Many Use Free Testing Laboratory

Tuscola County's new soil testing laboratory, now in its fourth month, provided analyses on 45 samples last month, according to an announcement by assistant county agricultural agent, Byron E. Carpenter. This is the largest number of tests run in any month since the lab opened last February. Sixteen different farmers in eleven townships made use of the new service in May, Carpenter stated. Four Fairgrove Township farmers brought in samples, and soils were tested for two farmers in both Akron and Novesta Townships. Milton Sting, Columbia Township farmer, had nine samples tested last month, this being the largest job for any one person. The local laboratory, located in the County Farm Bureau Office, next to the Caro Farmers Cooperative elevator, tests for soil acidity and available phosphorus and potassium.
 Most of the soils tested were from fields intended for corn and navy bean crops this summer. Testing is performed by N. K. Waggoner, Caro High School vocational agriculture instructor, and results and fertilizer recommendations are sent to farmers from the county agricultural agent's office.

Many Farm Homes Need Remodeling Over 50 Per Cent Are At Least 30 Years Old

Most American homes—and farm homes in particular—were erected more than a quarter of a century ago.

Nearly 23,000,000 of the estimated 42,000,000 homes in the nation are at least 30 years old. Millions of these older homes are in need of modernization and repair.

The expected cutback in new home construction as a result of Remodeling of this previously unused barn provided much-needed space for livestock and hay storage and at the same time improved the over-all appearance of the farm property and increasing its value. The completed barn (bottom) with new asphalt shingle roof, new siding and other alterations, contrasts sharply with the dilapidated structure (above) as it appeared before start of the work. Here's proof that remodeling pays when the structure of an old building is basically sound.

credit restrictions and other controls stemming from the defense program will make materials, such as asphalt roofing, siding, insulation and paints available to meet the pent-up demands for modernization and repairs on the farms of the nation.

Here's a year-round present Dad will really love! Keep him looking trim and well-turned out every day — by sending his coats, suits, slacks to us — for regular dry cleaning. It's easy on his budget. Easy on you, too — prompt service.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Spring Is Time for Permanents; Cuts Summer Grooming Tasks

By Erta Haley

NOW'S THE TIME to do something about your hair, before the heat is here in earnest, and the humidity makes you feel too tired to do something constructive.

There's time to acquire a new and becoming style, to get or give yourself a permanent, and to practice managing a new style so your hair can be at its very best. Do it now, and you'll have one less grooming and beauty problem for the summer months.

If you've ever gone through the summer with a wilted head of hair that soon becomes the mane of your existence with its stringiness, its lack of easy management, you'll realize the importance of getting it into training now.

Then, too, if you haven't changed the style of your hair-do since slightly longer hair came into being, it's high time you took your head into competent hands, your own or a professional's. You may have your curls, or a softly tapered look you may have bangs, or a hair-do that sweeps to the side, a chignon that gives you dignity, or anything that makes you feel prettier and more glamorous.

You'll want to look your prettiest, too, comes the long-awaited vacation.

Pin Curl Permanent

If you want to give yourself an easy permanent that yields a very soft, natural looking wave, set the hair in pin curls, as you would after shampooing. Apply waving lotion, process, then neutralize. This method saves winding the hair on curlers as well as re-setting after the permanent.

your mirror before you start, or prop them on the dressing table. Set the materials for the permanent on a surface which is handy to the mirror.

Before you actually start the permanent, have in mind just what will transpire. You might even try underlining the important points with a bright crayon so that you can find them at a glance while you're busy winding, saturating or neutralizing.

Just as with a professional permanent, clean hair is a prerequisite of every permanent. Any dirt or excess oil in the hair fiber interferes with the action of the waving lotion. Two good sudsings and a thorough clear water rinse will leave the hair clean and ready for a wave.

Parting off correctly sized curl blocks is important so that the curl all around the head will be smooth and even. Too much hair in the curlers results in bunched curls which it will be difficult to smooth properly on the head. With too much hair in each curl, you'll also find that waving lotion and neutralizer cannot penetrate properly.

Timing is important for it may vary from permanent to permanent as the condition of the hair is a guide to how long it needs to be processed. Take the test curls as specified, and never go over the amount of time for your type of hair.

Blot off any excess waving lotion before applying the neutralizer. It's possible to over-wave, but not to over-neutralize, so allow proper time for the latter.

Pin Curl Permanent Gives Natural Wave

Those with fine, soft hair would do best to give themselves a nice firm curl which results from winding the hair on the curlers. Those with more body in their hair and those who like a very soft, easily managed wave will like the new pin curl permanent.

The time to give one of these permanents is shortened from the other process since it eliminates the winding and re-setting process of most home permanents. No end papers are used since the strands of hair are simply dampened with waving lotion and rolled into a pin curl, just as you do for an "after-shampoo" set.

After all curls are wound, wet them again with the remainder of the waving lotion. No time or test curls are necessary. It takes 45 minutes for any type of hair, and after that you just start neutralizing. This process is the same as with other home permanents.

It's not essential to remove the pin curls after neutralizing, as the hair has been set in its original pattern at the start. When the head is dry, simply remove the pins and brush the curls out into a soft, smooth wave.

Care for Hair After Permanent

The soft, glossy appearance of the hair after permanents, both professional and home types, is not merely an accident. It's the result of healthy hair before and care after the permanent.

Brushing does more to bring back natural oils to the hair than any one single thing. This takes a bit of work, but it's easy if you split the brushing into two sessions.

They may be morning and evening sessions, or if you prefer, split the evening sessions into two parts.

Brush the hair by blocks, and get the brush close to the scalp with each stroke. In this way you assure an even exercising of the scalp with natural oil flowing to the hair.

Good shampooing will do much, too, toward re-conditioning the hair. When the permanent is new, you may give it a heavier cream rinse than ordinarily to counter-act the dryness.

One to two weeks of this type of treatment puts the hair in good, easy-to-manage condition. In a month or two, both hair and permanent will be at the peak of their beauty, and you'll have one less problem to worry you during summer.

Wind hair around finger . . .

tion. If you make beauty preparations now, you'll have the routine set easily as well as the advantage of preparations that will make you look your very best.

If the hair is not in condition, then spend a week or two getting it groomed for a permanent. Banish the split ends, bring life and luster to your locks with a nightly brushing that's thorough and stimulating, get oil treatments to help along any dryness that may have appeared, and your hair will soon shine like a halo in its new beauty.

Healthy Hair Points Up Style of Coiffure

Neither personalized and well-styled hair nor the best available permanent can do something for your hair if its condition is poor. Well-kept hair on the other hand will do more than can possibly be imagined for any style or permanent.

Hair which is too dry and split at the ends will benefit from scalp massage, brushing and some oil treatments. The latter may be given at home, or they may be sought professionally.

Oily hair which offers just as many problems in its own way, as dry hair, will do well with frequent shampooing. Be certain to get it somewhat more towards normal in condition before you attempt styling or a permanent.

Lack-luster hair will benefit from exercising the scalp by means of massage, as well as daily brushing. You can do much to bringing it back to life with simple treatments faithfully followed.

For hot weather it's advisable to choose a style which is easily managed. Choose something which will take well in its stride swimming, tennis, golf or in whatever sport you engage. Remember, too, that the weather is going to be warm, and you don't want to fuss constantly with a coiffure that's elaborate enough to need this kind of attention.

The style of your clothes and hats may help determine the coiffure, too, but mainly it's a problem of fitting hair to your type face. At any rate choose something that will make you more attractive than usual, and it will be a happier you who looks from the mirror when shining, alive hair is put in place.

Give Permanent a Chance By Following Directions

You can give yourself a permanent in the not so busy after dinner hours, while you're sewing, mending or doing any of the odd jobs that come up for attention. It's a simple and easy process, and the secret to success lies in following directions. Paste or tape these directions to

Cury - Phillips Nuptials Saturday

Miss Mary Ann Cury, daughter of Alton Cury of Caro, and Charles Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Phillips of Deford, were married Saturday afternoon, June 9, at the home of the groom's parents. Rev. Harris of the Kingston Methodist Church performed the ceremony.

Miss Ida Mae Gugel of Caro attended the bride, and Ronald Phillips, cousin of the groom, served as best man. The only guests were the parents of the couple.

A reception was held in the evening at the Deford Town Hall, with about 100 guests present. Ice cream and cake were served.

The couple are making their home with the groom's parents at the present time.

Turn Off the Faucet

An Englishwoman who kept two cows for her household's use found that while her children were off at school she had more milk than she needed. Knowing it was illegal to sell the surplus, she gave it away to deserving people in the village. Soon an official arrived to say that even giving it away was illegal, unless the recipients were in her employ.

"You surely don't want me to pour it down the drain," said the woman.

"Of course not," replied the official. "My Ministry is against waste of any sort. You must only draw off as much as you require!"

Under-Developed

A father was scolding his six-year-old for having told an extra big fib. "I never told lies when I was your age," he said sadly.

The boy, after a moment, asked brightly: "How old were you when you started, pop?"

Hay Baler

(From A Cass City Farmer)

Cass City, Mich.
May 19, 1951

Johnson Hardware
Deford, Mich.

Dear Mr. Johnson:

In answering the question, "Why I like my roto-baler," I can close my eyes and seemy last year's hay crop. See, while standing on the barn bridge, acres and acres of baled hay in winrows in every direction. Another rain storm was starting. We thought that hay would be ruined, as we had fifty acres of our seventy-two acres of hay laying out all at once through so much rain. Much to our surprise the hay was in very good shape with only the outer layer discolored. The water seemed to run right off the bales without soaking in. We hauled in our round bales long before the other type bales were ready.

We like the roto-baler in respect to the economical way in which we can run it. There is not much that can "go wrong" with it and we found that repair parts do not run into much money.

I believe these two points are the most important phases featured in the A. C. roto-baler.

Pineapple Punch Pleases at Parties

(See Recipes Below)

Entertaining at Showers

HAVING A PARTY for a bride-to-be? Or, is there a baby shower on your calendar for a close friend? These occasions, which are really very simple affairs, often put a hostess to the real test: she has to greet a number of people and make everyone at home; at the same time, she must serve foods nicely.

It isn't such a big order if you've planned your food well and prepared it all in advance. This frees you for that important job of hostessing, greeting at the door as well as mingling with your guests.

The food should be all ready to serve, except for bringing in on trays. The table can be set in advance, except for the food, since buffet style is a good casual way of doing this type of party. If you're serving a fruit punch, this can be all set, too, in a large bowl, chilling in ice.

SANDWICHES, cakes and cookies, all go well with the punch, and may be made in advance. Select a colorful punch with fruit flavors which will appeal to your guests:

*Spiced Pineapple Punch (Makes 2 quarts)

1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups water
4 sticks cinnamon
12 whole cloves
1 large (46-ounce) can pineapple juice
1 1/2 cups orange juice
1/2 cup lemon juice

Simmer first four ingredients about 30 minutes. Strain and add to fruit juices. Chill. Pour over ice just before serving.

*Hawaiian Pastries

First make a cardboard pineapple pattern, then cut around it on rich pastry rolled about 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle the tops of the tiny pineapple designs generously with a mixture of sugar and cinnamon. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a very hot (450°) oven for about 10 minutes.

*Fudge Sprites (Makes 3 1/2 dozens)

1 package semi-sweet chocolate
2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk

Melt chocolate over hot, not boiling, water; cool. Sift together flour and salt; set aside. Blend the shortening with the sugar. Add the egg; beat well. Add the milk alternately with the sifted dry ingredients. Mix in the chocolate. Put through a cookie press onto an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderately hot (400°) oven for 8 to 10 minutes.

*Buttercup Cupcakes (Makes 9 cakes)

1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons grated orange peel
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 1/2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup orange juice

Thoroughly cream butter, orange peel and sugar. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk and orange juice. Fill greased cupcake pans half full. Bake in a moderate (350°) oven for 15 minutes. When cool, frost with:

Orange Frosting

1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons cream
2 tablespoons orange juice
1-3 tablespoons grated orange peel

Yellow food coloring

Blend together ingredients in order given. Add just enough yellow food coloring to give an attractive tint. Beat until mixture has a spreading consistency.

A feather-like cake with a delightful flavor and texture is this novel sponge cake that goes nicely with a party punch. It may be frosted with a boiled icing, cream cheese or butter frosting. Garnish with whole nutmeats.

Applesauce Sponge Cake (Makes 1 9-inch tube cake)

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup hot applesauce
1 1/2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat eggs until light and thick. Add sugar gradually and beat until sugar is dissolved. Add applesauce and beat well. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted four times. Beat until smooth. Bake in an ungreased 9-inch tube pan in a slow (325°) oven for 55 minutes.

LYNN SAYS:

Combine Favorite Flavors For Tasty Dishes

Minced clams, broth and all that comes in the can, combined with tomato soup and a bit of pea soup make an excellent soup combination. Add a squirt of lemon for spicing the flavor.

Fry some thin slices of ham until they frizzle; at the same time, saute some mushrooms and serve both on French toast for a really good luncheon or Sunday night supper.

THE MAN who had rented Freda the outboard motor told her that any fool could run one of the things. However, right now, drifting in the wrong direction in the middle of Mirror lake, with the sun beating down unmercifully, she would have given a good deal to have the man's neck between her two hands. Just for luck she gave the crank one more spin. The motor went "chugurg, chugurg"—and died.

"Damn!" exclaimed Freda. She was so furious she could have cried. Instead she stood up and began to wave wildly at a boat that had suddenly appeared around an island point. The boat kept serenely on its course and Freda was about to give up yelling and abandon herself to fate when the other craft swerved and headed in her direction.

Two minutes later a black-haired youth was grinning up at her pleasantly. "Trouble?" he asked. "There's not a thing wrong with this motor," said Freda, "except that it won't run."

The young man climbed aboard. He had a wrench in his hand. "I'll fix it," he said.

Freda told Len Curtin her name without even stopping to think.

Freda thought he was pretty confident, but a moment later she changed her mind.

"Strainer got clogged," he said. "I'm an expert on outboards. My business is retrievin' 'em."

"Sure. Plenty of motors lost in this lake every year. I invented a special magnet to find 'em, then I grapple for 'em, haul 'em up, repair 'em and sell 'em. My name's Len Curtin. What's yours?"

"Freda Brandon," said Freda, without even stopping to think.

"Freda Brandon, eh? You're the girl who's going to marry Ray Hubbard. Well, they say money will do anything; but deliver me. Well, so long."

Freda didn't catch her breath until she got back to camp. Her mother had news.

"Darling! Ray wired he's coming up! He's arriving tomorrow." Freda's spirits sank. "Goody, goody," she said sourly.

Freda set off in the outboard the next morning 10 minutes before Ray was due to arrive. Thirty minutes later she saw a familiar looking boat anchored in a cove and camp up alongside.

"Hi!" grinned Len Curtin. "How's things?"

"Fine. Say, look, what do you do in the winter?"

"Oh, this and that." Len hauled in his grappling iron. "False alarm. Nothing here. How about anchoring that scow and taking a ride around with me?"

Ray Hubbard was waiting on the dock when she got back. He didn't like the idea of her not being at camp to greet him, but she didn't care.

Home of Fine Shoes and Clothing

Rumors and gossip spread like wildfire and stick like molasses. Some people spend all day getting out of a morning's work.

The best way to get rid of work is to do it.

❖ LET'S TALK IT OVER ❖

Battle Lines

Sometimes it would be infinitely better if predictions went wrong. A couple of weeks ago, we said that the clouds of meat war were forming. At that time there was a chance that tempers would cool and all parties to the controversy would make the best of a bad situation—for the good of the country.

Unless things change before we go to press, the entire meat industry will have taken the first step to force the OPS to back down by the only means they feel will be effective.

It is a very simple maneuver. No more beef for the dinner table. They base their strategy on the power of public discontent. When the people get hungry enough for beef at any price—when the hue and cry reaches Washington in overpowering volume—OPS will fall and the meat controls with it.

Pass the tuna fish—it's going to be a long seige.

Dairy Month

June is the month of dairy surpluses. It used to be a lot worse in former years. Farmers have learned to add profits to the milk check by having cows freshen in other months. But the great volume of milk still has its peak in June.

One of the reasons why we do not have the great surpluses of former years is ice cream. Dairy farmers should tip their hats when passing a store selling this frozen delicacy. Here's why. Last year, 1950, there were three and a half gallons of ice cream produced and sold for every person in the United States. With a hundred and fifty million people all contributing to the Farmer's income in this substantial matter—it is easy to figure out how much the ice cream and dairy industries mean to one another.

Ice cream—like olives is tied up directly to income. When wages are high—both move. Three and a half gallons per person per year sounds like a lot. As a matter of fact the advancing high costs of living since 1946 has cut into ice cream business by 30 per cent.

You buy meat and potatoes first. If there is any money left over, it might go for ice cream.

The ice cream industry reports a four per cent increase so far this year. They tie this in with their expanding income. High levels of employment and income directly affect the dairy farmer.

More Dairy Sales

We have never tried to use this column to give technical advice to the farmer. That's the job for your county agent. We would like to stress, however, that the dairy farmer can help his own cause starting right now.

Milk and milk products are influenced greatly by taste appeal. The bottling plant, the ice cream maker, the cheese maker, the butter maker, the entire industry is at the mercy of the farmer, who first, last and always controls the taste of the milk. This is mostly a matter of cleanliness. Dairy products are either right or wrong. There is no in-between.

Farmers all know about the three "C's". Keep milk clean, cool, and covered.

4-H Dairy Club Plans Annual Tour

4-H dairy club members will have the opportunity to brush up on their dairy terms on Wednesday, June 20, says George C. MacQueen, county 4-H club agent. On this day, the annual tour will be held and several classes of cattle judged. Nevels Pearson, assistant state 4-H leader, will be on hand to place the classes officially.

The tour will start at 9:30 at the Quibro Farms, 6 miles north and 1/2 mile east of Caro. Here, a class of mature Holstein cows and a class of yearlings will be judged. From here the group will go to Alvah Hillman's Cedar Run farm to judge similar classes of Jerseys at 11:00. This farm is on Cedar Run Road, 7 miles east and 1/2 mile south of Quibro farms, or 4 miles west and 1 1/2 miles south of Cass City. The first stop after lunch will be at the H. T. Donahue farm, 1/2 mile north of Cass City. Here, two classes of mature cows and a class of junior calves will be judged. The last stop will be at the William Profit farm, 4 miles north of Cass City, where a class of mature Guernsey cows and a class of yearlings will be judged.

Tour members are reminded to bring a good packed lunch with them. Those competing successfully will be considered for the County 4-H Dairy Judging Team.

4-H Summer Camp Meets in July

Summer camp for 4-H club members from Tuscola County will be held at Sleeper State Park Group Camp near Caseville, July 8-11. The camp will commence Sunday afternoon and end with the noon meal Wednesday. An interesting program is in store for all campers, the main purpose being to give experience in group living. Craft classes will be held along with a varied camp program of swimming, games and classes. Reservation requests may be submitted at once. Campers must be eleven years of age and be either currently enrolled in club work or have completed their 1951 winter work.

Cut Construction Costs by Planning

Farm families with plans for building a new home may be wondering how they can cut some costs and still have the home they want. Ted Brevik Michigan State College agricultural engineer, has some tips that may save many dollars in the job.

First, he advises that the family have a complete plan for the whole construction job even though some items may have to be postponed. This will help to prevent adjustments later on.

Second, find ways to do or buy things at less than usual cash outlay. Some suggestions are:

1. Use stock building materials.
2. Use home-grown materials whenever possible.
3. Use farm equipment for hauling excavating, and grading.
4. Do some of the building yourself, especially if you can hire a skilled person to direct the work. The job may take longer if you do a lot of the work yourself but under the direction of a skilled carpenter, a lot of work at a lower cost can be accomplished.

How much should be spent for the house is another problem which sometimes puzzles farm families. Brevik says that the decision should be based on a number of considerations. It is necessary to balance comfort and satisfaction, as well as labor-saving and health, against the problems of financing. If income is low, it may be necessary to defer or even sacrifice some of the housing plans in order to take care of the necessities.

Long-time earnings must be considered in planning finances. Part of the cost of housing is justified by its contribution to the farm

Tax Meeting Called For School Districts

A special united meeting of the Paul and Brown school districts will be held at the Paul Schoolhouse, Tuesday evening, June 19, at 8:00 p. m., for the purpose of discussing the present school situation which necessitates higher taxation.

County Superintendent, J. E. Liddicoat, will be present to discuss the problem with members of the school districts.

SHORT STORY

Secrets Are Bad

By Richard H. Wilkinson

NO ONE caught on to my secret but Sheila. Sheila was smart. Pretty, too. She had smoky gray eyes and titian hair and pure white skin.

We met at a winter sports house-party up in New Hampshire, and the next Monday, back in Boston, I took her to lunch. "I've some friends I'd like to have you meet," I said. "They have an apartment on the Fenway. Suppose we run out tonight?" She looked at me with a sudden flash of her smoky eyes, and I said quickly: "Sounds like a stuffy evening, I suppose. It won't be. Bette and Gill are O.K. You'll like them."

"I'd love to go," she said. And so that night we called on Bette and Gill. On the way home Sheila said she'd had a grand time, which is why I've always marveled at Bette and Gill, because we'd done practically nothing.

"I like them," Sheila said. "They're married and they seem happy."

"They are happy. They've been married six years and they're happier than when they started. I've known 'em both since high school."

Well, during the six months that followed I saw a lot of Sheila, and together we saw a lot of Gill and Bette. One night I went up there without her, and you'd think those two had been waiting for an opportunity to get me alone.

"Say, listen," Gill said, "you're getting old. I mean, here we've been married six years and you're not even in love."

"How would you know about that?" I grinned at him. "I know it!" Bette cried delightedly. "It's Sheila! He's in love with Sheila! Oh, Jim, we think that's grand! She'll make you a wonderful wife!"

"Sheila's all right. Good company. So are the dozen other girls I've been bringing up here."

Gill shrugged. "O.K., Jim. We've been hoping you'd fall for one of them, because you're missing something—not being married."

TWO nights after that I saw Sheila. We went to an in-town hotel to dinner and dance. Around 10 o'clock I suggested we leave and run out to Gill's and Bette's. But Sheila shook her head, and I looked at her in some surprise.

"They're nice people," she said. "I like them, but I'm a little tired of being an excuse."

"Excuse?"

"I've heard about the other girls. They were all excuses, but I'll bet they didn't know it."

"Now, wait a minute," I said. "What is this?"

"Call it a game, if you like," she looked at me steadily. "Jim, you'd better give up. Gill happens to love his wife and I have an idea he'll keep on loving her."

"I flushed angrily. "Of course he will. Who says he won't?"

"Nobody. But you hope he won't."

"I hope what? What the devil are you talking about?"

She sighed. "Oh, Jim, stop pretending. You're in love with Bette. You've been in love with her for so many years you've lost count. You kept bringing pretty girls up there, hoping he'd fall for one of them, hoping she'd break up their match. Then you'd have a chance with Bette."

"Stop!" I yelled. "You're crazy!"

"No I'm not. I'm quite sane. What kills me is that neither Gill nor Bette have caught on." She stopped and bit her lip. "Well, it's none of my affair, but I'll tell you this, Jim: Those two are about the only inspiring people I've ever known. And I'm all for letting them stay that way. From now on, count me out."

I shrugged. "O.K. You're out. There are two dozen others out with you. But you're the first who's guessed the reason." I sighed. "I guess I'd better quit. Gill and Bette think I'm married. I'd be getting a prize. I'm beginning to agree with them. Will you marry me?"

"No," said Sheila.

Which is what a chap gets for having a secret like mine.

Cows in Winter
Dairy cows need exceptionally good care in cold weather if they are to maintain high production. When not getting enough feed of the right kind and not housed comfortably, they do not produce profitably and may breed and calve off schedule. Proper temperature of drinking water also is essential, because they drink less and produce less when the water is icy cold. Other important precautions are keeping them out of drafts and using a thick layer of good bedding.

A Saving Nature
McTavish was the proud owner of a new cash register. One day when an old friend came into the shop and bought a sixpenny cigar, the customer noted that McTavish pocketed the money instead of putting it into the drawer. "Why not ring it up?" he asked. "You'll be forgetting it," replied the Scot. "Ye ken I keep track in my head until I get a dollar, an' then I ring it up. It saves the wear and tear on the machine."

New Dusting Methods Tested in Michigan

Charging Fungicides May Revolutionize Spraying

Fighting insects and plant diseases which damage farm crops may be revolutionized by charging dust particles in fungicides and insecticides with electricity, Michigan researchers reported recently.

Laboratory tests by Michigan State College researchers show charging of dust particles of normal dusting compounds gets five to ten times better coverage than through usual dusting processes.

A. W. Ferrall, head of the MSC

agricultural engineering department, says field tests will be made this summer to try the new process commercially.

Fine dust particles of the fungicides and insecticides are charged with 12,000 to 20,000 volts as they emerge from the nozzle of a regular commercial dusting machine. This high charge is held for several seconds. With dusts blown at a velocity of a mile a minute, it permits them to travel a great distance before losing the electric charge.

Engineers estimate the cost of necessary electrical attachments for the ordinary four-row duster would run around $300.

Few Hours Spent Cleaning Farm Pays Big Dividends

Spring is clean-up time—time to clean out the hazards around the farm which can cause personal injury, loss of time, or loss by fire.

And although many rural communities have already conducted clean-up campaigns, a few hours now and then spent in putting things ship-shape may save many days of time during the busy season later on. It is a well-known fact that orderly farms and homes have fewer accidents.

It will pay every farmer to take a few hours and remove accumulated papers, rags and rubbish from the home and farm buildings. Be sure that medicines, poisons and insecticides are out of the reach of children.

At this time of year many barns are still cluttered with an accumulation of things used during the winter. Clear them out of alley-ways or working areas so they can not cause accidents. A neat place is a safe place for either work or play.

Clean Paint Job

For the housewife who wants to paint her flower pots before resetting plants, here is an easy, clean way to get the job done. Invert the pot over a milk bottle and as you work, turn the bottle and you won't have to touch the painted pot at all. Leave it until it's thoroughly dry.

4-H Clubs in Minnesota To Stress Food Projects

Some 49,200 4-H club members in Minnesota will be emphasizing three major food-producing projects this year—field crops, garden and poultry. They are among nearly two million youths throughout the nation who will be doing their part in the mobilization program by participating in 4-H club activities.

In these projects 4-H boys and girls learn new agricultural techniques and farming practices.

Two Champaign vines and three to six muscadine are enough for an average family. One muscadine should be a Scuppernon and one a fruit bearing pollinator, either Burgaw or Tarheel. Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Gasoline prices went up—as advertised—after the legislature passed the 1 1/2 cent boost over the governor's veto. Here the G.O.P. logic in approving the law broke down.

Republicans had said the oil companies would absorb most of the price rise to keep intra-state prices on a par. The companies categorically refused, despite pleas from the governor.

The C.I.O. in opening its campaign to put the issue on a referendum says the law is "Picking the workman's pocket". They, of course, favor Williams' corporation tax.

A state police racket squad has been created to suppress gambling and narcotics peddling in the state. As predicted in this column two months ago, Williams and Donald S. Leonard, state police supt., announced the formation of a special squad to work with local law enforcement officials.

Prior to this time, all of Michigan outside of Detroit had to depend on federal officers.

After surviving two years of worker's strikes, the Bell Telephone company seeks $22,000,000 increase in rates to restore its 15 percent standby margin for expansions and increased services. Says a Company spokesman: "We still have 18,000 unfilled orders and 132,000 customers who want better service."

Term of Schuyler L. Marshall of St. Johns, former newspaper Publisher, on the Michigan Public Service Commission will expire early in July. Democrats now hold two out of three offices on the commission. The state conservation commission is bipartisan. If Williams appoints a third Democrat to the utility body, the commission would be 100 per cent under his control. Re-appointment of Marshall would still leave Democrats in a majority.

While Williams was signing four minor measures to help restrict welfare chiseling, investigators uncovered another case where school administrators were padding school enrollment records to get additional state aid which is given on a per-student basis. Just who can we trust?

With Washington still tossing universal military training around like the hot potato it is, Michigan got its smallest draft call in 18 months. In July 938 Michigan men will get the nod from Uncle Sam. Although there is no understanding the moods of draft officials, the number demanded seems to run in direct proportion with our successes in Korea.

Labor has been accused of impairing chances of an effective inflation curb. Says Lambert H. Miller, general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers: "The walkout of labor members of the wage stabilization board after adoption of the 10 per cent wage formula 'catchup' program in February put an end to effective wage stabilization."

The new $5,000,000 state office building has been officially approved by Washington. Occupants now living on the site—immediately west of the capitol building—have been notified to vacate and bids will be taken June 30.

Poor weather, uncertain labor and new government orders have cherry farmers in a sweat this year. A fall of one-fourth to one-third is expected in volume. Last year the Grand Traverse region produced 90,000,000 pounds of the fruit.

School districts now must levy five mills in local taxes to be eligible for state benefits. Previously only four mills were required. Not many school districts will suffer under the law—most expected the bill to pass and made allowances.

Two new child guidance clinics will be started in Battle Creek and Petoskey. In the closing hours of the legislative session $200,000 also was voted to continue clinics in Lansing, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Pontiac, Port Huron, Flint, Saginaw, Marquette, Muskegon, Kalamazoo and Ypsilanti.

TUSCOLA COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE

Tuesday, June 19, is the date set for a meeting of the Women's Extension Council, says Miss Jean E. Gillies, county home demonstration agent. The group will gather in the courthouse in Caro at 2 p. m.

A relatively new tool that has been undergoing tests by MSC agricultural engineers is the hay crusher. This implement is hauled immediately behind the mower and consists of two heavy steel rollers which crush the stems as the plants are cut, thus exposing them to more rapid drying. R. W. Kleis, MSC engineer, says that hay which has gone through the crusher will cure in 30 to 50 percent less time. This is extremely important in our humid Michigan weather, and to farmers who attempt to harvest their hay early in the season, in order to obtain a high-protein forage. Up to now, the crusher has been quite expensive for farmers to own, and it requires a three-plow tractor to pull the implement. However, the crusher may be more inexpensive when its manufacture is increased.

Word has been received from Harry Moxley, extension animal husbandry specialist, that Mack Little and Sons, Cass City, have entered two of their Duroc Jersey litters in the state sow testing contest and both have qualified for the bronze certificate awards. The sow testing contest is based on the weight of each litter at weaning age, or 56 days.

Senate Bill 92, which would have required elevators and processors buying beans from farmers to deduct five cents per hundred pounds, failed to pass the 1951 legislature. The Michigan Bean Producers Association has been attempting to have this bill passed, with the plan that the revenue obtained from the bean sales deductions might be used in an effective campaign to encourage the consumption of beans and to promote research on bean disease control. Clarence E. Prentice, MSC extension specialist in marketing, states that the total supply of beans in storage on May 1, was considerably less than a year ago. Prentice advises farmers to sell all old beans before the new crop is harvested, unless they are so low in quality that they would be worth more as a feed for stock next fall or winter.

The annual state Aberdeen Angus field day and picnic will be held next Saturday, June 16, at the Raona Farm, in Ingham County, between Perry and Williamston on M-47. Leading Angus breeders from other parts of Michigan will be exhibiting individuals chosen from their herds for exhibition, demonstrations and judging contests. An inspection tour of the Raona herd and pasture lots will begin at 10 a. m. A noon picnic will be followed by a series of timely demonstrations and a judging contest. Several MSC animal husbandry specialists and out-of-state breed association and packer representatives will be present. All who are interested in Aberdeen Angus cattle are invited to attend.

A recent USDA herd sire proof has been announced on the Guernsey sire, Her-Mil's Cha Champ. Records of seven of the sire's daughters, owned by Harold Stewart and Son, Vassar, and one owned by Roy Jackson and Sons, Caro, were used in the proof. The average milk production of the daughters was 10,174 pounds a year, or 604 pounds over the average of the dams. The daughters averaged 457 pounds of butterfat a year, or 8 pounds over their dams' average.

The Wilber Memorial 4-H Building is taking on a new appearance after receiving its first coat of white paint. Wilbur Cook and his nephew from Marlette are doing the job. Thanks to Andy Larson, Caro Hardware, this job has been made possible.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

Abide With Me

Abide with me, fast falls the eventide;
The darkness deepens, Lord with me abide.
When other helpers fail, and comforts flee
Help of the helpless, O abide with me.

On the day of his farewell service, in the year of his death, Henry F. Lyte walked along the shore to watch the setting sun. Returning home, he shut himself in his study for a brief hour and composed this inspired hymn. His clear and powerful analysis of false worldly values, and the ultimate dependence on God's guidance has made this one of the most loved of all hymns.

OH, BABY!
A fisherman got such a reputation for stretching the truth that he bought a pair of scales and insisted on weighing every fish he caught, in the presence of a witness.

One day a doctor borrowed the fisherman's scales to weigh a new-born baby. The baby weighed forty-seven pounds.

Big Cows
Big dairy cows in each breed are the ones that usually produce the most milk.
