Sixteen Sign Petition Against Pound in Residential District

Wesley Perry, Cass City, representing a group of Seeger Street residents, presented a petition to the village council Tuesday night complaining about the noise made by stray dogs howling during the night from within the pound used by the village to keep strays.

Thus, the question of what to do with dogs in the village again returned to plague the council. It was because of the numerous complaints heard against stray dogs that the village adopted the ordinance for the removal of strays—at one time 60 persons crowded the council chambers to demand action.

Perry, speaking to the councilmen said the noise keeps persons in the homes near the pound awake at night. Perry asserted, "Put it (the pound) in any one of your neighborhoods and see how you like it."

The council, while discussing the case, came to the conclusion that Perry was right—the pound should be moved as requested in the petition signed by 16 citizens of the village.

Several sites were discussed for the new pound, but discarded as impractical. After a lengthy discussion, the dog warden was appointed to investigate the area for a suitable spot for the pound, outside the village limits.

Both Perry and the council agreed that most persons were well satisfied with the work of the municipal authorities in stopping the annual damage caused by stray dogs.

The dog warden has picked up 107 dogs, of which 38 were returned to owners and 67 disposed of. The dog warden picks up all stray dogs and impounds them. They are held for a short period of time—if claimed they are returned to their owners. If not called for, the dog warden destroys them.

An informal open house marked the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Colbert Sunday afternoon and evening at their home at 4622 North Seeger St.

Rev. Vender Offers Special Sermon in Cass City Church

The Rev. Melvin R. Vender, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Cass City, has pledged his support to a nation-wide "Freedom Under God" observance of the 4th of July, sponsored by fifty famous Americans including former President Herbert Hoover, General Douglas MacArthur, Fulton Lewis, Jr., Paul Hoffman, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, and Dr. Harmon Vincent Peale.

According to the Rev. M. R. Vender, the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence will be observed by churches ringing their bells at noon on July 4th; by clergymen of many denominations preaching sermons on "Freedom Under God" on Sunday, July 1, at 10:30 a. m., and by millions of Americans pausing on the 4th of July to read the Declaration of Independence.

Sponsor of this celebration is a newly formed "Committee to Proclaim Liberty." Membership includes top-ranking figures in religion, labor, management, education, government, and the entertainment world.

"The purpose of the Committee," the Rev. Vender declared, "is to revive a custom long forgotten in America—spiritual emphasis of the 4th of July. It's time again," he continued, "for all Americans to thank God for their Freedom."

The local clergyman pointed out that on America's first Independence Day church bells rang, prayers were said, and copies of the Declaration of Independence were read by everyone.

"By reviving this custom in Cass City," the pastor said, "the local church will join with hundreds of other churches of all denominations in symbolizing America's Freedom Under God."

Special music for the service will include a trio by Joan Holmberg, Jane Hunt and Marjorie Holcomb.

Many Fete Ugly Minister at Farewell Party Monday

A farewell gathering for Rev. and Mrs. S. Moisejeko and son, Peter, was held at the Ugly Methodist Church on Monday evening. Rev. Moisejeko and family are leaving for their new home in Decker where Rev. Moisejeko will take over the Deckerville charge.

An hour long program was presented by the four churches of the Ugly-Army charge. The fine songs and readings dedicated to them showed the high esteem in which the pastor and his family were held by the congregations. A collection was given to them and a potluck lunch was served.

The Moisejeko family came here three years ago from Lithuania. They will be missed by the community in which they have worked.

Rev. Susan Parr of Disco will have the Ugly-Army charge.

Former Cass Cityite Recalled to Service

An Ex-Cass Cityite has been recalled to active duty in the Detroit area. Second Lieutenant Kenneth H. Higgins has been appointed a contracting officer for the Detroit Regional Office of the Central Air Procurement District, Colonel Russell Keiler, Commanding Officer, has announced.

A native of Cass City, the son of Leland and Lena Higgins, Lieutenant Higgins graduated from Cass City High School and the General Motors Institute in Flint. He is married and has an 18 month old daughter.

Variety of Sports Attract Youths to Recreation Park

Jim Baker, lifeguard and instructor at the Cass City Recreational Park pool, announced that the swimming courses started Monday, attracted many youths from the village.

Twelve boys turned out for the life saving course and 15 reported for diving lessons. Because of the large number in the diving course, the class has been broken into two sections. Girls now receive instruction at 10:30 a. m. and boys report at 10:00 a. m.

An estimated 20 beginners were on hand for the opening course at the pool for primary instruction.

Baker announced that there has been one change in courses under his supervision. Tennis lessons, originally scheduled daily, Monday through Friday, will be held tri-weekly on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 1:00 p. m.

Tennis rackets and balls are furnished for the use of beginners by H. M. Bolen. Equipment and courts for free periods may be arranged with the playground director, Harold Oatley.

The director reports that the junior high baseball games are underway with four teams in the league. Last week the southwest club, captained by Eugene Finkbeiner, defeated southeast nine twice, 20-4 and 6-2.

Dale Iseler's north side team also defeated southeast, 13-5.

Besides the baseball games, Girls' softball and senior high softball is also played on a regular schedule on the playgrounds, Oatley said.

There is also softball daily at 10:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. for boys and girls who wish to play, Oatley asserted.

Undeclared Deford Leads Cass City's Softball League

Decker upset Baldy's with a seventh inning rally, Monday evening, to hand the gas nine their first defeat of the season, 6-5, and shove undeclared Deford into the undisputed league lead.

Frank Laming hit a clutch single with two out to score the winning run for Decker.

Fans who attended the Decker-Baldy game also saw Western Auto hang up their first victory of the season when they edged Alward's, 6-4.

Harold Paul, with two hits in three tries, paced the Automen to the win.

Spectators who saw the game, Monday, were let in free by the courtesy of the Gavel Club.

Although the fans were charged the regular admission price, Wednesday, June 20, they saw two well played games for their money.

Church of Christ dropped their first game of the year to Alward's, 9-7, to drop from a first place tie with Deford to a third place tie with Baldy's.

Del Strickland pounded out a circuit clot for Alward's to pace his team to their initial victory of the season.

In the opener, Decker got underway after dropping their first game of the season, by whipping Baker-Urquhart, 8-3. The Decker squad sewed up the game by pushing over five runs in the sixth inning to break a 3-3 tie.

"Moose" Willey was charged with the loss and Russ Hillaker got credit for the win.

In the final game of the week, Baldy's kept Ellington winless with a 4-1 win over the cellar dwellers.

Council Votes to Change Traffic Fine Levies in Village

The Cass City Council voted to change the pre-determined fine system in the village, Tuesday night, on the recommendation of Chief of Police Steve Orto.

As a result, some of the fines will be stiffer, others will be reduced for those caught violating.

Speeders will now pay five dollars if caught speeding, not exceeding 40 miles per hour. From 40 to 50 miles per hour will cost $10, over 50 will cost $20.

The old fine system called for $10 under 50 miles per hour and $20 for speeds exceeding 50.

Another change in the fine system calls for an increase in the amounts for an improper turn and improper passing. Both infractions previously called for one dollar fine for the first offense, two dollars for the second offense and five dollars for the third offense.

Now the fine will be three dollars for the first offense and five dollars for each succeeding violation.

It won't cost you as much for illegal parking now. The fine has been reduced from two dollars to one dollar.

Nineteen graduates from the 1926 class of the Cass City High School held their twenty-fifth class reunion in the library at the school, Saturday and were served a delicious turkey dinner by the ladies of the Methodist Church.

Thelma Warner Orr traveled the farthest distance when she arrived here from New York for the event.

Others at the reunion were: Don Skinner, Dresden, Ont.; Andy Schwegler, Charlotte; Delbert Landon, Grand Rapids; Harold Fiddymont, Detroit; Viola Quick Colston, Roseville; and Edith Wood Kruger, Pontiac.

Also attending were: Abina Garety Sweeney, Uby; Flossie Law Agar, Ann Arbor; Wilfred Caister, Decker; Fern Kelley Severance, Akron; Caroline Garety, Agnes Milligan, Fred McEachern, Dr. Edwin Fritz, William O'Dell, Harold McGrath, Stella Mark Martus and Erma Flint Cardew, all of Cass City.

Highlight of the evening for most of the persons present was the time spent visiting and reminiscing. Pictures were taken of the group and plans were formulated for a similar affair at the end of five more years.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

THE COUNCIL passed a resolution Tuesday night requesting the state to send them a proposal for the resurfacing of Main Street.

THE STREETS AND SIDEWALKS committee, Jim Gross and Malcolm G. McLellan, decided to take action on the chuck holes along the edge of Main Street. The committee plans to fill in the worst holes in the near future with a more permanent filling than gravel, which digs out within a short period of time.

MAPS OF THE VILLAGE were turned down by the municipal authorities, on the grounds that it was too expensive for the good it did the village.

GARAGES WERE THE ORDER of the day in building permits issued. Three home owners in the village are building new ones. A two-car garage permit was issued to Clare Schwaderer, a one and one-half car structure was granted to Lucile Champion and a garage was o. k'd for John Frankowski.

WILMA FRY REPORTS that a total of $91.00 was taken in by the village in fines for the month of May. Already, there is $100.00 in the village coffers for June.

ALTHOUGH NO DETAILED report was given, Secretary Fry reported that the village was running within the budget allotted for the period. Mrs. Fry said, however, that as usual, the costs for the swimming pool were over the allotted amount.

DRUNK DRIVERS WILL pay more money, or be jailed, for violations within the village when the local ordinance is amended to conform with the state vehicle code. The council moved to amend the ordinance, Tuesday—it calls for 90 days in jail or fines of $50 or $100.

PICK UP THAT TRASH in alleys or the village will do it for you—for a fee. The law says that trash must be in closed containers and papers burned, not accumulated. If business firms and home owners do not comply, the city will order the work done, charge you for the service and add a ten percent penalty fee besides.

THE COUNCIL passed on an application by H. F. Lenzner for fixing the sidewalk in front of his house on Main St. and instructed Bud Burt to make a survey of the village for other work of this type. Sidewalk work is shared on a 50-50 basis with the village and the home owner.

MORE PROTECTION is in the offing for the village. The council voted to add an additional relief police officer to take over the reins when chief Steve Orto is called away from town on a case. The council wants police protection at all times in the village.

A CLOSER CHECK on village funds was asked for by Councilman Bauer, Tuesday. After discussion, it was moved to have all expenditures approved by committees responsible before any money is spent. A new village purchase order will accompany the new plan.

A NOISE ORDINANCE will be passed shortly to take care of the excessive noise on Main Street during late evening hours and during other periods of the day. The council acted after receiving a complaint from Elden Hall.

New Regulation

The village council decided that complaints will be handled differently in the village in the future. At their regular Tuesday night meeting, the council voted to have all complaints processed through the village clerk.

The complaints can be either oral or written. The new regulation was passed to assure attention by the proper committee of any complaint registered.

The council pointed out that complaints would be more efficiently handled and processed faster under the new system.

Construction of the new grade school at Cass City has been brought to a standstill by the refusal to work of the bricklayers who were assigned to the job.

According to Junior Vollmer, Saginaw, construction foreman of the job, the bricklayers are not on what is technically known as a strike; although, for all practical purposes, the result is the same.

Vollmer stated that the bricklayers refuse to work unless their wages are increased from the standard union wage scale of $2.75 per hour to $3.00 per hour.

The reason the work stoppage is not called a strike, Vollmer said, is that the workers will work for anyone who is willing to pay the new requested rate.

Vollmer asserted that his company, the Vollmer Construction Co., is unable to meet the latest union demand.

Tuesday evening the company could do one-half day's work before the "vacationing" workers would force the complete shut down of operations on the new school.

The new school was to have been done, according to the contract, by August 15. The date would have given Superintendent Willis Campbell ample time to have the rooms ready for students when school started this fall.

However, each day that the workers are off sets the completion date that much farther behind.

The strike comes on the heels of another delay in completing the building. Prior to the current work stoppage, a shortage of structural steel had hampered progress by the builders.

Vollmer stated that the material shortage was whipped and nothing stood in the way of completion of the job on schedule, before the work stoppage.

The construction company is making an effort to hire two bricklayers from Caseville to help the project along. The pair indicated they would work providing the union would let them.

Four Local Men Honored at Scout Camp Near Clare

Four Cass City men were among those honored at Camp Rotary, near Clare, by the Order of the Arrow, camping honor society of the Boy Scouts of America. James Ware was one of ten members who received the Brotherhood Honor, second of the three ranks of members of the order. Edward Baker, Ray W. Fleenor, and Russell Foy were among the 44 initiated into the Ordeal Honor, the beginning rank.

All four are active locally in scouting, Baker as district chairman for Tuscola County, Fleenor as committee chairman in Cass City, Ware as junior assistant scoutmaster, and Foy as acting senior patrol leader for the summer.

Baker and Foy were elected by the Arrow Lodge in recognition of their outstanding services to camping in the Valley Trails Council. Foy was elected by the Cass City troop under the rule that each scout unit may elect ten percent of its campers.

Robert Putnam, James Baker, Dick Wallace, and Harold Oatley were other local men among the hundred members of the Arrow at Camp Rotary, Friday through Sunday.

Wallace was a member of the ceremonial teams for the Ordeal and Brotherhood honors, and Oatley conferred the Vigil, the highest honor of the Order, on Andrew W. Forbes of Saginaw and Morris H. Stein of St. Louis. It marked the first time this third honor has been given in this area.

As service projects, the Arrow members worked on constructing a new health lodge for the camp, while the Bakers and Fleenor installed electric lights in the dining hall and a new walk-in refrigerator for the camp kitchen.

Getting rid of flies on the farm is a tough job. Unless fly breeding places are cleaned up, it's doubtful if the insecticides will do much good. Lindane or methoxychlor are recommended for use inside the barn, but don't use them until you've done these things: Clean the walls and ceilings of the barn thoroughly. Get rid of the manure. This means hauling out all old manure and cleaning up the calf pen and other places where flies may breed. Put screens on the windows and doors of the barn. Then clean up outside breeding places, such as manure piles and damp areas. After this is done, use ten pounds of 25 percent wettable lindane powder or 40 pounds of 50 percent wettable methoxychlor powder in 100 gallons of water. Apply it in a coarse spray, but not in quantities that will run off the walls. Take care not to spray feeds, watering cups or mangers.

For summer seeding of alfalfa, remember to (1) seed alone. Don't use oats as a companion crop unless the field is subject to erosion or you're seeding bromegrass. (2) Use 500 pounds of 0-20-20 analysis fertilizer per acre. Remember, to get the most from fertilizer, be sure the lime is right. (3) Put the seed in shallow, using the cultipacker before and after seeding. (4) Use hardy, adapted seed at the rate of 5 to 8 pounds per acre. Grimm or Hardigan are recommended varieties. Where wilt is a problem, southern Michigan farmers can use the Ranger variety to get a good long-term stand.

Experiments have shown an increase in sugar beet yields of over 2 tons per acre when 200 pounds per acre of commercial nitrogen fertilizer is applied in mid-July as a band beside the row. Remember this may not be necessary if alfalfa and sweet clover are included in the rotation, but the white-powder test on sap from the leaf stem will give the answer. If the beets need nitrogen in mid-July, it pays to put on about seven dollars worth to get 2 tons extra yield of beets per acre.

Great interest by farmers in barn hay driers has developed in recent years. The Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station has issued a new bulletin, "Barn Hay Driers in Michigan," available at the County Extension Office.

Good Repair Lumber
A farmer who doesn't keep a stack of home-grown, custom-sawn boards often pays a high price for good repair lumber. Usually cheaper boards would serve the purpose and save him money. The man who cuts his low grade logs and hauls them to the mill for custom sawing gets his repair lumber for about one-third of the cash cost of the same lumber purchased outright. He adds that there are new wet weather jobs around the farm that will pay more money.

Rites for Leo Quinn Held on Saturday

Leo J. Quinn, 54, died Thursday morning, June 21, at his home in Sheridan Township after a short illness.

Mr. Quinn was born November 12, 1896, in Gageton and lived in the vicinity of Gageton until he moved to Sheridan Township 16 years ago.

He was a member of the Holy Name Society, St. Columbkille's Catholic Church, Sheridan Township, and Tri-County Post 507, American Legion. He was a veteran of the first World War and served in the Signal Corps.

Rosary services were held Friday evening at Edward Zinger & Son Funeral Home, Uby, with Rev. Edward R. Werm in charge. Funeral services were held Saturday at 10:00 a. m. at St. Columbkille Catholic Church, Rev. E. R. Werm officiated. Interment was made in the church cemetery under the auspices of Tri-County Post, 507, American Legion.

He is survived by his widow, Jean; a daughter, Miss Colleen Quinn, of Detroit; two sons, Donald and Robert, both at home; and a brother, Joseph, of Mt. Morris.

New Bulletin Tells Of Barn Hay Drying

Great interest by farmers in barn hay driers has developed in recent years. To present the latest information on this new hay-curing method, the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station has issued a new bulletin, "Barn Hay Driers in Michigan."

Authored by agricultural engineers and a farm crops research scientist, the bulletin points out some of the advantages and benefits of the barn hay driers. Principles of operation are discussed in order that driers may be used to the best advantage.

A portion of the bulletin is planned to aid farmers in selecting a now hay drier fitted to their needs. Pointers on successful operation are also discussed.

A copy of the publication, Circular Bulletin 219, "Barn Hay Driers in Michigan," may be obtained from county agricultural agents' offices or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Information Services, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Sample May Affect Soil Test Results

If you want a "true story" from your soil tests, make sure that samples are taken where they will show the correct condition of the field being tested, says James Porter, Michigan State College soil scientist.

Two or three samples from a ten-acre field should be sufficient, Porter advises. The story told by the test will mean more if you avoid lime or marl piles, manure storage piles, and edges of roads which have been graveled recently. Around gates leading to fields you may not get a true story because of lime or manure that has fallen from loads hauled to the fields. Ashes are high in lime and potash, so stay away from places where brush piles have been burned.

To much celebrating is apt to keep a man from becoming celebrated.

When the leader of Chataqua Assembly on the shores of Lake Chataqua, N. Y. needed an inspiring song for his conference services, he called on Mary Lathbury, who wrote the exquisite lyrics. She was a fervent worker in all religious causes. William Fisk Sherwin set her song to music. It has been a favorite at all similar religious rallies since its composition in 1880.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Let Lunch Boxes Reflect Inspiration (See Recipes Below)

Adequate Lunch Boxes
IF YOU'VE BEEN packing lunches without respice for several months, chances are that both the lunch and you have fallen into a deadly sort of routine. It's easy to make the familiar things, but then it's not very interesting, either to pack or eat, is it?

Those boxes or packages opened at noon to furnish a meal are important to nutrition and well being. A great deal more than just a snack must go into them. It's essential they have the right amount of sustaining food value, energy units and vitamins, in addition to surprises so they'll do the right kind of job.

Smartly planned lunch boxes will also leave you with enough good things for the stay-at-home members of the family, so no planning is really necessary for an extra meal. You'll be getting two meals with variety and sound nutrition, for the effort it takes to plan one. Isn't it worth it?

Lunch in a box will be a real adventure if it is specially delicious and varied from day to day. Little extra surprises tucked into corners may include cookies, peanuts, dates and raisins. Be sure to include at least one-third of the day's food needs and try to have variety and texture, color and flavors.

A LUNCH BOX plan may include a thermos of hot soup for cool days, or milk or iced tea or hot coffee when the thermos is not in use. Milk should always be included in a child's lunch, while the other beverages may go into an adult lunch.

Give them a large, nourishing sandwich, and include pickles or relishes, a deviled egg, or a salad in a covered carton or plastic container. Fruit, cookies, cake, or even puddings in covered containers are excellent for dessert.

Celery and Green Pepper Sandwich
1 1/2 cups shredded American cheese
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup salad dressing
Whole wheat bread

Combine the cheese, celery, green pepper and salad dressing. Spread between slices of bread.

Sandwich Filling Ideas
Cabbage and Peanut: Combine 1/2 cup chopped cabbage, 1/2 cup chopped peanuts, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise.

Cream Cheese and Dried Beef: Combine 1 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1/2 cup chopped dried beef, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon grated onion, and 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; blend well.

Cottage Cheese and Green Pepper: Combine 1 1/2 cups well-drained cottage cheese, 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped green onion, and 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Bacon and Egg: Combine 2 hard-cooked eggs, diced, with 4 slices bacon, fried crisp and chopped. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1 1/2 tablespoons mayonnaise.

LYNN SAYS:
Perk up Those Lunches With these Ideas

Don't leave those corners of the lunch box empty. Fill them with munchy surprises such as cheese balls rolled in nuts, bags of peanuts or other nuts, cheese-stuffed celery, small bunches of grapes or clusters of seasonal berries.

When sandwiches get tiring, have an occasional lunch with a fried chicken and potato salad combination; or meat salad and crackers as the mainstay.

It even costs a dime nowadays to get a wrong number.

Banana Cup Cakes
(Makes 14 large cup cakes)

1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, unpeeled
1 cup mashed bananas
Sift flour with baking powder, soda, salt and spices three times. Cream shortening and vanilla, adding sugar gradually, until light and fluffy. Add egg, beat well. Add flour mixture and banana pulp. If you pack lunches, plan a large enough roast on Sunday so you can slice enough for sandwiches on Monday. Jelly or relish spread on the sliced roast makes a delightful sandwich for variety.

Good fillings for sandwiches that are to be frozen include meat, cheese, fish, peanut butter, chicken or chopped eggs (not sliced).

Keep your mind on your work, not your work on your mind.

Record for Tunnels

On the San Diego & Arizona railroad, through the Carrizo gorge, there are seventeen tunnels in eleven miles. This is most likely a world's record for a plurality of tunnels in a short distance. Another unusual feature of these tunnels is the fact that they are completely free of smoke and fumes because the natural action of air suction in the canyon acts as an air conditioner.

Nickel Oxide Sinter

Intestinal Disease Hits Numerous Swine Herds

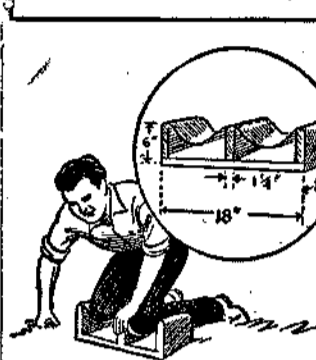

Thousands of pigs in major swine-producing states have been stricken with an intestinal disease regarded as the most serious of its kind ever seen in the U.S.

The American veterinary medical association reported that transmissible gastroenteritis has wiped out the entire pig crop on some farms. No swine-raising farm can consider itself completely safe from the disease, the AVMA warned.

Symptoms are severe scouring, vomiting, and dehydration. There is rapid loss of flesh in spite of the fact that affected pigs continue to nurse until they die.

At present, no drug can be recommended as a standard treatment for this infection. Only possible means of control is to keep healthy breeding stock and healthy litters completely out of contact with sick animals and away from houses and grounds where outbreaks have occurred.

Gardener Knee Rest

This knee rest will take the strain out of gardening when weeding or performing some similar operation where it's necessary to work on your knees. The base is large enough so that it won't sink into soft ground. The edges of the three vertical pieces should be rounded. Sufficient slack is left in the canvas cover to provide comfortable rests for the knees.

Side-Dressing Corn Crop With Nitrogen Pays Off

Prof. C. J. Chapman, University of Wisconsin extension agronomist, reports that side-dressing corn with nitrogen fertilizer in late June, paid off in an extra 4 1/2 tons of corn silage per acre on one Dane county farm last year.

He says the amount of nitrogen to apply depends on the soil's fertility level. He recommends at least 40 pounds per acre. Under some conditions this could be increased.

He was born in Allentown, Mich., July 11, 1891.

Ease the Tax Situation

First, the government takes the slot machines away, then wants to take most of our money in taxes. Why not leave the slots in operation, so we could watch the plums, the bars and the bells as our coins disappear forever?

Tip to motorists: Never dictate the right-of-way—give it.

Odd Guns
For many years the old guns were valued chiefly as keepsakes or collector's items. Now that they have recaptured public interest, Kentucky rifles often bring high prices. And they still shoot true, though many are more than a century old.

A fair deal to most people means that they secured a slight advantage for themselves.

The most useless exercise in the world is running into debt.

Let's Have Rigid Law Enforcement

The other day your editor received a ticket for parking on Main Street during the prohibited hours in the early morning.

Naturally we were chagrined over paying two dollars for a simple oversight—we forgot the car was parked and walked home.

But after the first wave of resentment passed, we started to take the broader view and stopped to realize that accidents on the road are due to oversights and carelessness.

Your editor is happy to pay the fine. We believe that RIGID ENFORCEMENT of all traffic laws is not only the duty of local law enforcement agencies, but mandatory for the best interests of the community at large.

One of the worst offenses committed in the village, according to Police Chief, Steve Orto, is speeding into and out of the village.

The speed laws were enacted to preserve the life and property of persons in the area, violators, who endanger the lives of all of us should be prosecuted to the limit of the statute applicable in each case.

We Need to Pray For the Future, Too

Rev. Melvin R. Vender has announced that the Presbyterian Church of Cass City will combine with other churches and famous Americans throughout the country to support a nation-wide "Freedom Under God" observance of the 4th of July.

The avowed purpose of this program is to "... Thank God for Freedom." Now we don't presume to know what Rev. Vender plans to speak about in this special sermon Sunday, but we do believe that Independence Day in these times should carry more than a simple thank you motif.

With the United States engaged in an epic struggle for its very existence, it seems to us that it is in order for every American of every faith to pause and pray, not only to give thanks for what this nation enjoys, but for strength to carry out the task that lies ahead in, what competent observers call, the most crucial period of our existence.

Farmers Are Warned About Use of Poisons Respirators Advised For Dusting Operations

This summer American farmers and gardeners will use about 1,000,000 pounds of bug-killing materials, much of it containing parathion, especially those highly effective on the destructive leaf aphid.

Insecticides containing parathion are used a great deal by commercial fruit producers.

Now produced by several chemical companies, parathion in its original state is a brownish liquid. But as a commercial insecticide it comes in powder form to be used for dusting or mixed with water for spraying.

Respirators should always be worn when handling parathion-based insecticides. Protective rubber gloves should also be used since the toxic chemical can be absorbed through the skin.

While highly effective on insects, parathion also is extremely poisonous to humans. That is why some kind of respirator is recommended for farmers and growers spraying or dusting with insecticides containing the chemical.

A light weight and not uncomfortable respirator, with a molded rubber facepiece has been developed by the Mine Safety Appliance Company of Pittsburgh which will fill the needs of most farmers.

Proper equipment on the modern farm is essential if the farmer is to protect himself, his employees, and gain top production.

Nothing gets mistaken for wisdom quite so often as plain old-fashioned silence.

New Crabgrass Killer

Only three simple steps are required to kill crabgrass with potassium cyanate. STEP No. 1—Carefully read and follow the directions found on each can of potassium cyanate crabgrass killer. STEP No. 2—Mix with water, in a pail or in the sprinker or sprayer itself. STEP No. 3—Spray it on. If the crabgrass is bad, spray the whole lawn. If it appears only as individual plants or in small patches, just spot spray at close range, as shown (3). A NEW chemical is available this year which shows promise of ending the home owner's long and discouraging battle against his worst lawn enemy—crabgrass. Its name is potassium cyanate and it works by simply mixing it with water and sprinkling or spraying it on your lawn. After five years of testing and perfecting, potassium cyanate has been proven safe, economical, simple to use and—most important—95 to 100 per cent effective. It is non-toxic enough to be used with out danger around children or pets. It causes no permanent injury or even lasting discoloration to most basic grasses. And it can be used effectively on either seedlings or mature crabgrass plants. The cost of using potassium cyanate averages one dollar per 1200 square feet of lawn when applied to young seedling crabgrass in the spring (about twice as much is required in late summer, when the crabgrass plant is in its hardy prime). For those who have larger lawns the cost will be much less.

Accident Peak at Harvest Season

Accidents to farm people reach their peak during the harvest season, warns Alfred P. Ballweg, county agricultural agent. Harvest haste, long hours, revolving shafts, belts, gears, and cutting mechanisms seem to make it easier to have an accident. For an accident-free harvest, see that equipment is repaired, adjusted and operating efficiently. Improper adjustments and repairs frequently lead to accidents, the agent says. Operators must also be constantly on the alert and observe a few simple safety rules while equipment is operating. These precautions, recommended by the National Safety Council and agent Ballweg will help reduce the accident toll:

- 1. All shields and safety guards must be in place.
2. Always stop all machinery before oiling, adjusting or unclogging.
3. Avoid wearing loose or ragged clothing.
4. Always operate tractors at a safe speed and use extra precautions on highways.
5. Small children are definitely out of place around harvesting machinery.
6. Avoid jumping off equipment

Farmers Can Save Lives and Property With Proper Lightning Rod Protection

Indianapolis — Inadequate lightning rod protection may kill 400 farmers this summer and cause property damage in the millions of dollars, according to Harry P. Cooper, Jr., secretary of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies. The Association represents 1,200 farm mutual insurance companies located in all sections of the nation. "Most of the losses in lives and property because of lightning are unnecessary," Cooper said. "Experience has proved that proper lightning rod protection will protect farm buildings against lightning." Cooper explained that lightning rods carry off the stroke when it hits a building and also prevent strokes from occurring. The rods, he said, are continually draining off accumulated electrical charges into the ground, thus reducing greatly the possibilities of a flash. The above illustration, prepared by the Association, shows the proper installation of lightning rods. A—Lightning conductor is coiled around the ventilators and a point is provided for each ventilator. B—"V" or "U" pockets must be avoided by additional down conductor paths where it is impossible to course the conductor in a level path. C—A separate point is installed on silo, with its conductor connected to the main down conductor. (Silo within 4 feet of the barn require a second ground when the length of conductor from silo point to connection with barn down conductor exceeds 16 feet.) D—Hay-track, barn door track, eave-troughs and water system are interconnected to the conductor to drain the accumulation of charge on the bodies to prevent side flash. E—Stanchions or other metal bodies within 6 feet of the down conductor are interconnected to prevent side flash. F—Wire fences are interconnected to the protection system. G—Protection from mechanical injury is advisable for the conductor from ground level upward for 8 to 8 feet. (It is preferable to use wood or non-magnetic material. A wooden fence post, sawed in half with the flat side placed next to the conductor will serve, adequately.) H—Effectiveness of a system depends on the ground conductors being in moist earth with low electrical resistance. (The grounding rod should be driven to a depth of 10 feet at a distance of 3 feet from the structure. Grounding methods will vary with soil conditions.) I—Down conductors are as widely separated as possible opposite corners of the building preferred.

Female Turtles Female sea turtles lay their eggs at night in holes they scoop out in sunwarmed sand a short distance inland from high tides. They may deposit 200 or more eggs of golf-ball size with leathery shells. With the laying, their responsibility ends. Man is but one of many predators that hunt out the eggs for food, or feast on the newly hatched young. Fate is bound to hand you a lemon now and then—and the opportunist will squeeze out the juice and start a lemonade stand.

What About Automobiles? One more household suggestion: In times of emergency don't park the family automobile on the street. Leave the way clear for emergency traffic. Keep the windows rolled up to prevent possible contamination of the interior by underwater or ground bursts and don't worry whether or not it will run. Radio activity won't interfere with operation of its fuel or ignition system. X-Ray Findings U.S. public health service experiences with mass x-rays shows that about 1.5 per cent of the 20,500,000 examined annually—or 307,500 persons—would be found in each of the first five years to have reinfection-type tuberculosis requiring further diagnosis. Use Care in Summer Storage of Rayons

Pack away your winter rayons with care if you want them to be in good wearing condition next fall, advises Lola Belle Green of the Michigan State College of home economics.

Rayon garments require some extra care if they are to carry well through the summer storage period.

Be sure the garments are clean before storing, Miss Green advises. Spots are harder to remove if they have become "set." Perspiration, if left, may affect colors. Rayon itself is immune to moths, but you will need to give garments made of rayon and wool moth protection.

Guard against silverfish damage by airing and brushing stored rayons frequently. If you find any of these tiny gray insects with long feelers in your closet, remove the garments and spray with a liquid insecticide. Follow this with a dusting of pyrethrum powder.

Do not store your acetate rayons in or near paper. It has been found that paper tends to speed up the gas fading (color change) that occurs in many acetate rayons. Wrap acetate rayons in old sheets, hang them in cloth bags or store them in wooden or metal containers.

Since felt and wool also tend to increase gas fading, it is important to keep stored acetate rayons away from these materials, Miss Green advises.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Ed Vallender - Farm Editor
Radio Station WBCM, Bay City
Away From Home.

Most of ye Editor's columns are written in the comfort of the family living room. The kids are put out of the house so there can be needed silence necessary for concentration. Not so today's epic.

Your farm reporter is writing this column in the Press Room of the Journalism building on the University of Arkansas campus. We've just finished a tour of the grounds, now thronging with visitors to the finals of the "Chicken of Tomorrow Contest." The winner has been selected—the queen has been crowned. The vastrass entry from California, winner in 1948 repeated again this year. In a couple of hours, press and radio will gather for a conference with Vice President Alben W. Barkley, who will later present the winner with a check for five thousand dollars.

This is a broiler contest. There were entries from every state in the union. The cash prize to the winner is the smallest prize quite naturally. The eggs and chicks he sells to other broiler producers will be his biggest gain.

The annual Chicken of Tomorrow Contest is a National effort to produce a faster growing, meatier bird. The statistic sheet now shows remarkable progress even in the last two years.

As chickens is replacing pork as the poor man's meat, this shortened feeding time will mean cheaper poultry to the consumer.

Big Operators.
We, in Michigan know little of the broiler industry. True, poultry is the number two Agricultural commodity in our state—but we specialize in the farm type of operation more as a sideline than a business. We met one operator this morning who is currently feeding two million broilers in one location. This is big business. There are many like him.

History.
The Chicken of Tomorrow idea was conceived in 1944 by Howard C. Pierce. During the first three years of the contest, contestants' experiments with various types of inbreeding produced chicks with broader breasts, fatter and broader backs, no pin feathers, thicker drumsticks and fewer undesirable characteristics.

When the Chicken of Tomorrow program started, the accepted national feed ratio was 4 pounds of feed to one pound of chicken. Now the standard ratio is three to one. This means a saving of 25 percent in feed costs alone. Also, a chicken can be finished in 12 weeks now, instead of the usual 14 to 18.

not always so. In 1934, total income from broilers totaled about $700,000. Last year, broiler income alone brought farmers and operators over $30,000,000. And, if you can still stand the figures, the total income from poultry in this razor-back state last year was over 50 million.

Poor Hillbilly.
Fifteen years ago, this part of Arkansas was considered one of the best places in the country for a farmer to starve to death. It's the same story as anywhere else. A hundred years of row crop farming had ruined the land. Torrential rains swept away 9 inches of good topsoil. Feedmen, bankers and farmers got together and planted the cooperative seed that was to bring Arkansas to the top in broiler production in less than 15 years.

It goes with saying that every segment of the state's economy benefited by this new bonanza.

Fayetteville, is the center of this broiler industry.

The per capita income of Fayetteville is $600 above the National average. This is Rags to Riches, in reality.

Minnie Bradshaw Died at Clarkston

Miss Minnie Bradshaw, 83, of Clarkston, died Wednesday in a convalescent home there, following an illness of one week. Funeral services were held in the Sharp Funeral Home there Saturday afternoon and burial was made in Elkland cemetery. Daughter of the late Jared and Martha Bradshaw, she was born Sept. 2, 1867, in Bridgeport. As a young woman, she taught rural schools near here and at Highland and then became a registered nurse.

She was employed for many years, until three years ago, at Pontiac State Hospital.

Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Grace Bond, and a brother, Bervie Bradshaw, of Cass City and several nieces and nephews.

Booklets Ready for Prospective Students

East Lansing—A question and answer session for high school students interested in a college education is being published by Michigan State College in the form of 20 new informational booklets.

The booklets are a result of a two-year study of questions most frequently asked by prospective college students, according to Dr. Guy Hill, coordinator of high school cooperation.

The first booklet, entitled "Is College My Next Step," outlines the why, what and how of college education, specifically at MSC. Nineteen other brochures cover the career fields in which Michigan State offers training, giving the reader not only facts about facilities and programs, but also professional career opportunities.

"The booklets are done in an informal, 'me-to-you-style,' and should prove of tremendous value to students trying to map their futures through college education," Dr. Hill said.

Almost three-fourths of the booklets are now being distributed, and the remainder will be completed by August 15.

Covered in separate brochures are the career fields of agriculture, home economics, business administration, economics, social work, government, journalism, medical technology, veterinary medicine, police administration, teaching, engineering, fine arts, hotel and restaurant management, physical education, social science and the humanities, the sciences, pre-professional fields, and food distribution.

Copies of these booklets may be secured without charge by writing: Dr. Guy H. Hill, coordinator of high school cooperation, Michigan State College.

Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Politics in Michigan also is on vacation. Some stirrings are evident, but from all appearances the summer siesta is here.

Most activity stems from the G. O. P. state central committee where politicians are trying to create a more tightly knit organization, such as has been definitely lacking in the last two elections.

The new 18½-year-old draft has caused the greatest furor in the state the last few weeks. Despite assurances that "it will be months or even years" before any men under 19 are called, eligible men are as reluctant to enter college as employers are to hire them until the new law has been tested.

Reports in the college draft deferment tests show that some two-thirds were above the passing mark of 70. Seventy doesn't mean deferment for sure, this phase of elective service is as confused as any other.

Michigan's first draft call for doctors has been chopped from 67 to 41. The medics will get the nod July 26. The number was cut because "it was impossible to recruit 67."

Senator Moody already has drawn fire. Discussing the controls program in a Washington news letter, Republican Rep. Shafer said, "A publicity minded freshman attracted some attention recently by soliciting the advice of Bernard Baruch on the subject of inflation." Moody is not being ignored by the G. O. P.

Meanwhile Michigan Republicans have opened a campaign to present a united front against more federal consumer taxes. In telegrams sent to several congressmen Owen J. Cleary, chairman of the state central committee, suggested a solid block to oppose further taxes on income, gasoline, cigarettes, automobiles and other items.

Not missing an opportunity to blast the governor, Cleary said: "While Gov. Williams, as a Democrat, says he is opposed to consumer taxes, he hasn't raised his voice about the Democratic plans in Washington to grab millions of dollars more from Michigan people . . . the federal government is bleeding Michigan."

Gov. Williams is still promoting the St. Lawrence Seaway project to open Atlantic shipping to the midwest. He and other backers of the $18,000,000 project did their best to sell the project to Missouri valley representatives at a meeting of 15 inland governors. Result? Nothing as yet.

While the C. I. O. is working to get a referendum on the recent one and one-half cent per gallon gasoline tax rise, the Good Roads Federation has been assured that opponents of the tax will be stymied in any efforts to invalidate or repeal the levy.

John J. Jacobi, general counsel of the Wayne County road commission, says the "gas tax increase is not subject to a referendum as the state constitution exempts appropriations for state institutions from a referendum."

Will there be inflation or deflation this summer? Economists say it depends on Russia and whether she cools down her war plans. But does it HAVE to be one or the other? There was a time . . .

A safety program has been started to reduce the number of small plant accidents. There are 22.5 accidents for every million man hours in small organizations while large plants have a casualty rate of only 8.95.

Is there too much industry in Detroit? A Washington house-senate committee has warned against too much concentration of defense industry in the Motor City. Threat to national security, the committee calls it.

A bill providing $3,000,000 for county and city TB hospitals has become law. The money will be distributed by the emergency appropriations commission ("Little Legislature").

Average price of farm real estate on March 1, 1951, in Michigan was nearly two and one-half times that of March 1, 1941. As a whole land prices have risen 14 per cent in the last year.

Difference or Indifference. We must never wipe out or ridicule differences of opinions among us—for where there are no differences that is only indifference. Income Tax Exemptions.

Double-feature movies should have some educational benefit for youngsters—it teaches them to take the bad with the good.

4-H Club Week in Progress at M S C

More than 350 delegates to the thirty-third annual 4-H Club week are now at Michigan State College. Registration took place Tuesday, June 26 and the event will end with a trip to the Capitol on Friday.

Forty-two Michigan counties in the lower peninsula are represented at the event. Results of judging contests, exhibitions, demonstrations, and dress revue will determine the 4-H youths to return to MSC in late August for the State 4-H Club Show.

Similar camps are held at Camp Shaw in the upper peninsula and at Higgins Lake to choose 4-H Club Show delegates from those areas.

Both Mrs. McNeil and George Burton, 69, Caro, were killed in an accident near Reese while on their way to Saginaw to visit Mr. Burton's wife, a patient in the hospital there.

Mrs. McNeil was born May 18, 1883, in Columbia Township. She was the widow of Wesley McNeil. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. N. Miller and Mrs. Gerald Westfall, both of Flint; a son, Alva McNeil, Caro; a sister, Mrs. Maude Gostick, Unionville; three grandchildren, and a great grandchild.

Something to Remember. Government, business and labor should remember that wage and price increases without increased production is one sure way to wreck our economy.

Give the other fellow a pat on the back instead of a knock—maybe you'll get repaid in kind someday.

Farmers of the Future May Find TV Indispensable

Tired of trudging to the barn to check up on the cows and chickens? Soon you may be able to make such nocturnal inspections by flipping a switch and looking at a television screen.

Scientists of the Radio Corporation of America have unveiled an experimental laboratory model of what could be the television intercom of the future. It could save farmers many a step when they hear a noise in the barn or chicken house at night.

Key to the apparatus is RCA's industrial TV system. This compact equipment uses a home-movie-size camera, which could be installed in any convenient spot where it could overlook the interior of the barn. The camera's sensitive pickup tube can see in almost any light the human eye can.

The picture is transmitted over several hundred feet of cable to a master control unit no bigger than the smallest table-model TV set. Install the unit by your bedside, hang up your coat, and prop up your feet. Television may be a farm fixture before you know it.

NI-Hard In the field of alloy cast irons an upward trend of use was observed in specialty products such as NI-Hard in mining equipment. Following successful trials, NI-Hard is being increasingly adopted for mill liners and grinding balls in the cement industry in Great Britain and elsewhere abroad.

Port Orford Cedar Port Orford cedar is the best wood known for use as battery separators although Douglas fir, of which there is a much greater volume, and Alaska yellow cedar are very acceptable alternates.

Valentine State Arizona has been dubbed the Valentine State by some historians. It was admitted to the union on February 14, 1912.

A Time Saver

For the farmer looking for machinery that is a time saver in this period of labor shortages and need of greater production, the Harrow makes it possible to plow and disc in one operation. It was first developed in the west to permit better seed bed preparation at lower cost and at greater speed.

Farming Added to List Of Critical Occupations

Farm operators and assistants have been added to the list of critical occupations by the labor department. Secretary Brannon points out that the list of critical occupations is used as a guide in the selection of manpower for armed services. This addition will aid selective service in considering cases of key farm workers needed to produce record agricultural supplies for the nation's defense.

Indian Brooms Early American housewives used brooms made and sold by the Indians. The broom handles were usually sticks of birch, ash or similar material. The brush part was made up of thin strips cut into a block of wood. Softer than such "splinter brooms" were those of husks, twigs, and rushes.

An Open Letter About The Allis-Chalmers Hay Baler

(From a Silverwood Farmer)

Silverwood, Mich. May 18, 1951 Johnson Hardware Deford, Mich. Dear Sir: A very important advantage of round bales, is, that once the hay is baled it will not be spoiled by even a heavy rain. The Allis Chalmers Roto-Bales do not come apart even with rough handling. The bales are easier to handle, leaf loss is kept to a minimum, and permit storage of more hay in less space, due to the bales settling together in the mow. The Roto-Bales are easy to feed as the hay does not have to be shaken out. Just unroll the hay and throw in the manger.

Sincerely yours, Roderick Hood.
