Taller Corn—An agriculturist at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station has found that corn grows taller if the seed is X-rayed before it is planted.

Married men should be masters in their homes or know the reason why, states a writer. At least most of them know the reason why.

One thing to remember while traveling on the highway is that lost time can sometimes be made up, but death is permanent.

Sell Old Chickens Now for Best Results

Selling the old laying flock in the fall is a good way of helping control disease in the pullet flock, according to Byron E. Carpenter, assistant county agricultural agent.

Poultry specialists in several midwestern states including Michigan State College, point out for instance that research has shown that mixed flocks of old and young chickens have more avian tuberculosis than young flocks.

Selling older hens before taking the pullets off the range gives poultrymen a chance to give the laying house a thorough cleaning, too. "When you clean the empty house you have a better chance of destroying infestations of parasites and disease organisms," the agent says.

"And while the house is empty and clean you can take steps to get rid of rats which cause many of the disease problems in the farm flocks," he adds.

He suggests starting the cleanup by removing all litter, cobwebs, dust and other loose material. Then scrape the caked manure from perches, roosts, and feed and water stands. Soaking the floor will make it easier to completely remove tightly packed material.

A strong lye solution—1 pound of lye in 10 to 15 gallons of water—will kill most disease organisms left by the old hens. He recommends an old broom for applying it to feeders, waterers, floors, walls—including all cracks and crevices where organisms may be harbored.

Carpenter suggests a cresol disinfectant, sprayed onto side walls and roosts, forced into cracks and crevices, as the next step in your clean-up campaign for healthier poultry.

Then close up the house for several days so no free-flying birds can get in. Repair broken windows, screens and so on to complete the fall poultry house-cleaning.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Vacation Time.

When and if this column is printed—ye editor will be on a long awaited vacation. It is stand type affair with rented cottage and boat in the Indian River section near Wolverine. This is the first "away from home" sojourn for the Vallender family. We've always managed to find our time taken by duties around the farm in other summers. This year—we put a down payment on a cottage. Can't change plans now.
We picked the location because of the reputation for game fishing. Hope to have a couple of good stories to pass along later. The other half of the annual two-weeks leave is taken solo during deer season. Splitting the time this way is unfair to the rest of the family.

ELMWOOD

Charles Wood of Chelsea spent Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morse.
Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Livingston and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Vader.
Miss Margaret Peddie and Norbert Vader were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Livingston.
Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morse enjoyed hearing the baptismal ceremony of their newest grandson, James Wesley Cutler, over the Bad Axe Radio Station Sunday morning.
Rev. and Mrs. Roy Stevenson of Summit, Illinois, called on Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Morse on Saturday. The Stevensons were neighbors of Mr. Morse when they all lived in Manitoba, Canada.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barriger and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barriger visited Mrs. Charles Barrige in Mercy Hospital Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Evans, daughters, Patty and Karin, sons, James and Dale, spent a few days last week in northern Michigan. On their trip they viewed the world's largest lime stone quarry at Rogers City, crossed the straits, visited the Soo Locks and were pleased to see them so well guarded. They walked through virgin timber to see the beautiful Tahquamenon Falls, then on to Pictured Rocks on Lake Superior and into the copper mining country. They returned home along the shores of Lake Michigan.

ily. If we manage to bring home a fender full of buck—all is forgiven.
We are leading up to the point that there will be no literary effort next week. Everyone gets a vacation.
Pictures.
It probably isn't too well known—but it's gospel truth that a picture of every farm in the country is on file in the USDA. It's about ten to one the Agriculture Department knows more about your farm than you do. That is—unless you're one of those rare farmers who has surveyed every inch of his land.
Impossible, you say?
The answer is simple. Aerial pictures. They tell the whole story of practically every farm in the United States. Where buildings are located, fence lines, acreage in woodlot, ponds, lakes and streams, pastures and crop lands.
What use are these pictures? If a field is water logged the USDA can tell you where to lay drainage tile and how much it will cost without even paying you a visit. They can work out an entire water control plan for you and your neighbors without stirring from the office.
They can also catch you if you try to "fudge" on your crop quotas. They have a little gadget called a "plameter" to measure the acreage of all fields.
Twenty Year Job.
The boys who photographed this part of Michigan used the James Clements Airport in Bay City as a home base. They took about eight months to snap the entire north half of the state. This two-man crew, pilot and photographer, worked eight hours a day, six days a week. The plane was an Army surplus advanced trainer commonly known as an AT-6. Special panoramic aerial cameras were used.
The National job was started back in 1934. Since that time, more than three million square miles of countryside have been recorded in black-and-white prints for the Department albums. All of the Agricultural land is now filmed.
Details.
It takes several hundred shots to map an average county. The original prints can be enlarged to bring out detail. An old-fashioned Stereoscope is used to give height to the hills—depth to the valleys—brings the whole farm plan into sharp focus.

Many Government Agencies use these photos. The Army plans field maneuvers and locates airfields from them. Engineers use them to plan flood control and irrigation projects. Colleges and planning commissions want special pictures.
The Department sells about 350 thousand dollars worth of prints each year.
Your Own Farm.
If you want to know all about your farm just go to your local FMA office. They will obtain prints for you.
If you want to drain an unproductive marsh—do a better job of conservation—an expensive rod and chain survey won't be necessary. All the data will be right there on the picture of your farm. And don't worry about getting a free ride. . . .
Brother, you paid for it.
Peace consists of world-wide neighborliness.

Mrs. Weatherhead Dies at Son's Home

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Pinnebog Methodist Church for Mrs. Christina R. Weatherhead, 77, of Kinde.
Mrs. Weatherhead, widow of Joseph Weatherhead, died Wednesday, August 22, at the home of her son, Norman, in Hume Township, Huron County, following an illness of two months.
She moved to Grindstone City at the age of seven from Scotland, where she was born April 1, 1874.
Surviving are two sons, Frank, of Gageton, and Norman, of Kinde; four grandchildren; one great grandchild, and a brother, Edward Mossison of Grindstone City.
Burial was in the New River Cemetery and Rev. George Bush, Rev. J. H. Davis and Rev. Lester Case officiated.
A wife has been fined $25 for whipping her husband on the street. She should have known home was the only place for that.

Little Stories about Great Hymns

God Moves in a Mysterious Way

God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform; He plants His footsteps in the sea, And rides upon the storm.

William Couper was frail, sensitive, and high strung. After three futile attempts at suicide, being miraculously preserved, he was inspired to write this moving hymn. He lived most of his life in mental gloom. Later, he was helped through his melancholia by his faithful friend, John Newton, the reformed slave trader. Together, they wrote several great hymns.

TAKE THE WORK OUT OF SILO FILLING

with the Allis-Chalmers FORAGE HARVESTER

Let machinery do the work in filling your silo this fall.

With the Allis-Chalmers Forage Harvester and Forage Blower, power handles the crop all the way from field to silo. You get the job done quickly, without a big crew. With your own Forage Harvester, you make better silage because you can cut at the right time.

The A-C Forage Harvester has spiral, cupped knives three feet wide. They handle heavy crops easily. Knives are power-honed without removing them from the machine. The Forage Harvester is a 3-way machine, with attachments for row crops, standing grass, or windrows.

See the Forage Harvester before you make silage this year.

Michigan Mirror News Briefs

Michigan's outstate legislators declined to appropriate funds for Southeastern Michigan TB sanatoriums, and went home from the Special Session with the hot breath of reapportionment fanning their necks.

Detroit's Herman Keifer Hospital was granted $300,000. (It asked for $2,000,000.) Oakland County Hospital receiving nothing. (Requested $280,000.) Wayne County delegation cried it was "sold down the river," and the drive for reapportionment received added impetus.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) sounded the warning when he shouted: "You men (out-staters) are bringing about a constitutional amendment reapportioning the legislature—then the shoe will be on the other foot."

Outstate lawmakers, who control both houses, continually have blocked reapportionment for fear of losing control to the heavily populated Southeastern area.

However, state lawmakers did boost old age assistance. The state will double any amount given by the federal government (not to exceed $70). It now is $30, but a bill before Congress would increase it to $85 monthly, making a total of $86. Gov. Williams, who had asked a $70 guarantee, expressed his disgust at the "Rube Goldberg arrangement." He also was disgruntled when $5,000 was not appropriated for state flags to be sent to Korea.

School enrollment padding investigation continues. The North Adams board of education has admitted receiving $2,012 in overpayment on the school lunch program and has returned a check in that amount to the state.

Crop progress in the state looks good despite heavy damage in Berrien County from hail. The loss was localized and will not affect the overall picture.

A bumper crop of Michigan babies is expected this year. Already 80,795 babies have been registered in the first six months—an increase of 1,904 over 1947, previous high year. Births for the same period last year, 72,848.

Michigan's Prohibition party this year has started a rehabilitation program. Plan underway would finance the party with from one to five-cents-per day contributions from party members. Party's executive committee this fall will open a drive for 9,627 petitioners to put the party back on the state ballot.

A small chuckle was heard in Lansing when the Michigan Table Top Licenses Congress (tavern owners association) received by error the bank statement of the Michigan Temperance Foundation. The Foundation, of course, was sent the Table Top accountings. It wasn't pleased.

Consumers Power Company has asked permission to add 10,000 new gas space heating customers. Request arrived one day before federal restrictions froze space heating. Consumers vice president, M. W. Arthur, said the timing was purely coincidental. "We filed the petition when we thought we were ready to add customers," he said.

Charles Figy, director of the state department of agriculture, was a bit crushed when he was criticized for NOT spending state money. The Michigan Association of County Drain Commissioners condemned him for sending only two (not four) men to a recent meeting. Says Figy: "Governor has asked us to cut down on all essential travel." He saved the state $200.

The Michigan State Fair has an estimated 15,000 exhibits, some 3,000 more than last year—a trend reflected in most county fairs this year.

Labor Day no longer marks the end of Michigan's tourist season. Recent surveys show some 70 per cent of the resorts in Western Michigan will remain open through September and some even in October.

Vitriolic, Red-hunting Joseph R. McCrathy will come before a Michigan crowd Sept. 14 when he speaks at the Branch County 4-H Club fair in Coldwater. His speech will highlight "Republican Day," an event of no mean importance in Southern Michigan.

A huge display of military might at the National Air Races gave a Russian army officer a belly ache. After a quick inspection, Major Leonid Pivnev said: "I have a stomach ache. I think it's appendicitis I am going back to Washington right away."

The Michigan State Federation of Women's Club plan a campaign to establish a Girls' Town similar to Nebraska's Boys' Town. The state's 30,000 federated clubwomen will be asked to raise $150,000. Land in the western part of the upper peninsula is being considered.

Improved Feeds May Help Turkey Ailment

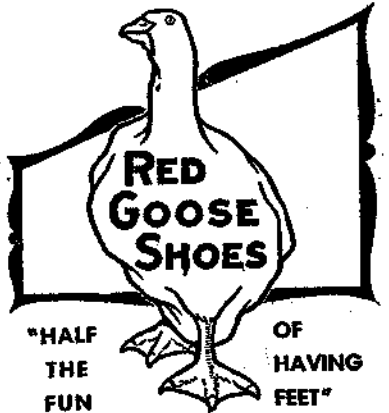

Improved feeds may be the answer to big hock trouble in turkeys, according to William A. Aho, extension poultry specialist, at Michigan State College.

He reported that Cornell University researchers have uncovered evidence that certain samples of fish liver oil reduces the amount of an essential chemical, called creatine, in the muscle causing big hock trouble.

They have corrected the turkey ailment with rations containing 5 per cent dried brewers yeast and 0.1 per cent choline, betaine or methionine.

The trouble has arisen in some Michigan flocks of brood breasted bronze in confinement, Aho said. The hocks of the large toms develop soreness and become lame. Birds in this condition do not maintain or increase their weights since they cannot feed normally.

A Good Job Well Done

After half a century of work and planning, every farm in the area served by Edison has dependable, low-cost electric service available.

In addition, Edison is always seeking new ways of serving its farm customers: through research and engineering, teamwork with Michigan State College, County Agricultural Agents, community development groups and farm youth organizations.

Throughout the state and nation, investor-owned companies like Edison are providing farm families with the same type of dependable electric service to help them maintain their splendid food production record. There is no need for the federal government to spend your tax money to build more government-owned power projects or to enlarge present ones. It's a good job—well done.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

Thirty-five years ago
 The Cass City Schools opened Monday morning. The high school department shows an enrollment of 115, which is within two of the enrollment at the same period in 1915. As the busiest season on the farms will soon be past, the number of pupils will gradually increase and it is probable that the year's enrollment in the high school will show an increase over that of 1915.

George Hall was nominated County Drain Commissioner Tuesday at the primary election for Tuscola County.

Don McGee, the aviator, will head the special attractions at the Bad Axe Fair next week. He will give two flights a day in this wonderful new machine.

Twenty-five Years Ago.
 Frank Obee operates one of the most fertile and profitable farms near Minden City. His earnings compare favorably with the high city wages. It is estimated that his earnings exceed one dollar per hour for every hour he works.

About 85 supporters of Lyle A. Koepfgen started out from Cass City Thursday morning, Sept. 2, on a tour of Tuscola County, in the interest of Mr. Koepfgen's candidacy for the nomination of sheriff at the September primary. The trip was made in 20 automobiles and several more expected to join the party at Caro at noon. Gagetown, Akron, Unionville, Fairgrove, Reese, Gilford and Richville were visited in the 70-mile trip made Thursday morning.

Ten Years Ago.
 At the opening of the public schools in Tuscola County for the fall term, 15 of the rural schools in eight townships will be without instructors for the reason that pupils will be transported from these districts to nearby village schools. Thus the list of functioning little red schoolhouses, few of which are now painted red, grows smaller as the school busses increase in popularity.

Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly crowned Miss Annabelle Papp as dairy queen Friday night at the Sanilac 4-H Club Fair. Miss Papp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Papp of Decker.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant VanWinkle returned early Sunday morning from a two weeks' trip to Manhattan, Kansas, where they visited their daughter, Mrs. Carlton Palmer. Miss Glenna Asher and Miss Mary Lee Doerr left last week for Detroit where they will take a two years' retail business course at Wayne University.

Five Years Ago.
 Because the football field at the city park will be graded some time in September or early October, all games of the Cass City High School will be away from home during the autumn season.

Open house was held at Maier's Studio for friends and relatives by Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Neitzel on August 25, with 48 attending.

Member of the Gavel Club, on Tuesday evening, chose officers for the coming year. James Gross is president, C. U. Brown, vice president; Dr. K. I. McRae, secretary; Bernard Ross, treasurer.

The construction of 4,844 miles of 22-foot concrete pavement on M-46 between Sandusky and M-19 in Sanilac County has been let to the E. B. Schwaderer Co., Cass City, for $949,382.60.

Robert Foy, Dale Reed and Harold Oatley left Monday evening to attend a national meeting of the Order of the Arrow at the Army Air Base, Chanute Field, Illinois.

Michigan State College soil conservationists advise leaving straw stubble, sod or even weeds on the surface of the land rather than leaving it bare over the winter.

Vegetable Field Day Planned at MSC

An opportunity for a first-hand view of vegetable research at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station, East Lansing, is offered growers who attend the annual Michigan Vegetables Growers' Field Day at Michigan State College, September 5.

J. W. Rose, MSC vegetable specialist, says that a comprehensive program is planned. Of special interest this year will be the work of Dr. S. H. Wittwer, MSC research horticulturist, using the new chemical maleic hydrazide. This chemical is used to increase storage life of potatoes, onions, and other root crops.

Dr. Wittwer has treated onions from the 1950 crop that are still solid and show no sprouting. The onion and potato plots, treated with maleic hydrazide will be ready for harvest on September 5.

Extensive irrigation trails, conducted by Dr. R. L. Carolus, MSC research horticulturist in cooperation with the Department of Agricultural Engineering, will be shown and discussed. Crops irrigated include cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, sweet corn, tomatoes, lima beans, and a fall crop of head lettuce. The research brings out many of the effects irrigation has on rates of fertilizer applications and on spacing.

The field day will include variety trails on cucumbers, melons, tomatoes, sweet corn and beans.

Stop Storage Tank Waste to Save 100 Gallons Fuel Yearly

Many tractor owners could save more than 100 gallons of tractor fuel every year by stopping waste around storage tanks and in tractor operation, Michigan State College extension agricultural engineers estimate.

Leaks and carelessness cause most of the waste around storage tanks—waste that takes an indirect bite out of your pocketbook and may cause a direct accident. This waste and danger can be cut down by making sure there are no leaks in the tank, faucet or hose. Check that the tank man doesn't spill the gasoline or fill the tank too full.

Further suggestions include keeping the tanks or barrels in the shade with the caps on tight. Fuel stored more than 4 months may have enough gum in it to cause valves to stick.

The agricultural engineers suggest the same precautions for filling the tractor tank. Repair any leaky hoses, and don't fill the tractor tank too full. If you take an extra five gal. can full of fuel to the field be sure it doesn't leak out the bottom or splash out the top. Use a funnel for filling the tank.

For saving fuel in tractor operation they advise adjusting the carburetor only for full loads and only when the engine is warming up. Correct setting of the carburetor and idling needle is important in saving fuel. Also, use the right fuel and the right spark plugs for your tractor.

Here are some examples of how costly some of these mistakes in tractor maintenance can be. The right carburetor setting can save up to 100 gallons of fuel a year. The idle needle and idling speed screw correctly set also can save 1000 gallons.

Using an higher gear and throttling down can save up to 5 gallons a day.

Farmers Urged to Attend Caro Meeting

All farmers in Tuscola County are being urged by the U. S. Department of Agriculture representatives in Caro to attend a meeting to be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, September 6, at the VFW Hall, South State Street, Caro.

The purpose of the meeting is to get the farmer's opinion to the Department of Agriculture at Washington which thinks that the family farm is so vital to the economy, prosperity and military defense of the Nation, that it is reviewing all of its program and activities to make sure they are serving the family farm well, and to find out how they can serve it better.

The programs and services of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that are most active in Tuscola County are the Cooperative Extension Service (County Agent, 4-H Home Demonstration), Soil Conservation Service, Production and Marketing Administration, Farmer's Home Administration, Farm Credit Administration, and the Rural Electrification Administration.

Similar meetings are being held in all counties of the United States. Reports from each meeting are being sent in to the Secretary of Agriculture by some individual not employed or affiliated with the Department.

Artificial Breeders Exhibit 19 Calves

An exhibit of artificially bred heifer calves by 19 Tuscola County farmers was one of the most interesting agricultural exhibits at the 1951 Tuscola County Fair.

Nineteen heifer calves ranging in age from four to 13 months, and owned by 19 different farmer ABA members, were on display in the cattle barns on the Fairgrounds throughout the week of the Caro Fair.

Signs showing the increase in services provided by the state artificial breeding organization showed that first services had increased from 4156 in the first year of its operation (1944) to nearly 104,000 in 1950.

A map showing the areas covered by each local association in the county was also on display, and free literature concerning membership, fees, and the sires used by the organization was available to the Fair visitors.

The owners of the calves which were exhibited are Lewis Severance, Akron; Elmer Schriber and Gloriana Taggett, Caro; E. G. Golding and Harley Kelly, Cass City; William Phillips, Bruce Ruggles, Charles Seddon and Louis Wenzloff, Kingston; William Little, Marlette, Herman Daenzer, Millington; Ruben Rohloff, Reese; Carl Arnbruster, Arthur Volz, and August Volz, Sebawaing; Loren Brady and Jesse Treiber, Unionville; and Grover Bates, Vassar.

Several of the owners of registered calves in the artificial heifer calf exhibit entered their animals in the open class competition where they won further premiums.

Ninety 4-H Youth Enjoy Fair Camp

Approximately 90 4-H boys and girls enjoyed the accommodations of the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building during the Tuscola County Fair. The camp is an annual affair conducted by the 4-H Mothers Club and is designed primarily for livestock exhibitors.

Present officers of the 4-H Mothers Club are Mrs. Milton Bedore, Unionville, president; Mrs. Earl Taggett, Caro, vice president; Mrs. Alger Hartz, Fairgrove, secretary; and Mrs. Gottlieb Spanagel, Unionville, treasurer.

Grade school instruction in the Los Angeles area is being reinforced by the radio division of the University of California at Los Angeles theater arts department through the use of four radio programs beamed directly at city and county classrooms.

Being in a rut or in a groove may sound alike but there's a big difference.

J. W. Little Writes Historical Novel

J. W. Little.

J. W. Little, Royal Oak, an uncle of Harry Little, Cass City, had his first novel, "When East Was West," published recently.

The book is an historical novel full of adventure, excitement and suspense. It's worth is brought to the fore by its sharp criticism and deep religious thought.

An autographed copy of the novel was presented to the Yale Public Library, former home of J. W. Little, by Harry Little and a similar copy will be presented to the Cass City and Elkland Township Library.

The novel of early American Days (1700 A. D.)—"When East Was West" on our continent—when a trip from Boston Town to where now stands the City of Detroit was just as difficult and dangerous as a trip to London or Paris—or even more so.

Those were the days when the vast wilderness still offered escape to the social outcast and idealist or religious fanatic like all that is mirrored in these 561 crowded pages of what we believe to be most interesting reading.

Mr. Little was born two and one-half miles north of Yale on the Little homestead. As some of the old neighbors will remember, he left home as a young boy and took to traveling.

Little has spent thirteen years writing this book and has a second book started that will be out in about two years.

In criticizing the book, Harry Little says there is only one thing wrong—it is so interesting that you can't stop reading once you have started.

Mr. Little, the author, lives in Royal Oak, is married and has two daughters, Mrs. Frank (Alene) Hauser, and Mrs. Richard (Mary) Bush, and one son, Jack. He has made his livelihood as a contractor and builder.

The book may be purchased from the J. L. Hudson Company of Detroit.

We have no cliff dwellers today but still plenty of bluffers.

Watch Yellow Lights Says Police Chief

Steve Orto, Chief of the Cass City police department, announced today that his department is paying special attention to the observance of the yellow light in "Stop-and-Go" traffic signals at intersections.

He calls motorists attention to a warning issued by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler that, "It's when the green 'go light' turns to yellow that most accidents happen at intersections of streets or highways where traffic signals exist."

"The temptation of the motorist approaching an intersection to keep on going and 'beat' the red light is strong. The motorist waiting for the green light on the other street is keyed to take off the moment his green light appears.
