for Opening Loop Win

Sebewaing High School, who spoiled Cass City's chances for a Upper Thumb Championship in basketball, returned to haunt the Hawks in the opening game of the Conference basketball season Tuesday when they outplayed Cass City to win, 9-3, at Sebewaing.

The Hawks lost the ball game in the third inning when they jumped on starter Gerald Whittaker for three runs, enough to win the ball game.

Altogether, Sebewaing combed the combined offerings of Whittaker and Lee Hartzel who took over in the fourth inning for 10 hits, while Schmidt was holding the Hawks to a scant three blows in his seven inning stint.

Both teams showed the results of the bad weather that has played havoc with pre-game practice. Cass City made six errors and Sebewaing was charged with four misplays.

Trailing by four runs going into the top of the fifth inning, Cass City threatened to get back into the ball game as they pushed over two runs in the inning to close the ap to 4-2, with two innings left.

In the sixth, Cass City scored again and were in a position to win the ball game when the roof fell in in the bottom half of the inning. Sebewaing scored five runs to kill whatever chance the Hawks had of pulling the game out of the fire.

Many Attend Youth Convocation Services

A record crowd of young persons attended the Spring Youth Convocation at the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church last Sunday.

The gospel team, Charles Fleck and Theodore Snider, of North Central College gave leadership in all the services of the day. They were well received and gave outstanding service in message and song.

Rev. Falst of Canada brought challenging messages in the afternoon and evening service.

There were about 300 served at the evening meal.

There were more than 300 persons in attendance at each of the services, afternoon and evening.

Delegates to Attend Rotary Conference

Cass City Rotary Club will send delegates to the district conference at the Hotel Bancroft in Saginaw tonight and tomorrow according to plans of club members.

Tentatively slated to attend the meeting are President Bob Hunter, President-elect Curt Hunt, Secretary Willis Campbell and Treasurer George Clara.

At the regular meeting of the organization Tuesday noon, M. C. "Mac" McLellan showed Rotarians slides of his trip to California.

At next Tuesday's meeting members of the Gavel Club will be guests of the Rotary Club, according to the Rotary bulletin.

Cass City Band to Compete in State Festival Saturday

Cass City's High School Band will compete in the State Band and Orchestra Festival at the Ann Arbor High School Saturday morning at 9:55 a. m. for the first time in the history of the music department.

The 54-piece band won the right to compete in the state festival by winning a superior rating in the district competition held here March 17.

The Cass City band will be one of 102 bands and orchestras slated to compete in two cities and four different auditoriums.

Ann Arbor will be the host to all the Class "A" and "B" senior high bands and all junior high bands. All class "C" and "D" bands will meet at Ypsilanti Saturday.

The Cass City band plans to leave here at five a. m. to be in Ann Arbor in time for its scheduled appearance in the Festival.

Besides Cass City, other villages represented in the State Meet from this area will include Elkton, Caro and Mayville.

Coming Auctions

Mrs. J. E. Seed will hold an auction of household goods at the premises located 3 blocks north of the spotlight on Saturday, April 21.

Clifford Downing will hold an auction 1/2 mile south and 1 mile east and 70 rods north of Wisner on Saturday, April 28.

Howarth Chosen To Receive M S C Scholarship Award

Carol J. Howarth, Cass City, has been chosen as one of 406 Michigan high school seniors to receive scholarships for the 1951-52 year. It was announced today by Prof. A. J. Clark, chairman of the MSC scholarship committee.

The grants are awarded on the basis of an honor scholastic average, financial need and good extra-curricular activities in high school. The scholarships cover total course fees at Michigan State for one year, although they can be renewed for a total of four years if the student qualifies.

Miss Howarth is Valedictorian of her class with an 8.84 average and was one of Cass City's most active students in extra-curricular work.

Four other Tuscola County high school students were chosen by Clark. They were: Nan L. Stewart, Caro; Shirley L. York, Mayville; David G. Lewis, Millington; and Julia A. Liberacki, Unionville.

Huron County has five scholarship winners. They are: Donald White, Bad Axe; Rosalie Fealko, Harbor Beach; David Rethford, Owendale; Margaret McIntyre, Pigeon; and Stanley Gettel, Sebewaing.

Addresses of eight area service men are listed in this issue of the Chronicle.

Fairgrove Trucker Takes Mail Contract

Harold C. Causley, Fairgrove trucker, will carry the mail to northern communities of Michigan formerly served by a Detroit and Mackinac railway train which discontinued service recently.

Causley will begin the service Monday and the contract will run until June 30, this year, at which time it is renewable for a four-year period.

There will be two star routes operated by Causley. One from Bay City to Alpena and return, the other to Rogers City and return.

Pair From Cass City Enter Mercy Hospital

Two Cass City residents are in serious condition at the Mercy Hospital in Bay City with undiagnosed illnesses.

Mrs. James Colbert entered the hospital Monday in severe pain for a check-up diagnosis and Frank Reid was driven to Bay City by Robert Hunter on Tuesday.

Reid has had blood transfusions and has been ill here for several days.

Rev. Vender Delegate To General Assembly

Rev. Melvin R. Vender, Presbyterian minister at Cass City, was elected a commissioner from this area to attend the 163 general assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Cincinnati May 22-30, at a Presbyterian meeting Tuesday at Kind.

The general assembly meets annually with an equal number of elder and clergy commissioners from the 232 Presbyteries in the United States.

Attending from this area, besides Rev. Vender, will be Rev. E. Gordon Block and Mr. Harriman, from Flint Presbyterian Churches and Mrs. Inez Merriman of Decker.

Accompanying Rev. Vender to the spring meeting was E. G. Golding, elder commissioner of the Presbyterian Church of Cass City.

Agency Reports on Clothing Pick-Up

Local churches received a report early this week from the Interdenominational Overseas Relief Agency of the Church World Service stating that two car loads of clothing were sent to Korea as a result of the clothing collection drive in March.

Cass City contributed clothing through the efforts of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches here, the United Brethren Church from Lansing made the local area pick-up.

Another pick-up of clothing has been scheduled in May.

1224 Tons of Debris

Bentley Moves Plenty of Trash From Local Streets and Alleys

Ever stopped to think why Cass City is such a clean town? Maybe you thought it was just naturally that way because of the lack of dirt producing factories and careful citizens.

Perhaps these factors do enter into the picture, but Kenneth Bentley, Cass City, says it isn't so. For every week during the year, Bentley's business is transporting the trash from local alleys and containers to the city dump; on the edge of Cass City.

And over the course of the 16 months that Bentley has been operating the service in the place of Jim McNeil, whom he replaced, Bentley has moved tons and tons of debris.

In an average week, Bentley will pick up from the containers placed in alleys, six truck loads of garbage—and each load is approximately three tons. A little quick work with the pencil reveals that Bentley has moved about 1224 tons of waste material since he started in business.

Of course pick-ups vary. Bentley has made as high as five pick-ups in one spot since he began his work. That's 15 tons from one spot—an all time record for Cass City.

Bentley may break the record in the week starting Monday, April 30. For that week has been designated as the annual clean-up, paint-up, fix-up week in Cass City.

During the week all citizens are expected to band together to put the village in tip top shape. Merchants, school children and homeowners are scheduled to participate in the drive. Bentley will have his busiest week if the schedule to be published in the Chronicle next week is adhered to.

Regardless of the amount of trash collected in clean-up week or during the year, it all goes to the city dump and is burned, Bentley said.

Winners in the Americanism essay writing contest conducted in the junior high and senior high school here, have been announced by Mrs. Arthur Little, secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary which sponsored the contest. The topic was "Michigan's Place in the United States Today" and pupils taught by Mrs. Mary Holcomb and Otto Ross participated. Capable judges who gave of their time and ability were Mrs. K. I. MacRae, Ms. Grant Patterson and Mrs. E. H. Starmann.

Winners in the high school, all eleventh graders were: First, Ellen Sickler; second, Ronald Pasluszny; and third, Violet Gordon. Kathy Wood in the eighth grade wrote the essay which rated first place for the second consecutive year.

Second place rating went to Sally McGrath and third place to Keith O'Dell.

Medals will be presented to the winners by the Legion Auxiliary. The winning essays are published elsewhere in today's Chronicle.

Gavel Club Stages "Television" Show

With Curt Hunt acting as toastmaster for the evening, the Gavel Club entertained guests on Ladies' Night with a comedy skit "Television Show."

Acting out the "broadcast" was Les Ross, Buzz Wallace, Jack Essau and Warren Wood.

In the regular meeting before the skit, plans for a full time supervisor for the playground this summer were discussed.

Help Wanted During Clean-up, Fix-up Week

Kenneth Bentley throws another load of garbage on the back of his truck. Bentley has been on the job for 16 months now, claims to have moved over a 1000 tons of debris. He expects a big assist during clean-up week, April 30 to May 5.

These Essays Take First Place In Legion Writing Contest

"Gosh, just look at that moon up there," sighed Betty. Bill cocked his head and looked questioningly at it. It certainly did look big and important up in that clear Michigan sky. "You know, started Betty, "this is the best weiner roast we've ever had, but I think we're taking this beautiful night, and the moonlight on the lake, and this whole state of Michigan, too much for granted." She didn't seem to be talking to anyone in particular. All was quiet except for the crackle of the leaping flames in the fire.

Bill began to recall what his dad had said at the supper table last night. He had been talking about Michigan's second largest industry.

BE GLAD WHEN YOU'RE DEAD

President Roosevelt's favorite story was about the commuter from Westchester County, a Republican stronghold, who always walked into his station, handed the newspaper a quarter, picked up the New York Herald Tribune, glanced at the front page and then handed it back as he rushed out to catch his train. Finally the newsboy, unable to control his curiosity any longer, asked his customer why he only glanced at the front page.

"I'm interested in the obituary notices," said the customer.

"But they're way over on page 24, and you never look at them," the boy objected.

"Boy," said the tycoon, "I'm interested in will be on page one, all right!"

Mulching Garden

A good mulch between the rows and a little hand weeding in the drill will keep the winter garden free of weeds. The mulch will also help keep shoes free of mud when vegetables are gathered.

Eggs from Stockings

If plans are being made to crochet rugs from old silk stockings, cut them straight across into rings and then link them together. This trick does away with all the sewing.

Circles under the eyes usually mean a man has been making the rounds.

Day Camp Planner For Local Scouts

At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Tuscola County Girl Scout Council, held April 11, in Caro, Mrs. B. H. Starmann of Cass City was elected treasurer to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. J. Austin of Fairgrove.

Dates were set for this year's day camp to be held in Akron as follows: July 11-13 for Brownies and July 17-20 for all other Girl Scouts, with an overnight camp on the 19th for all girls 13 years or older or curved bar Scouts.

One point stressed by the group was the desire to have more parents present at the Court of Awards which will be held around a campfire on the evening of July 19. Cass City parents are urged to attend this session and the family potluck dinner which precedes it.

Mrs. B. Wellemeyer of Vassar, Mrs. B. H. Starmann of Cass City, Mrs. B. Berry of Caro, and Mrs. Tim Sellers of Akron, have been appointed to investigate the cost of purchasing a trailer and equipment for the Girl Scouts of this county to use for overnight and week-end camping trips.

John T. Robinson Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for John Thomas Robinson, 29, of Pontiac were held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at Little's Funeral Home. Rev. Robert McLean of Bad Axe officiated and burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Robinson, he was born in Sheridan Township July 3, 1921, and died April 11, 1951.

Besides the parents, survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Harold Bowen and Mrs. Delmer Bowen, both of Bad Axe; two brothers, Ira of Detroit, and Clifford at home; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson of Cass City.

Hitchhikers

The cocklebur carries its seeds to far places by catching on to turbering animals or to clothing of passers-by.

Young Animals

Even a slight change in feeding schedule can cause a digestive upset in young animals, just as it does in human beings.

GREENLEAF

Mrs. Olin Bouck entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Elaine Nemeth Wednesday of last week. Various games were played and after the gifts were opened, ice cream and cakes were served. The honor guest received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hempton and daughter, Caroline, and son, Walter, spent the week end in Pontiac visiting relatives.

Fraser church choir met Friday evening, last week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Thorpe. Weather and roads permitting the next meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. James Mudge this (Friday) evening.

Mrs. W. J. Ballagh of Greenleaf has returned home after spending the past six weeks with her son and two daughters in Detroit and Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ballagh of Greenleaf had as Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ballagh and son, Wayne, of Detroit and Mrs. W. J. Ballagh of Greenleaf.

People never grow old by living—only by losing interest in it.

Home Demonstration Courses Save Housewives $42,000

Possible savings of more than $45,000 in clothing budgets were accomplished in 1950 by Michigan homemakers through their activities in home demonstration groups, sponsored by Michigan State College's Cooperative Extension Service.

Marjorie Eastman, extension clothing specialist, says that high clothing prices have caused many women to turn to home sewing as a means of cutting costs. Remodeling and selection of fabrics have also been popular topics for home demonstration groups.

Training for the projects is provided by clothing specialists from MSC in cooperation with county home demonstration agents. They train leaders, who in turn train local group members—and it is all free.

Instruction is planned to progress from simple garments to more complicated work. Dressmaking has been the most popular subject and was carried on throughout the state. Reports show that in 1950, 3,987 dresses were made at savings of more than $16,000. Dresses made as a result of previous lessons were valued at $10,000.

Children's clothing programs grew in popularity in 1950. Home demonstration agents estimate that homemakers saved $3,000 through these lessons.

Tailoring and remodeling work was valued at $16,000. Other phases of clothing are presented to members—such as fabric selection and shopping aids.

Home demonstration work is carried on throughout Michigan. If you are interested in joining a group to study phases of home-making, call at the county extension office, located at Caro.

National Home Demonstration Week will be celebrated throughout the United States, April 29-May 6, as a salute to the women who are bettering their homes through membership in extension groups.

KATHLEEN NORRIS Love Delusions

"HOW CAN WE HELP our daughter?" writes Lucy Cotton, from Duluth. "Fay is 24, our only child, but we had my niece, whom I will call Meg and Emily, living with us for many years. Emily married at 19, three years ago, and has a baby son. Meg worked in an insurance office and was married last year."

"Neither girl is actually as pretty as our Fay, but both are attractive, confident and popular. Of their small estate only a few hundreds are left, but Fay will inherit enough from us and her grandparents to be financially independent. However, both Harry and I thought that she should find occupation, too. She completed a course as a kindergarten, but did not care for the work; later she and a friend opened a tea and gift shop, in which her interest did not last long. The girls sold out, and Fay went to seriously for amateur theatricals, having real talent in character and comic parts. She also worked hard as property woman and prompter, and we hoped she was really started."

Imaginary Infatuations

"However, a year ago, she began to give unmistakable signs of nervous disorder. She shut herself away from us, sometimes was absolutely silent and moody, sometimes talked fast in what a psychologist later called 'elation.' (We took her to our best mental man, who did help, and advised care, love and time as the cure.) From what she told him he gathered that jealousy of her cousins, perhaps unconscious, was partly the cause.

"... best mental man ..."

"Fay seemed better, and for a few months was more like her old self. But now there is a new phase, infinitely disturbing to me. It began, I see now, when she told me last summer that her psychologist was not only in love with her, but had made improper advances. As he is a married man of 50, with three sons, I was at first shocked, and then incredulous. I persuaded my husband to talk her into giving up treatments from this man, which she did."

"To make the rest of the story short, Fay now believes, or at least asserts, that at least half the men she meets are infatuated with her. Her cousins' husbands, their male relatives, our clergyman, even the postman and grocer are all by turns supposedly under her sway, and she relates her affairs with these men with a relish that makes my heart ache with pity and shame."

"How Can We Help Her?"

"Yesterday she announced to the papers her engagement to a man I am convinced never had the slightest romantic feeling for her. He is a business associate of her father's which makes it the more embarrassing. Reporters telephoned him, and he went to see Harry, and we were saved publicity, at least, but Fay took the matter very lightly, laughing it off by saying that apparently the man had changed his mind. 'Whom your fastidious daughter had the honor to refuse!' she will say when any man's name is in the paper; whether he is engaged, or going to the front, or has been given some honor or promotion."

"My husband and I can't bear to see her going on into middle-age like this. When she was a small girl she did romance about things; we expected her to outgrow it. But it seems she never has. How can we help her?"

Since she is still very young, and since she has some property to give her a sense of security, I would, in her case, spike her guns in advance. You and her father love her enough to do this subtly and tenderly. Don't harp on it. But remind her often that you see through it.

Tell her that you and her friends know that she wants to marry, that it is quite natural, but that only by occupying herself in some hospital or Red Cross or charity work—so terribly needed now on all sides!—can she learn to forget herself, distinguish truth from fable, and make real friends among the sort of men who interest her.

Perhaps your strongest argument will be that if she decides to grow up now she can make a good life for herself, but that in 10 years she will be confirmed as the simpering, flirtatious old maid.

A pink elephant has been defined as a beast of bourbon.

Treat Seed Before Spring Plantings

In a short time it will be oat planting season, so now is the time to treat seeds. Assistant county agricultural agent Byron E. Carpenter has this advice from Ed Andrews, Michigan State College plant disease specialist, to pass on to farmers.

A new threat to oats developed in 1950 with the appearance of stem rust, race 7. This race had been confined to barberries previously, but caused heavy infections in late fields last year.

The "Bond X D69, varieties, which make up a large percentage of the acreage, were susceptible. In spite of this, the Bond varieties such as Clinton, Eston, Kent, and Bonham, are resistant to more of the prevalent races of rust than any of the older varieties.

In view of this threat, it is more important than ever that growers do what they can to prevent other diseases as much as possible. Seed treatment will not prevent rust, but it will greatly reduce the chances of heavy losses from smut, seedling blight, root rot, and Septoria diseases.

Andrews advises farmers to plant on land that did not grow oats last year. Treat the seed with organic mercury compounds such as New Improved Ceresan or Ceresan M, according to directions on the container. If the seed has not been treated by the elevator, any of the home made equipment like the barrel treater or the Minnesota gravity type will do a good job. Information on these pieces of equipment may be obtained from the agent's office.

Mixing by hand in the hopper of the planter at planting time is not advised. For best results, treat the seed several days or longer before planting.

To Ready Surface

Cracks in plaster should be filled with spackling compound or patching plaster before a wall surface is repainted.

Save Poultry Feed

Spilled feed is expensive litter. To save the wasted feed, fill the hoppers only two-thirds full. Also, supply only enough feed for one day's use in a hopper of the right size.

Public to View 4-H Club Work Tonight

The 4-H achievement exhibits will be available for viewing by the general public Friday evening, April 20, at Millington High School from 7:00 p. m. to 10:00 p. m., says George C. MacQueen, County 4-H Club Agent. This achievement climaxes the winter 4-H program. A great deal of activity will be held during the three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Exhibits will be brought in by club leaders from 9:00 to 4:00 Thursday, judging will be done Friday with open house Friday evening; Saturday will bring the annual style revue at 1:30 p. m. Judges secured are Mrs. Dorothy Pohl, home demonstration agent in Lapeer County, Miss June Wilkinson, home demonstration agent in Huron County, Mrs. Corrine Ketchum, assistant state club leader, Nevels Pearson, assistant state club leader, Walter Messer, 4-H Club Agent at Lapeer, Dave Dawson, SCS technician, and Wes Raven, Detroit Edison Farm Service Advisor, along with Irwin Teichman and Irwin Raven also of Detroit Edison.

The camel, often called the "ship of the desert," is one of the ugliest and meanest of all animals. Its temper is sad and sullen, interrupted by fits of anger and rage. The personal habits of the camel are so bad it has few friends, even among other animals.

Aids Perambulation

An ingenious housewife keeps a pail of sand close by for icy walks. She procured a wooden butter tub from a dairy products firm which she coated a brilliant blue to match the shutters on the house. A peasant design was stenciled on the side of the tub. The man of the house cooperated by making a large wooden scoop and painting it to match. The set adds a decorative note to the entranceway.

Safeguards Workers
More and more manufacturers, plant, mill and factory owners are utilizing color to minimize accidents in operating dangerous machinery. Machinery is so painted that its color will contrast with the material or metal being worked on. Walls and floors are also painted in light colors to utilize all illumination. This makes dangerous working parts stand out more distinctly. The chance of accidents caused by poor visibility is thus reduced.

The highly-touted bi-partisan policy of Gov. G. Mennen Williams has blown up in his face and possibly his entire tax program with it. When the governor promised to veto any gas tax bill exceeding three-fourths of a cent per gallon, Rep. Victor A. Knox (R-Sault Ste Marie) said Williams "was out of line" and left the executive office. Speaker of the House Knox had gone on record as favoring a corporation levy. Now he says, "Perhaps not all Republicans feel the same."

Prospects are fading that the legislature will enact any kind of a corporation profits tax.

Tuscola Ranks High in 4-H Crops

Tuscola County 4-H crops and garden enrollments placed well up in comparison to other counties reporting in this work during 1950. This report, prepared by Kenneth Ousterhout, assistant state club leader, showed that Tuscola had the second highest crops enrollment and the fifth highest in garden. This report revealed that this county had the fourth highest enrollment in corn projects, first in beans, fourth in sugar beets, and eighth in small grains. 4-H Club Agent George C. MacQueen points out that the home county ranked fifth in enrollment of all crops. This position was secured by having the fifth highest enrollment in vegetable garden, and a second placing for flower gardening. Even though this report speaks favorably, the Club Agent feels that a more intensified crops program is worthy for this area. Ousterhout goes on to say that many counties that have a good deal of economy deriving from crops still don't have the crops enrollment they should have. 4-H crops club members in Tuscola County have many benefits they can take advantage of. Corn club members receive an acre's worth of free hybrid seed corn under the sponsorship of the hybrid seed corn producers and agents. 4-H bean club members have access to certified seed and premiums given by the county's elevators and the Michigan Sugar Company contributes a great deal as incentives for young sugar beet growers. 4-H garden work is popular too. Tuscola finished fifth in vegetable garden out of 80 counties, and second in flower garden enrollment. Ousterhout points out that garden club work is a low investment, good income project. It is adapted for town as well as country children. We are placing a good deal more emphasis on this project because of our mobilization program. Commercial gardens are good for garden club members from the standpoint of the pickle processors and canners in Tuscola County. Here is a good way to finance a college education. Club Agent MacQueen points out further that the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association offers a great deal in the way of judging contests, demonstration work and production practices for both boys and girls. Now is the time to make plans on the part of 4-H crops and garden boys and girls to make 1951 the largest year ever. These two sources of income add much to the wealth of Tuscola County and must be carried on by our young growers.

RESCUE

Church services are held at the Grant Church each Sunday. Sunday School at 10:30 with Dudley Andrus as superintendent. Preaching services at 11:30 with Rev. Herbert H. Cheney as pastor. The Youth Fellowship meets each Sunday evening. All are invited to attend who do not attend services elsewhere.

The Grant Center Extension Club met with Mrs. Raymond L. Webster on Wednesday afternoon, April 11. The chairman, Mrs. William Severn, called the meeting to order. After the business meeting the leaders gave the members a lesson in cleaning rugs and upholstery. Mrs. Edgar Cummings of Cass City was elected secretary in place of Mrs. Dennis Brown, who recently moved to Detroit.

Forty seven neighbors and friends attended the reception Friday evening for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young of Elkton, at the home of Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Ellis. The evening was spent in visiting and they received a large number of lovely gifts. A lunch of sandwiches, cakes, coffee and ice cream was served to all.

A farewell potluck dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmore, Sr., Sunday in honor of their son, Theodore Ashmore, who leaves Thursday to be inducted into the service. It was also in honor of his 24th birthday, which will be on April 23. Relatives and friends who attended were Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmore, Jr., and children, Floy Marie and Robert, of Gagetown, Samuel Ashmore of Detroit, Clarence Ashmore and children, Patricia, Jean and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. John Ashmore and children, Ronald, Joan and Jacqueline, of Tawas City, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kozan and children, Louis and Margaret Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Justus Ashmore and children, Bonnie Lou, Linda Sue and Dennis J., of Cass City, Mrs. Ethel Bartow, Mr. and Mrs. William Irons and son, James, and Mitt Louise of Lumb, Mrs. Charles Irons and son, Larry, of Owosso, William Schell of Inlay City, and Gerald Irons of Attica, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harrington and daughter, Bertha, of Watrousville, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Roe and daughter, Latharia, and son, James, of Owendale, Miss Anna Mae Hartzell of Deford, Mrs. Wallace Elliott and sons, Albert and James, and daughter, Bernice, of Elkton, Mrs. DeEtte J. Mellendorf and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ashmore and sons, David, Roger Lee, Henry and Dale and daughter, Judy, of Rescue.

They presented him with a sum of money. It was the first time in 15 years the family had been all together. A family picture was taken also a group picture and the grandparents with their two youngest grandchildren, Dale Ashmore and Dennis Ashmore.

Milton Mellendorf spent Sunday at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mellendorf, at Owendale. Frederick Ellis of Port Huron is visiting at the home of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Ellis.

Those who have been ill with the flu are Richard Schuette, Mrs. William Ashmore, Sr., and Betty Ashmore.

Edwin Hartwick was a patient from Saturday until Thursday at the Pleasant Home Hospital in Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris E. Mellendorf and daughter, Arlene, and son, Milton, and Mrs. DeEtte J. Mellendorf were Thursday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi J. Helwig near Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. William Severn and daughter, Judy, spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Pontiac.

Mrs. James Welborn went to Howell Sunday and was accompanied home by her husband, James Welborn, who will be home until Saturday. This is the first time he has been home since October, 1948. He expects to be able to come home to stay for good in July or August. His many friends are glad that he was able to come home for a few days.

Mrs. Richard Schuette and daughter, Sandra Kay, came home Wednesday after being at the home of Mrs. Schuette's parents in Gagetown the past ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin MacAlpine and daughter, Ruth Ann, and Mrs. Jr. Olsowaka were visitors in Caro Tuesday to see Mrs. MacAlpine's mother, Mrs. Andrew MacAlpine, who is confined to her bed with illness.

Robert Doerr of Detroit was a Saturday evening guest of his cousin, Larry Maharg.

Theodore Ashmore accompanied Mrs. Wallace Elliott and son, Albert, of Elkton to Howell Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry E. Mellendorf and daughter, Gloria Jean, and sons, George and Donald, of Smiths Creek visited from Saturday afternoon until Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. Mellendorf's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norris E. Mellendorf.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Quinn and children of Brown City were Friday visitors of Mr. Quinn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quinn, Sr., and the men folks went fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Doerr entertained the following guests for supper Saturday evening: Mrs. Maynard Doerr and son, Robert, and daughter, Mary Lou, of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McDonald and grandson, Thomas Herron, of Gagetown and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Maharg and sons, Larry and Johnny, of Rescue.

Mrs. Stanley B. Mellendorf and children and William W. Parker were callers in Cass City Saturday afternoon.

Artificial Breeders Increase Service

Continued growth in membership, an increase in number of services, and the completion of arrangements for assistant managers in two more associations were indications gathered from monthly reports in March that Tuscola County's five artificial breeders associations are expanding and becoming more useful to their members.

Local secretary-treasurers reported a total of 11 new farmer-members signing up for artificial breeding services in March, according to assistant county agricultural agent Byron E. Carpenter. Figures announced at the annual meeting of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative, Incorporated, held at Michigan State College March 29, revealed that 4218 or 27,800 dairy cows in Tuscola County were bred artificially in 1950. This means that 16.5 per cent of all Tuscola County cows were included in the artificial program. "This method of distributing desirable heredity for dairy type and production is making possible a tremendous improvement in our dairy herds," says Agent Carpenter.

Three new members were reported by the Millington association. Those were Joseph Ulrich and Orrin Tittsworth of Millington, and J. W. Stephens, Fostoria. Each of the other associations gained two new members in March. E. R. Webster, Caro, and Gordon Holcome, Deford, joined the Cass City organization, and new members of the Kingston local are Donald Haley and Clarence H. Cox, of Kingston. Joseph Meyers, Jr., Akron and Edwin Krull, Unionville, are the most recent joiners in the Huron-Tuscola group says secretary Ted Kramer, Unionville. The Vassar membership was increased by the addition of Herman Bickel and Son and Herbert Heidenberger of Vassar.

Two more associations now have assistant inseminator-managers, which will allow regular technicians an occasional day off and assure members of constant service, even in the event that the regular man becomes sick or has to be away. Donald Tinglan, Vassar, completed the inseminator-manager course given at Michigan State College March 12-16 and will act as assistant to Telford Proffer, regular Vassar technician. The Huron-Tuscola association has arranged with Charles Seddon, Kingston, to relieve inseminator-manager Franklin Stoll at least one week end each month. Seddon has been assisting Richard Ross in the Kingston and Cass City associations for the past two years.

Both first services and total services in March were above those reported for the previous month. The five organizations showed 391 first services in current reports, an increase of 54 over first services given in February. Total services increased from 659 in February to 745 in March. The Cass City organization led in first services with 103 reported by E. G. Golding, secretary-treasurer. Eighty-three firsts were counted in the summary from Huron-Tuscola, and Carlyle Everett, secretary-treasurer of the Kingston local, showed 71 first services last month. The Millington association of which Bryce McGinnis is secretary, reported 70 first services and there were 64 firsts accounted for in the Vassar association report submitted by secretary-treasurer Lewis Tinglan.

Bernard Jakubik, inseminator-manager of the Millington association, stated in his March report that there had been numerous inquiries from members for service from beef sires. The central association at East Lansing now owns Angus bulls and is providing service from these sires to associations where there is sufficient demand.

Why 365 Days?

All because of a river, there are 365 days in a year. When the ancient Egyptians made the first calendar about 4241 B. C., as a means of measuring time from the moon and sun, they decided to reckon a year by the 365 days between the highest points of the Nile flood.

Homemaker's Display Planned by Group

The North-Elmwood Extension Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Richard Burdon for an all-day session. A fish luncheon was served. Mrs. Clarence gave a report of the meeting held at Caro and the 1951-1952 program was planned and a special project was discussed.

Plans were made for a homemaker's display to be held the last week in April. The next meeting will be held on May 2, at the home of Mrs. A. J. Mosak. The subject for discussion will be "United Nations."

Gardens

After winter garden plants are up to a stand, a light application of nitrate of soda will help them grow. For quickest results, dissolve a heavy tablespoonful of soda in a gallon of water and pour it along the row. A teaspoonful of soda to 100 feet of row will be enough.

London Tea Tasters

Tea tasters in a London importing house work all day smelling, tasting, and feeling samples of ground tea. At 4 o'clock, they pause briefly—for their afternoon tea.

Started Boy Scouts

Mt. Beard, a peak near Mt. McKinley in Alaska, was named after Daniel Carter Beard, who started the Boy Scout movement in America. Beard was born June 21, 1859.

Found the Dahlia

The dahlia was discovered by Humboldt in Mexico in 1789 and named in honor of Dr. Andrew Dahl, Swedish botanist.

Hanging Pigs

When rings are placed in the snouts of pigs, room should be left for growth of the snout. Rings set too deep will cut into the flesh as the nose grows, causing irritation.

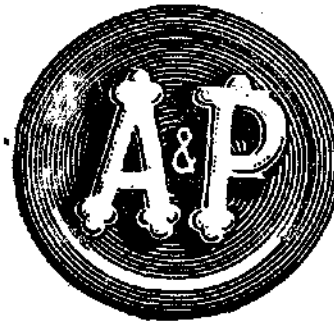

Discovery of Indiana

Indiana was discovered by LaSalle in 1671, and became part of New France. It was acquired by the United States in 1783.

Miss Joyce Fry is Bridesmaid at Cousin's Wedding

Miss Doris June Southworth of Elkton and D. Charles Leipprandt of Pigeon exchanged marriage vows Friday afternoon in the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Elkton which was decorated for the event with palms, gladioluses, daffodils and lighted candles.

Rev. L. E. Burgess conducted the rites in the presence of 800 guests among whom were Mrs. Wilma Fry and daughters, Joyce and Jessie, of Cass City, Joyce Fry and Marjorie Orr of Ypsilanti, both cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids and Mrs. Ray V. Wakefield of Ann Arbor was her sister's matron of honor while little Vicki Lynn Wakefield served as flower girl for the wedding.

Bruce Leipprandt of Pigeon was best man for his brother and Don Southworth of Elkton and Paul Leipprandt of Pigeon seated the guests.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the wedding. The young couple will reside in their new home near Pigeon upon their return from a trip in the South.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Leipprandt of Pigeon are parents of the groom and his bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Southworth of Elkton. Miss Southworth is the former Miss Florence Striffler of Cass City.

Novesta Meeting Canceled

The Novesta Farmer's Club meeting regularly scheduled for tonight has been canceled. The club will meet as usual in May.

DEFORD

W. C. T. U. Workshop

Mrs. Edna Malcolm, Mrs. Edna Warner and Mrs. Harriet Rayl of the Deford union attended on Thursday in the Cass City Methodist Church parlors, a workshop of the Women's Christian Temperance Union conducted by Mrs. Genie Martin, the honorary president of Tuscola-Huron Counties. Four unions were represented. Mrs. Holtman of the Evergreen union conducted a very fine morning devotion, and Mrs. Harriet Rayl of the Deford union gave the afternoon devotion. Miss Carolyn Chapin and Miss Carolyn Rayl sang two selections and there were several readings and much information given during the two sessions.

A potluck dinner was very much enjoyed by each one. Each left for their homes feeling in their hearts that there is much work for temperance to be done, not only by study and what money can do, but prayers are needed.

The midweek services are well attended by all ages, but there is yet many empty seats awaiting your using them. An invitation is extended and urged upon you to attend these services.

The youth meeting at 7:45 each Sunday night. All are welcome. Sunday, April 22, Rev. MacDonald will be in the Kingston Methodist Church for a service in the evening. The picture "Paradise Lost" will be shown.

There were around 125 who saw the temperance film "Power of Decision" shown Friday night in the Methodist Church here. Arleen Kelley showed the picture under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The chairman, Mrs. Edna Warner, conducted the meeting in general. Special songs were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rayl, duet; Miss Carolyn Chapin and Miss Carolyn Rayl, duet; the intermediate Sunday School class, a group song; the Men's Quartet from Deford; and an instrumental number by Gerald Hicks, accordion and Marilyn and Marilyn, pianists, then at the close of the picture, Rev. Landrith of the Novesta Baptist Church spoke on the "Abundant Life" that may be and can be ours, because God so loved us that He gave His Son for our redemption.

An offering of over $23 was taken to pay for the film and to be used for temperance work at a later date.

The April Family Fellowship will be at the Edwin Rayl home on Friday, April 27. This is the social fellowship of the church people and friends. Bring potluck and table service. There will be devotions and recreation and refreshments.

50-Year Record

Since 1900 more than 108 million cars have been produced. From 4,192 cars in 1900 annual production has increased to 5,119,466 cars and 1,134,136 trucks in 1949. Vehicle registration hit a peak in '49 when some 44,670,538 cars and trucks were registered.

Soybean Production
Production of soybeans is mainly in the eastern half of the United States.

Cigarette Tobacco
North Carolina's fine-cured (cigarette) tobacco production in 1950 averaged 1,348 pounds an acre—a record.

Cooking Chicken
When cooking chicken, use low to moderate temperatures, with dry heat for young birds and moist heat for older ones.

SHORT STORY

A Dull Fellow

By Richard H. Wilkinson

"IT WAS PROBABLY suicide," I said, looking around the cabin. "Why?" Capt. Rhodes asked. I nodded toward the walls. At least a half dozen photographs of Arthur Kimball hung there.

3-Minute Fiction

"Any man," I remarked, "who was so vain as to take all those pictures of himself along to decorate his cabin on a two weeks' cruise, must have been vain about other things."

"You mean he'd probably suffered financial reverses or something, and was too proud to face the facts, so he shot himself?"

"That's about it," I nodded, pleased that the captain should give so much consideration to my theory. A very dull fellow this Capt. Rhodes.

The captain looked down at the lifeless body of Arthur Kimball. He had apparently been sitting at his desk, writing. There was a bullet wound in his temple. An automatic was clutched in the fingers of his right hand.

The captain looked at the pictures.

"I'm probably right, don't you think, Captain?" I said.

Captain Rhodes grunted. "No," he said, "I don't." He turned abruptly and went out.

Well, this only confirmed my ideas about the Captain's stupidity. To me the thing was dead open and shut.

The first mate, a tall, rugged individual named Brooks, told me to go to my quarters and stay there until I was called.

IT WASN'T UNTIL evening that the mate summoned me. I followed him down the corridor to Arthur Kimball's cabin. Captain Rhodes was there and several other men in uniform, and a strange man and woman.

"That was a very logical theory you advanced," the captain said, looking at me. "But we've proven it to be dead wrong."

"Wrong?" I said.

"Mr. Kimball was murdered!" I didn't say anything. The captain was not only a dull fellow, but now he was revealing a tendency toward dramatics.

"As soon," went on the captain, "as I decided that Mr. Kimball was murdered, I began to look for someone who knew him before he sailed. This wasn't as easy as it sounds. Kimball was traveling alone. Still, I figured that someone had engaged passage on the same boat with the idea of murdering him. That someone, I reasoned, would have taken a cabin as near to his as possible. So we began inquiring into the careers of all the cabin occupants along this corridor. The only two people whom we discovered who might have known Kimball are Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, these people here." The captain glanced toward the strange couple.

"But," he continued, "they have conclusively proven that they were in the main salon at the time the murder was committed."

"How did they know when the Capt. Rhodes was prepared. As I sprang I landed in the arms of one of his men.

"murder was committed?" I asked importantly.

"I told them," Capt. Rhodes said. "So I continued my hunt, and presently I discovered there was only one other person on board who knew Kimball. I discovered that this man had suffered financial losses through Kimball's activities."

"And who?" I asked quietly. "Is this man?"

"You," said Capt. Rhodes. It was a remote possibility, and I had not believed it would occur, but nevertheless I was prepared. Capt. Rhodes was prepared too. That's why the uniformed men were present. One of them had sidled in behind me, and as I sprang I landed in his arms.

The captain grunted. "It," he remarked dryly, "you ever have occasion to plan another murder, consider the details." He pointed to one of the pictures of Arthur Kimball. It was the picture in which Kimball was seated at his desk writing. "Note," said the captain, "that Mr. Kimball is holding his pen in his left hand, as he is the riding crop and polo mallet in the other pictures. He must have been left handed, yet you placed the murder gun in his right hand."

A dull fellow, the captain.

The biggest waste in time is the time wasted in getting started.

Gagetown 4-H Holds Achievement Day

Achievement Day was held Monday evening at the Gagetown Grade School by leaders and members of the Gagetown 4-H Club. Marilyn Rocheleau opened the business session.

Jo Ann Fischer acted as Mistress of Ceremonies for the following program: Debby Leishman and Floy Ashmore, tap dance; Marie Sontag and Theresa Ann Werderman, piano duet; Jake Roring, accordion solo; Jack Laurie, piano solo; Clark Cummings and Dodsworth Mayer, sanding block demonstration. Jo Ann Fischer gave a review of points to judge in the dress review. Gifts were presented to the twelve leaders. Dress modeling by 4-H girls followed.

Lunch consisted of ice cream, cake, coffee, and soft drinks was served.

Various articles of clothing, woodwork, and electrical objects were on display which were made by the 78 members of the Gagetown group, the largest in Tuscola County.

The club is attending the Tuscola 4-H Achievement Days in Millington High School, April 19, 20 and 21, concluding the winter program for the 4-H Clubs. There are 750 boys and girls enrolled in club work and approximately 1200 exhibits are being shown and judged.

Paints for Plastics

With the increasing production of plastic articles, one of the problems of industrial finish experts has been to develop colored coatings for them. Special finishes have been devised which enable manufacturers to make a single run by coloring the plastic with the application of new enamel in many colors.

Britain Wild Oxen

Chillingham cattle are a breed of cattle preserved in the park of the Earl of Tankerville, supposed to be the last remnant of the wild oxen of Britain.

Lime for Gardens

Most vegetable crops do best on soils that are neutral or slightly alkaline. However, do not plant Irish potatoes for at least two years after applying lime because alkaline soils seem to favor the development of potato scab.

Personal News and Notes from Deford

Mrs. George Ashcroft was pleasantly surprised Sunday when her three sisters, Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Kitchen of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Bissett of Brown City, and Mr. and Mrs. Eli Ashcroft, and family of Caro came with well-filled baskets to help her in celebrating her birthday. A brother-in-law, Mr. Bissett's, birthday was honored also. Mrs. Eli Ashcroft made the birthday cake decorated in blue and white. After all were seated at the table both old and young took part in repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Josie Brooks of Cass City spent Wednesday evening and Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Martin of Caro were visitors Sunday at the home of Mrs. Bertha Chadwick and Berl Phillips.

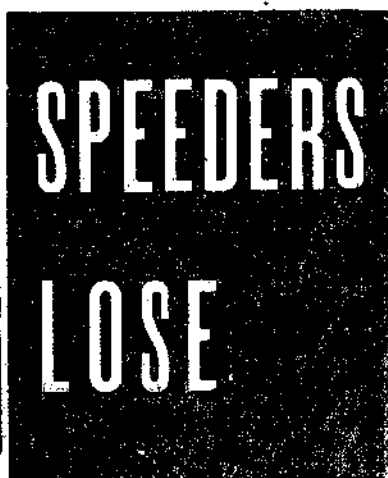

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Malcolm and daughters of Ferndale were Saturday night and Sunday visitors of Mrs. Edna Malcolm.

SHORT STORY

Bewildered Boy

By Willard Olvan Persing

MY HANDS came up shoulder high. I didn't think the kid would use the gun intentionally, but scared so much that I was more than a little worried. I wasn't going to startle him into waking any of the townspeople. They would find out plenty soon enough that I had been caught flat-footed by this teen-age badman.

Otto was standing behind the counter, his hands resting easily on its scarred top. I couldn't figure it, but he was half smiling at the wild-eyed, boyish face that was half covered with a dirty white handkerchief.

"Sure, Son," Otto was saying. "I'll give you the money, after I fix you a bite to eat."

The kid's eyes lit up for a moment, then he frowned and said, "You're trying to trick me into taking off the mask."

Otto shook his head slowly. "I'll put some sandwiches in a sack so you can take them with you." He turned his back on the kid and went to work at the sandwich board.

They seemed to have forgotten me, so I started edging around behind the youngster. I figured that was why Otto was stalling, but I had moved only a few inches when he stopped me.

"Take it easy, Joe, you're apt to ruin his appetite."

At these words from Otto, the kid spun around. I was staring at Otto, trying to figure out what in the world he had in mind. There wasn't any writing on the back of Otto's neck, and it was too deep for me, so I hooked a stool with my toe and pulled it out where I could sit down and still see what was going on.

Otto turned around with a hamburger in his hand. He reached across the counter and handed it to me. "Maybe this will keep you out of mischief for a while," he said, grinning at my bewilderment.

After all, he was the one getting robbed, so I decided I might as well go along with whatever he was trying to do. All I stood to lose was maybe my job.

"This the first time you've tried this?" Otto was asking the kid.

The kid's head nodded quickly, then he frowned and said, "What difference does it make? Hurry up with those hamburgers."

I was checking the kid's description again to see if there was anything I had missed. He had brown eyes and was waving a Luger pistol at us. His hair, if any, was hidden under an old cap pulled down over his ears. I was still trying to figure out how much slack there was in the bulky overalls when Otto dumped the cash drawer out on top of the counter.

He counted the money into a paper sack and placed it a couple of feet from the sack of hamburgers. "Thirty dollars," he said to the kid. "Not much pay for the chance you're taking."

The kid reached out and scooped the two sacks together, using both hands. His right hand with the

"This the first time you've tried this?" Otto was asking the kid with the dirty handkerchief over his face.

Luger came to rest a few inches from Otto's stomach. Otto slammed a huge hand down over the kid's hand and gun, clamping them to the counter.

I started to yell at Otto, if that gun went off, he wouldn't have a chance.

"Take it easy, both of you," he told me and the squirming kid. "That gun isn't loaded." To me he said, "I'm surprised you couldn't tell by looking at the extractor."

I didn't have any answer for that. "That thirty dollars is your next two weeks' wages," Otto told the kid, "and you can have all you want to eat." He slipped the gun out of the kid's fist and placed it out of sight under the counter.

The kid was still scared. "Aren't you going to tell the cops?" Otto grinned and pointed at me. "That's them, Son."

The kid paled and wilted. That took all the fight out of him.

I stared at the kid for a minute, then stood up and headed for the door. "Time to make my rounds," I said. "Otto, you should hire some young fellow to help out in here, you're getting too old to do it all yourself."

Take your problem to church—millions leave them there.

TUSCOLA

COMMUNITY EXTENSION OFFICE

Russell J. Kleis of the Michigan State College continuing education service, has announced that the fifth annual rural leadership school will be held at MSC July 16-27. The two-week course is designed to provide training for rural ministers, farm organization leaders, and laymen, to help them face their community and organization problems. The schedule has been planned cooperatively by rural leaders and college representatives and includes classes, chapel, tours, workshops, discussion groups, consultation with college specialists and recreation. Those enrolling in the course will be housed in Abbot dormitory on the campus. Anyone interested may obtain more information by inquiring at the county extension office or writing the MSC continuing education service.

L. L. Boger, MSC agricultural economics department, says farm incomes will probably be higher in 1951 in spite of higher production costs and higher taxes. Production of most cash crops and feed grains will be profitable, and farmers feeding beef cattle, veal calves, lambs and hogs will be in a fairly strong position. Boger points out that dairy and poultry prospects are also brighter than a few months ago. He further states that there will probably be ups and downs but the farming business should be fairly prosperous for the next few years.

Good seed beans are scarce this year. If you haven't ordered or purchased your seed, it would be advisable to locate some right away. Lists of certified growers of oats, barley, beans and corn are available at the extension office.

Forest-Minded Youngsters
In 1948 the youth auxiliary of the Keep Oregon Green association had a membership of 18,000 youngsters, all intensely aware of the need and means for forest protection.

Stiff Lamb Disease Can Be Cured

Stiff-lamb disease, a condition commonly occurring in April and May, can be cured in the majority of cases if recognized and treated early, says L. H. Blakeslee of the Michigan State College animal husbandry department.

The disease is sometimes called white muscle disease—a muscular condition causing stiffness and lameness of suckling lambs. It is now known to be due to a deficiency of vitamin E in the diet of the ewe and therefore in the diet of the suckling lamb.

Most feeds contain some vitamin E, but wheat and some of its by-products—particularly wheat germ meal, wheat germ oil and wheat red dog are better sources of this vitamin.

Blakeslee says the problem is getting the high vitamin E feeds into the ewe or lamb before the deficiency occurs. Feeding wheat as part or all of the grain ration to the ewe is the most practical solution. Wheat can also be included as one-third to one-half of the creep ration for lambs when two or three weeks of age.

Wheat germ meal, which also contains 25 percent protein, can be used as 10 percent or more of the ewe ration and for the lamb creep ration.

If stiff-lamb disease occurs, the lamb must be confined with the ewe to insure proper intake of milk. Then a feeding grade of fresh wheat germ oil can be fed with a teaspoon once or twice daily according to the extent of symptoms. Alpha-tocopherol, the synthetic form of vitamin E, is another cure but it should be injected by a veterinarian.

Prevention by the use of wheat or a variety of grains and clover should be practiced if stiff lambs have occurred in previous years.

Let's Talk It Over
Ed. Vallender, Farm Editor
Station WBCM Bay City

Salesmanship.
Last week, Wednesday, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and the new FMA boss, Gus Geissler, made a special trip to Des Moines to mobilize all farm production forces. That's another way of saying that a concerted effort is being made to sell farmers on the idea of planting more corn.

All this talk about crop shortages brings up a very interesting point. What are farmers out there going to plant? We can assume that they're going to put something in for fall harvest. They don't have the reputation or history of planting anything else. The Government says we need about four and a half million acres more corn to meet a mythical quota. No crop reports show any substantial increase in intentions to plant. It is kind of foolish to suppose that farmers are letting land lie idle. The harvest reports late this fall should be very interesting.

Wheat Prospects.
We still have time to get the corn planted. This is not quite true of the wheat crop. As of April 1st, indications were that the crop would be about 170 million bushels below the December estimate. The USDA took the news rather calmly, knowing that the damage suffered to winter wheat could be partially off-set with a good planting of spring wheat. Our state department is really worried, though. We are committed to send one million tons of wheat to India. The promise was made before the bad news was known. The USDA and the state department went into a huddle and came out with the announcement that barring the unforeseen, this country will enter the 1952 crop season with a wheat carry-over of safe proportions.

Spring Labor.
One of the agricultural problems to be answered each year concerns farm hand labor. The whole subject of farm labor was brightly spotlighted last year by a chain of sensational, if unfortunate events. There's no use of rehearsing the whole story again. But that doesn't change the situation any. We still need labor that can't be obtained from local sources.

Most all of the necessary labor to be used in this area will come from Texas. With the exception of German prisoners of war and last year's Puerto Ricans, this Texas source has been the most dependable pool.

Obstacles.
Few people know the expense and red tape involved in bringing Texas Mexicans to Michigan. Some years ago, Texas farmers pushed a bill through the state legislature intended to stop any labor from leaving the state. They reasoned that big fees and licenses would discourage any outside hiring agencies from operating. If we want the labor we have to pay both state and county. A representative of the Monitor Sugar Company told me that the annual cost for recruiting labor runs between 10 and 12 thousand dollars a year. Five years ago, on a short crop of sugar beets, this amounted to a dollar per ton.

Responsibility.
When Texas Mexicans leave their home state—they do so because there is no labor available at home. The majority of them are entirely without funds, so the expense of transportation and feeding must be underwritten by the Company until the first work is obtained. We have many Texas Mexican families in the area now who are living on future earnings. The silver lining is mechanization—and the problem is being solved.

Who Pays for Education?
Local, state and federal governments pay more than 90 per cent of the costs of elementary and secondary schools in the United States and more than two thirds of the costs of higher education.

HOG CHOLERA STILL NO. 1 HOG KILLER

Other diseases may hit harder in some communities, but the nation's No. 1 swine killer is still hog cholera.

Thousands of outbreaks are reported every year. The disease

A typical case of hog cholera.

seems to run in cycles, some years being much worse than others. Just as human tuberculosis is most frequently transmitted by tuberculous people, most new outbreaks of hog cholera can be traced to direct or indirect contact with cholera-infected swine. Some outbreaks have been caused by feeding garbage containing uncooked pork scraps, by virus present in rivers and creeks, by carrier birds, or by the virus being carried on people's shoes, and even on truck and wagon wheels.

Careless or inexperienced use of vaccinating virus also may start an outbreak. In such cases, instead of protecting the animals, the unskilled vaccinator actually is giving them the disease.

Usually, once introduced into a drove, hog cholera spreads rapidly from hog to hog, killing most animals it infects. This high death loss is one of the most typical symptoms of the disease, although in some forms it kills slowly.

All breeds of swine are susceptible. At one time it was thought that the mudfoot hog was immune, but research veterinarians disproved this idea. In view of the many ways which hog cholera virus can be spread—by garbage feeding, unskilled vaccination, streams, visitors, flies, insects and birds—the only safe protection against it in regions where it has occurred, is by vaccination of pigs around weaning time.

Kathy Wood Essay.

Lakes Michigan and Huron joined by the Straits of Mackinac. The lower peninsula is situated between Lakes Huron and Michigan with Lake Erie lying to the south-east. Approximately forty thousand square miles of Great Lakes water surface lie within the State's boundaries. As a consequence Michigan possesses a shore line 1,624 miles longer than any other state in the union, and has water communication with seven states as well as Canada.

Now what is Michigan's place in the United States today?

Michigan ranks twelfth among all states in the value of minerals produced. The most outstanding are oil, iron ore, copper, salt brines, gypsum and limestone. Of the nation's total iron ore output thirteen per cent comes from Michigan. The state ranks sixth in production of copper and produced four and one half percent of the nation's total in 1946. She is first ranking in production of salt and gypsum. The state also ranks first in the making of magnesium compound. In 1946 Michigan placed fourth in the output of limestone. Petroleum is Michigan's second most important mineral resource in value.

Fifth is our ranking place in the value of manufactured goods. The state far outranks all others in the manufacture of transportation equipment. During war times Michigan's automotive industry is almost completely converted to the use of the nation for making supplies. Other important manufactured articles are machinery, fabricated metals, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, furniture and paper.

The Detroit river leads all the world's waterways in tonnage. The Soo canal carries more tonnage than any canal in the world. Michigan has thirty-one improved harbors. By means of her excellent highways, railroad system, interstate truck lines, and air ways, commerce is carried on easily with other states.

Michigan's agriculture is diversified. She leads all states in growing navy beans, celery, cherries, cucumbers and raspberries. She raises hay, corn, oats, and wheat. She ranks seventh in milk production. She ranks high in peaches, grapes, apples, pears and strawberries. She ranks fourth in potatoes and sugar beets, second in mint and third in onions.

Michigan ranks seventh in population but third in student attendance in colleges. The state has twenty approved colleges and universities. The University of Michigan is one of the thirteen largest universities in the world. Michigan State College at East Lansing was the first agricultural "land grant" college in the nation.

Michigan is the playground of the north. Both in summer and winter it attracts tourists from all over the nation.

Michigan has proudly put forth for the welfare of the country, some great men. Of yesterday we had Ford and Edison. Of today we have Ferguson, Dewey and Vandenberg. This is quite a contribution.

Michigan has done so in the past and will continue to play a great part in the building and keeping of these United States.

Worth Trying

For a delightful change in salad dressing flavors, try this idea: blend one tablespoon of flour with one-fourth cup of lemon juice until lump-free. Then stir into this one-half cup of maple syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is thick like honey. Cool, and into the mixture fold one cup of whipped cream. Serve with any tart fruit salad mixture.

It's surprising, but true, that most any woman after obtaining a divorce feels like a new man.

the recreational business. He had said that Michigan's 500 lakes help to make beautiful pleasure resorts. During the summer months, hundreds of thousands of people flock from all parts of the middle west to Michigan. Because of these many people, the health department has worked hard in making Michigan a healthful place to come to.

Kenneth was sitting on a rock, staring blankly into the fire. He was recalling the nights he used to spend at his grandfather's. There used to be a lot of old timers that would come to visit grandpa, and all they would talk about was this war and that war. The opening scene in the war of 1812 took place in Michigan. Michigan sent 100,000 men into the Civil war too. In the Spanish American war, better than 10 regiments were sent from Michigan. In World War I, many Michigan men enrolled in the A. E. F. and there were many more engaged in the defense of the United States in World War II. Bill was wondering if he himself would be called into perhaps a world war III.

Karen was now munching on her third hotdog. She was thinking how Michigan was important as an ideal trading center, due to the convenience of the Great Lakes. Ideal climatic conditions for growing crops, etc., and her natural resources have made her the only self sufficient state in the union. The production of sawed lumber is greater than that of any other state. Copper and iron ore mines are among the most valuable in the world. Michigan is also the leading salt producing state. Michigan's lakes and rivers have helped create a very complete drainage system. Large crops of wheat, corn, oats and potatoes are produced, as well as great quantities of wool, butter and cheese. Great quantities of fish are continually being exported. Fruit raising is extensively followed. Many types are grown and of high grade quality.

The southern part of the state is known as the peach belt. This reminded Karen of the sack of fruit left in the car and she went to get it. Dick heard the familiar slam of his car door. It reminded him that his shiny blue convertible came from the leading automobile center of the world. Probably the main reason Detroit is so important in that industry, is because of Henry Ford's ambition. Detroit automobiles are bound to be found all over the United States.

Betty suggested that it was time they started home. When everyone closed their eyes that night, there was definitely a new feeling of pride in each one of their hearts. Pride for their native state of Michigan.

Landscape Tours Planned in County

Home grounds beautification will be the theme of a landscape tour which will be conducted in southern Tuscola County May 8, says Byron E. Carpenter, assistant county agricultural agent.

The tour includes stops at Millington, and Mayville areas, the agent stated, and an attempt will be made to visit some new homes, and others at various stages of completion, with respect to landscaping.

Joseph Cox, Michigan State College extension specialist in home landscaping, is expected to attend and lead the discussion at each stop. He will advise both hosts and tour guests concerning home grounds and building arrangement, and will discuss trees, shrubs, flowers and lawns as they relate to overall home grounds planning.

Both rural and village families who are interested in landscaping or who have questions concerning arrangement and planting around home grounds are urged to attend the all day tour on May 8.

Was Too Close

The stranger brought his car to a halt, and addressed the tall, raw-boned cowboy leaning against the corral. "Does Big Joe live near here?" he asked.

"Nope," replied the cowpoke.

"Well," inquired the man, "where can I find his neighbor, Long Sam?"

"I'm Long Sam," drawled the cowboy.

"But," protested the stranger, "they told me that Big Joe lived within gunshot of you!"

"That's right," came the calm rejoinder. "He did!"

"King of Timber"

In Africa there are many tribal names for the wood which we know as mahogany. The most common is "Oganwo" which means "King of Timber" and this may well be the original name from which our word mahogany is derived.

Church To Hold Hymn-Sing

A Christian Endeavor hymn sing will be held Sunday, April 22, at 2:30 in the afternoon. This fellowship rally is to be held at the Mazpah United Missionary Church located four miles east and four miles south of Cass City.

An interesting program has been planned with Mrs. Stanley Bauman of Elkton, engaged as the speaker of the afternoon. Her children will also be present to contribute some musical selections. Other special numbers in song have been arranged for.

An invitation is extended to the various churches in Tuscola County.

The ship out of its "shipyard." According to Parrott, putting the "Elaine" on rollers and moving it into the yard for final work was one of the easiest tasks he encountered while building the ship.

And it should be pointed out that Parrott did all his own work on the Elaine and the "bargain price" of $4,500 does not include the five years of labor he put into the boat—that $4,500 is a parts only cost.

Perfect Match

Two ex-G.I.'s were discussing the forthcoming marriage of a buddy.

"He's getting a wonderfully accomplished girl," said one of them. "She can swim, ride, dance, drive a car, and pilot a plane—she's a real all-around girl."

"Yes, they should get along fine," observed the other. "You remember, Ben learned to cook in the Army."

In Debt

A new father was looking over the babies through the plate glass window in the infant ward. Every baby there, it seems, was crying.

"What's the matter in there?" he asked the nurse.

"If you were only a few days old, out of a job and owed the government $2,500 you'd be bawling too," replied the nurse.

In a Jam

A British jam factory having concocted a new conserve which they hoped to export in vast quantities to the United States, the question rose at a directors' meeting. What should it be called? After a profound silence in the board room, one director was heard to choke and then suggest, "Marshallade."

Chip off Old Block

The consuming ambition of the average six-year-old boy is to be as much like his father as possible. At that age, boys start to imitate their dad's way of walking and talking, and even try to mimic his gestures and the tone of his voice.

Which Apple?

Apple varieties all have specific uses for which they are best—Cortlands are good salad apples because they stay white longer than other kinds. Delicious are excellent for eating, out-of-hand. Baldwins are best for pies and sauce, while McIntosh is an all-purpose apple.

Take Less Room

Gas room heaters can be put into recessed wall space or under windows to increase floor space and make furniture arrangement simpler.

Source of Brucellosis

If there were no brucellosis in animals, there would be none in people, because animals are the source of human infection.
