

Hawks Whip Marlette 19-7; Open League Slate Friday

The Cass City Red Hawks warmed up for their conference opener against Harbor Beach at Cass City Friday by scoring an opening game victory over Marlette, 19-7, on a sloppy field that made good football difficult.

In wrapping up the opener, the Hawks showed a well-balanced attack and mixed passes with runs to score their three touchdowns.

Neither team could get up enough momentum to score in the opening period, although the Hawks started a drive late in the first quarter that netted the first score of the game in the early moments of the second period.

The payoff drive started on the Hawks 38 yard line. Two first downs in a row moved it to the Marlette 43 where the drive seemed stopped after Cass City fumbled twice in a row and lost 12 yards. But Tom Schwaderer skirted end, after failing to find a receiver on a pass play, for 15 yards and a toss to Frank Creason was good for a first down on the Marlette 20. Bob Wallace eluded the drive by driving the final 20 yards to pay dirt on the old end-around play. Schwaderer's run for the extra point failed and the Hawks led, 6-0.

Cass City widened the gap to two touchdowns later in the same period. The drive started when Schwaderer intercepted a pass and brought it back to midfield. From there the Hawks took to the air and scored in just three plays.

Schwaderer hooked a pass over the middle to Tim Burdon, good for nine yards, and then tossed one 15 yards to Creason who galloped to the eight. On the next play Schwaderer tossed to Creason in the flat in the end zone for the score. Pete Martin's try for point was low and the score at the half was 12-0.

In the third quarter Cass City made their margin, three touchdowns, when Creason took a reverse and scampered 31 yards to score. The marker was set up when Dick Wallace recovered a fumble by Marlette's safety man on the Marlette 43 yard line.

Schwaderer and Creason combined on a pass play to rack up the extra point.

Trailing 19-0, Marlette came to life late in the third quarter to score. They punched out yardage through the line to move to a first down on the Cass City 29 yard line. After two line plays lost four yards, Lee Osborn tossed a long pass to McKulm for the marker. The try for point was good.

The touchdown completed the scoring for the game as neither team was able to get a touchdown drive under motion in the fourth quarter.

Statistically, the Hawks' margin wasn't as great as the score indicated.

Marlette amassed 10 first downs to nine for Cass City, while the Hawks gained 231 yards to 153 for their opponents. The Hawks made 178 yards rushing and 53 through the air, while Marlette gained 105 yards on the ground and 48 via the airways. Cass City fumbled three times, Marlette twice and the Hawks were penalized 15 yards while Marlette lost only five yards through infractions.

With the victory under their belt, the Hawks settle down to conference competition and are aiming to repeat last year's 20-0 win over Harbor Beach.

Dr. Joseph R. Harris.

Dr. Joseph R. Harris, vice president of Alma College, will be guest speaker at the Cass City Presbyterian Church Sunday at 10:30 a. m. It was announced today by Rev. Melvin R. Vender, pastor of the church here.

Dr. Harris is a native of Ohio, a graduate of the College of Wooster at Wooster, Ohio, Princeton Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey, and of Temple University at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He received the earned degree of Doctor of Sacred Theology from the latter institution in 1939.

Dr. Harris is an ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. He was the successful pastor of Presbyterian churches at Mansfield, Bridgeport, and Waynesburg, Pennsylvania, previous to enlistment as a chaplain in the United States Navy. He also served for fourteen months as an instructor with the Army Air Corps. Following his discharge from the Navy, and immediately prior to his coming to Alma, he was the Director of the Westminster Foundation and Pastor to Presbyterian students at the University of Oregon.

The first meeting of the Home and School Council has been slated for Monday and will be a social function to welcome the faculty and personnel of Cass City's school, their wives or husbands. The meeting will be held in the school at 8:00 p. m., and is open to all residents of the community.

One-Hundred-Year Old House Still In Fine Condition

We don't know whether the old saying that things aren't built today like they were before has any merit, but a Gageton building firm can testify that things were built to last 100 years ago.

Amasa Anthes of Gageton and his son, Junior, were awarded the contract of moving a house near Unionville to Caro and were assisted by Walter Anthes, a brother and uncle of the movers.

According to Anthes, the ancient house was still in fine condition—despite the fact that it was erected on clay ground without a post or stone foundation.

The black ash wood sills with the bark intact were in fine shape after so long a period as also were the planks used for the outside walls and the plaster on the inside of the house. The first coat of plaster was made of clay and straw, and apparently later, when pulp plaster came into use, a layer of that was applied for a "smoothing coat."

House moving has changed in the last half century as well as house building. Martin Anthes, father of Walter and Amasa, Sr., changed the locations of many buildings in this area by the one-horse winch and hand labor method. Today the two Amasas, Jr. and Sr., will move a building, large or small, a long distance in a tenth of the time because of their modern equipment.

Dybilas Guilty of Disorderly Conduct

Joseph Dybilas, 27, of Tyre is spending 15 days in the Tuscola County jail after entering the Severn's rooming home armed with a shotgun to see a girl who had refused to associate with him.

He was arrested by Steve Orto, Cass City's chief of police and appeared before Judge Albin Stevens Friday. Judge Stevens found Dybilas guilty of disorderly conduct and fined him $25 and $13.50 court costs in addition to the short jail term.

Banquet to Honor Retiring Teachers At Deckerville

Three Sanilac County teachers with a combined total of 118 years of experience in their profession will be feted in Deckerville Wednesday night. They are Park Russell, Snover, a 30-year teaching veteran; Jason Kitchin, Cass City, 35 years in the teaching profession; and Carrie Klouse, Forrestville, dean of the trio with 43 years in the classroom.

The retiring teachers will be honored at a testimonial dinner by the Sanilac County chapter of the Michigan Education Association. Each of the teachers were in a Sanilac County rural school at the time of retirement last spring.

Besides honoring its retiring members, the MEA will have a get-acquainted session at the dinner as new teachers in the county are welcomed into Sanilac M. E. A. chapter.

Robert McConegy, Samdusky, M. E. A. county president, announced this week that Ivan Bentley, field representative for the Sanilac County district, is also expected to be on hand for the testimonial dinner.

Clever Canine Dies

"Lady" is dead. The clever canine companion of the L. E. Dickinson household and the friend of many persons in Cass City died Sunday.

Most folks will remember "Lady" walking downtown with her owner on shopping trips, proudly carrying a basket between her teeth—either empty or full of groceries.

Others will remember the faithful dog for her tricks that were too numerous to mention. The pointer had been a member of the Dickinson's household since a pup and lived to the ripe old dog's age of nine years before her death, Sunday.

Two Area Students University Graduates

Two area students will be among 1,210 summer graduates from the University of Michigan who will receive diplomas by mail for work completed late in August.

They are Marie Josephine Sullivan of Cass City and Elizabeth H. Fischer, of Gageton, both who received Master of Arts degrees.

Altogether, twelve of the University's 15 schools were represented in the summer graduation.

Gageton Farmer Burns to Death at Home Thursday

Fire claimed another victim Thursday, Sept. 13, when George Trumble burned to death at his farm home, one and one-half miles north of Gageton where he had been living alone.

Shortly before the fire claimed him, Mr. Trumble was seen by Miss Louise Meyers in her store in Gageton.

Neighbors discovered the fire and turned in the alarm to the Gageton Fire Department who responded to the call as smoke and flames prevented neighbors from entering the house. When the firemen arrived they soon beat back the flames and entered the building. They found the body on the kitchen floor burned beyond recognition. The house and contents were completely destroyed.

Sheriff Meritt R. McBride and Coroner Colgan of Bad Axe investigated and said death was due to third degree burns and suffocation.

George Trumble was born in Brookfield Twp. in 1878 and later lived at Indian River and about seven years ago came to live on the old homestead in Brookfield Twp. His wife died about five years ago and surviving is a nephew, Ezra Mosher, Gageton, and a niece, Mrs. Isabella Schenck of Detroit.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. at the Hunter Funeral Home. Rev. Silas Parker officiated.

Deford Nine to Play Port Austin Soldiers

Jack Knuckles' Deford softball team, regular season champions of the Cass City Softball League, will play the soldiers from the radar station at Port Austin Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Cass City Recreation softball diamond.

The match will be a return engagement for the two teams. Last week Deford defeated the soldiers, 9-3. However, according to Knuckles, the soldiers have a good softball club but had one bad inning last week that accounted for the lopsided score.

Farm Demonstration To Show How to Cut Calf Raising Losses

"Do dairy farmers realize that calf losses in large herds run as high as 20% when the animals are raised with no special precautions to reduce sickness and injury?" This question was asked this week by Byron E. Carpenter, assistant county agricultural agent, who says that research workers have actually found that in commercial herds one calf out of five dies before reaching freshening age.

"We doubt that losses are quite that high in Tuscola County," said the agent, "but whatever the death rate may be, we think there are farms where a better job of calf raising can be done."

"So we're going to have a meeting to demonstrate several proven techniques that should increase the calf raising rate."

Dr. Morris suffered back injuries and Mr. Karr received cuts and a concussion. Both the car and the tractor were badly damaged in the smash. At the time of the accident, the car and the tractor were traveling west.

Record Percentage Of '51 Class Attends Michigan Colleges

Besides the students attending college at Michigan State and Northeastern School of Commerce as reported in last week's Chronicle, many others are attending colleges and universities in the state.

In fact, so many of the 1951 graduating class from the Cass City High School are starting on the road to college degrees, that it represents a record percentage for recent years, according to high school principal Arthur Holmberg.

No less than 15 graduates are attending classes now. The 15 represent 17 per cent of the spring graduating class. The students at school not already listed include: Jim Bishop and Jessie Fry, to U. of M.; John McCormick, Pat Storton and Eunice Tuckey, Central Michigan College of Education; Roger Little, Alma and Irene Ludlow, Saginaw General Hospital. Attending at Michigan State will be Jim Fox.

Tuscola Pioneer Dies In Caro Friday

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. at the Methodist Church for Claude D. Andrews, prominent Tuscola County resident and retired Thumby banker.

Mr. Andrews died Friday night at the Heather Stone Convalescent Home in Caro after a long illness. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Andrews had a long and varied business career in Tuscola County. He lumbered in Minnesota and later in Tuscola County. He operated a general store in Colwood and was a former partner in the banking firm of Seeley-Andrews-Bach and Co. Mr. Andrews was one of the founders of the company that operated banks in Colwood and Bach. The banks were discontinued in 1934, after paying off its depositors.

He was born June 13, 1879, in Ellington Township, living in Colwood for 17 years before moving to Caro. Mr. Andrews was a member of the Caro Methodist Church, the Caro Masonic lodge and a charter and honorary member of the Caro Rotary Club. He served on the Caro Board of Trustees and the Tuscola County Fair Board.

He married the former Miss Etta Colling, April 10, 1902, at Colling. His widow survives him. Besides his widow, he leaves one sister, Mrs. Grace Burton, of Caro. Burial was in Caro cemetery.

Wind Wrecks Josh Sharrard's Barn

The strong wind that hit Cass City last week was a cyclone in some areas of the Thumb. The wind was at its worst out near the Josh Sharrard home, R 1, Decker, and it blew the Sharrard's barn down.

The basement of the barn was left standing so that the cows can be milked, but the rest of the barn is a total ruin. The Sharrards' plan on rebuilding as soon as time permits after the rush of the fall harvest is over.

Sgt. Glenn Shimmel Honored at Party

George Mains Talks At Rotary Luncheon

Cass City Rotarians were entertained by George Mains at the regular noon luncheon meeting at the New Gordon Hotel, Tuesday.

Mr. Mains who knew many of the great figures of our time, reported that Huey Long was one of the most maligned statesmen of our time.

In other interesting anecdotes, Mr. Mains told how his first assignment on a newspaper was interviewing Franklin D. Roosevelt, when the late President was a senator.

Mr. Mains is remembered by American Legion men everywhere as the person in charge of the publicity for the Junior American Legion Baseball teams.

Extension Club Meets at High School

"Legal Phases of Home Management" was the subject of study, presented by Mrs. Fred Maier and Mrs. Herb Ludlow, when the Cass City Extension Club convened in the homelike room of the high school building Monday evening. Mrs. Maier discussed property ownership, contracts and business partnerships and Mrs. Ludlow conducted a true and false quiz, pertaining to the same subjects. Preceding the lesson, Mrs. Albert Gallagher, Mrs. Maier and Mrs. Ray Boughton presented a playlet, entitled, "Jim's Mistake."

Sprays of colored autumn leaves interspersed by salvia, formed the table decorations when Mrs. Guy Landon, Mrs. F. L. Morris, Mrs. Concluded on page 12.

Sunday, Oct. 7, will be a big day in the lives of Archie McLachlan and Gerald Whittaker, two boys from the Cass City Chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

For on that date, the pair will board a train headed for Kansas City where the two will represent their chapter as delegates to the FFA National Convention.

The two boys were honored because of their participation in FFA activities, leadership and popularity with other members of the club.

The trip is an annual affair for the two lucky boys chosen. Last year Lee Hartel and James Fox were selected to make the journey to the convention. The trip is entirely financed by the Cass City Chapter, according to Roy Benson, advisor for the boys in Cass City.

Present plans call for the boys to spend three days at the convention—leaving here on Oct. 7 and returning Oct. 13.

In case either or both of the boys are unable to attend the convention, alternates were chosen by the club. They are Dale Buehrly and Alex Salas.

❖ LET'S TALK IT OVER ❖

School Days.

Shortly after Labor Day, our 12 million Rural school children returned to the classrooms of the nation. A good share of them walked into institutions of learning as archaic as the old oaks in a farm woodlot.

My kids are fortunate, maybe yours are too. We have a brand new five-room schoolhouse that replaced a one-room frame fire-trap. It took about fifteen years effort on the part of school board members and parents to make the new school a reality.

We said that our kids are lucky because there are still about 60 thousand of these one-room rural schools in America—most of them manned by under-paid and unqualified teachers. It is an undeniable fact that the rural school is still lagging far behind in the general improvement of rural life and conditions.

National Disgrace.

This situation is especially true in the South where racial segregation makes it necessary for each district to finance two separate schools—one for the whites, the other for negroes.

It's also prevalent, unfortunately, in Northern states, and right here in this part of Michigan. In some of our richest Agricultural districts with fine farm dwellings, up-to-date livestock barns—this one-room schoolhouse still exists—unpainted, neglected and inadequate.

Some Progress.

It's true, there's a trend toward school consolidation in more enterprising communities. During the past six years, more than 53 thousand one-room rural schools have been abandoned in favor of larger institutions to which pupils are transported by buses—schools which not only provide better physical facilities, but more and better qualified teachers.

The tragic side to the rural school picture is pointed up by the fact there are more children on farms than in rural centers where better schools are available.

Farm families are usually larger than those in urban areas. Thus the major share of the nation's future citizens are being denied education which would fit them for the duties of citizenship.

Lost Opportunity.

We are missing the boat with this educational neglect. There is no better place to teach a child than in a rural environment. Life in the country can be fuller and richer. Growth makes it a wonderland for the student of science. Yet the study of applied science—something which should help to improve farm conditions—is seldom included in a rural course of study.

Country children have a rich and varied background for first-hand experiences with natural and physical sciences, in animals, birds, insects, rocks, soils, weathering, machinery and electricity. Certainly science should have an important place throughout the curriculum if rural children are to improve environment in their adult years.

No Plans.

One of the most amazing things about the rural school situation is that there's no big push to remedy it. Federal, State and Local governments during the past twenty years have done much to improve rural economic conditions in general. Through liberal loan programs and private enterprise we now have electricity in most all of the nation's farms. There are more aids to better farming than any other vocation in our day.

But as for the rural schoolhouse—in too many areas it still stands—"A ragged beggar"—a neglected institution in a community where progress in all other fields is on the march.

Rice Cultivation

From South Carolina rice growing moved into North Carolina and Georgia, and later into Alabama, Mississippi and Florida. Up to about 1849, most was grown in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. The Civil War was the beginning of the end for rice growing in the Carolinas, and those states now are out of the picture, but it resulted in a rapid increase in rice acreage along the Mississippi River in Louisiana. Then the cultivation of rice was extended to the prairies of Texas and Arkansas. The first experiment in growing rice in California took place in 1908 and that state has joined Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas as a major rice producing state.

The only way we can expect to get better legislation is to elect better legislators—which places the responsibility squarely in the hands of the nation's voters.

The secret of happiness is not to do what one likes, but to be able to like what one has to do.

Little Stories
Great Hymns
When I Survey the Wondrous Cross
See, from His head, His hands, His feet,
Sorrow and love flow mingled down;
Did e'er such love and sorrow meet,
Or thorns compose so rich a crown?

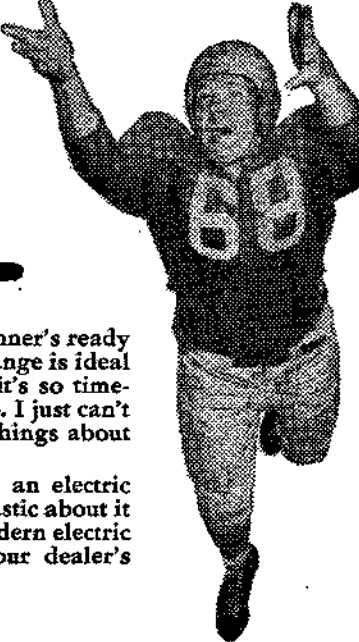

Some consider this the greatest hymn in the language, surpassing all others in solemn beauty and intense sorrow. Written by Isaac Watts, the father of English hymnody, who said "It was not my design to exalt myself to the rank and glory of poets, but I was ambitious to be a servant to the churches, and a helper to the joy of the lowest Christian."

FAVORITE RANGE OF A FOOTBALL FAVORITE

The Johnny Greenes Cook Electrically!

Johnny Greene, star end and halfback of the Detroit Lions.

"I'm so glad we have an electric range," says attractive Mrs. Johnny Greene. "I don't know how we'd get along without it," joins in Johnny. "Alice is a career wife."

Whereupon Alice adds, "That's one of the reasons why I so often delegate cook's job to my range. I put dinner in the oven before I leave for my law office and set the controls. When Johnny and I get home dinner's ready to be served. An electric range is ideal for working couples... it's so time-releasing. It's so clean, too. I just can't seem to say enough nice things about it!"

Once you've cooked with an electric range you'll be as enthusiastic about it as the Greenes. See the modern electric range for yourself—at your dealer's—today!

Get Help When Bang's Disease Hits

Dairymen, hog raisers and goat producers have one thing in common according to Michigan State College extension veterinarians.

That's a dislike of brucellosis, or Bang's Disease. It strikes at the heart of dairy production causing a loss in milk production of 20 percent or more for each animal infected. And costly losses result when the disease invades hog lots or goat herds too.

The MSC veterinarians advise farmers to get help when the disease gets into their herds or into nearby herds. They point out that trying to fight it alone is an up-hill job.

"Your county agricultural agent, local veterinarian or state veterinarian should be contacted as the first source of help," the specialists point out.

Test and slaughter are the surest and quickest way to get rid of the disease. But even though that is the least expensive method in the long run, many farmers having a badly infected herd probably can not afford to dispose of it all at once.

When the test and slaughter plan can't be adopted immediately the MSC veterinarians suggest three plans as temporary measures to help a farmer clean up his herd more gradually.

One is to test and keep reactors until they can be disposed of without too heavy a loss, plus calf vaccination. The second is calf vaccination only. The other is adult vaccination.

However, the veterinarians urge all livestock owners interested in wiping out brucellosis to work toward the test and slaughter method—coupled with good sanitation measures and herd management.

Yeast Info

Both baker's and brewer's yeast are strains of the same yeast culture, known scientifically as "saccharomyces cerevisiae". Baker's yeast has been trained to grow in the presence of oxygen to produce large numbers of yeast cells and little alcohol. Brewer's yeast, on the other hand, has been trained to grow in the absence of oxygen and to produce large amounts of alcohol and fewer yeast cells. It can be obtained from any brewery.

Solve Problem of Finding Top Ram

Help for sheep raisers in finding a top quality ram for their flock is on the way from the Michigan Sheep Breeders' Association, the Animal Husbandry Extension Department of Michigan State College and county extension offices, cooperating.

Graydon Blank, extension animal husbandry specialist at MSC, announced that purebred rams will be available for farmers of southern Michigan at the Ram Day, scheduled to be held at Michigan State College October 1. Northern Michigan sheep raisers can get a ram at any of six stops on the schedule for the Ram Truck. Local county agricultural agents can be contacted for further information and dates of the truck stops for the northern Michigan area.

Selected rams of the Hampshire, Oxford, Shropshire, Corriedale and Suffolk breeds will be represented Nobody has ever made a law that will prevent a man from making a fool of himself—if he has a wife, though, he can't do it without knowing about it.

and will be priced according to quality. Farmers wanting to obtain rams of other breeds should so inform their county agricultural agent, Blank said.

Michigan Mirror News Brief

A "Vandenberg for Governor" movement has been launched quietly on a state-wide basis by friends of Lieut. Governor William C. Vandenberg of Holland. The West Michigan official has not said he would run, and he has indicated strongly that he is receptive to any cause in the interest of good government. His supporters are hopeful, and the above slogan may yet develop.

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., has joined the list of state officials who have press agents at their command. A recent Alger speech chastized Governor Williams as being a "puppet" for his press agent, Paul Weber, former Detroit secretary for the American Newspaper Guild, affiliated with the CIO. Republican speeches, in some instances, are being ghosted capably by Arnold Levin, former Detroit newspaper correspondent at Lansing who is now publicist for the Republican State Central committee.

If enough Republican hopefuls enter the race for the United States Senator, former Governor Kim Sigler may dust off his cowboy hat and make a race for the nomination. His theme? Probably "morality in government." The sole G. O. P. entry to date is Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., of Grand Rapids. Sigler confides to friends that he's interested but hasn't yet made up his mind.

There is a more than $1000,000,000 building program going on in Michigan. Broken down—some $86,000,000 in state buildings and a $30,000,000 program for community hospitals which is one-half completed. Fourteen hospitals have been completed under the plan. Funds are federal and local, building is under state guidance. Sixteen more hospitals are under construction.

Governor Williams has asked Attorney General Frank G. Millard to intervene in a Washington case involving the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project which would open the St. Lawrence River to navigation and consequently allow seagoing vessels into the Great Lakes.

He was requested to intervene on behalf of Michigan in a request by the New York Power Authority to construct power dams along the river. Such dams would hinder any navigational project, being not of the type which would allow by-passing.

Did you know: A Michigan pheasant hunter has less than one in 10 chances of shooting a cock bird older than half a year? Roosters three years old or more are extreme rarities.

State ferries at Mackinac transported 28,182 vehicles over the Labor Day holiday.

A legislative committee is studying mental hospital programs in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana and eastern hospitals.

Distribution of 1,260,000 small game and deer licenses has been made to the 4,000 hunting license agents in the state.

Labor Day crowds in state parks pushed 1951 attendance figures to the 12 million mark, despite unseasonably cold weather.

While the department of public instruction continues its check of school enrollment records in the state, it was revealed that the superintendents at Litchfield and North Adams schools officially have lost their licenses for padding enrollment figures to get more state aid money.

Congressman Albert J. Engle of Muskegon has refused a job as a member of the public civil service commission. Says his holdings in Muskegon County, neglected while he was in Washington, need his attention.

Nearly 5,000 persons were killed or injured in Michigan traffic accidents during July. Statistics: 168 killed, 4,802 injured.

The new gasoline tax issue still is smoldering. The C. I. O.-led Michigan Citizens committee says it has the 100,000 petition signatures to force a state referendum on the law. A lengthy court battle can be expected if and when the petitions are submitted to the state board of canvassers. The board is sure to reject them, basing the action on two previous supreme court decisions turning down attempts to force referenda on earlier gas tax increases.

Average per-capita income in Michigan has gone up to $1,583, according to the 1950 Census. Ten years ago the average income was $649. That means 144 percent increase—which, incidentally is below the national average of 150 percent boost over the 10 years. Kansas incomes are up 150 percent; Arkansas, 227 percent.

Detroit schools above elementary level soon will be teaching on the evils of drug addiction—being careful to present the instruction in a manner which could not be construed as lurid or sensational.

A conservative is a fellow who thinks nothing should be done the first time.

Many theories look good on paper, but quickly killed when put into practice.

News and Views

George A. Dillman, Sec.

Did anyone meet "Chick" Schwaderer on the street Tuesday morning? Did you notice that big smile? Did you see the way he carried those broad shoulders? Why all of these questions? I'll tell you, "Chick" was presented with the honor of being captain of a City League Bowling Team (to his displeasure) by the conniving of a member of his team who was supposed to have been the captain. Well, this made "Chick" a little perturbed, and what did he do about it. His team was matched against Reid's Team Monday night of which M. B. Auten is a member. Frank and M. B. are old rivals of "Chick" in most any recreation in which they participate. After the smoke of the battle had cleared, we find that "Chick's" team had blasted the Reid Team for three games and four points. "Chick" had outrolled his 174 average lead off man, Wallace, 551 to 548, nipped M. B. by 47 pins and Reid by 121 pins. The other three members of "Chick's" team contributed their part in this victory also. Reid topped his man 465 to 421. J. Haire over his man 457 to 315. L. Vyse, feeling sorry for the faltering Reid, took things easy and let his opponent top him 440 to 391.

Another member in the spotlight this week was L. Damm with a high single game of 233 and a high series of 555 to top all bowlers.

After two weeks of bowling the teams are in the following positions:

Team	W	L	Pts.
Woolley	5	1	7

Right Seed Treatment

The well-known precaution of treating seed grain to prevent bunt or stinking smut should not be overlooked now that farmers are planting their winter wheat, says Alfred P. Ballweg, County Extension Agent. A good mercury dust treatment applied according to instructions on the label is a proven method for smut control. Several Tuscola County farmers reported stinking smut in the wheat this past summer. The mercury dust treatment will also control "seedling blights," the spores of which are carried on the seed. Treated seed should be allowed to stand at least 24 hours before planting.

Engagement Told

Myrtle Lorene Sowden.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sowden of Cass City announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrtle Lorene, to Mr. Jack Stahlbaum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stahlbaum, Sr., of Cass City. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Parsch-Hulett Rites Held in Armada

Miss Sue Ellen Hulett of Armada and Irving Parsch, Jr., of Cass City were married at the Armada Methodist Church recently in a beautiful double ring, candlelight ceremony in a setting of baskets of white gladioli, white asters and palms.

Rev. H. A. Hudgins, pastor, performed the ceremony and Mrs. Merle Tenniswood of Armada played the wedding march and accompanied Mr. Don Borg of Cass City who sang "Always" and "One Alone."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin and lace gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of imported chantilly lace, featuring a Queen Anne collar, long sleeves and full skirt which ended in a long train. A crown of rhinestones and seed pearls held finger-tip veil of illusion net and she carried a bouquet of white roses, white pompons and glacier ivy.

The bride chose her sister, Mary Lee, as her maid of honor. She wore a star-dust blue satin and net strapless formal gown, fashioned full double net skirt over satin and short sleeve bolero jacket of satin. Her hat and mitts matched her gown and she carried a cascade bouquet of blue carnations and blue pompons centered with white gardenias.

The bridesmaids, Grace Hill, Mary Alice Ward, Patricia Plaudman and Beatrice Ann Drinkhorn were identical gowns to that of the maid of honor. Their flowers were blue carnations and blue pompons.

Marcia Ramsey of Center Line was the flower girl.

Best man was Roger Little of Cass City. Ushers were John Douglas, James Baker and Lee Hollister, all of Cass City, and Howard Hill of Roseville. Ring bearer was John Hollister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hollister.

The bride's mother wore a gray brocaded gown of taffeta, with wine accessories and red roses for shoulder corsage when usher Howard Hill escorted her down the aisle.

Mrs. Parsch wore a bronze brocaded taffeta gown with light green accessories and a shoulder corsage of yellow roses.

The bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. John Kinde of Bad Axe and Mrs. Parsch of Rochester, also wore corsages of pink carnations.

A reception for 175 guests from various Michigan communities was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The young couple spent a week in northern Michigan on their honeymoon.

A good political leader must keep ahead of several crowds, each going in a different direction.

Coffee Stretcher

Restaurants and similar institutions using large vacuum coffee-makers can save up to 50 per cent on their coffee bill with a new device, called "Coffee Miser," which replaces the ordinary screen or plug type strainer in such types as coffee pots. This is the claim of the manufacturer, Javex of Clendora, California, which says the new extractor increases the safflower—oil flavor—content of coffee as much as 40 times. The device holds 1½ ounces of coffee, enough to make 10 cups.

SHORT STORY

Legally Speaking

By Irma Brown Craig

JIMMIE'S RED hair fairly bristled with defiance as he stalked up the pathway to Attorney Denton's spacious home. Any other time freckle-faced Jimmie would have jumped lightly over the low cypress hedge that separated the two homes—but not today!

Glancing over his shoulder, Jimmie could see his Dad watching from the dining room window, in all probability chucking over the predicament old gabby Denton was in. It was, in fact, Judge Reed's words that had sent Jimmie on this errand. "Son, you go right over to Denton's and tell him exactly what happened. He's legally bound to pay off—he can't very well talk himself out of this one with any of his high-falootin'-sounding-legal phrases!" Jimmie knew his Dad and Attorney Denton had been friendly enemies in many a legal battle; he also knew the fast-talking Denton usually bested his Dad. But he'd show Denton today!

"Good afternoon, Jimmie," Attorney Denton smiled as he opened the door, "what brings you here—and why so serious, son?"

"Son, you go right over to Denton's and tell him exactly what happened. He's legally bound to pay off."

Without bothering to return the Attorney's friendly greeting Jimmie took a deep breath and plunged in: "Mr. Denton, while I was in the bakery today, a big dog jumped up on my bike and ran away with it!" Catching his breath, he continued, his words crisp and defiant, "What can be done about it, sir?"

The attorney smiled, "Well, Jimmie, that shouldn't be too difficult. It appears to me you have an excellent case against the dog's master. You should have no trouble whatsoever in collecting."

"Is that right, Sir?"—well, Mr. Denton, it was YOUR dog!" Jimmie was elated—this was much easier than he'd figured.

"Oh—my dog Rex, eh? Well, Jimmie, in that case I'll be glad to pay the costs. How much was the roast?" Denton reached for his billfold.

JIMMIE chuckled to himself, "This guy's an easy one! I'm doing okay—even better'n Pop could do, I bet!" Out loud he said "Attorney Denton, the cost of the roast is a minor matter—there's my time going back and forth—and" Jimmie squared his shoulders, "my injured reputation. No one will trust me to deliver things for them now—and that's how I earn my money!"

"That should do it," Jimmie thought proudly, "That ought to bring me enough to get a Hop-Along-Cassidy hat, as well as pay Mom for the roast."

Attorney Denton looked thoughtful, "H-m-m-m-m-m-m, I guess you've got me on all points, Jim, my boy. How much are the total damages?"

Mentally figuring, "Three-fifty for the roast and two-fifty for the hat," Jimmie replied briskly, "Six dollars, Sir, should cover all costs." Dad would be proud of him—he'd shown the attorney he wasn't so smart after all!

Denton looked down at the minor duplicate of his old friend Judge Reed, then slowly opened his billfold.

"Thank you Sir!" Jimmie thrust the six crisp one dollar bills into his pocket while making a quick, but dignified, move toward the exit. In his haste to get away, Jimmie fumbled with the door knob—most anxious that the attorney didn't see the smile he was trying to hide. He was pleased as punch with himself, and awfully anxious to show Dad how well he'd come off. "Nothing to it at all if you use your head," Jimmie thought gleefully to himself as he stepped out on Denton's porch.

"Just a moment Jimmie," Denton's suave voice interrupted his flight, "Didn't you forget something?"

"No—no, sir, I don't think so," Jimmie glanced around—he hadn't brought anything with him—not even a hat. "Well, Sir, thanks again, and goodbye!"

"But, Jimmie—you HAVE forgotten something. My legal fee for advice. That will be two dollars and fifty cents!"

Iron Potential

Tremendous deposits of taconite, literally billions of tons, lie in the Mesabi region along the Great Lakes and make a block some two hundred feet thick, several thousand feet wide and a hundred or more miles long—enough potential iron to supply the country's need for many generations to come.

Traffic Congestion Increases

Census figures show the marked increase in traffic congestion of the larger metropolitan areas in the U.S. Suburban growth accounted for 65 per cent (Chicago and Detroit) to 88 per cent (Pittsburgh) of the total metropolitan areas' gain. Small wonder that traffic congestion has inundated major arteries linking suburban areas with the center of major cities since workers must make daily trips to the city for employment.

Fall Hog Show Slated In Caro Tuesday

Plans are being laid for the Fall 4-H and FFA Market Hog Show and Sale to be held at the Caro Livestock Yards on Tuesday, September 25. This will be the eighth event of this nature. Frank Fullmer, owner and operator of the yards and energetic sponsor of this event, says trophies will be awarded for both the exhibitor and purchaser of the grand champion fat hog.

Approximately 18 young pork growers will work for top honors. There will be several veterans amongst the exhibitors, but some new faces are expected too. The presence of several local livestock buyers and merchants will do much to spark the youngsters on. Mr. Fullmer has done a great deal towards developing hog raisers by this show and sale and buyers have come to find they can count on securing top quality pork.

Hogs are scheduled to be weighed Tuesday morning at between 8:30 and 9:30. The show will start at 10:00 and the sale will commence at 2:00 in the afternoon. William Newland, extension swine specialist from Michigan State College, and a familiar figure to Tuscola County, will be the official judge.

Past Perfect

The military attire of The United Nations troops fighting in Korea today is drab and unimaginative compared to that of the men of Ancient Greece. The Greek "hoplites" or heavy-armed infantrymen of about the 6th Century B.C. wore lavishly-ornamented breast-plates, greaves (leg armor), and helmets. The shields they carried were often colorful and of elaborate design.

HOLBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jackson and son, Robert, were dinner guests at the Arnold Lapeer home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gracey entertained on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Emiling of Bad Axe and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chambers of Ubly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Robinson and Leona Hollister spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowron and family at Bad Axe.

Mrs. Theodore Gracey and Mrs. Loren Trathen were dinner guests Monday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Mojsenko at Dec-Kerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rienstra and family visited Sunday evening at the Loren Trathen home. Melbourne, Dennis and Dean returned home with their parents after spending the week end there while Mr. and Mrs. Rienstra were in Chicago.

The American Way

In Michigan the game of golf is gaining in popularity every year. And it's "The American Way" to relax at the 19th Hole with a sparkling glass of Michigan brewed beer.

For beer belongs... to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs... to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs... Enjoy It

NOTES

from the TUSCOLA

COUNTY EXTENSION OFFICE

Planting wheat on bean ground after beans are harvested is a practice many Tuscola County farmers try to follow. However, the delay in maturity due to dry weather and the unfavorable harvesting weather during part of September have discouraged some growers, who feel that their beans will not be threshed in time to drill wheat. Jerome Jacques, an experienced Caro farmer who grows certified seed wheat and beans, says his experience has shown him that the late planted wheat invariably gives him a better crop than that planted September 15. Jacques seldom drills wheat until after October 1. Planting late wheat does give more insurance against damage by Hessian fly. Michigan State College says wheat is generally safe from Hessian fly if planted after September 15.

Two new Michigan State College bulletins have been printed and will be available at the County Extension Office in about a week. "Family Farm Transfer Arrangements" North Central Regional Publication No. 18, co-authored by Professor E. B. Hill of Michigan State College, provides a sound discussion on how the operation and ownership of farms can be passed on in a convenient business-like manner. MSC Special Bulletin 873, "Dairy Farming for Profit in Southern Michigan," is written by Dr. K. T. Wright and T. L. Hodge, of the college's agricultural economics department. The bulletin includes a discussion of efficiency factors and uses statistics from the cost of production studies that have been carried on for several years by the department and the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

The home economics extension council will meet at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building Wednesday, September 26, at 2 p. m., according to Miss Jean E. Gillies, County Home Demonstration Agent.

Handy Tool Hangers

Here is an idea for the gardener who never has a place to hang up his tools. Bore holes, at a slant, in a piece of 1 by 4 board. Drive old clothes pins in holes and saw off protruding ends at back. Nail the board up on a wall where tools are kept and hang up your tools. It's convenient and practical.

ABSENT MINDED

When deep in an experiment, inventor Thomas Edison frequently would work around the clock, his mind glued to his work. After he had practically lived in his laboratory for a week, he was persuaded to take a nap at 4 a.m.

Edison set the alarm clock for 7 a.m. When it sounded, however, he slept right through it. An assistant entered with the inventor's breakfast. Noticing that Edison was still asleep, he decided to let him rest a little longer. After a while, the assistant became hungry and ate the meal himself.

Edison stirred. Leaving the dishes on the table, the assistant started for another breakfast tray. He had not reached the door, when the inventor awoke. His eyes heavy with sleep, Edison walked over to the table and sat down.

For a minute he sat there, trying to rouse himself. Finally his eyes opened. He picked up a spoon. As he did so, he noticed that the dishes had just been used. Sheepishly, he looked up at his assistant. "I must be getting absent-minded," he said. "I forgot that I had eaten."

He put down his napkin, lit a cigar and returned to his work bench.

Generosity, to many people, consists merely in giving free advice to others.

One thing a student of mathematics never learns is that curves can make a triangle.

Copycats

The style used by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in his famous poem, "Hiawatha" was not original with him. The BOOK HOUSE FOR CHILDREN points out that the great American poet copied its "strange rhythm, alliterative use of words, and delightful repetitions" from the Finnish "Kalevala," oldest epic in Europe.

Motor Power

The power delivered from a motor-generator is always less than that required to run it.

Obeys Safety Rules

Most highway accidents can be prevented if drivers will follow five basic safety principles, says David Steinicke, extension safety specialist at Michigan State College.

They are: Keep your car in top mechanical condition; obey all traffic laws and regulations; adjust your speed to road conditions; never take a chance; and always be courteous.

Farm Topics

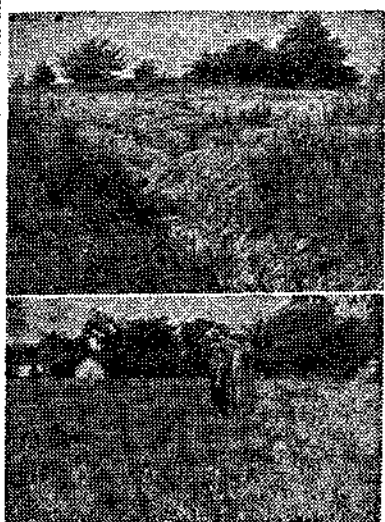

Legumes, Fertilizer Re-Build Worn Field

Most Soil Will Produce If Cared for Properly

The teamwork of legumes, grasses and plenty of fertilizer made the difference between these two fields in Huntington County, Indiana, points out the middle west soil improvement committee.

The barren field in the upper photo had 6 feet of soil removed at the deepest point for road fill. It had no soil care, no fertilizer. After three years the field is still badly eroded, criss-crossed with gullies 2 to 3 feet deep.

The lower field located on Norman Thompson's farm near Huntington, had 8 feet of soil removed

The above fields are examples of what can be done to build soil even on the most barren, eroded fields. Given proper plant food and plenty of it, plus legume-grass mixture, most soil can be made to produce.

from a hilltop, for road fill. As soon as the soil was carted off, Thompson added heavy applications of fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Altogether, he used the equivalent of 600 pounds of plant food per acre—approximately 250 pounds of 3-12-12 and 350 pounds of 0-20-0. No lime was needed, as the subsoil is almost neutral.

Thompson seeded bluegrass and some ladino and red clover. The roots anchored well and soon built up a protective growth that gives good forage. Volunteer white clover has come in to add to the pasture.

Now Thompson uses the field for night pasture.

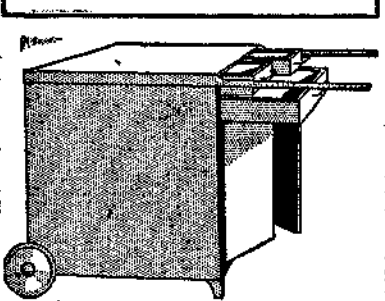

Stocks of Feed Grains Relatively High in June

The bureau of agricultural economics reports relatively large stocks of all feed grains in storage in July. Disappearance in the April-June quarter was larger than in most years for corn, but about usual for oats. It was the heaviest on record for barley.

Approximately 1,270 million bushels of corn were in storage as of July 1, 11 per cent less than on July 1, 1950. Oats stocks of 298 million bushels are the largest carry-over of record by a small margin. The off-farm portion of nearly 34 million bushels is largest of record also.

Barley stock of 55 million bushels are a slightly larger carry-over than average, with the off-farm portion of 53 million bushels.

Toolbox on Wheels

A practical idea for most farmers is the toolbox on wheels. Made of light-weight iron sheets, the drawers can slide on angle-iron channels and store a complete set of hand tools. The handles can be made to fold down when not being moved wheelbarrow fashion. Coaster-wagon wheels will serve the purpose. With a little planning the average farmer can build it easily. The above drawing is a good start on the plans.

Experts See Good Future For Nation's Dairy Farms

Dairying looks profitable for the years ahead, dairy experts believe. They list six reasons: (1) Increased population; (2) higher incomes for the average working man; (3) people are living longer; (4) high meat prices which are reflected in higher prices for dairy cows and veal; (5) increased use of dairy products; and (6) the greater stress being placed on the use of milk and milk products.

DHIA Records Show Seasonal Slump

Average production in each of the three Tuscola County dairy herd improvement association units dropped slightly in August, according to Byron E. Carpenter, assistant county agricultural agent. This is a normal seasonal trend, due to short pastures and to a large proportion of cows completing lactations and drying up at this time of year.

In a normal price economy, the decreased flow of milk in early fall is usually accompanied by a slightly higher price for the producer. Farmers who recognize this cycle and manage to have the majority of their cows freshen in the fall have the advantage of shipping a large quantity into a high priced market. Other advantages are that they establish a base for their milk to be marketed the rest of the year, and they have fewer chores to do by having cows dried up during the busy summer months.

Henry Opperman and Sons, of Millington, were owners of the high producing DHIA herd in Tuscola in August. Their herd average of 53 pounds of butterfat per cow was the highest herd average since June. Opperman's manage their herd so as to have several fresh cows at this time of year. Elmer Kern, Reese, was owner of the second high herd, but his average production was five pounds less, or 48 pounds. Other top herds in August were Alan Kirk, Fairgrove, third, averaging 45 pounds; Peter Kern, Reese, fourth, 44; Rufus Wark, Akron, fifth, 43; Werner List, Vassar, eighth, 42; Alton Reavey, Akron, ninth, 38; and E. G. Golding, Cass City, tenth, with an average of 38 pounds of butterfat per cow.

baby calf's chances of becoming a producer," continued Carpenter.

The Agent advised that the meeting will be at the Chester Kinney and Sons farm, on Millington Road, 6 miles east of Millington, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, September 25.

Among the subjects to be discussed and demonstrated will be feeding of milk and calf starters, dry feeding, pasture, housing, ventilation, dehorning, and disease and parasite control. Local veterinarians and George Parsons, Michigan State College extension dairyman, will assist the Agents with demonstrations and help answer questions.

"Emphasis will be placed on giving the calves a better chance to pull through during their first few weeks of life, since this is the time when the most deaths occur."

Farmers who attend the calf raising demonstration should get some practical ideas that will help them raise their dairy herd replacements more efficiently.

Twenty-six Attend Tri Sigma Meeting

Twenty-six attended the monthly meeting of the Tri Sigma class of the Evangelical United Brethren Sunday School at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lenzner Friday evening. Three readings by Mrs. S. C. Striffler, Miss Johanna Hommel and Mrs. C. J. Striffler, a Bible discussion by Rev. S. R. Wurtz, and group singing, all relating to the home, and a talk on "Strengthen the Sunday School" by Mrs. Ray Silvernail, comprised the evening program. Mrs. Edward Helwig conducted a devotional service and Class President S. C. Striffler, the business session. As a closing hymn the group sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" in recognition of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ricker. The Rickers left the next morning for Drayton Plains to visit Mrs. Ricker's sister, Mrs. Fred Smiley, before going to their home in Bradenton, Florida. The Lenzners were presented with two bouquets of flowers.

Word Contraction

Sterling, meaning solid silver of a definite fineness, is a contraction of the word Easterling. English merchants of the 12th century applied that term to the merchants of the free towns of the Hanseatic League, on the continent. Finding the silver coinage issued by certain of these towns always uniform and dependable, the English came to insist on it as standard in trade, says the National Geographic Society. Eventually, they adopted "sterling" for English money and highest quality silverware.

BHC HELPS PIGS GROW

BHC makes pigs spend more time eating and gaining weight and less time scratching say Michigan State College livestock specialists.

The initials BHC are short for a complicated - sounding chemical called benzene hexachloride. No matter which name you use, it will do an effective job of ridding pigs of external parasites, such as hog mange, mites and lice, that make porkers scratch instead of grow.

MSC entomologists say it's safe to spray a swine herd with the chemical if it's done at least 30 days before marketing or butchering.

Many a man is forced to turn over a new leaf because his wife can read him like a book.
